Stock hogs are scarcer than usual around here, perhaps not more than one-half of the usual number will be fed.

Corn is being put in the shock very rapidly. More than the usual amount will be cut on account of its being down too badly to sow wheat in.

Charles Fitch ran a black locus thorn in one of his knees, about two months ago, which has caused him to lose the use of the leg ever since.

John Jarrell will move to the Robt. Mosby farm; Robert Nixon, to Mrs. Ellen Tercelli's farm, on Woolper, and Ennis Nixon will probably move on a farm near Hartford, Indiana.

The old crazy woman, who was traveling over the country in the early part of the season, visited this place again this week. She was prowling around all of one night with a lighted lantern, giving out threats against people for not giving her lodging. She ought to be sent to an asylum before she does some harm.

Verona.

J. H. Marshall remains very low with typhoid fever.

Cutting tobacco is in full blast. The crop in this vicinity is very light.

Louis Persifull is having a well dug in his yard on account of the scarcity of water.

We were blessed with a splendid rain here Thursday evening. It was needed badly.

Mr. Devereks the contractor of our new school building will complete his work this week. The building adds greatly to the improvement of the town.

Rev. Helm is holding a revival meeting at the Methodist church here. He is a good, instructive and sanctified preacher, and well worthy of your attention.

Petersburg.

Hubert Cox is somewhat under the weather.

John Winston and son, of Utzinger, passed through here last Thursday.

Wm. H. Hensley and wife attended church at Bullittsburg last Sunday.

John Green, of Garrison, was visiting uncle Dennis McCelland several days ago.

M. V. Cave has been complaining considerably of late, but is now able to be at work.

T. B. Mathews has been absent for some time on business pertaining to the whisky firm.

Cutting corn and finishing up trucking are the main things with the farmers at present.

Mrs. Ella Leonard, of Louisville, arrived here Saturday morning to see after business pertaining to her mother's property.

Mrs. Ella Moore, of Trimble county, is in the neighborhood looking after her interest connected with the Johnson farm.

Uncle R. Y. Randall sows grass seed both fall and spring in order to be sure of a crop, that is if one sowing don't answer he tries again.

—SS—

Walton.

Mr Will Snow, who has typhoid fever is on the mend.

Miss Allie Platt, who has had a long spell of fever, is slowly improving.

Wm. Durr, who purchased a farm from Grant Tomlin, near Hellenwood, Tenn., about a year ago, has opened a coal mine, recently, at that place, and reports a good yield of very fine coal.

The recent cold spell of weather is causing much uneasiness among farmers for fear of frost. They have gathered but very few of their tomatoes and a frost now would simply be disastrous to that crop.

Mrs. Dora Norman, wife of W. P. Norman, of this place, is at St. Mary's hospital, where she has had an operation performed on her head. The doctor's removed a number of the bones from her head, which were decayed. For a few days her recovery was doubtful, but she is now reported much better.

On last Thursday evening, a negro claiming to be from Tennessee, by the name of Will Mason, was stealing a ride on an L. & N. train. The engine not having water enough to supply its needs, went back to Ten Mile for a fresh supply, and left the remainder of the train at Verona. The negro, who was tired, got off of the train to rest, and, sitting down on the track, went to sleep. When the engine returned it threw him under the wheels and crushed his arm so that amputation became necessary. He was brought to Walton, where Drs. Jones and Bagby removed the member. He was then placed on a train and sent to the hospital in Cincinnati.

Constance.

J. C. Hankins & Co., have about sold all their coal.

The Jones Desicating factory is running night and day.

Mr. Miller, of Louisville, was visiting E. B. Morse, last week.

The Camp Meeting came nigh breaking up in a row before it closed.

R. H. Hood, of Nightlown, Indiana, is home on a visit to his parents.

Mrs. D. Berry, who has been very ill for three weeks, is convalescent.

The U. S. Snag boat has been blowing up the wreck of the Longfellow.

Chas. Otten had two fingers badly mashed by a horse stepping on them.

Sneak thieves stole $50.00 worth of clothes from Mr. Geo. Utz, a few days since.

The citizens of the town have made a good road from the pike to the school house.

Rev. Wm. Peno preached his last sermon, Sunday night, previous to leaving for school.

Rev. Wm. Peno will leave for Kinnel Hights, Tenn., to finish his studies for the ministry.

Wm. Tanner and Miss —— Walby were married two weeks ago. They let their friends know about it two days ago.

Mr. Orterm, while returning from Camp Meeting, had his wagon to break down with him, throwing all of his family into the pike.

Mrs. Rena Peno, wife of John Peno, Jr., died of consumption and was buried in the family lot near here. She was a patient sufferer through all her long illness, and a devoted christian, being a member of the Christian church for 10 years. She was loved by all who knew her. We extend our sympathy to the bereaved family.

—SS—

Union.

Mrs. Winters, of Cairo, is the guest of her sister, Mrs. Lida Conner.

Elzy Garrison was driving the neatest turnout I saw in Union, Sunday.

Mrs. B. F. Bentz and Miss Lutie Baker, of Walton, were visiting in Union, Saturday.

Miss Martin, of Virginia, is teaching a select school at the residence of Jas. A. Huey.

Miss Maud Norman was visiting her sister, Mrs. Asbury, of Mason county, recently.

Mike Carnaley was looking for a horse, Wednesday, that he thought had been stolen from his pasture.

B. L. Rice purchased 2,500 pounds of wool from Messrs. Thad Ryle and Tobe Howlett at 19c, this week.

Ask Dr. Crouch if he is afraid of dogs and how walking two miles in the mud with his horse just in front, goes?

Matson Rachal is getting so absent minded of late, that your correspondent suspects he is in love, to say the least.

Mr. Jack thought until Saturday that school teaching was hard work. He hung a room of paper and changed his notion.

Wm. Lunsford deserves a vote of thanks for cleaning the weeds and brush from lot on the corner of Main and High streets.

Mr. Athenan Fitzgerald, of Illinois, is renewing old acquaintances and having a pleasant visit with friends in Union and vicinity, this week.

Dick Thompson returned Saturday, from Ellensville, where he has been for several months handling a large purchase of tobacco for J. W. Kennedy.

Mr. and Mrs. Tom Adams, of Hamilton, were visiting James Gatson and family, Friday. Mr. Adams still wears a "Free Silver on Top Badge," and is also proud of a girl baby 20 months old that weighs 32 pounds.

B. L. Norman and the editor of the "Union Blade" want to get a Boone county syndicate to "grub stake" them for the Klondike gold diggins. They propose to give one-half of all profits, do their own digging and return when they get back. Here's a chance for capitalists. Address B. L. Norman, Box 51, Union, Ky.

The shadows of adversity have been hovering over the home of Charley McDonald for some time. His youngest child has been blind for months and his aged mother has been unable to sleep, except sitting in a chair, for a long time from heart trouble. A skilled oculist will operate on the child's eyes when it is cooler, and if its sight is recovered and his mother is restored to health, Charley will be the happiest man around here.

Supt. Voshell started, Monday, for Verona, to be present at the opening of school in the new school building, which has been completed at a cost of $1,800. The public spirited people of Verona and vicinity deserve much credit, as they made a long, hard fight to secure the new building. After seeing that school in operation to his notion, Mr. Voshell will go around the circle, visiting each school in turn, to know that they are started off just right.

John Bradford, of Big Bone, came to town Friday with a section of "Pelham's Mule Artillery." The section consisted of two pieces of fast-firing, automatic loading gatling guns. They were 16 hands high and gave two exhibitions in the blacksmith's shop, making shingles, old iron and things fly. John said to see J. S. Mason, Ed Williams and others get out of the river during Thursday's storm, beat having mules shod by a long jump.

Talking of Thursday's storm recalls to mind that a small cyclone held forth near Esq. Norman's blowing a tree on his house; tore 100 panels of fence down for John Hogan; blew part of Lucien Dickerson's barn down and assisted by the hail, demolished Dud Finnell's corn field. No one was hurt, but the wind whistled and twisted a 2:40 gait. Nobody thinks he needs a cyclone cellar, and yet, if the Louisville cyclone had been traveling a few hundred feet lower when it passed over Boone from Hamilton to Dixon, ac- it is likely what few people who escaped would now have cyclone cellars. A cyclone cellar is not needed often, but its needed monstrously bad when it is needed.

Last Monday morning the writer was starting out for a big week's work, when along came Mr. and Mrs. Willie Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Spencer Smith and Mr. and Mrs. R. O. Smith, who insisted on having us go for a fish on the Ohio. Well, we went, and we are glad of it. When we arrived at the mouth of Gunpowder, Mr. and Mrs. James Smith, Uncle Frank Smith, Geo. Clarkson and Claud Carpenter, were already there. By the time we had things arranged for a day's sport, Noah Tanner and wife came. Ed Williams was determined that nothing should interfere with our having a "grand time" if he could prevent it, so in a short time, three fishermen were busy under his direction seining. They worked hard for two hours and by 12 o'clock had 15 pounds of buffalo, perch and moots. While dinner was being prepared, water melons were served in abundance from Mr. William's patch near by. At 2 o'clock Mr. James Smith announced dinner. The ladies had provided a first-class dinner, consisting of fish, corn-bread and delicious coffee as course No. 1. Course No. 2 consisted of cake, pickles and other delicacies. The afternoon was spent seining, gathering shells and other pleasures, until 5 o'clock, when each one offered Ed Williams many thanks for his kindness and left, hoping to see him again under such pleasant circumstances. Richard Smith and Geo. Clarkson ate so much dinner that when they happened to sit one on either end of a rock 5 feet long, 10 in. thick and 12 inches wide, it broke in the middle, throwing them both into the river, heels over head. Ed tells this story on the boys. Uncle Frank said, "a man might be as rich as Croesus and be as learned as a Solomon, yet, if he had not the plain horse sense that taught him how to enjoy a 'fish-fry,' his life was a failure and his riches a delusion and a snare." "Please God," said Mr. Jim Smith, "a man may caper around through life with the lapels of his Prince Albert coat covered all over with campaign badges, gold medals and other decorations, yet if he did not have the love of good, old fashioned fun in his soul, and went to every 'fish-fry' he had a chance, his life was a protracted spell of misfortunes, whittled to a fine point, and likely to be closed out at any moment." Noah Tanner said he read in the RECORDER how people enjoyed going fishing to Ed Williams, and yet had no idea half that was told was true, but now he was willing to testify that half the truth had never been told, and never would be, until it was told in this week's RECORDER." Well, it is not near enough, and here is hoping for another trip like it.

The river is getting very low, and coal in many of the yards at the small towns is getting scarce, but the patrons of these yards, as a rule, have laid in their supply for the winter.

Commissioner's Sale.

Boone Circuit Court, Ky.

The Walton Perpetual Building and Loan Association, Pltf.
vs
B. L. Northoutt, &c., Defts.

By virtue of a Judgment and order of sale of the Boone Circuit Court, rendered at the Aug., term thereof, 1897, in the above cause, I shall proceed to offer for sale at the Court-house door in Burlington, Boone county, Ky., to the highest bidder at Public Sale on Monday, the 4th day of October, 1897, at 1 o'clock p. m., or thereabout, being County Court day, upon a credit of 6 and 12 months, the following described property, to-wit:

Lying and being in Walton, Boone county, Ky., and bounded on the south by a lot sold by Johnson and Hind, and fronting on the Covington and Lexington pike 58 feet, and running thence easterly 170 feet, containing 9860 square feet more or less. This lot of ground was conveyed by James Hutchinson to Fannie J. Murphy, by deed recorded in Book 21, page 432, and same conveyed by said Murphy to Foulker Connelly.

For the purchase price the purchaser with approved security or securities, must execute bonds, bearing legal interest from the day of sale until paid, and having the force and effect of a judgment. Bidders will be prepared to comply promptly with these terms.

Amount to be raised by sale, $498 96.

J. B. BERKSHIRE, M. C. B. C.

Commissioner's Sale.

Boone Circuit Court, Ky.

The Hebron Perpetual Building and Loan Association, Pltf.
vs
J. B. Acra, &c., Defts.

By virtue of a Judgment and order of Sale of the Boone Circuit Court, rendered at the August term thereof, 1897, in the above cause, I shall proceed to offer for sale at the Court-House door in Burlington, Boone County, Ky., to the highest bidder, at Public Sale on Monday the 4th day of October 1897, at one o'clock p. m., or thereabout, being County Court day, upon a credit of 6 and 12 months, the following described property, to-wit:

Being in E. W. Rice's addition to the town of McVille, Boone county, Ky., and bounded as follows: On the north, by Vine street; on the west, by Center street extended; on the south, by an alley 16 feet wide; on the east, by alley No. 1, extending and fronting 138 feet, running back in parallel lines 120 feet to an alley.

For the purchase price the purchaser with approved security or securities must execute bonds, bearing legal interest from the day of sale until paid, and having the force and effect of a judgment, with a lien retained therein until all the purchase money is paid. Bidders will be prepared to comply promptly with these terms.

Amount to be raised by sale, $247 58.

J. B. BERKSHIRE,
Master Commissioner.

Commissioner's Sale.

Boone Circuit Court, Ky.

The Hebron Perpetual Building and Loan Association, Pltf.
vs
Jesse C. Kelly, &c. Defts.

By virtue of a Judgment and order of Sale of the Boone Circuit Court, rendered at the August term thereof, 1897, in the above cause, I shall proceed to offer for sale at the Court house door in Burlington, Boone County, Ky., to the highest bidder, at Public Sale on Monday the 4th day of Oct., 1897, at one o'clock p. m. or there about, being County Court day, on a credit of 6 and 12 months, the following described property to wit:

Lying and being in McVille, Boone county, Ky., and bounded as follows: Beginning on the east side of the Rabbit Hash and Bellevue road, in the town of McVille, a corner of J. R. Akin and son; thence a 188 ft. to a corner of John Smith, jr., thence e 144 ft. to a corner in Benj Kirtley's line; thence n 188 feet to a corner with J. R. Akin & Son in Kirtley's line; thence w. 144 feet to the beginning, containing ½ of an acre.

For the purchase price the purchaser, with approved security or securities, must execute bonds, bearing legal interest from the day of sale until paid, and having the force and effect of a judgment. Bidders will be prepared to comply promptly with these terms.

Amount to be raised by sale, $263 19.

J. B. BERKSHIRE, M. C. B. C.

NOTICE.

Notice is hereby given that I am sole owner of the personal property on my farm near J. W. Kite's store, this county, and no one is authorized to sell same or any part of it.

LENNORA SATCHWILL.

Sept. 10th, 1897.

S. W. ADAMS,
ATTORNEY - AT - LAW,
ERLANGER, KENTUCKY.

Will practice in the courts of Boone and Kenton counties. Collections and general law practice.

For Sale---Farm

Of 123 acres in Boone county, Ky., on the Union & Beaver turnpike, three miles from Richwood Station; good house of seven rooms, hall, vestibules, porches, good cellar; large barn, outbuildings, two cisterns, orchards and never failing springs.

HENRY TUCKER,
Union, Boone county, Ky.

Farm for Sale!

In Boone county, Ky., on the North Bend Road, 1¼ miles from Burlington, 1 mile from Hebron and 6 miles from Anderson's Ferry, and contains seventy-eight acres, good cottage of 5 rooms and good barn, orchard of 200 trees select fruit. The farm is all under good state of cultivation. For terms apply to

LASSING & RIDDELL,
Burlington, Ky.

GO TO
HANKINS, DAVIS & CO., General Merchants,
HEBRON AND CONSTANCE,
A Good Supply of Feed always in Stock.

GARDEN AND FIELD SEEDS.

Undertaking is given special attention. Funerals under the personal supervision of J. C. HANKINS.

A good supply of Coal on hand at Constance at all times.

Hebron. HANKINS, DAVIS & CO. Constance

S. L. EDWARDS. A. M. EDWARDS.

EDWARDS BROTHERS,
DEALERS IN HARDWARE
—AND—
Agricultural Implements,

Furniture,
Stoves,
Tinware,
Saddlery,
Oils and Paints,
Wall Paper.

UNDERTAKING & EMBALMING A SPECIALTY.

We have added a first-class Tin Shop and are prepared to do Tin, Iron and Paper Roofing and guarantee all work done by us.

EDWARDS BROS., - - Walton, Ky.

JOHN ALLISON,
UNDER-  EMBAL-
TAKER MER,
Corner Pike & Russell Streets,
COVINGTON, - - KENTUCKY.

INDEPENDENT OF UNDERTAKERS' UNION.

The Simple, Plain Talk of the Price That is Right.

Is our convincing argument. Give us a call and see our CHILDREN'S SUITS from $1.00 up.

BOYS' SUITS from $3.75 up.
MEN'S SUITS from $4.50 up.

NO SHODDY GOODS.

To give you a good, well made article at the lowest possible price is our Motto. Come in and examine our line before buying elsewhere.

ROLFES & WACHS, RELIABLE CLOTHIERS
S. W. Cor. Pike & Madison Ave. Covington, Ky.

QUEEN & CRESCENT.

During the Tennessee Centennial and International Exposition at Nashville, Tenn., a low rate special tarif has been established for the sale of tickets from Cincinnati and other terminal points on the Queen & Crescent Route.

Tickets are on sale daily until further notice to Chattanooga at $6.75 one way or $7.20 round trip from Cincinnati, the round trip tickets being good seven days to return; other tickets, with longer return limit, at $9.90 and $13.50 for the round trip.

These rates enable the public to visit Nashville and other Southern points at rates never before offered. Vestibuled trains of the finest class are at the disposal of the passenger, affording a most pleasant trip, and enabling one to visit the very interesting scenery and important battle-grounds in and about Chicdamauga, Lookout Mountain and Chickamauga National Millitary Park. Tickets to Nashville to visit the Centennial can be repurchased at Chattanooga for $3.40 round trip. Ask your ticket agent for tickets via Cincinnati and the Q. & C. Route South or write to

W. C. RINEARSON, G. P. Agt., Cincinnati, O.

W. N. HIND & CO.
213 W. FIFTH ST. Cincinnati, O.

Administrator's Notice.

All persons indebted to the estate of Jordon Beemon, deceased, must come forward and settle, and all those having claims against said estate must present them to the undersigned, proven according to law.

G. W. DELPH, Adm'r.

Administratrix Notice.

All those having claims against the estate of W. B. Grubbs, deceased, are hereby notified to present them to me proven according to law, and those owing said estate will come forward and settle same at once.

Mrs. CATHARIN GRUBBS,
Sept. 1, 1897. Administratrix.

Subscribe for the Recorder.

THE LEAGUE INSTITUTE,
VERONA, KENTUCKY.
N. E. HAMILTON, - Principal.
The Term for 1897-98,
Begins Sept., 20th, 1897.

Special inducements are offered pupils who have graduated upon the Common School Branches.

FOR SALE--This Fall.

STRAWBERRY PLANTS.
Bubach No. 5. P. Greenville P.
Parker Earl. Haverian,
And other Varieties.

LIGHT BRAHMA FOWLS.

Blackberry & Raspberry Sprouts.

For further information write to
WM. C. ROUSE, Limaburg, Ky.

Local News.

Possums and paw-paws are ripe now.

Fires were in order Monday morning.

Instead of the shade the sunshine is now sought.

Water wagons were moving in every direction, last week.

Eight bicyclist, from the city, took dinner at Mrs. Cowen's, Sunday.

Potatoes are much better flavored when they cost a dollar per bushel.

Read W. M. Rachal & Co.'s change in their advertisement of this week.

The protracted meeting is still in progress at Big Bone Baptist church.

The temperature was down to 42 degrees Monday morning, the frost line.

A great deal of corn will be cut up before the land can be sowed to wheat.

The minutes of the last session of the North Bend Association are now in print.

Herbert McKim is attending school at Erlanger, Rev. Hoover being his instructor.

Three men in jail, the largest number of birds that have been in the cage for some time.

It will be only a short time now until Tony Bentler will have his grist mill in opperation.

Ab Gaines and Robert Carver drove a lot of 50 nice little porkers through town Friday morning.

Quittman & Co., of Cincinnati, will be in Burlington again next county court day to buy horses.

The last report in regard to Mr. Albert Corbin, of Bellevue, was that his death was expected at any time.

The drought and hot weather succumbed to a nice rain and refreshing breezes, last Thursday afternoon.

The rain, last Thursday afternoon, made it possible for many of the farmers to break their land for wheat.

Look out for frost now. The temperature can go from summer heat to the frost line in twenty-four hours.

A few days since a four pound bass was caught in the large hole of water near Sullivan's mill on Gunpowder.

The circus, the fair and the picnic season is of the past again; and the next event to talk about is thanksgiving.

Next Sunday low rates to Cincinnati. Usual low rate excursion via the Queen & Crescent Route, Sunday, 25th and 27th.

Every member of Viola Lodge I. O. O. F. is requested to attend the meeting next Saturday night It will be interesting.

Duly Beall's katy did frost prediction was a week behind, that is if there was frost last Saturday morning as claimed by some.

The Commissioner of Agriculture estimated that the farmers of this State had 56 per cent. of their wheat crop on hand September 1st.

TO CURE A COLD IN ONE DAY.
Take Laxative Bromo Quinine Tablets. All druggists refund the money if it fails to cure. 25c

The rain did not come in time to benefit considerable of the tobacco. It was too badly burnt by the sun for the rain to be of any advantage.

The firm of Gaines & Riddell, melon brokers, dissolved and a new firm has been organized, Riddell, Lassing and Bentler being its successor.

The Burlington rooters for different league ball clubs, are subsiding, as it is now apparent what position the different clubs are destined to occupy.

On the first of September, 1896, seventy-five per cent, of the tobacco crop was in the house. On the same date this year only five per cent. had been housed.

R. F Peak, of Trimble county, and other good speakers, will address the Democrats of Boone county, at the Court House in Burlington, at 2 p. m., next county court day.

Last Saturday was civil service examination at Covington. No one from this place put himself on examination, with a view to obtaining a position in the government service.

The juvenile element amuse themselves cackleing and crowing in front of the jail, where the two chicken thieves are confined. It is fun for the boys, but very vexatious to the thieves.

The farm occupied by the late Benj. Rice, out on the East Bend road, was divided among the heirs last week. W. J. Rice and his sister, Miss Lucy, get the house and 23 acres of land for their shares.

Mr. and Mrs. Meredith C. Norman announce the marriage of their daughter, Maud, to Mr. William Matson Rachal, in the Baptist Church, at Union, Ky., at 1 o'clock p. m., Wednesday, October 6th, 1897.

There was no mistake about the frost Tuesday morning. It was to be seen everywhere, and was in no apparent hurry to disappear.

TRY ME!
Snow Flake Patent Flour, Boone county straight flour. Also have plenty of mill feed and coal at very low prices. Cash for wheat and flour exchanged for wheat. BEN BELDON.
Petersburg, Ky.

J. H. Westover, editor of the Williamstown Courier, was in town Monday. He thinks Grant county is in good shape politically, and that the Democrats will increase their vote there this fall.

The rain, last Thursday afternoon, caught Scott Chambers on the road at Geo. Yeagell's with a load of goods, which he had to leave until the next day on account of the hills getting so slippery his team could not pull over them.

The Commissioner of Agriculture says "Preparations are being made for a large acreage of wheat, but fall plowing is practically at a standstill, and if present conditions are maintained the acreage may be curtailed considerably. Seeding in corn will be late on account of the green stage of the crop."

Elijah Green, jr., of Erlanger, and Miss Florence Dulaney, daughter of Dr. B. A. Dulaney, of Florence, were married by Postmaster Carlisle, at his residence in Covington, last Saturday night. They chose rather a romantic hour for the ceremony, it being midnight. Their many friends wish them a long and happy life.

Legrand Gaines voiced the sentiment of a large majority of the people of this county, one evening last week, when he said a whipping post was badly needed for the prisoners in the jail at this place. If the backs of the two chicken thieves were well striped it would do them more good than lying in jail a few months.

In the matter of marriage licenses the county clerk has done pretty well so far this month, having issued the following:

Samuel L. Rogers and Lulu M. Jones.
J. L. Adams and Carrie F. Herndon.
Ben Hensley and Carrie Rusche.
D. B. Hoffman and Lulie Hensley.
Joseph Henry Drees and Flora Riggs.
Albert Underhill and Sarah Lucas.

H. W. Harrison, dentist, of Rising Sun, Ind., will be in Burlington on the first and third Monday in each month, to do work for those who wish anything in his line. He will be here two days each visit. He is a son of the late R. F. Harrison, of Carrollton, and a graduate of the Pennsylvania College of Dentistry at Philadephia. He is highly recommended in his profession.

The sale of the personal estate of E. W. Rouse, deceased, last Thursday, was attended by a very large crowd. A good sale dinner was served. The bidding was lively, many things bringing very good prices. The Erlanger Bank stock was divided and not sold; stock in the Florence fair sold well, a $50 block of it bringing $65 50; horses sold cheap; cows brought fair prices; hogs, about 6 cents a pound.

Edgar Cropper, Legrand Gaines, James Clore and Chas. Westbay have been the early coal haulers from Constance this fall, each trying to be the first at the yard of a morning. Westbay was the first entry and made good time until Clore began hauling, when he fell to second place, then Gaines and Cropper came in and the Burlington teams proved too slow for them and Gaines took the lead by several hours. After several attempts to beat Gaines, Clore and Westbay gave up the contest, and they do not leave home now of a morning much before two o'clock.

Typhoid fever is again on the war path in Grant county and from almost every section comes reports of many persons who are desperately sick with the disease. For several years every fall has seen this most to be dreaded of all our fevers making serious inroads on the health of our people. Last fall the prevalence of the fever was not so noticeable as it was the year before, but this fall (if the hot, dry weather continues) promises to see as many cases as there were in 1895 when, at one time, there were 300 cases in the county. At a conservative estimate there are at the present time 100 cases of typhoid fever in the county and new cases are being developed from day to day.—Williamstown Courier.

It seems that some are disposed to censure Coroner Murat for not arresting the negro woman, who some supposed to be the mother of the two negro babies found in Graves' pond, near Florence, a few weeks since, and as a matter of justification of his course, he asks the publication of the verdict returned by the Coroner's jury, which is in words and figures as follows:

"We, the jury, find or believe from the evidence and post mortem held, said child was born a live, and that he came to his death from violence by parties unknown to the jury.

"Signed—J. O. Carpenter, foreman; W. S. Williams, Geo. N. Arnold, Ed Castin, W. H. Tanner, J. W. Bradford.

DR. A. MURAT, Coroner, B. C."

The verdict in each was the same.

W. M. RACHAL & CO.,

SPECIAL BARGAINS FOR THIS WEEK.

CALL AND EXAMINE OUR

Line Of FALL AND WINTER GOODS Just Received.

Ladies Fine Shoes, per pair 75c. less than cost to manufacture.
Canton Flannel, per yard - - - 5c
Bleached Cotton, per yard - - - 5c
Brown Cotton, per yard - - - 5c
Shirting, per yard - - - 5c
Calicoes, per yard - - - 5c
South Shore Jeans per yard - - - 15c
All Wool, 40 inch Skirts - - - 75c

UNION, - - - - KENTUCKY.

We are still selling GROCERIES at Rock Bottom Prices.
20 pounds of Granulated Sugar, - - $1.00
(Only $1 worth to one family at this rate.)
Arbuckle Coffee, per pound, - - - 12 1-2c
Fairbank Soap, 2 cakes for - - - 5c
Crown Gasoline, 5 gallons for - - - 45c
Salmon, per can - - - - - 10c
MONEY is close but not half so close AS OUR PRICES.
And don't forget to call on us for
Dry Goods, Notions, Hats, Caps
And in fact anything you need at Lowest Prices.

UNION, KENTUCKY.

Last Thursday morning W. L. B. Rouse, John P. Utz, Chas. Garnett and William McDaneil, and son, of Limaburg neighborhood, lodged in jail here two chicken thieves they had captured a few hours before. In the last two months nearly all the chickens belonging to the farmers between Limaburg and Anderson's ferry have been stolen, and suspicion pointed to two strange men who had been seen several times on the road with a horse and spring wagon, and last Wednesday afternoon when the unknown huckster outfit was seen in the neighborhood, arrangements were made to watch its movements. The men drove as far as Henry Clore's between Burlington and Limaburg, where they stopped on the roadside and fed their horse. As soon as dark came they retraced their steps, and when about a mile from Limaburg, going towards Anderson's ferry, they drove out of the road into the shadow of a large tree, where they left their wagon and started for the nearest henroost. The parties who were shadowing them concealed themselves near the wagon to await their return. It was not long until they came with a sack of chickens, when they were surrounded by the farmers, who were armed with shot guns, and the whole outfit was captured, viz: two men one horse and wagon, three coops and seven chickens. Thursday morning the two thieves were taken before Judge Stephens for an examining trial. They gave their names as Chas. Clifford and Samuel Kasky, of West Covington. Clifford pleaded guilty and his bond was fixed at $100. Kasky pleaded not guilty, and his trial was set for Friday. When Friday came he had changed his mind and also pleaded guilty, when his bail was fixed at $100. Both men are now in jail awaiting Circuit Court, and they are not likely to give bail. Friday Mrs. R. J. Clutterbuck came to town and identified several of the chickens as hers and took them home. The remainder of the chicken[illegible] Harvey Tanner. Some of Clifford's and Kasky's friends came out and got the horse and wagon.

"A Gypsey Festival"

Will be held at the residence of J. W. Crigler, Saturday evening, Sept. 25th, at 8 o'clock p. m. A very interesting program has been prepared. Among the specials are: A professional Whistler from Cincinnati; a Violin Solo by Cecil Hafer; Mandolin Club from Erlanger, and many others, including the children. Come, everybody, and enjoy the evening. The proceeds will be used for purchasing new pews for the Hebron church. Admission, 15 cents; children under 10 years, 10c (including supper.)
MISS ORA ROUSE,
Limaburg, Ky.

PERSONAL MENTION.

Constable S. A. Tanner, of Constance, was in town, Monday.

D. E. Castleman and wife were in the city on a shopping tour, Monday.

Gordon McKim returned to school at Hanover, Indiana, last Wednesday.

J. J. Ferris, one of Petersburg's clever and jovial citizens, was in town, Monday.

O. J. Ryle was reconnoitering down in the Hathaway neighborhood, last week.

McDonald, a Covington lumber man, was a guest at the Boone House, last Sunday.

Mrs. Hampton Adams, of Big Bone, is the guest of Mrs. B. W. Adams, of this place.

C. L. Crisler has been very much annoyed with hay fever and asthma for several days.

Mr. and Mrs. F. P. Walton, of the Utzinger neighborhood, were visiting at Geo. Blyth's, Sunday.

Andrew Acra, who resides with his father down on Middle Creek, is very low of typhoid fever.

J. O. Huey and wife, of Aurora, spent a few days last week, among their Kentucky friends.

J. F. Scott and wife, of Kenton county, were visiting Joseph Riddell, on Gunpowder, last week.

Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Casey, of Bullittsville, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. P. E. Cason, Monday afternoon.

Dave Beall and wife passed through town, Monday, enroute to Bellevue to visit their sick relative, Mr. A. Corbin.

Fernando Carpenter, of Richwood, was in town Monday on business with some of the occupants of the temple of justice.

Miss Mary Butts, a handsome young lady of Carrollton, was a guest at Mr. and Mrs. Dudley Rouse's, last Saturday and Sunday.

Mrs. Elizabeth Dills, of the Bullittsburg neighborhood, has been the guest for a few days, of her niece, Mrs. H. W. Blyth, of this place.

Elijah Green, jr., and Miss Florence Dulaney, who a few hours later was Mrs. Florence Green, were in town, last Saturday evening.

C. A. Fowler, wife and children, who have been visiting relatives here for several weeks, returned to their home at Athens, Ohio, Sunday.

Mr. Lewis Rice, of Richwood, was among those in town on business, last Monday. He reported no frost in his neighborhood that morning.

Mrs. Ben Fluzer and mother, of Louisville, after a week's pleasant visit with Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Casey, of Bullittsville, returned home Monday.

J. M. Lassing went to Louisville, Monday night, to look after the interest of several persons in the defunct Commercial Building Trust of that city.

Mr. Chas. Campbell and wife, and Mr. Stripling and wife, who had been visiting Dr. J. F. Smith and wife, for several days, returned to their home at Sanford, Florida, Tuesday morning.

H. W. Ryle and wife, of Erlanger, and Miss Olga Kirkpatrick, of this place, returned home from Indianapolis, Sunday. They attended the Indiana State Fair, and saw the pacing race between Joe Patchen and Star Pointer.

Mr. Elijah Parker, of Gasburg, was in town, last Saturday afternoon. He reported the corn crop in his neighborhood badly damaged by a recent wind storm. His large peach orchard produced a very small quantity of fruit, this season.

Mrs. Anna Morris, of near Rushville, Indiana, who was visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fletcher Clore, of the Bullittsville neighborhood, has returned home after a delightful visit. Miss Sallie Campbell, of Delhi, and her friend, Miss Poston, of Louisville, were the pleasant guests of Mr. and Mrs. Fletcher Clore, a few days last week.

Last Sunday morning George Blyth arrived home from his visit to Nebraska. He reported the weather out there as cool and pleasant during his sojourn. On his return he came through the mob-stricken district of Indiana, and brought to the RECORDER a portion of a bough from off the limb on which Lyle Levi and four other burglars were hanged at Versailles, Ripley county, on the morning of the 15th inst.

H. B. Riddell and daughter, Miss Mattie, of Covington, came out on their wheels, last Sunday, and spent the day with Mr. Riddell's sister, Mrs. T. W. Finch. Thirty years ago he left Burlington, taking a position in a saddlery and harness house in Cincinnati, and about twenty-five years of that time he spent on the road, covering a greater poriton of the United States. He is now engaged with the Campbell, Perkins Co., the largest saddlery and harness concern in Cincinnati, and there are few larger in the country.

Rev. Early, of Memphis, Tenn., who was assisting Rev. J. A. Kirtley in the protracted meeting at Big Bone, left for home, last week. He received a letter from his wife that yellow fever had made its appearance in that city, and that people were leaving in large numbers, and she and other members of the family would go to Hopkinsville, this State. Mr. Early said that he would be needed at home in case the fever prevailed there, and took his departure for Memphis, much to the regret of those who were attending the meeting.

Tuesday night's frost put a move on those who have tobacco to cut.

The sun crossed the line yesterday, and any kind of weather is now in order.

This office printed invitations for the wedding of Mr. A. C. Roberts and Miss Lulu Belle Powers, of Verona, October 6th, 1897.

Deputy Sheriff Beall says the increase in the tax rate is very unsatisfactory to the people, and he hears various comments on the matter. He also says taxes are being paid very slowly.

Buy COFFEE and TEA of the J. L. BILL COFFEE & TEA CO., a Ticket given with every 25c purchase and handsome presents given away.

The J. L. BILL
Coffee and Tea Co.
THE BEST BRANDS OF FLOUR.
12 W. Seventh & S. E. Cor. Sixth & Bakewell,
COVINGTON, KY.
WM. F. NEAD, Salesman.

SENSATIONAL BARGAINS!

Clothing Sacrificed! See!

A full Suit of Men's Clothing for only, ...$3.50, worth double, and this is only a sample.
We invite inspection all along the line.....

Shoes, Tinware, Groceries, Dress Goods, Etc.

MILLINERY

Ladies, you will be surprised to see the nice things we have to offer you, and prices are waydown.

In fact we have a full line of General Merchandise, and prices are in keeping with the times.

We Guarantee Quality Also.
COME AND SEE.
T. J. HUGHES, - BEAVER LICK, KY.

Keystone Buggy Company,
CINCINNATI, - OHIO.,
FALLON & ARMSTRONG, PROPRIETORS,
MANUFACTURERS
Of Latest Style High Grade Vehicles.

$367 Like Cut.

Keystone Vehicles have merit—merit wins—Keystone Vehicles have Style up to date—please the eye—strike you as "Just the thing you have been looking for"—Keystone Vehicles are cheap—in the sense that they represent an excellent

QUALITY AT A VERY LOW PRICE.

Quality with price guaranteed second to none. A written guarantee with every job.

All Jobs Made to Order. Those who have purchased Keystone Vehicles have found them as represented.

References:—D. Beall, Elwood Sothern, John W. Clore, J. D. Cloud, Will Crigler, Hebron; J. A. Duncan, Utzinger; Rolla Sebree, Grant; Noah Surface, Gunpowder; Dr. E. W. Duncan, Walton; J. W. Rouse, Irvin Baker, Spencer Aylor, Wm. Utz, Claud Rouse, Limaburg; Henry Clore, Burlington.
Call on or address,
R. L. BRADFORD, : Hebron, Ky,
Agent for Boone County.

TAKE YOUR OWN COUNTY PAPER.

FOURTH YEAR
OF WALTON ACADEMY,
—opens—
MONDAY, SEPTEMBER 6th, 1897
AT WALTON, KY.
Three Courses of Study to choose from: English, Scientific or Classical,
Tuition per month,...$2.50 and $3.00
Vocal and Instrumental Music at moderate rates.
We have a fine, new building with rooms for pupils, connected.—Board only $2.50 per week, or $2.00 for 5 days.
Thorough, Substantial Work Guaranteed.
Teachers { MRS. S. H. MYERS. CHAS. F. PRIOR. REV. S. H. MYERS.
Further information gladly given by mail or interview.

Steam :-: Ferry
—AT—
TAYLORSPORT.
I now have in operation at Taylorsport, a NEW, COMMODIOUS and SWIFT Steam Ferry Boat, equal to the best on the River. New Approaches on each side of the river. Prompt services rendered the public by experienced and accommodating employes.
S. H. GOODIN.

THE RECORDER

W. L. RIDDELL, Publisher

BURLINGTON, : : : KY

THE MOUTH ORGAN BAND.

When the fireflies dance where the roses are blooming,
And lilies bend low to the breezes' caress;
When the cinnamon vine all the air is perfuming
And Evening has donned her most beautiful dress—
Oh, then, as the stars in the firmament glisten
And Night spreads her mantle abroad o'er the land,
'Tis pleasant to rest in the moonlight and listen
To sweet serenades of the mouth-organ band.

It isn't pretentious—this organization:
Its members are few. There is "Skinny, for he's Kid,"
The blacking of boots is his humble vocation,
But musical genius can never be hid.
There's "Bob"—he sells papers along with his fellows;
He's short just a leg and he's minus a hand,
But he's chock-full of song and with lungs like a bellows,
He plays the loud bass for the mouth-organ band.

And there's Widow McGann's little boy—"he's a daisy!"
As all his companions declare with a smile,
And add: "Why, dat kid he kin jus' set you crazy
When he gives you de music in tremolo style."
George Washington Jefferson Franklin Bozarro—
He's colored—the alto is in his command,
And all through the air runs a ribbon of sorrow
Whenever he plays with the mouth-organ band.

When they come up the street playing Star-Spangled Banner,"
"The Last Rose of Summer," or "Sweet By and By,"
Though strangely grotesque is the music and manner,
A tear all unbidden may moisten the eye.
For Music is holy—"the daughter of Heaven"—
Her wonderful meaning we all understand,
And she gladdens our lives when with marvelous leaven
She touches the hearts of the mouth-organ band.

—Nixon Waterman, in L. A. W. Bulletin.

Capture of the "Comet."

BY DAVID WECHSLER.

(Copyright, 1897.)

ON THE morning of June 20, 1871, the brig Comet, bound from Charleston to Bahia, was off the coast of French Guiana in a dead calm, which had set in at midnight. As far as could be seen from the deck not a sail was in sight, and after breakfast the watch on deck turned to at various jobs and the captain remained in his cabin. At about nine o'clock, and without our having suspected her presence, a ship's boat touched our port bow, and next moment a gang of men came tumbling in board. The entire watch happened to be in the waist of the brig at that moment, and the fellows, to the number of 14, reached the deck without opposition or question. No sooner had I caught sight of the first one than I recognized the uniform of the French convicts at the penal settlements of Cayenne, but the last of the gang was over the rail before I stepped forward to ask what was wanted. A burly big fellow, who was surely a Frenchman, but spoke excellent English, advanced a step or two and replied:

"We are convicts, as you perceive. We escaped yesterday morning. We do not mean you any harm, and if you will do as we wish all will be well. If you are not the captain then please call him."

There were six muskets among the 14 men, and one had but to glance at the faces to realize that they were desperate. I looked over the rail and saw a large yawl, provided with mast and sail and oars, and a breaker of water and a box of bread were stowed in the bows.

"We had plenty of wind yesterday and up to midnight," said the spokesman. "After that we took to the oars. Let us see the captain and come to an understanding as soon as possible."

I sent the boy down for Capt. Bright, and if I had been astonished at sight of the convicts pouring in over the bows he was dumbfounded at finding them drawn up in line across the deck. He was trying to ask for an explanation when the spokesman doffed his cap, bowed, and said:

"My dear sir, you see before you 14 convicts who escaped yesterday from Cayenne. We were all serving life sentences. In making our escape we had to dispose of six guards, and these muskets belonged to them. We sailed down the coast, and then changed our course, but it is likely that we shall be pursued. Your ship is ours, but we only wish to use it to convey us to some safe and distant place. It is for you to say whether we shall shed more blood."

Capt. Bright was a fiery old fellow, and I expected to hear him call upon the crew to attack the invaders. He grew red and white with anger, clenched his fists, and moved towards the spokesman as if to strike him. Then common sense came to his aid. There were ten of us to 14 of the convicts, and we stood no show. They were as good as in possession of the craft, and would not hesitate at killing us all if provoked.

"So you are convicts?" said the captain at last.

"We have that honor, sir," replied the leader.

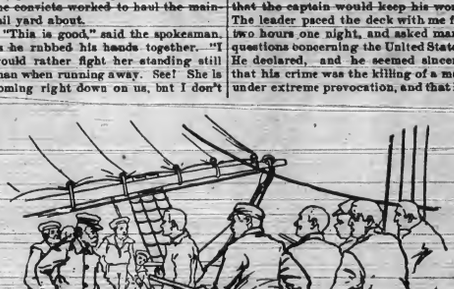
"Where do you wish to go to?"

"To any spot on the American coast. We are sorry to trouble you, but under the circumstances it cannot be helped."

"You have a big boat here," said the captain, as he stepped to the rail, "and why don't you make use of it to go where you will?"

"For the reason that there is only one sailor among us, and because it is a pretty long run up to the American coast. We have our plans, and they cannot be altered. With all respect, I say that you must land us where we wish."

"You have possession," said the captain, as he paced back and forth, "and I am forced to do as you wish. Let there be no trouble. I will agree to land you on the coast of Florida, and you shall agree to preserve order among your fellows, and to leave the ship without act of violence."



"Sir, I give you my word that it shall be so," replied the leader; and that ended the talk.

The convicts had no dunnage, but were to berth under the topgallant forecastle. Their boat would be wanted to set them ashore, and it was hoisted on deck. This job had just been concluded when a sail was sighted in the east. She had a breeze with her and was headed in our direction. She had approached within two miles before we got the first puff. She was a coasting schooner, but we could not make out her nationality until she flew her flag. Then we saw that she was French, and had no doubt that she was sent in pursuit of the convicts. The men began to mutter and curse as they realized her mission, and the leader asked for Capt. Bright and said to him:

"That schooner has been sent in pursuit of us, and is probably aware that we are on board. We have six muskets and plenty of ammunition, and we shall fight her. You will please order your crew below that none may be harmed."

The captain nodded to us to dispose of ourselves as we saw fit and retreated to his cabin without a word. He probably hoped, as we all did, that the schooner would have men enough aboard to make short work of the convicts. Neither Mr. Rawlins, the chief mate, nor myself left the deck for a time. The Comet had all plain sail on her, and we wanted to watch the wind as well as the schooner. The breeze was light, with no signs that it would strengthen right away, and as it reached us the brig was headed up to lie on the port tack, while all the convicts worked to haul the mainsail yard about.

"This is good," said the spokesman, as he rubbed his hands together. "I would rather fight her standing still than when running away. See! She is coming right down on us, but I don't believe she has over a dozen soldiers on her decks."

THE CAPTAIN MOVED TOWARD THE SPOKESMAN AS IF TO STRIKE HIM.

We then left the decks to the convicts. Those armed with muskets were ranged along the bulwarks, and those without were looking for other sorts of weapons. What followed we gathered by hearing instead of seeing. The schooner was satisfied that the convicts had boarded the brig, and knowing that they would make a fight for it, she steered boldly down and laid us aboard. There were 12 soldiers and seven or eight sailors on her decks, and armed with cutlasses and muskets and pistols they swarmed over the rails in a fierce attack. For ten minutes there was a lively battle above us. When at last we heard loud cheering we rushed up in belief that the convicts had been overcome. To our surprise, we found that they had driven the soldiers back. The odds had been heavily against them but they had fought like demons. One of their number had been killed and two badly wounded. In addition the convicts had secured three more muskets and two or three cutlasses and pistols, and were firing down upon the schooner's decks, compelling her people to keep under cover. Had they desired they could have boarded her and made everyone prisoner. When I saw how things were, I suggested this to the leader, but he smilingly replied:

"Ah! no! She is smaller than the brig and a poor sailer; we do not want her."

For an hour the schooner was held captive. Then she was fended off, and after she had drifted half a mile away her people appeared on deck and were very brave. They wasted a good many cartridges in long-range firing, and finally lowered a boat and sent the lieutenant of marines to us with a demand that the convicts surrender. They did not fire upon him, as he was under a flag of truce, but they hooted and jeered; he finally rowed away, but soon returned with an offer to grant them immunity if they would return with the schooner to the colony. This proposition also was hooted at, and the lieutenant was ordered off. When he had been taken aboard, the schooner headed away for the coast.

The dead were simply cast overboard, but the convicts asked our assistance to care for the wounded. That we gave them. They had made such a good fight for their liberty, and had shown such moderation after the heat of the battle, that we had a better feeling toward them. They did not swagger about, as one might expect, but uttered a cheer as the schooner turned tail, and had but little to say. When the dead had been launched overboard and the wounded attended to, the leader of the convicts said to Capt. Bright:

"I think you had better now proceed on the voyage, but you will stand down the coast until the schooner is out of sight. If overhauled again we might not be so lucky."

We ran to the south for ten miles, then came about and headed up the coast, at the same time edging further out to sea. None of us wanted another fight on his hands, and the captain was anxious to reach the Florida coast and get rid of his visitors. As was afterward ascertained, two other craft were sent out from Cayenne in search, but neither sighted us. From one of the wounded soldiers I gathered the particulars of the escape of the convicts. They were loading a vessel at the wharf when the yawl was pulled in by some sailors from a bark at anchor a mile away. There were six soldiers guarding the convicts, some on the wharf and some on the ship, and at a signal all were attacked. Only two were killed, but the other four suffered severe injuries. Before an alarm had reached the prison sheds, half a mile away, the convicts had seized the yawl and put to sea. They were pursued by other small boats, but the yawl outsailed them.

The wounded soldiers at first expected to be put to death by the convicts, but not a man had even a harsh word for them. If the fellows had had liquor there is no telling how free they might have made with the brig, but as it was no lot of passengers could have behaved better. One of them had a few hot words with the cook one day, and the leader of the gang walked up to him and said:

"Julius, we are not here to make trouble, but to regain our liberty. Stop this thing at once. If you can't rest content, I will give you six inches of cold steel and throw your carcass to the sharks!"

The one sailor among them offered his services and insisted on doing a sailor's work, while the rest of them were always at hand whenever there was pulling or hauling to be done. Not a question was asked as to the direction we were steering; they took it for granted that the captain would keep his word. The leader paced the deck with me for two hours one night, and asked many questions concerning the United States. He declared, and he seemed sincere, that his crime was the killing of a man under extreme provocation, and that he lutended to make an honest living in the states. He said there were others with the same intentions, but that about half the gang were bad men and would soon land in prison. Not one of the fellows had a penny, and all were still in convict dress. How they were to manage without stripping forcastle and cabin I could not figure out. The captain had $800 aboard, and I think he expected to be asked for it when the convicts were ready to depart. Perhaps he would have been but for his own sensible action.

When we were within 20 miles of Abaco island, off the southernmost point of Florida, he called three of the convicts into the cabin and had a long talk with them. He advised them to land on the island and remain for a day or two, then proceed along the coast in their boat. He gave each man of the gang five dollars in silver, and from the slop chest, the cabin and the forecastle he rigged them out in such garments that they might pass for shipwrecked sailors. When they came out of the cabin they held a general talk and agreed on the story they were to tell, and as fast as they could change their clothes the prison dress was thrown overboard.

At three o'clock one afternoon we ran in close to Abaco, and the big yawl was lowered and provided with water and provisions. Each and every convict shook hands all around and expressed his gratitude; then one by one they dropped into their boat in an orderly manner. When the last one was in the boat shoved off, the gang gave us a cheer, and we were not yet out of sight when they landed on the island. I never heard of any of them afterwards, though something must have been published in the papers about their arrival at some port; but they had dealt so fairly by the Comet that, convicts though they were, I have always wished them good luck.

Paved the Hall with Gold.

A rich duke, with whom King George II. once elected to dine, provided a way for the display of his wealth which should commend itself to self-advertising Croesuses. Wishing to impress his majesty with the immensity of his riches, he had the floor of his dining hall paved from end to end with sovereigns, the heads being up. Each coin was stuck in a mixture of lime, which soon dried, leaving the precious tile securely fastened.—Chicago Chronicle.

SUBLIME HOPE

For the Weary and Those Discouraged with Attempts to Do Good.

Work On, Work Ever, For All Souls May Be Saved, and the Cheerful Christian Is a Perpetual Sermon—Discourse by Rev. T. De Witt Talmage, D. D.

Dr. Talmage's text Sunday was Daniel xii., 3: "They that turn many to righteousness shall shine as the stars forever and ever."

Every man has a thousand roots and a thousand branches. His roots reach down through all the earth; his branches spread through all the heavens. He speaks with a voice, with eye, with hand, with foot. His silence often is loud as thunder, and his life is a dirge or a doxology. There is no such thing as negative influence. We are all positive in the place we occupy, making the world better or making it worse, on the Lord's side or on the devil's, making up reasons for our blessedness or banishment; and we have already done work in peopling Heaven or hell. The people tell of what they are going to do. A man who has burned down a city might as well talk of some evil that he expects to do, or a man who has saved an empire might as well talk of some good that he expects to do. By the force of your evil influence you have already consumed infinite values, or you have by the power of a right influence won whole kingdoms for God.

It would be absurd for me, by elaborate argument, to prove that the world is off the track. You might as well stand at the foot of an embankment, amid the wreck of a rail train, proving by elaborate argument that something is out of order. Adam tumbled over the embankment 60 centuries ago, and the whole race, in one long train, has gone on tumbling in the same direction. Crash! crash! The only question now is, by what leverage can the crushed thing be lifted? By what hammer may the fragments be reconstructed? I want to show you how we may turn many to righteousness and what will be our future pay for so doing.

First. We may turn them by the charm of a right example. A child coming from a filthy home was taught at school to wash its face. It went home so much improved its mother washed her face. And when the father of the household came home and saw the improvement in domestic appearance he washed his face. The neighbors, happening in, saw the change, and tried the same experiment, until all that street was purified, and the next street copied its example, and the whole city felt the result of one schoolboy washing his face. That is a fable, by which we set forth that the best way to get the world washed of its sins and pollutions is to have our own heart and life cleansed and purified. A man with grace in his heart and Christian cheerfulness in his face and holy consistency in his behavior is a perpetual sermon; and the sermon differs from others in that it has but one head, and the longer it runs the faster. There are honest men who walk down Wall street, making the teeth of iniquity chatter. There are happy men who go into a sick room and by a look help the broken bone to knit and the excited nerves drop to a calm beating. There are pure men whose presence silences the tongue of uncleanliness. The mightiest agent of good on earth is a consistent Christian. I like the Bible folded between lids of cloth, of calf skin or morocco, but I like it better when, in the shape of a man, it goes out into the world—a Bible illustrated. Courage is beautiful to read about; but rather would I see a man with all the world against him confident as though all the world were for him. Patience is beautiful to read about; but rather would I see a buffeted soul calmly waiting for the time of deliverance. Faith is beautiful to read about; but rather would I find a man in the midnight walking straight on as though he saw everything. Oh, how many souls have been turned to God by the charm of a bright example!

When, in the Mexican war, the troops were wavering, a general rose in his stirrups and dashed into the enemy's lines, shouting, "Men, follow me!" They, seeing his courage and disposition, dashed on after him and gained the victory. What men want to rally them for God is an example to lead them. All your commands to others to advance amount to nothing as long as you stay behind. To affect them aright you need to start for Heaven yourself, looking back only to give the stirring cry, "Men, follow me!"

Again: We may turn many to righteousness by prayer. There is no such detective as prayer, for no one can hide away from it. It puts its hand on the shoulder of a man 10,000 miles off. It alights on a ship mid-Atlantic. The little child can not understand the law of electricity or how the telegraph operator, by touching the instrument here, may dart a message under the sea to another continent; nor can we, with our small intellect, understand how the touch of a Christian's prayer shall instantly strike a soul on the other side of the earth. You take ship and go to some other country and get there at 11 o'clock in the morning. You telegraph to America and the message gets here at 6 o'clock the same morning. In other words, it seemed to arrive here five hours before it started. Like that is prayer. God says: "Before they call, I will hear." To overtake a loved one on the road you may spur up a lathered steed until he shall outrace the one that brought the news to them; but a prayer shall catch it at one gallop. A boy running away from home may take the midnight train from the country village and reach the seaport in time to take the ship that sails on the morrow; but a mother's prayer will be on deck to meet him, and in the hammock before he swings it, and at the espetan before he winds the rope around, and on the sea, against the sky as the vessels plows on toward it. There is a mightiness in prayer. George Muller prayed a company of poor boys together and then he prayed up an asylum in which they might be sheltered. He turned his face toward Edinburgh and prayed, and there came a thousand pounds. He turned his face toward London and prayed, and there came a thousand pounds. He turned his face toward Dublin and prayed, and there came a thousand pounds. The breath of Elijah's prayer blew all the clouds off the sky and it was dry weather. The breath of Elijah's prayer blew all the clouds together and it was wet weather. Prayer. In Daniel's time, it walked the cave as a lion tamer. It reached up and took the sun by its golden bit and stopped it, and the moon by its silver bit and stopped it.

We have all yet to try the full power of prayer. The time will come when the American church will pray with its face toward the west, and all the prairies and inland cities will surrender to God; and will pray with face toward the sea, and all the islands and ships will become Christian. Parents who have wayward sons will get down on their knees and say: "Lord, send my boy home," and the boy in Canton shall get up from the gaming table and go down to find out which ship starts first for America.

Not one of us yet knows how to pray. All we have done as yet has only been pottering. A boy gets hold of his father's saw and hammer, and tries to make something, but it is a poor affair that he makes. The father comes and takes the same saw and hammer and builds the house or the ship. In the childhood of our Christian faith, we make but poor work with these weapons of prayer, but when we come to the stature of men in Christ Jesus, then, under these implements, the temple of God will rise, and the world's redemption will be launched. God cares not for the length of our prayers; but it is the faith in them that tells. Believing prayer soars higher than the lark ever sang; plunges deeper than diving-bell ever sank; darts quicker than lightning ever flashed. Though we have used only the back of this weapon instead of the edge, what marvels has been wrought! If saved, we are all the captives of some earnest prayer. Would God that, in desire for the rescue of souls, we might in prayer lay hold of the resources of the Lord omnipotent!

We may turn many to righteousness by Christian admonition. Do not wait until you can make a formal speech. Address the one next to you. You will not go home alone to-day. Between this and your place of stopping you may decide the eternal destiny of an immortal spirit. Just one sentence may do the work. Just one question. Just one look.

The formal talk that begins with a sigh and ends with a canting sniffle is not what is wanted, but the heart throb of a man in dead earnest. There is not a soul on earth that you may not bring to God if you rightly go at it. They say Gibraltar could not be taken. It is a rock, 1,600 feet hight and three miles long. But the English and Dutch did take it. Artillery, and sappers, and miners, and fleets pouring out volleys of death, and thousands of reckless of death, can do anything. The stoutest heart of sin, though it be rock and surrounded by an ocean of transgression, under Christian bombardment, may hoist the flag of redemption.

But is all this admonition and prayer and Christian work for nothing? My text promises to all the faithful eternal luster—"They that turn many to righteousness shall shine as the stars forever." As stars the redeemed have a borrowed light. What makes Mars and Venus and Jupiter so luminous? When the sun throws down his torch in the heavens the stars pick up the scattered brands and hold them in procession as the queen of the night advances, so all Christian workers, standing around the throne, will shine in their light borrowed from the Sun of Righteousness—Jesus in their faces, Jesus in their songs, Jesus in their triumph.

Christ left Heaven once for a tour of redemption on earth, yet the glorified ones knew He would come back again. But let Him abdicate His throne and go away to stay forever, the music would stop, the congregation would disperse, the temples of God be darkened, the rivers of life stagnate, and every chariot would become a hearse, and every bell would toll, and there would not be room on the great hillsides to bury the dead of the great metropolis, for there would be pestilence in Heaven. But Jesus lives, and so all the redeemed live with Him. He shall recognize them as His comrades in earthly toil, and remember what they did for the honor of His name and for the spread of His kingdom. All their prayers and tears and work will rise before Him as He looks into their faces, and He will divide His kingdom with them; His peace—their peace; His holiness—their holiness; His joy—their joy. The glory of the central throne reflected from the surrounding thrones, the last spot of sin struck from the Christian orb, and the entire universe a-trembling and a-flash with light, they shall shine as the stars forever and ever.

Again. Christian workers shall be like the stars in the fact that they have a light independent of each other. Look up, at the night and see each world show its distinct glory. It is not like the conflagration, in which you can not tell where one flame stops and another begins. Neptune, Herschel and Mercury are as distinct as if each one of them were the only star; for our individualism will be lost in Heaven. A great multitude, yet each one is observable, as distinctly recognized, as greatly celebrated, as if in all the space, from gate to gate and from hill to hill he were the only inhabitant; no mixing up, no mob, no indiscriminate rush; each Christian worker standing out illustrious—all the story of earthly achievement adhering to each one; his self-denials and pains and services and victories published. Before men went out to the last war the orators told them that they would all be remembered by their country, and their names be commemorated in poetry and in song; but go to the graveyard in Richmond and you will find there 6,000 graves, over each of which is the inscription, "Unknown." The world does not remember its heroes; but there will be no unrecognized Christian worker in Heaven.

Each one known by all; grandly known; known by acclamation; all the past story of work for God gleaming in cheek and brow and foot and palm. They shall shine with distinct light as the stars, forever and ever.

Again: Christian workers shall shine like the stars in clusters. In looking up you find the worlds in family circles. Brothers and sisters—they take hold of each other's hands and dance in groups. Orion in a group. The Pleiades in a group. The solar system is only a company of children, with bright faces, gathered around one great fireplace. The worlds do not straggle off. They go in squadrons and fleets, sailing through immensity. So Christian workers in Heaven will dwell in neighborhoods and clusters.

I am sure that some people I will like in Heaven a great deal better than others. Yonder is a constellation of stately Christians. They lived on earth by rigid rule. They never laughed. They walked every hour anxious lest they should lose their dignity. But they loved God, and yonder they shine in brilliant constellation. Yet I shall not long to get into that particular group. Yonder is a constellation of smaller Christians—asteroids in the eternal astronomy. While some souls go up from Christian battle, and blaze like Mars, these asteroids dart a feeble ray like Vesta. Yonder is a constellation of martyrs, of apostles, of patriarchs. Our souls, as they go up to Heaven, will seek out the most congenial society.

Yonder is a constellation almost merry with the play of light. On earth they were full of sympathy and songs and tears and raptures and congratulations. When they prayed, their words took fire; when they sang, the tune could not hold them; when they wept over a world's woes, they sobbed as if heart-broken; when they worked for Christ, they flamed with enthusiasm. Yonder they are—circle of light! canstellation of joy! galaxy of fire! Oh, that you and I, by that grace which can transform the worst into the best, might at last sail in the wake of that fleet, and wheel in that glorious group, as the stars for ever and ever.

Again: Christian workers will shine like the stars in swiftness of motion. The worlds do not stop to shine. There are no fixed stars save as to relative position. The star apparently most thoroughly fixed flies thousands of miles a minute. The astronomer, using his telescope for an alpenstock, leaps from world-crag to world-crag, and finds no star standing still. The chamois hunter has to fly to catch his prey, but not so swift is his game as that which the scientist tries to shoot through the tower of his observatory. Like petrels mid-Atlantic, that seem to come from no shore, and be bound to no landing-place—flying, flying—so these great flocks of worlds rest not as they go—wing and wing—age after age—forever and ever. The eagle hastes to its prey, but we shall in speed beat the eagles. You have noticed the velocity of the swift horse under whose feet the miles slip like a smooth ribbon, and as he passes, the four hoofs strike the earth in such quick beat, your pulses take the same vibration. But all these things are not swift in comparison with the motion of which I speak. The moon moves 54,000 miles in a day. Yonder, Neptune flashes on 11,000 miles an hour. Yonder, Mercury goes 109,000 miles in an hour. So, like the stars the Christian shall shine in swiftness and motion.

You hear now of father or mother or child sick 1,000 miles away, and it takes you two days to get to them. You hear of some case of suffering that demands your immediate attention, but it takes you an hour to get there. Oh, the joy when you shall, in fulfillment of the text, take starry speed and be equal to 100,000 miles an hour! Having on earth got used to Christian work, you will not quit when death strikes you. You will only take on more velocity. There is a dying child in London, and its spirit must be taken up to God; you are there in an instant to do it. There is a young man in New York to be arrested from going into that gate of sin; you are there in an instant to arrest him. Whether with spring of foot or stroke of wing, or by force of some new law that shall hurl you to the spot where you would go, I know not; but my text suggests velocity. All space open before you, with nothing to hinder you in mission of light and love and joy, you shall shine in swiftness of motion as the stars forever and ever.

Again; Christian workers, like the stars, shine in magnitude. The most illiterate man knows that these things in the sky, looking like gilt buttons, are great masses of matter. To weigh them one would think it would require scales with a pillar hundreds of thousands of miles high, and chains hundreds of thousands of miles long, and at the bottom of the chains basins on either side hundreds of thousands of miles wide, and that then Omnipotence alone could put the mountains into the scales and the hills into the balance. But puny man has been equal to the undertaking, and has set a little balance on his geometry, and weighed world against world. Yes, he has pulled out his measuring line, and announced that Herschel is 36,000 miles in diameter, Saturn 79,000 miles in diameter, and Jupiter 89,000 miles in diameter, and that the smallest pearl on the beach of Heaven is immense beyond all imagination. So all they who have toiled for Christ on earth shall rise up to a magnitude of privilege, and a magnitude of strength, and a magnitude of holiness, and a magnitude of joy; and the weakest saint in glory become greater than all that we can imagine of an archangel.

The International Typographical union is worth $37,000.

WON AT LAST.

BY HELEN BEEKMAN.

IT WAS a lovely picture of rolling woodland and grassy slopes, with the peaceful river in the distance reflecting the glories of the dying sun, and the rich masses of cloud tinged with myriad rainbow dyes, but before Bell Fielding's eyes a mist of tears intervened. None sparkled on the jetty lashes, no trace of them was left on the fair, flushed cheek, but they blurred the vision for all that, as she choked them back on her sad heart. Around her was every evidence of wealth. The house rising in the background, a grand old pile of gray stone, worthy the name of castle, the grounds surrounding it, kept in exquisite order, giving every sign of cultivation and taste, her own dress rich and costly, yet she tears so nearly shed were caused by the bitterness of dependence.

It was her uncle's house she shared, the privileges which by right belonged solely to her cousin, her beautiful cousin May—proud and beautiful, the idol of her father, a man stern and grave save to the daughter, whose smile melted the chilliest frost in [illegible] he enwrapped himself.

Years before Bell, too, had known a father's love, but that Archer Fielding had ever been own brother to this man of iron seemed impossible. Her earliest recollections were of a bright, genial nature, eyes and lips formed only for laughter, forbidding concealment and distrust, a heart always ready to listen to her childish wants, ever open to enfold and protect her, then silence and mystery. His name was never mentioned now in her uncle's home. She had been taught to think him dead, though sometimes rose a great hope in her soul that somewhere on this wide earth he might yet live and the day would come when she might find him. She could complain of no unkindness.

"I will go away," she said, aloud. "I cannot bear it. I am young, I am strong, I can work or if needs be starve—anything rather than accept crumbs—aye, or a whole loaf—leavened by stern duty, without one sweet morsel of love."

"Soliloquizing, Miss Bell?" interrupted a voice, and the girl turned, her face flushing, then paling, as the young man who had thus addressed her approached and drew her arm within his. For a moment she let it rest there, as though it were pleasant to her, then made a motion to withdraw it, but he laid a detaining grasp on the small, white fingers, as he questioned: "Why will you not accept my escort? Is your own society so far preferable?"

"My cousin is expecting you, I believe, Mr. Armstrong, at the house. May does not brook delay."

"Indeed! Nor do I; therefore, since I was seeking you, allow me at least a brief reward. I was not aware Miss Fielding had any claim upon my time, at least not Miss May Fielding!" Again his listener's face flushed as she made a half impatient movement of dissent. "Bell," he went on, with sudden, impetuous manner, "is it possible you do not know the charm which has drawn me here? Have you not long ago read the story of my love for you? It is true that I have been polite to your cousin, although my attentions have hardly been so marked as to admit of misconstruction. Think you we care for the snow-capped mountains, when at our very feet lies the valley of plenty? Through her I have gained speech with you. Surely such subterfuge is in no way to be despised. I have seen your proud spirit suffer, have known something of its pangs. Darling, will you not end them? Will you not accept the home I offer you, as fair a one as that you leave, where you shall reign its honored mistress, queen of all, even my heart?"

Was she dreaming? Was it, indeed, love for Loring Armstrong she so long had held within such irrepressible barriers, that now at his words leaped in such mad, strong currents through every pulse? She so long had looked upon him as May's lover, she so well knew his declaration had been expected by her, which would gratify for her father every desire of his parental ambition; so fully realized their baffled disappointment when they discovered it was she whom he loved, that her brain whirled, but those last words, "she whom he loved," gave her strength. What could she not bear for such a price? Had Loring Armstrong been penniless she still could have gladly gone forth to the ends of the world, and now, now, she could only raise happy, tear-bedimmed eyes to his, and sob out her new-found joy on the unexpected shelter of his heart.

"But May? What will she say?" she questioned, at last.

"Darling, do you think because I have been so happy as to win you, every one must envy you the prize? I doubt if Miss May has a heart, save when it beats triumphantly as she looks at the reflection of her own beautiful face in her mirror. But come, little trembler. We will go and announce our dawning bliss and put your foolish fears to flight." So saying, he threw his arms once more about the slender form, and drew her toward the house.

On the broad piazza, impatiently opening and closing the fan she held within her jeweled hand, the beautiful heiress sat awaiting their approach, or rather the approach of one alone, for she raised her pencilled eyebrows with haughty inquiry accompanied by a disdainful shrug of the graceful shoulders when she saw who was his companion; but as they drew nearer, and she noted the action of acknowledged protection, a deathly pallor overspread the beautiful face, and one drop of blood rested on the crimson lip where her small, white tooth had left its cruel impress.

"We have come to ask your congratulations, Miss May, although I have assured your cousin how sincere I know they will be. Is your father within?"

"No, I believe not, and without the consent of one's guardian, congratulations, I infer, are premature. However, you may rest assured of mine, if you consider them of moment."

The tone in which she spoke gave no betrayal of the conflict she endured, and as the words fell started forward.

"How kind of you, dear cousin, to share my happiness," but a something, unnoticed by the man, warned her to say no more—to draw back chilled, she could scarce tell why, and send the momentary impulse of affection back to its fountainhead. A shadow of undefined dread crept over her; not even her lover's kiss, with his promise to return early in the morning that the important interview might be accomplished, could dissipate a shadow which took visible form, as on the following day she was summoned from the breakfast room to her uncle's study, and met her cousin just leaving it with an expression of triumphant assurance she was unable to conceal.

With unusual urbanity, after carefully closing the door, Mr. Fielding motioned her to a seat.

"I hear," he began, clearing his throat, "that Mr. Armstrong has asked you to become his wife. This both amazes and pains me. Amazed because you certainly must have conducted your courtship with unbecoming secrecy, and pained because it forces me into disclosures which will make this marriage an impossibility."

The shadow had fallen now. She felt it suffocating her, but she awaited the rest in silence.

"Had your hand been sought by one whose name was of less lustre, and whose birth, station, and immense wealth forced him to less necessarily maintain it, I might have kept silent. Now I cannot consistently do so, therefore I must tell you your father is not dead, as you have supposed, but still lives, a fugitive from justice!"

"Lives! My father! Thank God!" From her white lips broke the exclamation of gratitude, unheeding the barrier which had forbidden all these years his acknowledging himself to his child.

"I will not here speak of the character of his offense, save that the clemency of one man saved him from disgrace," he continued, restlessly pacing the floor, as though even his hard nature shrank from his self-appointed task. His eyes were glancing over at the white, suffering face of the girl he was stabbing with each word. "It only remains for me to apprise Mr. Armstrong of these facts to induce him at once to renounce your hand of his own accord, or in mercy to your pride inform him you have repented a too hasty decision and wish to be free. Which course will you choose?"

"Sir, your blood is in my veins. The question is therefore scarcely necessary. I shall never see Loring Armstrong again. Word it as you will, only if it be true that my father lives, I would share his exile, aye if needs be his disgrace. Write him it is my wish, and gain quickly his consent."

"No letter could reach him. As soon as possible I will let him know of your desire."

Slowly Bell rose and left the room, wondering if years had not elapsed since last she had entered it. A dull wonder took possession of her in the weeks that followed as to why her lover so calmly had accepted her sudden rejection of his suit. She did not know a faint hope had tempered the first force of the blow, the hope that he would break down any barrier, leap any obstacle which might prevent his claiming her for his own. But since the few brief hours they had spent together, when he had won her promise, he had vanished. Not even May's wiles could draw him to her side since he had disappeared from their midst. So, sitting alone and weary, she was startled one evening, as the first snow lay upon the ground, by the entrance of a stranger. Gray hairs mingled with the brown, but as he stood silent one moment before her a thrill of expectation gave her a premonition of the future, and when he opened his arms with the talismanic words "My daughter," she sprang to their embrace. But as he released her, another stood waiting, as Loring Armstrong said:

"Have I won my reward, Bell?"

Glancing for one moment into the noble features of the parent she had lost so long, and failing to read one sign which should proclaim him capable of wrong, she could no longer hesitate, as with rapturous bliss she felt herself once more enfolded in her lover's arms. Nor did he let her go when her uncle was summoned to their presence, so changed, so white, so fear-stricken that she could but feel a thrill of pity at her heart, a pity which made her plead his cause when the sad truth was unfolded, the truth that to save him her own father had assumed his crime, the forgery of a note. True to a promise made to his mother on her death-bed to protect a younger brother, he had gone forth a wanderer, leaving home and child—even his wealth—for the guilty one.

Loring Armstrong, insisting upon the issue, had been reluctantly told, and he it was who determined to win the girl he loved at any cost, had sought and found the father, who had sacrificed so much, and from whose lips, sealed so long, he wrung at last the truth.

"You have a daughter," confessed the wretched man, when all had been told, "restored to your arms. Remember, I did this for mine, and forgive me."

So it was the heiress after all Loring Armstrong had won for his bride, and when on the eve of Bell's wedding day May Fielding's body was discovered, beautiful and white and cold in death, and her uncle left his home a wretched wanderer, unwilling to accept the free forgiveness offered him, her husband wiped away her tears, and in his and her new-found father's love she learned the lesson, that "While sorrow lasts for the night, joy cometh in the morning."

—N. Y. Ledger.

AGRICULTURAL HINTS

A FARMER'S ARGUMENT.

He Takes a Really Sensible Stand on the Road Question.

If we study social and financial questions we find that, to a great extent, we fall over the stones we ourselves have laid in the way. There is no end of fault-finding — and justly so — over the money sharks, the combines, the greediness of public officials and politicians. There is no doubt that these, collectively in many instances, get fully one-half of the people's earnings. Of the remaining half one-half of that is lost to the farmer by weeds and vermin, by bad financial management, and by bad roads. These are the stones he lays in his own way, or allows to lie there to stumble over.

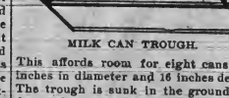
The farmers themselves are principally to blame for the poor and miserable condition of our country roads. The way of maintaining these roads is about the same that was customary in our colonial times, when any road was good enough, if rocks, stumps or holes did not make them entirely impassable for vehicles. It is very likely that more attention would have been paid to our country roads were it not for the introduction of railroads. What the railroads are for traffic on a large scale, so are our country roads for traffic on a small scale—alike beneficial to all people. It is a fact that railroads haul cheaper, and is it not a fact that railroads cost more? Is it not, likewise, a fact that railroads earn enormous riches out of the people by hauling for the people?

Now, if the farmer could haul his produce at half the present cost, how much would that save him? I do not know, some one may answer. Well, if I did not see the railroads I would not either. But the fact is, if we had good wagon roads all the year round, the hauling would not cost half what it costs now, besides the quicker trip and bigger load, and man, team, harness and wagon would last longer. The price for the load hauled would be better in winter and early spring than in mid-summer, when team and man are nearly suffocated by dust, and when they ought to be at home cultivating corn and potatoes; cleaning up around the hog house and yard, and making numerous other improvements.

The country road question is generally misconceived; therefore, insufficiently discussed, and will not be solved satisfactorily by old ways and means. Instead of treating it as a question of national economy, it is regarded as a local matter, for which there is a great lack of comprehension, or of means to solve or carry it out. In the far west, where the settlers build their homes far apart, nobody thought of arranging or maintaining regular roads. All road making was confined to poorly, passable approaches to the railroads; very often, however, they found what a great damage an impassable road is. A great deal has been written about how to make farmers comprehend that it is in their own interest to maintain good roads. But it would seem to be all in vain.

Farmers are averse to the cost of constructing durable roads and not far-sighted enough to see the benefits they would derive from it. That the cost of constructing such a road is considerable, may be comprehended by everybody; but that it is as high as generally supposed is a mistake, and this seems to be the main reason that so little has been accomplished in this direction. Of course, the roads are repaired every year according to the nature and condition of the soil. Gravel will produce the best and cheapest roads; but is squandered in many places. We often see gravel put in places where the road is not sufficiently graded. There is mixed with the water in holes to a mush and entirely disappears in a few years. In many places gravel and stones are not to be had. In such cases the largest holes in the road are annually filled with dirt, by plow and scraper, and then left alone till the next year, and so ad infinitum. Here wide wagon wheels would be better than narrow ones; it is not to be wondered that the roads grow from bad to worse in some places.

The manner in which roads in Wisconsin have been maintained for many years is not a correct one, nor is the system of roadmasters. It should have been abolished long ago. These roadmasters are elected by acclamation, whether the man is competent to earn his salary or not; influence conquers, and often the beer-glass decides the election. To some it is great fun to elect somebody who does not want, and does not care for the office. In some places it is the rule, when hauling gravel in payment of road taxes, to load on as little as possible. If the roadmasters would see that every team hauled at least one cubic yard, considerably more would be accomplished. In some districts where capitalists live who do not work their road taxes themselves the cash is collected by roadmasters who promised to have the taxes worked, but most of it remains in his pocket, or is used to fumigate or irrigate the throat. A roadmaster who really and earnestly sees to it that every tax paper does his duty is seldom reelected.



If we want good roads we must elect men to the legislature who are interested in exacting more suitable laws. Things would be much different if, when a piece of road is to be made, the job was entrusted to expert and competent hands. Every roadmaster should be required to have a knowledge of bridge construction, with tools and the proper handling of the same. In nearly every state suitable material for the construction of good roads may be found, and if, in consequence of the great amount of labor, wages should rise, it would be far from a misfortune; the money would remain in the country, and every tax payer would have an opportunity to earn his money back again. It would not be long before the money invested in the construction of the roads, after going through numerous channels of trade, would find its way back to the pockets of those from whom it had been taken for a good purpose.

There should be permanently employed a few men with pick and shovel, to make necessary repairs, drain the roads after heavy rains, etc. This would save considerable money to every town, and our roads would by rational work always be in good condition. Now, as mentioned before, a great deal could be done to improve our roads; but such statements as we often hear—that "the roads are in worse condition than they were 50 years ago," is surely overdrawn. This is comparatively a new country and cannot compare with European countries. During the past 45 years, in our own town, we have cleared the land from heavy timber, stones and stumps, drained mud holes and swamps, built substantial barns and houses, raised blooded stock of all kinds, and kept the roads in as good condition as we know how. But laws that were all right in colonial times should be abolished, that we may keep up with the progress of the times.—A. Selle, in Rural World.

MILK CAN TROUGH.

A Convenience in Handling the Daily Dairy Product.

Where no better plan can be put to use, a good method of keeping milk is to build a milk can trough, as portrayed herewith. The trough is shown on its side with the lid open and down. It is of two inch hemlock plank, eight feet long, two feet deep and 18 inches wide.

MILK CAN TROUGH.

This affords room for eight cans 12 inches in diameter and 16 inches deep. The trough is sunk in the ground in front of the pump curb, in such a position that all waste water is discharged into it and out through an opposite end, which aids in keeping the water cool during the day. The trough is emptied and refilled night and morning. A neatly-fitting lid of the same material fits to the top and on extra hot days several pieces of old carpet are thrown over the lid. To make it water-tight two rods are fastened through each end and the nuts drawn up moderately tight. Before joining the edges together they should be daubed with white lead to move closely close up all the crevices.—Farm and Home.

Flax Is an Exhaustive Crop.

Some western farm journals are wondering why flax is not more grown than it is. The reason is that it is a very exhaustive crop and can only be grown profitably where fertility is little regarded or where there is good market for both fiber and seed. It is a good sign for western farmers that flax growing as it was practiced a few years ago is going out of their farm rotation. The stalk and fibre were always thrown away. Only the seed was marketed, and this sold so low that the raw seed, or, better still, flaxseed meal, was one of the cheapest fertilizers that can be used. Not until we have mills for making linen cloth and conveniences for separating the fiber from the stalk will flax growing be profitable in this country. When both seed and fiber can be sold the crop will pay for the heavy manuring it requires to keep the land fertile.—American Cultivator.

Training Up the Heifer.

Train up a heifer in the way she should go, and when she becomes a cow she will not depart from it. With her first calf, the young cow should be kept in milk as long as possible, because that is what she is wanted to do all of her productive life. If she dries up early, the next year the habit will make an effort to repeat itself, and the next also, and also the next, and so on. By careful feeding and encouraging treatment persuade the inexperienced heifer to continue in milk as long as she will agree to, and the next season have her, by similar means, exceed her previous record, until three or four weeks of drought is all she will demand.—Dakota Field and Farm.

Creameries and Good Roads.

The Mankato (Minn.) Free Press says that the establishment of creameries is becoming a potent argument for good roads. The daily trip to them with the milk must be made regardless of mud and wet or if the mud be ankle deep—for milk is a perishable product. Then, even when the road is dry, the milk, of course, is injured by the churning received on the journey over the rough roads. The farmer is, therefore, beginning to perceive the direct money value of road improvement. The Free Press adds that the creamery is becoming the focus at which better roads center.

How to Prevent Blackleg.

Blackleg is something to be dreaded by dairymen and stockmen, especially those who make a specialty of raising calves. Prevention is better than cure. A reliable prevention of blackleg in calves is said to be a mixture consisting of ten pounds of sulphur, six pounds of copperas, three pounds of saltpetre and three pounds of slacked lime. Pulverize and mix them, and use in the salt trough in the proportion of a pint of the mixture to a gallon of salt.

New Brunswick Codfish.

The people of St. John's, New Brunswick, are lamenting the fall in price of their great staple, codfish, which now brings less money than for many years before. The fish caught by the French has become a successful rival of the New Brunswick cod and is driving the latter from the foreign markets. Whereas 139,536 quintals were exported, for instance, to Spain in 1897, last year only 25,546 quintals were sent to that country.—Chicago Inter Ocean.

That Terrible Scourge.

Malarial disease is invariably supplemented by disturbance of the liver, the bowels, the stomach and the nerves. To the removal of both the cause and the effects Hostetter's Stomach Bitters is fully adequate. It "kills the bill" as no other remedy does, performing its work thoroughly. Its ingredients are pure and wholesome, and it admirably serves to build up a system broken by ill health and shorn of strength. Constipation, liver and kidney complaint and nervousness are conquered by it.

Using a Word.

"My child, what made your face so dirty?"

"That Billy Bludkins an' I had a fight, an' he throwed more dirt on my face than I could digest, mamma."—Judge.

Shake Into Your Shoes.

Allen's Foot-Ease, a powder for the feet. It cures painful, swollen, smarting feet and instantly takes the sting out of corns and bunions. It's the greatest comfort discovery of the age. Allen's Foot-Ease makes tight or new shoes feel easy. It is a certain cure for sweating, callous, hot, tired, aching feet. Try it to-day. Sold by all druggists and shoe stores, 25c. Trial package, FREE. Write to Allen S. Olmsted, LeRoy, N. Y.

An Invitation.

Harry—A kiss is a drink of rarest nectar. Carry—Have one on me.—N. Y. Journal.

Largest in the World.

The Star tobacco factory at St. Louis is the largest in the world. The buildings are in two rows; 2400 feet on Park and 2400 feet on Folsom avenue, with a total width of 271 feet. You will discover the reason for this marvelous growth if you give Star plug tobacco a trial.

No matter how well a man likes whisky, he likes to surprise people by telling them he has quit.—Washington Democrat.

THE MARKETS.

CINCINNATI, Sept. 28.
LIVE STOCK—Cattle, common	2 00	@	2 75
Select butchers	3 85	@	4 25
CALVES—Fair to good light	6 00	@	7 00
HOGS—Common	3 85	@	4 00
Mixed packers	4 10	@	4 20
Light shippers	4 15	@	4 30
SHEEP—Choice	3 25	@	3 85
LAMBS—Good to choice	5 00	@	5 40
FLOUR—Winter family	3 70	@	4 00
GRAIN—Wheat—No. 2 red		@	85
No. 3 red		@	83
Corn—No. 2 mixed		@	31½
Oats—No. 2		@	20½
Rye—No. 2		@	48
HAY—Prime to choice		@	8 75
PROVISIONS—Mess pork		@	9 50
Lard—Prime steam		@	4 60
BUTTER—Choice dairy		@	10
Prime to choice creamery		@	19½
APPLES—Per bbl	1 25	@	1 75
POTATOES—Per bbl	1 75	@	2 00
NEW YORK.
FLOUR—Winter patent	5 25	@	5 40
No. 2 red		@	80½
CORN—No. 2 mixed		@	34½
RYE		@	44½
OATS—Mixed		@	24½
PORK—New Mess	9 00	@	9 50
LARD—Western		@	5 00
CHICAGO.
FLOUR—Winter patents	5 00	@	5 10
GRAIN—Wheat—No. 2 red	93½	@	94½
No. 2 Chicago spring	92½	@	93½
CORN—No. 2	28	@	28½
OATS—No. 2		@	18½
PORK—Mess	8 40	@	8 45
LARD—Steam	4 67½	@	4 70
BALTIMORE.
FLOUR—Family	4 85	@	5 30
GRAIN—Wheat—No. 2	95½	@	96
Southern Wheat	92	@	1 00
Corn—Mixed	33½	@	33½
Oats—No. 2 white		@	25
Rye—No. 2 western		@	53½
CATTLE—First quality	4 10	@	4 25
HOGS—Western	4 50	@	4 70
INDIANAPOLIS.
GRAIN—Wheat—No. 2		@	94
Corn—No. 2 mixed		@	30½
Oats—No. 2 mixed		@	19½
LOUISVILLE.
FLOUR—Winter patent	3 75	@	4 00
GRAIN—Wheat—No. 2 red		@	96
Corn—Mixed		@
Oats—Mixed		@	21
PORK—Mess		@	9 00
LARD—Steam		@	4 75

TO MOTHERS OF LARGE FAMILIES.

Mrs. Pinkham's Advice Sought by Many Who Are Broken in Health.

In this workaday world few women are so placed that physical exercise is not constantly demanded of them in their daily life.

Mrs. Pinkham makes a special appeal to mothers of large families who must or is never done, and many of whom are and suffer for lack of intelligent care.

To women, young or old, rich or poor, Mrs. Pinkham, of Lynn, Mass., extends her invitation to free advice. Our women do not let your lives be sacrificed when a word from Mrs. Pinkham, at the first approach of weakness, may fill your future years with healthy joy.

MRS. A. C. BUHLER, 1123 North Albany avenue, near Humboldt Park, Chicago, Ill., says: "I am fifty-one years old and have had twelve children, and my youngest is eight years old. I have been suffering for some time with a terrible weakness; that bearing-down feeling was dreadful, and I could not walk a any distance. I began the use of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Sanative Wash and they have cured me. I cannot praise your medicine enough."

Not So Bad After All.

Torn Tomkins, who had a fragment of a newspaper in his hand, rolled over until he faced Woebegone Williams, nearly setting the hayrack on fire in the operation, and remarked:

"Say!"

"Wot!" returned Woebegone Williams.

"I guess mebbe water ain't so bad after all, if a feller tacked it right."

"Such as how?" demanded Woebegone, somewhat startled by the suggestion.

"Why, here's a item that says Count Moltke has sailed for Havre in the saloon of the Bretagne."

"Say! I thought there was somethin' funny in the way them swell guys keeps crossin' the ocean. Now I understand it."

And after a full and free discussion both decided that they would risk the water themselves under such conditions.—Chicago Post.

Beginning Early.

Teacher—Now, children, can any of you define the word vacuum? No? Well, it means saying one thing and meaning the reverse of it. Can anybody give me an example of that?

Little Willie—Yeth, I kin.

"Well, Willie, you give me an example of sarcasm, then, showing you mean just the opposite of what you say."

"Dod bless teacher."—N. Y. World.

Very Low Rates to the Sunny South.

Via Big Four Route. Account one way settlers' excursion. Tickets on Sale: September 7th and 21st, October 5th and 19th. For tickets and full information call on any ticket agent of the Big Four Route, or address E. O. McCormick, Pass. Traffic Mgr.; Warren J. Lynch, Ass. Gen. Pass. & Tkt. Agt., Cincinnati, O.

A Bright Idea.

Algy—I'd like awfully to know whether she'd marry me or not.

Wadleigh—Why don't you ask her, dear boy?

Algy—By Jove, that's a good idea, I will. What a head you have, old man.—Yellow Book.

WITHOUT GRIP or GRIPE.

To get a natural result, a remedy should always act without violence, smoothly, easily, delightfully. This is the action of

Cascarets

THE IDEAL LAXATIVE,

because they strengthen the muscular action of the bowels and gently stimulate the kidneys and liver. They are purely vegetable, containing no poisonous or injurious substances, and are recommended and used by young and old. BELIEVE WHAT WE SAY! 10 cents prove their merit, and we ask that you

BUY AND TRY A CASCARET TO-NIGHT!

ALL DRUGGISTS. 10c., 25c., 50c.

SAPOLIO

LIKE A GOOD TEMPER, "SHEDS A BRIGHTNESS EVERYWHERE."

PISO'S CURE FOR CURES WHERE ALL ELSE FAILS. Best Cough Syrup. Tastes Good. Use in time. Sold by druggists. CONSUMPTION

DROPSY NEW DISCOVERY; gives quick relief and cures worst cases. Send for book of testimonials and 10 days' treatment Free. Dr. H. H. GREEN'S SONS, Atlanta, Ga.

THE SERVANT PROBLEM.

Its Simple Solution in the City of St. Petersburg.

While in other civilized social countries employers and employes have not yet found the solution of the important question how to regulate and improve the relations between master and servant to their mutual satisfaction and are organizing societies and meetings, with speeches, resolutions and articles and letters to the press, arguing on both sides of the problem, antocratic Russia is, remarks the Anglo-Russian, solving the long and complicated dispute in its own peculiar fashion. "Don't argue," says the governor of St. Petersburg to the employer and employe; "the authorities exist for no other purpose than to relieve you of such mental work." With this object the government has prepared a little "Shkhitelskaya Knizhka"—that is, a servant's booklet—containing regulations, which assign practically all rights to the master and all duties to the servant. The "knizhka" will be supplied gratis to all applicants from the office of the governor, and no servants can be engaged without producing this document. Should this order be disobeyed, the employer will be fined 50 rubles, the servants 10 rubles. Servants of either sex can be dismissed if they absent themselves from the premises of their employer during three hours. The regulations make no mention of any justificatory circumstances, or what is called "force majeure."

Another reason for dismissal is the case where a servant is summoned before a court of justice by the police, being charged with any criminal offense. The regulations again say nothing about the result of the summons, so that if even the accused is declared utterly innocent, he or she can still be dismissed, and left in such case without a character to seek another situation. The employer can also dismiss servants for rudeness toward him or members of his family, but no protection is offered to servants against any rude conduct or abuse of the employer. On the contrary, the regulations distinctly give the employer the right to use ukoritelnye—i. e., reproachful expressions. What the Russian police understand under the term "reproachful" is left entirely to the employer to decide. We know, for instance, how the governor of Odessa, Vice Admiral Zelenoi, gave a violent slap on the face to an Odessa citizen and knocked out two of his teeth, in the way of a "reproach" for having opened his shop half an hour before the legal time; the admiral himself ultimately received a decoration from the late czar, Alexander III., for a whole series of similar "reproaches" made to the inhabitants of Odessa during his governorship. Even loyal Rusian papers criticise the head of the police's new domestic service regulations, and point out that they tend to make domestic service still more unpopular, and will increase the number of those unhappy women who cannot withstand the temptations of the easier life offered to them in vice.

Tea and Coffee Cups.

Even after tea was introduced into Europe and had come into general use, teacups were scarce. At the same time coffee was introduced, but, apart from Constantinople, the first coffee cups in Europe date back only as far as 1645 in Venice, 1659 in Paris, 1652 in London and 1694 in Leipsic. From the first, however, the conventional oriental coffee cup without stem or handle was little used, and in Germany not at all. The Chinese teacup was used for tea, coffee and chocolate. Specimens of porcelain were undoubtedly introduced into Europe in the middle ages, yet not till the sixteenth century were cups imported from China in any great quantities, and even then it was as articles of virtu. Most of these found their way back to China again, as collecting porcelain is a lasting fad there, and high prices are paid for good specimens.

Cortez' Emeralds.

Cortez obtained in Mexico five emeralds of wonderful size and beauty. One was like a rose, another in the shape of a horn, a third in that of a fish, with diamond eyes; a fourth like a bell, with a pearl for a clapper; the fifth was a cup, with a foot of gold, and with four little chains, each ended with a large pearl. He had also two emerald vases, worth 300,000 crowns each.

Degrees of Genius.

"Our typewriter girl is awfully clever; she can sharpen lead pencils."

"Pooh! Ours can beat that. She has five clerks in the office dying to sharpen them for her." — Detroit Free Press.

—How foolish it makes a fellow feel to carefully guard a secret a long time and then find that everybody knows it!—Washington Democrat.

—The fact that a great many people can't make speeches would not make so much difference, if they didn't insist on trying it.

THE GARROTE.

Spain's Horrifying Method of Executing Condemned Murderers.

The garrote by which the anarchist who killed the Spanish premier was executed is named after its inventor, a Spaniah ironworker, who witnessed a bungling execution of a relative on the gallows, which was the method employed by Spain up to about 30 years ago for carrying out the sentence of death.

Garrote pondered that a more expeditious and, therefore, merciful, method had not been discovered. He little thought then that he would be the one to furnish his country with a substitute for the gallows, but the thought haunted him so long that he at length found it assuming ordered form in his mind, and in time the ponderous death-dealing machine that has immortalized him in his country came to be a fact.

The two points of excellence claimed for the garrote are these: That it can be made with reasonable care to kill instantly and that it sheds not one drop of blood. Force that is measured by horse-power is the agency it employs and its aim is the breaking of the victim's neck.

The unfortunate is first made to sit in a chair directly under two heavy iron bars, one of which is adjusted on the back of his neck, and the other, vulgarly known as the corbatin, or neck tie, under his chin. Then the executioner grasps the handle, gives a vigorous twist, and death is instantaneous. The entire machine is made of iron and ordinarily weighs several hundred pounds.

Persons who have witnessed all sorts of capital punishment are unanimous in the opinion that garroting is the most revolting and appalling of all. It is not always as expeditious as its inventor made it possible to be. A vicious executioner can prolong it practically at will, and herein is the system's great drawback, as it is now constituted. Cases are citable in which the process was prolonged 20, 30 minutes, even three-quarters of an hour! The executioner merely gave twist enough to the handle or lever to choke his victim. Then he turned it back and twisted again, this time a little more than at first, and so on until his spite, having been satisfied, or his instructions, perhaps, obeyed, he gave one final turn and ended the tortured life. Such was the execution of Malojs in Matanzas, Cuba, in 1888!—N. Y. Journal.

MADE A MAN OF HIMSELF.

A Waif That Turned Out Well in His Adopted Home.

John Green Brady, of Indiana, who has been appointed governor of Alaska, never knew his parents. He grew up a veritable street arab in the utmost poverty. In 1860 he was sent to Indiana with a car load of waifs. The car reached Tipton, a county-seat 30 miles north of Indianapolis, and a number of youngsters were committed to the care of residents. Judge John Green, a prominent citizen of the place, called for the "ugliest raggedest and most friendless" in the lot. "Jack," as he was afterwards known, was promptly presented, and the judge took the lad home. He appreciated his home and the kindness of his benefactors, and diligently applied himself to study. A course at the public schools was followed by a year at Waveland academy, and that by four years at Harvard. After he had been graduated at Cambridge he was sent by Judge Green to England to pursue his theological studies. Returning to Tipton in 1876, the next year he went to Alaska as a missionary under the auspices of the Presbyterian church, and he has since remained there.—San Francisco Argonaut.

A Cosmopolitan Meal.

An American traveling in Palestine describes an interesting dinner he ate recently at a hotel in Jericho. "We sat on the porch of the hotel at Jericho," he write, "after dinner, at which we were served with butter from Norway, cheese from Switzerland, marmalade from London, wine from Jerusalem, diluted with the water from the well of Elisha, raisins from Ramoth Gilead, oranges from Jericho—in no respect inferior to those from Jaffa or the Indian river, Florida—and almonds from the east of the Jordan, smoking Turkish tobacco, which, like the Turkish empire, is inferior to its reputation, and a cup of coffee from—the corner grocery of Jericho."—Hartford Courant.

The Day of Doom.

Prof. Falb, of Vienna, fixes the extinction of the human race for November 13, 1899. On that day the earth is to come into collision with a comet, and everybody will be poisoned by gas or burnt to death.

—Knives should be gently rubbed with oil before they are put away for any length of time to prevent them from rusting.

—We wonder why a cigar is best at the last end.—Washington Democrat.

AIR TO DISPLACE STEAM.

The Age of Atmospheric Pressure Is at Hand.

The air age is about to begin. On the third track between the two regular tracks, just south of the Rector street station of the Sixth Avenue Elevated railroad, the air motor, which is shortly to be tried on the elevated road, is now receiving the finishing touches preparatory to the coming trial, writes a New York correspondent of the Pittsburgh Dispatch. The motor does not differ much in its general appearance from an ordinary locomotive. It has about the same sized engineer's cab, and what looks like a boiler, though it is not a boiler, but a place for the storing of compressed air. The chief difference is in the absence of a smokestack. The new idea in locomotion is in good condition for a fair trial. About 1,300 pounds of compressed air has been put into it. When the motor is run it will carry 2,000 pounds of compressed air. The air is obtained from a pipe connecting with a compressed air station in Greenwich street, which the Air Power company has constructed. To charge the motor with the 2,000 pounds of compressed air takes about the same time as to put water into an ordinary engine, or something under a minute. The 2,000 pounds, it is said, will run the motor for an hour, or long enough to make the trip from the Battery to One Hundred and Fifty-fifth street. As it is, the ordinary locomotive takes water at each end of the line.

The new motor will be quietly tested in a night or two, and the regular trial, which is expected to take the motor over the whole length of the elevated system, will follow. The Air Power company officers are very sanguine as to its success. The motor has already been run successfully at Rome, N. Y., where is was built. It is the first motor of the kind to be built in this country for use on a regular railroad, though air motors have been run on some French railroads. One man, it is said, can easily operate the air machine, though, to avoid risk of accident, two men are likely to be placed upon a locomotive. And other surprises are in the air.

LAVENDER SACHETS.

How to Make These Quaint, Sweet-Smelling Squares.

To make lavender sachets, without rubbing off the lavender flowers from the stalks take 12 sticks of lavender with large heads, and tie them tightly together close up to the heads with a piece of thread, and then tie around this the two pieces of ribbon, having first fastened their ends together. Bend the sticks down over the heads, and proceed to plait the ribbons in and out of the sticks—first a row of one color, and then one of the other, giving the effect of basket work, the heads of course being packed inside. Continue thus plaiting until the heads are quite covered, and finish off with dainty bows. Twist the ribbons down the sticks, which you can have any length you fancy—about four inches is generally considered long enough—and tie another little bunch of bows at the top to match the other ends. At first the plaiting may seem fidgetty work, but after a little practice it is very quickly done, and the employment becomes quite fascinating. Great care must be taken to make the sachet quite neat at the top where the heads are soaked for a few minutes in cold water, when they will become quite pliable, but it is better to use the lavender directly it is cut, when the stalks will bend over quite easily. To make the sachets larger, a piece of cotton-wool, scented with lavender, can be fastened round the heads before the sticks are turned over. These lavender sachets form pretty little novelties, and sell well at bazaars and sales of work. They are delightful to lay in drawers between linen or pocket handkerchiefs, strongly perfuming whatever they come in contact with.—Philadelphia Times.

Oom Paul's Decision.

A man in South Africa left his property to be equally divided between two sons. Not being able to agree they decided to let President Kruger arbitrate. He said to the eldest: "You are the oldest, are you not?" "Yes," was the answer. "So you shall divide the property." This pleased the elder immensely. "You are the younger," continued Kruger to the other, "so you shall have first choice!"

A Novel Patent.

A New York woman has obtained a patent on an attachment for skirts by which they may be lifted on crossing muddy places on the street, a series of cords being attached to the skirt at the back and sides, with the opposite ends running through an opening in the back of the waistband and around to the front to draw the skirts by pulling up the cords.

—The fiftieth wedding anniversary of Nelson Swaggert and his wife was lately celebrated at Athena, Ore. There were present five married sons, three married daughters, and 12 grandchildren. Mr. Swaggert's age is 80, and that of his wife is 66.

RULES OF THE ROAD.

Three Classes of Persons Ought to Know and Observe Them.

The rules of the road appear to be indifferently understood by a large number of persons who use the streets, or they are willfully disregarded. The ordinary rules of the road, and they apply to road vehicles, horsemen and bicycles, are as follows:

FOR THE DRIVER.

Know how to drive.

Keep to the right.

In passing another vehicle going in the same direction keep to the left.

In approaching a crossing, slow up.

To go around a corner slow up and make a wide turn to carry you to the right, and avoid vehicles coming down the cross street on their proper side.

A city street is not a speeding track; it is a highway for the use of many and various vehicles. Therefore drive at moderate speed.

Use judgment.

If you cannot drive do not handle the reins. Let some one do it who can.

Keep a cool head.

A person who drives should be a responsible person. A slight accident or lack of judgment on his part might cost a life.

Senile men, young and untrained boys, nine-tenths of the women, one-half the men and a few of the coachmen should never be allowed to drive in the city. It takes knowledge, judgment and strength to pilot a horse or a team of horses in a crowded city street.

FOR THE PEDESTRIAN.

If a pedestrian, keep off the roadway, except to pass over it at the proper crossing.

Do not stop in the middle of the street to converse with a person you meet.

In crossing a street step lively; observe all sides for coming teams. They have the right of way.

Do not stand in the street while waiting for a street car.

If a bicycle comes behind you and its bell is suddenly rung, do not get rattled. Stand still. The wheelman will ride around you and avoid hurting you.

If you do get rattled, do not try to "balance on the corners" with the wheel; make a bold dash for the sidewalk, or else stand still.

The sidewalks are for pedestrians. The roadways are for vehicles.

FOR THE WHEELMAN.

Do not ride a bicycle on a crowded street until you are its master.

Do not "scorch."

Do not pass close in front of a vehicle or a street car.

Take your time unless you happen to be going for a doctor. Even then go with reasonable speed and be extra observant and cautious.

Keep to the right except when passing a vehicle going in the same direction, when pass it to the left.

Do not turn the corner of a downtown street while riding faster than four miles an hour.

Do not coast on downtown streets. It is dangerous to your own life and the lives of others.

Do not attempt trick riding on a crowded street.

When you see a wheelman riding on the wrong side of the street warn him. This is customary in Chicago, St. Louis, Denver and other large cities. If you are so warned do not get angry.

If you ride at night without a lamp and are accidentally run into it is your fault. One of the chief purposes of a lamp is to keep other vehicles from running you down.

Wheelmen should never ride more than two abreast when riding in parties, especially at night.

If you are a beginner get off and walk down a hill. You are sure to be nervous and might run into some one.

Every wheelman should know how to dismount from both sides of the wheel. This is especially necessary in downtown streets to avoid accidents.

Men who ride downtown should practice dropping off the saddle astraddle the hind wheel where dismounting from either side is impossible.

Every wheelman should know how to brake with the foot on the front wheel. Many serious accidents on downtown streets would thus be averted.

Every woman who rides a wheel should have a brake attached to it.

No man should take a woman on a tandem on a crowded street. Tandems are not fit vehicles for downtown streets during business hours. —Kansas City Star.

—A bricklayer can lay about 1,500 or 1,600 bricks in a day of ten hours where the joints are left rough; about 1,000 per day when both faces have to be worked fair; and not more than 500 a day when carefully jointed and faced with picked bricks of a uniform color.

—A steel bridge, cantilever, 140 feet in span, to connect the Rue Stephenson in Paris with the Rue de la Chapelle, will be put in place over the tracks of the Nord railroad in a single night, without using supports or interfering with the trains.

The Very Fact of the Case IS

That you can buy as much or more goods of a high quality, get better satisfaction ane always have more money by buying at.....

AYLOR'S

than any Little House this side of Cincinnati. We still kindly insist on you coming our way as you have in the past, as we will certainly always treat you right.

Very Truly,

IRA AYLOR, - - Erlanger, Ky.

C. W. ROBINSON,

—DEALER IN—

Dry Goods, Notions, Groceries, Boots and Shoes,

ALL KIND OF FEED AND FLOUR IN STOCK.

Agent for Weidler's Germ Food; Also agent for the Jones Fertilizers.

GOOD STABLE IN CONNECTION WITH STORE.

Constance, Ky.

METROPOLITAN COUPE & LIVERY COMPANY.

62 & 64 West Sixth St., Cincinnati, Ohio,

E. H. BAKER, Proprietor

Horses and Vehicles for Hire at Reasonable Rates.

Horses and Second-Hand Buggies for Sale.

Horses Sold on Commission.

Telephone 580.

CHAS. C. FRY. JACOB REIB.

FRY & REIB,

Manufacturers of and Dealers in all kinds of

Marble & Granite Monuments,

HEADSTONES, CORNER POSTS, ETC.,

109 Pike Sreet, - - - COVINGTON, K.

Near C. & O. R. R. Crossing. | Designs Furnished Upon Application.

PATENTS

Caveats, and Trade-Marks obtained and all Patent business conducted for MODERATE FEES. OUR OFFICE IS OPPOSITE U.S. PATENT OFFICE and we can secure patent in less time than those remote from Washington.

Send model, drawing or photo., with description. We advise, if patentable or not, free of charge. Our fee not due till patent is secured. A PAMPHLET, "How to Obtain Patents," with cost of same in the U.S. and foreign countries sent free. Address,

C.A.SNOW & CO.

OPP. PATENT OFFICE, WASHINGTON, D. C.

NOTICE.

I have been appointed and qualified as administratrix of W. L. Norman, deceased, and all persons indebted to said estate must pay same at once and any one having a claim against said estate must present same to me properly proven at Walton, Ky., or to my Atty., S. W. Tolin at Burlington, Ky.

AMERICA A. NORMAN, Admrx.

August 25, 1897.

Frankfort & Cincinnati Railway.

Ask for tickets via this line. Schedule of trains in effect March 1, 1897.

East Bound.

Lve. Frankfort..... 6:30 a. m. 3:00 p. m
Arr. Georgetown...7:20 a. m. 4:15 p. m

West Bound.

Lve. Georgetown...10:40 a m 6:30 p. m
Arr. Frankfort.....11:55 a. m 7:20 p. m

C. D. BERCAW, G. P. A.
Geo. B. Harper, Gen. Supt.
Frankfort, Ky.

H. S. STEVENSON,

Satisfaction Guaranteed!

DENTIST.

Prices Consistent with Good Services Only.

OFFICE:— Rising Sun, Indiana.

NOTICE.

Cincinnati, O., April 6, 1897.

To the Tobacco Growers of Boone County:

I am connected with the Cincinnati Leaf Tobacco Warehouse Co., which includes four houses—the Globe, Morris, Bodmann, Cincinnati Miami. Prize your tobacco and ship it to one of the four houses and receive the highest market price for same. If you have no preference ship it to the Cincinnati Miami, and I will give it my personal attention. Hogsheads and presses furnished. Address me at 110, 112 West Front St., Cincinnati, Ohio.

oct-7 O. W. ADAMS.

Take the Recorder, $1.50 a year.

RUGBY

PREPARATORY : SCHOOL

—FOR BOYS.—

Covington, - - Kentucky.

Thorough Preparation for Scientific School, College or Business, Military Training.

Limited Number of Boarders Desired.

Excellent Building. Home Influence and Comforts.

Twelfth Year. NEXT TERM BEGINS Sept'r. 15th, 1897.

For catalogue and special information Address,

K. J. MORRIS, A. M. Prin.

R. A. STEELE,

RISING SUN, IND.,

UNDERTAKING.

My Stock and accouterments are unsurpassed, having adult's black hearses and child's white hearse.

Independent of Undertakers' Union.

My prices are reasonable and my friends will tell you I give satisfaction.

FURNITURE

Large Stock of Latest Styles at Lowest Prices.

GIVE : ME : A : CALL.

Administrator's Notice.

Those indebted to the estate of J. C. Beall, deceased, must come forward and settle at once, and those having claims against said estate must present the same at once proven according to law.

CHAS. B. BEALL, Adm'r.

FIFTY DOLLARS A WEEK EASILY made. Agents wanted in every locality for Hon. W. J. Bryan's great and only book, "The First Battle." The best seller ever produced. Agents are taking as many as 200 orders per week. Beware of fraudulent imitations. Send for outfit and begin work at once. W. B. CONKEY COMPANY, Publishers, 341 Dearborn St., Chicago.

For Rent.

A good farm, to a good tenant—six miles from Cincinnati on Cincinnati Southern railroad and on free turnpike. Call at 30 W. 4th St. Covington, Ky. J. J. DULANEY.

Subscribe for the RECORDER.

BOONE COUNTY RECORDER.

VOL. XXII. BURLINGTON, KENTUCKY, WEDNESDAY, SEPTEMBER 29, 1897. NO. 49.

LAWRENCEBURG, IND.

Some of Her Hustling Business Men.

JOHN STAHL,

Is a Lawrenceburger by birth, and a hustler by nature. His business career of 14 years has been one of rapid advancement until to-day he is the leading clothier and dealer in gentlemen's wear of all descriptions, in the city. Mr. Stahl's first business venture was with Isadore Harry, now city treasurer of the city of Lawrenceburg, on the corner of Walnut and William streets, when they fitted up the first sample room in Indiana, out side the city of Indianapolis. He remained in this business for ten years, and had a large trade including many Boone county people. Their place was patronized by the best class and no bums were ever seen around Stahl and Harry. In January 1895 the firm of Marshall & Stahl was organized with Mr. Jude Marshall as the senior member, John doing the buying for the house. In January, '97, Mr. Marshall retired from the firm and Mr. Stahl assumed full control of the immense clothing store, which is situated on High Street, near the corner of Walnut. A stranger coming into the city will immediately catch the truly modern tone of his large, double stores, and put him down as the Marshall Field or John Wanamaker, of Lawrenceburg. Mr. Stahl is a representative young man, never having been married. He is a young man but the people have learned that if there is anything in town worth seeing, it will happen somewhere near John Stahl's clothing store. If there is anything new to wear, it is on the inside of his store. He is ever abreast of the public good, and in every sense a citizen of value to local commerce.

CAPT. JACOB REIF,

Is a native born Lawrenceburger, and one of the mostprominent business men in the city, where he has resided all his life. He is married and has an interesting family of grown children, to whom he is very much devoted. Mr. Rief's Kentucky friends are legion, and every fall he makes a tour of this county, on a hunting expedition, and is said to be the best wing shot of the Lawrenceburg gun club, which has over 25 members. He is a member of several benevolent societies, and his donations to the needy and those in distress are always liberal. He was Deputy Revenue Collector under Dr. Hunter during Cleveland's first administration. Since that time he has devoted his entire time and attention to his business, that of whole sale and retail dealer in fine brans of liquor. His resort is at the foot of Walnut st., where all Kentuckians pass going up town from the ferry landing. Besides his finely furnished sample rooms, he has one of the best bowling alleys in the west. Bowlers from Brooklin and Boston say none excel them. Mr. Rief is known to more Boone county people than any other business man in the city, and you have not seen all of Lawrenceburg unless you go to Rief's.

THE verdict in the case of Dr. Hunter and others, charged with conspiring to bribe legislators in the contest for United States Senator last winter, was what was expected soon after the hearing of testimony was begun on the trial. The verdict acquitting Hunter and the other defendants was a conviction of Noell Gaines and two or three others of false swearing, and they ought not to be allowed to go unpunished.

HON. W. W. DICKERSON, of Williamstown, will stump the State in the interest of Hindman, the goldbug Democratic candidate for Clerk of the Court of Appeals.

A fellow has been found in Cuba who says she can never gain her independence without assistance from Uncle Sam.

UTZINGER.

A Short Sketch of Her Enterprising Merchants.

CROPPER & GAINES.

This firm is composed of W. D. Cropper and R. C. Gaines, both young men and natives of this county. W. D. Cropper, the junior member and general manager of the concern—that of general merchandising—is a son of Mr. Edgar Cropper, an old and highly esteemed citizen of this county, who was county commissioner for 2 terms. It was during his term of office that the county's present court house was built. Billy, as he is called by his numerous friends, was born in this county in January, 1869, and consequently is 28 years of age, and I will say for the benefit of the young ladies that he is handsome and pleasant, and not married.

R. C. Gaines, the senior member of the firm, is a son of Legrand Gaines, an old an esteemed citizen of this county. "Reuben," as he is called, first saw the light of day in this county some 35 years ago. Several years ago he married the only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Cropper, of this neighborhood.

W. D. and P. G. Cropper, known by the firm name of Cropper Bros, commenced business of general merchandising in Burlington, in 1890, and had a splendid trade. On the night of March the 16, their stock of goods was destroyed by fire. Billy then went back to the farm and Perry started up in business in Louisville, where he still resides.

In 1895 Cropper & Gaines bought out the Gainesville Mercantile Company's establishment at Utzinger, where they carry a large and well selected stock of goods, consisting of everything usually found in a general store. They are both energetic and pushing, and have as many friends as any two young men in the county. Give Billy a call when in the Cape May of Boone county.

WASHINGTON LETTER.

(From Our Regular Correspondent.)

Washington, Sept. 24, 1897.

Mr. McKinley and his Attorney General are in New England just in time to receive the thanks of the numerous persons in that section who will be largely benefitted financially by the construction the Attorney General, under direct orders from Mr. McKinley, has placed up on section 22 of the new tariff law. It has long been a saying around Washington that "New England never gets left in tariff legislation." For a time it looked as though that saying would prove false, because it seemed certain that the discriminating duties prescribed by section 22 would be levied upon importations from other countries that come into the United States through any portion of Canada. It was stated that Attorney General McKenna favored that construction, which Senator Elkins declares was what those who framed the section intended, but New England influences were brought to bear upon Mr. McKinley and he promptly responded—he will need New England support in the next Republican convention. The result is the opinion of the Attorney General, which will be accepted as law by the Treasury officials who administer the tariff, declaring that the section does not impose a discriminating duty on importations from other countries shipped through Canada; nor upon importations from countries other than British possessions shipped in British vessels. Senator Elkins announces his intention to make a fight in Congress for legislation that will compel the collection of discriminating duties upon the class of importations exempted by the Attorney General's opinion, but with the administration against him he is not likely to make much headway. It is probable that he is only making a bluff, anyway.

†††

It was an absolute waste of breath for Secretary Sherman to deny the truth of the story cabled from Europe, that this government had sent an ultimatum to Spain saying that the war in Cuba must be ended before the last of October, or this government would take steps to secure the Independence of Cuba. It was very well known to every person who had watched the antics of this administration upon Cuban matters that no such prompt and business like policy had been put into effect, although the administration may have some such story sprung upon the public a day or two before the Ohio election and allow it to go undenied until after the votes are counted.

†††

Speaking of the Ohio campaign, it looks now as though Boss Hanna had succeeded with his little scheme to put a muzzle on John Sherman until after the election in that State. All along Mr. Sherman has stated it to be his intention to make some speeches in Ohio, and he reiterated that intention, even after Mr. McKinley had hinted to him that he had doubts of the propriety of the Secretary of State making stump speeches, but the old man has been silenced some way, and this week he said that he had about decided that the State of his health would not permit him to take any part in the Ohio campaign. Some day the whole story of the manner in which John Sherman has been treated by Boss Hanna and Mr. McKinley will get out, and you may be sure it will make interesting reading.

†††

Eleven more or less eminent advocates of the single gold standard and enemies of bimetallism, international or independent, met in Washington this week, and with all the egotism of the tailors of Tooley Street, who, it will be remembered, styled themselves "we, the people," and organized themselves into a monetary conference, under authority of a resolution adopted by the gold bankers convention that met at Indianapolis last January. This job is also being bossed by Hanna, but not big Boss Hanna. Mr. H. H. Hanna, of Indianapolis, who nagged Mr. McKinley into sending that special message to Congress, just before adjournment, asking for authority to appoint a monetary commission, is the boss of this outfit. Congress ignored that recommendation, but a little thing like that didn't worry this Mr. Hanna, who proceeded to appoint a monetary commission of his own, and he is actually foolish enough to believe that Congress will pay serious attention to the recommendations it will make, which are certain to be antagonistic to silver.

Pith of the Press.

Secretary Sherman is about due to retire again—through the press.—Kansas City World.

Mr. McKinley is inclined to keep several good things in the family.—Memphis Commercial Appeal.

When a man is a candidate for office his check is mightier than his word—in Ohio.—Circleville Ohio Herald.

Secretary of State Sherman is not the financial adviser of the McKinley Administration.—Washington Special N. Y. Press.

Ex-Senator Ingalls well says that the Republicans will do well not to disparage Bryan nor underate his powers.—Richmond Va., State.

Every time Hawaii is mentioned Secretary Sherman wishes that he could tear out the last leaf of his "Recollections."—Omaha World-Herald.

General Weyler is still permitted to remain in command, although the situation is darker than ever and famine threatens Havana.—Philadelphia Inquirer.

If Weyler is really going back to Spain he ought to follow the example of John Ingalls and sell his impressions of himself to the newspapers.—Minnespolis Times.

It will be noticed in General Lee's cases that when a man is wanted for a particularly ticklish and responsible job the Democracy supplies him.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

The Republicans of Cleveland, the men who elected Mayor McKieson, are now behind him and will back him up if he takes the street railroad question out of politics.—Cleveland Leader.

For a man who is popularly regarded as a complete failure, it must be admitted that General Weyler has acheived a phenomenal success in the matter of holding his job.—Detroit Tribune.

Somebody had to bear the burden of responsibility for bringing back all this prosperity and Mr. Dingley's able-bodied New England conscience simply won't let him shirk a duty.—Chicago Record.

How does Secretary Sherman know he will not speak in Ohio? Having resigned his seat in the Senate to make room for Mark Hanna, he will come to Ohio if he has to.—Columbus Ohio Post.

In his stage sitting for the return of prosperity production Hon. Thos. Brackett Reed carefully refrained from using some of the grooves employed by the members of the McKinley Administration.—N. Y. Journal.

Tom Platt began life by writing poetry, and now he's Senator from New York State, ruler of New York City, dictator in New York politics, and general Pooh-Bah in everything else. There's no telling what these poets will do when they once cut loose.—Minneapolis Journal.

President McKinley and Secretary Gage are now running the Government, not on the revenue derived from the Dingley tariff, but on the money stored in the Treasury derived from the bonds sale of the Cleveland Administration. To this complexion has it come at last.—Pittsburg Post.

Every time ex-Secretary Charles Foster denies that the Harrison Administration contemplated a bond issue they flash his order to Chief of the Bureau of Engraving and Printing. This would squelch an ordinary man, but Charley goes ahead making the denial.—Washington Post.

THE Ohio campaign is warming up now.

IT is thought the yellow feyer is weakening.

Democratic speaking in Burlington, next Monday.

THE candidates have possession of Kenton county.

A NEGRO rapist was hung at Hawesville, last Sunday.

THE Louisville city campaign is about as warm as they make them in this country.

THE political pot is boiling over in Kenton county. A host of good Democrats over there are candidates for the nomination for county offices.

GOV. BRADLEY has ordered Inspector Lester to investigate the Frankfort penitentiary. From the rapidity with which business is accumulating it begins to look as though the Governor will have to increase his force of inspectors.

THE Civil Service law is not in the way of Collector Yerkes. He has bounced about all the subordinates in his district, and when the distilleries start again he will put a force of Republicans on duty. He has the cooperatian of Senator Gage in the bouncing business.

JOHN C. TANNER
SPECIAL AGENT,
ERLANGER, - - KY.
Representing Reliable Companies Manufacturing
Musical Instruments, Sewing Machines, Bicycles, Buggies, Farming Implements
—ALSO—
Coal and Lumber, Granite & Marble Work, Life & Fire Insurance.
☞Prompt Attention and Satisfaction Guaranteed.
Aug 25 3m.

PROF. M. McMURPHY,
Formerly Principal of
The Erlanger School,
—Will Open—
A : Private : School
at ERLANGER, KY., for
☞9 or 10 MONTHS.☜
Attention will be given to all the Common School Branches, also to HIGHER ARITHMETIC, ALGEBRA, HISTORY, CIVIL GOVERNMENT, RHETORIC, PHYSIOLOGY, NATURAL PHILOSOPHY, MUSIC AND LATIN.
For particulars call on or address
PROF. McMURPHY,
ERLANGER, KY.

B. F. BUCHANAN,
—DRUGGIST,—
Rising Sun, - Indiana.
Thanks his Kentucky friends for their renewed patronage and invites them to continue to call at the Corner Drug Store.

INSURE AT HOME
The Farmers' Mutual Fire
INSURANCE COMPANY,
OF BOONE COUNTY,
Is now completely organized and receiving applications for insurance.
Its Rates Are Lower
Than those of any other Company and gives the farmers of Boone County
HITHERTO UNKNOWN ADVANTAGE
In keeping their property insured.
EVERY FARMER IN THE COUNTY should take a policy at once.
N. S. WALTON, President, Utzinger, Ky. | OSCAR GAINES Secretary, Burlington, Ky.
J. R. DUNCAN, Treasurer.
EXECUTIVE BOARD—Legrand Gaines, J. W. Conner, John Stephens.
R. S. COWEN, Assessor, - Burlington, Ky.
W. M. ROGERS, Agt. - Walton, Ky.

NOTICE.

All persons holding claims against Ezra W. Rouse, dec'd are hereby notified that they must present them to me at once proven as by law required, those owing same will please come forward and settle at once.

Mrs. EMMA ROUSE, Adm'rx.
Lassing & Riddell, Attys.

Farm for Sale.

Lying on the Beaver pike, Boone county, Ky., 4 mile from Richwood Station on the C. N. & T. P., railroad. Said farm contains 115 acres in a good state of cultivation, with a good frame dwelling of seven rooms and cellar, cistern and well in the yard, barn and other necessary out buildings, orchard and various kinds of fruit trees; known as the W. H. Smith farm. Those wishing to purchase call on or address,
LEWIS RICE, Richwood, Ky.

What it Will Do.

FALMOUTH, KY. July 7, 1896.
Dr. J. T. Boulton, Cincinnati, O.
Dear Sir—I was taken with a severe cough the first of May; for two weeks I could not lie on my left side nor breathe through my left lung. I also had hemorrhage and my friends said I had consumption. I began taking Boulton's Cough Remedy and began to improve with the first dose, and within three weeks was entirely well. I can not say enough in favor of Boulton's Cough Remedy. Respectfully,
Mrs. R. J. MARSHALL.
For sale by all druggists. Price, 25c. and $1 per bottle.

D. E. CASTLEMAN,
ATTORNEY - AT - LAW.
BURLINGTON, KY.
Will practice in the Courts of Boone Kenton, Grant and Gallatin. Collections pushed energetically.

G. G. HUGHES,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
BURLINGTON, KY.
Will practice in all the courts. Prompt attention given to all business entrusted to me.

P. E. CASON,
ATTORNEY - AT - LAW,
BURLINGTON, KY,
Practice in all Courts. Promptness guaranteed.

J. G. TOMLIN,
ATTORNEY - AT - LAW,
WALTON, KENTUCKY.
Will practice in the Courts of Boone, Kenton Grant and Gallatin. Prompt attention given t Collections entrusted to him. mchs-yr.

W. E. VEST,
County Surveyor,
BURLINGTON, KY.
Is prepared to do all kinds of Surveying. All orders by mail promptly attended to.

J. M. LASSING. N. E. RIDDELL
LASSING & RIDDELL,
ATTORNEYS AT LAW.
BURLINGTON, KY.
Prompt Attention Given to Collections

S. GAINES,
ATTORNEY-AT-LAW,
BURLINGTON, KY.
Will practice in all the courts, and prompt attention given collections. Office—In residence near post-office.

DR. A. B. HARRYMAN,
DENTIST.
Will be in Lawrenceburg, Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday.
At Aurora, Thursday, Friday and Saturday. Practiced for 30 years.
No Poisonous Gasses Used.

R. C. RICE,
CARPENTER AND BUILDER,
Burlington, Ky.
YOUR WORK IS SOLICITED.
W. E. VEST. B. L. RICE.
VEST & RICE,
Real Estate Agents.
Farms Bought, Sold or Exchanged, Money to Loan on Real Estate, Notes bought, sold & Negotiated.
☞All communications addressed to W. E. VEST, Burlington, Ky.

BOONE CO. DEPOSIT BANK.
(Incorporated 1886.)
CAPITAL, ... $30,000
Surplus and undivided profits, 19,000
—)o(—
Our facilities enable us to receive on favorable terms accounts of individuals and corporations. Collections promptly remitted for at lowest rates

ERLANGER DEPOSIT BANK.
(INCORPORATED 1893.)
ERLANGER, - - KENTUCKY
CAPITAL PAID IN $50,000
SURPLUS, ... $ 3.000
Careful attention given collections and remittances promptly made. Deposit accounts solicited.

Dr. J. L. Adams,
DENTIST,
Walton, Kentucky.
All work executed according to the latest methods of the profession.
Satisfaction - Guaranteed.

A. P. WALTON,
DENTIST.
121 Garfield Place,
Cincinnati, - - Ohio.
First-class Dental Work at Reasonable Prices.

JOHN L. VEST,
SURVEYOR
WALTON, KY.
Is prepared to do all kinds of work south of Burlington, Ky. Prompt attention given to all mail orders.

THE RECORDER.

W. L. RIDDELL, Publisher.

BURLINGTON, KY.

LORD ROSEBERY is preparing to re-enter public life.

IT is the popular supposition that the remains of Martin Luther were disinterred at Wittenberg more than a century ago and his dust scattered to the winds like that of Cromwell; but Prof. Koestlin, of the university of Halle, who has written the best biography of Luther, asserts that in February, 1893, two masons who were employed in restoring the old church at Wittenberg discovered the remains of the great reformer buried at the depth of six feet under the floor.

WM. BACHE, who died the other day in Bristol, Pa., was the great-grandson of Benjamin Franklin. He was 86 years old, and was the pioneer newspaper publisher in Bucks county, having founded the Bristol Gazette in 1840. In 1854 he began the publication of a know-nothing paper, called the Bucks County American. He was the author of a nnmber of historical works. He served in the war of the rebellion, and was a member of the Grand Army of the Republic.

LAST year the Germans exported 2,800,000 pounds of needles, as compared with 1,830,000 pounds in 1895. As showing the rate at which the export side of the German business has grown, it is stated that in eight years, 1880-87, the shipments were 11,615,000 pounds, and in the following eight years, ending with 1895, 15,425,000 pounds. The factories of Aix-la-Chapelle alone produced 50,000,000 needles a week, and they are said to be for the most part of superior quality.

PARIS has had so much to occupy its attention of late that it has failed to observe the destruction of one of its old land marks, the famous Palais de l'Industrie, on the Champs Elysees. The building, whose history has been interwoven with so great a part of the joy and sorrow of France for many decades, is at last razed to the ground to make way for two marble palaces, between which an avenue will be cut to lead across the new Seine bridge which the czar dedicated when there almost a year ago.

AN engineer on the Doleware & Hudson road has a cat with which he would not part for love nor money. It belonged to his wife, who is now dead, and for a year past it has been his constant companion in the cab. The cat loves its life on the rail, and has grown sleek and fat. Ordinarily it sits perched up at the cab window before its master, but occasionally it strolls out to the pilot, where it will ride at a stretch, winking knowingly at the dogs which bark at the train as it thunders by the crossroads.

THE Constitution's three masts were cut in the town of Malta, now Windsor, on the north side of the Augusta road between Cooper's Mills and Bryant's Corner. Thos. Cooper, of Newcastle, and one Gray cut the trees, swamped a road to Pebble dock in Alna in the winter of 1796-97, and hauled them in to the Sheepscot river, and in the spring took them to Wiscasset, where the government agents yoked them at both ends with pieces of white oak, 5x8, slipped through mortises in the trees and then towed them to Boston.

THE only black bandmaster in Germany is a full-blooded East African Negro named Sabac el Cher. He leads the band of the East Prussian grenadier regiment, and is just now finding much favor with the public at the Dresden International Art exposition. He received his entire education in Germany, and is a graduate of the high school of music in Berlin. He is married too, to a Berlin woman, with whom he lives very happily, the couple having six children. Sabac is over six feet tall and rather good looking.

THE incrustation of precious woods with mother of pearl is in Hanoit, French Tonquin, an important industry, an entire street, known as the "street of the inlayers," being devoted to it. Landscapes gleaming in the sun, sheafs of many colored flowers, the most delicate arabesques and many other beautiful things are evolved by the deft and pliant fingers of the artificers with the aid of the plainest and crudest tools only, and marvelous cabinets and other articles are fashioned and put together without the aid of nails by dovetailing and lacquer of paste.

A PROPOSAL for compulsory insurance against accident is at present under consideration by the Belgian authorities, a plan having been framed by a special committee appointed for that purpose. Mining and metal industries, textile, ceramic and chemical industries, rubber, leather and paper industries, manufacturers of food and building industries all being included in the list. The employers are to pay one half. Special boards, comprising both master and men, are to be formed, and the masters are responsible for the premiums and for the insurance being effected.

MRS. JULIA BARRETT, of Sacramento, aims to have discovered a remarkable stem of phonetic stenography, by which the sounds of the human voice, with its myriad modulations, all languages, with their numberless dialects inflations, can be taken down and produced by the tongue of the stenopher. She is at present in San cisco, and is applying her system nography to the language of the se. Mrs. Barrett says that her n of stenography can be used as phabet by the Chinese, and that eir language as closely as the characters fit English.

SENOR MASSO

Elected Vice President of the Cuban Republic—Gen. Gomez Minister of War and Calixto Garcia Major General.

HAVANA, VIA KEY WEST, Fla., Sept. 23.—According to advices from Puerto Principe, Senor Bartolome Masso has been elected vice president of the Cuban republic; Gen. Maximo Gomez, minister of war, and Calixto Garcia has been appointed major general, Gen. Gomez remaining commander-in-chief of the army of liberation.

Gen. Molina has been appointed commander of the Spanish forces in the province of Havana. He successfully conducted operations during the last fight with the forces of the insurgent leader, Perico Delgado, killing 19, among whom was a son of a Spanish officer, Gen. Figuero. Young Figuero deserted from the Spanish ranks a year ago in the Puerto Principe district. After the fight the insurgent major, Aranzabal, surrendered at Mercedita plantation. He is a nephew of Gen. Azcarraga, the Spanish premier.

The insurgent forces under the command of Simon, after being defeated in Mantanzas, crossed into Havana province and effected a junction with the forces under Gen. Costillo. Simon's escape was almost miraculous. His mother and wife were captured in camp, brought to Havana and locked up in the house of refuge.

It is rumored that the Spanish troops surprised an expedition, which had landed near Campo Florido, and captured 15,000 cartridges, together with a quantity of new clothing of American manufacture. It is also said that a quantity of boots, dried beef and medicine was captured.

According to another rumor the cruiser Reina Christina, with a body of troops, went in search of an expedition reported to have landed near Campo Florido. The Spaniards surprised the camp and killed 43, among them many Americans. It is said that the insurgent general, Rafael de Cardenas, who was the leader in charge of the expedition, committed suicide when captured. These rumors are not yet confirmed.

Word comes from Santa Clara that Gen. Gomez has ordered a new invasion of western Cuba with a view of profiting by the rainy season.

It may be safely estimated that over 150,000 Cubans have disappeared from various causes. In certain towns entire families have been wiped out. Sickness continue at a high rate among the troops, probably about 37,000 soldiers being on the sick list, most of them victims of fever.

There have been a few cases of yellow fever; but the mortality from this disease has thus far been less than in previous years.

PREACHER HINSHAW.

The Effort to Free Him Gets a Set-Back—Baney's Brother-in-Law Tells All.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Sept. 23.—The effort to free Preacher Hinshaw through the confession of Noah Baney, that the murder of Mrs. Hinshaw had been committed by Guy Van Tassel, "Kid" Whitney and himself, received a severe set-back Wednesday when Baney's brother-in-law, Short, made a statement declaring that the alleged confession was a trick, and giving the complete details of the alleged deal between Baney and himself and the attorneys [illegible] which the confession was brought out. He declares that the idea of pretending knowledge of the crime was put into Baney's head by an old convict named Short, who suggested it to Baney as an easy method of gaining the confidence of the prison officials and getting a chance to escape. Baney did escape by this scheme, but was recaptured. Short tells how Hinshaw prepared the plans of his house and coached Baney in his story. Baney was to get $2,000 and Short was to get $500, but the latter declares that Baney had got nothing and he has got but $95.

Notorious House Burned by a Mob.

GALENA, Kas., Sept. 23.—The notorious Staffleback house was burned by a mob at midnight, and every vestige of the old structure, where murders and crimes of the most diabolical nature were committed, was destroyed. After firing the place the mob withdrew and watched the old structure burn. No fire alarm was turned in until the building was nearly consumed, and then no efforts were made by the fire department to extinguish the flames. The search for the remains of the Staffleback family victims still goes on.

The Plague in Mobile.

MOBILE, Ala., Sept. 23.—There was a slight increase in the number of new cases of yellow fever during the 24 hours ending at noon Wednesday, but this was offset by the announcement that there were no deaths to report, that five of the patients were discharged and that all the patients were doing well. There has been no deaths here since Saturday last, and the total number of deaths is three. The total number of cases is 34.

Fever Situation at Biloxi, Miss.

BILOXI, Miss., Sept. 23.—The fever situation here Wednesday was less favorable. The record shows one death and five new cases. The death was Michael Levy. The new cases were: Dr. J. W. Wright, J. W. Sweetman, druggist, Mrs. J. W. Sweetman, Ellis Hays, of the Gulf Coast News, and F. H. Benedict, of the Review.

Requested to Resign.

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 23.—Mayor Flower has requested the resignation of Chief Gastor, of the police department.

Patchen Carries Off the Purse.

MILWAUKEE, Sept. 23.—Joe Patchen easily defeated Star Pointer two out of three heats at the fair grounds Wednesday. Pointer won the first heat in 2:03¾, breaking the state record. The big bay acted badly in the second and third heats, however, and Patchen carried off the $3,000 purse.

Fly Wheel Burst—Two Persons Killed.

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Sept. 23.—By the bursting of a fly wheel weighing over five tons at the factory of the Providence Rubber Shoe Co. Wednesday, two men were killed and several persons injured.

WOOL IMPORTS

At the Ports of New York, Philadelphia and Boston in August.

It Amounted to 2,875,897 Pounds—The Gunboat Wheeling Goes to Honolulu—Experimenting with an Attachment for Torpedoes by Naval Officers.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 24.—Orders were sent from the navy department Thursday to San Francisco to have the gunboat Wheeling sent to Honolulu as soon as she can be prepared for the voyage. The Wheeling has been put in commission recently and was about to start in a short time for Sitka, taking stores and relief men for the gunboat Concord, now on duty in Alaska. She is a small but well-equipped modern gunboat, somewhat smaller than the Bennington, now at Honolulu, but together the two boats will make a good force.

The Philadelphia will remain at Honolulu until the Wheeling arrives. Whether the Yorktown will then be detained is not certain, but it is likely that she will not stop at Honolulu on her way home from China, no longer than is necessary to secure coal and stores. The Philadelphia, upon reaching Mare Island, will place most of her men on the Baltimore, which has just been extensively repaired, and the latter will go to Hawaii as Adm Miller's flagship. The admiral will remain at Honolulu while the exchange is being made.

The records of the treasury department show that the imports of wool at the ports of New York, Philadelphia and Boston during August, 1897, the first full month since the new tariff act went into effect, amounted to 2,875,897 pounds, the smallest importation of any month since January, 1894, when the aggregate was 2,741,406 pounds. Wool importations for August, 1896, amounted to 4,719,778 pounds, and the largest previous importation was for April, 1897, when it reached 25,559,935 pounds. Last August's importations were very largely of class 3 or carpet wools.

The naval ordnance bureau has been securing some remarkable results from certain experiments it has been making by direction of Acting Secretary Roosevelt with an attachment for torpedoes, the invention of an Austrian named Obrey. This is a kind of gyroscope, and the reports from the torpedo station where the tests have been made and are to be continued, show that it has the property, having been once directed at the object to be hit, of actually restoring the torpedo to which it is attached to a straight course towards the object even after it has been deflected. The addition of this device is said by the experts to make the torpedo almost a weapon of precision.

BOILER EXPLODED.

Three Men Killed and Two Injured Near Livermore, Ky.

OWENSBORO, Ky., Sept. 24.—The new saw mill boiler of E. G. Dex, three miles from Livermore, blew up Thursday morning. Three men were killed and ten injured. Cold water ran into the boiler causing the accident. The mill was totally wrecked.

John Goodwin and Henry Sales are the names of two of the men killed, but the [illegible] names could not be learned, as Livermore is 3 miles from here and is not reached by telegraph or telephone lines from Owensboro. The accident was a terrible one and caused great excitement in the neighborhood where it occurred.

Will Protect Its Miners.

WILLIAMSBURG, Ky., Sept. 24.—A Gatliff, President of the Procter Coal company, had County Judge Rose to appoint and send several deputy sheriffs to the mines. The mines began work Thursday, and it is feared that the strikers will attempt to prevent those who wish from entering the mines. Nearly all the men living at the Procter mines are willing to go to work and the company is determined to protect them.

Alabama Furnaces Break all Records.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Sept. 24.—The Alabama furnaces are doing the largest business in their history. A prominent ironmaster says that practically the entire output of this district has been sold ahead until January 1 next, while some plants have even sold as far ahead as March next. The result is that furnaces are so choked up with business that they are now declining all orders except those from their regular customers.

Window Glass Manufacturers Combine.

PITTSBURGH, Pa., Sept. 24.—The window glass manufacturers concluded their conference Thursday night after having completed the details of the consolidation of the window glass factories of the country. A call will be issued for a meeting at an early date, when officers of the new combine will be elected and the organization fairly started to work. It was decided that extra inducements will be given the Pacific coast trade in order to offset foreign competition.

End of the Strike.

CHICAGO, Sept. 24.—The strike on all the school buildings of the city is ended. The board by a vote of 12 to 2 has adopted the report of the arbitration committee inserting the union labor clause in all building contracts. It also ordered Attorney Morrill to institute legal proceedings before Judge Tully, under the state arbitration act, to ascertain if it had the legal right to adopt this clause.

Will Compete With American Oil.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 24.—From Russian sources, United States Consul Germain, at Zurich, learns that a traffic arrangement has just been closed between the German and Russian state railways whereby the Russian coal oil producers will henceforth be enabled to compete successfully with American coal oil in the German markets. As soon as the new arrangement is in force direct shipments of coal oil will be made from the Caspian sea and Volga ports to the principal German cities without the present burdensome and extensive transfer at the frontier.

THE TROOPS

Gradually Withdrawing From the Hazelton Mining District—Civil Authorities are Considered to be Able to Preserve the Peace.

HAZLETON, Pa., Sept. 25.—The district has been restored to almost a normal condition. The civil authorities are considered able to preserve the peace, and the partial withdrawal of the troops began Friday.

Gen. Gobin said: "The weather has interfered with the plans for the movements of the militia, and, in addition, no cars could be secured. The Twelfth regiment broke camp Friday and the Thirteenth regiment will be shipped home on Saturday. The Eighth and Fourth regiments will follow as soon as can be conveniently arranged, and the Ninth will be kept last in the field, a part of the command probably for some time. The battery of artillery will be ordered home Saturday, as soon as railroad arrangements can be made.

"It has been decided, after discussion, to keep the cavalry force here for several days longer. The Philadelphia City troop will not be sent home this week, but probably early next week, by Tuesday, if the situation remains unchanged. If there is need of a longer service for a cavalry company the government troops will be kept in the field.

Claims to Be 118 Years Old.

MUNCIE, Ind., Sept. 24.—James Lynch, an inmate of the county infirmary claims to have been born in 1779. Six weeks ago he stumbled and fell on a chair in such a manner as to break both bones in his right arm above the elbow. The injury gave him not the slightest pain at the time and since then he says he would not know of the broken bones was it not for the fact that the doctor keeps it bandaged. Dr. Smith reports that the bones refuse to knit and he does not believe they ever will. The old man resided at New Corner over 40 years and went to the infirmary after the death of all his known descendants.

Heir to a Quarter of a Million.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sep. 25.—W. F. Karron, imprisoned in the county jail here charged with embezzlement, has fallen heir to a quarter of a million dollars. James Karron, the prisoner's uncle, who was a prominent mining operator of Montana and died last week at Austin, Ia., leaving property valued at $500,000, to be equally divided between his two nephews. One of these is the prisoner, W. F. Karron, the other Idnue Karron, a barber in Sioux City, Ia.

National Spiritualist Association.

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Sept. 25.—The National Spiritualist association of the United States and Canada met Friday in the Auditorium. Addresses were delivered and songs rendered. A large audience attended the night session in Watkins' Hall, at which Mrs. Cora L. V. Richmond presided. The principal address of the evening was delivered by L. V. Moulton, of Michigan. The association will meet again Saturday.

Ex-Queen Lil Coming East.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 25.—Ex-Queen Lilionkalani, who arrived here over a fortnight ago and who has been staying quietly at the California hotel, will leave here Sunday evening over the Central overland for Chicago, whence she will immediately resume her journey to Washington. Hawaii's ex-queen is going east to be ready to resume her fight against annexation as soon as congress shall again convene.

Death Sentence Affirmed.

BRISTOL, Tenn., Sept. 25.—The supreme court has affirmed the decision of the lower court in the case of Will Mays, who was sentenced to be hanged for the assassination of G. D. Mascngill, a prominent citizen of Bluff City, in August. The execution will take place November 17 and will be the first legal hanging in the history of this county, although numerous homicides have occurred.

The California Vintage.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 25.—The California vintage is later than usual, but will be superior to any since 1892, while the dry wine crop will be the largest the state has produced since the bonanza year of 1893. The total vintage is estimated at from 15,000,000 to 20,000,000 gallons. The price, however, will probably be low owing to competition among the big corporations handling the product.

New Route To Yukon.

VICTORIA, B.C., Sept. 25.—The steamer Princess Louise returned from Wrangel.—The Dominion government's survey party started from Glenora to survey the route to Testin Lake and other surveyors have started up the river. Both parties were able to complete their work before bad weather started, and early spring will no doubt see work started on this highway to Yukon.

Bubonic Plague Active.

BOMBAY, Sept. 25.—The latest health statistics show that the bubonic plague is again active, having crept unobserved from hamlet to hamlet, until a wide area is affected. The newspapers assert that the withdrawal of the medical officers for service with troops on the frontier will entail consequences, infinitely more disastrous than anything happening on the frontier.

Will Float a $10,000,000 Loan.

OTTAWA, Ont., Sept. 25.—Hon. W. S. Fielding, Canadian minister of finance, left Friday for England to float a $10,000,000 loan. Five millions of this amount will go to the payment of the Crows Nest Pass railway and the deepening of the Canadian canals.

Illinois Miners Will Strike.

STREATOR, Ill., Sept. 25.—The striking coal miners of this district met here Friday to vote on the acceptance or rejection of the Columbus scale. The result of the vote was a unanimous demand for the scale adopted by the Springfield convention, 48 cents per ton, gross weight. The operators have refused to pay this price and Friday's vote means that the miners of the Northern Illinois district will probably remain idle all winter. The citizens' relief committee has announced that it can give the strikers no more aid.

THE PARIS SHOW.

Special Commissioner Handy and His Assistants Busily at Work.

The Exposition of 1900, in Many Respects, Will be an Advance Upon All Predecessors—Education and the Arts Will Hold a Very Prominent Place.

PARIS, Sept. 27.—Maj. Moses P. Handy, the special commissioner from the United States for the exhibition of 1900, has lost no time in beginning work, although he has been in Paris only a few days. Maj. Handy is assisted by Lieut. Baker, who was connected with the Chicago exposition as assistant chief of the foreign transportation of exhibits, and by Col. Chaillet-Lory, who is secretary of the special commission. In a conversation with a press representative Maj. Handy made the following statements: "There is a rapidly increasing interest in the United States with regard to the exhibition of 1900. Since my appointment on July 27 I have been steadily at work. I spent a month in feeling the public pulse. I did that largely through correspondence and through newspaper publications. From the answers received I feel safe in saying that we shall need more space in 1900 than at previous exhibitions and that our exhibit will be of a higher order of merit.

"I am more anxious to select exhibits which will be truly representative and characteristic, rather than exhibits merely remarkable for their size. I shall be guided to a large extent by the correspondence mentioned with regard to the amount of space required, etc. I have had personal communication with the managers of the larger interests such as the bicycle trade, electrical concerns, the furniture trade and such like. Men like President Depew, of the New York Central, President Thompson, of the Pennsylvania railroad, and Mr. Pullman, of the Pullman Palace Car Co., have given me personal assurances of their co-operation. I have had overtures from the managers of the representative trades. It is better to deal with them in a classified way.

"How do you like the classification made by the French authorities?" Maj Handy was asked.

"It is excellent," he answered. "It is an improvement on all preceding exhibitions. I notice that with great propriety education is placed first on the list, and art also holds a high place. In these two departments the United States has some surprises. I am in consultation with the leading educators of our country with a view to securing a concensus of opinion so as to form the best plan for showing the world what we are doing in the field of education. In all international exhibitions we have taken a very high place in matters educational, and I think we can do even better the next time. In the domain of art we have never been adequately represented."

ALL QUIET

In the Hazelton Coal Region—Fourth Regiment to Be Withdrawn Tuesday.

HAZELTON, Pa., Sept. 27.—Nothing new developed Sunday in the strike region and the day passed quietly. All the collieries resumed Monday morning, some for the full week, others for part of the week. Gen. Gobin and his staff rode to Auden ried Sunday afternoon and Sunday evening the Ninth Regimen gave a dress parade. It is announced at headquarters that the Fourth regiment is to be withdrawn on Tuesday. The Fourth is stationed at Drifton. A conference was held Monday to decide on the withdrawal of other troops. The failure of the coroner's jury to arrive at a verdict is variously commented upon. Another meeting of the jury is to be held Monday evening when it is expected a verdict will be rendered.

A meeting of miners was held at Freeland Sunday in which several prominent labor leaders, including General Organizer Fahey, of the United Mine workers, were present. The meeting was held behind closed doors and nothing was given out. It is said, however, that the miners are being more thoroughly organized, so that in the event of another strike, they will have a leader and organization.

A gang of roughs broke into Squire Robinson's office at Auden ried and demolished considerable furniture. Later the residence of Mine Superintendent Gomer Jones was stoned. Robinson refused to issue a warrant for Foreman Jones' arrest several weeks ago, and this is supposed to be the cause of the raid made on his office.

Found in the Chicago River.

CHICAGO, Sept. 27.—The dead body of Edward Hill, of Buffalo, N. Y., was taken from the Chicago river Sunday. There was no mark on the body to indicate violence. It is believed Hill either fell off the dock into the river or tumbled overboard from some boat from Buffalo as it entered the river. Hill was a member of a well-known and wealthy family of Buffalo, it is said.

Earthquake Shock in Maine.

BANGOR, Me., Sept. 27.—An earthquake shock was plainly felt here a few minutes after one o'clock Saturday. Reports from Oldtown, Winterport, Searsport, Liberty, Burnham, Rockland, Waldo and many other points announce that the shock was distinguishable in those places. No damage has been reported. The quake lasted from ten to fifteen seconds.

Dropped Dead While at Dinner.

TORONTO, Sept. 27.—Lieut. Col. Dawson, well-known in Canadian military circles dropped dead Sunday evening while at dinner. He was about [illegible] old.

Steamer Arabia Aground.

QUEBEC, Sept. 27.—A dispatch from St Jean des Chollons, 37 miles above Quebec, reports that the Hamburg-American Packet Co.'s steamer Arabia, outward bound from Montreal for Hamburg, is aground at Cape La Roche and is making water rapidly. The spot is a bad one. Assistance has been sent from Quebec.

A Thorough Canvass.

Returned Westerner—Yes, sir, those cyclones out west usually make a clean sweep. I lost everything I had in one. It came along about noon, and took house, furniture and everything in sight. And then I'll be blamed if the villainous thing didn't come back in half an hour.

Eastern Man—Why, how does that come?

"Why, you see, there was a chattel mortgage in the house on some cattle belonging to a neighbor I had lent some money to, and, you may not believe it, but that cussed, grasping cyclone came back and took every head of those cattle."—Puck.

A. B. & O. Novelty.

Among the many advertising novelties being issued by the B. & O. is one which is sure to attract a very considerable amount of attention. It is known as "The Book of The Royal Blue" and is issued monthly by Col. D. H. Martin, Manager of Passenger Traffic. Of magazine size and filled with attractive half-tone illustrations and good reading matter, "The Book of the Royal Blue" is bound to make a hit. One splendid feature is a list of names and address of every passenger and freight agent.

He Didn't "Take."

"I went in for amateur photography during my vacation," said the summer man. "There was no end of girls for subjects."

"But how did you make out among the girls?"

"Oh, I got a lot of negatives."—Philadelphia North American.

The Blues.

This is a synonym for that gloomy, harassed condition of the mind which has its origin in dyspepsia. All the ugly spirits that under the name of the "blues," "blue devils," "megrims" and "multgrubs" torment the dyspeptic almost ceaselessly, vanish when attacked with Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, that, moreover, annihilates biliousness, constipation, chills and fever, kidney complaints and nervousness.

Slightly Marked Down.

"Does she really belong to the 400?"

"Um—well, I should call her about three ninety-eight."

The feminine intellect is prone to subtle distinctions.—Typographical Journal.

Star Plug Combines All Good Qualities.

All the desirable qualities you want in tobacco are found in Star plug to a special degree. Its constant use produces no evil effects.

Glad He Was Glad.

Post—Well, how did you like the picnic Yost—I was so glad to get home again that I was glad I went.—Up-to-Date.

To Cure a Cold in One Day

Take Laxative Bromo Quinine Tablets. All druggists refund money if it fails to cure. 25c.

If some one would find a remedy for the bad memories of debtors he would make a fortune.—Rain's Horn.

Piso's Cure for Consumption has saved me many a doctor's bill.—S. F. Hardy, Hopkins Place, Baltimore, Md., Dec. 2, '94

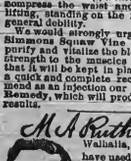
We often wonder why so many people tell the same story so many times.—Washington Democrat.

Hall's Catarrh Cure

Is taken internally. Price 75c.

Those boys' toy tool chests are not good for any purpose whatever.—Washington Democrat.

More and Greater



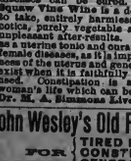
Are the cures produced by Hood's Sarsaparilla than by any other medicine. If you are suffering with scrofula or [illegible] hip disease, running sores, boils, pimples, dyspepsia, loss of appetite or that tired feeling, take Hood's Sarsaparilla. You may confidently expect a prompt and permanent cure. Its unequalled record is due to its positive merit. Remember

Hood's Sarsaparilla

Is the Best—in fact, the One True Blood Purifier.

Hood's Pills do not cause pain or gripe. All druggists. 25c.

SOUTH CAROLINA LADIES DON'T LIE.



Mrs. C. M. Lowrance

Inman, S. C., says: I have used Dr. M. A. Simmons Liver Medicine for 2 years, with the best of results for Sleeplessness, Nervousness, Indigestion and Swollen Feet. It cured Miss S. Hammett of a complication of diseases, she says, saved her life. I think it far excels "Zeilin's" and the "Black Draught" medicine.

Falling of the Womb.

The cases of uterine displacement are very numerous and constitute a prolific cause of intense and wide-spread suffering. Its symptoms are bearing-down or dragging sensations, pain or weakness in the back, sometimes a sense of sinking at the pit of the stomach. It may result from too frequent childbearing, wearing garments that compress the waist and abdomen, overlifting, standing on the feet too long, and general debility.

We would strongly urge the use of Dr. Simmons Sqauw Vine Wine which will purify and vitalize the blood, give tone and strength to the muscles of the uterus, so that it will be kept in place. To facilitate a quick and complete recovery, we recommend as an injection our Lexicon Female Remedy, which will produce the happiest results.

M. A. Rutherford

Walhalla, S. C., writes: I have used Dr. M. A. Simmons Liver Medicine more than 20 years, for Torpid Liver and Dizziness. I take a dose every two weeks and feel all right. I know it is far Superior to "Zeilin's Regulator," in my case.

Womanhood.

The health and well-being of mankind depend upon the physical health and perfection of womanhood. Any of the diseases which most impair the female constitution are leucorrhœa, irregular and painful menstruation, falling of the womb, obstruction, scanty or too profuse menstruation. These diseases can be cured, Dr. Simmons Squaw Vine Wine is a delightful remedy to take, entirely harmless, free from narcotics, purely vegetable and produces no unpleasant after-results. It is unequalled as a uterine tonic and corrative agent for all female diseases, as it is invaluable for weakness of the uterus and generative organs to exist when it is faithfully and persistently used. Constipation is another base of woman's life which can be cured by using Dr. M. A. Simmons Liver Medicine.

John Wesley's Old Farm Remedy

FOR TIRED FEELING, CONSTIPATION, GENERAL DEBILITY.

Absolutely cures and prevents malaria, stimulates and strengthens the brain. Sample and PROOF every Tuesday. IF WRITE IN TIME. WESLEY REMEDY COMPANY, Cincinnati, Ohio

OPIUM and Whiskey Habit cured in 3 to 5 days without pain. Book of particulars sent FREE. B. M. WOOLLEY, M.D., Atlanta, Ga.

SONGS OF PRAISE

And Instrumental Music Are Pleasing to the Ear of God.

Dr. Talmage Makes an Earnest and Eloquent Plea for Hearty Congregational Singing in the Churches—He Urges the Constant Use of Music in Praise.

Dr. Talmage's text Sunday was: II. Chron. v., 13: "It came even to pass, as the trumpeters and singers were as one, to make one sound to be heard in praising and thanking the Lord."

The temple was done. It was the very chorus of all magnificence and pomp. Splendor crowded against splendor. It was the diamond necklace of the earth. From the huge pillars crowned with leaves and flowers and rows of pomegrantae wrought out in burnished metal, down even to the tongs and snuffers made out of pure gold, everything was as complete as the God-directed architect could make it. It seemed as if a vision from heaven had alighted on the mountains. The day for dedication came.

Tradition says that there were in and around about the Temple on that day 200,000 silver trumpets; 40,000 harps, 40,000 timbrels and 200,000 singers, so that all modern demonstrations at Dusseldorf or Boston seem nothing compared with that. As these great sounds surged up amid the precious stones of the Temple, it must have seemed like the River of Life dashing against the amethyst of the wall of Heaven. The sound arose, and God, as if to show that He was well pleased with the music which his children make in all ages, dropped into the midst of the Temple a cloud of glory so overpowering that the officiating priests were obliged to stop in the midst of the services.

There has been much discussion as to where music was born. I think that at the beginning, "when the morning stars sang together and all the sons of God shouted for joy," the earth heard the echo. The cloud on which the angels stood to celebrate the creation was the birthplace of song. The stars that glitter at night are only so many keys of celestial pearl, on which God's fingers play the music of the spheres. Inanimate nature is full of God's stringed and wind instruments. Silence itself—perfect silence—is only a musical rest in God's great anthem of worship. Wind among the leaves, insect humming in the summer air, the rush of billow upon beach, the ocean far out sounding its everlasting psalm, the bobolink on the edge of the forest, the quail whistling up from the grass, are music. While visiting Blackwell's Island I heard, coming from the window of the lunatic asylum, a very sweet song. It was sung by one who had lost her reason, and I have come to believe that even the deranged and disordered elements of nature would make music to our ear, if we only had acuteness enough to listen. I suppose that even the sounds in nature that are discordant and repulsive make harmony in God's ear. You know that you may come so near to an orchestra that the sounds are painful instead of pleasurable, and I think that we stand so near devastating storm and frightful whirlwind, we can not hear that which makes to God's ear and the ear of the spirits above a music as complete as it is tremendous.

I propose to speak about sacred music, first showing you its importance and then stating some of the obstacles to its advancement.

I draw the first argument for the importance of sacred music from the fact that God commanded it. Through Paul He tells us to admonish one another in psalms and hymns and spiritual songs; through David He cries out: "Sing ye to God, all ye kingdoms of the earth." And there are hundreds of other passages I might name, proving that it is as much a man's duty to sing as it is his duty to pray. Indeed, I think there are more commands in the Bible to sing than there are to pray. God not only asks for the human voice, but for the instruments of music. He asks for the cymbal and the harp and the trumpet. And I suppose that in the last days of the church the harp, the lute, the trumpet and all the instruments of music that have given their chief aid to the theater and bacchanal will be brought by their masters and laid down at the feet of Christ and then sounded in the church's triumph on her way from suffering into glory. "Praise ye the Lord!" Praise Him with your voices! Praise Him with stringed instruments and with organs.

I draw another argument for the importance of this exercise from the impressiveness of the exercise. You know something of what secular music has achieved. You know it has made its impression upon governments, upon laws, upon literature, upon whole generations. One inspiring national air is worth 30,000 men as a standing army. There comes a time in the battle when one bugle call is worth a thousand muskets. In the earlier part of our civil war the government proposed to economize in bands of music, and many of them were sent home; but the generals in the army sent word to Washington: "You are making a very great mistake. We are falling back and falling back. We have not enough music." I have to tell you that no nation or church can afford to severely economize in music.

Why should we rob the programmes of worldly gayety when we have so many appropriate songs and tunes composed in our own day, as well as that magnificent inheritance of church psalmody which has come down fragrant with the devotions of other generations—tunes no more worn out than when our great-grandfathers climbed up on them from the church pew to glory? Dear old souls, how they used to sing! And in those days there were certain tunes married to certain hymns, and they have lived in peace a great while, these two old people, and we have no right to divorce them. Born as we have been amid this great wealth of church music, augmented by the compositions of artists in our day, we ought not to be tempted out of the sphere of Christian harmony and try to seek unconsecrated sounds. It is absurd for a millionaire to steal.

Many of you are illustrations of what a sacred song can do. Through it you were brought into the kingdom of Jesus Christ. You stood out against the warning and the argument of the pulpit, but when, in the sweet words of Charles Wesley or John Newton or Toplady, the love of Jesus was sung to your soul, then you surrendered, as an armed castle that could not be taken by a host, lifts its window to listen to a harp's trill.

There was a Scotch soldier dying in New Orleans, and a Scotch minister came in to give him the consolations of the Gospel. The man turned over on his pillow and said: "Don't talk to me about religion." Then the minister began to sing a familiar hymn that was composed by David Dickenson, beginning with the words:

Oh, mother dear, Jerusalem!
When shall I come to thee?

He sang it to the tune of Dundee, and everybody in Scotland knows that; and, as he began to sing, the dying soldier turned over on his pillow and said to the minister, "Where did you learn that?" "Why," replied the minister, "my mother taught me that." "So did mine," said the dying soldier, and the very foundation of his heart was upturned and then and there he yielded himself to Christ. Oh, it has irresistible power! Luther's sermons have been forgotten, but his judgment hymn sings on through the ages and will keep on singing until the blasts of the archangel's trumpet shall bring silent that very day which the hymn celebrates. I would to God you would take these songs of salvation as messages from heaven; for just as certainly as the birds brought food to Elijah by the brook Cherith, so these winged harmonies, God-sent, are flying to your soul with the bread of life. Open your mouth and take it, O hungry Elijah!

I have also noticed the power of sacred song to sooth perturbation. You may have come in here with a great many uncertainties and anxieties, yet perhaps in the singing of the first hymn you have lost them all. You have read in the Bible of Saul, and how he was sad and angry, and how the boy David came in and played the evil spirit out of him. A Spanish king was melancholy. The windows were all closed. He sat in the darkness. Nothing could bring him forth until Franeli came and discoursed music for three or four days to him. On the fourth day he looked up and wept and rejoiced, and the windows were thrown open and that which all the splendors of the court could not do, the power of song accomplished. If you have anxieties and worriments try this Heavenly charm upon them. Do not sit down on the bank of the hymn, but plunge in that the devil of care may be brought out of you.

It also arouses to action. Do you not know that a single church is always a triumphant church? If a congregation is silent during the exercise or partially silent, it is the silence of death. If when the hymn is given out you hear the faint hum of here and there a father and mother in Israel, while the vast majority are silent, that minister of Christ who is presiding needs to have a very strong constitution if he does not get the chills. He needs not only the grace of God but nerves like whalebone. It is amazing how some people with voice enough to discharge all their duties in the world, when they come into the house of God have no voice to discharge this duty. I really believe that if the church of Christ could rise up and sing as it ought to sing, where we have a hundred souls brought into the kingdom of Christ there would be a thousand. How was it in olden time? Cyprian said: "Luther conquered us by his songs."

But I must now speak of some of the obstacles in the way of the advancement of this sacred music, and the first is that it has been impressed into the service of Satan.

I am far from believing that music ought always to be positively religious. Refined art has opened places where music has been secularized, and lawfully so. The drawing room, the concert, by the gratification of the pure taste and the production of harmless amusement and the improvement of talent have become very forces in the advancement of our civilization. Music has as much right to laugh in surrey Gardens as it has to pray in St. Paul's. In the kingdom of nature we have the glad fifing of the wind as well as the long meter psalm of the thunder. But, while all this is so, every observer has noticed that this art, which God intended for the improvement of the ear, and the voice, and the head and the heart, has often been impressed into the service of error. Turtini, the musical composer, dreamed one night that Satan snatched from his hand an instrument and played upon it something very sweet—a dream that has often been fulfilled in our day, the voice and the instruments that ought to have been devoted to Christ, captured from the church and applied to the purposes of sin

Another obstacle has been an inordinate fear of criticism. The vast majority of people singing in church never want anybody else to hear them sing. Everybody is waiting for somebody else to do his duty. If we all sang, then the inaccuracies that are evident when only a few sing would be drowned out. God asks you to do as well as you can, and then if you get the wrong pitch or keep wrong time He will forgive any deficiency of the ear and imperfection of the voices. Angels will not laugh if you should lose your place in the musical scale or come in at the close a bar behind. There are three schools of singing, I am told—the German school, Italian school and the French school of singing. Now, I would like to add a fourth school, and that is the school of Christ. The voice of a contrite, broken heart, although it may not be able to stand human criticism, makes better music for God's ear than the most artistic performance when the heart is wanting. God calls on the beasts, on the cattle, on the dragons to praise Him, and we ought not to be behind the cattle and the dragons.

Another obstacle to the advancement of this art has been the erroneous notion that this part of the service could be conducted by delegation. Churches have said, "O, what an easy time we shall have! The minister will do the preaching and the choir will do the singing and we will have nothing to do." And you know as well as I that there are a great multitude of churches all through this land where the people are not expected to sing. The whole work is done by delegation of four or six or ten persons, and the audience are silent. In such a church in Syracuse an old elder persisted in singing, and so the choir appointed a committee to go and ask the elder if he would not stop. You know that in many churches the choir are expected to do all the singing, and the great mass of the people are expected to be silent, and if you utter your voice you are interfering. In that church they stand, the four, with opera-glasses dangling at their side, singing "Rock of Ages, Cleft for Me," with the same spirit that, the night before on the stage, they took their part in "The Grand Duchesse" or "Don Giovanni."

My Christian friends, have we a right to delegate to others the discharge of this duty which God demands of us? Suppose that four wood thrushes propose to do all the singing some bright day, when the woods are ringing with bird voices. It is decided that four wood thrushes shall do all the singing of the forest. Let all other voices keep silent. How beautifully the four warble! It is really fine music! But how long will you keep the forest still? Why, Christ would come into that forest and look up, as he looked through the olives, and he would wave his hand and say, "Let everything that hath breath praise the Lord," and, keeping time with the stroke of innumerable wings, there would be five thousand bird voices leaping into harmony. Suppose this delegation of musical performance were tried in heaven; suppose that four choice spirits should try to do the singing for the upper Temple. Hush now; thrones and dominions and principalities. David, be still, though you were the "sweet singer of Israel." Paul, keep quiet, though you have come to that crown of rejoicing. Richard Baxter, keep still, though this is the "Saints' Everlastig Rest." Four spirits now do all the singing. But how long would Heaven be quiet? How long? "Hallelujah!" would cry some glorified Methodist from under the altar. "Praise the Lord!" would sing the martyrs from among the thrones. "Thanks be unto God who giveth us the victory!" a great multitude of redeemed spirits would cry—myriads of voices coming into the harmony and the one hundred and forty and four thousand breaking forth into one acclamation. Stop that loud singing! Stop! O, no; they can not hear me. You might as well try to drown the thunder of the sky, or hush back the roar of the sea, for every soul in Heaven has resolved to do its own singing. Alas! that we should have tried on earth that which they can not do in Heaven—the work of joining all our voices in the praise of the Most High God, delegating perhaps to unconsecrated men and women this most solemn and most delightful service.

Music ought to rush from the audience like the water from a rock—clear, bright, sparkling. If all the other part of the church service is dull, do not have music dull. With so many thrilling things to sing about, away with all drawlings and stupidity. There is nothing makes me so nervous as to sit in a pulpit and look off on an audience with their eyes three-fourths closed and their lips almost shut, mumbling the praises of God. During my recent absence I preached to a large audience, and all the music they made together did not equal one skylark. People do not sleep at a coronation. Do not let us sleep when we come to a Saviour's crowning. In order to a proper discharge of this duty, let us stand up, save as age or weakness or feeble excuses us. Seated in an easy pew we can not do this duty half so well as when, upright, we throw our whole body into it. Let our song be like an acclamation of victory. You have a right to sing. Do not surrender

We want to rouse all our families upon this subject. We want each family of our congregation to be a singing school. Childish petulence, obduracy and intractability would be soothed if we had more singing in the household, and then our little ones would be prepared for the great congregation on Sabbath day, their voices uniting with our voices in the praise of the Lord. After a shower there are scores of streams that come down the mountain side with voices rippling and silvery, pouring into one river, and then rolling in united strength to the sea. So I would have all the families in our church send forth the voice of prayer and praise, pouring it into the great tide of public worship that rolls on and on to empty into the great wide heart of God. Never can we have our church sing as it ought until our families sing as they ought.

DISTRIBUTED over the mid-Pacific, in the neighborhood of the equator, are quite a lot of small islands that belong to the United States. Most of them are from 1,000 to 2,000 miles to the south and southwest of Hawaii. Some of them are near the Gilbert Archipelago, and there is a considerable cluster just about the lesser distance mentioned and directly south of the Hawaiian group, including America, Christmas, Palmyros and other islands of large size. Christmas island is about 35 miles long. These isles of the Pacific belonging to Uncle Sam number 60 in all. They have all been annexed to the United States under an act of Congress.

EX-PRESIDENT GUZMAN BLANCO, of Venezuela, is said to be the richest man in the world, owning 6,000,000 square miles of land, 2,000,000 virtual slaves and enjoying an annual income of $37,000,000.

NO EPIDEMIC

Of Yellow Fever Is Feared by the Citizens of New Orleans.

The City to Advance $35,000 to the Board of Health to Carry On Its Fight Against the Disease—Theaters May Be Closed.

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 24.—Shortly after ten o'clock Thursday morning two deaths from yellow fever were reported at the board of health. They were Marie Dubos, a child, living on St. Charles street, between Cherokee and Hillary, who was taken sick on the 16th, and C. Secreto, of 8118 Birch street. Both of these deaths occurred in the extreme upper portion of the city. One new case was also reported Thursday morning. It is that of Edgar Roy at Miro and Esplanade streets. Sickness already existed in the premises. The total number of cases up to the present writing has been 80. There have been ten deaths in all. The death rate is a trifle over 12 per cent. However scientists may differ as to the effect of low temperature on the spread of yellow fever, the change here has had the effect of increasing public confidence and of strengthening faith in the opinion of Dr. Touatre that there is absolutely no danger here of an epidemic. The city council will hold a special session at noon Thursday to consider arrangements made Wednesday by which the city's fiscal agents are to advance $25,000 to the board of health to assist in carrying on its fight. Some objection has been made by councilmen on the ground that the money ought to be expended by the city and that the state ought to make provision for the work of the board of health. Requests are being made to the board of health to close the theaters. The board, however, has taken no action in the premises.

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 24.—The Beauregard school building, which it was proposed to use as a fever hospital, and which a mob threatened to burn down, was destroyed by fire at 1 o'clock Friday morning, although it was guarded by police. It was formerly a fine residence, occupying a square of ground out on Canal street, near the cemetery.

EDWARDS, Miss., Sept. 24.—Sixteen new cases of yellow fever were reported Thursday. Total cases to date, 100; deaths Thursday, none; total deaths to date, 4; convalescent, 33; now under treatment, 51.

FIRE AT BAINBRIDGE.

Two Persons Killed, Four Injured and Eleven Buildings Destroyed.

BAINBRIDGE, O., Sept. 24.—Fire broke out at 12:30 Thursday in a barn in the rear of Beardsley's drugstore. It soon spread to adjoining buildings, and in a short time an entire square in the business portion of the town was in flames. A gasoline tank in the drugstore exploded, completely demolishing the building, a two-story brick. W. P. Beardsley, proprietor of the store, was buried in the ruins, and Thomas Higgins was so seriously injured that he died soon after being removed.

Beardsley's body was not recovered for several hours after the explosion, and when found was burned to a crisp. Besides the two killed, John Walley had a leg broken and was badly injured about the head. Homer Huling was badly cut about the head. W. F. Pensyl had a leg broken and was injured internally. Frank Tulleys was injured about the head. Charles Ross had his hand badly injured.

The buildings destroyed were the M. E. Church, Armstrong's livery barn, John R. Head's vacant store room, Ogel's saloon, Rickman's barber shop, Seymour Moore's business room and residence, W. P. Beardsley's drug store and Odd Fellows' Hall. Houser's grocery store, Mrs. E. L. Dill's millinery store, Dr. H. McKee's residence and J. B. Brown's residence.

The town was wholly without fire protection and Chillicothe and Waverly were appealed to for aid. They sent engines, but before their arrival the fire had been placed under control by a bucket brigade. The church, Beardsley's drugstore and Odd Fellows' hall were the only buildings insured. The loss is in the neighborhood of $50,000. The fire was caused by boys playing with matches.

DELEGATE CONVENTION

Of the Sons of the American Revolution and the Sons of the Revolution at Cincinnati.

CLEVELAND, O., Sept. 24.—On October 12 and 13 there will be a delegate convention in Cincinnati of the Sons of the American Revolution and the Sons of the Revolution. The first-named society was started on the Pacific slope in 1876 and has 10,000 members, and the second in New York in 1883 and has 7,000 members. In both societies the membership qualification is descent from some one who fought for the independence of America. Last August a committee of five was appointed by each organization to draw up a plan of consolidation. This joint committee will report to the Cincinnati convention.

Receiver for the Merriam Publishing Co.

NEW YORK, Sept. 24.—Justice Russell, of the supreme court, has appointed John De Ireland receiver of the Merriam Co., publishers, on application of Robert H. Merriam and Arthur J. Snelfield, directors, for a voluntary dissolution of the corporation. The liabilities about $100,000, and the assets $20,000.

Experiments in Sisal Growing.

LONDON, Sept. 24.—The Daily Mail Friday morning says: Joseph Chamberlain, secretary of state for the colonies, has lost £50,000 ($250,000) in experiments in Sisal growing in the Bahamo island. He chose land unsuitable for successful cultivation.

Elected National Commander U. V. L.

COLUMBUS, O., Sept. 24.—At the meeting of the Union Veteran Legion Thursday, Judge Archibald Blakely, of Pittsburgh, was elected national commander by a large majority. The result on the other officers will not be announced until Friday.

THE REFUGEES

From Yellow Fever District Must Remain in the North—Mississippi Board of Health Advise Them Not to Return at Present.

JACKSON, Miss., Sept. 25.—The state board of health Friday night issued the following official bulletin:

The board is daily receiving requests from parties from the north for permission to return to their homes, and has decided not to allow them to do so for the present. After the board is certain that the fever is confined to Edwards and immediate vicinity quarantine will probably be raised on railroads not connected with any infected point.

A special train left Vicksburg Friday evening for the vicinity of Edwards with four colored female nurses and such supplies as were needed. Efforts are being made to obtain white female nurses and it is likely some may be secured Saturday.

Dr. Guiteras is at Vicksburg and leaves for Delhi in north Louisiana Saturday.

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 25.—At Ocean Springs there are 11 old cases of fever under treatment and one new case reported Friday. No deaths.

Scranton, Miss., reports three new cases Friday, with no deaths there or in East Pascagoula.

At Biloxi, Miss., Mayor H. L. Howard was taken down Friday with the fever. He is overworked, having devoted his energies to fighting fever; Acting Mayor Swetman is also sick. Reports from the sick are all favorable. The board of health reports: Yellow fever cases to date, 75; under treatment, 42; total deaths to date, 4; new cases Friday 15.

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 25.—The board of health of the state of Louisiana gave out officially the following status of affairs in New Orleans as regards the yellow fever.

During the 24 hours ending Friday, September 24, at six p. m. there were: Total cases of yellow fever, 99; total deaths, 4; total cases of yellow fever to date, 98; total deaths from yellow fever to date, 15.

The following is the official report from Edwards since 7 p. m. Thursday night:

New Cases—Whites—Mrs. Ella Goode, Leroy Ratcliff, Miss Marie Lewis, A. J. Lewis, sr., Miss Willie Ross, Mrs. R. F. Birdsong, R. W. Elliott, Mrs. R. W. Elliott, E. K. Hobbin, Mrs. T. P. Martin, J. H. Howie's child, Mrs. E. A. Walton, sr., Kathleen Lowery, Mrs. J. P. Galloway, Mrs. P. H. Montgomery, F. L. Powling, Miss Sallie Donovan, Miss Winnie Donovan and Miss Bettie Wagoner.

Colored—A. J. Jones, Mary Jones Nancy Smith, Henry Gray, Carrie Stevens, James Buchanan, Mary Brown Sallie Jenkins, Ella Scott, Bessie Henry.

Total number of cases for the day, 30; total cases to date, 130; deaths Friday, none; total deaths to date, 4.

Convalescent, 44; now under treatment, 85.

Frank Rossman had black vomit all Thursday night and Friday was not expected to live.

No cases were reported discharged Friday. Cases under treatment having increased to 85, we are very short of physicians, having but four. Their energies are sorely taxed.

MOBILE, Ala., Sept. 25.—The yellow fever bulletin Friday says, 41 cases, 6 deaths, 19 discharged and 16 under treatment. With one or two exceptions the sick are doing well.

Dr. George A. Ketchum, president of the board of health, remarks that the sick of the fever are all dwellers in one story houses—that is to say, sleep on the ground floor. He infers that the poison moves along the ground and preferably attacks those closest in reach.

MINE EXPLOSION.

One Man Killed, Six Burned and Bruised and One Imprisoned in the Shaft.

MARION, Ill., Sept. 25.—One man was killed, three were fatally injured and six were severely burned and bruised by an explosion of gas in the Williamson county coal mines Friday. An unknown miner is still imprisoned in the shaft and was undoubtedly instantly killed.

The gas which caused the explosion accumulated during the night near the mouth of the main shaft. A shift of 45 men went down in the cage at 7 o'clock. They had proceeded only a short distance up the main gangway when the lamp on the leader fatally ignited a large body of gas. A terrible explosion resulted. Farraro and an unknown miner were knocked down, the latter being buried under a mass of broken timber and rocks. Those who were able to crawl back to the foot of the shaft signalled for the cage, which had been blown to the surface by the force of the explosion. Rescuers descended and soon all the injured men were raised to the surface. After damp followed the explosion and put a stop to the search for the body of an unknown miner, who was no doubt instantly killed.

Ex-Chief of Police Velasquez Suicides.

CITY OF MEXICO, Sept. 25.—Friday morning at 11 o'clock ex-Chief of Police Edmurdo Velasquez shot himself in the left temple, dying instantly. No one knows how he procured the pistol. Action genrally approved.

CITY OF MEXICO, Sept. 25.—In consequence of Velasquez's suicide the warden of Belean prison has been arrested and placed in solitary confinement. Velasquez shot himself with a small pistol and the warden is under suspicion of either furnishing the weapon or maintaining lax discipline.

One Hundred Cases of Whisky Seized.

PORT TOWNSEND, Wash., Sept. 25.—Four hours were spent here by customs officers in searching the steamship Williamette previous to her departure for Alaska. The search was rewarded by the discovery of 100 cases of whisky, which was seized. The steamer carried a full cargo of freight and 110 passengers.

Killed by an Earthslip.

LONDON, Sept. 25.—A private dispatch from Rome says that about 40 persons were killed and many others injured by an earthslip at the sulphur mines, near Girgenti.

WOODFORD IN MADRID.

The Programme of the United States Government Does Not Contemplate

A Declaration of War if Spain Rejects Mediation—The Minister's Conference With the Duke of Tetuan, the Foreign Minister, Was Most Satisfactory.

MADRID, Sept. 27.—The arrival of United States Minister Woodford from San Sebastian has made a sensation. The programme of the United States has been ascertained.

This does not contemplate a declaration of war if Spain rejects mediation, but, according to report, an "ostentatious proclamation to the world of disapproval of the Cuban regime by suspending diplomatic relations with Spain and withdrawing the United States Minister."

Gen. Woodford has declined to be interviewed on the subject further than to say that his conference with the duke of Tetuan, the foreign minister, was of a most satisfactory character. The unexpected bitterness of the press and of public opinion has painfully impressed him, but he hopes this will soon be allayed, as he believes his mission favorable to Spanish interests and can not comprehend that Spain could reject mediation designed to end an impoverishing war. He has not named a time at which the war must be terminated, but he hopes, as the results of his tenders, that it will be ended quickly. He believes the war is inducing incalculable loss upon the United States, and that it is impossible to prevent the organization of filibustering expeditions.

Unusual measures were taken to protect Minister Woodford on his journey from San Sebastian to this city, but the trip was quite uneventful. A party of gendarmes, commanded by a sub lieutenant, guarded the southern express on which he was a passenger.

Secret police were posted at the station, and the prefect of police was in waiting to escort him to his hotel. The drive through the streets was marked by no special incident, though several people saluted him, receiving a bow in return.

Some comment has been caused by the fact that Minister Woodford's family has not accompanied him, but remains behind the French frontier. Minister Woodford explains that his party is a large one, requiring a commodious home, and prefers spending a pleasant October at Biarritz until a suitable residence can be secured here. The legation can not be used as a residence. Gen. Woodford has already engaged a box at the Royal opera-house and has purchased horses.

THE GRAND JURY

At Versailles, Ind., Makes a Final Adjournment Without Returning Indictments Against Lynchers—Another Grand Jury Will Be Convened.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Sept. 27.—Information reached this city from Versailles that the grand jury, which has been investigating the recent lynching of five men at that point, has adjourned without returning any indictments, and that the adjournment was final, the jury reporting that there was nothing further for it to do. When the report reached Gov. Mount he at once telegraphed to the prosecuting attorney asking for information. A few moments after sending the dispatch he sent for the attorney general and the two were in conference over the matter for nearly three hours. The governor requested the state's legal adviser to go to Versailles in the event of the jury's failure to indict and take charge of the investigation in person. He said that he would confer with Judge New and have another grand jury convened at once, and the inquiry could proceed without delay.

Speaking of the situation Gov. Mount said: "If it be true that the grand jury has adjourned without finding indictments I will send the attorney general to the scene at once. I had a conference with him and he is in hearty sympathy with any desire to bring the perpetrators of the crime to justice. As soon as I hear from the local authorities I will be prepared to act intelligently.

MRS. LANGTRY

Will Go to California and Wed Prince Esterhazy, Head of a Noble House.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 27.—The announcement that Mrs. Lily Lantry will marry Prince Esterhazy is confirmed. Attorney Henry C. McPike, of this city, is authority for the announcement, which is to be taken in connection with the statements persistently and repeatedly published since she secured her divorce in May last. As to Mrs. Langtry's prospective marriage to this distinguished head of an ancient house. "I have recently received," said Mr. McPike, "from my client, Mrs. Langtry, notice of her intention to return to California by the end of November. Prince Esterhazy will accompany her, and immediately upon their arrival here they will be married in Lake county, I presume, for her home is there.

"Because they have preferred to be married in this state it must not be argued that either Mrs. Langtry or Prince Esterhazy regards the former's divorce as lacking in legality in any other jurisdiction. On the contrary, they are advised by their solicitors in London that the decree granted at Lakeport has freed her absolutely from Edward Langtry, so that she may marry in any part of the world if she chooses."

A Bungling Hold-Up.

MOORHEAD, Minn., Sept. 27.—The westbound passenger train on the Northern Pacific railway was held up three miles north of here at an early hour Sunday morning. It is said the express car carried a large sum of money, which the robbers failed to secure, owing to a blunder in cutting off the cars

A Big Deal.

SEATTLE, Wash., Sept. 27.—Fourteen gold mining claims in the Sumdum and Berner's Bay districts, in Southeastern Alaska, have been sold to New York and Denver men for $300,000.

BOONE CO., RECORDER.

Wednesday, Sept. 29, 1897.

Advertising Rates:

One inch, one time.....$1.00
Each additional time.....25
Obituaries, Tributes of Respects or notices of a like nature, per inch .50

W. L. RIDDELL. - - Publisher.

Democratic Ticket.

November 2, 1897.

For Clerk Court of Appeals,
SAM'L J. SHACKELFORD.

For Representative,
REUBEN CONNER.

For Circuit Judge.
JOHN W. GREENE.

For Commonwealth's Attorney,
M. D. GRAY.

For Circuit Clerk,
J. W. DUNCAN.

For County Judge,
C. C. ROBERTS.

For County Attorney,
J. M. LASSING.

For County Clerk,
B. W. ADAMS.

For Sheriff,
ELMER BEALL.

For Assessor,
T. G. WILLIS.

For Jailer,
T. J. ADAMS.

For County Superintendent,
L. H. VOSHELL.

For Surveyor,
W. E. VEST.

For Coroner,
A. A. MURAT.

Neighborhood News.

Rabbit Hash.

Mrs. Jane Wilson is quite sick.

P. G. Holms has been sick all summer, and is not expected to live much longer.

Several in this neighborhood have been attending the big meeting in progress at Big Bone.

Uncle Ben Allen, of Big Bone neighborhood, spent the day with Z. T. Stephens, one day last week.

Joe Stephens has been laid up all summer with rheumatism, and last Wednesday his friends turned out and cut and housed his tobacco for him.

Richwood.

The potato crop is very poor.

Stock water is getting very scarce.

Some of the farmers are through cutting corn.

William Scott was visiting his grandparents here, Sunday.

Miss Maggie Spilliman, of Bellevue, was visiting here Sunday,

Chinch bugs are numerous, and many of the farmers are afraid to sow wheat.

Mr. Leslie Goodridge, of Burlington, makes frequent visits to this neighborhood.

Alonzo Marshall lost a very valuable mare, last Saturday night. It is supposed she was foundered.

Senator Conner was thrown by his horse, one evening last week, and painfully but not seriously hurt.

Walton.

T. J. Crow has commenced to bore for gas, but the work is suspended on account of broken machinery, for a few days only.

The citizens of Walton have purchased a second-hand hand engine from Ludlow, and will be prepared to fight fire in the future.

The Snyder Preserves Company contemplate opening their factory, Monday, and will can the tomatoes instead of shipping them as they have been doing the past month.

Mr. Thomas Miller, of Palm Springs, Florida, is visiting relatives in Walton. He will go from here to St. Louis, to visit his daughter, Mrs. J. T. Anderson.

Saturday morning the people of the town were very much alarmed when the residence of Dr. Bagby was discovered to be on fire. The flames were soon extinguished with but little damage to the house.

Verona.

Farmers are waiting for rain before sowing their wheat and rye.

Water is becoming scarce, and some of our best springs and wells are falling.

The League Institute opened up for the fall term, last Monday, with a good attendance.

Last Sunday Rev. McMillin baptized in Marshall Whitson's pond, two converts, who recently united with Concord church.

Invitation cards announcing the wedding of Mr. A. C. Roberts and Miss Lulu Belle Rowers, at 3 p. m., October 6th, have been issued.

Someone on horseback collided with Billy McClure's buggy as he was going home from church, one night last week. The vehicle was badly wrecked, but fortunately no one was hurt.

The revival meeting at the Methodist church closed last Sunday. Revs. Helm and Bedinger have been in our midst three weeks, preaching the word of truth, and we feel that the community, generally, is spiritually benefitted.

W. H. Adams will have a mule show on the 9th of October. All those who have mule colts of Alexander's breed are requested to compete for the premium. There will also be some fancy prices paid for mules on that day.

The Grange met here last Saturday evening, with Bro. E. L. Hale, Deputy Master of the National Grange. The meeting was a success, adding 11 new members to the organization. Mr. Hale says the work is moving right along in Kentucky.

Big Bone.

Teachers' meeting of Hamilton and Rabbit Hash precinct met at Big Bone Springs school house, Sept. 25th, 1897, with the following teachers present: Misses Maud Ryle, Bessie Vanness, Rose B. Wilson; Messrs Hale Keeney, Walter Kelly and D. M. Bondurant.

As there was no program prepared for the meeting it was agreed that the teachers become pupils and go through with the daily school program. The first thing being opening exercises, it was discussed by all the teachers. Then Mr. Bondurant took charge of the primary class, after conducting the class according to his methods, primary teaching was discussed by the teachers. This concluded the morning exercises.

Dinner being prepared and brought to the house, it was taken to the shade and enjoyed by all. After visiting the Springs, school was called to order by the Superintendent.

Arithmetic class was called and conducted by Miss Maud Ryle. As some of the teachers had to leave a vote was taken as to where the Institute should be held next year—four places were voted on. There were three for Burlington and 2 for Walton.

History being the next subject under discussion it was agreed by all that outline method is the best. Grammar was the next subject discussed and the outline method was given preference.

Motion to adjourn, carried.

ROSE B. WILSON, Sect'y.

Union.

Thos. Carlisle has sold his farm to Charley Long. I hear.

Mrs. Dr. Lassing and Nixie left for Nashville Exposition, Saturday.

Robt. Rice and family, with Miss Lizzie Roberts, were visiting in Union, Sunday.

Elbert Rice, of Covington, has a host of friends in Boone who regret to hear he is sick.

Tom Burkett lost a horse, last week. Had its leg broken by a kick from another horse.

Mrs. Asbury and daughter, of Mason county, are the guests of M. C. Norman and family.

The Masons of Union attended the funeral of Mr. Underhill, near Beaver in a body, last Thursday.

Ryland Hedges and family were visiting near Chattanooga, last week, with Martin Weaver and wife.

It takes nerve to sow $1 wheat, but if all reports are true more wheat will be sown here than last year.

Jas. Gatson will engage in the dairy business in Covington, this winter—has rented his farm and will move soon.

Wm. Kenney has added 100 per cent. to the looks of Matson's place in building wire fence along the public road.

Geo. Crouch is happier in Union than any place and says "any old man" may have his interest in the shoe business.

Dr. Lassing has added very much to the appearance of his place by building long lines of wire fence and nice gates.

Potato digging and corn cutting is in order now. It is more proper to say potato plowing for they are too scattering to dig, so the plow is used.

Marshal Hedges and James Bristow were talking horse, one evening recantly. In five minutes talk they used 77,555 words, only 15,511 to the minutes.

These days you see a fellow look at his empty coal house and then hustle for stove wood. 15c coal don't burn good any way. Too much "tin" it see.

R. T. Clements caught a severe cold in going to town and accounted for it because his front teeth were out letting the air pour in. Dr. Adams ought to plug up that opening certain.

Sumner Houston tells me the Grangers have rented the Masonic Hall and will hold their next meeting in it Saturday. The lodge has forty members and expects ten more additions soon.

Moses Lane enjoyed a visit from his son who lives in Ohio, last week. He brought him a bottle of wine made from the Dandylion blossom—something new in the way of wine. Its dandy and that's no lie-on-either.

I stirred up considerable talk on the subject of "model farming" by setting Charley Baker down as one. Now, gentlemen, if he is not, who is? If a man takes land so poor that a disturbance could not be raised on it, improves and makes money on it, is he not a model farmer?

The Ed. and all the correspondents of the Recorder are cordially invited to be present at a fish-fry and squirrel burgoo on or about October the (can't tell exact day.) All you need to bring along is 10 lbs. of dressed fish and two squirrels a piece. Lynn and Lan will furnish coffee and corn bread.

One of our citizens stopped at Jack Howard's, one day last week to see Mr. Bezanah, the pugilist. He also saw a punch-bag suspended from the ceiling in Mr. Howard's sitting room and as it looked innocent like he just hauled off and punched it one. "Well! by gosh dog my picture, if the thing didn't come back kersiap and knock both my eyes into one and knock me flatter than a pan-cake in less than a second." Try it again, Sandy.

Mr. George Gaines and family, of Bullittsville, were entertained by Mrs. Elizabeth Huey, last Wednesday. Mr. Gaines was having a yoke mended and talking politics in Union. He thinks W. J. Bryan is the most popular man in the United States to-day, and Mark Hanna is the greatest demagogue and political trickster the world ever knew; thinks high protection and single gold standard a delusion and a snare. Says $16,000,000 were used in the recent national election to buy the manhood, self respect and honor of the working people and fifty millions would be used next time if necessary; says the political complexion of Kentucky is blacker than Mr. Black at present, but the next time we get at 'em the complexion will be changed to a healthy, rosy white. Mr. G. is a typical Kentuckian, who believes in Kentucky first, last and always; thinks the air is purer, sun shines brighter and the flowers are prettier than in anybody's land.

Bellevue.

Miss Hattie Moody is home for a short visit.

M. J. Corbin is about again, after a light attack of flux.

Harry Acra and wife were visiting on Ashby Fork, Sunday.

J. R. Clutterbuck and wife, of Burlington, attended church here last sunday.

Albert Snyder, who has been complaining for several months, is feeling some better.

Mrs. B. F. Rogers returned, last week, from a visit to her father's in Gallatin county.

Frank Huey and wife, of Muncie, Indiana, are visiting his mother and other relatives here.

Hon. James A. Wilson, of Rabbit Hash, attended Mr. Corbin's funeral. He looks well for a person of his extreme age.

Andrew B. Acra, of Middle Creek, who has been confined to his bed for 6 weeks with typhoid fever, is thought to be convalescing.

Al Rogers is feeding another lot of nice hogs, which will be ready for market shortly. He is determined to ride out of debt on the hog's back.

Mrs. Hattie Davis, of Louisville, who has been visiting D. M. Snyder and family for several weeks, went to Petersburg, last Sunday, to visit relatives there.

Through grief we chronicle the death of one of our old and highly esteemed citizens, Mr. Albert Corbin, who departed this life Tuesday, the 21st inst., at 22 minutes of 1 o'clock p. m., in the 72d year of his age. He was one who was always ready to administer to the suffering, and always dealt fairly with every one. He was a member of the Old Baptist church for many years, and his daily walk was a sufficient evidence of his declarations His funeral took place at his residence last Thursday at 2 o'clock. The services were conducted by Rev. T. L. Utz, and consisted of reading a chapter in the Bible, a prayer and a song, after which the funeral procession, under the direction of R. A. Steel, undertaker, of Rising Sun, proceeded to the Bellevue cemetery, where the remains were consigned to their last resting place.

Constance.

There are prospects of at least two saloons in our place soon.

Most of our rolling mill boys have employment at the tin mill.

Mr. Thomas Anderson has sold his fine hound to a Cincinnati man.

Mrs. Berry, who has been quite sick is considerable better under the treatment of Dr. Weindel.

The boys of our place still go to Bromley. I think they are struck or stricken, or what ever you call it.

We will have a string band in our place soon, as several of our boys are taking music lessons in Cincinnati.

The salvation army has again come into our midst, holding services in the store room owned by Dr. Murat. The army has done good in the past, why not in future?

Mr. and Mrs. Tanner gave their son, William, quite a nice entertainment after he made public his marriage. It was largely attended, and everyone appeared to enjoy it. Nothing was left undone by the family to make the occasion a pleasant one. The bride, who was Miss Katie Walbe, is one of Constance's beauties, admired by all who knew her. The groom is the well known base ball pitcher. The prospects of the young couple for the future are bright indeed, and they have the best wishes of all who know them.

Petersburg.

Some thoughtful people are laying in coal at 8cts.

Uncle Dennis McLelland's condition is very critical.

Mrs. J. Frank Grant, of Baltimore, has been here for a week or more.

Oscar McWright, little son of James McWright, has whooping cough very badly.

Viola Theetge has been under medical treatment for some time. She has an abscess.

Sheriff Beall shied into this burg last Monday Guess he didn't find the end of a rainbow.

Wm. Fauss and some others have commenced sowing wheat. Look for a large acreage.

Mr. F. Wingate bought 26 nice cattle last week and drove them to the Voshell farm on Woolper.

The Telegraph had tedious time passing Medoc bar last Sunday. She has since ceased running.

Uncle Isaac Brown has finished housing his tobacco and is now preparing fodder for his cow and horse.

Mrs. Susan Jarrell went out to her cousins on Double Lick, last Sunday, to be ready to make a supply of apple-butter.

Aunt Mildred Jarrell of Woolper has lately spent several days with her children and other kindred in this neighborhood.

Frank Tilley, of Pittsburg, is visiting his parents and friends and exercising himself taking pictures and playing croquet. He is displaying considerable talent as an artist.

There were many sad countenances in this place, when it was reported that the remains of Mr. Thos. Graves, a former merchant here, would be conveyed on the Lizzie Bay Sunday the 26 for funeral services, and burial at Bullittsburg.

Erlanger.

Al Cates, Sam Johnson Andy Sheben and Fred Ficke have entered the courts to restrain Marshal Myers from collecting saloon licenses.

The Baptist church has been holding revival meetings with good success—several additions to the church.

Five per cent. penalty will be added to the delinquent school taxes October 1st. The trustees say that principal Dunlap has added to the first year's course of High School studies 2 regular studies of Graded schools. This is the only school, outside of Covington and Ludlow, where such instruction may be had free.

Administrator's Notice.

I have this day been appointed administrator of the estate of James A. Botts, deceased, and all persons indebted to said estate must pay same at once and all persons having claims against said estate must present them to me or my attorney S. W. Tolin, at Burlington, Ky., proven as by law required.

EDWIN BOTTS, Adm'r.

Sept. 20th, 1897.

Commissioner's Sale.

Boone Circuit Court, Ky.

The Walton Perpetual Building and Loan Association, Plff.
vs
B. L. Northcutt, &c., Defts.

By virtue of a Judgment and order of sale of the Boone Circuit Court, rendered at the Aug., term thereof, 1897, in the above cause, I shall proceed to offer for sale at the Court-house door in Burlington, Boone county, Ky., to the highest bidder at Public Sale on Monday, the 4th day of October, 1897, at 1 o'clock p. m., or thereabout, being County Court day, upon a credit of 6 and 12 months, the following described property, to-wit:

Lying and being in Walton, Boone county, Ky., and bounded on the south by a lot sold by Johnson and Hind, and fronting on the Covington and Lexington pike 58 feet, and running thence easterly 170 feet, containing 9860 square feet more or less. This lot of ground was conveyed by James Hutchinson to Fannie J. Murphy, by deed recorded in Book 21, page 432, and same conveyed by said Murphy to Fouker Connelly.

For the purchase price the purchaser with approved security or securities, must execute bonds, bearing legal interest from the day of sale until paid, and having the force and effect of a judgment. Bidders will be prepared to comply promptly with these terms.

Amount to be raised by sale, $498 96.

J. B. BERKSHIRE, M. C. B C.

Commissioner's Sale.

Boone Circuit Court, Ky.

The Hebron Perpetual Building and Loan Association, Plff.
vs equity.
J. B. Acra, &c., Defts.

By virtue of a Judgment and order of Sale of the Boone Circuit Court, rendered at the August term thereof, 1897, in the above cause, I shall proceed to offer for sale at the Court-House door in Burlington, Boone County, Ky., to the highest bidder, at Public Sale on Monday the 4th day of October 1897, at one o'clock p m.. or thereabout, being County Court day, upon a credit of 6 and 12 months, the following described property, to-wit: Being in E. W. Rice's addition to the town of McVille, Boone county, Ky., and bounded as follows: On the north, by Vine street; on the west, by Center street extended; on the south, by an alley 16 feet wide; on the east, by alley No. 1, extending and fronting 136 feet, running back in parallel lines 120 feet to an alley.

For the purchase price the purchaser with approved security or securities must execute bonds, bearing legal interest from the day of sale until paid, and having the force and effect of a judgment, with a lien retained therein until all the purchase money is paid. Bidders will be prepared to comply promptly with these terms.

Amount to be raised $247 58.

J. B. BERKSHIRE,
Master Commissioner.

Commissioner's Sale.

Boone Circuit Court, Ky.

The Hebron Perpetual Building and Loan Association, Plff.
vs Equity.
Jesse C. Kelly, &c. Defts.

By virtue of a Judgment and order of Sale of the Boone Circuit Court, rendered at the August term thereof, 1897, in the above cause, I shall proceed to offer for sale at the Court House door in Burlington, Boone County, Ky., to the highest bidder, at Public Sale on Monday the 4th day of Oct., 1897, at one o'clock p. m. or there about, being County Court day, on a credit of 6 and 12 months, the following described property to wit:

Lying and being in McVille, Boone county, Ky., and bounded as follows: Beginning on the east side of the Rabbit Hash and Bellevue road, in the town of McVille, a corner of J. R. Akin and son; thence s 188 ft. to a corner of John Smith, jr., thence e 144 ft. to a corner in Benj Kirtley's line; thence n 188 feet to a corner with J. R. Akin & Son in Kirtley's line; thence w. 144 feet to the beginning, containing ¾ of an acre.

For the purchase price the purchaser, with approved security or securities, must execute bonds, bearing legal interest from the day of sale until paid, and having the force and effect of a Judgment. Bidders will be prepared to comply promptly with these terms.

Amount to be raised by sale, $268 19.

J. B. BERKSHIRE, M. C. C. C.

NOTICE.

Notice is hereby given that I am sole owner of the personal property on my farm near J. W. Klte's store, this county, and no one is authorized to sell same or any part of it.

LENNORA SATCHWILL.

Sept. 10th, 1897.

S. W. ADAMS,

ATTORNEY - AT - LAW,

ERLANGER, KENTUCKY.

Will practice in the courts of Boone and Kenton counties. Collections and general law practice.

For Sale---Farm

Of 123 acres in Boone county, Ky., on the Union & Beaver turnpike, three miles from Richwood Station; good house of seven rooms, hall, vestibules, porches, good cellar; large barn, out-buildings, two cisterns, orchards and never failing springs.

HENRY TUCKER,
Union, Boone county, Ky.

Farm for Sale!

In Boone county, Ky., on the North Bend Road, 14 miles from Burlington, 1 mile from Hebron and 6 miles from Anderson's Ferry, and contains seventy-eight acres, good cottage of 5 rooms and good barn, orchard of 200 trees select fruit. The farm is all under good state of cultivation. For terms apply to LASSING & RIDDELL,
Burlington, Ky.

GO TO

HANKINS, DAVIS & CO., General Merchants,

HEBRON AND CONSTANCE,

A Good Supply of Feed always in Stock.

GARDEN AND FIELD SEEDS.

Undertaking is given special attention. Funerals under the personal supervision of J. C. HANKINS.

A good supply of Coal on hand at Constance at all times.

Hebron. HANKINS, DAVIS & CO. Constance

S. L. EDWARDS. A. M. EDWARDS.

EDWARDS BROTHERS,

DEALERS IN

HARDWARE
—AND—
Agricultural Implements,

Furniture,
Stoves,
Tinware,
Saddlery,
Oils and Paints,
Wall Paper.

UNDERTAKING & EMBALMING A SPECIALTY.

We have added a first-class Tin Shop and are prepared to do Tin, Iron and Paper Roofing and guarantee all work done by us.

EDWARDS BROS., - - Walton, Ky.

JOHN ALLISON,

UNDER-  EMBAL-

TAKER MER,

—Corner Pike & Russell Streets,—

COVINGTON, - - KENTUCKY.

INDEPENDENT OF UNDERTAKERS' UNION.

WHY WORRY ABOUT

Where to go to Buy Your

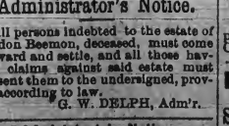
Men's, Boys' and Children's Clothing.

Come in and inspect our FALL LINE, and you will find it complete in every respect. Quality, Style, Workmanship and Prices guaranteed. You can see where ours excel at a glance. Many years experience in the Clothing business enables us to buy very close; our expenses are low, and we are always satisfied with Small Profits, this is positive proof that our prices are ROCK BOTTOM.

ROLFES & WACHS, RELIABLE CLOTHIERS

S. W. Cor. Pike & Madison Ave. Covington, Ky.

QUEEN & CRESCENT.



During the Tennessee Centennial and International Exposition at Nashville, Tenn., a low rate special tarift has been established for the sale of tickets from Cincinnati and other terminal points on the Queen & Crescent Route.

Tickets are on sale daily until further notice to Chattanooga at $6.75 one way or $7.20 round trip from Cincinnati, the round trip tickets being good seven days to return; other tickets, with longer return limit, at $9.90 and $13.50 for the round trip.

These rates enable the public to visit Nashville and other Southern points at rates never before offered. Vestibuled trains of the finest class are at the disposal of the passenger, affording a most pleasant trip, and enabling one to visit the very interesting scenery and important battle-grounds in and about Chicdamauga, Lookout Mountain and Chickamauga National Millitary Park. Tickets to Nashville to visit the Centennial can be repurchased at Chattanooga for $3.40 round trip. Ask your ticket agent for tickets via Cincinnati and the Q. & C. Route South or write to

W. C. RINEARSON, G. P. Agt., Cincinnati, O.

W. N. HIND & CO.

213 W. FIFTH ST. Cincinnati, O.

THE LEAGUE INSTITUTE,

VERONA, KENTUCKY.

N. E. HAMILTON, Principal.

The Term for 1897-98,

Begins Sept., 20th, 1897.

Administrator's Notice.

All persons indebted to the estate of Jordon Beemon, deceased, must come forward and settle, and all those having claims against said estate must present them to the undersigned, proven according to law.

G. W. DELPH, Adm'r.

Administratrix Notice.

All those having claims against the estate of W. B. Grubbs, deceased, are hereby notified to present them to me proven according to law, and those owing said estate will come forward and settle same at once.

Mrs. CATHARIN GRUBBS,
Sept. 1, 1897. Administratrix.

Subscribe for the Recorder.

Special inducements are offered pupils, who have graduated upon the Common School Branches.

FOR SALE--This Fall.

STRAWBERRY PLANTS.

Bubach No. 5. P. Greenville P.
Parker Earl, Haverlan,
And other Varieties.

LIGHT BRAHMA FOWLS.

Blackberry & Raspberry Sprouts.

For further information write to
WM. C. ROUSE, Dinsburg, Ky.

Local News.

Next Monday is county court and political speaking in Burlington.

A first-class country club is now a match for the Cincinnati league team.

Your attention is called to the advertisement of Christian Becker, boot and shoemaker, at Union.

The poultry dealers, who are in castle Crisler, were visited by quite a delegation of friends, Sunday.

H. G. Gaines took a premium at the Owenton fair, on his three and under four year old harness mare.

J. F. Blyth purchased of R. L. Bradford, of Hebron, agent for the Keystone Buggy Co., a nice carriage

Quittman & Co., of Cincinnati, will be in Burlingtonagain next Monday to buy horses and mules, blemished or unblemished.

Dudley Rouse is building quite a reservoir on his farm south of town. He is determined to have an abundance of stock water.

TO CURE A COLD IN ONE DAY.
Take Laxative Bromo Quinine Tablets. All druggists refund the money if it fails to cure. 25c

Elder W. T. Davidson will preach at Pt. Pleasant, on the second Saturday night in October, and Sunday morning and afternoon following.

Had this part of the country had rain in proportion to the dust that has prevailed, water would have been extremely abundant all summer.

The news was received here, one day last week, announcing the destruction by fire of the house of C. C. Graves, at Calwood, Missouri. Nothing, except one feather bed, was saved.

There was a mixup of negroes and knives over at Florence, last Sunday, and the negro who got cut in the side was worse scared than hurt. Dr. Sayer examined and dressed the wound.

R. F. Peak, of Lagrange, Oldham county, will deliver a Democratic speech here next Monday, county court day. He has the reputation of being one of the best political speakers in the State.

The directors of the North Kentucky Agricultural Association met last Saturday, and, among other things, made arrangements to have some additional work done on the exhibition ring.

Mr. James B. Tolin is calling on the business men of the county, soliciting short write-ups of their business. He is liable to call on you at any time, and will be pleased to make a trade with you.

The appointments of Rev. J. W. Harris will be the same for the coming year that they were last year, viz: 1st Sunday, Petersburg; 2d Sunday, East Bend; 3d Sunday, Taylorsport; 4th Sunday, Burlington.

TRY ME!
Snow Flake Patent Flour, Boone county straight flour. Also have plenty of mill feed and coal at very low prices. Cash for wheat and flour exchanged for wheat. BEN BELDON.
Petersburg, Ky.

Wm. Underhill, of Beaver Lick, died of typhoid fever on the 22d inst. He belonged to the Union Masonic Lodge, by which order he was buried on the 23d. A good citizen has been called to his reward, and his place in the community will be hard to fill.

The Francesville ball team came over, last Saturday afternoon, and was given another defeat by the Burlington aggregation, the score being 15 to 9. The Bulington team has been very successful this season, owing to Captain Kirkpatrick's skill as the leading official.

Dennis Craig with a pistol, and John Lewis Henderson with a stone hammer, had a stormy interview down on Gunpowder, last Saturday, and the reports about it are so conflicting that we do not know what the facts are. The parties will be arraigned before Judge Stephens to morrow.

A Madison, Indiana, officer was in town, last Friday, wanting the VonGundy boy who is in jail here, charged with housebreaking. He had been engaged in the same business down about Madison, and one of his pals, who was captured, gave him away. Of course VonGundy could not be surrendered to the Indiana officer.

H. W. Harrison, dentist, of Rising Sun, Ind., will be in Burlington on the first and third Monday in each month, to do work for those who wish anything in his line. He will be here two days each visit. He is a son of the late R. F. Harrison, of Carrollton, and a graduate of the Pennsylvania College of Dentistry at Philadephia. He is

ELECTION NOTICE.—The next regular election for officers of the Farmers' Mutual Insurance Company of Boone County, will be held at their office in Burlington, on the first Monday in October next (October 4th). All policy holders are entitled to a vote and one additional vote for each $500 worth of property insured above $500
OSCAR GAINES, Secretary.

PERSONAL MENTION.

R. L. Huey was in town Monday.

B. L. Northcutt, of Walton, was in town, Monday.

Mr. Add Robbins was visiting Jeff Eddins and wife, Sunday.

J. C. Revill and D. E. Castleman have been killing squirrels in their yards.

John Q. Elston and wife, of Hathaway, were visiting Mrs. F. A. Hall, Sunday.

L. N. Crigler and wife, and Charles Keith, of Covington, were in town Sunday.

Al Smith, representing a Louisville stationery house, was in town Monday morning.

Robt. L. Willis and wife, of the Big Bone neighborhood, were in Burlington, last Friday.

Sheriff Roberts and family were visiting in the Walton neighborhood the first of this week.

Misses Annie and Lelia Cowen are visiting Esq. James A. Cowen and family, of Gallatin county.

Miss Katie Smith is visiting her brother, A. W. Smith and family, in the Verona neighborhood.

Rev. Harris preached here last Sunday, it being his first sermon on his second year on this circuit.

Zeke Aylor and wife, of the Francesville neighborhood, were visiting Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Smith, Sunday.

O. J. Ryle is now a full fledged collector and salesman for the Singer Sewing Machine Co., in this county.

Misses Ella Duncan and Catharine Furlong and Mrs. Corda Clutterbuck, visited Ke-o-me-zo Springs, Saturday.

Richmond Reed, of Covington, has the contract for painting the Boone House when the remodeling is completed.

James Gaines and wife, of the Petersburg "deestrict," were visiting H. W. Blyth and Atty. Sidney Gaines, last Saturday and Sunday.

Dr. H. C. Jasper and wife, of Richmond, Kentucky, returned home, last Monday, after a visit of several days with Mrs. Jasper's relatives, of this county.

J. J. Huey, Chas. Mauer and Hugh Arnold, members of Alline Lodge, I. O. O. F., at McVille, were guests of Viola Lodge, at the meeting last Saturday night.

Will Riddell and a friend came out from Cincinnati on their wheels, Sunday morning, arriving in time to satisfy a sharpened appetite with a good breakfast.

W. T. Snyder, the veteran revenue man of this county, was in town Friday. He is now taking an enforced vacation, but expects to be assigned to duty again.

Bennie Kelly and family, and Chas. Kelly and family, residing down on the East Bend road, were visiting James Kelly and wife, of the Hebron neighborhood, Sunday.

Quint Wilson, of Bloomington, Ill., was a guest of Henry Phipps and wife, a day or two last week. He has resided in the West for many years, but he is yet the Quint of old.

James L. Clore was laid up several days last week, with a lame mouth. He had eight old snags of teeth extracted, and the operation left the gums in a very badly impaired condition.

Mrs. X. W. Culbertson and Mrs. Wallace Riggs, of Covington, were visiting in Burlington, last Saturday. Mrs. Culbertson was born in Burlington, and was a daughter of Jack Perkins.

Samuel Sederberg, of Taylorsport, was in town Monday, and reported everthing lovely in that bailiwick. He says his neighbor, Paschal Smith, who is in his 92d year, is enjoying good health.

Assessor Brady is making his annual official calls again. Be ready to give him the information he seeks when he comes, and let him pass on and complete the circuit before bad weather overtakes him.

Miss Anna, daughter of Mr. A. G. Winston, of Hebron, arrived home, last week, after nearly a year's sojourn in Europe and Australia. She had a delightful visit, and returned with her health greatly improved.

O. N. Grant, Bellevue's up-to-date druggist, passed through town on his wheel, Monday afternoon, on his way to the city. Since the river got so low there is no certainty in the boats, and he took the overland route.

Jeff Eddins tells a good joke on himself in trying to make an exchange over the telephone, of a pair of misfit pants. He called up the wrong house and the conversation grew so hot that it melted the wire before the exchange could break the connection.

Mrs. Sallie Adams, of Big Bone, returned home, last Saturday, after a week's visit with County Clerk Adams and wife. While here she and Mrs. B. W. Adams had a very pleasant visit in the Limaburg neighborhood, calling on E. J. Utz and wife, John P. Utz and family and Jerry Beemon and wife.

J. O. Griffith, of the Beaver Lick neighborhood, sold tobacco on the Cincinnati breaks, last week, at prices ranging from $7 40 to $13 75 per hundred, realizing a very handsome profit on the tobacco. J. C. Hughes, of the same neighborhood, also made some very profitable sales of the weed, last week.

Clarence Kirkpatrick, formerly of Burlington, but who is now, and has been for several years, a citizen of Broad Ripple, Indiana, came very near being in the recent terrible explosion at that place. He started for the scene of the terrible disaster as soon as he heard the first explosion, and just before his arrival the second occurred. He says he will never get over seeing some of his acquaintances perish in the flames that drove back the rescuing party of which he was one.

Mr. S. C. Hammond, editor of the Arkansas Times, Van Buren, Arkansas, was in Burlington, last Friday, enroute home with his wife and three children, who have been visiting Mrs. Hammond's relatives in this county since last June. Mrs. Hammond is a daughter of Mrs. Anna Rice, of the Waterloo neighborhood. Mr. Hammond is a young man and is, apparently, well supplied with that vim and push which characterizes the successful "Westerner." The RECORDER was glad to meet him.

Corn cutters are having a picnic.

The work on the hotel is moving on.

The base ball season is nearing the close.

Come out next Monday and hear the speaking.

FOR SALE—15 good hogs will weigh from 75 to 100 pounds.
ED BERKSHIRE.

WANTED—Help in the Domestic Department of the League Institute.
Address N. E. Hamilton,
Verona, Ky.

Geo. Blyth presented the Recorder with a samble box of the Oxnard Beet sugar manufactured at Grand Island Nebraska. It looks like a good article of granulated sugar to one not a judge of sugars.

Go to John Schmidt, the Shoemaker, to have your harness repaired. Boots and Shoes made to order. Repairing a specialty. All work guaranteed.

The Ladies' Mite Society are in receipt of a letter from D. H. Baldwin & Co in regard to the condition of the piano loaned them for their recent entertainment. The letter says: "In the wagon the piano was put on delivery, it had to be laid flat on its back, and in doing so the soft pedal stick got out of place which caused the soft pedal effect, consequently, it gave the piano a muffled tone. We are sorry this little accident happened, but, of course it was not our fault." With this satisfactory explanation on the part of the Messrs. D. H. Baldwin & Co., the ladies desire to thank them for the use of the instrument, and regret the accident that impaired the tone of the piano.

In the death of Mr. Albert Corbin, of Bellevue, on the 21st inst., the county lost another good cititzen. Mr. Corbin had an extensive acquaintance in the county and sorrow will enter the heart of each. He was a man of convictions upon every question, and was outspoken in his advocacy of that which he believed to be right, and there was no deception in his composition. He was a soldier in two wars, having served his country in the war with Mexico, and when the rebellion broke out he espoused the cause of the Southern Confederacy, and was soon among the ranks of those who marched and fought beneath the stars and bars, remaining at the front until the last hope of success faded away. Albert Corbin was a native of this county, and was one of her gallant sons. He was a member of Sardis Baptist church at Union, and was a firm believer in the doctrine enunciated by that church, and as long as his health permitted he was one of the most punctual attendants of the membership. A widow, three daughters—Miss Amelia, Mrs. Orlando Snyder and Mrs. D. M. Snyder—and two sons, M. J. and Benjamin Corbin, survive Mr. Corbin. The burial took place from the residence, last Thursday afternoon, after a brief religious service conducted by Rev. T. L. Utz, a neighbor and friend of the deceased, and friends from nearly every neighborhood in the county were present to accompany the remains to their last earthly abode.

W. M. RACHAL & CO.,

A REGULAR KLONDIKE.

No use going to Alaska when you can find a regular Klondike in the way of VALUES at OUR STORE. Notwithstanding the big advance in nearly all lines, we shall continue to give customers the benefit of our advantage of having bought largely before the advance.

PROOF!
Ladies Fine Shoes, per pair 75c.—worth double the money.

UNION, KENTUCKY.

We know perfectly well that you will buy your goods where you can Get the Most for Your Money
and where the most will also be good. Knowing this we wouldn't be foolish enough to tell you we keep good goods at the Lowest Prices
if it wasn't so. Bring in your produce and we will take it same as cash.
For this week—ARBUCKLE COFFEE, per lb. 10c.
UNION, - - - - KENTUCKY.

For Sale or Rent.

Good Stock Farm of 170 acres. Money rent in cash, if rented.
Wm. C. HENSLEY.

THE GRAND Millinery Opening
—OF—
Miss Lula B. Rice,
Walnut St. bet. High & Railroad,
Lawrenceburg, - - Indiana,
Oct. 7th & 8th, 1897.

I have secured a first-class trimmer from Cincinnati and will have prices within reach of all. Will display fine IMPORTED PATTERNS.

FOURTH YEAR.
OF WALTON ACADEMY,
—OPENS—
MONDAY, SEPTEMBER 6th, 1897
AT WALTON, KY.
Three Courses of Study to choose from:
English, Scientific or Classical,
Tuition per month,...$2.50 and $3.00
Vocal and Instrumental Music at moderate rates.
We have a fine, new building with rooms for pupils, connected.—Board only $2.50 per week, or $2.00 for 5 days.
Thorough, Substantial Work
Guaranteed.
Teachers { Mrs. S. H. MYERS. CHAS. F. PRIOR. Rev. S. H. MYERS.
Further information gladly given by mail or interview.

Steam :-: Ferry
—AT—
TAYLORSPORT.
I now have in operation at Taylorsport, a NEW, COMMODIOUS and SWIFT Steam Ferry Boat, equal to the best on the River. New Approaches on each side of the river. Prompt services rendered the public by experienced and accommodating employes.
S. H. GOODIN.

BOOTS & SHOES
MADE TO ORDER
Work Strictly First-Class.
Prices to Suit the Times.
Harness, Boots and Shoes Neatly Repaired. Give me a trial.
CHRISTIAN BECKER,
29sept2m Union, Ky.

MONTHLY SUFFERING.

Thousands of women are troubled at monthly intervals with pains in the head, back, breasts, shoulders, sides hips and limbs. But they need not suffer.
These pains are symptoms of dangerous derangements that can be corrected. The menstrual function should operate painlessly.
McELREE'S
Wine of Cardui
makes menstruation painless, and regular. It puts the delicate menstrual organs in condition to do their work properly. And that stops all this pain. Why will any woman suffer month after month when Wine of Cardui will relieve her? It costs $1.00 at the drug store. Why don't you get a bottle to-day?
For advice, in cases requiring special directions, address, giving symptoms, "The Ladies' Advisory Department," The Chattanooga Medicine Co., Chattanoogs, Tenn.
Mrs. ROZENA LEWIS, of Groveville, Texas, says: "I was troubled at monthly intervals with terrible pains in my head and back, but have been entirely relieved by Wine of Cardui."

W. E. CHAMBERLAIN,
DEALER IN UP TO DATE
FURNITURE,
HOUSEHOLD FURNISHINGS, ETC.,
HIGH STREET,
Lawrenceburg, - Indiana.
—HAUCK BUILDING.—
Stylish and Durable Oak BED ROOM SUITS,
All-Oak SIDE BOARDS, As Handsome as the Finest.
INGRAIN CARPETS,
BRUSSELS CARPETS.
W. E. CHAMBERLAIN,
LAWRENCEBURG, INDIANA.

Knippenberg & Fike,
Carriage and Wagon Makers,
Repairing, Painting & Trimming.
ALL WORK GUARANTEED.
Foot of Walnut Street,
Lawrenceburg, - - - Indiana.

Buy COFFEE and TEA of the J. L. BILL COFFEE & TEA CO., a Ticket given with every 25c purchase and handsome presents given away.
The J. L. BILL
Coffee and Tea Co.
THE BEST BRANDS OF FLOUR.
12 W. Seventh & S. E. Cor. Sixth & Bakewell,
COVINGTON, KY.
WM. F. NEAD, Salesman.

SENSATIONAL BARGAINS!
Clothing Sacrificed! See!
A full Suit of Men's Clothing for only, ...$3.50, worth double, and this is only a sample.
We invite inspection all along the line.....
Shoes, Tinware, Groceries, Dress Goods, Etc.

MILLINERY
Ladies, you will be surprised to see the nice things we have to offer you, and prices are waydown.
In fact we have a full line of General Merchandise, and prices are in keeping with the times.
We Guarantee Quality Also.
COME AND SEE,
T. J. HUGHES, - BEAVER LICK, KY.

TAKE YOUR OWN COUNTY PAPER.
Only $1.50 per Year.

THE RECORDER

W. L. RADDELL, Publisher.

BURLINGTON . . . KY.

IN MEMORIAM.

The golden gates swung wide that summer morning,
As through the portals passed an angel blest,
Bearing a message from the highest Heavens:
"Come, faithful soul, come unto me and rest."
You knew him not, although he stood beside her,
And, bending lowly, whispered in her ear:
You could not see him clasp his arm about her,
You only knew—the world grew dark and drear.

And yet the angel kissed her brow so weary,
And pressed the fevered hands with loving care,
And saw the dear face catch the radiant brightness,
Nor guessed why it had grown so wondrous fair:
But ah! the weary days and years that followed
The listening for the well-beloved voice,
The call of "Mother," and the painful silence,
The wondering that the world could still rejoice.

But day by day you understood more clearly
The gift God sent her on that summer day;
His angel cast life's garments from about us,
And care and pain forever rolled away.
He gently took from out her tired fingers
The vari-colored web and woof of time,
He touched her heart, with God's dear name engraven,
And bowed his head before her faith sublime.

And then he raised her on his shining pinions
While yet you knelt, bowed down with grief and fears,
Far, far above—she did not hear you weeping,
For God's own music burst upon her ears.
God gave her rest. For you the lonely waiting,
The taking up the broken threads of life,
While starlike shines this hope amid the darkness,
He knoweth best. His peace will follow strife.

He knoweth best. The while our feet are stumbling
Along life's rugged road, and at our side
The loved ones faint and falter on the journey
Or in the darkness sink into the tide.
Still through the vista of a darkened future,
Faith lights the pathway upward to God's throne,
He knoweth best—with Him in all His glory
Some day He will unite us to our own.

—Margaret H. Puneh, in Boston Budget.

The "Extry's" Promotion.

BY OSBORN SPENCER.

[Copyright, 1897.]

WIDOW O'BRIEN saw that her son Patsy was bothered the moment he entered the house. It was early—so early that the first gray dawn of the short winter day had hardly yet made itself visible. He had just finished his night's work at the office of "The Morning Moon," where, though he was quite to be carried copy and proofs till the paper went to press, and then helped in the mailing department. She was all ready to start out for a day's work at the washtub, but, as usual, stopped long enough to hear the story of the night before, which Patsy told while he ate the cold snack she had ready for him.

"And what's gone wrong now, Patsy?" she queried, with motherly solicitude.

"Sure, mother dear," he replied reassuringly, "it's no trouble of me own this time. It's me friend, Morton, the extra reporter I've told ye of, that's run up agin hard luck, and it's meself that's been tryin' to think of a plan to help him out, all the way home. But me head's as thick as a two-inch plank, this morning, and I see no way to do it at all.

"Ye see they're a-givin' Mr. Morton a chance, they say. And that manes that whinever there's annyone of the reporters away from the office for a day, Morton, he comes in. That gives him work four or five days in the week sometimes, and he was to be made a 'regular' like the others, bimeby, if he done well. But the day before yesterday he was adoin' of the po-lice in Wilbur's place and somehow he didn't hear anything about a beautiful big burglary that was printed in 'The Daily Sperad Eagle' in the mornin' and now the regular reporters is all a-sayin' his name is 'Dinnis' and 'Mud' and so on and he'll never get a regular job. Worse yet, he may lose his place as extra."

"Hold up a minute, Patsy dear," his mother broke in. "Is it this Mr. Morton that's treated you so well in the office?"

"Sure it's him that's the only man that didn't folly in the lead of that erumptious Mr. Colley Thompson the sportin' editor whin he called me 'Pe-ter,' the day I first set me fut in the office, and by the same token that's why I like Mr. Morton so well and why I've swore to get even with that scrumptious Mr. Colley Thompson. And it's your own plan, mother dear, that's workin' so well with that fine gintleman. Youse told me the best way to even up with him was to make him help me along faster than he wanted to and said I could do that best by being of use to him.

"But, anyway I'm likin' him much better this mornin' than ever before for he's feelin' as bad about Mr. Morton's hard luck as I am meself. He's not a bit like them regular reporters, and he gave them a talkin' to just before everybody left the office that made them look sick and done me heaps of good. If there's annyone thing Mr. Colley Thompson prides himself on it's his 'eloquint 'eabulary,' which means that he uses lots of big words when he spits. Well, he let his 'eabulary loose on them fellers all right, sure. I can't use all his big words, but I'll try to tell you about it.

"He walks into the city room where they was gathered about the big table they all work around and listens for awhile to them a-chewin' of the rag about poor Morton. And then he looks at them with a smile of conscientious sooperiority and then he says:

"'I've got a few chunks of information to present frappay' (that means freesh' cold, mother, dear) 'to youse buddin journalists that youse may not like to hear, and one of them is that no matter if Morton did get left on that burglary he's got more good newspaper stuff in one of his little fingers than all of youse put together. Maybe he'll get the sack over this thing, but I've got direct and special information that the solid and influential citizen who owns this sheet thinks there's more style in one of Morton's articles than in all the rest of the paper, outside of the work of myself in the department devoted to the noble arts of sport and of my distinguished colleague, the editor in chief. In the columns given over to politics. And youse may all put it in your pipes and smoke it, that no matter what happens to Morton just now, he'll be a-writin' literatoor while yous're still reporting local news.'"

"Well, Patsy," said his mother, as her son gave pause to begin on the cold snack, "it's altogether too bad, so it is, and I wish I could think of some way ye might help Mr. Morton out, but I can't, I'm afraid. I know somethin' about rubbin clothes on the board, but mighty little about newspapers, for sure. And by the same token I must be gettin' away if I want to begin me work early."

As she spoke she opened the back door of the little house to go out by the alleyway. From a door a broad beam of yellow lamplight streamed across the narrow passage, brightly illuminating a sort of niche under the flight of outside stairs on the building opposite.

"Patsy," she called, "come here a minute. What's that, over there under the stairs: a basket? Let's have a look at it, anyhow."

Patsy ran out of the house and across the alley and kicked the object to which his mother had drawn attention. As he did so he heard a clicking sound, as of metal.

"Let's take it into the house," he whispered, breathless with a sudden suspicion. "It feels heavy to me fut and it sounds—"

Before the sentence was finished they had the weighty basket inside the little house and were stripping off its covering of burlap. Then the widow began to take spoons and pepper boxes, forks and soup ladles, all of shining silver, from the basket's depths.

"Begob!" cried Patsy, in his excitement, using an ejaculation which he had been trying to leave off ever since the beginning of his service on the Morning Moon, "what d'ye think? Maybe this is the very silver them burglars stole. It was Judge Rollins' house they broke into, and here it is! Here's the 'R' on the spoons! See that? We'll help out Mr. Morton yet!"

"YE'RE AS EXCITED AS ME, EVERY BIT, MOTHER DEAR."

"Sure, Patsy," interrupted his mother, "spake lower, plaze, and tell me: How is our findin' the silver to help out Mr. Morton? And tell me how was it that they hid it right here in the alley? And what—"

"Ye're as excited as me, every bit, mother, dear," cried Patsy, "or ye'd give me time to answer wan question afore ye fired another wan at me. We'll keep the silver here all day, and the thief'll come to get it at night, and then we'll have him arrested and will have Mr. Morton help detect the thief, and he'll get a big scoop on the Daily Spread Eagle, and then he won't lose his place.

"How was it that the burglars left the stuff here? Why, they was a-movin' the basket last night, and got scared of a noise or something, and for fear of bein' caught, and seein' it was dark under them stairs, they hid it in a hurry, never dreamin' annybody'd see it there. And sure nobody would have seen it if you hadn't opened the door just right, to let the lamplight shine across the alley. An'—"

"But, Patsy," interrupted the widow, again, "I do'se thinkin' we'd better turn it over to the po-lice right now and not wait for Mr. Morton. Suppose somewan finds we have the basket in our possession, isn't possession nine points of the law? And won't they be thinkin' maybe we're the thieves—"

"Sure, mother," cried Patsy, "we'll chance it, won't we? Nobody'll think we have it here, and we'll shove it right back here in the cupboard and you'll go to work while I start out to find the scrumptious Mr. Colley Thompson and get him to help me help Morton pinch the thieves when they come.

"All right, Patsy," said the widow, secretly pleased with her son's thought fulness for Mr. Morton, "but it's along to say 'pinch' since you've been on the Mornin' Moon; 'arrest' would be better. And you've want to look out for some sleep before the day is over, sure."

And so the two parted, the widow to her tubs, and her son on his way to help the "extra" who called him Patsy and not Peleg. This was not so easy a matter as Patsy had thought. He hadn't the slightest idea where "the scrumptious Mr. Colley Thompson" lived, and it was quite noon before he found out. After that they both had to go hunting for Morton's lodgings, and when he had been found a plan had to be devised by which the arrest could be made and the news preserved from the Daily Spread-Eagle. It was Thompsons day off, and he went straight to the police office, where as an old-time police reporter he was well known, and was sworn in as a 'special.' Then a large and varied assortment of handcuffs was secured, for no one could tell how many would come for the basket. Half a dozen men from the Morning Moon's pressrooms and elsewhere were called in as deputies, so that there should be help enough in case the burglars were numerous, the forms were ordered left open late if the thieves should be dilatory, and Morton was set to writing the story.

"I'll run this enterprise," declared Thompson, "but you must be historian and you must get plenty of snap into your story. It'll be the best scoop in a year, if we have no more bad luck and you'll get off the extra list fast enough, but it'll be to go on as regular, sure."

In order to lure the burglars into the trap the basket was emptied of the silverware, filled with stones, and, with the covering all in place was set out again in the niche under the stairs. This was done before night, of course, and as quietly as possible. A little after dark the vigil began. Every man who passed through the little alley was watched as suspects had never been watched before, but the guilty parties did not appear till near midnight, and when they did they wore skirts. Twice the two women, as they seemed to be, sauntered through the alley, apparently paying no attention to the basket. The first time no attention was paid to them because of their dress. Their return through the alley made the watchers suspicious, however, and when they came back the third time everything was in readiness. As they stooped to lift the basket the ambushed forces sprang forward and in a twinkling both men, for the skirts were only worn as disguise, were thrown off their feet, and, after a short, sharp and decisive struggle, the "bracelets" were fastened on their wrists.

Patsy was of the party, of course, having begged a night off, and in a moment he was on his way to "The Morning Moon" office with the first part of Morton's "story" held tight in his hand. After that it was all a matter of mere detail. The thieves were taken into the little house and held until it was too late for "The Daily Spread Eagle" to get any of the news and then the regular police were called in and the culprits locked up in a stronger prison than the widow's little home.

And before the newsboys finished calling out: "Full account of burglars captured" Morton knew he was no longer an "extry" but a full-fledged "regular" on the city staff of "The Morning Moon."

HOME CATECHISM.

Most Men Would Have Avoided Trouble by More Skillful Answers.

A good many hundreds and even thousands of long-suffering husbands can bear sorrowful testimony to the fact that this is the sort of catechism the wives of their bosoms subject them to every time they put on their hats to go out in the evening:

"Where are you going?"

"O, I'm going out for a few minutes."

"Where?"

"O, nowhere in particular."

"What for?"

"O, nothing."

"Why do you go then?"

"Well, I want to go; that's why."

"Do you have to go?"

"I don't know that I do."

"Why do you go, then?"

"Because."

"Because what?"

"Well, simply because."

"Going to be gone long?"

"No."

"How long?"

"I don't know."

"Anybody going with you?"

"No."

"Well, it's strange that you can't be content to stay at home a few minutes. Don't be gone long, will you?"

"No."

"See that you don't."

This is one reason why so many marriages are a dead flat fizzle and failure.—Philadelphia Times.

ADMISSIONS OF GOLD ORGANS.

Windy Arguments That Have Been Exploded.

Nothing is more certain than the fact that the gold organs are compelled to pay a fancy price for evidence of returning prosperity resulting from the higher price of wheat and the sympathetic rise of other commodities.

They have been compelled to get rid of the remains of several car loads of exploded theories and arguments. They have been driven to applaud what they have heretofore denounced, a "depreciated" dollar—"cheap money"—for the dollar will not buy nearly so much wheat as it bought awhile ago, and it will buy only half as much wool.

In fine, the gold organs have been compelled to take refuge in the arguments which the free coinage men have been employing, to-wit: that higher prices are an evidence of prosperity; that low prices are an evidence of hard times; that prosperity to be real, must begin with the farmers and those who depend on them; that the prosperity of the farmers and their dependents can only come from profitable prices for their products; and that even when the dollar cheapens or depreciates with respect to only two products of the farm —wheat and wool—the result is beneficial.

The Constitution is very glad to see the gold organs climb over the fence and take position with the democrats on these elemental and basic propositions—not because the admission is of any real importance, but because it presents these organs in a more ridiculous attitude than they have ever occupied before, impossible as that may seem.

A few months ago they were showing that higher prices would be a very severe blow to the workingmen, and to all who depend on wages. They presented long columns of windy arguments to prove that the comfort of the wage-earners depended on low prices; that the low prices then prevailing were the natural and inevitable result of the progress of civilization and enlightenment, and that higher prices were the result of "depreciated" currency, "dishonest" dollars.

And yet, the moment that the dollar depreciates with respect to wheat and wool, two prime necessities to the working people, the windy arguments of the gold organs explode like inflated paper bags in the hands of naughty schoolboys—they explode, and that is the end of them. Therefore, owing to the depreciation of the dollar, we have a new and a better condition. We are to have higher prices for food and winter clothing, even if the working people do not get higher wages.

Thus it falls out that the arguments of the democrats are proven to be sound, and the result is applauded by those who denied absolutely the truth of them. We have higher prices for some of the products of the farm, and the result is a distinct note of prosperity, to which the whole country is promptly responsive.

But how much better it would be for the country if the symptoms of better times now apparent had something more substantial behind them than dependence on continued failure of the wheat crops in Europe, India and Argentina. Should those countries be blessed next year with even average crops of wheat, the present price of our wheat cannot of course, be sustained. But notwithstanding the fact that such prosperity as we are enjoying is entirely providential in character, we should make the most of it and rejoice at it. While so doing we should strengthen and fortify ourselves by taking measures to give permanence to prosperity by reforming our currency system and putting it on a solid and substantial basis. A cheaper dollar, the result of bimetallism, is no less sound or honest than the cheaper dollar resulting from short crops in Europe or from tariff legislation. That is a fact which must be clear to the dullest mind.—Atlanta Constitution.

PRESS COMMENTS.

——The McKinley bill has its Homestead and the Dingley bill has its Hazleton.—Des Moines Leader.

——There is more retaliation than reciprocity under the McKinley administration.—Kingston Leader.

——It is thought that Mr. Hanna is personally responsible for the high price of wheat.—Atlanta Constitution.

——The misfortunes of other nations tend to promote American prosperity, in spite of the Dingley tariff.—Albany Argus.

——The thanks which should be given to Almighty God for abundant harvests seem to be tendered by republican organs to McKinley and Dingley.—Newburg Register.

——There is a gradually but steadily-growing impression that as a president Mr. McKinley is, to borrow an expression from the vernacular of the street, a "four flusher."—Wheeling Register.

——The anxiety shown by Speaker Reed and Secretary Gage to reply to the arguments of Bland and Bryan takes the edge off their assertions that the silver question is dead.—St. Louis Republic.

——There is no mystery about the coincidence of high tariffs and labor troubles. Labor revolts upon being told that it won't get any of the apple and that there "isn't going to be any, core."—Chicago Chronicle.

——The National Republican league has offered its services to Senator Hanna in his campaign for reelection. The league may be of some little assistance, but the astute Ohio manager relies upon the "almighty dollar" as the agency that will carry him through if anything can.—Manchester (N. H.) Union.

——Speaker Reed's elaborate picture of adversity and prosperity playing leapfrog since the foundation of the government gives rise to the suspicion that the republican party hasn't been a-doin' of its duty with regularity and dispatch in allowing adversity to have a jump at any stage of the game.—Louisville Post.

PAYING THE BILLS.

President McKinley Now Discharging Campaign Debts.

Upon President McKinley alone rests the blame for the disgraceful act of his administration in appointing to the important post of naval officer of the customs at New Orleans Henry Demas, a disreputable negro politician.

In a case of this sort the president cannot shift the responsibility to the shoulders of too pliant subordinates; nor can he offer as excuse for the blunder personal ignorance of the unfitness of the appointee. The best citizens of Louisiana, irrespective of politics, joined in a protest against Demas. They sent delegations to the president armed fully with the private and official record of the man. He made the appointment with a full knowledge of Demas' character. Proofs of the facts were laid before Maj. McKinley and are now in his possession, and he has admitted that he has read them and "was worried" by them.

With all these facts before him it will naturally be asked why the president of the United States should have raised to official dignity a man whose mode of life is a constant offense to decent people. The answer is not far to seek. The president made the appointment to fulfill a bargain made between Demas on one hand and William McKinley Osborne and Mark Hanna on the other. Demas and several of his "pals" were pledged and even sworn to support Reed in the St. Louis convention, and Osborne bought Demas with cash furnished by Hanna and a promise of this office.

President McKinley has now made himself an active partner in this bargain, shocking in itself, but vastly more shocking in view of the character of the man with whom the president of the United States has locked arms.

The appointment is so insulting to common decency that all elements of Louisiana citizens are preparing to fight confirmation in the senate. From reports of the widespread indignation which it has aroused in Louisiana it is evident that the act has not in it even the poor merit of "good politics." While the affair is lamentable and in its wickedness amounts to a national disgrace, yet there are in it the possibilities of good to the country. It is another exemplification of the dangers of syndicate politics, especially when controlled by a man like Hanna. It will also in working out disastrous results to McKinley and his party impress upon the minds of all politicians the truth of the old Latin proverb: "Nothing is profitable which is not honest."—St. Louis Republic.

THE SHAME OF OHIO.

Boss Hanna's Vulgarity and Demagoguery.

Senators Foraker and Hanna, at Burton, O., made a joint offer to convince the people that Hanna is the best man in that great state to succeed the eminent Sherman, and worthy of a place even among those illustrious senators of the past—Ewing and Wade and Corwin, Chase and Pendleton and Sherman.

In frank and fulsome praise of Hanna, Foraker was not so extravagant as Hanna himself. Still Foraker let drop no hint of his hatred and jealousy of his rival for the control of the Ohio republican machine. And together this precious pair succeeded in proving beyond a doubt that, while each is a fit colleague for the other, neither is worthy of a place for which dignity, sincerity and statesmanship should be indispensable qualifications.

Hanna's speech will be a shock to the moral sentiment of the country. There have been other senators and other senatorial candidates of the type of this boodle-fund collector and partner of Wimberly, Cohen and Demas. But when in any of our great states has such a one stood before an intelligent and moral people and appealed to them on the very ground of his public immorality and exhibited to them the fulness of his vulgarity, his demagoguery, his hypocrisy and his colossal vanity?

I saved the country; I discovered McKinley and elected him; I love the workingmen; rally round the flag and support me—these are specimen sentiments that give a faint idea of the tone of his harangue.

In Ohio that was a black-letter day of shame.—N. Y. World.

A Foreign Trade Showing.

The recent heavy outflow of breadstuffs and the diminution of imports of merchandise due to overstocking before the passage of the Dingley law are reflected in a very remarkable foreign trade statement for August. Exports of domestic merchandise exceeded those of the corresponding month last year by $13,000,000. On the other hand, imports were the smallest recorded in any month for more than 18 years, so that the merchandise balance in our favor for the month is nearly $40,000,000. For the eight months of the calendar year ending with August the exports were $62,000,000 larger than in the same period of last year, but the inrush of foreign goods in advance of the new tariff legislation results in an increase of $75,000,000 of imports, so that the balance for the eight months is $14,500,000 against us. It is notable that of the $75,000,000 increased imports all but $9,000,000 was in nondutiable goods, largely wool, which came in free of duty under the Wilson law.—N. Y. Herald.

——Long ago it became apparent that the wholesale denudation of our forest lands was the source of great injury to many interests. Arbor day has been instuted in a number of states for the purpose of teaching the young how necessary the trees are to vast interests that cannot safely be overlooked. The lumber schedule of the Dingley bill was regarded as a menace to those interests, and effort was made to prevent its adoption, but without success. A premium has been put on forest destruction.—Binghamton (N. Y.) Leader.

PITH AND POINT.

—Philanthropist—"What was the immediate cause of your fall, my good man?" The Good Man—"My sweetheart dropped me."—Boston Transcript.

—Socially Injurious.—He—"If people said just what they thought, it would do a lot of harm, wouldn't it?" She—"Well, it would reduce conversation about nine-tenths."—Puck.

—Quite Different.—Penelope—"What did he send you for a wedding present?" Pauline—"Cut glass." Penelope—"Ah, tableware, I suppose?" Pauline—"No—a necklace."—Truth.

—His Complaint.—Prisoner Reformer (to convict)—"Have you any complaint to make?" Convict—"Well, I'd be better satisfied if I wasn't locked up."—Philadelphia North American.

—Catching the Idea.—"That man wants a design for a laundry advertisement," remarked the artist thoughtfully. "What is it to be?" "All he said was that he wanted something appropriate. I guess I'll fix him up some sort of a wash drawing."—Washington Star.

—Association of Ideas.—Now it chanced that the pilgrim accosted an inhabitant of the town through which he journeyed. "It seems to me," remarked the pilgrim, "that there are a great many muddy crossings in your town." "Mere illusion, old man," answered the inhabitant. "You get that impression from so many of our ladies wearing knickerbockers or short skirts."—Detroit Journal.

—Enterprise Rewarded.—Small boy dashed breathless into a merchant's office. "Is the guv'nor in?" "Yes; what do you want?" "Must see him myself; most partikler." "But you can't; he's engaged." "Must see him immejit; most partikler." The boy's importunity got him in. "Well, boy; what do you want?" "D'yer want a office boy, sir?" "Yon impudent young young rascal! No! We've got one." "No, you ain't, sir; he's just bin run over in Cheapside." Boy engaged.—Tit-Bits.

WOMEN WANT NEW LAWS.

They Have Been Organizing in Japan to Secure Their Rights.

"The Japanese ladies are really organizing at last. They are beginning a strong movement to amend the Japanese laws so that a Japanese gentleman that supports another woman besides his legal wife can be arrested. The laws are now one sided, yes, very much one-sided. The Japanese husband can have as many wives as he pleases. Not regular wives, you understand. Japan law lets the husband marry only one wife. Otherwise, he is guilty of bigamy, same as here."

This announcement of woman's independence in the land of silent wives and maidens that won't be kissed came from S. Kishi, a young attorney of Tokio. Mr. Kishi, having practiced some time in his own city, resolved to venture forth into western lands to see how it was possible for lawyers to make an honest living in Europe and America. The study of this intricate problem detained him some weeks in San Francisco, three months in Milwaukee and some weeks in Chicago. He has now arrived in St. Paul, where he will enter the law department of the Great Northern railroad and remain several months. Eventually he will proceed to Europe.

"Formerly," continued the smiling, white-toothed law pilgrim, "that is to say, up to 25 years ago, a Japanese gentleman could have as many informal wives as he wished. He was rather proud of them and showed them in public. Now sentiment has so changed that he keeps them hid away. He would be thought very immoral to exhibit them in public. Yet he cannot be punished by law. But this exception in favor of the men is likely to be done away with. There is a commission now revising our civil code. That code is based upon the Code Napoleon, not on the English common law. Our commercial code, however, is modeled after the comercial code of Germany.

"But it is natural for woman to want less than man in Japan. We consider that she is equal to man in quality, but not in quantity. That is the way we express it. And she is always by nature different. Man is strong, rough, brave. Woman is weak, gentle, gracious, timid. She must attend to her home. Man must go out into business, into government, into war. We do not mix occupations as you do here. For example, the men ride bicycles in Japan very much more now than before. But the woman—never. A woman astride of a bicycle! It would be too rude, too bold. She should be at home, not showing herself upon the streets.

Her costume? Oh, it is almost always Japanese. Years ago, perhaps ten years, one of our cabinets thought they would help Japan abroad by persuading our people to dress like Europeans. Even the court ladies began to wear foreign dresses. But the cabinet went down. The women took back their native costumes. Now a Japanese lady most always wears her ancient costume. We find that your dresses are not convenient, as our women sit about on the floors of our little houses. But the Japanese men are using the European clothes very generally in our cities, that is, for business in government offices and in the professions. But when the men get home they take off these clothes and put on the good old Japanese robes. Then we are comfortable."—St. Paul Pioneer Press.

Buttermilk.

Once upon a time wheelmen and wheelwomen who were passing along a dusty road came upon a peasant standing among his goats.

"We should like," they said, "some buttermilk."

"Ha, ha," said the peasant. "The butter don't give milk. Ha, ha!"

This fable teaches that some people will sacrifice even the noble promptings of charity in order to be funny."—Detroit Journal.

AGRICULTURAL HINTS

THE CAMPHOR TREE.

It Can Be Planted Successfully in Some Southern States.

Camphor trees may be grown either from seed or from cuttings. They are usually grown from seed, as the trees fruit abundantly, and seedlings can be grown more easily than cuttings. The seeds are collected at maturity in October and November, and after drying are packed in sharp white sand or some similar material to keep them fresh until the time of planting in spring. About the last of March they are sown in drills in the seed bed.

The soil of the seed bed should be a good sandy loam mixed with about one-third leaf mold. The seed bed should be kept moist, but not too wet, and should be shaded from the direct rays of the sun if the weather is warm. The best soil temperature for germinating camphor seeds is from 70 to 75 degrees Fahrenheit. The temperature of the atmosphere may be ten degrees higher. The seedlings will grow well at higher temperature, but are likely to lack vigor and hardiness.

CAMPHOR TREE.

A, young leafy shoot, scale one-third; B, flower cluster, life size; C, fruit, life size.

The seedlings may be grown in pots, which will facilitate transplanting at any time, or they may be transplanted in nursery rows early in April when one year old. Plants two years old are generally regarded as best for final planting. At this age they vary from 20 to 40 inches in height.

When set out for ornamental purposes, the camphor tree may be expected to grow, in favorable situations, about as rapidly as a Le Conte pear, and to require about as much room. In Japan, where the law requires that a new tree shall be set out for every one cut, they are not generally set in straight orchard rows, but cultivation there is performed almost exclusively by hand labor. There are no records showing results of regular orchard planting, hence the distances at which trees should be planted must be determined by the size and form of the trees and the method of cultivation and of procuring the gum. They may be set closely in rows about ten feet apart, and alternate rows cut and reset every five years, thus producing bush-like plants of ten years' growth. They may be planted in checks ten feet square, and alternate trees cut every ten or twelve years, or they may be planted in larger checks, and all of the trees be cut at the age of 15 or 20 years.

There are not sufficient data obtainable now which to base definite statements as to the best methods of planting or the age at which the trees may be cut with greatest profit for the production of gum. A recent English consular report from Japan states that "although hitherto the youngest wood from which camphor was extracted was about 70 to 80 years old, it is expected that under the present scientific management the trees will give equally good results after 25 or 30 years." Camphor of good quality has been produced in Florida from the leaves and twigs of trees less than 20 years old, one pound of crude gum being obtained from 77 pounds of leaves and twigs.

The trees will endure severe pruning with little apparent injury. One-third of the leaves and young shoots may be removed at one time without materially checking the growth of the tree. The largest proportion of camphor is contained in the older, larger roots; the trunk, limbs, twigs and leaves containing successively a decreasing proportion. When the camphor tree is killed nearly to the ground by frost it sends up vigorous shoots from the base. It may be expected to do the same when cut, especially if cut late in the fall. Experiments are needed to determine whether this growth may be depended upon, or whether it will be more profitable to dig out the larger roots and set out new seedlings.—Lyster H. Dewey, Assistant in Division of Botany, Department of Agriculture.

FACTS FOR FARMERS.

Rape is said to make good hog pasture.

Bean or pea straw can be profitably baled.

Deep culture of potatoes after they are in bloom is bad business.

Diversify your farming. Never carry your eggs in one basket or two.

The corn fodder shredder is a good thing and so is the shredded corn fodder.

Time spent in preparing the ground for wheat will pay much better than you may think.

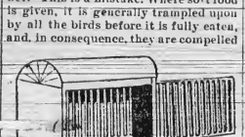
The acreage of wheat will be largely increased. That is the way to do things. When a market is good we smother it.

A young man announces in a contemporary that he wants a good strong Christian wife to take care of the chickens and garden. There is a chance of a lifetime for some girl who has strength in her arms and grace in her heart.—Western Plowman

HIVES MADE AT HOME.

Those with the Loose Pictures Are the Most Satisfactory.

The kind and size of hive is a most bewildering question for beginners. The hive to meet the demands of bee-keepers in general is the one with the least fixtures. The Quimby frame, or one of about that size, has won the favor of the apiarist in this locality. The hive we prefer is made of seven-eighth inch pine planed on both sides, 20 inch square outside measure, and 12 inches in depth, with hand holes in the sides. The upper and lower stories are alike. The front board is ⅞ inch narrower, thus leaving an entrance ⅞ by 20 inches. A slat ⅞ by ⅞ by 20 inches is used to control the size of the entrance. The bottom board has a cleat 1 by 1 inch on each end, to prevent curling around on the under side. If two boards are used they should be matched.



The rabbet on which the frames hang is furnished with improved tin. The alighting board has a cleat ⅞ by ⅞ inch on each end and is 6 by 20 inches. A piece of inch hoop iron 5 inches long is bent almost on a square; one is nailed at each end of the alighting board on the top side by one end; the other end has a three-cornered hole to be hung on two screws, one at each end, at the proper height to bring the top of the alighting board even with the lower side of the entrance. The bottom board as well as the upper and lower stories are held in place by the Van Deusen hive clamp; they may be used without. The furniture for this hive consists of a division board 11⅜ by 18⅛ inches, with top bar ½ by ⅞ by 19 inches scant measure. It is made of ½ inch lumber with a cleat ½ by ⅞ inch on each end to prevent curling. The frames are 17¼ by 11⅛ inches outside measure.

The top bar is made so as to form a comb guide and is 19 inches scant. The bottom bars are ⅜ by 1 by 16⅛ inches; the ends 11½ by 1¼ inches. The hive contains the division board and from 1 to 12 frames according to the requirements of the swarm it contains. I prefer an upper entrance to a shade board; it saves the bees going upstairs "on foot" and the result is more honey. When the flow of honey is large, as in the clover and basswood season, the upper entrance should be full size; when the second story is first set on and the flow light, the entrance should be small. When the robbers get in line of battle and when the nights become cold toward fall, the entrance should be nearly closed.—Rural World.

POULTRY FEED BOX

It Keeps the Fowls from Trampling Upon Their Rations.

Despite all that has ever been said to the contrary, the idea still prevails in some sections that poultry can get along and even thrive if their food is presented to them in the simplest manner. This is a mistake. Where soft food is given, it is generally trampled upon by all the birds before it is fully eaten, and, in consequence, they are compelled to devour a more or less amount of dirt, which is usually of such a nature as to be no good to them. In order to avoid this, I would suggest that a feedbox be made, having a door of slats made of laths, as shown herewith; also, on the side opposite from the door, I should have slats, as seen from the inside of the box. Place the food in this, shut the door, and the fowls can reach the food from each side readily between the slats, but cannot soil it. Furthermore, a dish of water can be set within it, and the fowls can reach through and drink, but they cannot pollute it as they otherwise would. By this device, stray cats and dogs have no chance of getting at the food, should it happen to be of a nature palatable to them, and stealing it away from the fowls. The semi-rotundity of the roof is to keep the fowls from roosting on it.—Frederick O. Sibley, in N. Y. Tribune.

CONVENIENT FEED BOX.

When to Plant Trees.

"Early fall is an excellent time for planting trees," writes Thomas Meehan in the Ladies' Home Journal. "By early is meant as soon as the wood is ripe and the winter buds fully formed. This is usually a month before the regular fall of the leaf. The leaves are stripped by hand. After the wood is ripe it makes no difference whether the leaves are taken off by Jack Frost, the wind or the human hand. In the eastern part of Pennsylvania this would be usually about the 1st of September, and the work of planting can be kept up during October, and often to November or December. But late fall planting in cold climates is as risky as late spring planting. The moisture is dried out by cold winds or hot suns before the great evaporation. In milder climates planting may be a success all winter."

Mechanical Effect of Drainage.

The mechanical effects of drainage are to deepen the soil and promote its more thorough pulverization. Its first effect is to dry its surface soil by drawing out of it all the surplus moisture, so that in early spring or late autumn it may be worked with the plow as advantageously as at midsummer. A wet soil can never be properly pulverized, and the plowing or working a clay soil, or even a heavy loam, when wet, tends only to puddle it and render it less pervious to water and air. Rain water contains a great quantity and variety of fertilizing substances, and it deposits them in the soil during its passage through it. Both these facts are perceptible to the senses without resorting to chemical tests.—Farmers' Review.

Good clean seed wheat is as important as clean seed of any kind

GOLD NUGGETS.

Some of the Big Ones That Have Been Found in California.

While the nugget found in the Blue Jay pocket by the Graves brothers is likely to become famous for its size and value it is not, as has been stated, the largest one known in the authentic history of mining. This nugget stands, or rather stood, for it is now being minted, for about $42,000, but saying nothing of an alleged Chilian nugget weighing 400 pounds troy, the "Welcome" nugget of Ballarat, weighing 2,217 ounces, 16 pennyweights, was sold for over £10,500, or nearly $52,500. It is even a question whether the Graves nugget is the largest one ever taken from the soil of California. According to Hittell, a nugget was found at Carson Hill, Calaveras county, in November, 1854, which weighed about 195 pounds troy and was worth over $43,000. Between the two is no very great issue of values, but what there is appears to favor the earlier specimen.

The first nugget found in this state, the one which Marshall picked up, was worth but 50 cents, and the next one discovered but five dollars. A soldier in Stevenson's regiment found the first large specimen, a mass of gold weighing between 20 and 25 pounds, while stooping to drink in a small affluent of the Mokelumne river. This nugget was taken east, where its exhibition confirmed the stories of Californian wealth and added, naturally, to the public excitement there. In 1854 the "Oliver Martin chunk," which was auriferous ore, mixed with white quartz, was picked up near Camp Corcoran, Mokelumne county, in a hole which Martin had dug to bury a drowned comrade. It yielded $22,270 and became the basis of a great fortune. In 1866 Daniel Hill, a pauper, found a $14,000 nugget in Plumas county, and, coming to San Francisco, spent the proceeds quickly, $5,000 being squandered in one week's whirl. With his money all gone, he went to Dutch Flat, Nevada county, and while washing his hands in a stream saw lying on the bottom a nugget of gold and white quartz similar in size and shape to a baby's head. This brought $12,300, and sent Daniel Hill through a career of debauchery back to the poorhouse.

The finds in later years up to the Blue Jay discovery have not been of a notable sort. In the fall of 1889 two tramps, who had been put off of a Southern Pacific freight train, started to walk to Bakersfield and found a battered nugget weighing 216 ounces on the way. In 1896 a chunk worth $1,400 was picked up in San Diego county, and there have been two or three discovered on the Mojave desert. The majority of the finds have been accidental.

The saying "gold is where you find it" is peculiarly applicable to those stray lumps of precious metal which, falling out of a ledge, have rolled about in the beds of streams or been carried away in landslides, experiencing the vicissitudes, in some cases, of hundreds of years. Trinity county is not the only producer, and, though the crowds are rushing there, the next nugget that is turned up may be anywhere in the foothill and mountain country between Siskiyou and San Diego.—San Francisco Chronicle.

POLITENESS NOT APPRECIATED.

In the Case of the Elevator Man It Should Be Discouraged.

In view of the fact that the various petty employes of large corporations are usually not overburdened with politeness or consideration for the public, the complaint recently made against a passenger elevator man seems remarkable. It was alleged the man was "too polite for safety." The man who was the subject of complaint did what hundreds of elevator men do. When the elevator gets to the ground floor the conductor usually steps out of the car to get a whiff of fresh air, to say a word to the hatman, or possibly make inquiry about the ball game.

The hallman or starter shouts "going up!" to the people coming into the hall, and the elevator man stands in front of the cage and politely asks his passengers to "step in," while he remains on the outside until the starter shouts "'L right!" Then he cuts his sentence short, steps into the cage, starts the elevator and slams the door after the ascent has begun.

Most persons "step in" when asked to do so, but occasionally a man with an eye to self-preservation refuses to do so, and one of that class made the complaint. The man who insists on the elevator man being in the car before he will go in is usually looked upon by the man of many ups and downs as foolishly careful, but owners of buildings who are held responsible for the safety of their tenants while riding in the elevators are pleased to see them firm on that point. It may look well for a uniformed man to step aside and ask the passengers to precede him into the elevator cage, but many persons will agree with the man who made the complaint that it is a case of politeness which should be discouraged in the interest of safety.—N. Y. Tribune.

The Descent of Rivers.

Generally speaking, the slope of the beds of rivers flowing into the Mississippi from the east is, on the average, about three inches per mile. Those entering it from the west have an average descent of about six inches per mile. The average descent per mile of the Missouri after it leaves the mountains is reckoned about a foot; the Des Moines, from its source to its conjunction with the Mississippi, about 7.3 inches. The entire length of the Ohio shows a fall of even five inches. The Mississippi, from the mouth of the Ohio to the gulf, has a fall of about two and a half inches.—Ohio State Journal.

Signs of Indentification.

Jacques is at the morgue looking for a lost friend.

"Is there any sign by which you could identify him?"

"Yes, he was deaf."—Le Monde Comique.

A WOMAN GAME WARDEN.

Perilous Duties Discharged by Mrs. Warren Neal, of Neal, Mich.

Once again a new and startling occupation has been found for the new woman. It is that of game warden, and the woman who distinguished herself by making this brand-new departure is Mrs. Warren Neal, of Neal, Mich. This woman was appointed game warden for Grand Traverse county not long since, and from the appearance of things she will attend to the duties of her office in a businesslike manner.

The duties of game wardens are of such a nature that many men would not care to undertake to fill the place; but Mrs. Neal is a plucky little woman, and she has no fear whatever of not being able to overcome all obstacles. A game warden is supposed to travel all over the county and keep a sharp lookout for violators of the game and fish laws. As Grand Traverse county, of which Mrs. Neal has control, is densely wooded and has many lakes, she will be kept very busy seeking out and bringing to justice violators of the law.

Mrs. Neal handles a gun like an expert, rows a boat and is a skillful woodsman, and she knows every inch of the territory she has to patrol. In order to make her way through the dense growths in the forest land as easily as possible Mrs. Neal has adopted a costume modeled after the much-reviled bloomers.

As to the trousers, Mrs. Neal says that she has no desire to be considered as setting the pace for the new woman. In fact, she told the writer she thought every woman ought to dress according to her own ideas of comfort, though for the life of her she could not see why any woman should want a skirt when hunting or rowing. It really appears as if Mrs. Neal is the sort of a new woman that has a mind to advance her sex along sensible and health-giving lines.

She usually makes a trip over the entire county once a week. When out after violators of the game law she rides over the country on horseback, and when she comes to lakes she secures a boat, and with a steady, swift oar she rapidly covers her territory made up of water.

She carries a rifle on all these trips, and woe to the evil-doer caught napping, for this plucky game warden is a relentless pursuer of all law-breakers, and she has brought many of them to justice.

During May the state game and fish warden's department prosecuted 109 alleged violators of the law and convicted 96, growing out of 149 complaints. This breaks the record for any previous month in the history of the department. All but three of the convictions were obtained for violation of the fish laws, and the majority of these cases were established by Mrs. Neal.

Her skill with the rifle is somewhat phenomenal, and she drops her quarry with the ease of a professional Nimrod. Mr. Neal, who is an enthusiastic sportsman, long ago taught his wife to be skillful with the revolver. Last July, when they were in the upper lake region camping, he induced her to try her hand with the rifle. He declared that a woman who could shoot so well with a revolver would, with practice, become a dead-shot with the larger weapon. Now, rifle-shooting requires a good eye, a steady hand and wrist and a control of the nervous system that very few women possess. Generally, the novice fires at a target. Mrs. Neal's first target, however, was a glass bottle thrown in the air, and at a third shot she struck the bottle, a surprisingly good attempt. Mrs. Neal kept on practicing, and now she is so expert that she can hit the glass bottle nine times out of ten.

In addition to her other duties Mrs. Neal carries the mail three times a week to Traverse City for Uncle Sam.—Philadelphia Inquirer.

Buddhist Remains in Java.

The fact is not generally appreciated that there are ruins of Buddhist and Brahmanic temples in middle Java surpassing in extent and magnificence anything to be seen in Egypt or India. There, in the heart of the steaming tropics, in that summer land of the world below the equator, on an island where volcanoes cluster more thickly and vegetation is richer than in any other region of the globe, where earthquakes continually rock and shatter, and where deluges descend during the rainy half of the year, remains nearly intact the temple of Boro Boedor, covering almost the same area as the great pyramid of Gizeh. It is ornamented with hundreds of life-sized statues and miles of bas-reliefs presenting the highest examples of Greco-Buddhist art—a sculptured record of all the arts and industries, the culture and civilization, of the golden age of Java, of the life and the seventh, eighth and ninth centuries in all the farther east—a record that is not written in hieroglyphs, but in plainest pictures carved by sculptor's chisel. That solid pyramidal temple, rising in magnificent sculptured terraces, that was built without mortar or cement, without column or pillar or arch, is one of the surviving wonders of the world. On the spot it seems a veritable miracle.—Eliza Ruhamah Scidmore, in Century.

A Husband's Narrow Escape.

"It was very plucky of you, ma'am, to have set upon the burglar and so ably captured him," said the police inspector, "but need you have injured him so badly?"

"How did I know it was a burglar?" asked the woman. "I'd been up three hours waiting for my husband. I thought it was him."—Philadelphia Press.

—Chief Rabbi Adler and Sir S. Montagu have sent a circular letter to all London tailors asking them to give out work early in the week and appoint Friday morning as pay day to Hebrew employes, so as to secure Saturday rest.

Shake Into Your Shoes.

Allen's Foot-Ease, a powder for the feet. It cures painful, swollen, smarting feet and instantly takes the sting out of corns and bunions. It's the greatest comfort discovery of the age. Allen's Foot-Ease makes tight or new shoes feel easy. It is a certain cure for sweating, callous, hot, tired, aching feet. Try it to-day. Sold by all druggists and shoe stores, 25c. Trial package, FREE. Write to Allen S. Olmsted, LeRoy, N. Y.

One bad thing about the Klondike gold country is that it affords an excuse for so many crank inventors to annoy people by telling of the fool machines they are going to build to get them there.—Chicago Record.

Fits stopped free and permanently cured. No fits after first day's use of Dr. Kline's Great Nerve Restorer. Free $2 trial bottle & treatise. Dr. Kline, 931 Arch st., Phila., Pa.

There is probably nothing in this world as variable as the stories of "quarrel told by each side.—Washington Democrat.

B.H.Ocker, Chambersburg, Pa., mails School Report Card samples free to teachers. Write.

THE MARKETS.

CINCINNATI, Sept. 27.

LIVE STOCK—Cattle, common	$ 2 25	@	$ 2 75
Select butchers	4 00	@	4 40
CALVES—Fair to good light	6 00	@	7 25
HOGS—Common	3 85	@	4 10
Mixed packers	4 10	@	4 30
Light shippers	4 25	@	4 40
SHEEP—Choice	3 25	@	3 65
LAMBS—Good to choice	5 00	@	5 40
FLOUR—Winter family	3 60	@	3 90
GRAIN—Wheat—No. 2 red		@	93¼
No. 3 red		@	91
Corn—No. 2 mixed		@	31
Oats—No. 2	21	@	21¼
Rye—No. 2		@	47
HAY—Prime to choice	8 75	@	9 00
PROVISIONS—Mess pork		@	9 12½
Lard—Prime steam		@	4 30
BUTTER—Choice dairy	11	@	12
Prime to choice creamery		@	18
APPLES—Per bbl	2 50	@	2 75
POTATOES—Per bbl	2 10	@	2 22

NEW YORK.

FLOUR—Winter patents	$ 3 25	@	$ 3 45
No. 2 red		@	97¾
CORN—No. 2 mixed		@	34¾
RYE		@	44¼
OATS—Mixed		@	24½
PORK—New Mess	9 00	@	9 25
LARD—Western		@	4 80

CHICAGO.

FLOUR—Winter patents	$ 3 00	@	$ 3 10
GRAIN—Wheat—No. 2 red	94	@	95
No. 2 Chicago spring		@	91½
CORN—No. 2	28	@	28½
OATS—No. 2		@	19¾
PORK—Mess	8 10	@	8 15
LARD—Steam		@	4 35

BALTIMORE.

FLOUR—Family	$ 3 75	@	$ 3 10
GRAIN—Wheat—No. 2	95½	@	95½
Southern wheat	90	@	98
Corn—Mixed	32½	@	33¼
Oats—No. 2 white	25	@	25½
Rye—No. 2 western	52½	@	55
CATTLE—First quality	4 10	@	4 35
HOGS—Western	4 90	@	5 00

INDIANAPOLIS.

GRAIN—Wheat—No. 2		@	98
Corn—No. 2 mixed		@	26½
Oats—No. 2 mixed		@	20

LOUISVILLE.

FLOUR—Winter patent	$ 3 75	@	$ 4 00
GRAIN—Wheat—No. 2 red		@	93
Corn—Mixed		@	31½
Oats—Mixed		@	21½
PORK—Mess		@	9 50
LARD—Steam		@	4 75

NERVOUS PROSTRATION.

A New Jersey Woman Expresses Her Gratitude to Mrs. Pinkham for Relief.

"Will you kindly allow me," writes Miss Mary E. Saidt to Mrs. Pinkham, "the pleasure of expressing my gratitude for the wonderful relief I have experienced by taking your Compound? I suffered for a long time with nervous prostration and general debility, caused by falling of the womb. It seemed as though my back would never stop aching. I could not sleep. I had dull headaches. I was weary all the time, and life was a burden to me. I sought the seashore for relief, but all in vain. On my return I resolved to give Mrs. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a medicine a trial. I took two bottles and was cured. I can cheerfully state, if more ladies would only give your medicine a fair trial they would bless the day they saw the advertisement, and there would be happier homes. I mean to do all I can for you in the future. I have you alone to thank for my recovery, for which I am very grateful."—Miss Mary E. Saidt, Jobstown, N. J.

HARTSHORN'S SELF-ACTING SHADE ROLLER

NOTICE MAKE THIS LABEL AND SEE THAT THE GENUINE Stewart Hartshorn ON HARTSHORN

SOUTHERN Homeseekers' Guide

Every homeseeker should address either J. F. MERRY, Asst. G. P. A., Manchester, Ia.; W. A. KELLOND, A. G. P. A., Louisville, Ky., or S. G. HATCH, II. P. A., Cincinnati, O., for a free copy of the ILLINOIS CENTRAL RAILROAD'S SOUTHERN HOMESEEKERS' GUIDE.

Weeks Scale Works, STOCK, COAL, HAY, GRAIN, AND COTTON SCALES. BUFFALO, N.Y.

The woman pinned down to one or two uses of Pearline (use with soap) will have to be talked to. Why is she throwing away all the gain and help that she can get from it in other ways? If you have proved to yourself that Pearline washes clothes, for instance, in the easiest, quickest, safest way, you ought to be ready to believe that Pearline (use no soap) is the best for washing and cleaning everything. That's the truth, anyway. Try it and see. Into every drop of water that's to be used for cleansing anything, put some Pearline

Pearline

GET THE GENUINE ARTICLE!

Walter Baker & Co.'s Breakfast COCOA

Pure, Delicious, Nutritious.

Costs Less than ONE CENT a cup.

Be sure that the package bears our Trade-Mark.

Walter Baker & Co. Limited, Dorchester, Mass.

(Established 1780.)

Trade-Mark.

CANDY CATHARTIC

Cascarets CURE CONSTIPATION

REGULATE THE LIVER ALL DRUGGISTS

10¢ 25¢ 50¢

ABSOLUTELY GUARANTEED to cure any case of constipation. Cascarets are the Ideal Laxative, never grip or gripe, but cause easy natural results. Sample and booklet free. Ad. STERLING REMEDY CO., Chicago, Montreal, Can., or New York. 82.

TO LOOK ON THE BRIGHT SIDE OF THINGS, USE

SAPOLIO

In three points—tone, action, and durability—no organ approaches the

ESTEY

Write for Illustrated Catalogue with prices, to Estey Organ Company, Brattleboro, Vt.

WINCHESTER GUN CATALOGUE FREE

Send your name on a postal card and we will send you our 156 page illustrated catalogue free.

WINCHESTER REPEATING ARMS CO. 180 WINCHESTER AVE., NEW HAVEN, CONN.

$12 to $35 PER WEEK. Can be made working for us. Parties preferred who can give their whole time to the business. Spare hours, though, may be profitably employed. Good openings for town and city work as well as country districts. J. E. GIFFORD, 11th and Main Streets, RICHMOND, Va.

DROPSY NEW DISCOVERY; gives quick relief and cures worst cases. Send for book of testimonials and 10 days' treatment Free. Dr. H. H. GREEN'S SONS, Atlanta, Ga.

PISO'S CURE FOR CURES WHERE ALL ELSE FAILS. Best Cough Syrup. Tastes Good. Use in time. Sold by druggists. CONSUMPTION

A N E—E 1670

WHEN WRITING TO ADVERTISERS please state that you saw the Advertisement in this paper.

THE ADVERTISING ART.

Its Wonderful Development Shows its Value to the Public.

Of the millions of people who read the daily papers published in the United States, from New York to Indianapolis and from Indianapolis to San Francisco, a very large majority give more or less time to reading the advertisements. Some do this because they wish to find a particular thing or are interested in some particular line of business; others because their eye is caught by a good display; others to see how business is; others in search of bargains, and so on. The regular patrons of a paper, its home readers, read the advertisements almost as regularly as they do any other part of the paper, and if regularly followed up they are a good picture and reflex of the times. A daily newspaper without its regular grist of advertisements, changing every day in the year, and giving with every change a kaleidoscopic view of trade with its reflected lights of social life, would be a very poor sort of paper.

The evolution of the art of advertising is as interesting as that of any other feature of modern life. In the infancy of the business there was no art about it and not much business. Its value was not appreciated either by advertisers or publishers and probably it had not as much value in former times relatively as it has now, because it took time for people to become educated up to reading advertisements as they do now. One reason why they are so much more read now than formerly is that they are so much more readable. They are not only better worded, but fresher, and, being changed so much oftener, are much more a reflex of the times. A badly worded advertisement is almost as bad as none at all, and a stale advertisement, one that shows on its face that it is out of date, is as offensive to readers as it should be to publishers and advertisers.

To be effective an advertisement should be well constructed, adroitly worded, right to the point and changed as often as possible. No doubt one reason of the great growth of advertising in recent years is that business men, having learned to appreciate its value, are more careful than they used to be in keeping faith with the public and living up to their advertisements. In these days of sharp competition a merchant who should break faith with the public by advertising one thing or one price and offering another would soon find the public letting him severely alone. A shrewd advertiser would almost as soon let his note go to protest as not to live up to his advertisement. Shrewd advertisers, too, look carefully to the wording of their advertisements, and if no one in the establishment is skilled in that direction they hire somebody else to do it. In all cities now there are professional writers of advertisements, who do nothing else and receive large salaries. The business has grown enormously in every direction, giving employment to a great many people maintaining large and costly agencies, and involving the expenditure of hundreds of millions of dollars annually.

The art of advertising has been progressive from the beginning. It has never experienced any check—except bank check—and it is as expensive and progressive to-day as it was. This is the best possible proof that it pays.—Indianapolis Journal.

Insuring Workingmen.

The German government provides a system of compulsory insurance for working men. Under this system a workman 20 years of age pays an equivalent of 40 cents a week for three years, and at the age of 65 he receives the sum of $77, in the meantime having had an insurance against accidents. The annual premium is divided into three parts, one of which is paid by the workman, another by his employer, and the third by the state. The report for 1896 shows that 18,389,000 persons were insured under the law, of whom 3,409,000 were employes in shops and factories, 12,290,000 were employed in agriculture and 690,000 were in the employ of the state. In that year the number of accidents was 74,897, of which 6,448 terminated fatally. The total expense of the system for the year was $13,400,000.

Uncle Billy's Wisdom.

"Bobby asked Uncle Billy what noise was."

"What did Uncle Billy tell him?"

"He told him noise was any old kind of racket—except the kind we like to make ourselves." — Detroit Free Press.

—A real estate speculator in Boston rents his houses at a high rate, but collects no rental for the closing three or four months of the year. When selling a house he shows to the purchaser the lease, points out the big income, and thus deludes him.

—When a quack doctor loses a case, he always explains by saying he wasn't sent for soon enough.—Washington Democrat.

STATE NEWS.

An epidemic of typhoid fever, beyond the control of physicians, is raging in Johnson county.

Several of Marshall county's public schools have been closed for some time, on account of the measles.

A call has been issued for a meeting of the State League of Colored Republican Clubs in Lexington Friday, October 8.

The State convention of the Women's Christian Temperance Union will be held in Glasgow, beginning the 1st of October and lasting four days.

If advertising does not pay why is it that the Youth's Companion gets over $800 a year for one inch space each issue. How is it that the Ladies Home Journal gets $1.000 for a page ad? Why do four advertisers pay $6,000 each for a quarter-page ad on back cover in Munsey's Magazine? Are advertisers throwing money away like this, or does it really pay them?

The Methodist conference made the following assignments of ministers in this the Covington district, for the ensuing year: John R. Deering, Presiding Elder; Covington, Scott street, F. S. Pollitt; Covington, Eleventh street, C. F. Olney; Newport, Olin Bogges; Highland, J. W. Crates; Augusta, B. F. Chatham: Alexandria, J. W. Gardner; and R. M. Lee; Visita, F. T, McIntyre; Falmouth, T. F. Toliver; Carrollton, H. G. Turner; Petersburg, J. W. Harris; Warsaw, W. W. W. Green; Brooksville, E. A. McClure; G. B. Poage, supernumerary; Walton, W. T. Rowland; Cynthiana, E. L. Southgate; Williamstown, J. W. Simpson, Oddville, T. B. Cook; Kelat, W. J. Doran; Crittenden, D. E. Beddinger; Erlanger, W. K. Dennis; Select High School, T. J. Dodd; Agent Children's Home Society, Wm. Shoesmith.

CROP AND STOCK.

D. N. Rue, of Mercer county, bought 300 hogs at $3 50.

The Jessamine Journal notes the sale of 14 head of yearling cattle at 4 cents.

Joe Williams, of Barren county, sold a fat cow that weighed 1,440 pounds.

The Stanford Interior Journal notes the sale of a lot of corn at $2 at the crib.

Nearly all the tobacco on Greasy creek, in Green county, was killed by the drouth.

Forscythe & Jones, of Mercer county, bought in Anderson 150 stock hogs at $3 25 and $3 50.

The Georgetown Times speaks of a calf five months old that after being driven five miles weighed 490 pounds.

A mare belonging to Lige Kimbro, of Hickman county, gave birth to two colts, one a horse colt, and the other a mule colt.

Owing to the slump in the tomato crop throughout the country this season, within the next three or four weeks the canned tomato will advance 20 per cent in price.

Mr. Jonas Weil says that 800 fat cattle were shipped out of Bourbon last week, that there are still 6,000 in the county, and only 2,000 of them sold. The prices are $4 50 to $4 75 for the best.

The Lexington Herald says one of the most successful wheat growers of Fayette county sows salt with his wheat. It is said that the chemical properties of the salt make it a good fertilizer on some kinds of land.

On the farm of W. A. Ray, about six miles from Princton, a fine vein of cannel coal has been discovered. The vein ranges from three to five feet deep and covers an area of two hundred acres. A company has been organized, and work will be begun at once to mine the coal and place it on the market.

The dark tobacco crop in Southern and Western Kentucky will be even less than the yield in the Burley region. The stand in both sections was generally a poor one owing to late planting and the continued drouth will still further cut short the crop. In fact in the dark tobacco region the general yield will not be one-fourth of a crop.

Mr. Jake Graves, of Chilesburg, one of Fayette county's largest land owners and cattle dealers, is making a novel experiment in utilizing fox-tail and rag-weed for cattle feed. The two grasses have taken partial possession of several of his pastures and threaten to kill the native blue grass. This attempted usurpation caused him to mow the pastures and stack the fox tail, weed, etc. The stacks will be open to the cattle, and Mr. Graves is of the opinion that they will eat the truck when winter sets in.—Lexington Herald.

FROM OWEN COUNTY.

[Herald.]

Peter King well known as a stirring farmer and trader of this county, left home under rather suspicious circumstances several daysago. The pretty seventeen-year-old cousin of his wife, Miss Nora Braden, who has made her home at Mr. King's for some time, has also disappeared, and the general opinion seems to be that the two are together somewhere in Indiana. Mrs. King, who is a most exemplary woman, is left with five children, the youngest a baby. It is hoped that Mr. King will soon return and be able to give a satisfactory account of his absence.

The heaviest frost that has been known this early since 1868 visited us Monday night. Tobacco in the lowlands is more or less injured, to what extent cannot be definitely stated. It is hurt but little, if at all, on the uplands. Corn is also damaged some in low places. There was also a light frost Tuesday night.

D. L. Lusby sold 7 hhds of tobacco in Cincinnati last week at from seven to 18 cents.

P. H. Smith has a locust tree in his yard that is putting forth a second bloom this year.

[News]

The most unfortunate disappointment to the attendance at the fair was the misfortune that befell Liller & Wright, the bicycle wire riders and trapese performers. The first day they mounted the wire and started across on their perilous journey and when about one third the way across the wheel jumped the wire, but was being held by the trapese beneath when the handle bar of the wheel broke, dropping Liller to the ground, a distance of about 50 feet. He struck the ground on his head and shoulders and lay in an unconscious state. He was soon conveyed to his boarding house and his injuries looked after by Dr. J. W. Connell. While being pretty badly shaken up, nothing more serious than a severely broken arm proved to have befallen him.

The fair last week was the most successful in the history of the association. The extremely hot and dry weather of the first two days effected the attendance somewhat, but the latter two days the attendance was fine. Never in the history of the association has there been so much stock of different kinds and in all the exhibitions the contests were close and exciting.

FROM GRANT COUNTY.

[Courier]

The dry, hot scorching weather dried up the tobacco, corn, grass, cisterns, wells and springs.

Mr. Walter Stephens and Miss Sudie Lafferty surprised their many friends Sunday evening by being quietly married by Rev. Maddux at his home.

William Simpson brought a stalk of corn to the Courier office on last Saturday that was a little to the rise of fifteen feet long and bore a magnificent ear over 12 inches long.

Our friend E. D. McNay met with the misfortune to get his new clover huller burned while threshing at Ed Reniker's last Monday. He had just received his machine from Louisville at a cost of five hundred and twenty-five dollars, and had not threshed as much as twenty bushels with it. Mr. McNay expects to get another huller right away as he has over one hundred acres engaged to thresh yet.

On last Thursday Mr. Louis Walker, a farmer residing near Glendale, says the Hartford Herald, went into his cornfield to drive out some cattle which had broken therein, and while he and his son were chasing them one fat cow fell down as if dead. Mr. Walker, thinking she was overcome with heat, took out his knife and proceeded to cut her throat, so that she might bleed properly. The cow however, was not dead, but sprang up, and knocking against Mr. Walker's hand, drove the knife about an inch and a half into his neck, barely missing the jugular. Although very weak from loss of blood, at last accounts it was thought he would recover.

FROM CARROLL OUNTY

[News]

Silas Gex brought in an ear of corn last week that measured 14 inches in length.

Henry Webster bought the farm of Winfield Scott, on Mound Hill, last week, containing 44 acres, for $750.

Noah Philips had his entire crop of five acres of tobacco caught in the frost Monday night. He had just commenced cutting that day and it is said that cut suffered the same fate as that still standing.

To show how punctual the grand jury is on Tuesday morning Tom Gotlen, who had about 17 miles to drive, was a few minutes late, and he was fined the watermelons; yesterday morning Foreman John Langstaff was also a few seconds late and a like penalty was inflicted on him. At noon Smith Parker was delayed discussing an elegant dinner and it cost him a dozen cigars.

A DISCOVERY.

Something New Concerning the Movements of the Gulf Stream.

Hydrographers are much interested in the report just sent to the hydrographic office at Washington by an English sea-captain to the effect that he found the gulf stream much further north, off the east coast of Newfoundland, than it has been supposed to flow. Capt. F. W. Parker, a lieutenant in the royal naval reserve and commander of the British steamship Prudentia, is the navigator who made the discovery.

Capt. Parker says he observed that the gulf stream appeared considerably further north than usual, from latitude 51.30, longitude 43, to latitude 50.30, longitude 45. The water had that [illegible] blue color, which is characteristic of the gulf stream, and the temperature stood uniformly at from 57 to 58 degrees.

What struck the experienced navigator as peculiar was the fact that this belt of blue water occurred only between the Greenland current and the Polar current setting down the Newfoundland coast as laid down on the charts of the locality now in use. The temperature before and after also pointed to that conclusion. Gulf weed was also observed floating between the limits mentioned. This discovery is looked upon by scientists as important, as it adds to our knowledge of the gulf stream and may lead to a better acquaintance with that great current, which has such an important effect upon the climate of western and northern Europe.

The knowledge which hydrographers possess of the currents is meager at best and significant observations, such as Capt. Parker's, are of great value.—N. Y. World.

Spiders Save Forests.

Dr. C. Keller, of Zurich, asserts that spiders are doing most important work in preserving the forests by protecting trees against devastations on the part of insects. Dr. Keller opened the intestines of a large number of spiders and found that they are voracious enemies of the most noxious insects. According to his idea spiders are more beneficial to the maintenance of forests than all the insect-eating birds put together. Forestry commissioners and other interested people have taken up the subject and prizes are offered for the propagation and distribution of insect-eating spiders in forests.

Stamp Portraits.

In 1875 a law was passed prohibiting the use of the portraits of living men on the United States stamps, thus placing living men in the same position that women occupied, whether dead or alive, for no woman's portrait has ever graced a stamp belonging to the United States, postal or revenue.

—Several colored amateur actors were presenting a play in Pittsburg, Ga., when one of the characters, impersonated by John Singleton, is supposed to be shot by his rival. Through some blunder, the pistol contained a bullet, and the actor was shot dead.

The Democratic campaign will be opened in Boone on next Monday.

The Very Fact of the Case IS

That you can buy as much or more goods of a high quality, get better satisfaction ane always have more money by buying at.....

AYLOR'S

than any Little House this side of Cincinnati. We still kindly insist on you coming our way as you have in the past, as we will certainly always treat you right.

Very Truly,

IRA AYLOR, - - Erlanger, Ky.

C. W. ROBINSON,

—DEALER IN—

Dry Goods, Notions, Groceries, Boots and Shoes,

ALL KIND OF FEED AND FLOUR IN STOCK,

Agent for Weidler's Germ Food; Also agent for the Jones Fertilizers.

GOOD STABLE IN CONNECTION WITH STORE.

Constance, Ky.

METROPOLITAN COUPE & LIVERY COMPANY.

62 & 64 West Sixth St., Cincinnati, Ohio,

E. H. BAKER, Proprietor

Horses and Vehicles for Hire at Reasonable Rates.

Horses and Second-Hand Buggies for Sale.

Horses Sold on Commission.

Telephone 580.

CHAS. C. FRY. JACOB REIB.

FRY & REIB,

Manufacturers of and Dealers in all kinds of

Marble & Granite Monuments,

HEADSTONES, CORNER POSTS, ETC.,

109 Pike Sreet, - - - - COVINGTON, K.

Near C. & O. R. R. Crossing. } Designs Furnished Upon Application.

PATENTS

Caveats, and Trade-Marks obtained and all Patent business conducted for MODERATE FEES. OUR OFFICE IS OPPOSITE U.S. PATENT OFFICE and we can secure patent in less time than those remote from Washington.

Send model, drawing or photo., with description. We advise, if patentable or not, free of charge. Our fee not due till patent is secured.

A PAMPHLET, "How to Obtain Patents," with cost of same in the U.S. and foreign countries sent free. Address,

C.A.SNOW & CO.

OPP. PATENT OFFICE, WASHINGTON, D. C.

NOTICE.

I have been appointed and qualified as administratrix of W. L. Norman, deceased, and all persons indebted to said estate must pay same at once and any one having a claim against said estate must present same to me properly proven at Walton, Ky., or to my Atty., S. W. Tolin at Burlington, Ky.

AMERICA A. NORMAN, Admrx.

August 25, 1897.

Frankfort & Cincinnati Railway.

Ask for tickets via this line. Schedule of trains in effect March 1, 1897.

East Bound.

Lve. Frankfort.....6:30 a. m, 3:00 p.m
Arr. Georgetown...7:20 a. m. 4:15 p. m

West Bound.

Lve. Georgetown...10:40 a m 6:30 p. m
Arr. Frankfort.....11:55 a. m 7:20 p. m

C. D. BERCAW, G. P. A.
Geo. B. Harper, Gen. Supt.
Frankfort, Ky.

H. S. STEVENSON.

Satisfaction Guaranteed.

DENTIST.

Prices Consistent with Good Services Only.

OFFICE:— Rising Sun, Indiana.

NOTICE.

Cincinnati, O., April 5, 1897.

To the Tobacco Growers of Boone County:

I am connected with the Cincinnati Leaf Tobacco Warehouse Co., which includes four houses—the Globe, Morris, Bodmann, Cincinnati Miami. Prise your tobacco and ship it to one of the four houses and receive the highest market price for same. If you have no preference ship it to the Cincinnati Miami, and I will give it my personal attention. Hogsheads and presses furnished. Address me at 110, 112 West Front St., Cincinnati, Ohio.

oct-7 O. W. ADAMS.

Take the Recorder, $1.50 a year.

RUGBY PREPARATORY : SCHOOL

—FOR BOYS.—

Covington, - - Kentucky.

Thorough Preparation for Scientific School, College or Business, Military Training.

Limited Number of Boarders Desired.

Excellent Building, Home Influence and Comforts.

Twelth Year. NEXT TERM BEGINS Sept'r. 15th, 1897.

For catalogue and special information Address,

K. J. MORRIS, A. M. Prin.

R. A. STEELE,

RISING SUN, IND.,

UNDERTAKING.

My Stock and accouterments are unsurpassed, having adult's black hearses and child's white hearse.

Independent of Undertakers' Union.

My prices are reasonable and my friends will tell you I give satisfaction.

FURNITURE

Large Stock of Latest Styles at Lowest Prices.

GIVE : ME : A : CALL.

Administrator's Notice.

Those indebted to the estate of J. C. Beall, deceased, must come forward and settle at once, and those having claims against said estate must present the same at once proven according to law.

CHAS. B. BEALL, Adm'r.

FIFTY DOLLARS A WEEK EASILY made. Agents wanted in every locality for Hon. W. J. Bryan's great and only book, "The First Battle." The best seller ever produced. Agents are taking as many as 200 orders per week. Beware of fraudulent imitations. Send for outfit and begin work at once. W. B. CONKEY COMPANY, Publishers, 341 Dearborn St., Chicago.

For Rent.

A good farm, to a good tenant—six miles from Cincinnati on Cincinnati Southern railroad and on free turnpike. Call at 80 W. 4th St. Covington, Ky. J. J. DULANEY.

Subscribe for the RECORDER

BOONE COUNTY RECORDER.

VOL. XXII. BURLINGTON, KENTUCKY, WEDNESDAY, OCTOBER 6, 1897. NO. 50.

A POOR crop of tobacco has been housed in this county.

CARD-WRITING is quite the fad in the Kenton county campaign.

THE Democrats of this county are going to be up and doing this fall.

THE appointment of Mr. Commgore, as Collector, is soon to be announced.

GOV. MCCREARY and Allen O. Myers addressed a multitude of Democrats at Owenton on the 27th ult.

IN proportion to population typhoid fever is worse in Grant county than yellow fever is in any of the southern cities.

SENATOR FORAKER refuses to put his shoulder to the wheel to assist in lifting the Hanna band wagon out of the mire in Ohio.

THE C.-J. says Louisville could give Hindman twice as many votes as she gave Palmer and Buckner. Of course—but will she?

PERU Indiana, is now attracting attention as the greatest oil field in the country. Oil is found only a few feet below the surface.

THE prospect of having a full crop of saloons in operation in the county again in a few months is causing considerable discussion.

IN their estimates of the result of the election in Ohio next month, the Republicans concede Hamilton county to the Democrats. A few more such concessions and the entire State will be surrendered.

IT was well enough for Senator Foraker, in cancelling all his appointments to speak in Ohio this fall to say that important business demands his presence elsewhere. A poor excuse is better than none.

GOV. MOUNT, of Indiana, is still engaged in a fruitless effort to have the members of the Versailles mob apprehended. Public sentiment endorses the work of the mob and the Governor has undertaken an uphill job.

JOE A. PARKER, Populist candidate for Clerk of the Court of Appeals, could not compete with a veriscope that was exhibiting at the opera house, consequently his audience was so small at Lexington as to make the speaker lonesome.

THE President will send Dr. Hunter to far off Gautomala as Uncle Sam's representative in that country. Some of the Republicans in Kentucky wish the Doctor had been a resident of that interesting country all his life which has proven so very eventful.

AS soon as a thief is captured in Ripley county, Indiana, he petitions the Circuit Judge to send him to some neighboring county's jail. The atmosphere of the Ripley county jail is very unhealthy for thieves, producing a throat trouble that is decidedly fatal.

A MAN was acquitted the other day in Louisville for killing another man for trespassing on his land. In Barren a man was fined $10 and cost for killing a hog trespassing on his premises. The question naturally arises, is a Barren county hog worth more than a Louisville man.

IF free silver is a dead issue, a great many men who claim to be political leaders are displaying a great lack of sense by continually fighting that which they claim to be dead. The truth is these wise acres know it is not dead, but very lively and enjoying a healthy growth.

About a week ago D. M. Miller, says the Greensburg Record, was near a fine spring which is on his place, that never got muddy, it matters not how much it rains. He heard a roaring sound, and then he commenced searching for the cause and found the spring was running a large volume of muddy water which was very strange, when it has not rained for the last five weeks.

THE Capital, which is fighting Mayor Todd in his contest for re-election as Mayor, of Louisville, says it is not supporting anybody—only fighting bad men.

PRESENT conditions warrant the belief that tobacco will bring a good price again next year, and while there is not as much available tobacco land in this county as there was a few years ago, every acre of it will be planted next season unless the plants should prove a disappointment.

THESE Democratic revenue officers whom Collector Yerkes has suspended, ought not to kick. Democrats should not expect to enjoy the emoluments of offices which belong to the Republicans. If Collector Yerkes can evade the civil service law, let him do so and give the offices at his disposal to Republicans.

THE fiscal court was in session yesterday, its last sitting this year unless called in special session. The new Justice of the Peace in the Florence and Constance precincs, J. H. Walton, was one of the Court. He is now filling the vacancy in the office of Justice of the Peace in his district. The court had about its usual grind of business.

THE great wall of China was recently measured by Mr. Unthank, an American engineer. His measurement gave the height as eighteen feet. Every few hundred yards there is a tower twenty-five feet high. For 1,300 miles the wall goes over plains and mountains, every foot of the foundation being of solid granite, and the rest of the structure of solid masonry.

A FAVORITE subject of Treasury speculation has been the amount of money issued by the United States which has been lost or destroyed. Of the old issue of $10,000 greens backs, which were called a few years ago, not one was lost. The monthly statement of the United States Treasurer shows that one bill of that is in circulation, but it is kept in the office of the United States Treasurer as a curiosity.

HON. R. F. PEAK, of Oldham county, addressed a good sized audience at this place, last Monday, in the interest of Democracy. Mr. Peak is a good stumper and handles his subject without the use of any unnecessary words, and makes his points clear. He handled the State administration without gloves, attacking it for incompetency and corruption all along the line, using Republican ammunition for keeping up the galling fire. His speech on the tariff and money issues was strictly in accord with Democratic principles. The speaker made a good impression on those who heard him.

THE first question a man asks when he sees a girl flirting is whether she is respected or not; such bad practices raise a doubt at once. This being the case, no modest girl can afford to indulge in the pastime. When the down is brushed from the peach its beauty is so marred that it can never be restored, and when a girl throws lightly aside that sweet and modest reserve so becoming to a maiden, and which so elevates and enables her to command the respect of all, she loses her best charm and becomes rather cheap and common, to use no rash terms. Flirting may seem to the giddy and thoughtless girl wonderfully amusing, and she may get the idea that she is fascinating, but it is a most degrading thing, and should be frowned upon by every young lady who has ambition to become a worthy and charming young woman.

IT took 3,687 ballots to nominate a Republican candidate for Senator in the Eighth, Ohio, district. The convention held three sessions before it was able to make a nomination.

MR. BYNUM, of Indiana, who is making speeches in Kentucky to aid in the election of Mr. Hindman, the gold-bug Democratic candidate, for Clerk of the Court of Appeals made a speech in Georgetown one day last week in which he advocated the gold standard, and the Georgetown News, instead of publishing the speech delivered by Mr. Bynum in town published Bynum's free silver speech which he made in Congress on the 24th day of March, 1886. Among other thing Mr. Bynum said March 20, 1886, is the following:

"Again the advocates of gold approach us with open hands and smiling countenances, but I fear with a dagger concealed beneath their cloaks. 'Oh,' they say, 'we want silver! We are bimetallists, but we want an honest dollar. Suspend coinage and we will drive England, Germany and other nations to bimetallism, and then the price of silver bullion will appreciate and our dollar will be worth a hundred cents.' To the friends of silver I wish to say, 'Be not deceived.' Our county without silver coin, with an immense debt to pay, every dollar of which by principle of law and equity, of honesty and justice, was payable in silver coin, was the desert upon which this current should have been turned. Such a policy would have probably averted the panic of 1873, which swept across the continent like a besom of destuction, parking its course by a destruction of values never before witnessed. *  Silver was demonetized without the consent or the least knowledge upon the part of the people. With all this discrimination against it, silver has held a place in all the governments of the would, performing the functions of a medium of exchange between the great body of the people."

A special from Frankfort to the Louisville Time, under date September 27, says:

"All local action in conflict with the provisions of the new Constitution and not otherwise repealed stand repealed to-morrow, six years after the adoption of said Constitution. Nearly all local option now prevailing in Kentucky so prevails under old 'local acts' enacted many years ago. Few towns have voted local option under the provisions and regulations of the general local option law enacted since the adoption of the new Constitution. Therefore, nearly all the counties of Kentucky now 'dry' will be 'wet' beginning to-morrow, and will continue "wet" until dry times shall be voted again by the people, and according to the general local option law. Those that will continue 'dry' after to-morrow will be the exception rather than the rule, and as a few such places as Beaver Dam, Lewisport, etc., Whole counties now 'dry' will be 'wet' beginning to-morrow, are such counties is Hardin, Russell, Ohio, Laurel, Whitley and four adjoining counties. Of course dispute as to the present condition of the law will result in litigation, and the result in some localities remain in doubt some time."

Some hold that the Boone county local option has not gone out of effect, and the court of Appeals is likely to be called upon to pass upon the matter before the question is settled to the satisfaction of all.

COL FORRER, in the last issue of the Capitalys: "Just when intelligent negro are joining with thoughtful white men in an effort to find a remedy for the astounding outbreak of brutishness among the degraded mass of the Southern blacks, the republican party in Louisville is ade the medium for appealing to that is vicious in the negro population, and Todd is engaged in buing votes by promising social equality to the negro in the slums of the city and encouraging them to an outbreak against the whites. promising that negro policemen shall invade convents and investigate them, would get George Todd ung to a lamp post in many a uthern community. It may be questioned whether the Southerners ould make any mistake, but Louisville can settle Todd at the polls November."

Pith of the Press.

The watchword of Hanna's "business talks to business men" Coughup."—Toledo Bee.

The leaves are falling in Ohio from Mark Hanna's check book.—Kansas City Times.

We are looking for a Republican who will admit he admires Mark Hanna or his political methods.—Pomeroy Ohio Democrat.

Hanna may criticize the cartoonists, but he ought to take a few lessons in art and learn how to draw an audience.—Chicago Dispatch.

Mr. Elkins doesn't regard the Attorney-General as being a particularly warm person. There will be other opportunities.—Washington Post.

Hanna is trying to hide himself behind McKinley. He finds that the fire on himself as an issue is becoming very hot.—Tiffin Ohio Advertiser.

Even Mr. Hanna must be a little surprised at times to learn from the Republican papers what an able campaign orator he is.—Detroit Journal.

This suspense as to the whereabouts of Governor Pingree is enough to bring a tear to the eye of every potato in the county.—Chicago Tribune.

Mark Hanna may not have horns, as some believe. But he has something more certain to bring him political success. He has a barrel.—Nashville Sun.

"What kind of a hold has Mr. Bynum on Wall street?" inquires a valued contemporary. At this distance it appears to be a leg hold.—Washington Post.

Senator Hanna celebrated his sixtieth birthday anniversary over in Ohio the other day, and yet he probably will not attain his majority till next November.—Chicago Times-Herald.

Hanna is a man of great wealth, but he has not got enough money to buy sufficient votes to elect him to the Senate. The breach in his party is too great to be healed with all of his cash.—Springfield Ohio Democrat.

There is only one inexplicable feature of President McKinley's sale of the Government's $53,000,000 interest in the Union Pacific to his political allies for $28,000,000. Why did he not give the railway outright to the syndicate?—Kansas City Times.

Secretary Sherman is one "eminent Republican" who it is now understood will not participate in the Ohio campaign. It appears that the speech he had prepared did not come up to the standard of partisan excellence, and has been rejected by Editor Hanna.—Rochester Times.

HON. JOHN W. MENZIES, after an illness of three months, died at the residence of son-in-law, Hon. Leslie T. Applegate, in Falmouth, Pendleton county, last Sunday at 9 o'clock p. m. Judge Menzies was in his seventy-eighth year, having been born in Fayette County, Kentucky, in 1819. He was graduated from the University of Virginia in 1850, studied law, was admitted to practice in 1841 and located in Covington. He was elected to the Legislature in 1848 and 1855. In 1861 he was elected to Congress, and was a delegate to the Chicago convention in 1864. In 1873 he was elected Judge of the Chancery Court, filling the position until 1892, when the offiee was abolished. He was a Whig at one time, but for the last quarter of century has been an ardent Democrat, supporting Bryan and the Chicago platform in the last Presidential race.

NEARLY every person who came to town Monday complained of the scarcity of water in their neighborhood. Many said they were hauling water quite a distance for domestic purposes, while water for stock was becoming very scarce.

JOHN C. TANNER
SPECIAL AGENT,
ERLANGER, - - KY.
Representing Reliable Companies Manufacturing
Musical Instruments, Sewing Machines, Bicycles, Buggies, Farming Implements
—ALSO—
Coal and Lumber, Granite & Marble Work, Life & Fire Insurance.
☞Prompt Attention and Satisfaction Guaranteed.
Aug 25 3m.

PROF. M. McMURPHY,
Formerly Principal of
The Erlanger School,
—Will Open—
A : Private : School
at ERLANGER, KY., for
☞9 or 10 MONTHS.☜
—o—
Attention will be given to all the Common School Branches, also to HIGHER ARITHMETIC, ALGEBRA, HISTORY, CIVIL GOVERNMENT, RHETORIC, PHYSIOLOGY, NATURAL PHILOSOPHY, MUSIC AND LATIN.
For particulars call on or address
PROF. McMURPHY,
ERLANGER, KY.

B. F. BUCHANAN,
—DRUGGIST,—
Rising Sun, - Indiana.
—o—
Thanks his Kentucky friends for their renewed patronage and invites them to continue to call at the Corner Drug Store.

INSURE AT HOME
The Farmers' Mutual Fire
INSURANCE COMPANY,
OF BOONE COUNTY,
Is now completely organized and receiving applications for insurance.
Its Rates are Lower
Than those of any other Company and gives the farmers of Boone County
HITHERTO UNKNOWN ADVANTAGE
In keeping their property insured.
EVERY FARMER IN THE COUNTY should take a policy at once.
E. H. BLANKENBECKER, - President, Florence, Ky.
D. E. LASSELL, - Vice-President.
OSCAR GAINES, Secretary, Burlington.
J. E. DUNCAN, Treasurer.
EXECUTIVE BOARD—Legrand Gaines, J. W. Conner, John Stephens.
J. E. SMITH, Assessor, - Burlington, Ky.
W. M. ROGERS, Agt. - Walton, Ky.

NOTICE.

All persons holding claims against Ezra W. Rouse, dec'd are hereby notified that they must present them to me at once proven as by law required, those owing same will please come forward and settle at once.
Mrs. EMMA ROUSE, Adm'rx.
Lassing & Riddell, Attys.

Farm for Sale.

Lying on the Beaver pike, Boone county, Ky., ¼ mile from Richwood Station on the C. N. & T. P., railroad. Said farm contains 115 acres in a good state of cultivation, with a good frame dwelling of seven rooms and cellar, cistern and well in the yard, barn and other necessary out buildings, orchard and various kinds of fruit trees; known as the W. H. Smith farm. Those wishing to purchase call on or address,
LEWIS RICE, Richwood, Ky.

What it Will Do.
FALMOUTH, KY. July 7, 1896.
Dr. J. T. Boulton, Cincinnati, O.
Dear Sir—I was taken with a severe cough the first of May; for two weeks I could not lie on my left side nor breathe through my left lung. I also had hemorrhage and my friends said I had consumption. I began taking Boulton's Cough Remedy and began to improve with the first dose, and within three weeks was entirely well. I can not say enough in favor of Boulton's Cough Remedy. Respectfully,
MRS. E. J. MARSHALL.
For sale by all druggists. Price, 25c. and $1 per bottle.

D. E. CASTLEMAN,
ATTORNEY - AT - LAW.
BURLINGTON, KY.
Will practice in the Courts of Boone Kenton, Grant and Gallatin. Collections pushed energetically.

G. G. HUGHES,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
BURLINGTON, KY.
Will practice in all the courts. Prompt attention given to all business entrusted to me.

P. E. CASON,
ATTORNEY - AT - LAW,
BURLINGTON, KY,
Practice in all Courts. Promptness guaranteed.

J. G. TOMLIN,
ATTORNEY - AT - LAW,
WALTON, KENTUCKY.
—o—
Will practice in the Courts of Boone, Kenton Grant and Gallatin. Prompt attention given t Collections entrusted to him. mchs2-93.

W. E. VEST,
County Surveyor,
BURLINGTON, KY.
Is prepared to do all kinds of Surveying. All orders by mail promptly attended to.

J. M. LASSING. N. E. RIDDELL.
LASSING & RIDDELL,
ATTORNEYS AT LAW.
BURLINGTON, KY.
Prompt Attention Given to Collections

S. GAINES,
ATTORNEY-AT-LAW,
BURLINGTON, KY.
Will practice in all the courts, and prompt attention given collections. Office—In residence near post-office.

DR. A. B. HARRYMAN,
.....DENTIST.....
—o—
Will be in Lawrenceburg, Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday.
At Aurora, Thursday, Friday and Saturday. Practiced for 30 years.
No Poisonous Gasses Used.

R. C. RICE,
CARPENTER AND BUILDER,
Burlington, Ky.
YOUR WORK IS SOLICITED.
W. E. VEST. B. L. RICE.
VEST & RICE,
Real Estate Agents.
Farms Bought, Sold or Exchanged, Money to Loan on Real Estate, Notes bought, sold & Negotiated.
☞All communications addressed to W. E. VEST, Burlington, Ky.

BOONE CO. DEPOSIT BANK.
(Incorporated 1886.)
CAPITAL, ... $30,000
Surplus and undivided profits, 19,000
—)o(—
Our facilities enable us to receive on favorable terms accounts of individuals and corporations. Collections promptly remitted for at lowest rates

ERLANGER DEPOSIT BANK.
(INCORPORATED 1893.)
ERLANGER, - - - KENTUCKY
CAPITAL PAID IN..... $50,000
SURPLUS..... $ 3,000
Careful attention given collections and remittances promptly made. Deposit accounts solicited.

Dr. J. L. Adams,
DENTIST,
Walton, Kentucky.
All work executed according to the latest methods of the profession.
Satisfaction - Guaranteed.

A. P. WALTON,
DENTIST.
121 Garfield Place
Cincinnati, - - - Ohio.
First-class Dental Work at Reasonable Prices.

JOHN L. VEST,
SURVEYOR
WALTON, KY.
Is prepared to do all kinds of work south of Burlington, Ky. Prompt attention given to all mail orders.

THE ADVERTISING ART.

Its Wonderful Development Shows Its Value to the Public.

Of the millions of people who read the daily papers published in the United States, from New York to Indianapolis and from Indianapolis to San Francisco, a very large majority give more or less time to reading the advertisements. Some do this because they wish to find a particular thing or are interested in some particular line of business; others because their eye is caught by a good display; others to see how business is; others in search of bargains, and so on. The regular patrons of a paper, its home readers, read the advertisements almost as regularly as they do any other part of the paper, and if regularly followed up, they are a good picture and reflex of the times. A daily newspaper without its regular grist of advertisements, changing every day in the year, and giving with every change a kaleidoscopic view of trade with its reflected lights of social life, would be a very poor sort of paper.

The evolution of the art of advertising is as interesting as that of any other feature of modern life. In the infancy of the business there was no art about it and not much business. Its value was not appreciated either by advertisers or publishers and probably it had not as much value in former times relatively as it has now, because it took time for people to become educated up to reading advertisements as they do now. One reason why they are so much more read now than formerly is that they are so much more readable. They are not only better worded, but fresher, and, being changed so much oftener, are much more a reflex of the times. A badly worded advertisement is almost as bad as none at all, and a stale advertisement, one that shows on its face that it is out of date, is as offensive to readers as it should be to publishers and advertisers.

To be effective an advertisement should be well constructed, adroitly worded, right to the point and changed as often as possible. No doubt one reason of the great growth of advertising in recent years is that business men, having learned to appreciate its value, are more careful than they used to be in keeping faith with the public and living up to their advertisements. In these days of sharp competition a merchant who should break faith with the public by advertising one thing or one price and offering another would soon find the public letting him severely alone. A shrewd advertiser would almost as soon let his note go to protest as not to live up to his advertisement. Shrewd advertisers, too, look carefully to the wording of their advertisements, and if no one in the establishment is skilled in that direction they hire somebody else to do it. In all cities now there are professional writers of advertisements, who do nothing else and receive large salaries. The business has grown enormously in every direction, giving employment to a great many people maintaining large and costly agencies, and involving the expenditure of hundreds of millions of dollars annually.

The art of advertising has been progressive from the beginning. It has never experienced any check—except bank check—and it is as expensive and progressive to-day as it was. This is the best possible proof that it pays.—Indianapolis Journal.

Insuring Workingmen.

The German government provides a system of compulsory insurance for working men. Under this system a workman 20 years of age pays an equivalent of 40 cents a week for three years, and at the age of 65 he receives the sum of $77, in the meantime having had an insurance against accidents. The annual premium is divided into three parts, one of which is paid by the workman, another by his employer, and the third by the state. The report for 1896 shows that 18,389,000 persons were insured under the law, of whom 3,409,000 were employes in shops and factories, 12,290,000 were employed in agriculture and 690,000 were in the employ of the state. In that year the number of accidents was 74,897, of which 6,448 terminated fatally. The total expense of the system for the year was $13,400,000.

Uncle Billy's Wisdom.

"Bobby asked Uncle Billy what noise was."

"What did Uncle Billy tell him?"

"He told him noise was any old kind of racket—except the kind we like to make ourselves." — Detroit Free Press.

—A real estate speculator in Boston rents his houses at a high rate, but collects no rental for the closing three or four months of the year. When selling a house he shows to the purchaser the lease, points out the big income, and thus deludes him.

—When a quack doctor loses a case, he always explains by saying he wasn't sent for soon enough.—Washington Democrat.

STATE NEWS.

An epidemic of typhoid fever, beyond the control of physicians, is raging in Johnson county.

Several of Marshall county's public schools have been closed for some time, on account of the measles.

A call has been issued for a meeting of the State League of Colored Republican Clubs in Lexington Friday, October 8.

The State convention of the Women's Christian Temperance Union will be held in Glasgow, beginning the 1st of October and lasting four days.

If advertising does not pay why is it that the Youth's Companion gets over $800 a year for one inch space each issue. How is it that the Ladies Home Journal gets $1.000 for a page ad? Why do four advertisers pay $6,000 each for a quarter-page ad on back cover in Munsey's Magazine? Are advertisers throwing money away like this, or does it really pay them?

The Methodist conference made the following assignments of ministers in this the Covington district, for the ensuing year: John R. Deering, Presiding Elder; Covington, Scott street, F. S. Pollitt; Covington, Eleventh street, C. F. Olney; Newport, Olin Bogges; Highland, J. W. Crates; Augusta, B. F. Chatham: Alexandria, J. W. Gardner; and R. M. Lee; Visita, F. T, McIntyre; Falmouth, T. F. Toliver; Carrollton, H. G. Turner; Petersburg, J. W. Harris; Warsaw, W. W. W. Green; Brooksville, E. A. McClure; G. B. Poage, supernumerary; Walton, W. T. Rowland; Cynthiana, E. L. Southgate; Williamstown, J. W. Simpson, Oddville, T. B. Cook; Kelat, W. J. Doran; Crittenden, D. E. Beddinger; Erlanger, W. K. Dennis; Select High School, T. J. Dodd; Agent Children's Home Society, Wm. Shoesmith.

CROP AND STOCK.

D. N. Rue, of Mercer county, bought 300 hogs at $3 50.

The Jessamine Journal notes the sale of 14 head of yearling cattle at 4 cents.

Joe Williams, of Barren county, sold a fat cow, that weighed 1,440 pounds.

The Stanford Interior Journal notes the sale of a lot of corn at $2 at the crib.

Nearly all the tobacco on Greasy creek, in Green county, was killed by the drouth.

Forscythe & Jones, of Mercer county, bought in Anderson 150 stock hogs at $3 25 and $3 50.

The Georgetown Times speaks of a calf five months old that after being driven five miles weighed 490 pounds.

A mare belonging to Lige Kimbro, of Hickman county, gave birth to two colts, one a horse colt, and the other a mule colt.

Owing to the slump in the tomato crop throughout the country this season, within the next three or four weeks the canned tomato will advance 20 per cent in price.

Mr. Jonas Weil says that 800 fat cattle were shipped out of Bourbon last week, that there are still 6,000 in the county, and only 2,000 of them sold. The prices are $4 50 to $4 75 for the best.

The Lexington Herald says one of the most successful wheat growers of Fayette county sows salt with his wheat. It is said that the chemical properties of the salt make it a good fertilizer on some kinds of land.

On the farm of W. A. Ray, about six miles from Princton, a fine vein of cannel coal has been discovered. The vein ranges from three to five feet deep and covers an area of two hundred acres. A company has been organized, and work will be begun at once to mine the coal and place it on the market.

The dark tobacco crop in Southern and Western Kentucky will be even less than the yield in the Burley region. The stand in both sections was generally a poor one owing to late planting and the continued drouth will still further cut short the crop. In fact in the dark tobacco region the general yield will not be one-fourth of a crop.

Mr. Jake Graves, of Chilesburg, one of Fayette county's largest land owners and cattle dealers, is making a novel experiment in utilizing fox-tail and rag-weed for cattle feed. The two grasses have taken partial possession of several of his pastures and threaten to kill the native blue grass. This attempted usurpation caused him to mow the pastures and stack the fox tail, weed, etc. The stacks will be open to the cattle, and Mr. Graves is of the opinion that they will eat the truck when winter sets in.—Lexington Herald.

FROM OWEN COUNTY.

[Herald.]

Peter King well known as a stirring farmer and trader of this county, left home under rather suspicious circumstances several days ago. The pretty seventeen-year-old cousin of his wife, Miss Nora Braden, who has made her home at Mr. King's for some time, has also disappeared, and the general opinion seems to be that the two are together somewhere in Indiana. Mrs. King, who is a most exemplary woman, is left with five children, the youngest a baby. It is hoped that Mr. King will soon return and be able to give a satisfactory account of his absence.

The heaviest frost that has been known this early since 1863 visited us Monday night. Tobacco in the lowlands is more or less injured, to what extent cannot be definitely stated. It is hurt but little, if at all, on the uplands. Corn is also damaged some in low places. There was also a light frost Tuesday night.

D. L Lusby sold 7 hhds of tobacco in Cincinnati last week at from seven to 18 cents.

P. H. Smith has a locust tree in his yard that is putting forth a second bloom this year.

[News]

The most unfortunate disappointment to the attendance at the fair was the misfortune that befell Liller & Wright, the bicycle wire riders and trapese performers. The first day they mounted the wire and started across on their perilous journey and when about one third the way across the wheel jumped the wire, but was being held by the trapese beneath when the handle bar of the wheel broke, dropping Liller to the ground, a distance of about 50 feet. He struck the ground on his head and shoulders and lay in an unconscious state. He was soon conveyed to his boarding house and his injuries looked after by Dr. J. W. Connell. While being pretty badly shaken up, nothing more serious than a severely broken arm proved to have befallen him.

The fair last week was the most successful in the history of the association. The extremely hot and dry weather of the first two days effected the attendance somewhat, but the latter two days the attendance was fine. Never in the history of the association has there been so much stock of different kinds and in all the exhibitions the contests were close and exciting.

FROM GRANT COUNTY.

[Courier]

The dry, hot scorching weather dried up the tobacco, corn, grass, cisterns, wells and springs.

Mr. Walter Stephens and Miss Sudie Lafferty surprised their many friends Sunday evening by being quietly married by Rev. Maddux at his home.

William Simpson brought a stalk of corn to the Courier office on last Saturday that was a little to the rise of fifteen feet long and bore a magnificent ear over 12 inches long.

Our friend E. D. McNay met with the misfortune to get his new clover huller burned while threshing at Ed Reniker's last Monday. He had just received his machine from Louisville at a cost of five hundred and twenty-five dollars, and had not threshed as much as twenty bushels with it. Mr. McNay expects to get another huller right away as he has over one hundred acres engaged to thresh yet.

On last Thursday Mr. Louis Walker, a farmer residing near Glendale, says the Hartford Herald, went into his cornfield to drive out some cattle which had broken therein, and while he and his son were chasing them one fat cow fell down as if dead. Mr. Walker, thinking she was overcome with heat, took out his knife and proceeded to cut her throat, so that she might bleed properly. The cow however, was not dead, but sprang up, and knocking against Mr. Walker's hand, drove the knife about an inch and a half into his neck, barely missing the jugular. Although very weak from loss of blood, at last accounts it was thought he would recover.

FROM CARROLL OUNTY

[News]

Silas Gex brought in an ear of corn last week that measured 14 inches in length.

Henry Webster bought the farm of Winfield Scott, on Mound Hill, last week, containing 44 acres, for $750.

Noah Philips had his entire crop of five acres of tobacco caught in the frost Monday night. He had just commenced cutting that day and it is said that cut suffered the same fate as that still standing.

To show how punctual the grand jury is on Tuesday morning Tom Gotlen, who had about 17 miles to drive, was a few minutes late, and he was fined the watermelons; yesterday morning Foreman John Langstaff was also a few seconds late and a like penalty was inflicted on him. At noon Smith Parker was delayed discussing an elegant dinner and it cost him a dozen cigars.

A DISCOVERY.

Something New Concerning the Movements of the Gulf Stream.

Hydrographers are much interested in the report just sent to the hydrographic office at Washington by an English sea-captain to the effect that he found the gulf stream much further north, off the east coast of Newfoundland, than it has been supposed to flow. Capt. F. W. Parker, a lieutenant in the royal naval reserve and commander of the British steamship Prudentia, is the navigator who made the discovery.

Capt. Parker says he observed that the gulf stream appeared considerably further north than usual, from latitude 51.30, longitude 43, to latitude 50.30, longitude 45. The water had that deep, blue color, which is characteristic of the gulf stream, and the temperature stood uniformly at from 57 to 58 degrees.

What struck the experienced navigator as peculiar was the fact that this belt of blue water occurred only between the Greenland current and the Polar current setting down the Newfoundland coast as laid down on the charts of the locality now in use. The temperature before and after also pointed to that conclusion. Gulf weed was also observed floating between the limits mentioned. This discovery is looked upon by scientists as important, as it adds to our knowledge of the gulf stream and may lead to a better acquaintance with that great current, which has such an important effect upon the climate of western and northern Europe.

The knowledge which hydrographers possess of the currents is meager at best and significant observations, such as Capt. Parker's, are of great value.—N. Y. World.

Spiders Save Forests.

Dr. C. Keller, of Zurich, asserts that spiders are doing most important work in preserving the forests by protecting trees against devastations on the part of insects. Dr. Keller opened the intestines of a large number of spiders and found that they are voracious enemies of the most noxious insects. According to his idea spiders are more beneficial to the maintenance of forests than all the insect-eating birds put together. Forestry commissioners and other interested people have taken up the subject and prizes are offered for the propagation and distribution of insect-eating spiders in forests.

Stamp Portraits.

In 1875 a law was passed prohibiting the use of the portraits of living men on the United States stamps, thus placing living men in the same position that women occupied, whether dead or alive, for no woman's portrait has ever graced a stamp belonging to the United States, postal or revenue.

—Several colored amateur actors were presenting a play in Pittsburg, Ga., when one of the characters, impersonated by John Singleton, is supposed to be shot by his rival. Through some blunder, the pistol contained a bullet, and the actor was shot dead.

The Democratic campaign will be opened in Burlington next Monday.

The Very Fact of the Case IS

That you can buy as much or more goods of a high quality, get better satisfaction ane always have more money by buying at.....

AYLOR'S

than any Little House this side of Cincinnati. We still kindly insist on you coming our way as you have in the past, as we will certainly always treat you right.

Very Truly,

IRA AYLOR, - - Erlanger, Ky.

C. W. ROBINSON,
DEALER IN
Dry Goods, Notions, Groceries, Boots and Shoes,
ALL KIND OF FEED AND FLOUR IN STOCK.
Agent for Weidler's Germ Food; Also agent for the Jones Fertilizers.
GOOD STABLE IN CONNECTION WITH STORE.
Constance, Ky.

METROPOLITAN COUPE & LIVERY COMPANY.
62 & 64 West Sixth St., Cincinnati, Ohio,
E. H. BAKER, Proprietor
Horses and Vehicles for Hire at Reasonable Rates.
Horses and Second-Hand Buggies for Sale.
Horses Sold on Commission.
Telephone 580.

CHAS. C. FRY. JACOB REIB.
FRY & REIB,
Manufacturers of and Dealers in all kinds of
Marble & Granite Monuments,
HEADSTONES, CORNER POSTS, ETC.,
109 Pike Sreet, - - - COVINGTON, K.
Near C. & O. R. R. Crossing. Designs Furnished Upon Application.

PATENTS
Caveats, and Trade-Marks obtained and all Patent business conducted for MODERATE FEES.
OUR OFFICE IS OPPOSITE U. S. PATENT OFFICE and we can secure patent in less time than those remote from Washington.
Send model, drawing or photo., with description. We advise, if patentable or not, free of charge. Our fee not due till patent is secured.
A PAMPHLET, "How to Obtain Patents," with cost of same in the U. S. and foreign countries sent free. Address,
C.A.SNOW & CO.
OPP. PATENT OFFICE, WASHINGTON, D. C.

NOTICE.

I have been appointed and qualified as administratrix of W. L. Norman, deceased, and all persons indebted to said estate must pay same at once and any one having a claim against said estate must present same to me properly proven at Walton, Ky., or to my Atty., S. W. Tolin at Burlington, Ky.

AMERICA A. NORMAN, Admrx.
August 25, 1897.

Frankfort & Cincinnati Railway.
Ask for tickets via this line. Schedule of trains in effect March 1, 1897.

East Bound.
Lve. Frankfort.....6:30 a. m, 3:00 p.m
Arr. Georgetown...7:20 a. m. 4:15 p. m
West Bound.
Lve. Georgetown...10:40 a m 6:30 p. m
Arr. Frankfort.....11:55 a. m 7:20 p. m
G. D. BERCAW, G. P. A.
Geo. B. Harper, Gen. Supt.
Frankfort, Ky.

H. S. STEVENSON.
Satisfaction Guaranteed.
DENTIST.
Prices Consistent with Good Services Only.
OFFICE:— Rising Sun, Indiana.

NOTICE.

Cincinnati, O., April 5, 1897.

To the Tobacco Growers of Boone County:

I am connected with the Cincinnati Leaf Tobacco Warehouse Co., which includes four houses—the Globe, Morris, Bodmann, Cincinnati Miami. Prize your tobacco and ship it to one of the four houses and receive the highest market price for same. If you have no preference ship it to the Cincinnati Miami, and I will give it my personal attention. Hogsheads and presses furnished. Address me at 110, 112 West Front St., Cincinnati, Ohio.

oct-7 O. W. ADAMS.

Take the Recorder, $1.50 a year.

RUGBY
PREPARATORY : SCHOOL
—FOR BOYS.—
Covington, - - Kentucky.
Thorough Preparation for Scientific School, College or Business, Military Training.
Limited Number of Boarders Desired.
Excellent Building.
Home Influence and Comforts.
Twelth Year. NEXT TERM BEGINS Sept'r. 15th, 1897.
For catalogue and special information Address,
K. J. MORRIS, A. M. Prin.

R. A. STEELE,
RISING SUN, IND.,
UNDERTAKING.
My Stock and accouterments are unsurpassed, having adult's black hearses and child's white hearse.
Independent of Undertakers' Union.
My prices are reasonable and my friends will tell you I give satisfaction.
FURNITURE
Large Stock of Latest Styles at Lowest Prices.
GIVE : ME : A : CALL.

Administrator's Notice.

Those indebted to the estate of J. C. Beall, deceased, must come forward and settle at once, and those having claims against said estate must present the same at once proven according to law.

CHAS. B. BEALL, Adm'r.

FIFTY DOLLARS A WEEK EASILY made. Agents wanted in every locality for Hon. W. J. Bryan's great and only book, "The First Battle." The best seller ever produced. Agents are taking as many as 200 orders per week. Beware of fraudulent imitations. Send for outfit and begin work at once. W. B. CONKEY COMPANY, Publishers, 341 Dearborn St., Chicago.

For Rent.

A good farm, to a good tenant—six miles from Cincinnati on Cincinnati Southern railroad and on free turnpike. Call at 80 W. 4th St. Covington, Ky. J. J. DULANEY.

Subscribe for the RECORDER

BOONE COUNTY RECORDER.

VOL. XXII. BURLINGTON, KENTUCKY, WEDNESDAY, OCTOBER 6, 1897. NO. 50.

A POOR crop of tobacco has been housed in this county.

CARD-WRITING is quite the fad in the Kenton county campaign.

THE Democrats of this county are going to be up and doing this fall.

THE appointment of Mr. Comingore, as Collector, is soon to be announced.

Gov. McCREARY and Allen O. Myers addressed a multitude of Democrats at Owenton on the 27th ult.

IN proportion to population typhoid fever is worse in Grant county than yellow fever is in any of the southern cities.

SENATOR FORAKER refuses to put his shoulder to the wheel to assist in lifting the Hanna band wagon out of the mire in Ohio.

THE C.J. says Louisville could give Hindman twice as many votes as she gave Palmer and Buckner. Of course—but will she?

PERU Indiana, is now attracting attention as the greatest oil field in the country. Oil is found only a few feet below the surface.

THE prospect of having a full crop of saloons in operation in the county again in a few months is causing considerable discussion.

IN their estimates of the result of the election in Ohio next month, the Republicans concede Hamilton county to the Democrats. A few more such concessions and the entire State will be surrendered.

IT was well enough for Senator Foraker, in cancelling all his appointments to speak in Ohio this fall to say that important business demands his presence elsewhere. A poor excuse is better than none.

GOV. MOUNT, of Indiana, is still engaged in a fruitless effort to have the members of the Versailles mob apprehended. Public sentiment endorses the work of the mob and the Governor has undertaken an up hill job.

JOE A. PARKER, Populist candidate for Clerk of the Court of Appeals, could not compete with a vericope that was exhibiting at the opera house, consequently his audience was so small at Lexington as to make the speaker lonesome.

THE President will send Dr. Hunter to far off Gautemala as Uncle Sam's representative in that country. Some of the Republicans in Kentucky wish the Doctor had been a resident of that interesting country all his life which has proven so very eventful.

As soon as a thief is captured in Ripley county, Indiana, he petitions the Circuit Judge to send him to some neighboring county's jail. The atmosphere of the Ripley county jail is very unhealthy for thieves, producing a throat trouble that is decidedly fatal.

A MAN was acquitted the other day in Louisville for killing another man for trespassing on his land. In Barren a man was fined $10 and cost for killing a hog trespassing on his premises. The question naturally arises, is a Barren county hog worth more than a Louisville man.

IF free silver is a dead issue, a great many men who claim to be political leaders are displaying a great lack of sense by continually fighting that which they claim to be dead. The truth is these wise acres know it is not dead, but very lively and enjoying a healthy growth.

About a week ago D. M. Miller, says the Greensburg Record, was near a fine spring which is on his place, that never got muddy, it matters not how much it rains. He heard a roaring sound, and then he commenced searching for the cause and found the spring was running a large volume of muddy water which was very strange, when it has not rained for the last five weeks.

THE Capital, which is fighting Mayor Todd in his contest for reelection as Mayor, of Louisville, says it is not supporting anybody —only fighting bad men.

PRESENT conditions warrant the belief that tobacco will bring a good price again next year, and while there is not as much available tobacco land in this county as there was a few years ago, every acre of it will be planted next season unless the plants should prove a disappointment.

THESE Democratic revenue officers whom Collector Yerkes has suspended, ought not to kick. Democrats should not expect to enjoy the emoluments of offices which belong to the Republicans. If Collector Yerkes can evade the civil service law, let him do so and give the offices at his disposal to Republicans.

THE fiscal court was in session yesterday, its last sitting this year unless called in special session. The new Justice of the Peace in the Florence and Constance precincs, J. H. Walton, was one of the Court. He is now filling the vacancy in the office of Justice of the Peace in his district. The court had about its usual grind of business.

THE great wall of China was recently measured by Mr. Unthank, an American engineer. His measurement gave the height as eighteen feet. Every few hundred yards there is a tower twenty-five feet high. For 1,300 miles the wall goes over plains and mountains, every foot of the foundation being of solid granite, and the rest of the structure of solid masonry.

A FAVORITE subject of Treasury speculation has been the amount of money issued by the United States which has been lost or destroyed. Of the old issue of $10,000 green backs, which were called a few years ago, but one was lost. The monthly statement of the United States Treasurer shows that one bill of that is in circulation, but it is kept in the office of the United States Treasurer as a curiosity.

HON. R. F. PEAK, of Oldham county, addressed a good sized audience at this place, last Monday, in the interest of Democracy. Mr. Peak is a good stumper and handles his subject without the use of any unnecessary words, and makes his points clear. He handled the State administration without gloves, attacking it for incompetency and corruption all along the line, using Republican ammunition for keeping up the galling fire. His speech on the tariff and money issues was strictly in accord with Democratic principles. The speaker made a good impression on those who heard him.

THE first question a man asks when he sees a girl flirting is whether she is respected or not; such bad practices raise a doubt at once. This being the case, no modest girl can afford to indulge in the pastime. When the down is brushed from the peach its beauty is so marred that it can never be restored, and when a girl throws lightly aside that sweet and modest reserve so becoming to a maiden, and which so elevates and enables her to command the respect of all, she loses her best charm and becomes rather cheap and common, to use no rash terms. Flirting may seem to the giddy and thoughtless girl wonderfully amusing, and she may get the idea that she is fascinating, but it is a most degrading thing, and should be frowned upon by every young lady who has ambition to become a worthy and charming young woman.

IT took 6,687 ballots to nominate a Republican candidate for Senator in the Eighth, Ohio, district. The convention held three sessions before it was able to make a nomination.

MR. BYNUM, of Indiana, who is making speeches in Kentucky to aid in the election of Mr. Hindman, the gold-bug Democratic candidate, for Clerk of the Court of Appeals made a speech in Georgetown one day last week in which he advocated the gold standard, and the Georgetown News, instead of publishing the speech delivered by Mr. Bynum in town published Bynum's free silver speech which he made in Congress on the 26th day of March, 1886. Among other thing Mr. Bynum said March 20, 1886, is the following:

"Again the advocates of gold approach us with open hands and smiling countenances, but I fear with a dagger concealed beneath their cloaks. 'Oh,' they say, 'we want silver! We are bimetallists, but we want an honest dollar. Suspend coinage and we will drive England, Germany and other nations to bimetallism, and then the price of silver bullion will appreciate and our dollar will be worth a hundred cents.' To the friends of silver I wish to say, 'Be not deceived.' Our county without silver coin, with an immense debt to pay, every dollar of which by principle of law and equity, of honesty and justice, was payable in silver coin, was the desert upon which this current should have been turned. Such a policy would have probably averted the panic of 1873, which swept across the continent like a besom of destuction, marking its course by a destruction of values never before witnessed. * * * Silver was demonetized without the consent or the least knowledge upon the part of the people. With all this discrimination against it, silver has held a place in all the governments of the would, performing the functions of a medium of exchange between the great body of the people."

A special from Frankfort to the Louisville Times, under date September 27, says:

"All local acts in conflict with the provisions of the new Constitution and not otherwise repealed stand repealed to-morrow, six years after the adoption of said Constitution. Nearly all local option now prevailing in Kentucky so prevails under old 'local acts' enacted many years ago. Few towns have voted local option under the provisions and regulations of the general local option law enacted since the adoption of the new Constitution. Therefore, nearly all the counties of Kentucky now 'dry' will be 'wet' beginning to-morrow, and will continue "wet" until dry times shall be voted again by the people, and according to the general local option law. Those that will continue 'dry' after to-morrow will be the exception rather than the rule, and are a few such places as Beaver Dam, Lewisport, etc., Whole counties now 'dry' will be 'wet' beginning to-morrow, are such counties as Hardin, Russell, Ohio, Laurel, Whitley and four adjoining counties. Of course dispute as to the present condition of the law will result in litigation, and the result in some localities remain in doubt some time."

Some hold that the Boone county local option has not gone out of effect, and the Court of Appeals is likely to be called upon to pass upon the matter before the question is settled to the satisfaction of all.

COL FORRESTER, in the last issue of the Capital says: "Just when intelligent negroes are joining with thoughtful white men in an effort to find a remedy for the astounding outbreak of brutishness among the degraded masses of the Southern blacks, the Republican party in Louisville is made the medium for appealing to all that is vicious in the negro population, and Todd is engaged in buying votes by promising social equality to the negro in the slums of the city and encouraging them to an outbreak against the whites. Promising that negro policemen shall invade convents and investigate them, would get George Todd hung to a lamp post in many a Southern community. It may be questioned whether the Southerners would make any mistake, but Louisville can settle Todd at the polls in November."

Pith of the Press.

The watchword of Hanna's "business talks to business men" Coughup."—Toledo Bee.

The leaves are falling in Ohio from Mark Hanna's check book.—Kansas City Times.

We are looking for a Republican who will admit he admires Mark Hanna or his political methods.—Pomeroy Ohio Democrat.

Hanna may criticize the cartoonists, but he ought to take a few lessons in art and learn how to draw an audience.—Chicago Dispatch.

Mr. Elkins doesn't regard the Attorney-General as being a particularly warm person. There will be other opportunities.—Washington Post.

Hanna is trying to hide himself behind McKinley. He finds that the fire on himself as an issue is becoming very hot.—Tiffin Ohio Advertiser.

Even Mr. Hanna must be a little surprised at times to learn from the Republican papers what an able campaign orator he is.—Detroit Journal.

This suspense as to the whereabouts of Governor Pingree is enough to bring a tear to the eye of every potato in the county.—Chicago Tribune.

Mark Hanna may not have horns, as some believe. But he has something more certain to bring him political success. He has a barrel.—Nashville Sun.

"What kind of a hold has Mr. Bynum on Wall street?" inquires a valued contemporary. At this distance it appears to be a leg hold.—Washington Post.

Senator Hanna celebrated his sixtieth birthday anniversary over in Ohio the other day, and yet he probably will not attain his majority till next November.—Chicago Times-Herald.

Hanna is a man of great wealth, but he has not got enough money to buy sufficient votes to elect him to the Senate. The breach in his party is too great to be healed with all of his cash.—Springfield Ohio Democrat.

There is only one inexplicable feature of President McKinley's sale of the Government's $53,000,000 interest in the Union Pacific to his political allies for $28,000,000. Why did he not give the railway outright to the syndicate?—Kansas City Times.

Secretary Sherman is one "eminent Republican" who it is now understood will not participate in the Ohio campaign. It appears that the speech he had prepared did not come up to the standard of partisan excellence, and has been rejected by Editor Hanna.—Rochester Times.

HON. JOHN W. MENZIES, after an illness of three months, died at the residence of son-in-law, Hon. Leslie T. Applegate, in Falmouth, Pendleton county, last Sunday at 9 o'clock p. m. Judge Menzies was in his seventy-eighth year, having been born in Fayette County, Kentucky, in 1819. He was graduated from the University of Virginia in 1850, studied law, was admitted to practice in 1841 and located in Covington. He was elected to the Legislature in 1848 and 1855. In 1861 he was elected to Congress, and was a delegate to the Chicago convention in 1864. In 1873 he was elected Judge of the Chancery Court, filling the position until 1892, when the offiee was abolished. He was a Whig at one time, but for the last quarter of century has been an ardent Democrat, supporting Bryan and the Chicago platform in the last Presidential race.

NEARLY every person who came to town Monday complained of the scarcity of water in their neighborhood. Many said they were hauling water quite a distance for domestic purposes, while water for stock was becoming very scarce.

JOHN C. TANNER
SPECIAL AGENT,
ERLANGER, - - KY.
Representing Reliable Companies Manufacturing
Musical Instruments, Sewing Machines, Bicycles, Buggies, Farming Implements
—ALSO—
Coal and Lumber, Granite & Marble Work, Life & Fire Insurance.
☞Prompt Attention and Satisfaction Guaranteed.
Aug 25 3m.

PROF. M. McMURPHY,
Formerly Principal of
The Erlanger School,
—Will Open—
A : Private : School
at ERLANGER, KY., for
☞9 or 10 MONTHS.☜
Attention will be given to all the Common School Branches, also to HIGHER ARITHMETIC, ALGEBRA, HISTORY, CIVIL GOVERNMENT, RHETORIC, PHYSIOLOGY, NATURAL PHILOSOPHY, MUSIC AND LATIN.
For particulars call on or address
PROF. McMURPHY,
ERLANGER, KY.

B. F. BUCHANAN,
— DRUGGIST, —
Rising Sun, - Indiana.
Thanks his Kentucky friends for their renewed patronage and invites them to continue to call at the Corner Drug Store.

INSURE AT HOME
The Farmers' Mutual Fire
INSURANCE COMPANY,
OF BOONE COUNTY,
Is now completely organized and receiving applications for insurance.
Its Rates are Lower
Than those of any other Company and gives the farmers of Boone County
HITHERTO UNKNOWN ADVANTAGE
In keeping their property insured.
EVERY FARMER IN THE COUNTY should take a policy at once.
E. H. BLANKENBECKER, - President, Florence, Ky.
D. E. LAWELL, - Vice-President.
OSCAR GAINES, Secretary, Burlington.
J. E. DUNCAN, Treasurer.
EXECUTIVE BOARD—Legrand Gaines, J. W. Conner, John Stephens.
J. E. SMITH, Assessor, - Burlington, Ky.
W. M. ROGERS, Agt. - Walton, Ky.

NOTICE.

All persons holding claims against Ezra W. Rouse, dec'd are hereby notified that they must present them to me at once proven as by law required, those owing same will please come forward and settle at once.

Mrs. EMMA ROUSE, Adm'rx.
Lassing & Riddell, Attys.

Farm for Sale.

Lying on the Beaver pike, Boone county, Ky., 1 mile from Richwood Station on the C. N. & T. P., railroad. Said farm contains 115 acres in a good state of cultivation, with a good frame dwelling of seven rooms and cellar, cistern and well in the yard, barn and other necessary out buildings, orchard and various kinds of fruit trees; known as the W. H. Smith farm. Those wishing to purchase call on or address,
LEWIS RICE, Richwood, Ky.

What it Will Do.
FALMOUTH, KY. July 7, 1896.
Dr. J. T. Boulton, Cincinnati, O.
Dear Sir—I was taken with a severe cough the first of May; for two weeks I could not lie on my left side nor breathe through my left lung. I also had hemorrhage and my friends said I had consumption. I began taking Boulton's Cough Remedy and began to improve with the first dose, and within three weeks was entirely well. I can not say enough in favor of Boulton's Cough Remedy. Respectfully,
MRS. S. J. MARSHALL.
For sale by all druggists. Price, 25c. and $1 per bottle.

D. E. CASTLEMAN,
ATTORNEY - AT - LAW.
BURLINGTON, KY.
Will practice in the Courts of Boone Kenton, Grant and Gallatin. Collections pushed energetically.

G. G. HUGHES,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
BURLINGTON, KY.
Will practice in all the courts. Prompt attention given to all business entrusted to me.

P. E. CASON,
ATTORNEY - AT - LAW.
BURLINGTON, KY,
Practice in all Courts. Promptness guaranteed.

J. G. TOMLIN,
ATTORNEY - AT - LAW,
WALTON, KENTUCKY.
Will practice in the Courts of Boone, Kenton Grant and Gallatin. Prompt attention given t Collections entrusted to him.
mch25-93.

W. E. VEST,
County Surveyor,
BURLINGTON, KY.
Is prepared to do all kinds of Surveying. All orders by maill promptly attended to.

J. M. LASSING. N. E. RIDDELL.
LASSING & RIDDELL,
ATTORNEYS AT LAW.
BURLINGTON, KY.
Prompt Attention Given to Collections

S. GAINES,
ATTORNEY-AT-LAW,
BURLINGTON, KY.
Will practice in all the courts, and prompt attention given collections. Office—In residence near post-office.

DR. A. B. HARRYMAN,
.....DENTIST.....
Will be in Lawrenceburg, Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday.
At Aurora, Thursday, Friday and Saturday. Practiced for 30 years.
No Poisonous Gasses Used.

RICE,
CARPENTER AND BUILDER,
Burlington, Ky.
YOUR WORK IS SOLICITED.
W. E. VEST B. L. RICE

VEST & RICE,
Real Estate Agents.
Farms Bought, Sold or Exchanged, Money to Loan on Real Estate, Notes bought, sold & Negotiated.
☞All communications addressed to W. E. VEST, Burlington, Ky.

BOONE CO. DEPOSIT BANK.
(Incorporated 1886.)
CAPITAL, ... $30,000
Surplus and undivided profits, 19,000
Our facilities enable us to receive on favorable terms accounts of individuals and corporations. Collections promptly remitted for at lowest rates

ERLANGER DEPOSIT BANK.
(INCORPORATED 1897.)
ERLANGER, - - KENTUCKY
CAPITAL PAID IN..... $50,000
SURPLUS,..... $ 3,000
Careful attention given collections and remittances promptly made. Deposit accounts solicited.

Dr. J. L. Adams,

DENTIST,
Walton, Kentucky.
All work executed according to the latest methods of the profession.
Satisfaction - Guaranteed.

A. P. WALTON,
DENTIST.
121 Garfield Place
Cincinnati, - - Ohio.
First-class Dental Work at Reasonable Prices.

JOHN L. VEST,
SURVEYOR
WALTON, KY.
Is prepared to do all kinds of work south of Burlington, Ky. Prompt attention given to all mail orders.

THE RECORDER

W. L. RIDDELL, Publisher.

BURLINGTON. : : : KY.

OCTOBER—1897.

Sun.	Mon.	Tue.	Wed.	Thur.	Fri.	Sat.
....	....	....	....	....	1	2
3	4	5	6	7	8	9
10	11	12	13	14	15	16
17	18	19	20	21	22	23
24	25	26	27	28	29	30
31	....	....	....	....	....	....

CURRENT TOPICS.

BOSTON negro voters have organized.

DUBLIN, Ireland, has 16,000 unionists.

DETROIT has a co-operative cigar factory.

BOSTON has a Chinese laundrymen's union.

THE bubonic plague is again spreading in India.

CLEVELAND'S city clerk wants to tax clairvoyants.

BELFAST (Ireland) engineers won the eight-hour day.

THE gold finds in Whatcom county, Wash., are reported as very rich.

THE Union Veteran legion adopted a resolution calling for more pension legislation.

NEARLY one thousand barrels of sugar cane have been raised on Tennessee's state farm.

ENGLISH employers are importing engineers from Germany to take the places of strikers.

THE Natchez (Miss.) board of health has interdicted the sale or receipt of New Orleans newspapers.

THE anti-cigarette law of Tennessee is to be tested in the federal courts by the American Tobacco Co.

THE United States consul at Odessa reports that the failure of grain crops in Russia covers an extensive area.

THE Muscians' union claims that non-union men were employed in one of the bands on Labor day at Milwaukee.

A REMARKABLE eel has been discovered in the Fiji islands. It has a peculiar formation in its throat, which causes it to whistle when in an excited state. The eel is 15 feet long and several inches in girth.

THE longest distance that a shot has been fired is a few yards more than fifteen miles, which was the range of Krupp's one-hundred-and-thirty-ton steel gun. The shot required for this gun weighs 2,600 pounds.

SAM STONE BUSH is organizing a company of Louisville (Ky.) men to construct a tramway between Dyea and Lake Lindemann, over the Chilkoot Pass. Mr. Bush has just returned from an inspection of the route.

SOME women in Russia are preparing a unique gift for Dr. Nansen. It will be a carpet, with a map of the north pole regions embroidered in silks. The places visited by him in his voyage will be worked in silver and gold thread.

ACCORDING to the premier of New Zealand, a homing pigeon recently flew from Victoria to New Zealand in three days. The distance is about 1,000 miles, and the bird must have flown without rest at a speed of about 15 miles an hour.

A NEW invention is a fan for an attachment to sewing machines. The blades are shaped like those of electrical fans, and it can be quickly and easily attached to or removed from a moveable member of the machine, by whose motion it is actuated.

CONSPICUOUS among the adornments of the bridal feasts in Brittany is an artistic and elaborate butter structure, as fanciful and elegant as the most beautiful bridal cake, and into this structure the guests stick split sticks bearing coins of gold or silver.

A NEW kind of ice skates will be in vogue next winter. The skate will be made with slots in the runners to support the shafts of several pairs of rollers, which are mounted loosely on the shafts and have sharpened edges to cut the ice as the skates glides along.

REV. DR. PARKHURST says, in a recent letter to a friend in New York: "I can not stand by the Sunday saloon pure and simple, but I do believe in allowing the sale of beer and light wines on Sunday, provided they are the accompaniment of an honest meal, honestly paid for."

THE duke of Argyll lately offered himself as a living proof of the advantages of desultory reading. He had never been to school or college, but he had always read everything he could lay his hands on. To this he attributed his success in public speaking, for he "often found he had read what others had not."

In digging at Herculaneum there has been brought to light a pillar covered with bills, one on top of another. The paste used to stick them was made of gum arabic. When separated and examined they were found to be programmes and announcements of public meetings, and even election proclamations.

THERE is a genuine wild man out in Appleton, Wis., and he has a trait that is not common to others of his species. Stranger still is the fact that "Bosco"—the name of the wild fellow—actually eats reptiles of all kinds while they are alive. He is the most disgusting human in the country.

PROF. F. E. GURLEY, of Danville, Ill., for several years state geologist, has made one of the finest private collections of fossils in the world. His house is not big enough to accommodate his specimens, and he is now offering them for sale. They must be kept together, however. He will not part with them as a, other terms.

SPANISH CRISIS.

The Cabinet Tenders Its Resignation, Which is Accepted—Gen Azcarraga Asked to Continue in Office Until the Trouble is Over.

MADRID, Sept. 30.—The cabinet tendered its resignation Wednesday evening. The Queen has accepted the resignation, but has asked Gen. Azcarraga to continue in office until the solution of the crisis is found.

Her majesty will summon the leaders of the various parties and the presidents of the chambers Thursday to consult as to the situation. Senor Sagasta has been telegraphed for, and it is believed that the Liberal leader will be asked to form a cabinet.

The ministry, whose resignation has just been announced, was constituted as follows:

Prime Minister and Minister for War—Gen. Marcelo de Azcarraga.

Minister for Foreign Affairs—Duke of Tetuan.

Minister of Marine—Rr. Adm. Don Jose M. Beranger.

Minister of Finance—Don Juan Navarro Reverter.

Minister of Commerce and Agriculture—Don Aurelnana Linares Rives.

Minister for the Colonies—Don Tomas Castellano.

Minister of the home department, Don Fernandi no Cos-Gayon.

United States Minister Woodford, the duke of Tetuan and the president of the senate, the Marquis Pazo de la Merrzed, held a long conference Wednesday and Gen. Woodford presented to Gen. Azcarraga the members of the United States legation, owing to the cabinet crisis the Cuban pour parlois have been postponed.

It is said that Senor Sagasta is in favor of superceding Capt. Gen. Weyler and of granting autoonmy to Cuba immediately.

Senor Gamazo will probably be minister of foreign affairs in the new cabinet.

On August 27, last, it was announced that Senor Sagasta, the liberal leader, had made a fresh declaration on the political situation. He said affairs were daily growing worse in Cuba and continued serious in the Philippine islands. He added that a liberal ministry would be ready to apply autonomy to Cuba. Again, on September 14, Senor Sagasta, referring to the Cuban insurrection, said the uprising instead of dying out was spreading considerably. He added that the situation in the Philippine Islands was serious. He asserted that the Carlist propaganda in Spain could not be viewed with indifference, and he expressed the belief that a reconciliation between the political parties in Spain was impossible so long as the conservatives were in power.

Regarding the relations between the United States and Spain, the liberal leader refused to express himself.

DISEASE SPREADING.

Wednesday Was a Record Breaker in the Number of New Yellow Fever Cases in New Orleans—The Plague at Other Points.

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 30.—Wednesday was a record breaker in the number of new cases of yellow fever reported while the deaths equalled in number those of any day since the yellow fever was first discovered in the city.

There are various reasons given for the spread of the disease, but "cipal ones are two—that the weather turned warm again, and owing to the much wider field to cover the board of health has had some difficulty in getting every house as closely guarded as was possible when the cases here were few in number and the trained officials of the board were stationed about the quarantined houses. The fact the death rate has been small and that the chances of an epidemic have been constantly growing less have made the general public somewhat careless and there has been increasing friction between the quarantined people and the authorities. Imprisoned inmates of houses have been going over back fences and sneaking out of side doors in order to be unconfined and the result has been that the more germs have been scattered rapidly developed in these warm days.

Four deaths and 27 new cases were reported Wednesday.

EDWARDS, Miss., Sept. 30.—Twenty-four new cases of yellow fever were reported here Wednesday—14 whites and 10 colored.

Nine new cases of yellow fever and one death, that of Mrs. N. O. Franklin, were reported at Scranton, Miss., Wednesday.

Dr. Watts, of Brownsville, reports two new cases at that place—Miss Mira Hall and Theo. Taylor; also a number of others who have had the fever for some time. A child named Taylor died of the fever there Wednesday.

MOBILE, Ala., Sept. 30.—Tuesday's rather big report of 10 new cases was offset Wednesday by a small report of 4. The only death in the 24 hours ending at noon was Brother Synphorian at the Industrial Gardens, reported Tuesday night.

Bryan Congratulates Williams.

BOSTON, Sept. 30.—George Fred. Williams, democratic nominee for governor, Wednesday received the following telegram: "Lincoln, Neb.—Accept congratulations upon your nomination. Massachusetts democracy has done nobly. The Chicago platform is being vindicated by events. The fight for financial independence will yet be won. The trusts and government by injunction will fall with the gold standard. Your plank against retirement of greenbacks was timely. Strength to your arm and success to your banner. W. J. Bryan."

The Three Amendments Defeated.

TRENTON, N. J., Sept. 30.—The latest revised returns and estimates Wednesday morning indicate that the anti-gambling amendment to the state constitution has been beaten by from 5,000 to 10,000. These figures may be materially changed as more complete returns come in from the rural counties, but there seems to be no doubt that the amendment is beaten. The amendment giving women the right to vote at school elections is beaten worse than the anti-gambling amendment, while the at interim appointment amendment is probably defeated by a close

OLEOMARGARINE.

The Production Last Year Amounted to 45,531,207 Pounds.

Illinois Continues to Lead in the Manufacture of This Product—Adm. Walker Confers With Secretary Long—Ex-Queen Lil Returns to Washington.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 1.—The production of oleomargarine during the last fiscal year amounted, 45,531,207 pounds, being over 5,000,000 pounds less than in 1896, and of over 24,000,000 pounds since 1894. The decrease is attributed to hostile state legislation cutting off the privilege of sale as well as that of manufacture. The number of manufactories decreased from 22 in 1896 to 16 in 1897. The number of wholesale establishments from 157 to to 103 and the number of retail houses from 4,389 to 3,539. The quantity exported during the year amounted to 5,148,407 pounds, which is a slight increase over the year 1896. Illinois continues to lead in the manufacture of this product, more than one-half of the total output having been produced in the first district of Illinois. Rhode Island is second with a total production of 7,112,433 pounds, and Kansas third with 5,589,303 pounds. The revenue derived from this source during the last fiscal year amounted to $1,054,129.

Adm. Walker, chairman of the Nicaragua canal commission, had a conference with Secretary Long Thursday regarding a vessel to take the commission to Nicaragua and to be used by it during the stay of the commission in the south. The admiral has made a request for the gunboat Newport which has been fitted up for the naval academy, and which will answer all purposes of the commission. It has not yet been determined that this vessel can be spared. The commission expects to start south at an early date and is now delayed on account of the Carter investigation.

Ex-Queen Liliuokalani, of Hawaii, returned to the city Thursday from her visit to San Francisco. Accompanying her were Joseph Heleluhe, her secretary, and several friends who recently arrived at San Francisco from the islands. The ex-queen's stay in the city is indefinite.

The state department has dashed the hopes of another fortune hunter, who, it would appear, narrowly escaped being victimized by a swindler. In this case two residents of Chetopa, Kan., were represented to be heirs to "the Wardle estate" in England. United States Consul Grinnel, at Manchester, by direction of the department of state, made an investigation and found that while there was a magnificent estate of that name near Manchester, it is owned by another family who can trace title for 100 years, and that no time in the past has any Wardle family been interested in the estate.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 1.—President McKinley and party arrived in Washington at 10 o'clock Thursday morning over the Pennsylvania road. The return trip was made without incident. Quite a crowd gathered at the station to witness the home-coming. Both the president and Mrs. McKinley acknowledged the greeting by smiling and bowing pleasantly to those who were assembled. They then entered carriages and were driven to the white house.

THIRD GAME

Of the Cup Series in the Western League Won by Indianapolis.

COLUMBUS, O., Oct. 1.—About 1,500 people witnessed the third of the games in the cup series between Columbus and Indianapolis Thursday. Both pitchers received brilliant support at times, the fielding of Mertes and Hogriever being the features of the game. McCarthy led in batting, making four safe hits out of as many times at bat, one of them for three bases. In the ninth inning, with the score tied, Gray hit for two bases after one man was out. McFarland followed with a single, but Mertes stumbled so quickly Gray could not get past third. McCarthy was the next man up, and as he had already made four hits he was allowed to walk to first. Then Kahoe swung hard at the ball and it bounded off the bat dead and rolled down the third base line so slowly that Genins, who fielded it, could not prevent Gray crossing the plate with the winning run. Following was the score:

Innings	1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9	R.	H.	E.
Columbus	0	0	0	0	0	0	0	0	0	0	5	1
Indianapolis	4	0	0	0	0	0	1	0	1	6	13	1

Batteries—Evans and Buckley; Forman and Wood. Umpire—Mannassau.

Wreck of the Dean Richmond Located.

ERIE, Pa., Oct. 1.—The United States steamer Michigan returned here from Dunkirk Thursday after locating the wreck of the steamer Dean Richmond. The wreck was found seven miles off Silver creek, in 13 fathoms of water. The Dean Richmond was sunk October 13, 1893. Her entire crew of 18 men were drowned. Search for the wreck has been going on for the past three years, but without success until now.

River Miners Will Strike.

MONONGAHELA CITY, Pa., Oct. 1.—The river miners in convention here Thursday decided to strike until the conditions of the settlement effected at the Columbus convention and the differential usually prevailing on the Monongahela river are agreed to. The suspension, which will be practically a total one, takes place at once and affects between 5,000 and 6,000 men.

Oldest Lithographer Dead.

OWENSBORO, Ky., Oct. 1.—Colin C. Milne, the oldest lithographer in America, died here. He was born in Murrayshire, Scotland, in March, 1813. When 18 years old he came alone to this country, went to Baltimore, Md., and established the first lithographing studio in that city. In the summer of 1836 he located in Louisville and established the first lithographing business in that city. He made the first map in Kentucky. One of the first things he ever printed was a caricature of Jackson removing the deposit from the United States bank. Mr. Milne came to Owensboro in 1860.

THE WOODFORD NOTE

Expresses the Hope on the Part of the United States That the War Will Be Brought to a Speedy Close in the Interest of All Concerned.

CHICAGO, Oct. 2.—A Washington special to the Times-Herald says: It is now possible for the Times-Herald to give, not the exact text of the famous Woodford note to Spain, but a fair statement of its substance.

This celebrated and much discussed document simply expresses, on the part of the United States, the hope that the war will be brought to a close as speedily as possible, but there is no date fixed when the consummation is to be reached, and that the interests of Spain, no less than the interests of the United States, the interests of humanity and the interests of the world at large are reasons why the war should be ended with the least possible delay.

And with that in view, acting as a friend of Spain, because of the great stake which the United States has in Cuba financially and otherwise, because of the annoyance to which the United States has been put by maintaining a patrol over and preventing the sailing of filibustering expeditions, and because civilization opposes war, the United States tenders to Spain its good offices to act as a friend between the mother country and her rebellious colony in the hope that she may be able to effect a settlement and bring the warfare to a close.

This is all there is in the note. There is not the faintest suggestion of this government forcing upon Spain her good offices if she does not care to voluntarily accept them, nor is there an intimation that the war must be brought to an end by a certain time or that Spain must return answer to this note by a fixed date.

TRAIN HELD UP.

Bandits Rob the Express Car and Passengers Near Minco, in the Indian Territory.

EL RENO, Okla., Oct. 2.—Bandits robbed southbound Rock Island passenger train and all its passengers at 11 o'clock Friday forenoon at siding No. 1, about five miles south of Minco, in the Indian territory. The railroad and express officials have feared a hold-up in that section for several weeks, and armed guards have been put aboard all night trains at El Reno and carried through to Chickasha. It had not been thought that the outlaws were bold enough to attack a train in midday. Friday morning the trainmen were completely surprised and they were not prepared to offer any resistance when five masked men came upon them at the lonely siding.

Under the pressure of Winchesters and ugly-looking six-shooters the trainmen, the express messenger and all of the score or more of passengers were made to climb down from the train and stand in a line, hands up, on the prairie along the railway. While three of the robbers covered the badly frightened crowd with their guns the other two coolly and carefully robbed them, passing from one passenger to another down the line. The bandits secured about $300 in cash and such other valuables, in the way of watches, pins and jewelry as were in sight.

The passengers and trainmen having been thoroughly plucked, three of the bandits turned their attention to the express and mail coaches, the others standing guard over the helpless crowd on the prairie. The registered mail pouches were quickly rifled, but the through safe in the express car resisted all the force and ingenuity of the road agents. When the messenger had convinced the bandits that he could not open the strong box they resorted to dynamite. Several heavy charges were exploded, but the safe proved bandit proof, and though it was badly battered, its contents were saved to the express company.

Having taken forcible possession of everything that they could carry away, the bandits mounted their horses and rode off toward the west. A posse is in pursuit.

Star Pointer Lowers the Record.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Oct. 2.—In a race that was witnessed by at least 85,000 people Star Pointer, on the Illinois state fair grounds Friday afternoon, not only maintained his reputation as the king of pacers by beating Joe Patchen, but he also lowered the world's pacing record in a race by half a second, making a mile in 2:00¼, the record in a race having been 2:10, which Star Pointer made on Saturday, September 18, at Indianapolis, when he defeated Joe Patchen.

A Boundary Dispute Settled.

MANAGUA, Nicaragua, via Galveston, Oct. 2.—There is considerable rejoicing here accompanied by military and civic displays at the announcement that Gen. Alexander, the engineer appointed by President Cleveland to settle the boundary dispute between Costa Rica and Nicaragua, has decided that the eastern boundary of Nicaragua and Costa Rica commences at the harbor head of Greytown, as claimed by Nicaragua.

Death of Actor Joseph Proctor.

BOSTON, Oct. 2.—Joseph Proctor, the veteran actor, died at 12:45 Saturday morning at his home on Columbus avenue after a long illness. Mr. Proctor was born in Marlboro, Mass., in 1816, and made his debut upon the stage in 1833, in Damon and Pythias. He had in his time played with all the stellar attractions of his early days, Edwin Forrest and the elder Booth gave him aid and encouragement.

Bubonic Plague Again.

BOMBAY, Oct. 2.—Within a week there have been 60 deaths from the bubonic plague here. The disease has reappeared in Kurrachee and is gradually spreading. It has already extended to Sholapur. The government regards the situation as serious.

Sold Her Husband for $4,000.

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 2.—According to the Post Dispatch John A. Truett, a conductor on the Northern Central electric street car line, was sold Friday by his wife for $4,000 to a woman who declares that she loves the man more than his wife does.

POISON IN COFFEE.

The Mother and Four of Her Sever Children Are Dead.

Fifth Child Dying and the Sixth Victim Sick—An Older Son Became Alarmed Over a Remark Made by the Mother and Left the Breakfast Table.

OMAHA, Neb., Oct. 4.—A special to the Bee from Schuyler, Neb., says:

During Sunday forenoon Frank Steinad came hastily in from Shell Creek precinct, nine miles northeast, to summon a physician to the home of Frank Divis, where he said the whole family had been poisoned. Dr. Sista hastened out and found four of the seven children in the family and their mother dead, a fifth child in a dying condition, and a sixth victim sick. Mr. Divis and his oldest son went away early in the morning, leaving before the rest of the family breakfasted. When the meal was prepared all sat down and early in the course of the meal Mrs. Davis made some such remark as: "Eat a good breakfast and we'll all go together." An older son's mind was affected by the remark to the extent that he did not appease his appetite. A daughter, younger than the son, after drinking about a half cup of coffee, became sick and vomited. The rest of the family continued the morning meal, although the children made very wry faces and said the coffee did not taste good. Strychnine had been put into the coffee which soon showed its effects when those not prostrated spread the alarm, but not soon enough to avoid the fatal effects noted.

THE QUEEN REGENT

Solicitous for Spain's Relations With the United States and to Avert the Loss of Cuba.

NEW YORK, Oct. 4.—A special to the World from Madrid, Spain, by way of Bayonne, says: In all her consultations with the Spanish generals and the leaders of the political parties the queen regent has laid stress chiefly upon the question of Spain's relations with the United States and the best means of averting the loss of Cuba through prolongation of the war and consequent American intervention, thereby imperilling the stability of her son's throne, let alone playing into the hands of the republicans and Carlists, who have been especially troublesome of late.

The queen also insisted strongly upon discussing whether her Spanish rule in the West Indies would not be jeopardized by a too extended grant of autonomy, thus enabling the separatists and autonomists to prepare gradually and legally their evolution towards independence.

She earnestly asked the statesmen if they really believed a liberal government would be strong enough to make the majority of the Spaniards accept extended home rule, involving a sacrifice of Spanish material interests in the colonial markets and a heavy burden for the Spanish treasury, if saddled with a part of the Cuban debt.

The queen questioned whether Sagasta would be able to restrain public opinion, the press and the opposition parties if he made concessions to the Cubans under the pressure of American diplomacy.

The queen can not believe success would crown so complete a reversal of the policy which had been followed for the last two years and a half.

It seems that some, if not all, of her loyal advisors had the courage to tell the queen regent that the alternative lies between a sincere trial of a new policy embracing an understanding with the United States and the greater question of a conflict with America, probably entailing the loss of the colonies.

Nominations by the President.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 4.—The president has made the following appointments:

Thomas Sedden, register of the land office at Marquette, Mich.; John L. Worthington, register of the land office at Harrison, Ark.

David L. Geyer, of Pomeroy, O., receiver of public moneys at Roswell, N. M.

Albert M. Anderson, agent for the Indians of the Colville agency in Washington.

Wm. H. Driggs to be lieutenant commander in the navy.

Ulysses Grant Ammen to be assistant paymaster in the navy, with relative rank of ensign.

Two Expeditions to India.

OAKLAND, Cal., Oct. 4.—Two expeditions will leave this state this month for India to witness the total eclipse of the sun. Prof. Charles Burckhalter, astronomer at the Chaboy observatory, will go with a complete outfit, and Prof. W. W. Campbell, of Lick observatory, will represent the state institution. The Pierson expedition for the Chaboy observatory will leave October 30. W. W. Campbell, of the Lick observatory, will start October 21 and it is not probable that the two expeditions will meet in the Orient.

Two Killed in a Wreck.

DENVER, Col., Oct. 4.—News reached here that the San Juan express on the Denver & Rio Grande was wrecked by a broken axle while crossing a trestle near Cotopaxi at 12:45 Sunday. Two day coaches and two sleepers went over the trestle into the river below. Two persons were killed and a number of others injured.

One of the dead is Fred Seyler, of 2809 Cormany avenue, Cincinnati.

Notorious Staffleback Family Sentenced.

COLUMBUS, Kan., Oct. 4.—The notorious Staffleback family, whose crimes are commonly supposed to have rivaled those of the Benders, have been sentenced here for the killing of Frank Galbraith, the peddler, who was murdered in their den at Galena. Ed and George Staffleback, convicted of murder in the first degree, were given life sentences. Mrs. Wilson, their mother, as an accomplice was sentenced to 21 years. Mike Staffleback is serving a five year term for burglary. Ed Staffleback has been declared insane, his mind having given way through fear of lynching.

Every SATURDAY Tourist Sleeping Car Route to California.

Every Saturday night Midland Route tourist cars en route to Colorado, Utah and California will leave the Chicago Union Passenger Station of the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul Railway at 10 o'clock, running over the Chicago and Omaha Short Line to Omaha, thence via Lincoln, Neb., Colorado Springs and Leadville, Colo., Salt Lake City and Ogden, Utah, Reno, Nevada, and Sacramento, Cal., arriving at San Francisco at 8:45 p. m. Wednesday.

These popular every Saturday California excursions for both first and second-class passengers (not foreign emigrants) are "personally conducted" by intelligent, competent and courteous "couriers" who will attend to the wants of all passengers en route. This is an entirely new feature of tourist car service and will be greatly appreciated by families or parties of friends traveling together, or by ladies traveling alone. Particular attention is paid to the care of children who usually get weary on a long journey.

Remember that the Midland Route Tourist Cars are sleeping cars and are supplied with all the accessories necessary to make the journey comfortable and pleasant, and the sleeping berth rate is but $6.00 (for two persons) from Chicago to California.

Ask the nearest ticket agent for a tourist car "folder," giving complete information about the Midland Route, or address "Eastern Manager Midland Route," No. 95 Adams street, Chicago, Ill., or Geo. H. Heafford, General Passenger Agent, 410 Old Colony Building, Chicago.

Wherein Nobbleton Shows Sense.

"My friend Nobbleton," said Mr. Tankleby, "is overcareful about many things, but in many ways he shows great common sense. For instance: He always carries with him postal cards appropriately addressed, and if he is suddenly called away anywhere—and his business is such that he is liable to be at any time—he puts a word or two on one of his postal cards and puts it in the nearest letter box. He may not have time to stop and write or to telegraph, but he can always find time to drop this postal card, and it relieves the minds of the folks at home. In this I think Nobbleton shows sense."—N. Y. Sun.

Shake Into Your Shoes.

Allen's Foot-Ease, a powder for the feet. It cures painful, swollen, smarting feet and instantly takes the sting out of corns and bunions. It's the greatest comfort discovery of the age. Allen's Foot-Ease makes tight or new shoes feel easy. It is a certain cure for sweating, callous, hot, tired, aching feet. Try it to-day. Sold by all druggists and shoe stores, 25c. Trial package, FREE. Write to Allen S. Olmsted, LeRoy, N. Y.

Caught the Eggs.

Judge—How do you know the prisoners threw eggs at you?

Tragedian—I caught them in the act.—Up-to-Date.

To Cure a Cold in One Day

Take Laxative Bromo Quinine Tablets. All druggists refund money if it fails to cure. 25c.

A Stumbling Block.—"What is the objection of the politicians to the civil service reform system?" "The examination questions."—Truth.

A Dose in Time Saves Nine of Hale's Honey of Horehound and Tar for Coughs. Pike's Toothache Drops Cure in one minute.

We have noticed that the less a man knows the more he criticises the courts.—Washington Democrat.

I am entirely cured of hemorrhage of lungs by Piso's Cure for Consumption.—Louisa Lindaman, Bethany, Mo., Jan. 8, '96.

Because a man is poor in flesh is not a sure sign that he doesn't eat much.—Washington Democrat.

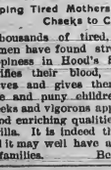
Hall's Catarrh Cure

Is a Constitutional Cure. Price 75c.

Do not slight the man because he has done [illegible].—Ram's Horn.

A GRAND WORK.

Helping Tired Mothers and Giving Rosy Cheeks to Children.



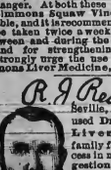
Thousands of tired, nervous, worried women have found strength, health and happiness in Hood's Sarsaparilla, which purifies their blood, strengthens their nerves and gives them good appetites. Pale and puny children are given rosy cheeks and vigorous appetites by the great blood enriching qualities of Hood's Sarsaparilla. It is indeed the mother's friend and it may well have a place in thousands of families. Be sure to get Hood's.

Hood's Pills are the only pills to take with Hood's Sarsaparilla.

GEORGIA LADIES

TELL THE TRUTH.

Hon. Mayor Shuee.



Bullard, Ga., writes: Eight years ago I had Slow Fever 3 months. Five Doctors attended me, but I continued to grow worse until I commenced taking Dr. M. A. Simmons Liver Medicine and found relief the same day, and I was well before one Package was taken. Have taken a few doses "Black Draught," but did not think it cleaned my Liver as well as Dr. M. A. S. L. M.

Female Complaints.

There are two critical and even dangerous periods in female life, when the greatest care is necessary.

The first, when the girl passes from childhood to womanhood; if through ignorance or neglect this mysterious change is interfered with or thwarted, even in the smallest degree, they are liable to some malady frightfully prevalent and serious, such as hysteria, fits or even consumption; while at the second period, called "change of life," there is also much distress and danger. At both these periods of life Dr. Simmons Squaw Vine Wine is invaluable, and it is recommended that a dose of it be taken twice a week for some time, between and during menstrual periods, and for strengthening the system we strongly urge the use of Dr. M. A. Simmons Liver Medicine, a dose at bedtime.

R. J. Redock

Seville, Ga., says: I have used Dr. M. A. Simmons Liver Medicine in my family for 20 years with success in many cases of Indigestion and Sour Stomach. I think it superior to "Thedford's Black Draught" and "Zeilin's Regulator," and I shall recommend Dr. M. A. S. L. M. as long as I live.

Hysteria

Is caused by natural or acquired feebleness of constitution, mental suffering and grief, derangements of the sexual system, such as menstrual irregularities, delayed development of the generative organs, or too strong sexual propensities. During a fit, the patient's clothes should be loosened, she should have an abundance of fresh air. The sudden, copious and continuous application of cold water to the head and face will cut the fit short. Between the paroxisms, Dr. M. A. Simmons Liver Medicine should be taken to correct torpidity of the bowels, and a course of treatment with Dr. Simmons Squaw Vine Wine which is specially adapted to remove the uterine disorders.

DROPSY NEW DISCOVERY; gives quick relief and cures worst cases. Send for book of testimonials and 10 days' treatment Free. Dr. H. H. GREEN'S SONS, Atlanta, Ga.

REVERENCE THE AGED.

A Sermon by Rev. Dr. Talmage to the Younger Generation.

He Urges Respect and Obedience for the Old—They Are Blessed in the Sight of the Lord—Aged Parents Look With Joy on Their Offspring.

Dr. Talmage's text Sunday was Genesis, xlv., 28: "I will go and see him before I die."

Jacob had long since passed the hundred year milestone. In those times the people were distinguished for longevity. In the centuries after people lived to great age. Galen, the most celebrated physician of his time, took so little of his own medicine that he lived to 140 years. A man of undoubted veracity on the witness stand in England swore that he remembered an event 150 years before. Lord Bacon speaks of a countess who had cut three sets of teeth, and died at 140 years. In 1857 a book was printed containing the names of 87 persons who lived 140 years, and the names of 11 persons who lived 150 years.

Among the grand old people of whom we have record was Jacob, the shepherd of the text. But he had a bad lot of boys. They were jealous and ambitious and every way unprincipled. Joseph, however, seemed to be an exception; but he had been gone many years, and the probability was that he was dead. As sometimes now in a house you will find kept at the the table a vacant chair, a plate, a knife, a fork, for some deceased member of the family, so Jacob kept in his heart a place for his beloved Joseph. There sits the old man, the flock of 140 years in their flight having alighted long enough to leave the marks of their claw on forehead and cheek and temple. His long beard snows down over his chest. His eyes are somewhat dim, and he can see farther when they are closed than when they are open, for he can see clear back into the time when beautiful Rachel, his wife, was living, and his children shook the Oriental abode with their merriment.

The centenarian is sitting dreaming over the past when he hears a wagon rumbling to the front door. He gets up and goes to the door to see who has arrived, and his long absent sons from Egypt come in and announce to him that Joseph, instead of being dead, is living in an Egyptian palace, with all the investiture of prime minister, next to the king in the mightiest empire of all the world! The news was too sudden and too glad for the old man, and his cheeks whiten, and he has a dazed look, and his staff falls out of his hand, and he would have dropped had not his sons caught him and led him to a lounge and put cold water on his face, and fanned him a little.

In that half delirum the old man mumbles something about his son Joseph. He says: "You don't mean Joseph, do you? My dear son who has been dead so long? You don't mean Joseph, do you?" But after they had fully resuscitated him and the news was confirmed, the tears begin their winding way down the crossroads of the wrinkles, and the sunken lips of the old man quiver, and he brings his bent fingers together as he says: "Joseph is yet alive. I will go and see him before I die."

It did not take the old man a great while to get ready, I warrant you. He put on his best clothes that the shepherd's wardrobe could afford. He got into the wagon, and though the aged are cautious and like to ride slow, the wagon did not get along fast enough for this old man; and when the wagon with the old man met Joseph's chariot coming down to meet him, and Joseph got out of the chariot and got into the wagon and threw his arms around his father's neck, it was an antithesis of royalty and rusticity, of simplicity and pomp, of filial affection and paternal love, which leaves us so much in doubt whether we had better laugh or cry that we do both. So Jacob kept the resolution of the text—"I will go and see him before I die."

What a strong and unfailing thing is parental attachment! Was it not almost time for Jacob to forget Joseph? The hot sun of many summers had blazed on the heath, the river Nile had overflowed and receded, overflowed and receded again and again; the seed had been sown and the harvests reaped; stars rose and set; years of plenty and years of famine had passed on; but the love of Jacob for Joseph in my text is overwhelmingly dramatic, for that is a cord that is not snapped, though pulled on by many decades! Though when the little child expired the parents may not have been more than 25 years of age, and now they are 75, yet the vision of the cradle, and the childish face, and the first utterances of the infantile lips are fresh to-day in spite of the passage of a half century. Joseph was as fresh in Jacob's memory as ever, though at 17 years of age the boy had disappeared from the old homestead. I found in our family record the story of an infant that had died 50 years before, and I said to my parents: "What is this record, and what does it mean?" Their chief answer was a long, deep sigh. It was yet to them a very tender sorrow. What does that all mean? Why, it means that our children departed are ours yet, and that cord of attachment reaching across the years will hold us until it brings us together in the palace, as Jacob and Joseph were brought together. That is one thing that makes old people die happy. They realize that it is reunion with those from whom they have long been separated.

I am often asked as a pastor—and every pastor is asked the question—"Will my children be children in Heaven and forever children?" Well, there was no doubt a great change in Joseph from the time Jacob lost him and the time when Jacob found him—between the boy of 17 years of age and the man in mid-life—his forehead developed with the great business of state; but Jacob was glad to get back Joseph, anyhow, and it did not make much difference to the old man whether the boy looked older or looked younger. And it will be enough joy for that parent if he can get back that son, that daughter, at the gate of Heaven, whether the departed loved one shall come a cherub or in full-grown angelhood. There must be a change wrought by that celestial climate and by those supernal years, but it will only be from loveliness to more loveliness, and from health to more radiant health. O, parent, as you think of the darling panting and white in membraneous croup, I want you to know it will be gloriously bettered in that land where there has never been a death and where all the inhabitants will live on in the great future as long as God! Josep was Joseph notwithstanding the palace, and your child will be your child notwithstanding all the raining splendors of everlasting noon. What a thrilling visit was that of the old shepherd to the prime minister Joseph!

I see the old countryman seated in the palace looking around at the mirrors and the fountains and the carved pillars, and oh! how he wishes that Rachel, his wife, was alive and she could have come with him to see their son in his great house. "Oh," says the old man within himself, "I do wish Rachel could be here to see all this!" I visited at the farm house of the father of Millard Fillmore when the son was president of the United States, and the octogenarian farmer entertained me until 11 o'clock at night telling me what great things he saw in his son's house in Washington, and what Daniel Webster said to him, and how grandly Millard treated his father in the white house. The old man's face was illuminated with the story until almost midnight. He had just been visiting his son at the capitol. And I suppose it was something of the same joy that thrilled the heart of the old shepherd as he stood in the palace of the Prime Minister. It is a great day with you when your old parents come to visit you. Your little children stand around with great wide open eyes, wondering how anybody could be so old. The parents can not stay many days, for they are a little restless, and especially at nightfall, because they sleep better in their own bed; but while they tarry you somehow feel there is a benediction in every room in the house. They are a little feeble and you make it as easy as you can for them, and you realize they will probably not visit you very often—perhaps never again. You go to their room after they have retired at night to see if the lights are properly put out, for the old people understand candle and lamp better than the modern apparatus for illumination.

In the morning, with real interest in their health, you ask how they rested last night. Joseph, in the historical scene of the text, did not think any more of his father than you do of your parents The probability is, before they leave your house they half spoil your children with kindness. Grandfather and grandmother are more lenient and indulgent to your children than they ever were with you. And what wonders of revelation in the bombazine pocket of the one and the sleeve of the other! Blessed is that home where Christian parents come to visit! Whatever may have been the style of the architecture when they came, it is a palace before they leave. If they visit you 50 times, the two most memorable visits will be the first and the last. Those two pictures will hang in the hall of your memory while memory lasts, and you will remember just how they looked, and where they sat, and what they said, and at what figure of the carpet, and at what door sill they parted with you, giving you the final good-by. Do not be embarrassed if your father come to town and he have the manners of the shepherd, and if your mother come to town and there be in her hat no sign of costly millinery. The wife of the Emperor Theodosius said a wise thing when she said: "Husbands, remember what you lately were, and remember what you are, and be thankful."

By this time you all notice what kindly provision Joseph made for his father Jacob. Joseph did not say: "I can't have the old man around this place. How clumsy he would look climbing up these marble stairs, and walking over those mosaics! Then, he would be putting his hands upon some of these frescoes. People would wonder where the old greenhorn came from. He would shock all the Egyptian court with his manners at table. Besides that, he might get sick on my hands, and he might be querulous, and he might talk to me as though I were only a boy, when I am the second man in all the realm. Of course, he must not suffer, and if there is famine in his country—and I hear there is—I will send him some provisions, but I can't take a man from Padanaram and introduce him into this polite Egyptian court. What a nuisance it is to have poor relations."

Joseph did not say that, but he rushed out to meet his father with perfect abandon of affection, and brought him up to the palace and introduced him to the emperor, and provided for all the rest of the father's days, and nothing was too good for the old man while living; and when he was dead Joseph, with military escort, took his father's remains to the family cemetery. Would God all children were as kind to their parents!

If the father have large property, and he be wise enough to keep it in his own name, he will be respected by the heirs; but how often it is when the son finds his father in famine, as Joseph found Jacob in famine, the young people make it very hard for the old man. They are so surprised he eats with a knife instead of a fork. They are chagrined at his antediluvian habits. They are provoked because he can not hear as well as he used to, and when he asks it over again, and the son has to repeat it, he bawls in the old man's ears, "I hope you hear that!" How long he must wear the old coat or the old hat before they get him a new one! how chagrined they are at the independents of the English grammar! How long he hangs on! Seventy years, and not gone yet! Seventy-five years, and not gone yet! Eighty years and not gone yet! Will he ever go? They think it of no use to have a doctor in his last sickness, and go up to the drugstore and get something to make him worse, and economize on a coffin, and beat the undertaker down to the last point, giving a note for the reduced amount, which they never pay! I have officiated at obsequies of aged people where the family have been so inordinately resigned to Providence that I felt like taking my text from Proverbs. "The eye that mocketh at his father and refuseth to obey its mother the ravens of the valley shall pick it out, and the young eagles shall eat it." In other words, an ingrate ought to have a flock of crows for pallbearers! I congratulate you if you have the honor of providing for aged parents. The blessing of the Lord God of Joseph and Jacob will be on you.

I rejoice to remember that though my father lived in a plain house the most of his days, he died in a mansion provided by the filial piety of a son who had achieved a fortune. There the octogenarian sat, and the servants waited on him, and there were plenty of horses and plenty of carriages to convey him, and a bower in which to sit on long summer afternoons, dreaming over the past; and there was not a room in the house where he was not welcome, and there were musical instruments of all sorts to regale him; and when life had passed the neighbors came out and expressed all honor possible and carried him to the village of Machpelah and put him down beside the Rachel with whom he had lived more than half a century. Share your successes with the old people. The probability is that the principles they have inculcated achieved your fortune. Give them a Christian percentage of kindly consideration. Let Joseph divide with Jacob the pasture fields of Goshen and the glories of the Egyptian court.

And here I would like to sing the praises of the sisterhood who remained unmarried that they might administer to aged parents. The brutal world calls these self-sacrificing ones peculiar and angular; but if you had had as many annoyances as they have had, Xantippe would have been an angel compared with you. It is easier to take

BOONE CO., RECORDER.

Wednesday, October 6, 1897.

Advertising Rates:
One inch, one time.....$1.00
Each additional time..... .25
Obituaries, Tributes of Respects or notices of a like nature, per inch .50
W. L. RIDDELL, - Publisher.

Democratic Ticket.

November 2, 1897.

For Clerk Court of Appeals,
SAM'L J. SHACKELFORD.

For Representative.
REUBEN CONNER.

For Circuit Judge.
JOHN W. GREENE.

For Commonwealth's Attorney,
M. D. GRAY.

For Circuit Clerk,
J. W. DUNCAN.

For County Judge,
C. C. ROBERTS.

For County Attorney,
J. M. LASSING.

For County Clerk,
B. W. ADAMS.

For Sheriff,
ELMER BEALL.

For Assessor,
T. G. WILLIS.

For Jailer,
T. J. ADAMS.

For County Superintendent,
L. H. VOSHELL.

For Surveyor,
W. E. VEST.

For Coroner,
A. A. MURAT.

Neighborhood News.

Limaburg.

A large crop of wheat is being sowed.

Wells that were never known to go dry before are now dry.

Burt House and Will Houston are in the butcher business.

It was never known to be dryer here, but the health of our people is good.

Jerry Beemon is repairing and remodeling the residence where his father died. When done it will be a handsome and comfortable home.

Rabbit Hash.

Mode Scott has about completed his new house.

T. J. Porter was visiting in the neighborhood, the past week.

John M. Hodges gave the young folks a party last Friday night.

Dick Ryle, of Cincinnati, was visiting his brother the first of last week.

The river is getting very low and if it don't rain soon you can walk across.

Stock water is getting very scarce and some of the farmers are very much discouraged.

Oscar Hodges gave the young folks a party, last Thursday night. It was enjoyed by all, and especially by two of our young men.

Mrs. E. P. Stephens, who was visiting relatives here, returned to Louisville, last Sunday, where she will spend several weeks and then she will return to her home in Missouri.

Erlanger.

Mrs. Kate Stephenson and daughter will leave for Lexington on a visit for a few weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. Kirb Conrad are going to move to Cincinnati, on account of his business.

Lafayette Lodge members went to Independence, Saturday night, and assisted in organizing a K. of P. lodge.

Mr. E. J. Green and his bride will move to Covington, while his father and mother will return to their old homestead near Bracht.

Mrs. Ferdiuand Sprigmeir was surprised by some of her friends, Sunday, in honor of her birthday. After congratulations the hostess set out an elegant banquet and a merry time was enjoyed by all. Among those present were Mr. and Mrs. Richard McAlpin, Mr. and Mrs. Mat Heuerkamp, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Moretti, Mrs. Godfried Mack, Miss Celia Cravaman, Mr. Frank Daniels, Miss Hattie Mack, Dora Lynn and a host of others. May she enjoy many more birthdays.

Hathaway.

Every one nearly is busy hauling coal.

Farmers are about done cutting corn and are sowing wheat.

Miss Grace Neal was very sick last week with neuralgia in her face.

Miss Sallie Dolph is teaching quite an interesting school at this place.

The drouth continues and the cry is for water, which is as scarce as hens' teeth.

Octavia Stephens spent a day or two last week visiting friends in Rabbit Hash vicinity.

Miss Mary Bell Adams, of Grant county, is the guest of her brother and sister of this place.

Mrs. Etta Clements and daughter, Emma, spent several days with her mother near Waterloo last week.

Ask Sid Clements and Claud Ryle how they feel after a big game of croquet and a cigar on Sunday morning.

Quite a crowd of young folks called on H. C. Presser and wife, last Sunday week, and spent a most delightful day.

Mrs. Ella Utz, Mrs Anna Bristow, Mrs. Allie Utz and Mrs. Ava Adams, spent the day with Mrs. Lena Presser, last Wednesday.

Mrs. F. P. Neal and daughter, Grace, Mrs. Myrtle Clements and Mrs. M. W. Neal spent the day with Mrs. Ras Stephens last Wednesday.

The protracted meeting at Big Bone closed last Sunday week, with one addition, after two weeks' faithful preaching by Revs. Early and Utz.

Petersburg.

The factory girls are back at work again.

Philip Klopp will move to Petersburg this winter.

H. P. Spaeth, of Aurora, Indiana, was in town, last Thursday.

Hon. T. B. Mathews has gone to Farmdale, Ky., on business.

The Pauline has a hard time of it trying to get into port at Lawrenceburg.

A. Alloway, our great base ball pitcher, has returned from Ft. Wayne, Ind.

Dr. W. K. Chambers passed through here Sunday evening on his way back to Aurora.

The Str. Workum is now only running to Cincinnati, the water being so low she can't go below.

W. A. Barnett, Morris McCright and Misses Hurd and Helms spent last Sunday in Rising Sun, Ind.

We are pleased to state that more of our men are at work, which makes business better in all branches.

We regret to say that Dr. Ralph Titley is very poorly, being confined to his bed and threatened with pneumonia.

Messrs. E. T. Krutz, Col. W. R. Gordon and Dr. Buchanan went to Cincinnati on business last week. This means that their business is picking up.

Our esteemed friend, Adam Vesenmire, has moved his groceries from the Stott building to the Smith building, which has been newly repapered and painted.

Another of Boone's old pioneers has gone to the Great Beyond. Old Uncle Dennis McLelland departed this life Thursday at 1 a. m., being in his 70th year. He leaves several children to mourn his demise, besides a large circle of friends. The family has the sympathy of the community in this their sad hour of sorrow.

Pearl Jarrell is living at F. C. Laws.

Ezra Aylor is looking for a farm to rent.

Charley Finn's health is very poor at present.

Thos. Hynes went out in the country Saturday to make cider.

Wm. Berkshire had as fine peaches this season as can be found in the country.

Word has been received here that Peter Chapin died of yellow fever at Mobile, Alabama.

Dr. Ed Grant, of Louisville, attended the funeral of Mr. Thos. Graves, at Bullittsburg, last Monday.

Wm. Rector, who lives near here, has raised 1,165 pounds on the lifting machine. How is that for high?

Frank Smith, who lives just south of town, makes a specialty of raising and feeding a great many fine hogs.

Bud Rector, a very promising young man, of Gunpowder was visiting at his Uncle William's, Saturday and Sunday.

J. W. Sebree, of Doubie Lick, has sold his tobacco for 10c round. He has been having chills and fever for more than a week.

Solon Early, John Peas, Ben Jarrell, Prof. Nelson and others went to Independence, Saturday, to assist in organizing a K. of P. lodge.

Supt. Voshell in company with Prof. Collins, of Richwood, passed through town Sunday, on their way home from a visit to the Hoosier State.

The price that a great many pay for water such seasons as this has been, ought to teach them the importance of having good cisterns on their premises. O. Snyder is preparing to build one at his barn.

Uncle Abial Dean will be 80 years old Oct 10th; was in the war with Mexico and has traveled a great deal in the west, particularly, and he says there are just as good chances for success right here in Boone county as anywhere.

Bill Bennett, who married at Lawrenceburg a year ago last July, and has been living here since the 21st of May, is at present confined to his bed with Bright's disease, and is dependent on the charity of his neighbors. He was a soldier in the Southern army with the late Capt. G. W. Terrill.

Union.

Making sorghum is the order these days.

Sam Hicks seems to be the principal buyer of stock in this vicinity.

B. L. Rice and family expect to spend the winter in Covington.

Squire Webb and wife, of Erlanger, attended church in Union, Sunday.

Mrs. Emma Presser, of Hathaway, was visiting relations here this week.

Mrs. P. G. McDaniel, of Missouri, is the guest of her sister, Mrs. Mary Hedges.

James A. Huey is building a new cellar, and finds the ground very dry and hard.

Prof. Andy Collins, of Richwood, was shaking hands with friends in Union, Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Jack are comfortably located in the Corbin property for the winter, and seem pleased with their new home.

Clayton Percival and sister, of Walton, in company with Robert Chambers, jr., and sister, of Richwood, attended church in Union, Sunday.

Rev. A. S. Rachal, of Norfork, Virginia, preached at the Presbyterian church, Sunday morning and evening. Wednesday night he will preach at the Baptist church.

Jas. Bristow attended a very interesting meeting of K. P. Lodge at Burlington Thursday night, and also was at Independence Saturday night, where a new Lodge was instituted.

Lewis Corbin, left Monday, for Virginia, where he will remain for 10 days and will return to Kansas City to spend the winter. Mr. Corbin lived a quiet life, attending strictly to his own affairs, and yet every body seems to miss him.

Wm. Kenney, one of the head pushers on the C. N. & C. R. R. of Covington, was visiting his parents near Union this week, and says if the canal the coming winter all right he will be in time for a Klondyke expedition next spring.

A scarcity of stock water has put people to thinking about ponds again, and many more ponds will be built this fall and winter. Experience during the last four years convinces most farmers that a few dollars invested in ponds pay a good dividend.

Hon. Reuben Conner had a pleasant word Wednesday for your correspondent and was jolly, notwithstanding he carried his bruised arm in a sling and seemed to be suffering. Any man having a horse to sell that don't get scared when, people raise up suddenly near the road, will likely find Mr. Conner ready to buy at a liberal price.

Your correspondent was taking a squint at the political situation in Covington, Saturday. First attraction was a candidate starting up the street with a delegation of bums, thugs and heelers in hot pursuit to make him treat, trade or travel. If you ever saw a drove of chickens following a farmer with a bushel of feed on his arm, you can have some idea of the attraction. Saw men with good clothes on and cash in their pocket, who were never known to work and did not have clothes enough to wad a pop-gun up to September 15th, 1897. Heard a Twelfth street man say he would never treat-trade or travel to get office. A twentieth century politician has to go all the gaits, and the man who introduces Sunday School principles into politics is as likely to stay at home and nurse a broken legged disappointment as he is to get office, and more likely. He may as well try to dam up Gunpowder with bull thistles, or to turn the Niagara rapids with 25 cents worth of trust sugar, as to stem the current of 20 century politics without being ballasted with plenty of cash. Here is hoping that Mr. Scales may keep himself well "balanced" and at the proper time give his opponents a "tip" to go home and stay there, and that Henry Hallam's "record" as a soldier, citizen and official may so recommend him to the people of his county as to elect him by 725 majority, anyway.

Constance.

Our county has been dry a long time, but the prospects are favorable for a wet time, even if it does not rain.

Mr. C. Lewis and wife have gone to Harrison, Indiana, to visit Mrs. Lewis' mother, who is not expected to live.

The breweries are seuding out their agents all over the country to solicit patronage from the prospective saloons.

Harry Ingram, who is attending the school for the deaf and dumb, at Danville, is well pleased and is learning rapidly.

Theodore Boswel, who was recently at the point of death, has entirely recovered, owing to the skillful treatment of Dr. Weindel.

Mr. Charles Richmond's school is doing nicely. He is certainly a naturalborn school teacher, and the proof of it is he has 70 pupils, and the manuer in which he governs and instructs them.

Our little town was surprised again last week by the marriage of Chas. Hood and Miss Mace Wilsou. Mr. Hood was formerly of this place, but at present is a conductor on one of the electric lines in Cincinnati. The bride is another Constance belle, and highly respected by all who know her. The groom is a sober and industrious youug man, and a bright future is in store for them. Mrs. John Klasner, the bride's sister, gave her a splendid supper and entertainment that was greatly enjoyed by all present. The happy couple have the best wishes of their many friends and relatives.

J. P. Loder, of Nightown, Indiana, is visiting friends here.

The trustees of the Constance cemetery Company has given their fence a coat of white wash.

The Constance Building and Loan Association is in a flourishing coudition, and declared a 5 per cent. semi-annual dividend.

Please correct item in regard to Mrs. Peno, wife of John Peno, jr., it was Mrs. Reeves, wife of John Reeves, jr., who died, instead of Mrs. John Peno.

Bullittsville.

Misses Maud Mayberry and Florence Marquis were visiting friends in the Hebron and Bullittsville neighborhood last week.

John Stephens and wife, of Bullittsville, have gone to Missouri and Kansas to spend a few weeks with their children.

Temp Graves is going to take in the St. Louis fair this waek, and visit relatives in Nissouri.

Miss Lacy Lirtley is teaching at the Garrison school house,

"Wet or Dry."

The fundamental principle upon which civil liberty rests, is that the will of the people is the supreme source of authority. The authority of the Governor, Legislature or Supreme Court, or all of them combined, is not superior to, but subordinated to the authority of the will of the people. Therefore because the will of the people, expressed through the ballot had allowed or forbidden the sale, barter or loan of spirituous, vinous or malt liquors in certain counties, cities, towns or districts in Kentucky, the people have embodied does not change the constitution, Sec 61, the following language: "But nothing herein shall be construed to interfere with or to repeal any law in force relating to the sale or gift of any such liquors." The "schedule" affixed to the Constitution is not to repeal, alter or change it, but is expressly "declared" and "ordained" "in order to carry the same into complete operation." Hence this Schedule, which says that all old laws which are inconsistent with the new Constitution shall be after six years repealed by limitation, the will of the people. Therefore because the will of the people, expressed through the ballot had allowed or forbidden the sale, barter or loan of spirituous, vinous or malt liquors in certain counties, cities, towns or districts in Kentucky, the people have embodied does not change the constitution, Sec 61, the following language: "But nothing herein shall be construed to interfere with or to repeal any law in force relating to the sale or gift of any such liquors." The "schedule" affixed to the Constitution is not to repeal, alter or change it, but is expressly "declared" and "ordained" "in order to carry the same into complete operation." Hence this Schedule, which says that all old laws which are inconsistent with the new Constitution shall be after six years repealed by limitation, does not change the constitution, Sec 61, and precincts now "wet," by the vote of the people, to "dry" neither those now "dry," by the vote of the people to "wet" but leaves them as they are till the will of the people shall change them.

J. W. HARRIS.

A protracted meeting is in progress at the Beaver Baptist church, and Rev. E. N. Dicken is expected to arrive today to assist the pastor, Dr. Adams.

Go to John Schmidt, the Shoemaker, to have your harness repaired. Boots and Shoes made to order. Repairing a specialty. All work guaranteed.

The Compulsory Educational law is too dead to consider, in this part of the State.

W. M. Rachal and J. L. Fraiser, of Union, were in town yesterday. J. L. had a down-cast look, and he assured the RECORDER that he intends to quit acting in the capacity of voucher for those contemplatang matrimony.

O. W. Gaines will represent the Masonic lodge of this place in the Grand Lodge which meets on the 20th inst.

It begins to look like it might rain some time this fall.

Albert Conner and wife are quite ill of diphtheria.

J. C. Byland, of Walton, was in town yesterday.

For Sale or Rent.

Good Stock Farm of 170 acres. Money rent in cash, if rented.
Wm. C. HENSLEY.

Administrator's Notice.

I have this day been appointed administrator of the estate of James A. Botts, deceased, and all persons indebted to said estate must pay same at once and all persons having claims against said estate must present them to me or my attorney S. W. Tolin, at Burlington, Ky., proven as by law required.
EDWIN BOTTS, Adm'r.
Sept. 20th, 1897.

NOTICE.

Notice is hereby given that I am sole owner of the personal property on my farm near J. W. Kite's store, this county, and no one is authorized to sell same or any part of it.
LENNORA SATCHWILL.
Sept. 10th, 1897.

S. W. ADAMS,

ATTORNEY - AT - LAW,
ERLANGER, KENTUCKY.

Will practice in the courts of Boone and Kenton counties. Collections and general law practice.

For Sale---Farm

Of 123 acres in Boone county, Ky., on the Union & Beaver turnpike, three miles from Richwood Station; good house of seven rooms, hall, vestibules, porches, good cellar; large barn, outbuildings, two cisterns, orchards and never failing springs.
HENRY TUCKER,
Union, Boone county, Ky.

Farm for Sale.

In Boone county, Ky., on the North Bend Road, 1½ miles from Burlington, 1 mile from Hebron and 5 miles from Anderson's Ferry, and contains seventy-eight acres, good cottage of 5 rooms and good barn, orchard of 200 trees select fruit. The farm is all under good state of cultivation. For terms apply to
LASSING & RIDDELL,
Burlington, Ky.

Steam :-: Ferry

—AT—

TAYLORSPORT.

I now have in operation at Taylorsport, a NEW, COMMODIOUS and SWIFT Steam Ferry Boat, equal to the best on the River. New Approaches on each side of the river. Prompt services rendered the public by experienced and accommodating employes.
S. H. GOODIN.

BOOTS & SHOES
MADE TO ORDER.

Work Strictly First-Class.
Prices to Suit the Times.

Harness, Boots and Shoes Neatly Repaired. Give me a trial.
CHRISTIAN BECKER,
29spt2m Union, Ky.

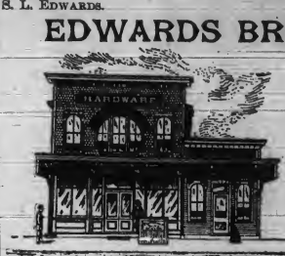
THE GRAND Millinery Opening
—OF—
Miss Lula B. Rice,

Walnut St. bet. High & Railroad,
Lawrenceburg, - - Indiana,
Oct. 7th & 8th, 1897.

I have secured a first-class trimmer from Cincinnati and will have prices within reach of all. Will display fine IMPORTED PATTERNS.

FOURTH YEAR.
OF WALTON ACADEMY,
—OPENS—
MONDAY, SEPTEMBER 6th, 1897
AT WALTON, KY.

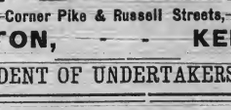
Three Courses of Study to choose from:
English, Scientific or Classical,
Tuition per month,...$2.50 and $3.00
Vocal and Instrumental Music at moderate rates.



We have a fine, new building with rooms for pupils, connected.—Board only $2.50 per week, or $2.00 for 5 days.
Thorough, Substantial Work
Guaranteed.
Teachers { Mrs. S. H. MYERS. / CHAS. F. PENOR. / Rev. S. H. MYERS.
Further information gladly given by mail or interview.

GO TO—
HANKINS, DAVIS & CO., General Merchants,
HEBRON AND CONSTANCE,
A Good Supply of Feed always in Stock.

GARDEN AND FIELD SEEDS.



Undertaking is given special attention. Funerals under the personal supervision of J. C. HANKINS.
A good supply of Coal on hand at Constance at all times.
Hebron. HANKINS, DAVIS & CO. Constance

S. L. EDWARDS. A. M. EDWARDS.
EDWARDS BROTHERS,
DEALERS IN HARDWARE
—AND—
Agricultural Implements,

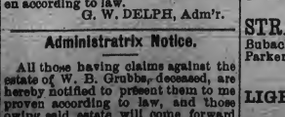
Furniture,
Stoves,
Tinware,
Saddlery,
Oils and Paints,
Wall Paper.

UNDERTAKING & EMBALMING A SPECIALTY.
We have added a first-class Tin Shop and are prepared to do Tin, Iron and Paper Roofing and guarantee all work done by us.
EDWARDS BROS., - - Walton, Ky.

JOHN ALLISON,
UNDER-TAKER  EMBALMER,
—Corner Pike & Russell Streets,—
COVINGTON, - - KENTUCKY.
INDEPENDENT OF UNDERTAKERS' UNION.

WHY WORRY ABOUT Where to go to Buy Your Men's, Boys' and Children's Clothing,

Come in and inspect our FALL LINE, and you will find it complete in every respect. Quality, Style, Workmanship and Prices guaranteed. You can see where ours excel at a glance. Many years experience in the Clothing business enables us to buy very close; our expenses are low, and we are always satisfied with Small Profits, this is positive proof that our prices are Rock Bottom.



ROLFES & WACHS, RELIABLE CLOTHIERS
S. W. Cor. Pike & Madison Ave. Covington, Ky.

QUEEN & CRESCENT.

During the Tennessee Centennial and International Exposition at Nashville, Tenn., a low rate special tariff has been established for the sale of tickets from Cincinnati and other terminal points on the Queen & Crescent Route.

Tickets are on sale daily until further notice to Chattanooga at $6.75 one way or $7.20 round trip from Cincinnati, the round trip tickets being good seven days to return; other tickets, with longer return limit, at $9.90 and $13.50 for the round trip.

These rates enable the public to visit Nashville and other Southern points at rates never before offered. Vestibuled trains of the finest class are at the disposal of the passenger, affording a most pleasant trip, and enabling one to visit the very interesting scepery and important battle-grounds in and about Chiedamauga, Lookout Mountain and Chickamauga National Millitary Park. Tickets to Nashville to visit the Centennial can be repurchased at Chattanooga for $3.40 round trip. Ask your ticket agent for tickets via Cincinnati and the Q. & C. Route South or write to
W. C. RINEARSON, G. P. Agt., Cincinnati, O.

Administrator's Notice.

All persons indebted to the estate of Jordon Beemon, deceased, must come forward and settle, and all those having claims against said estate must present them to the undersigned, proven according to law.
G. W. DELPH, Adm'r.

Administratrix Notice.

All those having claims against the estate of W. B. Grubbs, deceased, are hereby notified to present them to me proven according to law, and those owing said estate will come forward and settle same at once.
MRS. CATHARIN GRUBBS,
Sept. 1, 1897. Administratrix.

Subscribe for the Recorder.

THE LEAGUE INSTITUTE,
VERONA, KENTUCKY.
—OF—
N. E. HAMILTON, - Principal.
The Term for 1897-98,
Begins Sept., 20th, 1897.

Special inducements are offered pupils who have graduated upon the Common School Branches.

FOR SALE--This Fall.

STRAWBERRY PLANTS.
Bubach No. 5. P. Greenville P.
Parker Earl, Haverlan,
And other Varieties.

LIGHT BRAHMA FOWLS.

Blackberry & Raspberry Sprouts.

For further information write to
WM. C. ROUSE, Limaburg, Ky.

Local News.

Be very careful with fire—water is scarce.

Pastures are as brown as if it was mid-winter.

The defective flue is getting in its work as usual this fall.

Some of the wheat sowed during the dry weather has come up nicely.

Mrs. Hogan has sold her house and lot in the east part of town for $650.

Most of the base ball fans here are rejoicing over Boston winning the pennant.

Some who have been gathering corn for feeding purposes say they find it is not as good as they expected.

J. F. Weaver was doctoring the pump in the Court House cistern, last Saturday. It has been crazy all summer.

C. C. Sleet sold to G. E. Carroll, a few days since, 25 acres of land adjoining the town of Beaver, at $75 per acre.

Capt. Kotmeyer has been doing considerable work on the road leading to his ferry landing on this side of the river.

The iron roof is on the hotel. Providence certainly favored the proprietor, whose household goods were exposed for many days.

TO CURE A COLD IN ONE DAY.
Take Laxative Bromo Quinine Tablets. All druggists refund the money if it fails to cure. 25c

WANTED—Farm worth $2,000 or $2,500 in exchange for first-class Covington property. BENNDORF & BULLOCK, 410 Scott St, Covington, Ky.

Wanted—To rent a farm on which there is some land to cultivate in tobacco. ADD RIDDELL,
Beaver, Ky.

It is said there are a great many quails this fall. The hunting season will open November 15th, after which they will soon be killed off.

Rev. H. N. Brown will preach at the Universalist church here next Sunday morning and afternoon. A basket dinwill be served at the church.

The minutes of the last session of the North Bend Association of Baptists are now being distributed to the churches. They are out at least a month earlier than usual this year.

Chicken thieves made another raid in the Pt. Pleasant neighborhood, one night last week. The next squad of thieves captured out there is liable to have a warm reception.

The fiscal court has granted the town the privilege to build a cistern on the court house square and supplied with water from the court house roof, the citizens to keep the cistern in repair.

TRY ME!
Snow Flake Patent Flour, Boone county straight flour. Also have plenty of mill feed and coal at very low prices. Cash for wheat and flour exchanged for wheat. BEN BELDON.
Petersburg, Ky.

"The 'race troubles' in Rising Sun, says the Recorder, "seems to be causing more trouble at present than for many years. We are sorry to see this. Every white man of course has his legal rights, but he should also remember that the black man under our constitution has the same rights."

L. A. Conner, son of O. P. Conner, and Miss Fannie M. Latham, of Florence, the handsome daughter of Mrs. John Latham, were married at the residence of Elder E. Stephens, of Erlanger, last Wednesday. The friends of the young couple wish for them a long and happy life, and an abundance of this world's prosperity.

H. W. Harrison, dentist, of Rising Sun, Ind., will be in Burlington on the first and third Monday in each month, to do work for those who wish anything in his line. He will be here two days each visit. He is a son of the late R. F. Harrison, of Carrollton, and a graduate of the Pennsylvania College of Dentistry at Philadephia. He is highly recommended in his profession.

The following from the Williamstown Courier places that thriving little city at the head of the beauty procession if Bro. Westover is any judge:

"There is a beauty show on the streets of Williamstown almost every afternoon. The young ladies of Williamstown are incomparable when it comes to beauty, they are 'The lillies of the valley and the fairest among ten thousand.' They are the incarnation of grace, vivacity and beauty. There are unpretentious young ladies on the streets of Williamstown every afternoon who would easily be the most beautiful of the fair dames of the earth could a congress of the most lovely women in the world be gathered from the nations of the earth and assembled in a given place. As flowers and exotics grow to their greatest perfection in certain spots on the earth's surface, so women seem to reach her most perfect and beautiful development in the environments of Williamstown. Here's to our girls. You can't beat 'em. There are none others like them."

PERSONAL MENTION.

Mrs. B. W. Adams is visiting at Beaver.

Arthur Rouse is attending law school at Louisville.

Miss Lucy Rice has gone to Lawrenceburg to visit relatives.

Hon. John S. Gaunt, of Carrollton, was attending court here Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Brown's little daughter has been quite sick for a few days.

Miss Gussie Kirkpatrick was the guest of Mrs. Brady several days the past week.

M. E. Hance, of Big Bone, was in town yesterday. He is feeding a large lot of hogs.

Hon. R. L. Davis, of Rising Sun, Indiana, was mingling with the crowd in town Monday.

Joseph Love, of Rising Sun, Indiana, was in town Monday, meeting many of his acquaintances.

Master Virgil Piper, and two companions, came out from Dayton, Ky., on their wheels, last Saturday.

L. B. Stephens, of Walton, attended court, Monday, and met many of his old friends, who were glad to see him.

Stanley Clutterbuck has charge of the Burlington Mercantile Store, the same being put in his charge last Thursday.

W. P. Sullivan, who resides down on Gunpowder, was in town, Saturday, and reports the fish dying in that stream.

J. M. Lassing and J. G. Blyth visited Independence, Kenton county, last Saturday, to assist in instituting a K. of P. Lodge.

James A. Riddell, of Aurora, Ind., was in town Monday, the first time in twenty-five years. He is a nephew of Judge Riddell.

Mr. L. D. Harris, of Owingsville, Bath county, was in town a day or two last week in the interest of the Singer Sewing Machine Co.

Mrs. Robert Bradford, of Hebron, returned a few days ago from a very pleasant visit with her son and his wife at Nashville, Tennessee.

J. M. Conner and his partner, Mr. Rabenstine, of Cincinnati, were in town early Saturday morning. They were hunting some of Boone's good cattle to purchase.

Miss Annie Rouse, daughter of Mr. Thomas Rouse, of Crittenden, Grant county, who has been the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Dudley Rouse, several days, returned home Tuesday.

Bro. H. Max Lentz, of Forence, has preached 937 sermons in this county since he began his work here in 1890. More than 400 of the sermons were preached during special services.

W. C. Brown's wagon handsomely decorated, and bound for Independence, pulled out from here about 1:30 p. m., last Saturday. It contained Messrs. Bert Sullivan, Clem Kendall, Albert Underhill, John Cloud, Thomas Mitchell, Frank Maxwell, Bennie Kelly, E. S. McKim and William Gaines. The institution of a new lodge at Kenton's capital was the cause of the pilgrimage.

Judge Stephens had a very busy day in the criminal division of his court, last Thursday, straightening out the Craig-Henderson disturbance down on Gunpowder.

John Lewis Henderson, one of the parties, was arraigned on two warrants, one charging him with carrying a pistol, and the other, with assaulting Benjamin F. Craig with a deadly weapon. Of the first charge Henderson was acquitted, but of the second he was found guilty and fined $10 and the trimmings, amounting in all to about $15.

Benjamin F. Craig was tried for an assault on John Lewis Henderson and fined $10 and costs, amounting in the aggregate to about $15.

Dennis Craig, who did the shooting, had left the State, consequently his trial was continued until such time as the Kentucky officers get their eagle eyes on him and bring him before the court.

The Teachers' Association met at the school house in district No. 12, last Saturday, with the following teachers present: Misses Mary E. Walker, Lizzie Gordon, Viola Walker and Messrs. A. C. Collins, O. Snyder, Emil Grasser, Marcus Randall and Supt. Voshell.

The Topic Method was discussed by Marcus Randall, L. H Voshell and Miss Lizzie Gordon; Primary Reading, by A. C. Collins, O. Snyder, L. H. Voshell and Miss Viola Walker; Geography, by A. C. Collins and L. H. Voshell.

A committee of two was appointed to arrange a programme for the meeting at Walton, October 23d.

The vote on the question as to where the next Institute shall be held resulted, for Florence, 3; for Walton, 3.

For sale—Couple of sows and nice pigs. W. C. GOODRIDGE.

For sale—Fine Jack—apply to W. H. ADAMS, Verona, Ky.

For Sale—23 nice 60 pound shoats. L. J. RIELY.

WANTED—Help in the Domestic Department of the League Institute. Address N. E. Hamilton, Verona, Ky.

W. M. RACHAL & CO.,

A REGULAR KLONDIKE.

No use going to Alaska when you can find a regular Klondike in the way of VALUES at OUR STORE. Notwithstanding the big advance in nearly all lines, we shall continue to give customers the benefit of our advantage of having bought largely before the advance.

PROOF:
Ladies Fine Shoes, per pair 75c.—worth double the money.

UNION, KENTUCKY.

We know perfectly well that you will buy your goods where you can Get the Most for Your Money
and where the most will also be good. Knowing this we wouldn't be foolish enough to tell you we keep good goods at the Lowest Prices
if it wasn't so. Bring in your produce and we will take it same as cash.
HEADLIGHT OIL, per gallon, 7½c.

UNION, - - - - KENTUCKY.

THEY : MUST : GO.

Desiring to quit that branch of the business I am Closing
OUT MY ENTIRE STOCK OF
MEN'S & BOYS' Ready-Made CLOTHING
At the greatest bargains ever offered in Covington.

MY TAILORING DEPARTMENT
Will be continued, and I have on hand the Finest Line of Suitings in the three cities. Give me a call.

H. F. BLASE, 540 Madison Avenue, COVINGTON, KY.
jany 1-98

PUBLIC SALE!

As Administrator of James A. Botts, deceased, I will sell at his late residence, in Boone County, Kentucky, on Saturday, October 23, 1897,

The Following Property, to-wit:

10 Work Horses and Colts of the celebrated Almont Stock and others; 16 fat Hogs, 1 fine Brood Sow, 1 Cow and Calf, about 100 barrels of Corn in field, lot of Tobacco on sticks in the barn, lot of tobacco sticks, lot of Millet in the barn, Cutting Box, Corn Sheller, Farm Wagon, Buggy, Sleigh, 2-horse Sled, Buggy Pole, Yoke and Set of Double Buggy Harness, and Plow Harness, Farming Implements, Sewing Machine, Ward Robe,

Household and Kitchen Furniture,

Of all kinds, about 100 Chickens and 80 Turkeys, Farm Bell, Tobacco Screw and Frame, and other articles too numerous to mention.

TERMS OF SALE.

Sums of $5 and under, cash; on sums over that amount a credit of 6 months will be given, purchaser to give note with good security, negotiable and payable at the Boone County Deposit Bank.

Terms of sale to be complied with before property is removed.

Sale to begin at 9 o'clock a. m. EDWIN BOTTS, Administrator.

The following is the Statistical Table as Printed in the Minutes of the last Session of the North Bend Association of Baptists:

STATISTICAL TABLE.

CHURCHES	When Organized	Baptism	Increase Letter	Restored	Decrease Letter	Excluded	Died	Present Membership	CONTRIBUTIONS. Pastor's Salary and Church Expenses	S. S. Expenses	Missions	Ministerial Education	Orphans' Home	Build'g & Repairs	Ministerial Aid	Minutes
Bullittsburg	1794							146
Dry Creek	1890	18	1	2			1	194	$350 00	14 00	18 00
Bellevue	1819		2	0			1	83			4 20
Sand Run	1819		1	0			1	94	75 00	6 00	6 00
East Bend	1838	40	1	2	25	1	2	401	3,306 25	200 00	160 00		$30 00
Burlington, First	1838	12	1	1	18	1	1	111	200 00	40 00	40 00
Big Bone	1843	23	1	1	6	1	1	141	253 00	28 00	35 00		25 00
Bank Lick	1861	18	12	1	2	1	1	57	100 00	8 00	13 00		5 00
Florence	1865
Madison Avenue	1857	14	16	1	2	1	1	347	1,755 49	177 00	37 00		10 00
Oak Ridge	1866	19	1		1			183	160 00	12 00	15 00
Union	1887	11						97	270 00	8 75	20 00		5 00
Beaver Lick	1883	2						29	225 00	20 74	44 00		25 00
Ludlow	1847	1	1					136	250 00	28 39	45 00		25 00
Erlanger	1891	5	1		3			130	1,750 10	160 00	110 67	20 00	15 00	60 00	40 00	8 55
Covington, Third	1891	31	5	1				303	755 00	20 74	8 75	45 00	17 82
	1173	104	18	12	7	1	1	2942	9,967 27	698 00	828 60	65 00	208 17	306 45	105 50	64 04

The dust continues to increase in depth.

Lexington Races.

October 5—16 inclusive. One fair roun trip daily, 4th to 16th via the Queen and Cresent route. Good until October 18th to return.

For Sale.

Good frame house of six rooms, and good barn and lot, at BigBone, Ky. For further particulars apply to M. C. CARROLL, Big Bone, Ky.

W. E. CHAMBERLAIN,

DEALER IN UP TO DATE
FURNITURE,
HOUSEHOLD FURNISHINGS, ETC.,
HIGH STREET,
Lawrenceburg, - Indiana.
—HAUCK BUILDING.—

Stylish and Durable Oak BED ROOM SUITS,

All-Oak SIDE BOARDS, As Handsome as the Finest.

INGRAIN CARPETS,

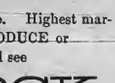
BRUSSELS CARPETS.

W. E. CHAMBERLAIN,
LAWRENCEBURG, INDIANA.

Knippenberg & Fike,

Carriage and Wagon Makers,
Repairing, Painting & Trimming.
ALL WORK GUARANTEED.
Foot of Walnut Street,
Lawrenceburg, - - - Indiana.

Buy COFFEE and TEA of the J. L. BILL COFFEE & TEA CO., a Ticket given with every 25c purchase and handsome presents given away.
The J. L. BILL
Coffee and Tea Co.
THE BEST BRANDS OF FLOUR.
12 W. Seventh & S. E. Cor. Sixth & Bakewell,
COVINGTON, KY.
WM. F. NEAD, Salesman.



FARMERS

Make the most of your crops, buy the best Wind-mill outfit made—The AERMOTOR—abundance of power wasting right over your heads, grasp the opportunity—Grind and Cut your own Feed and that of your neighbors—feed economically.
THE AERMOTOR
will bear close inspection and is guaranteed to work right. They are Cheap. Come and see it work and be convinced.

Also remember we are still in the ring with a complete line
OF GENERAL MERCHANDISE
and can sell Goods just as cheap as anyone. Highest market Prices paid for COUNTRY PRODUCE or anything salable. Come and see
OUR : STOCK,
It Speaks for Itself.

Don't forget that "LaBELLE" HERD
Of Chester White Hogs

Is ready to supply Choice Stock at Reasonable Prices.
T. J. HUGHES, - BEAVER LICK, KY.

TAKE YOUR OWN COUNTY PAPER.
Only $1.50 per Year.

THE RECORDER.

W. L. RIDDELL, Publisher.

BURLINGTON, . . . KY.

BABY'S SLEEPY TIME.

Little feet that run to meet me,
Little arms that fondly twine
'Round my neck with loving fervor,
Little red lips coaxing mine—
These I love, but when the shadows
Of the blitops slowly climb,
There is something I hold dearer—
'Tis my baby's sleepy time.

Softly rocking in the twilight,
Crooning some old cradle song,
Answering the many questions
That to childhood's realm belong,
Till the lashes, downward creeping,
Touch her cheek with dainty grace,
And I softly press warm kisses
On the faint-flushed, upturned face.

O my little white-robed darling,
All too soon the years will fly,
You will grow away from mother,
Will not need her lullaby.
Time is pitiless to mothers,
And I know till life's decline,
I shall, when the shadows gather,
Miss my baby's sleepy time!
—Florence A. Jones, in Chicago Advance.

Jack, Max and the Pretty Priscilla.

BY FRANKLIN TRUESDELL.

[Copyright, 1897.]

TWO well-dressed men, both still young, though one was a few years the senior of his friend, stood near a steamboat landing on the Sound one summer morning, watching the roustabouts transferring freight from the shore to the deck of the craft on which they were about to take passage.

The elder of the two, who had been continually looking about in an expectant manner, suddenly called out: "There you are at last, old fellow. What in the world has kept you?"

Then came running toward him, skilfully and yet politely, eluding all playful attempts to impede his progress, a little boy infant five years of age, who was a perfect picture of rugged health and childish beauty. His hat, perched carelessly on his head, formed the background for a mass of golden hair, blown hither and thither as his sturdy little legs sped down the gravel slope. His round, happy face glowed in the morning air, and his eyes sparkled with ill-suppressed excitement.

"Oh, papa!" he began, before he had quite recovered his breath. "I have had such a time with Max!"

"I was beginning to fear he had made a breakfast of you," was the father's answer, as the child slipped one little hand in his.

"He might try, if he could get at me now," rejoined the little fellow. "But he's safe enough in one of the storerooms, if some one don't let him out."

But at that moment the steamboat gave a shrill whistle, and Jack, walking between his father and his father's friend, turned to go on board the boat.

Among the passengers assembled on the upper deck stood a little girl of more than ordinary attractiveness. She was just passing that line of life on one side of which people write "girl" and on the other "young lady." She attracted not a little attention as she stood there, leaning lightly over the rail. When Jack and his guardians reached the deck she was saying goodby to a sun-bonneted friend on the landing, and Towle, the younger of the two men, caught the full beauty of the fresh face as she laughed out some pert reply to her friend's earnest caution: "Now, do be careful, Priscilla."

Already the time for casting off the moorings had passed. The captain was vigorously ordering about the deckhands and confusion reigned. The pretty girl stood up on a seat to get clear of a line that was being hauled in, still talking with her friend on shore.

"Pretty as a picture," thought Towle, as he watched the lissome figure swaying with the motion of the boat. Priscilla waved her last adieu, and then her friend, mingling with those left on the landing, turned away.

The young girl still stood on the rail seat; Towle hovered in her immediate vicinity; Jack was watching the receding shore. Presently the child's voice rose in a cry that was almost a scream:

"Look, papa! There comes Max!"

Down the slope toward the water bounded the big Newfoundland. Rushing through the little party that had just left the landing, the dog brought up with a mighty effort on the very edge of the wharf.

Jack, jumping up on the rail seat, waved both hands and shouted: "Good-by, old fellow! Good-by, Max!"

But Max misinterpreted the gesture. Prompt in obedience to the supposed signal, he jumped into the water and struck out in the wake of the boat. It was not under much headway yet, but Max could make but a poor showing in the race. Jack became very nervous. He scarcely knew whether Max was swimming or drowning.

"Can't we stop the boat?" he asked.

"Oh, no," said his father. "Max will get tired in a minute and make for the shore."

Towle leaned over the stern and called to the dog to go back, but Max took it all for encouragement, and swam on steadily. The boat as steadily gained on him. The channel was widening now, and Max evidently had no intention of abandoning the race.

Everyone on the boat presently became much excited, and beginning with sympathy for Little Jack, ended in the deepest anxiety as to the fate of the dog.

Jack was still standing beside the girl, who was making no effort to hide the excitement that was taking possession of her. Jack's father stood just behind with a light hand on his child's shoulder. Towle was not far away.

The boy was trembling in every limb. "Oh, Max! Dear Max!" he cried. "You can't catch us!" Then, recalled by his father's touch. "Why, papa. We must stop the boat, so he can catch up."

The girl reached out her hand and took hold of Jack's. She said nothing, but her teeth were pressed tightly against her lower lip, and the big, brown eyes were beginning to fill.

The only apparently uninterested person on the boat was the captain. The awning had not yet been spread over the deck, and he could plainly be seen standing in the pilot house. Towle turned toward him and called out: "I say, captain, can't you slow down, and let my dog come up with us? He won't go back, and I'm afraid he can't hold out much longer."

The captain turned from the wheel for a moment, and glanced lazily toward the dog bravely paddling away for his life.

"Oh, he'll get along well enough. He'll soon give up and go back. I can't stop for a dog."

Murmurs of indignation were heard on every hand. Jack's face bore a look of the most complete surprise at the discovery that the captain could possibly refuse to stop for Max's sake. The sympathetic tears in Priscilla's eyes turned to glittering evidences of deep indignation, as she stamped her foot, and seemed about to speak. But Towle's words came first:

"I don't ask you to stop for the sake of the dog," said he to the captain. "I'll make it well worth your while to slow down a bit."

"Yes, indeed," chimed in a young fellow who had been growing particularly interested in the situation. "Besides," he went on, raising his voice so that the captain could not fail to hear, "it makes no difference except to your passengers if we get in a few minutes late, and if we don't care, why should you?"

"That's what's the matter!" came loudly from the little crowd that was now facing the pilot house. This uprising of the whole ship's company was more than the captain could quietly endure.

Leaving the wheel to his mate, he stepped out on the hurricane deck, and, looking down upon the passengers, his hands in his pockets and determination in his eye, blurted out:

"You may as well understand me now as ever. I am captain of this boat, and I know how to run her. I've no time to stop for dogs, and I won't stop, and you can make the most of it!"

"HE'D STOP QUICK ENOUGH IF THERE WERE A MAN OVERBOARD."

The girl, looking prettier than ever, stood erect as an arrow, her hands clutching the folds of her blue flannel yachting dress, every nerve tingling with indignation. The captain retired amid a chorus of groans and hisses.

All eyes turned again toward the water. Max was evidently becoming exhausted; the pace was telling on him. His red tongue now and again showed clear against the background of his black head as he gulped in the air, and once Jack thought he heard a faint yelp. The father had all he could do to restrain the boy's excitement.

Towle was so angry that he could scarcely speak. He hardly dared look toward Max. He could almost fancy the look of mingled questions and reproach that must be in the dog's eyes. "What does it all mean? Why must I swim so far? I thought you wanted me to come to you. I am doing my best."

"Yes, poor fellow," said Towle, as if in answer to these unspoken queries, "if you were a man now, instead of a dog, that brute of a captain might deign to lose a moment or so of his valuable time."

"I'm not so sure of that," remarked the young man, who had participated in the vain effort to persuade the captain. "There's very little of the milk of human kindness in that fellow, I fancy."

"Possibly," said Jack's father; "but the law would bring him to terms in such a case. He'd stop quick enough if there was a man overboard."

Scarcely were the words spoken before they were echoed back from the lower deck.

"Man overboard!" was the cry indeed.

So suddenly it came that it almost seemed like a trick to bring the captain to terms. In the confusion of the moment the reality appeared strangely unreal. Even little Jack was at first scarcely able to understand, when he managed to cry out:

"There she is! Don't let her drown, too!"

No one but Jack had noticed how something his father said seemed to add to the excitement of the pretty girl by his side, and in his terror for the fate of poor Max he hardly realized what she was doing when she put one foot up on the rail and vaulted over the side.

It was all done in an instant; she was in the water before three persons knew that she had disappeared. Towle had his coat off in a twinkling, but a sailor had already jumped from between the decks and was swimming with steady, easy strokes to the aid of the impulsive girl. Others were lowering a boat, and the captain, at last in accord with the passengers, had the engines reversed. Jack's father was astounded at the turn of affairs.

"Did you ever dream of such a foolish act?" he exclaimed. "The child actually took up my words and leaped overboard to save the dog."

So impressed was he with the noble folly of the girl that, had it not been for Jack, he would certainly have made one of the boat's crew. But Towle forestalled him. Yet, after all, the girl did not appear to need much help. When she rose after her plunge into the water she turned her face toward the dog and struck out as if she had been a veritable water nymph. The sailor was soon close behind her.

"Don't tire yourself out, miss," he cried. "Lie on your back and float. They'll soon pick us all up now."

But the girl swam on. Her bath had completely dispelled the momentary frenzy of excitement that had impelled her to jump. She felt nothing but chagrin now. She did not want to look anybody in the face, and there was not only the sailor close behind, but a boat load of others were coming. She wished that she dared to go on with the part and dive down to the bottom of the sea.

The sailor's breathing sounded awfully near and the click of the oarlocks told how near the boat was also. Even Max, who now was hardly able to swim a stroke, and who seemed to recognize in all this excitement something which might accrue to his benefit, seemed to her to be laughing at her predicament. She was beginning to think she had better drown herself than to face all the mortification that seemed to threaten, when she suddenly stopped swimming and disappeared.

The sailor reached the spot where the girl had gone down just in time to see her black hair gleaming at the surface again. Placing one arm under her body, he supported it as best he might until the boat came up. Towle was in the bow, terribly frightened to see the girl lying so still in the water.

"Is she dead?" he asked, in a hoarse whisper.

"Oh, no," said some one. "She'll soon come to. There's too much color there for a bad faint."

They lifted her in and laid her carefully in the thwarts, a pea jacket under her, with Towle's coat for a pillow.

"Don't forget the dog!" said a sailor.

"That's so," said Towle, coming back from the realm of fancy into which he found himself drifting. "Pick up the poor beast, and you shan't lose by it, boys."

And so Max, in full worse plight than the girl herself seemed to be, was hauled in and placed beside her.

Everybody on the steamer crowded to the side to catch a glimpse of the heroine of the hour. The stewardess knelt down beside the drenched figure as soon as it was brought on deck and officially announced that the girl was only in a faint. The crowd was presently induced to stand back, and finally Max, with Jack's arms around his neck, became the temporary center of attraction, while the stewardess had the girl carried down into her cabin.

The burden bearers had scarcely disappeared up the companionway when the girl jumped from the sofa on which they had placed her, and, falling on her knees in front of the startled stewardess, cried out:

"You'll never tell anybody, will you? I didn't faint at all. I just couldn't look anybody in the face, and I didn't. I believe I should have died if they had suspected that I was shamming." And the poor girl burst into tears.

Meanwhile the boat passed through Hell Gate and presently neared the pier. The stewardess kept the girl below until all the other passengers had disembarked. Towle waited in vain for her reappearance. In answer to his inquiry he was told that the "young lady had quite recovered, but must not be disturbed." Nobody found out who she was. Whether Towle was more fortunate subsequently pertains not to this story.

Even Jack and Mack had to go ashore without so much as saying good-by to Priscilla; but one of the deckhands, an old salt and a dry one, watched her out of the corner of his eye when she finally came on deck and hurried alone down the plank. This was his comment:

"That was the pluckiest thing I ever knew a gal to do; and the foolishest."

Chimes Rung by Electricity.

Electricity now supplies the power for ringing the chimes of Grace church, New York, and the curfew hymn is played by an automatic arrangement breaking the current to huge magnets connected with ten bells, the largest weighing 7,000 pounds.

—Lots of men would willingly work for their board—if they could find some one to work.—Chicago News.

HOW THE FARMER IS PROTECTED

An Absurd Claim of the High Tariff Organs.

The republican organs attempt to blind the farmers by telling them how the Dingley robber tariff "protects" them, and then proceed to say that if anyone denies that it benefits the farmer, he is ignorant. The following is the list of the "protected" products of the farm furnished by one of these organs:

"Cattle, 32 a head; hogs, 21.5c; horses, $30; sheep, $1.50; barley, 30 cents a bushel; buckwheat, 15 cents; corn, 15 cents; oats, 15 cents; rye, 15 cents; wheat 25 cents; butter, 6 cents a pound; milk, 2 cents a gallon; beans, 45 cents a bushel; cabbage, 2 cents each; eggs, 5 cents a dozen; hay, $4 a ton; honey, 20 cents a gallon; hops, 12 cents a pound; potatoes, 25 cents a bushel; lard, 2 cents a pound; poultry, 3 cents a pound."

The tariffites expose their own ignorance by trying to palm off such "stuff" as argument in support of the absurd claim that the tariff is, or can be a benefit to the farmer. There is not a single article in the above list that the duty on which protects the farmer. None of them are brought from other countries, but are produced here in abundance and supplied to other countries. What a great "protection," for instance, that tariff of $30 a head on horses is when they can be bought throughout the west in abundance for less than that price per head. What advantage is this tariff on live stock or farm products to a Sangamon county farmer who has live stock or anything else to sell? Does the tariff of 15 cents a bushel on corn affect the price of Sangamon county corn? And how much milk and honey does the old world send over here to compete with Illinois farmers?

Then there is hay, that is "protected", at four dollars per ton. What good does that do the farmers of the great west, when hay, in some localities, is actually selling to-day at a dollar a ton less than the tariff?

Referring to this "protection" on hay, the Newark (O.) Advocate draws quite an object lesson for the farmers of that section. Three years ago when the Wilson tariff, that had just passed congress, fixed the duty on hay at two dollars a ton, every farmer who brought hay to Newark to sell, the Advocate says, was given a great song and dance by republican claqueurs that hay was down in price in consequence of the tariff reduction. The price was then firm at nine dollars a ton in Newark. Farmers found ready sale there at that price at this time three years ago. But what are they getting for their hay in Newark now, since the "protection" has been increased to four dollars a ton? The Advocate says six to six dollars and fifty cents a ton are the best prices that farmers are offered for their hay now, and the republican claqueurs who were so loud in talking about the low price of nine dollars a ton in 1894, in consequence of a lower tariff, are now as mum as oysters.

The "protection" to farmers don't protect, and farmers can't be fooled by this republican fallacy any longer.—Illinois State Register.

BRYAN SHOWS THEM UP.

Punctures the Sophistry of Republican Rasters.

The sophistry of republican special pleaders for the causes of scant money and high tariff is cleverly punctured by Mr. Bryan. That distinguished gentleman has taken up the jubilate of the republican press over the high price of wheat—about the only evidence of prosperity which exists in this country—and shown conclusively the humbug of the claim that legislation has anything to do with it. The claim is so absurd and it has been so often demolished that Mr. Bryan's work would seem to be supererogatory, but perhaps too much cannot be said in the exposure of republican shams. In discussing the matter he used these words:

"The first hopeful thing that came to aid republican imagination since the election was the discovery of gold in Klondike, and the second was the rise in the price of wheat. The republicans, however, had no right to rejoice over the discovery of the new gold mines, because this would tend to increase the volume of money, and that was opposed by the republican platform.

"As to the rise in wheat, it came from famine abroad, and, in fact, did not benefit the man who had wheat to sell. He did not find that his wages had been raised any, but it cost him more to buy his flour. Then, too, if the rise in wheat is a good thing for the farmers, it was just what the democrats claimed last fall when they said it was higher-priced commodities the people wanted and not higher-priced money. They wanted prices advanced by taking from gold that purchasing power which had been added by fraud rather than advanced by famine and suffering."

No reply is possible to these statements. They are rock-ribbed facts and cannot be argued away. The providential happenings of which such base use is made by the republican newspapers and speakers only serve to strengthen the position taken by bimetallists.—Binghamton (N. Y.) Republican.

—Mr. Hanna's coal mines, or most of them, have gone into blast again. From all accounts the diggers do not return to their studies with any great amount of enthusiasm. This is strange, because Mr. Hanna himself has been frank enough to say that from his mother's breast he has been labor's best and most exclusive friend. Incidentally we may be excused for remarking that Mr. Hanna's gold mine, located in Wall street, gives every evidence of a rich output in 1898, not to say anything about 1900.—Washington Times.

—The republican gold organs have been instructed to shout "prosperity" all along the line. Some of the rattlebrained writers for these papers show their ignorance or contempt for facts and conditions when they ascribe the rise in wheat and the fall in silver to the Dingley bill and the gold standard, and not to Nature's God.—Silver Knight National Watchman.

THE FALL IN SILVER.

Solid Facts for the Enemies of Bimetallism.

Narrow monometallists have been extracting much comfort out of the recent fall in the price of silver. On the same principle they must experience a good deal of discomfort when they read the quotations showing a rise in the white metal of about 7½ cents above the low mark reached September 1.

The fact that the upward turn was due entirely to mere rumors that purchases of silver were being made for India substantiates the contention of bimetallists that the disparity in the commercial value of gold and silver is mainly due to the depreciation of the white metal caused by its being struck from the coinage.

Another stimulating element was the tentative announcement by the governor of the Bank of England of the possibility of that institution utilizing its silver reserve as permitted by its original charter. That the suggestion did stimulate the price is another proof that bimetallists are right.

The importance which attaches to the rise of 7½ cents in a few days must appeal with telling force to the minds of the uncompromising single standard advocates here and in Europe. Experts are unable to account for the rise on any other hypothesis than that mere rumors stiffened the silver market. No mind not enthralled in blind and stubborn prejudice can doubt that if rumor has such an effect on the price of the white metal, a steady demand, such as would be created by its restoration to its old place in the coinage system of the United States, would give it a stable value which would soon settle all doubts as to parity or ratio. Another matter of importance demonstrated beyond the shadow of a doubt by the recent upward bulge is the sensitiveness of silver to conditions. This sensitiveness is no new feature, though the gold advocates are trying to make the world believe it is. In 1890, when it seemed probable that congress would enact a free coinage bill, the price of silver bullion rose to $1.20 an ounce in gold in all the markets of the world, lacking only nine cents per ounce of reaching parity, and all because of a mere probability of the restoration of the white metal to the coinage of the United States.

These are solid facts which no amount of argument by the enemies of bimetallism can destroy or weaken.—St. Louis Republic.

IMPORTS LACKING.

The Dingley Law Is Running Up the Treasury Deficit.

Mr. Dingley's explanation of why his tariff bill is a failure is a sufficient commentary on the boasted republican capability for legislation. His explanation is almost amusing in its weakness, not to say its stupidity. He argues, with a freedom that disregards accuracy in details, that during the four months the tariff bill was receiving the attention of the senate there was not far from $100,000,000 worth of goods imported in excess of the amount imported during the same period of the previous year. This excess of importations was in anticipation of an increase of duties and with a view to escaping the payment of new rates. Prior to July 1 there was paid in duties under the old law $32,000,000. This he argues should be credited to the Dingley law and not to the Wilson law. Singularly enough this amount just about covers the deficit for the present fiscal year. But the Dingley law goes right on piling up a deficit month after month. Chairman Dingley's explanation is like a limited ticket, not good after date. Next month he will have to give another explanation, and it will have to be something else, because he has used up the $32,000,000 "anticipatory duties" the first crack.

The real reason why the Dingley bill does not produce revenue enough is that there are insufficient imports. There are insufficient imports because the duties are high. The duties were placed high for the very purpose of shutting out imports. The Dingley bill is therefore a failure because it defeats itself. High protection and revenue clash in a tariff bill. If high protection is set up, revenue is lacking. The Dingley bill is a failure because the rates are too high.

We would like to know how long our republican friends believe that the Dingley law settles the tariff question, with a deficit running at the rate of $10,000,000 a month?—Utica Observer.

PARAGRAPHIC POINTERS.

—The anxious seeker after McKinley prosperity may find plenty of it these days—in the pockets of trust magnates.—Tammany Times.

—"The farmer's wife who takes ten dozen eggs to market and gets less sugar for them than she got for eight dozen three months ago will not study a long time before she understands how a tariff bill that increases the price of sugar depreciates the price of eggs.—Ohio Patriot.

—It has remained for McKinley, the pure and patriotic apostle of protection, to reestablish the practice so long held in contempt by all political parties of foisting impecunious relatives into office and making his election a special providence to his own and his wife's families. But it is all nonsense to talk of McKinley's inconsistency. This pensioning of his family is entirely consistent with the theory and purpose of protection.—Minneapolis Times.

—The treasury deficiency under the first year of the Dingley law will be greater in amount than has occurred in this country since the close of the civil war. All of Dingley's twistings, evasions and apologies cannot get around this fact. Just as soon as the money accumulated by Grover Cleveland's bond issues is exhausted the treasury will be empty, there will have to be other bond issues or the tariff tinkered with again to make it a revenue-producing measure. Protection as a revenue contrivance is an obsolete idea.—Pittsburgh Post.

HUMOROUS.

—Ocular Proof.—Ned — "I believe there is a skeleton in Miss Antique's family." Ted—"I know it. Saw her in bathing costume yesterday."—Truth.

—A Boston poet has sent a poem to one of the papers, entitled: "Oh, let me die at home!" The editor has promised to let him, provided he keeps away from his office.—Yonkers Statesman.

—Remarkable Coincidence.—"It's always seemed a mighty strange thing to me," said Mr. Wipedunks, "that in Bible times, thousands of years ago, they called a fast driver a Jehu, just as they do nowadays."—Chicago Tribune.

—An old lady was telling her grandchildren about some trouble in Scotland, in the course of which the chief of her clan was beheaded. "It was one great thing of a head, to be sure," said the good old lady, "but it was a sad loss to him."—Tit-Bits.

—"That," said the old boatman to the lonesome girl on the end of the pier at a summer resort, "is a man-eating shark." "Thanks!" she replied, looking in the direction in which he pointed. "We can sympathize with each other."—Chicago Evening Post.

—"Now, really," said the Thoughtful Man, "did you ever see a woman who was homely enough to stop a clock by looking at it?" "No," said the Nonsensical Chap, "but I have seen a woman stop a car by looking at the conductor."—Cincinnati Commercial Tribune.

TWENTY-NINE DANGEROUS AGE.

Man Commits More Crimes Then Than at Any Other Time.

It is a singular fact, yet one substantiated by statistics, that most crime is committed in this state by men 29 years old. This is not only true of the lesser, but also of the greater crimes, although a man is presumed to be at that period of his life not only in zenith of his physical, but also in full and complete possession of his mental powers, with a complete appreciation of right and wrong and their respective consequences. This condition is a problem which has not been solved by the student of criminology, and one which is made the more complex by the fact that the ages of 21, 27 and 45 years nearly equal it, with the intervening years showing a far less percentage of crime.

It is indeed peculiar that the criminal tendency should be so strong at 29 with no such inclination, so far as criminal statistics show, in as great a degree for the succeeding 16 years, and then an other outburst of the animal in man. This condition is found to be true by actual figures, and as all statistical computations at which average conditions are sought to be determined are arrived at by this method, so may the student of this subject, as well as the insurance magnate who bases his rates on the general average of losses in proportion to the risks taken, and does so with full safety, employ it in solving the problem before him.

Charles K. Baker, chief clerk to Superintendent Lathrop, has made this subject one of close study and will soon have completed a table showing this to be true. He has already completed one [illegible] murderers serving life sentences in the penal institutions, and its figures bear out the general conclusion He offers at this time no explanation for this, but hopes after he has exhausted the subject, so far as the presentation of figures is concerned, to be able to set forth reasons why these years should be productive of the most crime.

The following figures show how old the various murderers who are serving life sentences were when they committed the act for which they are serving time, together with how many like crimes were committed at such specific year of age: Fifteen, 1; sixteen, 1; seventeen, 2; eighteen, 2; nineteen, 1; twenty, 2; twenty-one, 3; twenty-two, 0; twenty-three, 6; twenty-four, 5; twenty-five, 8; twenty-six, 10; twenty-seven, 11; twenty-eight, 7; twenty-nine, 12; thirty, 5; thirty-one, 6; thirty-two, 7; thirty-three, 6; thirty-four, 6; thirty-five, 7; thirty-six, 6; thirty-seven, 3; thirty-eight, 5; thirty-nine, 4; forty, 5; forty-one, 3; forty-two, 3; forty-three, 6; forty-four, 3; forty-five, 7; forty-six, 1; forty-seven, 1; forty-eight, 3; forty-nine, 2; fifty, 1; fifty-one, 0; fifty-two, 2; fifty-three, 2; fifty-four, 0; fifty-five, 2; fifty-six, 0; fifty-seven, 1; fifty-eight, 0; fifty-nine, 1; sixty, 0; sixty-one, 1; sixty-two, 0; sixty-three, 1; sixty-four, 1; sixty-five, 0; sixty-six, 0; sixty-seven, 1; sixty-eight, 1; sixty-nine, 0; seventy, 1.—Albany Times-Union.

An Old Crocodile.

One of the most interesting specimens in the British museum is a crocodile more than 2,000 years old. It is a big, well-preserved specimen, and on its back there is a whole family of little crocodiles. Years before the Christian era the Egyptians worshiped crocodiles among their animal deities, and many specimens were kept at great expense in their parks and royal gardens, where they were attended by priests and given all sorts of dainty morsels for food. When these crocodile gods died they were embalmed and placed in the tombs along with the sacred mummies of other sacred animals. This particular crocodile was prepared by dipping it in wax and pitch, which rendered it hard and shiny, and it lay in one of the pyramids century after century, until the Egyptian government dug it out and presented it to the British museum.—Los Angeles Times.

A Spanish Custom.

In some places in Spain, among them Vergara, where Golil was garroted, an old custom prevails of immediately after the execution arresting the executioner and charging him with murder before the court of justice. "Yes, I killed a man," answers the executioner, "but I did it in the name of the law, for the benefit of society, and in obedience to the commands of your honor." Then the court discharges him, saying that justice has been done.—N. Y. Sun.

WHEN WE KEPT STORE.

Do you remember, Brother Joe, the dear old days when we Embarked in brisk commercial life, as hopeful as could be?
Investing all the hoarded wealth of copper cents and dimes
And going into bankruptcy at least a dozen times?
A dozen times, at least, I say, but fancy it was more.
We failed, and ate our stock of goods,
When we kept store.

We opened in the coalhouse once with eighteen gaudy sticks
Of candy in an old fruit jar. (A nickel purchased six, and having fifteen cents we stocked as far as it would go,
Buying direct from Mr. Mears, the grocerman, you know.)
But not a customer appeared, I very much deplore
To say. In fact, none ever came
When we kept store.

One time you sold your rags and bones and
I gave you a whip
Which you had coveted, for half a working partnership
And, invoicing some peppermint, some pins and indigo,
We opened in the haymow with our spirits all aglow.
We thought the pins and blue would lure housekeepers by the score,
But ne'er a person came to buy,
When we kept store.

We vigorously advertised in sheets most neatly penned,
But if the people read our bills they did not comprehend,
Or, comprehending, trusted not merchants
of tender years,
But most discouragingly stuck (in trade)
to Mr. Mears,
Driving us by the scantiness of patronage
once more
To eat our edible assets,
When we kept store.

Trading in wheat, I've managed to lay up a fair amount,
And you, I understand, possess a pretty bank account.
Kind Providence has treated us extremely well as men,
But sometimes I look back and wish that once, just once again,
We two might for an hour or so be boys
just as before,
Eating the stock which failed to sell,
When we kept store.

—Chicago Record.

A SLUM ANGEL.

SOME one was coming up the stairs as the little district visitor was descending. The ascending party struck a vesta, which threw a fitful glare over the damp and filthy walls and the gray-gowned form of Hester Moore.

Dr. Paul Mayland stepped aside, flattening his broad shoulders against the baluster rail to admit a wider passage for her benefit.

During the next two weeks this "slumming" doctor and the soberly-dressed little district visitor met about half a dozen times on their separate ways to or from some den in a crowded alley, and at the end of a fortnight they actually defied criticism and spoke. It was raining a steady drizzle, and through the mire of a dirty court Paul Mayland saw a familiar form in gray stepping over the puddles without an umbrella.

"Please take mine," he said.

But she would only consent to share it.

"These places are not fit for you," said the doctor later when walking with her homeward. "Let a young man, too—too—indeed, it is scarcely safe for so young a girl to venture among the criminals that are hidden here."

"But I must," she murmured.

"Ah, you are one of those brave women willing to risk anything. I had heard of you long before I had the pleasure of lighting you down those rickety stairs two weeks ago."

"You have heard of me?" she asked, with an abrupt sharpness of tone which he did not notice.

"Yes, from the poor wretches whom you have made your devoted friends," he exclaimed. "It is more often for you they call in the extremity of their pain than for me."

"I am glad if I have done any good," she said, sighing with relief.

"Good!" he echoed. "If the depraved creatures about here worship anything at all, it is the Little Gray Lady, as they have named you."

Dr. Paul Mayland was celebrating his 40th birthday over a lonely cup of tea. Old Betsy, his housekeeper and one time nurse, had made a doubtful looking cake in honor of the occasion, and her affectionate master was sacrificing his digestion to please her.

It was not often that he was left to enjoy a meal in peace, and to-day was not an exception to the rule. He was still contemplating a second slice of cake when he received a hasty summons to a case in Lavender court.

"That's just like him," she growled in monologue. "He'll never be rich while he doctors them paupers for nothing. And they take vantage of his goodness, they do. Now, if Master Jack hadn't turned out a scoundrel"—here, being a devout Catholic, she crossed herself and mused mournfully upon the doctor's secret sorrow.

"Master Jack" was Paul Mayland's youngest brother, his junior by 15 years, who had been left as a sacred trust by their dying mother to the elder's care. Some seeds of depravity, perhaps sown in long generations past, early developed in young Jack. After rushing through various vicissitudes of gambling and drink, he devoted the remaining part of his sodden intellect to the criminal science of burglary.

His distracted brother for several years grieved for his "sacred trust" as a thing lost to him, until one night Jack had appeared craving protection from the law. For the sake of his dead mother, Paul had shielded the boy, who, when the danger was over, broke loose again, and in the course of time his dexterity earned him in the criminal world the sobriquet of "Lightning Jack."

At Lavender court, in the room where his patient lay, Dr. Mayland found the Little Gray Lady kneeling by the truckle bed on which a consumptive child was dying.

"I sent for you," she said. "I knew you would come if you possibly could."

She had puzzled him from the first—her absolute loneliness and her reserve. There were moments when he wondered if she were tiring of her charitable work, so obvious to him had been her troubled mind sometimes. To-night, walking beside her through the busy streets, he abruptly put his fancy into words.

"Yes, I am very tired," she answered. "I hate the work, I hate it."

"But it isn't compulsory," he exclaimed. "Why do you do it?"

"Because I must," she said, bitterly. Paul Mayland was not a rapid thinker, and not until they had turned into the street where she lived had he come to some sort of conclusion. Perhaps she was performing deeds of charity in expiation of some trifling sin, magnified by her tender conscience.

Yes, he loved her. She had guessed it long ago. It was in that moment when he had once unconsciously revealed his secret that her work had become suddenly hateful to herself.

"Don't go in yet," he said. "I want to tell you something. Let us walk back to the end of the street."

"I love you, Hester. I love you." His low voice penetrated through the traffic of the street. "I am not a young man, but my feeling for you is deep and strong enough to last my lifetime, even unto eternity." He caught the sharp sob that was choked in her throat. "Hester," he cried, "look at me! O, my darling, what is it?"

"I am so happy!" she said. "That is all."

How long they walked up and down the pavement neither knew. They were jerked back to the reality of things by a faint, hoarse voice that seemed to have sprung out of the darkness beside them:

"Paul, for God's sake, save me! It is the last time I shall trouble you."

"Go to my house by the back door. I will join you in ten minutes."

And, catching at Hester's hand, he hurried her along.

"You are trembling, dearest. That man has frightened you. He meant no harm. He is my brother."

"Your brother?" she gasped. "Lightning Jack your brother?"

"What do you know of 'Lightning Jack?' Who are you?"

"Come with me to my lodgings," she said, faintly. "I can't tell you here."

Hester Moore sat with her arms stretched across the table, her head bowed on them in speechless, tearless misery. The confidence which she had withheld so long had been wrung from her at last.

She was no angel of charity, but a person sent from Scotland Yard to track the brother, "Lightning Jack."

"So this is our Little Gray Lady! A human bloodhound paid to hunt down fallen wretches."

Every word lashed her like a whip. In the distress of that hour he was blind to her pain, blind to justice, blind to his very love for her.

"Well, your victim is ready at your hand," he said, bitterly, to the trembling representative of Scotland Yard. "Of course, you will do your duty."

He walked from the room without a backward glance. For an instant she remained thus, spiritless and dazed. Then a gradual indignation worked its way through her clouded brain.

What had she done to evoke contempt, or forfeit happiness? Born of a detective father, she had been carefully trained by the clever parent in certain intricacies of the profession, and since his death the work had been to her a means of livelihood.

The cheap clock on the mantelpiece struck 11, and she raised her face at last, a wonderous pity looking out of her burning eyes. His seeming cruelty had been but the outcome of fear for the safety of his brother!

When the dawn showed through the chinks of the blind, she threw open the window and leaned out her face in the chilly breeze.

"Hester, I have been waiting for you, hoping against hope that you did not go last night to—Scotland Yard."

It was Paul Mayland standing on the pavement. He bent his face close to hers, and whispered.

"Thank God!" she said, with shaking lips.

Death had spared her a terrible task. "Lightning Jack" had died in delirium in the arms of his brother.

One of the cleverest lady assistants attached to Scotland Yard resigned her post a few weeks ago, on the occasion of her approaching marriage.

The pew-opener of the Southwark church was heard to remark that "in all her ken" no man had ever looked so proud of his bride as did the "slumming" doctor who brought back the Little Gray Lady to live with them.—Answers.

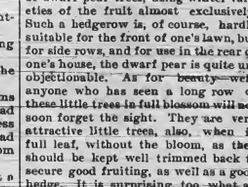
The Court's Advice.

There was once a western judge who was never heard to use the pronoun "I" outside of his own immediate family circle, after his appointment to the bench. At times his habit of reference to himself lent an air of dignity to his speech; at other times his listeners seemed to be decidedly more impressed with the humorous side of his addresses than with the subject matter thereof. One day a young man slightly under the influence of liquor was brought before the judge. "Young man," said the judge, impressively, "when this court was about your age it sometimes indulged in drink, in consequence of which it nearly committed, on one occasion, the crime of murder upon one of the court's second cousins. "But the court saw the error of its ways, reformed, and in time was elected judge, as you now see. This court, however, has not the slightest doubt that if it had not abandoned its youthful course, it would long since have been immured either behind prison bars or in its grave! And it is therefore especially fit, young man, that this court should urge you to do likewise."—Youth's Companion.

AGRICULTURAL HINTS

FARMER JONES' EXAMPLE.

"I was only jist a-thinkin'," said Farmer Jones, one day,
"A-goin' 'long a-ridin' to the city on my hay,
A-turnin' out fer mud-holes an' a-sinkin' down in the road,
Always goin' an' a-hawin', fer fear to spill the load,
Why can't we farmers have a road, like city folks you see,
Where all fine rigs, an' things like that, can be kept as clean's can be?
An' no turnin' out fer mud-holes, nor worryin' your horse to death,
Nor hangin' 'round about some place 'til the critter's found its breath.
'By gosh!' sez I, 'I'll fix my road along my farm an' see
If all the neighbors take the hint an' do the same as me.
Well, then, I begin a-workin', an' first it seems like play,
But I had my men a-helpin' till the closin' of the day.
An' every day that I could spare was gradin' that 'ere road,
An' fixin' things so that a horse could easy haul a load.
At last the job was finished, but it didn't seem to pay,
As the neighbors wus only thinkin' an' a-wonderin' what to say.
But they kinder got ashamed of theirs and seemed to take the hint;
So they begun a-workin', too, to make their road like flint.
At last the roads wus all alike so you couldn't tell their linkin',
An' I am powerful glad," said Jones, "that I begun a-thinkin'."



—L. A. W. Bulletin.

DWARF PEAR-HEDGE.

It Is a Source of Profit as Well as a Thing of Beauty.

There are numerous shrubs that are suitable for making hedges about one's lawn, whether one prefers evergreens or deciduous shrubs, but the number is limited that can be used in hedgerows that are of both use and beauty. The barberry is one of the latter, these bushes making a very graceful but not densely leaved, growth; but the barberry's fruit is not desired in large quantities, nor is it a desirable plant to have near wheat fields, as it harbors one stage of the "rust" fungus of the wheat.

On my place I am planting hedgerows of dwarf pear trees, using winter varieties of the fruit almost exclusively. Such a hedgerow is, of course, hardly suitable for the front of one's lawn, but for side rows, and for use in the rear of one's house, the dwarf pear is quite unobjectionable. As for beauty—well, anyone who has seen a long row of these little trees in full blossom will not soon forget the sight. They are very attractive little trees, also, when in full leaf, without the bloom, as they should be kept well trimmed back to secure good fruiting, as well as a good hedge. It is surprising, too, what an amount of fruit one can thus raise upon even a small place. In my own case, I am running a pear hedge around a two-acre lot, and am now using also some cross hedges in the rear of the buildings. It will take at least 300 trees to complete the outside row. As this will interfere very little with the planting of fruit trees over the whole interior surface of the two acres, it will be seen that on a given amount of ground one can raise much more fruit by using this outside hedgerow method. It is possible to crowd the little trees in a hedgerow, because they will be on the outside, and can thus have plenty of air and sunshine, though very close in the row; and though the row of dwarf pear trees may be quite close to the inside, larger fruit trees, the latter are not crowded by the former, since they stand up above them. This sort of work is not advisable on large commercial orchards, but on the home acre in the village lot, one wishes to make the most of every foot of ground.

DWARF PEAR HEDGE.

Planting so many of these little pear trees, I selected winter sorts, and chose that king among pears, the Anjou, and the scarcely less inferior Lawrence. Both these pears do finely on the quince stock, and both are winter varieties. With such fruit one can store in a cool cellar and unload upon the market when the market is most in need of winter pears. With fall fruit one is very nearly at the mercy of the market, for he cannot hold the fruit for any length of time.

My own trees are set about four feet apart. In future plantings I shall increase the distance somewhat. In setting the trees be careful to get the point where the pear stock and quince root join several inches below the surface, and for the first winter, at least, give the roots a mulch for protection.—American Gardening.

Vaccine for Black Leg.

The department of agriculture, through its bureau of animal industry, has just prepared vaccine for the cattle disease known as "black leg." It has also issued a circular containing facts about the disease itself and full directions for using the vaccine. It is desired by the bureau that before the vaccine is distributed to the stock owners in general a record be obtained of several thousand successful vaccinations. For this purpose a quantity of vaccine will be distributed to such persons as desire to make preliminary vaccination and report the results to the bureau. The vaccine as put up by the bureau consists of a brownish powder, which is prepared in packages containing ten doses each.

Enterprise in Indiana.

The citizens of Orleans, Ind., have just voted $46,000 for the construction of 30 miles of gravel roads.

PLANTING AN ORCHARD.

An Improvement Upon the Method Now in Vogue Suggested.

It is a common observation that the outrows of trees in established orchards are finer and more productive than the trees in the interior plantation. This superiority is all the more conspicuous if the orchard is bordered by cultivated fields, and it is fair to presume the extra luxuriance is owing to the trees having a greater extent of unoccupied soil for the ramification of their roots. Something is also undoubtedly due to the greater space available for the expansion and spread of the branches; but it is in accordance with all experience in the cultivation of plants that a rotation of crops is absolutely essential toward securing the best results of the fertility of the soil. Keeping these facts in view, it is suggested that an improvement upon the present method of planting orchards would be gained by planting two rows of trees from 18 to 25 or more feet apart, depending upon the nature of the trees, and alternating the plants in the rows. Then allow a space, varying in extent from 300 feet to any greater distance, before planting another series of rows, and so increase the plantation as may be desired. The intervening spaces between these double rows of trees would be available for the cultivation of the ordinary crops of the farm. The roots of the trees would not only participate in the benefits of cultivation, but would have practically unlimited room for extension before meeting other roots of their kind. Immediately under the trees and for a distance on each side of the rows as far as the branches spread the surface could be kept in grass. If not sown down immediately after planting, which might not be desirable in all cases, it should be done after the trees attain a fruit bearing size, or from five to seven years after setting out. The shelter which will be afforded to other crops by these orchards will be found valuable as a protection from winds as well as in forwarding early crops. This method is particularly applicable to apple and pear trees.—Dakota Field and Farm.

GOOD USE FOR WEEDS.

When Properly Cared For They Make a Good Fertiliser.

Summer heat, when it comes, starts a numerous and enterprising crop of weeds into active life. These may be easily controlled by the frequent use of the iron rake, which stifles them at birth. But if, through inattention, they get the start of the gardener and need to be reduced by the hoe, they should be attacked vigorously at the first chance and not allowed to perfect and drop their seed into the soil. Pull up and shake the larger ones when not so near as to endanger valuable plants thereby, and hoe up all others, not merely scraping the ground over, but raking it up and pulverizing it while rooting out the weeds. These may then, while still green and succulent, be raked together and put into the compost heap, where they will be obliged to return to the gardener all that they have purloined from his soil. This compost heap may, by a little care, be made quite an important factor in the fertility of the garden. Not only all weeds, but, as crops mature, all the garden refuse not used for mulching other plants, may be put into it, wet thoroughly and covered with a little earth and thus rotted down and retained for use as so much homemade fertilizer. It should be established in some out-of-the-way corner; a hole dug a few feet deep to accommodate it will be found convenient and the contents drenched with hose from time to time to promote decomposition, after which a few shovelfuls of earth will delay evaporation and help retain the gases. When used the addition of wood ashes and bone dust, of course, makes it by so much the richer.—Boston Transcript.

COVER FOR TOMATOES.

Prolongs the Season for Several Weeks Beyond the Usual Time.

By exercising a little extra care, the season for ripe tomatoes may be prolonged for two or three weeks beyond the usual period. As soon as there are indications of frost, cover the tomatoes in the evening with some kind of canvas or old blanket. Between the rows of tomatoes drive sticks about four feet apart and nail strips of boards on the top at the height of the tomato vines. Place the covers over these, letting the edges extend to the ground, where they must be fastened so that the wind will not blow them off. Leave no opening or the frost will get in. I prefer a heavy cover made of blankets, as this will often protect the vines when light canvas will fail. If the work is carefully done the tomatoes will stand a great deal of cold weather.—Lewis O'Fallow, in American Agriculturist.

COVER FOR TOMATO VINES.

ORCHARD AND GARDEN.

Don't set strawberries in weedy ground.

Don't waste the ashes. Apply them to the fruit trees.

Large, heavy peas will produce a better and earlier crop.

The autumn is a good time to apply potash fertilizers.

Are your sweet peas dead? You did not give them enough water.

Cucumbers can be grown on a trellis, but we do not approve of the plan.

Large, heavy seed is always the best. Experiment has demonstrated that.

A correspondent writes that he has kept his garden mulched all summer. Result, splendid crops and few weeds.—Western Plowman.

Latest Bicycle Slang.

As awkward person is a "wabbler."

A speedy travels with a "loose sprocket wheel."

If your clothes are not in style you are a "'95 model."

When a man's sweetheart jilts him he is the victim of a "broken chain."

Any rider abrading the skin by a fall merely "scrapes off some of his enamel."

He who looks upon the wine until his feet are entangled is a person whose "wheels do not run true."

A stupid individual, if there be any such on a bicycle, has "sand in his bearings."

A proud person, or one unduly haughty, "rides with his handle bars raised too high."

One who is disposed to be imaginative to the extent of romancing is "geared up to 100."

The individual who shouts at night when others desire to sleep is the victim of "loose spokes."—N. Y. Journal.

A Great Benefit.

First Daughter of the Revolution—She says she'd like to know, for her part, what practical good our society is.

Second Ditto—Why, the mean thing! Just as if we hadn't made it almost fashionable to be patriotic.—Judge.

Almost Inside Out.

The stomach that is not turned thus by a shaking up or by "briny wave" must be a well fortified one. The gastric apparatus can be rendered proof against seasickness with that stomachic so popular among travelers by sea and land—Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. It defends the system against malaria and rheumatism, and subdues liver complaint, constipation and dyspepsia.

Sad Naturally.

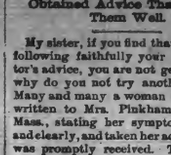
Gotham—People are so different here in Boston. See how sad everybody looks.

Buckbay—Naturally. How could they look otherwise when they think of the unfortunate people who cannot live in Boston?—Boston Transcript.

Why Is Star Plug Tobacco the Best?

Because it is made from selected stock of the best grade of leaf that grows. The ingredients used in its manufacture are absolutely pure—nothing injurious to the system enters into it.

You can always tell a man who is not used to tipping his hat by the awkward way he does it.—Washington Democrat.



THE MARKETS.

CINCINNATI, Oct. 4
LIVE STOCK—Cattle, common	2 25	@	2 75
Select butchers	3 85	@	4 25
CALVES—Fair to good light	5 50	@	6 25
HOGS—Common	3 25	@	4 00
Mixed packers	4 20	@	4 30
Light shippers	4 30	@	4 40
SHEEP—Choice	3 10	@	3 80
LAMBS—Good to choice	4 85	@	5 30
FLOUR—Winter family	3 60	@	3 90
GRAIN—Wheat—No. 2 red		@	92
No. 3 red		@	90
Corn—No. 2 mixed		@	20½
Oats—No. 2		@	21½
Rye—No. 2		@	46
HAY—Prime to choice		@	9 50
PROVISIONS—Mess pork		@	9 25
Lard—Prime steam		@	4 60
BUTTER—Choice dairy	12	@	13
Prime to choice creamery		@	24
APPLES—Per bbl	2 50	@	2 75
POTATOES—Per bbl	2 00	@	2 10
NEW YORK.
FLOUR—Winter patents	5 10	@	5 25
No. 2 red		@	95½
CORN—No. 2 mixed		@	34½
RYE		@	41½
OATS—Mixed	23½	@	25½
PORK—New Mess	9 50	@	10 00
LARD—Western	4 80	@	4 85
CHICAGO.
FLOUR—Winter patents	4 70	@	5 00
GRAIN—Wheat—No. 2 red		@	93½
No. 2 Chicago spring		@	85½
CORN—No. 2	27½	@	27½
OATS—No. 2		@	19
PORK—Mess	8 05	@	8 10
LARD—Steam	4 47½	@	4 50
BALTIMORE.
FLOUR—Family	4 60	@	4 80
GRAIN—Wheat—No. 2 red	92½	@	92½
Southern Wheat	89	@	95
Corn—Mixed	30½	@	32½
Oats—No. 2 white	26½	@	27
Rye—No. 2 western		@	51
CATTLE—Prime quality	4 10	@	4 25
HOGS—Western	4 90	@	5 00
INDIANAPOLIS.
GRAIN—Wheat—No. 2		@	85
Corn—No. 2 mixed		@	20
Oats—No. 2 mixed		@	20
LOUISVILLE.
FLOUR—Winter patent	3 75	@	4 00
GRAIN—Wheat—No. 2 red		@	91½
Corn—Mixed		@	31½
Oats—Mixed		@	21½
PORK—Mess		@	9 50
LARD—Steam		@	4 75

SUFFERING WOMEN.

How Many of Them Have Quietly Obtained Advice That Made Them Well.

My sister, if you find that in spite of following faithfully your family doctor's advice, you are not getting well, why do you not try another course? Many and many a woman has quietly written to Mrs. Pinkham, of Lynn, Mass., stating her symptoms plainly and clearly, and taken her advice, which was promptly received. The following letter is a pretty strong confirmation of our claims:

"I had been sick for six months; one doctor told me I would have to go to a hospital before I would get well. I had female troubles in their worst form, suffered untold agonies every month; my womb tipped back to my backbone, had headache, hysteria, fainting spells, itching, leucorrhœa.

"My feet and hands were cold all the time, my limbs were so weak that I could hardly walk around the house; was troubled with numb spells. I have taken four bottles of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, one bottle of her Blood Purifier, one package of her Sanative Wash, and am entirely cured. I have not had one of those numb spells since. Can you wonder that I sing the praises of a medicine that has cured me of all these ills?"—Mrs. Louisa Place, 650 Belmont St., Brockton, Mass.

A Cruel Husband.

"You ask for a divorce on the ground of cruelty, do you, madam?" asked the judge.

"Yes, your honor," replied the fair plaintiff.

"Do you mean to say that your husband has used bodily violence toward you?"

"Oh, no, sir. He never struck me, but—"

Here the applicant's voice broke as she thought of the indignity, and she sobbed bitterly.

"But what, madam?" asked the judge, kindly. "Tell me what your husband did."

"Why, judge, once he spoke real cross to dear Fido."

And the tender-hearted woman burst into a fresh torrent of tears.—Pittsburgh Chronicle-Telegraph.

Kentucky Appreciates.

"Er—Col. Clay, it's a fine wheat crop we have this year—"

"Splendid, sah, splendid! Best an' cleanest lot o' straws I ever drowed through, suh!"—Cleveland World.

Watts—"There is one good feature about the Klondike that has not been sufficiently exploited, in my opinion." Potts—"And that is—" Watts—"The superior facilities for cold storage of a fellow after he dies, until his friends can send for him."—Indianapolis Journal.

Wallace—"I didn't know you rode a wheel." Ferry—"I don't." Wallace—"Then what are you wearing knickerbockers and a sweater for?" Ferry—"To keep the fool bicycle riders from running over me. They think I'm one of 'em."—Cincinnati Enquirer.

Clergyman—"My boy, do you know it's wicked to fish on the Sabbath?" Youngster—"I isn't fishing; I'm teaching this 'ere wurm to swim." "Tit-Bits.

Cover an ass with a lion's skin, and he will soon manage to poke his ears out somehow.—Ram's Horn.

The worse one feels, the more people want to talk to him.—Washington Democrat.

Ayer's

is the name to remember when buying Sarsaparilla. It has been curing people right along for more than 50 years. That's why.

THE POT CALLED THE KETTLE BLACK BECAUSE THE HOUSEWIFE DIDN'T USE

SAPOLIO

WINCHESTER GUN CATALOGUE FREE

SEND YOUR NAME IN A POSTAL CARD AND WE WILL SEND YOU OUR 116 PAGE ILLUSTRATED CATALOGUE FREE.

WINCHESTER REPEATING ARMS CO. 100 WINCHESTER AVE., NEW HAVEN, CONN.

25 CTS. PISO'S CURE FOR CURES WHERE ALL ELSE FAILS. Best Cough Syrup. Tastes Good. Use in time. Sold by druggists. CONSUMPTION 50 CTS.

FITS STOPPED FREE. PERMANENTLY CURED. Insanity Prevented by DR. KLINE'S GREAT NERVE RESTORER

Positive cure for all Nervous Diseases, Fits, Epilepsy, Spasms and St. Vitus' Dance. No Fits or Nervousness after first day's use. Treatise and $2 trial bottle free to Fit patients, who pay express charges when received. Send to DR. KLINE, Ld., Kline's Institute of Medicine, 931 Arch Street, PHILADELPHIA, PA.

SOUTHERN Homeseekers' Guide

Every homeseeker should address either J. P. MERRY, A. G. P. A., Manchester, Ia., W. A. KELLOND, A. G. P. A., Louisville, Ky., or, S. G. HATCH, D. P. A., Cincinnati, O., for a free copy of the ILLINOIS CENTRAL RAILROAD'S SOUTHERN HOMESEEKERS' GUIDE.

BOONE : COUNTY : RECORDER

Wednesday Oct., 6, 1897.

Rates of Subscription:

One year..... $1 50.
Six months..... 75.
Three months..... 40.

Payable invariably in advance.

THE RECORDER

SOLICITS YOUR

Job Work,

POSTERS,
LETTER HEADS,
ENVELOPES,
CARDS,
BILL HEADS,
STATEMENTS,
SALE BILLS,
AND HOSE BILLS,

Printed at the Lowest Prices consistent with neat work.

Send your order by mail and it will be attended promptly.

STATE NEWS.

Some of the wells in Hardin county are dry, the first time since 1854.

The K. P. Grand Lodge will meet in Frankfort on the 26th and 27th inst.

Two schools in Woodford County closed, owing to an epidemic of scarlet fever.

Mormon Elders from Utah could secure no building in which to preach at Versailles.

Gov. Bradley addressed the Colored Methodist Conference at Frankfort, last Thursday.

Representatives of the Black Diamond railroad were in Owen county prospecting, last week.

Clark county people congratulate themselves on the prospects of a large rabbit crop this winter.

The drought is devastating the country about Bowling Green, and the farmers are very much discouraged.

John Wilson, of Glasgow, lately in the L. & N. railroad office, shot himself dead on account of bad health.

Three thousand quail have been turned loose on the Patchen Wilkes Stock Farm, in Fayette, for winter shooting.

Covington will have a relief store. An ordinance was passed by Council providing for a relief store for the poor.

Henry Leack's 42-year-old son Herbert fell fifty feet out of a chestnut tree and was crushed to death in Bell county.

Ex-Governor John Young Brown thinks "Dick" Tate is alive, basing his opinion on the untiring efforts to secure his pardon.

Jailer Dick Watts, Republican, of Louisville, says over 5,000 Republicans will scratch the Republican municipal ticket this year.

In many parts of the State the oldest citizens have no recollection of water ever being so scarce. In some places the trees are dying.

The drouth in Bath county is becoming alarming. The epidemic of fever grows worse and there is more serious sickness than ever before.

We have been puzzled to know why the Ohio farmers were in such an all-fired rush to get their corn cut last week. We understand it now. They had heard that Hanna was going to stump the state, and they wanted to get ahead of the "frost."—Newark (Ohio) Sun.

Few are aware of the many deaths that occur at the County Poorhouse, says the Winchester Democrat. The average is about three a week, most of which are colored people. The largest number of inmates at any time during the past two years has been one hundred and fifty.

Miss Alice Fox is the champion chicken raiser of Clark county. Three years ago she sent off for a setting of Buff Cochin eggs. From this setting she raised six chickens, four hens and two roosters, and from these she raised fifty and this year she raised about four hundred.

Uncle John Sherman has a speech all prepared, but says he won't deliver it in Ohio unless the State Committee insists that he do so. Mr. Hanna may yet have to resort to knocking the old gentleman down in order to make him keep his finger out of the pie.—Kansas City World.

Fisherman Claude Chambers was the maddest man in town Tuesday, says the Harrodsburg Democrat. He tells us that miscreants seined the Salt river reservoir Monday night, and left over 500 small newlights on the banks to die. He believes the seiners live in Harrodsburg, for as he passed along the Mackville pike next morning he found nice fish ever few yards that had jostled out of the wagon in which the men carried away the fruits of their unlawful deed.

CROP AND STOCK.

The farmers of Hopkins are making preparations for a large crop of wheat this fall.

A Glasgow man raised and sold $75 worth of tomatoes from a patch 50 by 19 feet, besides having an abundant supply for family use.

J. F. Ware sold to Bonta Bros., of Mercer, two hundred barrels of corn at $1 in the field, purchasers to gather the corn.—Danville Advocate.

The truck-farmers in Jefferson county, near Louisville, have been unusually successful this year. One man cleared $4,800 off his asparagus bed alone.—New Castle Local.

The potato crop throughout this section is a very poor one, and it is thought they will be selling for a dollar or more a bushel before Christmas.—Bracken Chronicle.

The Harrodsburg Democrat says: "Glover Kyle's corn will make 11 barrels to the acre. He planted with a drill, one grain in a hill, 12 inches apart. Off of 50 acres he got 46 stacks of fine timothy hay, and gathered 2½ bushels of clover seed to the acre.

The "wheat king" of the world belongs to Argentina. He is an Italian emigrant named Guazone, and his broad acres are situated in the south province of Buenos Ayres. His crop occupies an area of 66,270 acres. He numbers his workmen by the thousands and each one receives a certain share of the profits. When his season's crop is harvested he fills over 3,000 railway trucks with the grain.

Mr. Lucas Broadhead, manager of Woodburn farm, who is authority on Shorthorns, states that the advance in this breed within the past six months has been more remarkable than he ever knew in a similar length of time, and he considers this an indication that Shorthorns will resume their former high market positions. As will be remembered Woodburn farm once paid $18,000 for a shorthorn bull.—Danville Advocate.

It is almost an impossibility this season to rob the bees of their late supply of honey, as they are unusually quick to anger and fiercely resent any attempt to take the honey. An experienced apiarist tells the Democrat that this is an unfailing sign of a long and cold winter, and he has observed it closely for many years. The bees intuitively know this, and want to retain enough honey to supply them with food—Winchester Democrat.

The tobacco crop has been all housed and is only a common crop at best considering the acreage of this section. Most of it was set late, cultivated during a dry period when it should have had rain, and most of it cut prematurely to save it from frost, it cannot be said to be an average crop in quality, though there are a few exceptional crops. In quantity there is not over fifty per cent of a crop, and all of it will weigh light when marketed.—Warsaw Independent.

Some of the best posted men in the country are predicting that corn will reach the two dollar mark before January 1, next. It is urged that with wheat at one dollar and corn at 39 cents the difference is too great to be normal. Then, too, the government crop report compiled up to September 1, shows an undoubted shortage in the country, while the drouth since that time has added to the shortage. It would not be a matter of surprise to some people to see corn advance to 40 cents per bushel within the next four months.

One of the most important things about good farming that most of us have to learn is to avoid waste. We pay taxes on land that we do not farm we only half cultivate our fields, and so waste both land and labor; we leave a large percentage of the crop, waste time and capital in raising inferior animals; we waste money in buying what we should raise ourselves, we waste energy in trying to do more than any one can do right; we waste opportunities to improve our condition by staying away from institutions and neglecting to read papers; we waste—in a thousand and one ways, and then we are ready to say "farming don't pay." And it is no wonder.

A herd of 80,000 sheep has been purchased in Oregon by live stock commission merchants of Kansas City, and is now being driven overland to Kansas, where the sheep will be fed next winter preparatory to their sale in the spring. The herd is divided into twelve bands, each of which is driven by eight men. The method of driving the sheep is to allow them to graze along the roadside as they travel, covering six or eight miles each day. The bands are driven about twelve miles apart and the owners expect to reach Kansas by October. By driving the sheep overland instead of shipping them by rail there will be a saving of $80,000, as transportation charges from Oregon to Kansas amounts to $1 a head.

Cincinnati Tobacco Market.

The tobacco market has taken a position that it is a hard matter to figure out the future results. The stocks are not overly large, and with a short crop in the country and a frost and slight freeze to injure a portion of what was in the fields, has made many of the tobacco men come to the conclusion that nothing now will prevent higher prices. The sales the past week have been larger than the previous week and prices higher, in fact they were the highest of the season, with a very active market for all offered. A large portion of the offerings were taken by speculators. Red Tips and low grades continue to be the most in demand.

The reports from the country are that the frosts have not injured the crop to a great extent. Most of the crop is now in the house and the dry condition, which was caused by the hot weather, will not permit the tobacco to be injured as badly as it would have been in a green state.

News From Klondyke.

Now is the time to subscribe for the Klarion—$24 per annum, invariably in advance. Good, clean nuggets taken on subscription.

Mr. Bill Nuggins, the prince of good fellows, residing on Yaller avenue is putting a handsome 18k. gold leaf roof on his new barn.

We are pleased to announce that the first Presbyterian church will give a boiled dog supper at its parlors, Thursday evening at 7 o'clock. Admission $4; children half fare.

Col. Frankfort, of the Bang Up restaurant, meals served at all hours, has the editor's thanks for a juicy joint of roast mule as fine as he ever stuck a tooth into. Come again, Colonel.

Our leading dentist, Dr. Jim Moffitt, believes in fostering home industries. He uses only Klondyke gold in plugging teeth. Dr. Jim is also a jolly jerker. Call on him when in town.

Reward—Ninety-nine dollars reward will be paid for information leading to the arrest and conviction of the low-flung scoundrel who stole our office cat on Tuesday night last. The cat cost us money and he was getting fat enough to make us look forward to a Thanksgiving dinner with more than ordinary feelings of gustatory delight.

Ed Morris was arrested Tuesday night in a hilarious condition on Glacier alley. He resisted arrest and had to be dragged through the mud. When he was brought to the calaboose he was so muddy that the hose was turned on him and he panned out $217 in dust and nuggets. He was let off the next morning with a fine of $2,500.

FROM GRANT COUNTY.

[Courier]

Robert Childers, of Downingsville, was in town on business Monday. He says that the drouth is playing havoc with things in his part of the country; that he is hauling water two or three miles from Eagle Creek, and that most of his neighbors are doing the same and that there is no indications of relief in sight.

Judge C. C. Cram and E. D. Webster were out on the head waters of Fork Lick on Tuesday buying cattle. They secured a car load of good mountain steers and will ship them just as soon as they can get them in condition. Mr. Webster is a fine judge of cattle and will go into the stock business after the first of the year.

Dr. N. S. Matthews returned home on last Friday afternoon from Shelby, North Carolina, after a visit of six weeks to that health giving climate and drinking of the healing waters of Shelby's famous springs.

FROM CARROLL COUNTY.

[News]

The frost caught quite a lot of tobacco.

Both cisterns in the court house yard are dry.

A bank examiner was here last week and was complimentary in his report of both banks.

Carrollton will have a foot ball team this season for the first time. The team will average about 145 pounds.

There are only two cases of scarlet fever in town, and every precaution has been taken to keep it from spreading.

D. B. Garriott lost his fine Thinrind hog, "Longfellow," which weighed 639 pounds, being smothered on the train en route to the Shelbyville fair.

The tobacco barn of Smith Riley near Dallasburg, Owen county, was destroyed by fire Friday night and all the tobacco raised on his place, two large crops, were destroyed. No insurance.

The colored people celebrated Emancipation Day here Saturday, and by six o'clock the town was alive with colored people from a distance, coming from the four adjoining counties and Indiana. At ten o'clock two brass bands headed large processions to the fair grounds, where the proclamation freeing the slaves was read and speeches were made by several persons of their race. It was one of the best behaved crowds of its size that has assembled in Carrollton for some time, be it said to their credit.

FIGHTING A RATTLESNAKE.

Idaho Man Forced to Tear the Reptile from Him.

Bernard Sharkey, owner of the Copper Queen mine, near Salmon, Idaho, has had an encounter with a rattlesnake which, for sensational features, has seldom been equaled in a contest with a reptile. Mr. Sharkey was passing along a mountain trail. The footing was uncertain and he was holding to bushes, grass, etc., on the upper side of the trail with one hand. Intent upon where he was stepping, he did not notice he had aroused a snake, and had no warning of impending danger until the rattler darted its fangs into his hand. The shock caused Mr. Sharkey to lose his footing and slip from the trail, and he rolled down the side of the mountain for a considerable distance.

The snake did not release his hold, but attempted to coil itself around Mr. Sharkey's arm during the descent. Gaining his feet, Mr. Sharkey attempted to shake the reptile off, but found it impossible. He then drew his revolver and shot it. The snake loosened its clutch on his hand, but darted at him again and sunk its teeth in his leather coat. Holding to the coat it twined itself about his body, but with both hands free Mr. Sharkey continued to battle with better advantage. He loosened the coils of the snake, got his foot on its body and literally tore it loose from his coat, a piece of the leather being carried away in its mouth. He succeeded in killing the snake, which proved to be six feet in length and had 16 rattles.

By this time Mr. Sharkey was suffering intense pain, but he hurried to a near-by cabin, where, by great good fortune, he found a bountiful supply of whisky. He drank this in large quantities, while another man went for a doctor, a distance of 40 miles. He was almost dead when the physician arrived, but the latter succeeded in saving his life.—Denver Republican.

The Very Fact of the Case IS

That you can buy as much or more goods of a high quality, get better satisfaction ane always have more money by buying at.....

AYLOR'S

than any Little House this side of Cincinnati. We still kindly insist on you coming our way as you have in the past, as we will certainly always treat you right.

Very Truly,

IRA AYLOR, - - Erlanger, Ky.

C. W. ROBINSON,
—DEALER IN—
Dry Goods, Notions, Groceries, Boots and Shoes,
ALL KIND OF FEED AND FLOUR IN STOCK,
Agent for Weidler's Germ Food; Also agent for the Jones Fertilizers.
GOOD STABLE IN CONNECTION WITH STORE.
Constance, Ky.

METROPOLITAN COUPE & LIVERY COMPANY.
62 & 64 West Sixth St., Cincinnati, Ohio,
E. H. BAKER, Proprietor
Horses and Vehicles for Hire at Reasonable Rates.
Horses and Second-Hand Buggies for Sale.
Horses Sold on Commission.
Telephone 580.

CHAS. C. FRY. JACOB REIB.
FRY & REIB,
Manufacturers of and Dealers in all kinds of
Marble & Granite Monuments,
HEADSTONES, CORNER POSTS, ETC.,
109 Pike Sreet, - - - COVINGTON, K.
Near C. & O. R. R. Crossing. Designs Furnished Upon Application.

PATENTS
Caveats, and Trade-Marks obtained and all Patent business conducted for MODERATE FEES. OUR OFFICE IS OPPOSITE U. S. PATENT OFFICE and we can secure patent in less time than those remote from Washington.
Send model, drawing or photo., with description. We advise, if patentable or not, free of charge. Our fee not due till patent is secured.
A PAMPHLET, "How to Obtain Patents," with cost of same in the U.S. and foreign countries sent free. Address,
C.A.SNOW & CO.
OPP. PATENT OFFICE, WASHINGTON, D. C.

NOTICE.
I have been appointed and qualified as administratrix of W. L. Norman, deceased, and all persons indebted to said estate must pay same at once and any one having a claim against said estate must present same to me properly proven at Walton, Ky., or to my Atty., S. W. Tolin at Burlington, Ky.
AMERICA A. NORMAN, Admrx.
August 25, 1897.

Frankfort & Cincinnati Railway.
Ask for tickets via this line. Schedule of trains in effect March 1, 1897.
East Bound.
Lve. Frankfort..... 6:30 a. m, 3:00 p. m
Arr. Georgetown... 7:20 a. m. 4:15 p. m
West Bound.
Lve. Georgetown... 10:40 a m 6:30 p. m
Arr. Frankfort..... 11:55 a. m 7:20 p. m
O. D. BERCAW, G. P. A.
Geo. B. Harper, Gen. Supt.
Frankfort, Ky.

H. S. STEVENSON,
Satisfaction Guaranteed
DENTIST,
Prices Consistent with Good Services Only.
OFFICE:— Rising Sun, Indiana.

NOTICE.
Cincinnati, O., April 5, 1897.
To the Tobacco Growers of Boone County:
I am connected with the Cincinnati Leaf Tobacco Warehouse Co., which includes four houses—the Globe, Morris, Bodmann, Cincinnati Miami. Prize your tobacco and ship it to one of the four houses and receive the highest market price for same. If you have no preference ship it to the Cincinnati Miami, and I will give it my personal attention. Hogsheads and presses furnished. Address me at 110, 112 West Front St., Cincinnati, Ohio.
oct-7 O. W. ADAMS.

Take the Recorder, $1.50 a year.

RUGBY PREPARATORY : SCHOOL
—FOR BOYS.—
Covington, - Kentucky.
Thorough Preparation for Scientific School, College or Business, Military Training.
Limited Number of Boarders Desired.
Excellent Building.
Home Influence and Comforts.
Twelth Year. NEXT TERM BEGINS Septr. 15th, 1897.
For catalogue and special information Address,
K. J. MORRIS, A. M. Prin.

R. A. STEELE,
RISING SUN, IND.,
UNDERTAKING.
My Stock and accouterments are unsurpassed, having adult's black hearses and child's white hearse.
Independent of Undertakers' Union.
My prices are reasonable and my friends will tell you I give satisfaction.
FURNITURE
Large Stock of Latest Styles at Lowest Prices.
GIVE : ME : A : CALL.

Administrator's Notice.
Those indebted to the estate of J. C. Beall, deceased, must come forward and settle at once, and those having claims against said estate must present the same at once proven according to law.
CHAS. B. BEALL, Adm'r.

FIFTY DOLLARS A WEEK EASILY made. Agents wanted in every locality for Hon. W. J. Bryan's great and only book, "The First Battle." The best seller ever produced. Agents are taking as many as 200 orders per week. Beware of fraudulent imitations. Send for outfit and begin work at once. W. B. CONKEY COMPANY, Publishers, 341 Dearborn St., Chicago.

For Rent.
A good farm, to a good tenant—six miles from Cincinnati on Cincinnati Southern railroad and on free turnpike. Call at 30 W. 4th St. Covington, Ky. J. J. DULANEY.

Subscribe for the RECORDER.

BOONE COUNTY RECORDER.

VOL. XXII. BURLINGTON, KENTUCKY, WEDNESDAY, OCTOBER 13, 1897. NO. 51.

The members of the Democratic Executive Committee and all Democratic nominees for County offices, are requested to meet at my office at 1 o'clock p. m., Oct. 16th, 1897, matters of importance will be considered.

D. E. CASTLEMAN, Chairman.
Burlington, Ky., Oct. 7.

A FLEET of steamers are expected to arrive from Alaska, this week, bringing considerable gold with them.

IF registration indicates anything the Democrats will give the Republicans a terrible walloping in Louisville next month.

THE value of the churches and the land on which they are erected in this country up to July 1, 1897, is estimated at $680,000,000.

KLONDYKE literature is covering the country, and mining and other schemes to capture the cash of the unsuspecting are being pictured in glowing colors.

THE receipts of tobacco at Cincinnati fell off very materially last week. Consequently the offerings were not so large, but the bidding was spirited, and good prices prevailed.

MR. BRYAN has made four speeches in this State, advocating Democracy. He came to Kentucky at the instance of the party managers, who are determined to redeem the State this fall.

A LOT of negroes were shipped to Louisville for registration purposes, but their presence was detected, and some of them were put to considerable trouble before they got out of the town.

THE Republicans are overrunning Ohio with political speakers. They appear to be getting uneasy about the result of the contest with an issue which they have been proclaiming dead ever since last fall.

A DAY of twenty hours sunshine is too long for the average citizen of this country, but in the Klondyke country you soon get used to them if you do not freeze to death, which will be the lot of many before noon.

DR. HUNTER has received his commission to look after Uncle Sam's interest in Gautemala, and after making a few speeches for the Republicans candidate for Clerk of the Court of Appeals, he will leave for Gautemala.

THE fact that a great many Republicans in Covington registered as Democrats has caused considerable talk in that city. If they vote as they registered there will be considerable more talk after the election, and of a decidedly emphatic character.

GOV. BRADLEY was very much engaged in the welcoming business, last week. First the Bankers' convention and then the Mississippi Valley Medical Association demanded his attention. The Governor is a pretty good hand at that particular kind of work.

THERE are several conditions to be considered in estimating the result of the election in this State this fall. With Parker polling the full vote of the Populists and the gold-bug Democrats voting for Bailey, the Democrats will come up short of success.

THE Washington negroes are not in love with Mr. Hanna, who they think has given them a very cold shoulder in the matter of appointments, and they propose evening up with him by sending missionaries among the colored voters in Ohio, to urge them to vote against the boss' interest at the election next month.

IN less than a month the voters of this State will be called upon to approve or condemn the present State administration, and with the numerous exposes of corruption and incompetency in office, since Governor Bradley's inauguration, a voter ought to have no trouble in deciding that Shackelford is his choice for Clerk of the Court of Appeals.

THE Courier-Journal asserts that the Democrats cannot answer the arguments that are being adduced by the Hindman speakers in favor of the gold standard. If the Courier Journal, which prides itself on the ability with which it has always been edited, will review its own columns of only a few years since, it will find arguments in support of the Democratic position in regard to the silver question, that may be more satisfactory to it.

WASHINGTON LETTER.

(From Our Regular Correspondent.)

Washington, October 8th, 1897.

A week in Washington without the launching of a new war scare would seem quite strange, it has been so long since there was one. The war scare of the present week was based upon the action of the Cabinet in discussing the placing of orders for a million dollars worth of smokeless powder for the Navy, as soon as the money could be made available to pay for it. This is really the most war-like step yet taken by the administration, and it is not surprising that it should have created a sensation. It may be a bluff, and there may be no intention to purchase such a large quantity of smokeless powder. There would certainly be no use for it, except for fighting purposes. It is the belief of some very cool headed men that unless the administration can bluff the new Spanish ministry it will be in a position where it can choose between fighting and backing down, and the strongest opponents of the administration do not believe it will back down, simply because to do so would be to arouse such public indignation that every member of the administration would be driven in disgrace to private life. Americans can stand a lot, but they wouldn't stand a backdown from Spain on the part of McKinley's administration.

The country is beginning to see that those who charged Ex-Secretary of State Foster with making a mess of his sealing negotiations with Great Britain knew what they were talking about. England's notification to this government that it would take no part in the sealing conference to be held in Washington has opened the eyes of the world to Foster's bungling. Representatives of Russia and Japan are now on their way to Washington to take part in the sealing conference, those government's having accepted the assurances of Foster that England had promised to also take part, when it had not done so. Months ago Prof. Elliott said that England had no idea of doing so.

When a man gets down everybody seems disposed to give him a kick. The case of Senator Wellington, of Maryland, is an instance. Months ago, before Wellington had made that fool exhibition on the floor of the Senate, Boss Hanna asked him to make some speeches in the Ohio campaign and he agreed to do so. Several days ago Wellington was given a hint that it would greatly please Hanna if he would cancel his Ohio engagements on account of his health, or any other old reason, and the announcement was duly made that Senator Wellington's health had compelled the cancellation of his Ohio engagements to speak. One of Hanna's Ohio friends, speaking of Wellington, said: "Hanna has been afraid of Wellington ever since he made that monkey-speech in the Senate, and was determined that he should not be allowed to speak in Ohio. His adoption of a gentle hint prevented embarrassment to all concerned."

A well known newspaper man, just from Ohio, said: During "the past two weeks, I have been campaigning with Senator Hanna. The audiences that have turned out to hear him have not been large, nor, to tell the truth, have they displayed a great amount of enthusiasm. The first week's meetings were in the nature of a 'frost', but latterly the attendance has improved. The fact is that the Republicans, for some cause, seem apathetic."

Mr. McKinley is very anxious to have the country believe that he is not taking sides in the hot fight now going on in greater New York's municipal campaign, and statements to that effect are being sent out from Washington. But these statements fool nobody except those who are easily fooled or those who wish to be fooled. Mr. McKinley is with Boss Platt, and every Federal official in New York knows it and is acting accordingly. He wants Boss Platt to win, and doesn't care a snap whether it be with Tracy for a candidate or with a compromise candidate secured by the withdrawal of both Tracy and Low. He wants Platt to win because that would give him a stronger hold on the New York delegation to the next Republican National convention, which Platt has pledged to the support of Mr. McKinley for a second term.

Nobody in Washington will be greatly surprised if the Democratic National Committee should declare Henry George to be the regular Democratic candidate for Mayor of New York.

It is unofficially stated that the board of naval officers charged with the duty of investigating and recommending to the Secretary of the Navy the best place all, things considered, to locate a government plant for the making of armor for naval vessels has practically decided that the best place for the plant is in the south and that their choice is between Alabama and Tennessee, with the chances slightly in favor of their recommending the latter. This recommendation will go to Congress, which will decide whether the plant shall be established.

POLITICAL.

The Democrats are now having their innings. The registration for the first two days shows a Democratic majority of 5,000. If Democrats will vote as they register all will be well.—Louisville Post.

The heavy registration shows that Louisville is gaining in population at a rate that will soon make her the greatest city on earth or else shows a fraudulent registration that is alarming to good citizens of both parties.—Post.

John S. Rhea eat up Judge Yost alive in a debate at Hopkinsville the other day. The poor old traitor in desperation yelled "I would rather be a contingent of the Republican party than sleep with an anarchist." The Judge don't want any more debates.—Owen News.

The total registration for the three days in Louisville for the 1897 election amounted to 46,424, or 186 more than the phenomenally heavy registration of last year. The Democratic plurality for the three days was 6,642 against a Republican plurality last year of 1,768.

The Democrats are perfectly satisfied with the registration of Tuesday. The Republicans have a majority of 41. McKinley carried the city by 240 majority last November, and take that election and compare it with the number registered Tuesday. It will show a Republican decrease of 199. Keep the candle burning in the old homestead of Democracy, and there will be a full house in November.—Georgetown News.

As we go to press Wednesday afternoon Capt. J. R. Hindman, the gold Democratic candidate for Clerk of the Court of Appeals, is addressing a crowd of 150 persons in the court house. Mr. Hindman is a good speaker and his partisans cheered him to the "echo." In an interview he says he will poll 60,000 votes in the State and that Shackelford will be elected Clerk by a good majority over Bailey (Republican.) He will poll a few more votes in Grant county than Palmer and Buckner did last year.—Williamstown Courier.

The Courier-Journal, in its issue of Tuesday last, had a very truthful (?) report from the sound money speaking at our opera house of the day before. It said "two-thirds of the crowd present were farmers." If the C.-J. can get the names of enough of those "two-thirds" to fill one row of seats in the opera house the Argus will stop talking for the Democratic ticket. If the C.-J. can publish three names of persons on the stage in the opera house Monday who are not going to vote for Republican nominees next month the Argus will talk from now on for any kind of ticket the C.-J. might put up in the future. Those people were not there, old woman, and you should not have printed such fabulous reports.—Argus.

The Republican party has had control of all departments of the State government for two years and it has made a record in that time the people must pass on in November. It has increased the rate of taxation in the State over 20 per cent. when it promised the people if put in power it would reduce taxation. It has decreased the school per capita, when it claimed that the Democratic party had not properly fostered the public school interest. It has incurred a debt for the State of $500,000 and still has a deficit on its hands when it charges the Democratic party with reckless extravagance. It denounced the contract made with the Mason & Foard Co., leasing the convicts, and has made a contract that has cost the State over $200,000 in two years, according to Republican authority. It has allowed the State to be robbed by a lumber contractor, and has permitted immoral practices in the penitentiary that are disgraceful. The Eddyville penitentiary has also been managed in the most outrageous manner, and bodies of dead convicts, instead of being given decent burial, have been sold to medical colleges in Louisville for $4 each and the money put in the pockets of those who sold them. — Elizabethtown News.

Pith of the Press.

The Courier-Journal is playing both ends against the middle in this fight. It is for Hindman in the State, and for Weaver in the city; for Shackelford in the city, and against Weaver in the State. If it could manage to claim credit for electing Weaver in the city, it would knock the Dispatch out, get the city patronage and run the next State convention as it pleased.—Commonwealth.

Major Handy's indignation over the small amount of space allotted to the United States in the Paris Exposition is perfectly justifiable. As we understand it the United States section is so limited that when Major Handy goes in he has to leave his whiskers outside.—Chicago Tribune.

It is singularly appropriate that the managers of the meetings being addressed by Mark Hanna in Ohio should advertise a balloon ascension to follow the Boss' speech. People who hear Hanna speak need something exciting to distract their thoughts.—St. Louis Republic.

Grover Cleveland is said to aspire to a place on the bench of the New Jersey Court of Errors. There is a general disposition to give it to him on the grounds that he is the most conspicuous error now in New Jersey.—Chicago Tribune.

There is one thing in the way of the scheme to make Mr. Cleveland a United States Senator from New Jersey, and that is the fact that there is no Grover Cleveland Democratic party in that State.—N. Y. Mail and Express.

General Miles writes a spicy letter to the tax payers, in which he informs us that he will soon be in "our midst." Next to peaches and cream we know of nothing nicer.—N. Y. Evening Telegram.

According to the records at Washington, Mr. Edison has taken out 711 patents, and yet he has to get up against the door-jamb like the rest of us when he wants to scratch his back.—Detroit News.

The annexation of Hawaii may be necessary in order for the Administration to supply a sufficient number of officers to discharge Mr. Hanna's campaign obligations.—N. Y. Journal.

As Honolulu has a woman 122 years of age, it is probable that after annexation she may prove to have been another nurse of Baby George Washington.—Louisville Commercial.

In case Mr. Cleveland goes to the United States Senate as New Jersey's representative they will have to organize a new party for him to caucus and act with.—N. Y. Journal.

The three perpendicular new moons are charged with the great drought when, perhaps, it is all due to Mr. McKinley's mismanagment.—St. Louis Post Dispatch.

The silence of Statistician Grosvenor gives rise to the fear that he has gone to sleep under his multiplication table.—Omaha World-Herald.

THE Spanish cabinet has decided to recall General Weyler from Cuba now in a few days. Gen. Gomez, commander of the Insurgents claims that his forces are in good condition for a continuation of the struggle.

In this issue appears a list of appointments for speaking by Mr. F. H. Russell, the Republican candidate for the legislature. He solicits a joint discussion and the Democrats ought to accommodate him.

THE Ripley county, Indiana, lynchers are keeping up their organization, and occasionally have a daylight dress parade to let bad characters know that they are ready for business.

THIS side of the sphere could have disposed of, to an advantage, a large portion of the water that caused such a destructive flood in China.

W. J. BRYAN spoke to sixteen acres of people at Nashville, Tennessee, one day last week.

FORRESTER is still going after that rotten, penitentiary chair contract.

COUNTY DIRECTORY.

County Judge—Benjamin Stephens.
County Clerk—S. W. Adams.
County Attorney—J. M. Lassing.
Sheriff—C. C. Roberts.
Jailer—C. L. Crisler.
Assessor—R. A. Brady.
Coroner—A. A. Murat.
Superintendent Schools—L. H. Voshell.
Surveyor—W. E. Vest.

Fiscal Court meets Tuesday after first Monday in January, April, July and October.

RAILROAD COMMISSIONER:
John C. Wood, Chairman; P. Dempsey, H. S. Irwin. Secretary—Samuel Brown.

CIRCUIT COURT.
Judge—John W. Green.
Clerk—J. W. Duncan.
Commonwealth's Attorney—M. D. Gray.
Master Commissioner—J. B. Berkshire.

JUSTICES OF THE PEACE.
Courts are held in the months of March, June, September and December, as follows:
District No. 1.—O. W. Gaines, fourth Saturday; J. B. Grigler, Constable.
District No. 2.—M. B. Green, first Saturday; Jake Cook, Constable.
District No. 3.—R. L. Roberts, wednesday after third Monday; T. M. Rich, Constable.
District No. 4.—H. Bannister, Thursday after second Monday; Add Riddell, Constable.
District No. 5.—T. E. Roberts, tenth Monday; J. H. watson, Constable.
District No. 6.—Joseph Wagstaff, third Saturday; Simeon Tanner, Constable.

STATE DIRECTORY.

Governor—W. O. Bradley.
Lieutenant Governor—W. J. Worthington.
Secretary of State—Charles Finley.
Assistant Secretary of State—E. D. Guffy.
Attorney General—W. S. Taylor.
Auditor—Samuel H. Stone.
Assistant Auditor—Frank Johnson.
Treasurer—George W. Long.
Sup't of Public Instruction—Geo. M. Davidson.
Register Land Office—Charles O. Reynolds.
Republican—Stanley D. Brown, Sam S. Shepherd.
Insurance Commissioner—D. M. Comingore.
Adjutant General—D. R. Collier.
Assistant—Walter Forrester.
Supt. Arsenal—Capt. David O'Connell.
State Inspector—C. W. Lester.
Commissioner Agriculture—Lucas Moore.

COURT OF APPEALS.
Chief Justice—Joseph Lewis. Judges—Geo. Du-reelle, J. R. Grace, T. H. Paynter, B. L. D. Guffy, J. H. Hazelrigg, J. H. Lewis.
Reporter—E. W. Hines. Clerk—A. Addams.
Sergeant—W. S. B. Hill. Tipstaff—C. C. Turner.
Librarian—Mrs. Mary Brown Day.
Inspector of Mines—C. J. Norwood.

STATE PRISON OFFICIALS:
Frankfort Prison—Warden, Henry George; Deputy Warden, M. A. Rooney.
Eddyville Prison—Warden, L. C. Curry; Deputy Warden, Ward Linn.

JOHN C. TANNER
SPECIAL AGENT,
ERLANGER, - - KY.
Representing Reliable Companies Manufacturing
Musical Instruments, Sewing Machines, Bicycles, Buggies, Farming Implements
—ALSO—
Coal and Lumber, Granite & Marble Work, Life & Fire Insurance.
☞Prompt Attention and Satisfaction Guaranteed.
Aug 25 3m.

B. F. BUCHANAN,
— DRUGGIST, —
Rising Sun, - Indiana.
—o—
Thanks his Kentucky friends for their renewed patronage and invites them to continue to call at the ✣Corner Drug Store.✣

INSURE AT HOME
The Farmers' Mutual Fire
INSURANCE COMPANY,
OF BOONE COUNTY,
Is now completely organized and receiving applications for insurance.
Its Rates are Lower
Than those of any other Company and gives the farmers of Boone County
HITHERTO UNKNOWN ADVANTAGE
In keeping their property insured.
EVERY FARMER IN THE COUNTY should take a policy at once.
E. H. BLANKENBECKER, - President, Florence, Ky.
D. E. LAWELL, - Vice-President.
OSCAR GAINES, Secretary, Burlington.
J. E. DUNCAN, Treasurer.
EXECUTIVE BOARD—Legrand Gaines, J. W. Conner, John Stephens.
J. E. SMITH, Assessor, - Burlington, Ky.
W. M. ROGERS, Agt. - Walton, Ky.

FOR SALE--This Fall.
—of—
STRAWBERRY PLANTS.
Bubach No. 5. P. Greenville P.
Parker Earl, Haverlan,
And other Varieties.
LIGHT BRAHMA FOWLS.

Blackberry & Raspberry Sprouts.
For further information write to WM. C. ROUSE, Limaburg, Ky.

D. E. CASTLEMAN,
ATTORNEY - AT - LAW,
BURLINGTON, KY.
Will practice in the Courts of Boone Kenton, Grant and Gallatin. Collections pushed energetically.

G. G. HUGHES,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
BURLINGTON, KY.
Will practice in all the courts. Prompt attention given to all business entrusted to me.

P. E. CASON,
ATTORNEY - AT - LAW,
BURLINGTON, KY,
Practice in all Courts. Promptness guaranteed.

J. G. TOMLIN,
ATTORNEY - AT - LAW,
WALTON, KENTUCKY.
—o—
Will practice in the Courts of Boone, Kenton Grant and Gallatin. Prompt attention given t Collections entrusted to him. mchzz-93.

W. E. VEST,
County Surveyor,
BURLINGTON, KY.
Is prepared to do all kinds of Surveying. All orders by maill promptly attended to.

J. M. LASSING. N. E. RIDDELL
LASSING & RIDDELL,
ATTORNEYS AT LAW.
BURLINGTON, KY.
Prompt Attention Given to Collections

S. GAINES,
ATTORNEY-AT-LAW,
BURLINGTON, KY.
Will practice in all the courts, and prompt attention given collections. Office—In residence near post-office.

DR. A. B. HARRYMAN,
..... DENTIST. .....
—o—
Will be in Lawrenceburg, Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday.
At Aurora, Thursday, Friday and Saturday. Practiced for 30 years.
No Poisonous Gasses Used.

S. W. ADAMS,
ATTORNEY - AT - LAW,
BURLINGTON, KENTUCKY.
Will practice in the courts of Boone and Kenton counties. Collections and general law practice.

W. E. VEST. B. L. RICE.
VEST & RICE,
Real Estate Agents.
Farms Bought, Sold or Exchanged, Money to Loan on Real Estate, Notes bought, sold & Negotiated.
☞All communications addressed to W. E. VEST, Burlington, Ky.

BOONE CO. DEPOSIT BANK.
(Incorporated 1880.)
CAPITAL, ... $30,000
Surplus and undivided profits, 19,000
—)o(—
Our facilities enable us to receive on favorable terms accounts of individuals and corporations. Collections promptly remitted for at lowest rates

ERLANGER DEPOSIT BANK.
(INCORPORATED 1893.)
ERLANGER, - - KENTUCKY
CAPITAL PAID IN..... $50,000
SURPLUS..... $ 5,000
Careful attention given collections and remittances promptly made. Deposit accounts solicited.

Dr. J. L. Adams,
DENTIST,
Walton, Kentucky.
All work executed according to the latest methods of the profession.
Satisfaction - Guaranteed.

W. N. HIND & CO.
213 W. FIFTH ST.
Cincinnati, O.

JOHN L. VEST,
SURVEYOR
WALTON, KY.
Is prepared to do all kinds of work south of Burlington, Ky. Prompt attention given to all mail orders.

THE RECORDER.

W. L. RIDDELL, Publisher.

BURLINGTON, . . . KY.

Count Tolstoi says the British and the Zulus are the two most brutal races on earth.

The London Globe calls the United States a fourth-class power. Historians will please remember this in writing about 1776 and 1812.

This year's corn crop is estimated at 1,750,000,000 bushels. While not the largest on record, it will serve to dispel the fear of famine in a number of foreign countries.

An English scientist flies in the face of the microbists by announcing that "kissing is a cure for dyspepsia." This is likely to develop an alarming prevalence of the symptoms of that malady.

California fruit shipped to London is reported as arriving "in splendid condition." The refrigerator car has made many things certain which in former times would have been regarded as impossible.

A British technical journal says Americans are called in to equip an electric railroad simply because manufacturers in England are unable to do it. "Made in America" will be the stamp on the London trolley lines.

The theory is still occasionally heard that the bicycle is a passing fad. A glance over the world does not tend to confirm the idea. In France 329,814 bicycles are registered, and the government collects a tax on them of over $600,000.

Boston wins the championship baseball pennant of 1897, and Americans who still retain a love for the national game will not be sorry that the coveted trophy goes to a club with an untarnished reputation for playing clean, manly baseball.

An ungainly horse, whose breakfast had evidently been of a light variety, amused itself and a crowd in Chicago by snatching a new and costly fall hat from the head of a woman and quietly munching it until as an article of fashionable headgear it was beyond repair.

The Japanese have shown their hospitality and their desire to cultivate the good will of strangers by establishing a "welcome society" in Jeddo. The object of this society is to give counsel to all strangers visiting Japan and to make their sojourn in the kingdom of the mikado as agreeable as possible.

"The pain, shame and mischief of the last two years in the eastern policy," says Mr. Gladstone, transcend entirely the powers of any language I could use concerning them." The grand old man of England goes on to say that the Armenian slaughters, the upbuilding of Turkey and the weakening of Greece as a kingdom are all due to the European concert; that is, the mutual hatred and distrust of the powers.

The talk of an international railroad to connect America with Europe, the route to extend through British Columbia, Alaska, Siberia and Russia, with the short passage across Behring strait as the only break in an all-rail trip, has been revived. The project is no longer regarded as visionary, but on the contrary many men of hard sense believe in its practicability. Recent events serve to show that the day may come when such a route will be completed.

We are gravely informed that a new and rich gold vein has been discovered in the neighborhood of Lake Wawa, Ontario, and that experts have assayed some of the product up to $692 to the ton. Gold veins and similar El Dorados in the silver and copper fields are now a matter of daily discovery, and if the mining speculators are not careful they will soon give the lay public the impression that gold mines are plucked off raspberry bushes in the boundless and optimistic west.

The current report of the United States geological survey shows that the production of natural gas in this country is declining through exhaustion of the supply. In 1888 the value of the product was $22,000,000 and last year it was $13,000,000. Some years ago scientists who had investigated the matter predicted that the supply of natural gas was temporary. The tapping of the storage reservoirs is now exhausting the supply and evidently nature's laboratory is not making up the growing deficiency.

Thomas A. Edison was asked the other day what he thought of those Chicago men who claim to be manufacturing gold from the baser metals. The inventor, it is said, did not reply categorically to the question, but smiled significantly and picked up from his desk a cablegram which had just been received from Italy. The dispatch read: "To Edison, Orange, N. J.: Have invented perpetual motion. Will you help me perfect it?" "You will notice," he said, with a far-away look, "that a great many remarkable discoveries are being made this year."

Bandits have again taught railroad and express officials that prevailing methods of protection for valuables in express cars are practically worthless by looting a Northern Pacific passenger train in Minnesota. Train robberies are not diminishing in frequency, in spite of the unceasing vigilance of officials, and the time is doubtless approaching when express cars will have to be built as safes are, bullet and dynamite proof. The expenditure of a few thousand dollars on this line of protection would have prevented many of the recent easy robberies of express cars.

THE CAPITAL.

A Hearing in the Mihalovitch, Fletcher & Co. Cherry Case—About $165,000 in Customs Duties Are Involved in the Case.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 7.—Assistant Secretary Howell Wednesday gave a hearing to counsel for Mihalovitch, Fletcher & Co., distillers of Cincinnati, on the questions involved in a seizure of a large invoice of red and white cherries imported by them in spirits, as a nonenumerated article subject to a duty of 20 per cent. ad valorem. The customs officers reappraised the goods and assessed a duty on the basis of the alcoholic strength of the spirits, which in most cases increased the duty to $1.80 per gallon. The defense asked that all proceedings under the seizure be suspended pending a final determination of the questions between the board of general appraisers. About $165,000 in duties are involved. Assistant Secretary Howell took the matter under advisement.

The president and Mrs. McKinley Wednesday afternoon received the members of the Ladies Home mission of the Methodist Episcopal church who are holding their annual conference at Baltimore, Md. Mrs. Senator Teller is president of the society but in her absence the ladies were presented by Dr. Johnson, pastor of the Metropolitan M. E. church of this city.

There were many callers at the white house Wednesday, among them being Secretary Alger, Assistant Secretary Day, Justice Harlan, Senator Shoup, of Idaho; Representatives Sherman, of New York, and Marsh, of Illinois, and R. C. Kerens, of St. Louis. William R. Plunkett, of North Adams, Mass., whom President and Mrs. McKinley visited on their recent trip, was the guest of the president at breakfast Wednesday morning. Col. John N. Taylor and wife, of East Liverpool, O., who are old friends of the president and Mrs. McKinley, are guests at the white house. They will remain several days. Col. Taylor is one of the largest pottery manufacturers in the country. Among the consular appointments which will be announced in the near future will be that of Rufus Fleming, of Ohio, as consul at Edinburgh, Scotland. Mr. Fleming is managing editor of the Cincinnati Times-Star.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 7.—The Inter State Commerce commission will hold a full meeting in this city the latter part of next week. This will be the first meeting held here in some months.

A NEGRO

Who Confessed to Seduction Taken From a Justice's Court by a Mob and Lynched.

HERNANDO, Miss., Oct. 7.—Wednesday morning, when Henry Crower, colored, who had confessed to seducing Dovie Ferguson, the 15-year-old daughter of John Ferguson, a farmer who lives near this place, was in the office of Justice of the Peace Philipps, awaiting preliminary trial on a charge of seduction, a mob of about 70 armed and unmasked men rode quietly into town, quickly secured the Negro and rode rapidly away in an easterly direction toward the home of the Fergusons.

At 2 o'clock Wednesday afternoon it was learned that Crower had been lynched. He was strung up and shot. His body is still swinging from a tree. The mob was orderly, but determined, and was seemingly well organized. Crower was about 28 years of age and was very intelligent. He expected to be lynched and made no outcry when he was being taken from Hernando.

Dixon Still Champion.

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., Oct. 7.—The decision "Smith wins" rendered by George Green in the Smith-Dixon fight Monday night does not deprive Dixon of the feather-weight championship of the world. The marquis of Queensberry rules provide that all championship battles shall be to a finish. Had Smith knocked Dixon out in any one of the 20 rounds, or had Dixon's seconds thrown up the sponge, or had Dixon failed to respond to the call of time in any of the rounds, Smith would to-day be the feather-weight champion of the world. But as it was, Dixon at the end of the twentieth round was strong and belligerent, consequently he did not surrender the championship by Green's decision.

Baltimore Wins the Third Game.

BOSTON, Oct. 7.—The last ball game of the season and the third of the Temple cup series was as dull and uninteresting a contest as has been here for many a day. The Baltimores won with ridiculous ease, and closed the engagement here by practically exhausting the pitching talent of the Boston nine.

Innings.	1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9	R.	H.	E.
Baltimore	0	4	4	0	0	0	0	5	9	22
Boston	0	0	3	0	0	0	0	0	2	5

Batteries—Hofer and Clarke; Lewis, Klobedanz and Lake. Umpires—Emslie and Hurst.

Fatal Forest Fires.

OTTAWA, Ont., Oct. 7.—Four bodies have been recovered near South Indian as a result of the forest fires. They are those of Mrs. Leveille, Miss Stiles, her sister and Mrs. Leveille's two children, one an infant and the other 12 years old. Two houses and a hotel are all that remain of Casselman. The village of Cheney is obliterated. Sixty of the most destitute were brought to this city Wednesday afternoon, and the others are being provided for at farm houses and elsewhere.

Sir John Gilbert Dead.

LONDON, Oct. 7.—Sir John Gilbert, president of the Royal Society of Painters in water colors, is dead. He was born in 1817.

Maj. Lewis Ginter's Will Probated.

RICHMOND, Va., Oct. 7.—The will of the late Maj. Lewis Ginter was filed for probate here Wednesday. The total value of the estate is between $7,000,000 and $8,000,000. The executors gave bond in the sum of $400,000 each. Maj. Ginter's home is left to his nieces, the Misses Arents; Westbrook, his country home, is left to his sister, Mrs. Young and the Bloomingdale stock farm to Mr. George Arents. His brother and his niece and nephew in Missouri are handsomely remembered as are other relatives. Bequests are made to all the charitable institutions in this city.

ENCOURAGING.

The Yellow Fever Situation at New Orleans Greatly Improved.

The Excitement Dying Out and Business Men Are Arranging to Bring Their Families Back to the City—The Plague at Other Southern Points.

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 8.—The fever situation was considerably improved Thursday. There has been but two deaths reported up to this hour, one of which was mentioned Wednesday night.

Wednesday by noon there had been 19 cases and five deaths, and the disparity between the records of the two days is apparent.

As a matter of fact the situation here is no worse than it has been for some time and excitement has absolutely died out, now that the disease has shown no symptoms of an epidemic form. Business men are arranging to bring their families back to the city. There were 24 new cases reported Thursday.

Cases continue to appear on Jackson avenue, one of the fine boulevards of the city, and it is a matter of fact that while Carrollton is the cleanest and best kept portion of New Orleans, more cases have developed there than in any other quarter. Dr. Samson and one of his family were among the stricken Thursday.

The Chateau Yquiem, the steamer bearing the Sicilian immigrants, arrived at Plaquemine parish and were landed after proper examination and disinfection at the quarantine station.

There is one case of yellow fever reported at Clinton, Miss., while no new cases have occurred at Nitta Yuma.

The board of health officially announces the status of affairs in New Orleans as regards yellow fever to be as follows:

During the 24 hours ending 9 p. m. Thursday, there were cases of yellow fever Thursday 31; deaths 2; total cases of yellow fever to date 456; total deaths from fever to date 45; total absolutely recovered 147; total cases under treatment 264.

MOBILE, Ala., Oct. 8.—There were four cases in the past 24 hours and no deaths in the past 48 hours.

A pathetic feature is the illness of the sisters of charity, Agnes and Genorise. They came here from Emmettsburg, Md.

The board of health Thursday decided not to establish yellow fever hospitals at any place in the city. Several more suspicious cases are reported at St. Elmo.

EDWARDS, Miss., Oct. 8.—Ten cases of yellow fever were officially reported Thursday.

Total deaths to date, 15; total number cases to date, 270; number convalescent and discharged, 205; number under treatment, 150; with black vomit, 2; number seriously ill, 6. The condition of affairs is somewhat improved.

Spain's Reply to the United States.

MADRID, Oct. 8.—A cabinet council, at which the queen regent presided, was held here Thursday. When the ministers separated the premier, Senor Sagasta, announced to the newspaper men that no final decision had been taken in regard to the reply which Spain will make to the note of the United States, handed to the duke of Tetuan, when he was minister for foreign affairs, by the United States minister, Gen. Stewart L. Woodford.

The imparcial however, says it learns that the reply of Spain will satisfy Spanish susceptibilities in making clear to President McKinley the resolute attitude which Spain maintains in regard to Cuba.

Twelve Buildings Burned.

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., Oct. 8.—Twelve buildings, comprising the business portion of the pretty little village of St. Elmo, at the foot of Lookout mountain, were destroyed by fire Thursday afternoon. The fire originated in the residence of Mrs. G. W. Kirkland and spread rapidly to the stores adjoining. The total loss is about $12,000. Incline No. 1 and the Chattanooga Electric railway suffered considerably from the fire.

Miss Cisneros Escapes.

HAVANA, Oct. 8. The beautiful young Cuban patriot, Senorita Evangelina Cossio Y Cisneros, the heroine of the sensational adventure with the Spanish governor of the Isle of Pines, has escaped from the Casa de Recogidas (house of scrapings), where she had been confined for several months on a charge of conspiracy against the crown of Spain and of an attempt upon the life of Gov. Beres, governor of the Isle of Pines.

A Four-Handed Duel.

MOULTRIE, Ga., Oct. 8.—The result of a four-handed duel, fought on a country road a few miles from town Thursday afternoon, is the death of Henry Nesmith, the wounding of his son Nathan, and an upheaval in a usually peaceful community, which has sent a mob of determined men and bloodhounds after those who did the shooting. Henry Harris and his son Robert. It is believed the latter were both wounded.

Marsh Fires Near Niles, Mich.

NILES, Mich., Oct. 8.—East and north of this city the terrible marsh fires still continue. Farmers have fought the flames night and day for a week and are utterly exhausted. They have moved their household goods to places of safety and have sacrificed their homes.

The Ohio Ballots.

COLUMBUS, O., Oct. 8.—Half a million square yards of white paper will be used up for ballots at the coming election. Each voter must have a ballot, and that means a quarter of a million of square yards of paper, for there are a million voters, and to be sure to have enough about twice as many ballots as are used are printed.

Sailors Strike.

SEATTLE, Wash., Oct. 8.—All but four of the 33 sailors on the United States revenue cutter Perry quit Thursday because of a reduction in wages from $28 to $25 per month.

SPREADING.

Friday Was a Record Breaker at New Orleans—Forty-Five New Cases of Yellow Fever and Five Deaths Reported.

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 9.—Friday was a record breaker here. As early as 6 o'clock as many cases had been reported as on Wednesday, when the fever had for the time high water mark—40 cases. At the same hour there had been some fever deaths reported, with a couple of patients in very critical condition.

The deaths are among those who have had little or no attention, and at least three of the fatalities are among the Italian population.

The worst case of the day, however, was that of Elijah Parks, living on Custom House street. Parks is a Grand Army of the Republic man, and a native of Greenville, N. Y., 56 years old, with a wife and two children. He had been in failing health for a year. Thursday night he died and his death notice appeared in the morning paper. Friends attended to the preparation of the corpse for burial and a wake was held Thursday night. An expert was at once sent to the scene. His experienced eye enabled him immediately to diagnose the case as yellow fever. Friday afternoon the coroners of the board of health have been industriously searching for those who attended the wake or had any thing to do with the dressing of the body, in order that they might be removed to the detention camp. It is fair to assume that this case will still further spread the infection.

Up to Friday evening 45 new cases were reported and five deaths.

EDWARDS, Miss., Oct. 9.—There were four deaths from yellow fever Friday and six new cases reported.

MOBILE, Ala., Oct. 9.—There were six new cases of yellow fever reported Friday.

EMMET C. GIBSON

Arraigned in the New York Police Court Charged With Passing a Fraudulent Check.

NEW YORK, Oct. 9.—Emmet C. Gibson, alias George A. Sherin, was arraigned in police court Friday on the complaint of H. C. Stimson, auditor of the Imperial hotel. Stimson charges Gibson with passing a fraudulent check for $640 on the hotel, besides swindling them out of $265 for board. His swindles, it is alleged, amount to about $400,000.

Gibson is a lawyer by profession and is 39 years old. As a promoter he consolidated the Akron, O., Street Railway companies, and at present is said to be the vice president of the corporation. He refused to talk of the case Friday and preferred to await the arrival of counsel.

Sessions of Mississippi Valley Association Closes.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Oct. 9.—The twenty-third session of the Mississippi Valley Medical association came to a close Friday afternoon at one o'clock. The association will meet again in 1898 at Nashville, Tenn. The following officers were elected: Dr. John Young Brown, jr., of St. Louis, Mo., president; Dr. A. P. Buckman, Fort Wayne, Ind., first vice president; Dr. A. J. Ochsner, Chicago, second vice president; Dr. Henry E. Tuley, of Lo... secretary.

Killed Her Son and Attempted Suicide.

YORK, Pa., Oct. 9.—Mrs. Jerome Shoenberger, a widow, Friday shot and killed her four-year-old boy, and then placed the revolver to her own head and fired. The ball entered her scalp but glanced off without making a dangerous wound. The mother had become despondent through poverty and the fear that she was going to lose her reason. Since the shooting Mrs. Shoenberger's mind has become completely unbalanced.

Caught by Falling Walls.

DETROIT, Mich., Oct. 9.—Late Friday night the dead body of Robert A. Penning, 15 years old, was found under the ruins back of the Detroit Opera house, making the first fatality in connection with Wednesday night's conflagration. Young Pennington was not killed at the time of the fire, but it is thought that he was wandering around in the alley some time Thursday, gazing at the ruins, and was caught and buried by falling walls.

Beer War in Chicago.

CHICAGO, Oct. 9.—Beer at the consumers' prices is the prospect confronting the citizens of Chicago. Wide open war has been declared by the brewers and there is no telling where it will end. There is every prospect, however, that it will surpass in virulence any previous beer war and also that the saloonkeeper will be quickly drawn into the fight.

Pacing Team Record Broken.

GLENS FALLS, N. Y., Oct. 9.—At the mile track of the Northern Horse Breeders' association here Friday John R. Gentry and Robert J broke the pacing team record, going the mile in faultless style in 2:08. This was done after the pair had been sent a mile in 2:11, and before the close of the day's sport Gentry, with running mate, paced a mile in 2:03¼.

Assets Exceed Liabilities.

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., Oct. 9.—Receiver Frank M. Nye, of the insolvent bank of Minneapolis, has filed with the clerk of the district court a report showing that the total face value of assets of the concern are $395,360, and his estimate of the real value of which is $187,369, against which the total liabilities exclusive of capital stock are $107,940.87.

Millionaire's Son in the Asylum.

CHICAGO, Oct. 9.—Harry Munhall, reputed son of a Pittsburgh millionaire, is in the asylum at Dunning, having been taken there Friday. Munhall was picked up on the street by the police three days ago in evidently a demented condition and he was taken to the detention hospital.

Forest Fires in Colorado.

ESTES PARK, Col., Oct. 9.—Forest fires are raging in the timber section west of this place. Immense volumes of smoke are darkening the sky and unless there is a storm, the damage will be enormous.

LABORERS

From Japan Rushing Over by the Thousands to the Hawaiian Islands.

It Is Claimed That If the Islands Are Annexed to the United States in December, These Laborers Can Not Be Deported—Senator Morgan's Speech.

HONOLULU, via SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 11.—Twelve hundred Japanese laborers are on the coast here from Japanese ports to fill contracts for plantation laborers, and it is asserted by prominent Japanese in this city that about 9,000 will be shipped here by the 1st of December. It is claimed that if the islands are annexed in December, under the laws of the United States, Japanese laborers who are here under contract can not be forced to return to their own country upon the expiration of their contract, and that they will have the same citizenship rights as will the present citizens of the republic.

United States Senator Morgan, of Alabama, made his first public appearance before the Hawaiian people on the evening of the 30th ult. at Kawaiahao church, on which occasion, at the instance of several prominent Hawaiians, he delivered an address to the natives upon the benefits of annexation. It is estimated that between 700 and 800 persons were present, of which fully 300 were native Hawaiians. Among other things Senator Morgan said:

"I suppose no American senator ever had a more important duty to perform than I have. Since I have been in Hawaii, I have felt as if I were in a part of America to which I had never been before. This is an American country; it is not an European country, and when annexation takes place its own people will merely be coming into their own. We are not anxious to recruit settlers from the 50,000 or 60,000 people here. We are not anxious to secure their land.

"We are anxious for only one thing —to secure you from aggression from foreign powers. Almost every island in the South Pacific is now in the hands of either Germany, France or Great Britain, and my opinion is that the only solution for the Hawaiian islands is in annexation to the United States. The 75,000,000 people in the United States are not going to permit foreign aggression in these islands."

HAVOC WROUGHT

With Property in New York City By the Bursting of a Large Water Main.

NEW YORK, Oct. 11.—A large Croton water main burst early Sunday morning at the corner of Madison avenue and 48th street, the heart of the fashionable district, and wrought such havoc with property, both near and remote, that not even a partial calculation can be made of the financial damage at present. For blocks around scarcely a building escaped injury by reason of the volumes of water which poured into the streets, cellars and basements. The loss will reach far into the thousands.

The damage by water extends as far west as Sixth avenue, and as far east as First avenue. The sewers were choked by the great rush of water and then the flood rose in the streets. The big water main was probably cracked by a blast which was fired in a sewer excavation late Saturday afternoon.

The breaking of a four-foot pipe was announced by a rumbling noise which awakened the people in the immediate vicinity. Looking out of their windows they saw a great geyser in the middle of the avenue shooting a vast volume of water into the air, a column so high that it reached almost to the top of the electric light pole on the corner. Those who had no view of the fountain heard a mighty rush of water.

For five hours this column shot into the air before it was shut off at its source, and in that time 10,000,000 gallons of water had run down the avenue and side streets on either hand. All the streets east of Madison avenue slope gradually, and down them the water surged in a torrent, flooding the cellars and basements. The most serious damage was done to the building of the railroad branch of the Y. M. C. A. and to the Knickerbocker Athletic club house. In the basement of the latter place the dynamos, machinery, bowling alleys, bath rooms and the swimming tank have probably been ruined by the flood. The club will replace the loss at $15,000. The club house will be closed until the damage has been repaired. After five hours the flow was stopped. Almost without exception the houses in the vicinity of the break were so flooded that they have been damaged from $500 to $2,000. The residence of J. Hooker Hamersley, William Eustace, J. Talbot and the club house of the Delphi Phi were among those most damaged.

Died From Ptomaine Poisoning.

MONTGOMERY, Ala., Oct. 11.—Considerable alarm was caused here in the past 24 hours by the report that a mail carrier named Stebbins had died of yellow fever. A special meeting of the board of health was held Saturday night and after a microscopical examination Sunday a statement was issued by the board announcing that Stebbens' death was due to ptomaine poisoning, from eating canned salmon. He had not been exposed to infection from fever and there is no reason to suppose that there is any yellow fever in town.

A Retaliatory Tariff Bill.

NEW YORK, Oct. 11.—A dispatch to the Herald from Buenos Ayres says: The finance committee of the chamber of deputies has approved the bill recently introduced providing for a retaliatory tariff on American imports, as recommended by the president in his last message to congress. The bill was drawn by the minister of finance with the co-operation and approval of the president. It provides for a ... ad valorem duty on ... per cent. ... will ... [illegible] ... since the ... [illegible] ... less than ... [illegible] ... will be ...

HOW TO WASH EMBROIDERED LINENS.

To wash embroidered linens so as not to fade the colors, fill a tub half full of warm water, in which add a little Ivory soap, wash each piece through the suds carefully, rinse in blue water to which a little thin starch is added. Hang on the line to dry. Iron on the wrong side, pressing down heavily to bring out the stitches, thus restoring their original beauty.

ELIZA R. PARKER.

Acting Upon It.

Miss Elder—I have decided to buy a husband.

Miss Tomboy—What on earth do you mean?

"That seems to be my only way to get one, and I have always heard that every man has his price."—Judge.

Shake Into Your Shoes.

Allen's Foot-Ease, a powder for the feet. It cures painful, swollen, smarting feet and instantly takes the sting out of corns and bunions. It's the greatest comfort discovery of the age. Allen's Foot-Ease makes tight or new shoes feel easy. It is a certain cure for sweating, callous, hot, tired, aching feet. Try it to-day. Sold by all druggists and shoe stores, 25c. Trial package, FREE. Write to Allen S. Olmsted, LeRoy, N. Y.

Guess from Experience.—She—"Who was it that said that a woman's best friend was her dressmaker?" He—"Probably the dressmaker."—Tit-Bits.

To Cure a Cold in One Day

Take Laxative Bromo Quinine Tablets. All druggists refund money if it fails to cure. 25c.

When the baby cries in a crowd a married man tries to do something for it. The unmarried man thinks it is a nuisance.—Washington Democrat.

Fits stopped free and permanently cured. No fits after first day's use of Dr. Kline's Great Nerve Restorer. Free $2 trial bottle & treatise. Dr. Kline, 933 Arch st., Phila., Pa.

When a rich man's boys don't succeed people always enjoy it.—Washington Democrat.

Piso's Cure for Consumption relieves the most obstinate coughs.—Rev. D. Buchmueller, Lexington, Mo., Feb. 24, '94.

A man never feels as awkward as when he is carrying a lot of millinery.—Washington Democrat.

Hot or cold, Neuralgia's the same. St. Jacobs Oil cures the same.

"Hades must be like a big hotel in the crowded season." "Yes—without fire escapes."—Harlem Life.

A slip, a fall, a sprain—laid
Up. St. Jacobs Oil the cure.

An empty purse and a miser's heart are two of the hardest things in the world to fill.—Ram's Horn.

Hall's Catarrh Cure

Is taken internally. Price 75c.

Some people don't care how worthless an article is so it is expensive.—Washington Democrat.

When lumbago sets in St. Jacobs Oil Sets out to cure and cures it.

Bargains are never offered us until it is too late to do us any good.—Washington Democrat.

It Is True

That Hood's Sarsaparilla cures when all other medicines fail to do any good whatever. Being peculiar in combination proportion and process Hood's Sarsaparilla possesses peculiar curative power. It absolutely and permanently cures all diseases originating in or promoted by impure blood. Remember

Hood's Sarsaparilla

Is the best—in fact the One True Blood Purifier.

Hood's Pills the best family cathartic and liver stimulant. 25c.

TEXAS LADIES

SPEAK THE TRUTH.

Mrs. Lucretia Scales

De Leon, Tex., writes: I am a widow, and can strongly recommend Dr. M. A. Simmons Liver Medicine, it having Saved my Life 6 years ago, when I was down with Kidney Complaint and Kidney Disease. I think it a far better medicine than that made by "Zeilin" and "Black Draught."

Gestation.

During the period of gestation the tension upon the muscles and ligaments of the womb is greatly increased and the blood vessels are taxed to their utmost. If there is any tendency to uneasiness or pain, we recommend frequent warm injections of our Mexican Female Remedy and one or three doses, every day, of Dr. Simmons Squaw Vine Wine. This treatment will strengthen the ligaments, assist in holding the uterus in place, lessen pain, make the uterus more pliable and elastic, and prepare the organs for their work of birth. It also lessens the danger of death to child and mother, and fortifies her against liability to convulsions, flooding and other dangerous symptoms, and with ordinary prudence guarantees a rapid recovery.

J. M. Sullivan

Celeste, Texas., says: Dr. M. A. Simmons Liver Medicine is the best in the world for Biliousness, Indigestion and Torpid Liver. Have used it 10 years, and recommend it to my friends, and they all praise it. I think there is as much difference between it and "Zeilin's" and "Thedford's" as between day and night.

Paleness.

Anæmia is a condition often called "poverty of blood" from deficiency of the red corpuscles which give to this fluid its characteristic color. It arises from insufficiency of assimilation of the proper materials of food to replenish the blood, as in chlorotic girls. It may occur in persons who have long suffered with hemorrhoids, or in women from repeated discharges of blood from the uterus. The lips and tongue lose their natural red color and become white and the face looks like wax.

The most efficient remedy for this condition is Dr. Simmons Squaw Vine Wine. The improvement produced by it dose by dose is frequently almost magical; an enfeebled heart becomes strong and sonable in its action, digestion improves, the lips and cheeks lose their pallor, and the eye becomes bright and the step elastic.

OPIUM and Whiskey Habit cured at home without pain. Book of particulars sent FREE. B. M. WOOLLEY, M.D., Atlanta, Ga.

GET RICH QUICKLY. Send for Book, "Inventions Wanted." EDGAR TATE & CO., 248 Broadway, New York.

PISO'S CURE FOR
CURES WHERE ALL ELSE FAILS.
Best Cough Syrup. Tastes Good. Use in time. Sold by druggists.
CONSUMPTION

BLOCKS MEN

Arrested Charged With Complicity in Assaulting a Young Covington Bride.

Threats of Lynching Made so General That It Was Deemed Advisable to Remove the Men—The Grand Jury Will Act on the Case October 19.

NEWPORT, Ky., Oct. 8.—Mrs. Thomas Gleason, of Covington, a bride of but a few weeks, was dragged from her husband, while they were walking on the Alexandria pike, back of this city, near George Kellar's farm, about 7:30 o'clock Wednesday night, and assaulted by 11 men.

George Greer and "Dad" Meiner were arrested by Sergt. Reilly shortly after the assault, and Thursday morning Officer Matthews brought in Matt Meiner, John Meyer, Dick Bushmiller and Cooper Mitler, and Officer Stemler arrested "Red" Bushmiller and Edward Hinding.

All live in Newport. Mrs. Gleason and husband Wednesday night said they could positively identify "Dad" Meiner and George Greer as the two men who first halted them on the pike.

As the news of the terrible deed spread a crowd began to collect at the Newport court house Thursday morning.

It became necessary for Sheriff Plummer to clear the corridors of the court-house at 9:30 a. m.

Mrs. Gleason said Thursday that 12 men were about her in the field, but that she fainted after she had been repeatedly assaulted.

The men accused are between the ages of 23 and 31 years.

Mrs. Gleason is only 17 years old.

Judge Bennett's courtroom was packed almost to suffocation during the preliminary hearing. Mrs. Gleason was the first witness. She detailed the story related above. When she pointed out Meiner as the man who had the revolver he leaped to his feet and shouted that he could prove his innocence. He said he was another man whom he named who drew the revolver. "How do you know?" he was asked. He answered that that was what some of the men had told him.

Meiner made contradictory statements in his testimony. First, he said he was out in town to get a keg of beer at the time the assault took place. Later he admitted that he had been out the Alexandria pike. He said he saw a lot of men out there, but he was not one of the crowd. Gleason said the man who drew the revolver wore a slouch hat and a derby when arrested. Meiner said he recognized Greer and Duhfoss in the crowd out the pike.

Judge Helm, Commonwealth Attorney Lockhart, Sheriff Plummer and County Judge Bennett held a conference at 1 p. m. Thursday, and it was decided not to have a special grand jury, but await the one at Alexandria, which convenes October 19.

Three p. m. over the C. & O. was the time and route decided upon to take the accused to Maysville.

During the preliminary trial Mrs. Gleason was given a test to identify the men charged with the crime.

The prisoners were placed in various parts of the courtroom [illegible] room, and in each instance Mrs. Gleason positively identified the prisoners.

Greer testified that he was with Meiner going out the pike, but did not see the couple.

George Youtsey, keeper of the toll-gate, and Ed Huber testified to seeing Greer and Meiner passing the tollgate. Greer and Meiner told conflicting stories in their testimony.

All the other prisoners denied having been out the pike.

After hearing all the evidence Judge Bennett announced that he would bind "Dad" Meiner and George Greer over to the grand jury in $5,000 each and the other eight under $3,000 bond each. But he made a more careful examination of the statutes, and then held all of the men to the grand jury without bond. Greer was drunk, and said he was ready for trial at once.

A few minutes after the prisoners were bound over Circuit Judge Helm, into whose care they passed, stated that he would send all of them to the Maysville jail Thursday afternoon to avoid the possibilities of a lynching. Judge Helm will impanel a special grand jury at once.

The community is terribly wrought up over the affair and threats of lynching the miscreants are freely made. The excitement is far more intense than that caused by the finding of the body of headless Pearl Bryan over a year ago. It can hardly be conceived that a crime so fiendish could be perpetrated in an enlightened community. The men charged with the crime are mostly of bad character and that quick justice will be meted out to them is assured by the authorities. The penalty for criminal assault in this state is death.

MAYSVILLE, Ky., Oct. 8.—Sheriff Plummer and posse arrived in this city with the ten prisoners at 5:25 p. m. When the train arrived here nearly 500 people were awaiting it at Market street, and here there was intense excitement. Several of the crowd wanted to handle the men roughly, and there were cries of "Let's take them." They were landed in jail safely, however.

There was no undue excitement here after the prisoners had been locked up. Little knots of people congregated on the streets and discussed the affair, but there was no signs of an outbreak.

Death of Egbert Starr.

NEW YORK, Oct. 8.—Egbert Starr, a resident of this city for over sixty years and one of the most prominent merchants of three decades ago, died at his home Thursday, aged 84 years. His gifts to Middlebury college are estimated to have amounted to $100,000.

Weyler Will Be Recalled.

MADRID, Oct. 8.—It is semi-officially announced Thursday that Capt.-Gen. Weyler will be recalled from Cuba this month, and that it is probable the Cortes will be dissolved in December, and a new parliament convoked in March.

CONFESSIONS.

Dying Act Greer Tell of the Assault on Mrs. Gleason—Startling Assertion That Other Three of the Men Arrested Are Guilty.

MAYSVILLE, Ky., Oct. 9.—"Dad" Minor has made a full statement. Sheriff Plummer's long interview with him late Thursday night resulted in that, if nothing else. Minor's statement was put down in writing and signed by him without much hesitation in the presence of witnesses. In this statement thus made Minor fully exonerates seven of the men under arrest with him, implicating two others now locked up, and six more men, whose names have been given to the authorities. His confession is full and complete in detail and he gives every particular of the assault. His written statement is now in the hands of Sheriff Plummer and in the event of Minor repudiating his statement in court the written statement will be offered in evidence. The two men under arrest whom Minor implicates are said be Geooge Greer and Elwood Hending. The names of the others still at large are for the present withheld, as the officers expect to apprehend them soon.

Early Friday morning Ed. Hending, one of the prisoners, sent for Judge Wadsworth and made a clean breast of his connection with the affair. He said that the only actually guilty men in the crowd were himself, Dad Minor and George Greer. He says there were three others in the ten who were present, but did not participate in the crime. Minor and Greer were seen and both, acknowledged that they were guilty.

George Greer sent for Judge Wadsworth Friday morning and made a clean breast of the entire affair. He says "Dad" Minor, Ed Hending and himself were the only ones among the ten arrested who were actually guilty of assaulting Mrs. Gleason. John Shannon, Wm. Schorle and John Duhfoff were present, but did not participate actively in the crime. Hubert Mistler, Frank and Henry Buschmiller and Frank Minor were not present. "Dad" Minor and Ed Hending corroborate Greer's story.

COVINGTON, Ky., Oct. 8.—Detective James Gaffney, to whom Greer claims to have made a confession, was seen at police headquarters at noon Friday and admitted that Greer had told him of the entire affair before he (Greer) was taken to Maysville Thursday afternoon. Gaffney said that Greer told him that there were nine men in the party, including himself. "Dad" Minor, Croxon and Hending. They had met at the end of the bridge and split up into small parties to follow Mr. and Mrs. Gleason. The rest is known. Greer stated further that the four men mentioned are the only ones under arrest who were implicated in the crime, and that the other five still are at liberty. Detective Gaffney has the names of the others and will arrest them as soon as possible.

TERRIBLE CONFESSION.

Gustave Muller Murdered Fourteen Wives, His Parents and One Child.

ROTTERDAM, Oct. 9.—A man named Gustave Muller has surrendered to the city police, confessing the murder of his wife and child. As proof of the truth of his confession, he produced from his pocket four human ears.

The police, on searching his house, found the two bodies. Muller subsequently confessed that he had also killed his parents, mutilating their remains in the same fashion, and then he made the astonishing statement that he had similarly disposed of 14 wives whom he had married in various parts of the world.

Gov. Pingree's Return.

NEW YORK, Oct. 4.—On the Red D line steamer Venezuela, which arrived here Friday from Venezuelan ports, was Gov. H. S. Pingree, of Michigan. Gov. Pingree looked the picture of perfect health. He said it was his first vacation in nine years and he had enjoyed the trip immensely. He met President-elect Andrade and dined with him at his country seat. He was most favorably impressed with Senor Andrade, who appeared to be a broad-minded, liberal statesman. Gov. Pingree left for home at six o'clock Friday night.

Bradley Polytechnic Institute Dedicated.

PEORIA, Ill., Oct. 9.—Friday afternoon occurred the exercises dedicatory of the Bradley Polytechnic institute, to which a wealthy Peoria lady, Mrs. Lydia Bradley, has given $2,500,000. The building is a very handsome and spacious one of white stone, and nearby is another large edifice of the same material, which will be occupied by an horological institute under the control of the same board of trustees. A number of prominent educators from abroad, including college presidents, were in attendance.

Gen. Blanco Weyler's Successor.

MADRID, Oct. 9.—The cabinet has decided upon the immediate recall of Gen. Weyler from Cuba. A decree will be issued appointing Capt. Gen. Blanco Y Arenas, marquis of Pena-Platta, governo general of the island. The queen regent will sign the decree Saturday. According to El Heraldo, 20,000 reinforcements will accompany Gen. Blanco to Cuba.

Wife Murderer Hanged.

MONROE, La., Oct. 9.—Pat Paine, the wife murderer, was hanged privately at 2:30 Friday afternoon in the jail yard here. He asserted his innocence to the last.

Earthquake Shocks.

NEW MADRID, Mo., Oct. 9.—Friday at 5 a. m. an earthquake shock was felt here, but no damage was done. New Madrid was the scene of a violent earthquake in 1811, when a great part of the land in the entire county sank several feet and was overflowed by water from the Mississippi.

To Succeed Senor Dupuy de Lome.

MADRID, Oct. 9.—Among the diplomatic changes reported here as being imminent is that the [illegible] Senor Dupuy de Lome [illegible] will replace Senor Dupuy de Lome as Spanish minister to the United [illegible]

THE SPANIARDS

Under Col. Rotger, Defeated by Gen. Castillo's Command.

Spanish Forces Lost 46 Killed and 60 Wounded, Including the Commander and Seven Officers—Spanish Troops Capture the Town of Cangre.

NEW YORK, Oct. 11.—A dispatch to the Herald from Tampa, Fla., says: Details of the defeat inflicted on the Spanish, under Col. Rotger, by Gen. Castillo, on October 5, are just to hand. Gen. Castillo, Maj. Myares and Col. Andres Hernandez were encamped in the Carmen hills. Col. Rotger with 1,800 men, appeared before the rebels position, early in the morning. He was expected and the insurgents had occupied three positions, Gen. Castillo commanding the center. He had two rapid-fire guns. Myares' command was the first to open fire as the Spanish charged up the hill. Castillo's guns did great execution and the Spaniards retired in confusion. After rallying his men Rotger ordered another charge. In the second attack Rotger fell wounded and his men lost heart and retired. The Spaniards lost 46 killed and 60 wounded, including their commander and seven officers. Gen. Castillo still holds his position. Rebels under command of Col. Lazo attacked the town of Cangre, in Pinar del Rio, before sunrise on October 6 and after sacking several stores and setting fire to the place, the insurgents hanged two volunteers and four Cubans who had acted as guides to the Spanish troops. On the approach of a Spanish column under Gen. Lono the rebels fled. Cangre is within two or three miles of Pinar del Rio city, and the inhabitants of that city are greatly frightened.

The Cuban government has bestowed especial honors on Gen. Calixto Garcia for the capture of Victoria de las Tunas.

The military commander of Metuna del Sur has been replaced by Gen. Weyler's orders. The commander captured a rebel captain and placed him in a cell without taking away his machette. When the warden carried food to the captain, the latter struck him down, rushed out and macheted four guards who attempted to bar his progress.

There have been so many deaths from disease and starvation in Guanabacoa, a suburb of Havana, that in order to bury the dead in the cemeteries the authorities have been compelled to exhume bodies which have been less than a year under ground.

COASTING STEAMSHIPS.

Contracts to Be Let for the Construction of Two or Possibly Four of the Fleetest for Trade Between New York, Cuba and Mexico.

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., Oct. 11.—Within a few days a contract will be awarded to Delaware river shipbuilders for the construction of two, and possibly four of the fleetest coasting steamships flying the American flag. The ships will be built to the order of the bidders for the United States mail contract between New York, Havana, Cuba and Tuxpani, Mexico, and an expenditure of $1,300,000 will be involved. Each ship will be at least 4,000 tons register and about 48 feet beam, 21½ feet deepand from 370 to 400 feet long. The new craft are to be built under the special inspection so as to comply with the regulations of the United States government as laid dow for auxiliary cruisers.

GEN. WEYLER

Will Return to Spain Immediately—Gen. Castellanos Will Direct Affairs Until Gen. Blanco's Arrival.

MADRID, Oct. 11.—Capt. Gen. Blanco will sail for Cuba on the 15th and Capt. Gen. Weyler will return to Spain immediately. Gen. Castellanos assuming the direction of affairs in the island until Blanco's arrival. The Marquis de Ahumada, who was Capt. Gen. Weyler's second in command has resigned.

At a meeting of the cabinet Saturday it was decided to send re-inforcements to the Philippine Islands. Marshal Primo Rivera, who succeeded Gen. Blanco as governor General of the Philippines, will be recalled immediately.

Perished in the Arctic Ocean.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 11.—The Chronicle says that the fate of the crew of the steam whaler Navarch, of New Bedford, which was wrecked in the Arctic on August 11, is no longer in doubt. As is already known the captain, his wife and the first and fourth officers, who succeeded in escaping from the vessel after she was caught in the ice, were picked up by the United States revenue cutter Bear. The other 30 men on board the ill-fated vessel were supposed to have perished.

New Orleans Fever Condition No Better.

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 11.—The fever situation here grew no better Sunday. Early in the evening there was a promise that Saturday's record would be equaled if it was not exceeded. New cases appeared in various portions of the city, many of them, however, being resorted in houses where there was already infection. There were five deaths and in one case the fatality occurred not long after the report of the case was brought to the attention of the board.

Good Showers in Iowa.

SIOUX CITY, Ia., Oct. 11.—This section of the country had a good rain Sunday, the first in many weeks. Reports from numerous northwestern points tell of good showers.

Much-Needed Rain in Nashville.

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Oct. 11.—After many weeks of terrific drought a good hard rain began falling in this city and the surrounding country at 10 o'clock with indications pointing to a continuance for several hours. It will prove of immense benefit not only in the city but in the country.

Insurrection in Asiatic Turkey.

CONSTANTINOPLE Oct. 11.—It is rumored here that there has been a serious [illegible] at Bassorah, in the Pashalic of Bagdad, Asiatic Turkey, and troops have been sent to suppress the insurrection.

EIGHT BANDITS

Hold Up a Train on the Chicago & Alton Road—A Futile Attempt to Blow Up the Express Safe Was Made.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Oct. 7.—Bandits held up a Chicago & Alton express train Wednesday night at a point less than six miles from Kansas City. The robbery is the third occurring on that railroad within a year, all within 15 miles of this city.

The Chicago & St. Louis express, which pulled out of the Union depot at 8:30 Wednesday evening, was stopped by eight masked men at Evanston, a suburban stopping place just beyond Washington Park. Evanston is about eight miles nearer to Kansas City than Blue Cut, made celebrated by the notorious James gang.

The train was stopped at the Evanston siding by the explosion of torpedoes which had been placed on the track. When the conductor and brakemen went out to ascertain the cause of the trouble they were covered with revolvers in the hands of four of the eight road agents. The other four quickly covered the engineer and fireman. The brakemen was compelled to uncouple the baggage and express cars from the passenger coaches. While this was being done one of the robbers busied himself by going through the pockets of Conductor Graves, who was robbed of $22 in coin.

In the meantime the bandits at the head of the train had ordered Engineer Vollette and his fireman to climb down ont of their cab. Engineer Volette hesitated until a pistol ball was sent whistling by his ears. He and the fireman, after this persuasion, climbed down quickly, and two of the robbers immediately took their places. The others of the crowd jumped aboard the baggage and express cars. This part of the train they ran up the track, toward Independence, Mo., about a quarter of a mile. There they compelled the frightened express messenger to open the door of his car. The door once open, they dragged the messenger out by the legs, throwing him to the ground, and then took his gun away from him. The messenger was then compelled to walk back toward the other portion of the train.

After securing complete possession of the engine and the baggage and express cars the bandits placed 24 sticks of dynamite upon the big through safe and then lifted the smaller way safe up on top of it. They applied the fuse and the match and then, evidently, waited for the explosive to reveal the treasure for which so much had been risked. But for some reason the explosive did not go off, and from the subsequent developments it is evident that dynamite had great terrors for the [illegible] who were not afraid to run the ordinary risks of train robbery.

It is clear that they were afraid to return to the express car, for after waiting a few minutes for the expected explosion they hurriedly left the place, running into the underbrush which skirts the railway in that section.

The trainmen, who had been left behind with the passenger coaches, patiently waited a reasonable length of time for the robbers to complete their work and then ran ahead to the engine and the two cars. After some delay, for they too, were afraid of the dynamite, they succeeded in lifting down the small safe and throwing out the dynamite. The engine was then run back to the rest of the train and coupled on, and after a full two hours delay the express resumed the journey toward St. Louis.

DETROIT FIRE.

Three Large Buildings With Contents and Several Others Damaged as the Result.

DETROIT, Mich., Oct. 7.—The center of Detroit was the scene at 1 o'clock Thursday morning of a conflagration which totally destroyed three large buildings and contents, damaged several others and threatened destruction of at least an entire block of the most valuable property in the city.

The blaze originated on the stage of the Detroit opera house. Simultaneously with the breaking out of the fire there were several loud explosions, presumably the bursting of the stage lighting apparatus. The flames quickly enveloped the rear of the theater and made a furnace of the interior. The opera house, with all its contents, including the handsome scenery, costumes and equipment of the Julia Arthur Co. were destroyed in short order. The rear of the ten story building occupied by the H. Leonard Furniture Co. caught fire and nothing of the structure or contents remains but the steel frame. The four story building of the Mitchell Table Supply Co., east of the theater, was gutted and partially destroyed and several other buildings were slightly damaged.

At 2:30 the fire had been confined practically to the above buildings. The losses have not yet been approximated, but it is believed they will reach the vicinity of $250,000.

A block of tenement houses at the foot of Hastings street caught fire from sparks from the opera house fire and were destroyed.

England's Ultimatum on the Seal Conference.

LONDON, Oct. 7.—The officials of the British foreign office have communicated to the United States ambassador, Col. John Hay, the final decision that the government of Great Britain must refuse to take part in any sealing conference with representatives of Russia and Japan. The British government, however, asserts its willingness to confer with the United States alone.

The Plague at Mobile.

MOBILE, Ala., Oct. 7.—The total cases of yellow fever here reached the hundred mark Wednesday. The actual total to date at noon was 99; total deaths to date, 18. There were no deaths reported Wednesday and only four new cases.

Many Guests Have Narrow Escapes.

MILES CITY, Mont., Oct. 7.—The Maqueen hotel burned Tuesday night. Loss, $50,000; insurance, $37,000. Many guests had very narrow escapes from death. F. McVeagh & Co., of Chicago, owned the hotel, which was the best in Eastern Montana.

POPULAR SCIENCE.

THE PHONETOSCOPE.

With It the Beating of the Heart Can Be Heard Distinctly.

The phonetoscope is the latest improvement in the instruments used by physicians and surgeons. Its use enables one to hear the respiratory apparatus, of the organs of digestion, of the ear in health and disease, of muscles, joints, bones, fractures, dislocations, etc., and even the capillary circulation. The slightest vibrations, excluding other slight noises in the room, are heard during examination. It makes it possible for the physician to examine dressed persons with scientific accuracy, offers a certain method of detecting people who feign deafness, and enables the physician to appreciate the normal and pathological sounds emitted by the organs of the body. The phonetoscope is perfected on the principles used in the telephone.

A physician says: "The principles of the telephone are carried out absolutely in the new instrument. We have all known this for years, but none of us ever thought of applying these principles to the purposes for which they were most needed and yet we all realize the old stethescope, which we have been using, was a crude apparatus. The difference between the two instruments is that one is made on the principle of a trumpet and the other on that of the telephone. With the new phonetoscope the beating of the heart can be heard as distinctly as though the ear were placed directly over it."

THE PHONETOSCOPE.

The phonetoscope shown in the accompanying cut was patented only last May.

BRAIN EVOLUTION.

Interesting Experiments Conducted by Prof. Marsh, of Yale.

Prof. O. C. Marsh, of Yale university, has for many years been studying brain evolution, and has learned that animals of the present day have larger brains than their predecessors, that the size of brains of animals in the same groups increased progressively from the eocene through the miocena and pliocene periods. When a species of mammal died out it was found that it had a relatively small brain. He also found that the same theory held good in regard to birds. Finally he applied it to man, who has conquered all else on the earth. The development of the brain has gone on with the centuries, and one race after another has dominated—always by its larger brain. In modern man, the cerebrum overshadows all other parts of the brain combined. Down to the present time the largest brain race has outmatched the smaller, although the latter usually has greater brute force. Prof. Marsh has weighed the brains of modern peoples, and discovered that the average brain of the Japanese is greater than that of any other people. Fifteen years ago he was satisfied that they were to figure as a great power among nations, perhaps an overwhelming force. His conclusions stand almost in the light of prophecy. They have the brain. It is a matter of speculation how it will be used.

The Electric Trolley Stage.

A motor carriage is now in operation in Greenwich, Conn., which will run for an indefinite time and does not carry a storage battery. It can only be used on streets where there is a trolley wire, so would hardly be practicable for a pleasure carriage. Its inventor has named it an "electric trolley stage." It differs in many respects from the trolley car system. As there are no rails, two wires are employed to couple the circuit. A trolley pole conveys the current to the motor, under the carriage, from which it passes back to the return wire. An arrangement has been made by which carriages may pass each other.

Great Medical Discovery.

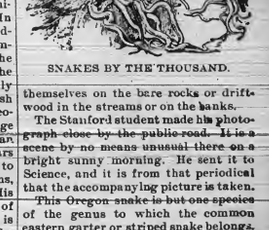
The new coupler for uniting severed intestines, and which bids fair to supersede the famous Murphy's button, is the invention of a Chicago man. It consists of two decalcified bone collars, with six needle holes at the apex of each and a piece of gum tubing seven-eighths of an inch long and four-sixteenths of an inch in diameter. The collars are carved from round bones taken from the lower hind legs of four-year-old oxen. Four days after connection has been made the two ends of intestine have thoroughly grown together, the collar has dissolved and with the tubing has passed away.

Blindness from Electricity.

An English journal records a number of cases of blindness from electricity within the last six weeks. It has been predicted that if the present electric lamps continue in use a weakness of sight will be produced in this generation, partial blindness in the next and total loss of sight in the third or fourth generation. It has been suggested that fluorescent tubes be adopted. These would fit around a room like a strip of molding. It is claimed that they would give a strong, even light, which would not harm the eyesight and would cost no more than the present incandescent and are lamps.

THE ELECTRIC SPARK.

It Is Not a Fluid, But Purely a Vortex Movement.



Lord Armstrong, a famous student of electricity, has succeeded in photographing an electric spark. He claims that there is no such thing as an "electric fluid;" that electricity is purely a vortex movement, such as we see when watching rings of smoke drift from the mouth of the smoker. The "electricity, like the smoke, moves over and over the circumference of the ring, that is, it is sucked in by one face of the ring and out by the other." This simple discovery may revolutionize many established theories. Lord Armstrong's photographs are said to show to the eye the exact difference between the positive and negative poles. A camera and powerful electric machine were placed in a room. On the sensitive plate contained in the camera a light and fine powder had been sifted, so that when the electricity was discharged the dust upon the plate would be driven about by electric streams, and at the same time the light would affect the plate. But a small fraction of a second was required for the electricity to give the luminosity necessary to enable it to be caught in the act of setting the dust in commotion. The picture shows a black spot in the center, which is the metallic disk which rested on the photographic plate and received the positive discharge from the electric machine. The electricity radiates from the center in streams which appear like feathery illuminated roots of a plant. This is different from a picture of electricity as it comes from the human body. The photograph will show that as it radiates it has a sharper and shorter appearance. A picture taken of two opposite discharging disks, brought near together, shows clearly that the discharge has different characteristics at the different poles. Lord Armstrong hopes to show plainly how electricity is communicated from one human body to another by contact.—Chicago Inter Ocean.

SNAKES IN OREGON.

Singular Scene Photographed by a California Student.

In July, 1895, a student of geology at the Leland Stanford, Jr., university, in California, visited a branch of the Klamath river, three miles south of Klamath Falls, in southern Oregon on a geological search expedition. His findings in geology may or may not have been important, but he had an opportunity to photograph the singular scene which is reproduced here.

In that region a species of snake, belonging to the genus Eutaenia, swarms by hundreds and thousands. These snakes are found mostly along the watercourses, in the grass, or sunning themselves on the bare rocks or driftwood in the streams or on the banks.

SNAKES BY THE THOUSAND.

The Stanford student made his photograph close by the public road. It is a scene by no means unusual there on a bright sunny morning. He sent it to Science, and it is from that periodical that the accompanying picture is taken.

This Oregon snake is but one species of the genus to which the common eastern garter or striped snake belongs. There are least 20 species of the genus in the United States; and all the species including the Oregon snakes in the picture are harmless. The eastern species are, indeed, positively beneficial, destroying field mice and certain insects. The Oregon sort feed on a frog which is very common in the waters of the Klamath, and this is the cause of its great abundance in the vicinity.

VENOM OF SERPENTS.

A New Antidote Discovered by Prof. Fraser, of Edinburgh.

Prof. T. R. Fraser, of the University of Edinburgh, has discovered a new antidote for overcoming the venom of serpents. It is not like M. Calmette's antitoxic serum, obtained from animals rendered immune by inoculation, but is furnished by the serpent himself, in his own bile. In the experiments various quantities of bile from the gall bladder of the cobra, rattlesnake and grass snake was mixed with a little more than the minimum fatal dose of the venom, and this mixture injected under the skin of the animal. It was shown that a quantity of the bile smaller than the quantity of venom may be sufficient to prevent lethal doses of the latter from producing death. The bile of harmless serpents was found to be less effective. The same secretion from an ox was less powerful, being about one-seventh as strong in antitoxic influence as the venom of cobra or asp. If a sufficient amount were used it would overcome a fatal dose of the poison. Dr. Fraser believes the antidote can be prepared for the market in a compact form. African snake doctors have a remedy, of which a principal ingredient is snake bile, which they introduce into the patient's stomach and rub into the wound.—Chicago Inter Ocean.

Agreement on That Point.

"You are very dear, aren't you?" asked the lady shopper of the ribbon clerk.

"That's what all the boys say," replied she, sweetly.—Louisville Courier-Journal.

BOONE CO., RECORDER.

Wednesday, October 13, 1897.

Advertising Rates:
One inch, one time.....$1.00
Each additional time.....25
Obituaries, Tributes of Respects or notices of a like nature, per inch.....50
W. L. RIDDELL, - - Publisher.

Neighborhood News.

Rabbit Hash.

The same old story, dry and dusty.

Farmers are sowing their wheat, expecting it will rain soon.

It is said the Ohio river is lower now than it has been for years, and very few boats can run.

After a lingering illness, Mr. P. G. Holmes departed this life Thursday morning. He leaves three children to mourn his death. They have the sympathy of the country.

Mr. and Mrs. Harris, of East Bend, entertained the young folks with a dance, last Saturday night. It was enjoyed by all who were present. Do that again, Mr. Harris.

Erlanger.

Blanch Conner, of Cincinnati, is the guest of Clara Morelli, of Lexington pike.

Miss May Riggs, of Lockland, Ohio, is the guest of Mrs. Martha Hoover, of Erlanger road.

Several families have been forced to move to the city on account of the bad accommodations the Southern Road furnishes the public at this place. It is hoped the officials will look into this before more patrons will have to go.

The young friends of Miss Hattie Mack tendered her a birthday surprise party last Saturday evening at the residence of her father on Garvey avenue. Among those present were Misses Nora Lynch, Kate Wesselm, Anna Eicholz, Nannie Gelger, Rosa Moss, Blanch Conner, and Clara Morelli; Master Ferry Hogan, Hy Bokolo, John Bokolo, Jas. Hermann, Fred Collins, Ad Konerding, Martin Gebhart, Jas. Mack, Mrs. Godfied Mack, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Springmeirer, Fred Reisch and Joe Reisch. After congratulations were over, dancing was indulged in until the wee sma' hours.

North Bend.

Mr. Thos. Balsley mashed his ankle badly last week.

Col. A. B. Whitlock has gone to St. Louis to visit his sister, Mrs. Gilbert.

We are glad to say that Rev. R. E. Kirtley is improving and is able to be out again.

A good many people are getting coal off the bar here. Part of the bar is yielding remarkably well.

Master James Owen Kirtley, who mashed his hand badly in the cider mill, is a great deal better.

Miss Annabel Rtley left here, Wednesday for Missouri, to take her little nephew to visit his relatives.

I am glad to say Miss Duncan is quite popular among her scholars. I here her praised from every one.

Mr. G. C. Riley has returned home from working on the U. S. Engineers corps, the work being done for this year.

Miss Clara Harrison, after a delightful visit to her father, Mr. Wm H. Harrison, has returned to her home at Spears, Ky.

Bellevue.

James Rogers is about through sowing wheat.

Born—To Robt. Clore and wife on the 27th, a boy.

J. T. Marshall may be found at all hours in his office.

Farmers are slow in sowing dollar wheat in this dust.

D. M. Snyder's sorghum mill is going almost day and night.

Harry Acre and wife were visiting on Ashby Fork, Sunday.

Joe Maurer's basket shop is in full blast, running four hands.

Hina Lindernburn, of Newport, was with us a few days last week.

The hickorynut party was highly pleased with their trip last Saturday.

D. M. Snyder was at the city Monday with his son, Albert, to have his eyes examined.

C. C. Craig and wife, of East Bend, were visiting relatives in the Petersburg neighborhood, Saturday.

P. G. Holms, of Rabbit Hash, died last Thursday, and was buried Friday. He has been ailing for some time, and was between 70 and 80 years of age.

We are glad to report Andrew Acra, of Middle creek, improving from a very severe attack of typhoid fever, which has confined him to his bed for 8 weeks, last Friday.

Boys, remember the second day of November and rally the voters. The Republican wants to borrow a few and I think we can thrash enough out of the bushes to give their candidate a complimentary vote.

Petersburg.

Wm. Bennett doesn't improve in health.

Miss Leeota Ryle spent several days in our burg, lately.

Apples and Irish potatoes are scarce and high in these parts.

Elbert Kelly, of Bellevue, was prospecting in our burg Sunday.

There is a prospect this morning (Monday) of a nice rain, which never was worse needed.

Ben Stergeon and Joe Weindel returned from Chicago, last week, where they have been in business for some time.

Willie Huey and Pearl Sullivan, of the Bellevue neighborhood, spent last Saturday night and Sunday at Wm Rector's.

Last Saturday, Bernard Berkshire, in company with Capt. Fenton, drove over into Hoosier, and in the neighborhood of Cochran the young animal attached to the buggy got scared, and Bernard was thrown out and his new suit completely covered with dust. They arrived safe in port without any further trouble.

A mass meeting of most of our leading citizens was held in the schoolhouse, at 7 p. m., last Saturday, for the purpose of selecting candidates for the different offices of the town. Police Judge B. J. Crisler called the meeting to order and explained its object, when T. B. Mathews was elected permanent chairman and Richard McWethy, secretary. On motion a committee consisting of J. M. Grant, Mark Gordon and Jas. Thompson was appointed to present the names of five persons suitable for trustees. While the gentlemen were engaged in preparing their report it was moved to select by private ballot a candidate for police judge, which resulted in the selection of B. J. Crisler. A candidate for town marshal, was selected in the same manner. After a spirited contest between Harry Bahn, Jas. E. Hensley, Clay Henaley and Harry Lyon, Bahn was declared elected. Resolutions pointing to the locating of manufacturing establishments in our town were offered by Rev. Harris and passed unanimously. The committee on trustees reported the following names: viz T. B. Mathews, Ben Jarrell, Henry Hoffman, C. N. Smith, and Frank Collier. The report was adopted.

Utzinger.

A big crop of wheat is being sowed.

S. E. Terrill arrives on schedule time now.

Bro. Cobb did not get the Aurora postoffice.

Cropper & Gaines are having a new roof put on their bus house.

J. B. Grant, of Livingston county, Mo., was visiting here, last week.

Buford Terrill, son of S. E. Terrill, has gone to Missouri to make his future home.

The young folks had a nice time at a lawn party at Dr. Hay's, one night last week.

Thos. Clore, of Bellevue, is buying wheat for the big flour mill at Lawrenceburg.

Kirtley Baker, pitcher for the St. Paul league team, was in this vicinity last Saturday.

Chas. Shipman has rented Seymour Cole's farm near Hartford, Indiana, and will move there in the spring.

Dogs killed five sheep for Geo. Walton, two for Nathan Walton and three for Stephen Gaines during the last week.

All the neighborhood back of Aurora, Indiana, is on fire caused by some tramps setting a log heap a fire on the road.

Chas. Shipman's team ran off with him the other day, demolishing his wagon and throwing Charles on a wire fence.

Bill Guy, colored, who shot a bridge contractor in Ohio, several days ago, is in jail in Cincinnati. His victim is still living.

Hunters have made their appearance in this vicinity, and they are a terror to chickens they find strayed from the barn yard.

The river is lower at Lawrenceburg than ever known. Some say that the dike at Medoc has caused the river to fill up at this point.

Billy Parsons, steward of the Steamer Workum, found a human skull on the Lawrenceburg bar the other day. Some think it is Pearl Bryan's.

The citizens' meeting at Petersburg, Saturday night, nominated the following candidates for city offices: Thomas Mathews, Ben Jarrell, J. M. Thompson, Frank Collier, Harry Smith and Henry Hoffman for town trustees; Harry Bahn, city marshall, and Ben Crisler, police judge.

Constance.

Water is getting scarce in this place.

Mr. E. C. Luis and wife have returned from Indiana.

The dust is ten inches deep on the streets in Constance.

Mr. John Highhouse was in town, last week, prospecting for a saloon.

The druggist has added to his stock a bottle of Castoria. He is having a rush, I think.

Prospects are that we will have an undertaking establishment in our town soon, as E. M. and W. W. are thinking of going into the business.

John Botts and child are very ill.

Two additions to the M. E. Church this week.

C. W. Robinson is building a new warehouse.

Chas. Hemfling is happy—it is a 12 pound boy.

Miss Ohler, who has been very sick, is convalescing.

Clint Reeves is collecting the school tax in this district.

Andy Ernst, who dislocated his knee, is able to be about.

Mr. J. Jackson's father, of Indiana, has been visiting him this week.

John Grimsley injured one of his hands by using it too freely on a man's head.

William Ohler sprained a muscle in his back while lifting sacks at the factory, Thursday.

Capt. Kotmeyer has made extensive repairs on his road, and it is now the finest along the river.

John Myers was badly cut on the forehead, an artery being severed. Dr. Murat dressed the wound.

William Phelps brought quite a delegation of young people up from Taylorsport to the prayer meeting, Sunday night.

The boys who have been working at the tin mill have been laid off, as have also 15 hands at the Jones desicating factory.

Eph Peno, who was recently at the point of death, has entirely recovered, owing to the skillful treatment of Dr. Murat.

J. P. Loder, formerly of this place, has sold his interest in the general store at Nightown, Indiana, to K. H. Hood. He sold out because of ill health.

Heist McAuther, of Bromley, has taken Cal Cowen's place as night ferryman for Capt. Kotmeyer. He is a clever fellow and an experienced riverman.

Walton.

The Christian Endeavor Rally held at the Christian church here on the 10th inst., was a success in some respects beyond expectation. Although disappointed in the crowd on account of the dry weather and the dust, yet a great many were in attendance, and we feel that the day's meeting, besides effecting many direct results, has been far-reaching and will accomplish much good in the future. The meeting was conducted by Rev. Mills, of Falmouth, president of the district. Among the many good speakers present was Mrs. Bessie DeMoss Ellis, of Belleview, who spoke on the topic, "How to Develop a Good Committee," and being the only lady on the program, she deserves special mention. Question box was conducted by Mr. Loose, of Covington, and was quite a diversion. There were visitors from several neighboring towns. Basket dinner was served on the grounds and with the progress of good times, the Endeavors hope to have another rally and make it, if possible, more successful than this one.

Miss O'Hey is the guest of Mrs. O. Y. Dyas.

Mrs. Nannie Vest, of Dry Ridge, is visiting relatives in town.

Miss Barbara Ransler, of Ludlow, is visiting Mrs. Geo. Ranaler.

Mrs. Robt. Ricketts, of Sulphur, is visiting Mrs. Judge Botts.

Arthur Roberts and wife have returned from their wedding tour.

Rev. Moss conducted the services at the Christian church, Sunday.

Forest Northcutt, of Dry Ridge, is stopping with N. M. Northcutt.

Mrs. D. S. Lermond is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Stamler.

Miss Stewart, of Covington, is the pleasant guest of Miss Libbie Ingram.

Duke Finnell and wife, of Dry Ridge, were visiting Mr. Finnell's parents, Sunday.

Mr. Marshall Whitson and wife, of Verona, were visiting Dr. and Mrs. Jones, Sunday.

Dr. J. L. Adams and wife have purchased Dr. Duncan's property and have gone to house-keeping.

Clarence Senlour and bride have returned from Nashville, and are visiting relatives here for a few days.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Breeden, of Winfield, Kansas, were visiting their sister, Mrs. Byron Northcutt, last week.

The political speaking which was to have taken place here, last Saturday, was a complete failure, a crowd failing to turn out.

Richwood.

Little Maggie Snow is on the sick list.

Hon. Reuben Conner's arm is getting better.

Farmers are beginning to feed their cattle.

W. H. Smith's new house is nearing completion.

Miss Allie Weaver is teaching school at Mt. Zion.

Miss Lucy Robinson was visiting her sister, Mrs. Willie Glacken, one day last week.

William Woodward and wife were visiting Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Carpenter, last Sunday.

Sparks from passing locomotives have been setting fire to the grass along the railroad for the past two weeks.

Edward Northcutt and Miss Jane Belle Dobbins were married at the residence of the bride's father, Mr. Samuel Dobbins, near this place, at 3 p. m., last Thursday. The groom is a prominent farmer of the Walton neighborhood. The bride is one of the most highly respected ladies of this vicinity, and her many friends wish her a pleasant journey through life.

Union.

J. W. Conner is feeding 65 hogs.

Who said it was going to rain this week?

Efforts are being made to organize a K. of P. lodge at this place.

Tom Burket has been nursing a badly sprained ankle for ten days.

Mr. Taggart is proving a prompt and faithful mail carrier—always on time.

Mrs. Reuben Stephenson, of Hood, was calling on friends here, last Wednesday evening.

Clements & Childress have engaged in the butcher business, and furnish delicious pork chops on short notice.

Services in both churches Sunday morning, and services by Rev. Rachal at Presbyterian church Sunday night.

Soi Long and Geo. Crouch will engage in the steamboat business this winter. They are negotiating for a boat.

Tom Judge has let the horse market in Union take a drop on itself, and the boys are forced to go to Williamstown to trade horses.

J. L. Frazier purchased a new buggy recently, and was testing its staying qualities Sunday. It proved a real stayer, for the front axle broke in the middle as he came into Union, and it just stayed in the road.

Marshal Hedges drove 47 miles one night last week, and every toll-gate was up on the route, except the one just above Union that Col. Mott Houston handles, which makes him the boss gate keeper in the sixth district.

John Williams and W. W. Conner are reputed to be the best corn raisers in this section. John may beat "Babe" raising corn, but when it comes to sorghum molasses "Babe" can beat anybody except Spencer Smith.

Mott Houston had his chicken coops and hen house all locked and bared. When asked what he did it for he winked his eye and said, "the editor of the Recorder and the head pusher in the County Clerk's office passed through to the south, and it is best to look out for squalls."

Two of our handsomest young ladies have been negotiating for three weeks to "get a man." No I mean to hire a man to drive them in a carriage to Carrollton. They have offered all the way from 50c to $50, and yet no man has offered his services so far. Shame on you, boys!

Supt. Vosbell takes great pride in his farming interests, the same as he does in his official duties. He is now making a deal for railroad scrapers and will plow up and transfer to the worn places on his farm all the rich soil that for years has laid idle in the hollows. He claims that it can be done at small cost and will prove beneficial.

Napolean Bristow is one of those jolly fellows that don't let dry weather, scarcity of water, lack of McKinley prosperity or anything in the world keep him from wearing a pleasant smile, and hoping for rain and better times. "Nip" says Uncle John Garrison can worry if he chooses, but not any for him. Well, Mr. Ed., you know how John worries. Nit.

On last Wednesday at 1:30 o'clock Mr. Wm. Matson Rachal was united in marriage to Miss Maud Norman, at the Baptist church in Union by Rev. A. S. Rachal, in the presence of a large number of friends and relatives. After the ceremony at the church they left amid showers of congratulations and rice for the home of Mr. Rachal's mother, where they ate luncheon and at three o'clock left for their wedding tour to Nashville and other Southern cities.

A new novel will soon make its appearance in the literary world. The plot will be laid amid scenes familiar to a few Boone county people. Its hero will be one of those "genial souls" that has spent years upon years in keeping "camp fires" of mirth and social pleasure burning with a steady brightness by throwing great big fagots of original and spicy wit upon them. Its heroine will be a "star-spangled banner of perfection," that the hero can say and does say, "I love thee with all thy faults."

Dick Thompson has been driving a buggy that played seven different tunes in seven different languages during the dry weather, and he was proud of it; but Sunday evening he went into sack cloth and ashes and could not be comforted, for he got Sam Hicks to hitch his 2:06½ trotter to it, expecting it would play eight tunes in sixteen languages, all at the same time—yea not a tune, for Mr. Kennedy had employed some kind hearted man to cut the tires. Talk about steam pianos and horse fiddles, but they deal out music soft as the aeolean harp compared to that buggy.

Notice to Trespassers.

We, the undersigned, hereby give notice that we have posted our farms, according to law, against trespass of all kinds, and will enforce the law against those who trespass thereon by hunting or otherwise.

John Stephens	Robt McGlasson
M T Graves	Wm Graves
John J Rucker	J W Watts
Jas L Riley	Temp Gaines
Wm Riley	Allie Corn
Henry McGlasson	Hubert Cropper
Geo McGlasson	Joe Graves

NOTICE.

Notice is hereby given that I am sole owner of the persoual property on my farm near J. W. Klte's store, this county, and no one is authorized to sell same or any part of it.

LENNORA SATCHWILL.

Sept. 10th, 1897.

Public Sale!

I will sell at Public Auction, at my residence near Union, Boone County, Ky., on Thursday, Nov. 4th, 1897,

My Farm Containing

123 ACRES OF GOOD LAND,

Lying on the Union & Beaver Turnpike, 3 miles from Richwood Sta., on the C. N. & T. P. R. R.

Said farm has a good

Frame Dwelling of Seven Rooms,

Hall, Vestibule, Pantry, three Porches, Good Cellar, Large Barn and other Out Buildings, two Cisterns

And Never Failing Springs,

Orchard of Various kinds of Fruit Trees.

Terms Made Known on Day of Sale.

HENRY TUCKER.

W. H. CHAMBERS, Auct'r.

Sale to begin at 2 o'clock y. m.

For Sale.

Good frame house of six roome, and good barn and lot, at BigBone, Ky. For further particulars apply to

M. C. CARROLL,
Big Bone, Ky.

For Sale or Rent.

Good Stock Farm of 170 acres. Money rent in cash, if rented.

Wm. C. HENSLEY.

Administrator's Notice.

I have this day been appointed administrator of the estate of James A. Botts, deceased, and all persons indebted to said estate must pay same at once and all persons having claims against said estate must present them to me or my attorney S. W. Tolin, at Burlington, Ky., proven as by law required.

EDWIN BOTTS, Adm'r.

Sept. 20th, 1897.

Farm for Sale!

In Boone county, Ky., on the North Bend Road, 1½ miles from Burlington, 1 mile from Hebron and 5 miles from Anderson's Ferry, and contains seventy-eight acres, good cottage of 5 rooms and good barn, orchard of 200 trees select fruit. The farm is all under good state of cultivation. For terms apply to

LASSING & RIDDELL,
Burlington, Ky.

FOURTH YEAR

OF WALTON ACADEMY,

—opens—

MONDAY, SEPTEMBER 6th, 1897

AT WALTON, KY.

Three Courses of Study to choose from:

English, Scientific or Classical,

Tuition per month,...$2.50 and $3.00

Vocal and Instrumental Music at moderate rates.

We have a fine, new building with rooms for pupils, connected.—Board only $2.50 per week, or $2.00 for 5 days.

Thorough, Substantial Work

Guaranteed.

Teachers { Mrs. S. H. MYERS. CHAS. F. PRIOR. Rev. S. H. MYERS.

Further information gladly given by mail or interview.

BOOTS & SHOES

MADE TO ORDER.

Work Strictly First-Class.

Prices to Suit the Times.

Harness, Boots and Shoes Neatly Repaired. Give me a trial.

CHRISTIAN BECKER,
Union, Ky.

29sp12m

Subscribe for the Recorder.

GO TO

HANKINS, DAVIS & CO., General Merchants,

HEBRON AND CONSTANCE,

A Good Supply of Feed always in Stock.

GARDEN AND FIELD SEEDS.

Undertaking is given special attention. Funerals under the personal supervision of J. C. HANKINS.

A good supply of Coal on hand at Constance at all times.

Hebron. HANKINS, DAVIS & CO. Constance

S. L. EDWARDS. A. M. EDWARDS.

EDWARDS BROTHERS,

DEALERS IN

HARDWARE

—AND—

Agricultural Implements,

Furniture,
Stoves,
Tinware,
Saddlery,
Oils and Paints,
Wall Paper.

UNDERTAKING & EMBALMING A SPECIALTY.

We have added a first-class Tin Shop and are prepared to do Tin, Iron and Paper Roofing and guarantee all work done by us.

EDWARDS BROS., - - Walton, Ky.

JOHN ALLISON,

UNDER-  EMBALMER,

TAKER

Corner Pike & Russell Streets,

COVINGTON, - - KENTUCKY.

INDEPENDENT OF UNDERTAKERS' UNION.

THEY : MUST : GO.

Desiring to quit that branch of the business I am Closing

OUT MY ENTIRE STOCK OF

MEN'S & BOYS' Ready-Made CLOTHING

At the greatest bargains ever offered in Covington.

MY TAILORING DEPARTMENT

Will be continued, and I have on hand the Finest Line of Suitings in the three cities. Give me a call.

H. F. BLASE, 540 Madison Avenue, COVINGTON, KY.

Jany 1-98

WHY WORRY ABOUT

Where to go to Buy Your

Men's, Boys' and Children's Clothing.

Come in and inspect our FALL LINE, and you will find it complete in every respect. Quality, Style, Workmanship and Prices guaranteed. You can see where ours excel at a glance. Many years experience in the Clothing business enables us to buy very close; our expenses are low, and we are always satisfied with Small Profits, this is positive proof that our prices are ROCK BOTTOM.

ROLFES & WACHS, RELIABLE CLOTHIERS

S. W. Cor. Pike & Madison Ave. Covington, Ky.

QUEEN & CRESCENT.

During the Tennessee Centennial and International Exposition at Nashville, Tenn., a low rate special tariff has been established for the sale of tickets from Cincinnati and other terminal points on the Queen & Crescent Route.

Tickets are on sale daily until further notice to Chattanooga at $6.75 one way or $7.20 round trip from Cincinnati, the round trip tickets being good seven days to return; other tickets, with longer return limit, at $9.90 and $13.50 for the round trip.

These rates enable the public to visit Nashville and other Southern points at rates never before offered. Vestibuled trains of the finest class are at the disposal of the passenger, affording a most pleasant trip, and enabling one to visit the very interesting scenery and important battle-grounds in and about Chickamauga, Lookout Mountain and Chickamauga National Millitary Park. Tickets to Nashville to visit the Centennial can be repurchased at Chattanooga for $3.40 round trip. Ask your ticket agent for tickets via Cincinnati and the Q. & C. Route South or write to

W. C. RINEARSON, G. P. Agt., Cincinnati, O.

Subscribe for the Recorder.

Local News.

All signs of rain have failed this season.

The trees are shedding their leaves rapidly.

Everybody has had an opportunity to repair cisterns.

The tax rate in Lawrenceburg, Indiana, is $1.48 on the $100.

Best line of flanels, jeans, yarns and blankets at Niebaum's, Aurora.

That was a nice rain Monday, but it delayed its coming too long for fall pastures.

The Democratic political mill will be fought to a finish in Kenton county next Friday.

E. H. Niebaum's is the best place to get good muslins, shirtings and calicoes at close prices.

Prospects for fall grass are very poor, and the farmers may have a long seige of feeding their stock.

Lawrenceburg and Aurora are about to go to war over their base ball teams. The rivalry is strong.

The new cemetery that is being laid out by the Bellevue Baptist Church will be a nice burying ground.

W. F. McKim, who purchased Mrs. Hogan's house and lot, will put the premises in excellent repair.

People were glad to find the dust knocked out Monday morning. They were thnakful for small favors.

Headquarters for children's ladies' and men's underwear, cloaks, capes, hosiery, gloves, &c., at E. H. Niebaum's Aurora.

For the first time—for no telling how long—the Grant Circuit Court is in session with no murder case on the docket for trial.

When he wants to get as fine corn as grew in the county this year, W. T. Smith does not have to go farther than his own field.

Last Saturday was pay day for the school teachers, and the began showing up at the Superintendent's office at an early hour.

The Boone House is beginning to show up in fine style, and when the repairs are completed it will be a good country town hotel.

There are about thirty-five wells in Burlington, and not more than a dozen of them can be relied on for water during a long dry spell.

TO CURE A COLD IN ONE DAY.

Take Laxative Bromo Quinine Tablets. All druggists refund the money if it fails to cure. 25c

One day last week tobacco sold as high as $32 per 100 pounds, at Louisville. It was fine Burley cutter and was purchased by a manufacturer.

Corbett is offering Fitzsimmons $15,000 to fight him, win or lose. We can find a man in Burlington who will fight Corbett at any time and place for half that amount of money.

Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Cropper announce the marriage of their daughter, Mary Elizabeth, to Dr. John H. Walton, Wednesday afternoon, October 27, 1897, at 2 o'clock, Bullittsburg church.

Lexington Races.

October 5—16 inclusive. One fair roun trip daily, 4th to 16th via the Queen and Cresent route. Good until October 18th to return.

Mrs. Fulton, aged about 78 years, and mother of John Fulton, of Florence, fell down stairs at the residence of her son-in-law, Columbus Carpenter, near Florence, last Saturday night and dislocated her shoulder.

The funeral of the late Ephraim Helm will take place at the Lutheran church at Hebron on the first Sunday in November at 11 o'clock a. m. Services will be conducted by J. Taylor Moore, of Georgetown.

Fall Leaf Excursion to High Bridge, Sunday Oct., 17. Now is the time to make the trip. Ask agent for rates and other particulars. High Bridge is a delightful place for boating, bathing, fishing, bicycling, etc.

The scaffold on which the carpenters were at work at the Boone House, fell last Thursday morning, and as a result Kirb Tanner got a badly sprained ankle. Duley Beall was on the scaffold at the time. The fall was about 15 feet

Insurance Commissioner David N. Comigore has at last been appointed Collector of U. S. Internal Revenue of the Sixth Kentucky District to succeed Collector Alexander Davezac. The appointment was confirmed by President McKinley Saturday morning.

Emma Pate Mulford will seek to annul her marriage to Grant Muiford at this term of court. The plaintiff is the young lady who eloped from Clay township to Kentucky, last spring, to marry the husband from whom she now asks a legal separation.—Lawrenceburg Register.

H. W. Harrison, dentist, of Rising Sun, Ind., will be in Burlington on the first and third Monday in each month, to do work for those who wish anything in his line. He will be here two days each visit. He is a son of the late R. F. Harrison, of Carrollton, and a graduate of the Pennsylvania College of Dentistry at Philadephia. He is highly recommended in his profession.

Mrs. Thomas Dinn, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Brashier Rouse, who live about a mile from town, died last Sunday morning of consumption, leaving a baby about eight weeks old. She had been married about a year, and the young husband and the parents have the sympathy of the entire community. The funeral service was conducted by Rev. Lentz at the Hopeful church, Monday at 10 a. m., followed by the interment in the cemetery at that place.

PERSONAL MENTION.

Mrs. Agness Disguid is the guest of Mrs. W. L. Riddell.

Rev. Hoover visited his parents in Virginia, last week.

Marce Riddell and wife were visiting relatives in Walton, Sunday.

Mrs. L. W. Castleman is visiting her son, D. E. Castleman, of this place.

Sheriff Roberts was over at Beaver, Saturday, on a tax collecting mission.

John H. Ryle and wife contemplate moving to Erlanger in the near future.

Butler Carpenter, of Florence, was in town a few hours Monday morning.

B. W. Adams attended church at Beaver, last Saturday night and Sunday.

J. C. Hankins, one of the hustling merchants of Constance was in town, Saturday.

Mr. McDonald, a Covington lumber merchant, was a guest at the Boone House, Sunday.

Robert Wilson has moved into the Sandford hotel property which he purchased recently.

Columbus and Perry Carpenter, of Florence, were among the visitors to town last Monday.

T. C. S. Ryle, of East Bend, attended services at the Universalist Church, at this place, last Sunday.

W. R. Gordon and James Thompson, two of Petersburg's vim and vigor business men, were in town Monday.

D. E. Castleman spent a few days, last week, in the Glencoe and Napolean neighborhoods, in Gallatin county.

Mr. and Mrs. Wood Stephens, of the Waterloo neighborhood, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Barker, Sunday.

F. M. Johnson, Assessor of Dearborn county, Indiana, and a Mr. Hoover, of Lawrenceburg, were in town, Saturday.

W. W. Grant, of Bellevue, will represent the Masonic Lodge at that place at the Grand Lodge in Louisville next week.

Mrs. A. J. Barker expects to leave next Sunday night on a visit to her husband's sister, Mrs. Setters, in Tennessee.

Atty. S. Gaines is now a Burlington freeholder, having purchased a portion of the Sandford hotel lot from Robert Wilson.

F. H. Russell, the Republican candidate for representative, was in town, Saturday, in company with his daughter, who is a teacher.

Uncle Dutton Crigler and Mr. Long, of Gunpowder, and L. N. Crigler and wife, of Covington, were guests at the Boone House yesterday.

Mrs. Martha Riddell and daughter, of Aurora, and Eaton Snyder and sister, of Bullittsville, were guests at Judge Riddell's, last Thursday.

W. R. Gordon, manager of the Petersburg opera house, billed the town Monday for the appearance of H. Vincent Moore, on the 15th and 16th inst.

Oscar Ryle has received his outfit and is now canvassing the county for the Singer Sewing Machine Co. Here is hoping he will sell many machines.

Misses Annie and Lelia Cowen arrived home, last Friday, after a very pleasant visit of two week to Esq. James A. Cowen's in Gallatin county.

Thomas Castleman has moved from Florence to Glencoe, Gallatin county. He has quite a number of friends in this county whose best wishes follow him.

J. Wash Watts, of Bullittsville, was in town Monday morning. The farmers in his neighborhood are posting their lands as a protection against hunters.

Mr. Henry Tucker, of Union, was in town one day last week, and advertised his farm to be sold publicly on the 4th day of November. Read the advertisement in this paper.

J. C. Revill visited his landed possessions near Lawrenceburg ferry, one day last week. It was the first time he ever saw the farm, and it showed up better than he expected.

County Attorney J. M. Lassing and wife are visiting Mr. Lassing's brother Henry and wife at Nashville, this week, and attending the Exposition. They will return home next Sunday night.

George Delph, of the Union neighborhood, has a cucumber pickle that is 51 years old. It has been preserved in whisky all that time. The whisk is certainly excellent if age adds to the quality.

D. E. Lawell, of the Rabbit Hash precinct, was in town Friday. Speaking in regard to the sowing of wheat, he said he tried several times to break some land, but it was so hard that he had to abandon it.

Dr. John H. Walton, of Home City, Ohio, was in Burlington, Sunday, to see Dr. Smith on business. They do say that the Doctor will lead to the altar, in a few days, one of Boone county's fair daughters.

C. G. Riddell, of Rabbit Hash, pulled himself loose from his store long enough to come out to God's country yesterday, and revive his drooping spirits by inhaling the ozone-charged atmosphere enveloping the uplands since the delightful rain that visited this part of the country last Monday.

NOTICE.

Mr. Frank Russell, the Republican candidate for representative of Boone county, will discuss the issues of the day from a business stand point before the people, to which the Democratic and Republican candidates are invited to attend and take part at the places and dates to-wit:

Burlington, Oct. 16, at 7:30 p. m.
Beaver Lick, Oct. 18, at 7 p. m.
Big Bone, Oct. 19, at 7 p. m.
Rabbit Hash, Oct. 20, at 7 p. m.
Bellevue, Oct. 21, at 7 p. m.
Petersburg, Oct. 22, at 7 p. m.
Bullittsville, Oct. 23, at 7 p. m.
Verona, Oct. 25, at 7 p. m.
Walton, Oct. 26, at 7 p. m.
Union, Oct. 27, at 7 p. m.
Florence, Oct. 28, at 7 p. m.
Constance, Oct. 29, at 7 p. m.

Wanted—To rent a farm on which there is some land to cultivate in tobacco.
ADD RIDDELL,
Beaver, Ky.

W. M. RACHAL & CO.,

A REGULAR KLONDIKE.

No use going to Alaska when you can find a regular Klondike in the way of VALUES at OUR STORE. Notwithstanding the big advance in nearly all lines, we shall continue to give customers the benefit of our advantage of having bought largely before the advance.

PROOF:
Ladies Fine Shoes, per pair 75c.—worth double the money.

UNION, KENTUCKY.

We know perfectly well that you will buy your goods where you can

Get the Most for Your Money

and where the most will also be good. Knowing this we wouldn't be foolish enough to tell you we keep good goods at the

Lowest Prices

if it wasn't so. Bring in your produce and we will take it same as cash.
HEADLIGHT OIL, per gallon. 7½c.

UNION, - - - - KENTUCKY.

PUBLIC SALE!

As Administrator of James A. Botts, deceased, I will sell at his late residence, in Boone County, Kentucky, on Saturday, October 23, 1897,

The Following Property, to-wit:

10 Work Horses and Colts of the celebrated Almont Stock and others; 16 fat Hogs, 1 fine Brood Sow, 1 Cow and Calf, about 100 barrels of Corn in field, lot of Tobacco on sticks in the barn, lot of tobacco sticks, lot of Millet in the barn, Cutting Box, Corn Sheller, Farm Wagon, Buggy, Sleigh, 2-horse Sled, Buggy Pole, Yoke and Set of Double Buggy Harness, and Plow Harness, Farming Implements, Sewing Machine, Ward Robe,

Household and Kitchen Furniture,

Of all kinds, about 100 Chickens and 80 Turkeys, Farm Bell, Tobacco Screw and Frame, and other articles too numerous to mention.

—TERMS OF SALE.—

Sums of $5 and under, cash; on sums over that amount a credit of 6 months will be given, purchaser to give note with good security, negotiable and payable at the Boone County Deposit Bank. Terms of sale to be complied with before property is removed.

EDWIN BOTTS,
Sale to begin at 9 o'clock a. m. Administrator.

Petersburg, Ky., Oct. 8, 1897.

To the Editor of the Recorder:

Will you please state in next week's paper that three of the votes for place of holding the next Teachers' Institute, that were cast at the teachers' association, Saturday, Oct. 2d, 1897, were for Burlington instead of Walton as stated in this week's paper.

Yours Respectfully,
LIZZIE F. GORDON.

Dr. Smith is not trying to study out the easiest route by which to reach the Klondike gold region, but is devoting his leisure moments trying to devise a scheme by which to exterminate the English Sparrows that have been feasting for several weeks of the &c., put out for his chickens. Knowing that the sparrows were watching his movements, to throw them off of their guard, he prepared a tray of nice dough, and placed it where they did most congregate. It was soon surrounded by a large flock of the birds, but not one of them would touch it, but a terrible chatter was kept up for some time when they all disappeared. In a few hours the birds returned and after another season of great noise the dough was dispatched in short order by the birds. The Doctor's generosity towards the birds was repeated several times and each time, they refused to eat the food until after a consultation had been held. The Doctor is of the opinion that the sparrows sent a sample of the food off each time for analysis and the report was made by the agent at the second meeting when the feed was devoured. The Doctor kept trying to gain the confidence of the little pests and kept failing, and finally decided that their great caution rendered it useless to try to get them to eat of poisoned dough.

FISCAL COURT.

At the last term of the Fiscal Court business was disposed of as follows:

Lee Marshall was allowed $10 for keeping pauper.

Hankins, Davis & Co., allowed $12 for pauper coffin.

Jeff Stephens allowed $10.25, balance due on account of work rendered in establishing county line.

R. A. Brady allowed $198.48, balance due him as Assessor, and same was order certified to the Auditor at Frankfort for payment. He was also allowed $2.75 for having assessor's books bound.

D. Rouse allowed an account of $2.29.

C. C. Roberts allowed two claims amounting to $104.40.

J. F. Blyth allowed $500 on Poor House expenses.

T. E. Roberts allowed $3 for holding inquest.

W. E. Vest allowed $105 on account for work done establishing county line.

J. F. Weaver allowed $1 for repairing pump on public cistern.

C. L. Crisler, jailer, allowed $36.50.

Program of Teachers' Association to be held at Walton, October 23d, 1897, 9 o'clock a. m.:

Diacritics—At what age begin and how to teach—Lillie Rouse.

Discussion by Association.

Relative value of Practical and Intellectual Arithmetic—M. F. Hamrick.

General discussion.

1:30 p. m.

Geography—the best method of preparing and reciting—J. H. Craven.

General discussion.

How to interest patrons in school work—Harriet Bedinger.

General discussion.

Anything you want in dress goods at riggt prices. E. H. Niebum, Aurora.

The protracted meeting at Beaver Baptist church is still in progress, and great interest is manifested by the very large crowds that attend. Up to and including last Sunday night there had been six additions.

COUNTY COURT.

October 4.—Geo. N. Buffington released from payment on land valued at $4,500 erroneously assessed against him in this county, said land being located in Kenton county.

J. H. Walton qualified as Justice of the Peace with F. A. Utz as bondsman.

The last will and testament of A. Corbin, was probated, and M. J. Corbin and A. B. Corbin qualified as executors.

G. O. Cleek was appointed administrator of W. M. Underhill.

Mosby, Raum & Grogreve vs B. W. Buffington—report of land division filed, and ordered to lie over for exceptions.

Fernando Carpenter, &c., on petition for division of land—commissioners filed report, and same was ordered to lie over for exceptions.

In company with J. S. Clutterbuck we had the pleasure of visiting Alline Lodge, I. O. O. F., at McVille, last Thursday night. It was an interesting meeting, the work being in the initiatory degree, Mr. Robert Rice being the candidate. Alline Lodge was not a month old last Thursday night, but the work done by its degree team is up to the standard. Every member of the lodge manifests great interest in the work, and if the pace set is kept up, it will be only a few months before Alline Lodge will have left in the distance all the lodges in this county in the matter of floor work. The membership is increasing rapidly, and is composed of as good material as the county affords. The new lodge certainly has a bright future before it. Joseph Love and several other brother Odd-Fellows, of Rising Sun, were present and witnessed the work.

Order of Reference.

Boone Circuit Court.
Jordan Beemon's Admr. Plff.
vs.
Jordan Beemon's heirs &c. Defts.

This cause is now referred to J. B. Berkshire, Master Commissioner of this court, under Section 431 Civil Code of practice, with the following instructions:

1. He will audit and settle the accounts of the administrator.

2. He will hear proof on and report the debts against the estate and how secured if at all.

3. He will hear proof, ascertain and determine what real estate decedent owned at the time of his death, where located and the probable value thereof.

4. He will give due notice of the time and place of his sittings by written or printed notices posted up at the Court House door in Burlington, Ky., five days preceeding his sittings and also publish said notices in the Boone Co., Recorder. He will report at the next term of this court.

Given under my hand as clerk of said court, this October 8th, 1897.

J. W. DUNCAN, Clerk.

The undersigned hereby gives notice that he will begin his sittings on the 1st day of November, 1897, at the Circuit Clerk's office in Burlington, Ky., to hear proof in the above styled cause and will adjourn from day to day (Sunday excepted) to the 1st day of Dec., 1897. All persons having claims against Jordan Beemon's estate will present them to me properly proven as by law required.

J. B. BERKSHIRE, Master Com.

NOTICE.

All persons holding claims against Ezra W. Rouse, dec'd. are hereby notified that they must present them to me at once proven as by law required, those owing same will please come forward and settle at once.

Mrs. EMMA ROUSE, Adm'rx.
Lassing & Riddell, Attys.

W. E. CHAMBERLAIN,
DEALER IN UP TO DATE
FURNITURE,
HOUSEHOLD FURNISHINGS, ETC.,
HIGH STREET,
Lawrenceburg, - Indiana.
—HAUCK BUILDING.—

☞Stylish and Durable Oak BED ROOM SUITS,

☞All-Oak SIDE BOARDS, As Handsome as the Finest.

☞INGRAIN CARPETS,

☞BRUSSELS CARPETS.

W. E. CHAMBERLAIN,
LAWRENCEBURG, INDIANA.

Knippenberg & Fike,
Carriage and Wagon Makers,
Repairing, Painting & Trimming.
ALL WORK GUARANTEED.
Foot of Walnut Street,
Lawrenceburg, - - - Indiana.

Buy COFFEE and TEA of the J. L. BILL COFFEE & TEA CO., a Ticket ☞given with every 25c purchase and handsome presents given away.☜

The J. L. BILL
Coffee and Tea Co.
THE BEST BRANDS OF FLOUR.
12 W. Seventh & S. E. Cor. Sixth & Bakewell,
COVINGTON, KY.
WM. F. NEAD, Salesman.

FARMERS

Make the most of your crops, buy the best Wind-mill outfit made—The AERMOTOR—abundance of power wasting right over your heads, grasp the opportunity—Grind and Cut your own Feed and that of your neighbors—feed economically.

THE AERMOTOR

will bear close inspection and is guaranteed to work right. They are Cheap. Come and see it work and be convinced.

Also remember we are still in the ring with a complete line

OF GENERAL MERCHANDISE

and can sell Goods just as cheap as anyone. Highest market Prices paid for COUNTRY PRODUCE or anything salable. Come and see

OUR : STOCK,

It Speaks for Itself.

Don't forget that "LaBELLE" HERD
Of Chester White Hogs

Is ready to supply Choice Stock at Reasonable Prices.
T. J. HUGHES, - BEAVER LICK, KY.

TAKE YOUR OWN COUNTY PAPER.
Only $1.50 per Year.

TALMAGE'S SERMON.

"As a Shock of Corn Cometh In in His Season."

Stripped of Their Earthly Imperfections and Singing Songs of Praise to Almighty God in the Eternal City—'Tis Husking Time of Neighborly Reunion.

Dr. Talmage's text Sunday was: Job 5, 26: "As a Shock of Corn Cometh in in His Season."

Going at the rate of 40 miles an hour a few days ago, I caught this sermon. If you have recently been in the fields of Pennsylvania, or New Jersey, or New York, or New England, or any of the country districts, you know that the corn is nearly all cut. The sharp knife struck through the stalks and left them all along the fields until a man came with a bundle of straw and twisted a few of these wisps of straw into a band, and then gathering up as much of the corn as he could compass with his arms, he bound it with this wisp of straw, and then stood it in the field in what is called a shock.

It is estimated that there are now several billion bushels of corn standing in the shocks waiting for husking. Some time during the latter part of next month the farmers will gather, one day on one farm, another day on another farm, and they will put on their rough husking apron, and they will take the husking peg, which is a piece of iron with a loop fastened to the hand and with it unsheath the corn from the husk and toss it into the golden heap. Then the wagons will come along and take it to the corn crib.

How vividly to all those of us who were born in the country comes the remembrance of husking time. We waited for it as for a gala day of the year. It was called a frolic. The trees having for the most part shed their foliage, the farmers waded through the fallen leaves and came through the keen morning air to the gleeful company. The frosts which had silvered everything during the night began to melt off the top of the corn shocks. While the farmers were waiting for others, they stood blowing their breath through their fingers, or threshing their arms around their bodies to keep up warmth of circulation.

Roaring mirth greeted the late farmer as he crawled over the fence. Joke and repartee and rustic salutation abounded. All ready, now! The men take hold of the shock of corn and hurl it prostrate, while the moles and mice which have secreted themselves there for warmth attempt escape. The wisp of straw is unwound from the corn shock, and the stalks, heavy with the wealth of grain, are rolled into two bundles, between which the husker sits down. The husking peg is thrust in until it strikes the corn, and then the fingers rip off the sheathing of the ear, and there is a crack as the root of the corn is snapped off from the husk, and the grain, disimprisoned, is hurled up into the sunlight.

The air is so tonic, the work is so very exhilarating, the company is so blithe, that some shout, and some sing, and some banter, and some tease a neighbor for a romantic ride along the edge of a wood in a reventicle, in a carriage that holds but two, and some propose as to the number of bushels to the field, and others go into competition as to which shall rifle the most corn shocks before sundown.

After a while the dinner horn sounds from the farm house, and the table is surrounded by a group of jolly and hungry men. From all the pantries and the cellars and the perches of fowl on the place the richest dainties come, and there is carnival and neighborhood reunion, and a scene which fills our memory, part with smiles, but more with tears; as we remember that the farm belongs now to other owners, and other hands gather in the fields, and many of those who mingled in that merry husking scene have themselves been reaped "like as a shock of corn cometh in in his season."

There is a difference of opinion as to whether the Orientals knew anything about the corn as it stands in our fields; but recent discoveries have found out that the Hebrew knew all about Indian maize, for there have been grains of the corn picked up out of ancient crypts and exhumed from hiding places where they were put down many centuries ago, and they have been planted in our time and have come up just such Indian maize as we raise in New York and Ohio: so I am right when I say that my text may refer to a shock of corn just as you and I bound it, just as you and I threw it, just as you and I husked it. There may come some practical and useful and comforting lessons to all our souls, while we think of coming in at last "like a shock of corn coming in in his season."

It is high time that the King of Terrors were thrown out of the Christian vocabulary. A vast multitude of people talk of death as though it were the disaster of disasters instead of being to the good man the blessing of blessings. It is moving out of a cold vestibule into a warm temple. It is migrating into groves of redolence and perpetual fruitage. It is a change from bleak March to roseate June. It is a change of manacles for garlands. It is the transmuting of the iron handcuffs of earthly incarceration into the diamond wristlets of a bridal party; or, to use the suggestion of my text, it is only husking time. It is the tearing off of the rough sheath of the body that the bright and the beautiful soul may go free. Coming in "like a shock of corn cometh in in his season." Christ broke up a funeral procession at the gate of Nain by making a resurrection day for a young man and his mother. And I would that I could break up your sadness and halt the long funeral processions of the world's grief by some cheering and cheerful view of the last transition.

We all know that husking time was a time of frost. Frost on the fence. Frost on the stubble. Frost on the ground. Frost on the bare branches of the trees. Frost in the air. Frost on the hands of the huskers. You remember we used to hide behind the corn stacks so as to keep off the wind, but still you remember how shivering was the body and how painful was the cheek and how benumbed were the hands. But after awhile the sun was high up and all the frosts went out of the air, and the hilarities awakened the echoes and joy from one corn stack went up, "Aha, aha!" and was answered by joy from another corn shock, "Aha, aha!"

So we will realize that the death of our friends is the nipping of many expectations, the freezing, the chilling, the frosting of many of our hopes. It is far from being a south wind. It comes from the frigid north, and when they go away from us we stand benumbed in body and benumbed in mind and benumbed in soul. We stand among our dead neighbors, our dead families, and we say: "Will we ever get over it?" Yes, we will get over it amid the shoutings of Heavenly reunion, and we will look back to all these distresses of bereavement only as the temporary distresses of husking time. "Weeping may endure for a night, but joy cometh in the morning." "Light, and but for a moment," said the apostle as he clapped his hand, "light, and but for a moment." The chill of the frosts followed by the gladness that cometh in "like as a shock of corn cometh in in his season."

Of course, the husking time made rough work with the ear of corn. The husking peg had to be thrust in and the hard thumb of the husker had to come down on the swathing of the ear, and then there was a pull and a ruthless tearing, and then a complete snapping off as in the corn was free, and if the husk could have spoken it would have said: "Why do you lacerate me? Why do you wrench me?" Ah! my friends, this is the way God has arranged that the ear and the husk shall part, and that is the way He has arranged that the body and soul shall separate. You can afford to have your physical distresses when you know that they are only forwarding the soul's liberation. Every rheumatic pain is only a plunge of the husking peg. Every neuralgic twinge is only a twist by the huskie. There is gold in you which must come out. Some way the shackle must be broken. Some way the ship must be launched for heavenly voyage. You must let the heavenly Husbandman husk off the mortality from the immortality.

There ought to be great consolation in this for all who have chronic ailments, since the Lord is gradually and more mildly taking away from you that which hinders your soul's liberation, doing gradually for you what for many of us in robust health, perhaps, He will do in one fell blow at the last. At the close of every illness, at the close of every paroxysm, you ought to say: "Thank God, that is all past now; thank God, I will never have to suffer that again; thank God, I am so much nearer the hour of liberation." You will never suffer the same pain twice. You may have a new pain in an old place, but never the same pain twice.

The pain does its work and then dies. Just so many plunges of the crowbar to free the quarry stone for the building. Just so many strokes of the chisel to complete the statue. Just so many pangs to separate the soul from the body. You who have chronic ailments and disorders are only paying in installments that which some of us will have to pay in one payment when we pay the debt of nature. Thank God, therefore, ye who have chronic disorders, that you have so much less suffering at the last. Thank God, that you will have so much less to feel in the way of pain at the hands of the Heavenly Husbandman when the "shock of corn cometh in in his season."

Perhaps, now, this may be an answer to a question which I asked one Sabbath morning, but did not answer: Why is it many really good people have so dreadfully to suffer? You often find a good man who is perfectly useless going around with easy digestion and steady nerves and shining health, and his exit from the world is comparatively painless. How do you explain that? Well, I noticed in the husking time that the husking peg was thrust into the corn and then there must be a stout pull before the swathing was taken off the ear and the full, round, healthy, luxuriant corn was developed; while, on the other hand, there was corn that hardly seemed worth husking. We threw that into a place all by itself and we called it "nubbins."

Some of it was mildewed, and some of it was mice nibbled, and some of it was great promise and no fulfillment. All cobs and no corn. Nubbins! After the good corn had been thrown up to the barn we came up with the corn basket and we picked up these nubbins. They were worth saving, but not worth much. So, all aronnd us, there are people who amount to nothing. They develope into no kind of usefulness. They are nibbled on one side by the world, and nibbled on the other side by the devil, and mildewed all over. Great promise and no fulfillment. All cobs and no corn. Nubbins.

They are worth saving. I suppose many of them will get to Heaven, but they will get there only by a mending in the same day with those who went through great tribulation into the kingdom of our God. Who would not rather have the pains of this life, the misfortunes of this life—who would not rather be torn, and wounded, and lacerated, and wrenched, and husked, and at last go in among the very best grain of the granary, than to be pronounced not worth husking at all? Nubbins! In other words, I want to say to you people who have distress of body and distress in business, and distress of all sorts, the Lord has not any grudge against you. It is not derogatory, it is complimentary. "Whom the Lord loveth He chasteneth," and it is proof positive that there is something valuable in you, or the Lord would not have husked you.

You remember also that in the time of husking it was a neighboring reunion By the great fireplace in the winter, the fires roaring around the glorified back logs on the old-fashioned hearths, of which the modern stoves and registers are only the degenerate decendants, the farmers used to gather and spend the evening, and there would be much sociality; but it was not anything like the joy of the husking time, for then all the farmers came, and they came in the very best humor, and they came from beyond the meadow, and they came from beyond the brook, and they came from regions two or three miles around. Good spirits reigned supreme, and there were great handshakings, and there was carnival, and there was the recital of the brightest experiences in all their lives, and there was a neighborhood reunion, the memory of which makes all the nerves of the body tremble with emotion as the strings of a harp when the fingers of a player have swept the chords.

The husking time was the time of neighborhood reunion, and so Heaven will be just that. There they come! They slept in the old village churchyard. There they come! They reclined amid the fountains and the sculpture and the parterres of a city cemetery. There they come up! They went down when the ship foundered off Cape Hatteras. They come up from all sides—from potter's field and out of solid masonry of Westminster Abbey. They come up! They come up! All hindrances to their better nature husked off. All their physical ailments husked off. All their spiritual despondencies husked off. All their hindrances to usefulness husked off. The grain, the golden grain, the God-fashioned grain, visible and conspicuous.

Some of them on earth were such disagreeable Christians you could hardly stand it in their presence. Now in Heaven they are so radiant you hardly know them. The fact is, all their imperfections have been husked off. They did not mean on earth to be disagreeable. They meant well enough, but they told you how sick you looked, and they told you how many hard things they had heard about you, and they told you how often they had to stand up for you in some fight until you wished almost that they had been slain in some of the battles. Good, pious, consecrated, well-meaning disagreeables.

Now, in Heaven all their offensiveness has been husked off. Each one is as happy as he can be. Every one he meets is as happy as he can be. Heaven one great neighborhood reunion. All kings and queens, all songsters, all millionaires, all banqueters. God, the Father, with the children all around Him. No "good-by" in all the place. No grave out on the hills. River of crystal rolling over bed of pearl, under arch of chrysoprasus, into the sea of glass mingled with fire. Stand at the gate of the granary and see the grain come in, out of the frosts into the sunshine, out of the darkness into the light, out of the tearing and the ripping and the twisting, and the wrenching, and the lacerating, and the husking time of earth into the wide open door of the King's granary, "like as a shock of corn cometh in in his season."

Yes, Heaven a great sociable, with joy like the joy of the husking time. No one there feeling so big he declines to speak to some one who is not so large. Archangel willing to listen to smallest cherub. No bolting of the door of caste at one heavenly mansion to keep out the citizen of a smaller mansion. No clique in one corner whispering about a clique in another corner. David taking none of the airs of a giant killer. Joshua making no one halt until he passes, because he made the sun and moon halt. Paul making no assumptions over the most ordinary preacher of righteousness. Naaman, captain of the Syrian host, no more honored than the captive maid who told him where he could get a good doctor: Oh, my soul, what a country! The humblest man a king. The poorest woman a queen. The meanest house a palace. The shortest lifetime eternity. And what is more strange about it all is, we may all get there. "Not I," says some one who has not been in church in 15 years before. Yes, you. "Not I," says some one who has been for 50 years filling up his life with all kinds of wickedness. Yes, you.

There are monopolies on earth, monopolistic railroads, and monopolistic telegraph companies, and monopolistic grain dealers, but no monopoly in religion. All who want to be saved may be saved, "without money and without price." Salvation by the Lord Jesus Christ for all the people. Of course, the common sense in this matter. You can not expect to get to Charleston by taking ship for Portland, and you can not expect to get to Heaven by going in an opposite direction. Believe in the Lord Jesus Christ and thou shalt be saved. Through that one gate of pardon and peace all the race may go in.

"But," says some one, "do you really think I would be at home in that supernal society if I should reach it?" I think you would. I know you would. I remember that in the husking time there was a great equality of feeling among the neighbors. There at one corn shock a farmer would be at work who owned 200 acres of ground. The man whom he was talking with at the next corn shock owned but 30 acres, and perhaps all covered by a mortgage. That evening, at the close of the husking day, one man drove home a roan span so frisky, so full of life, they got their fast over the traces. The other man walked home. Great difference in education, great difference in worldly means; but I noticed at the husking time they all seemed to enjoy each others' society. They did not ask any man how much property he owned or what his education had been. They all seemed to be happy together in those good times.

PROF. JOSEPH LECONTE, of the University of California, is inclined to regard with doubt the new Lucis microscope, which, the inventor claims, will magnify objects many million times their actual size.

THE NEXT WORLD'S FAIR.

Preparations in Paris for the Great Event.

Although the Paris exhibition, which will mark the close of the nineteenth century, is still three years in the future, the French capital has its preparations for the great event well under way. The remarkable extent and beauty of the world's fair at Chicago have stimulated the civic pride of Paris, and no pains will be spared to make the exhibition of 1900 surpass even that of 1893.

In anticipation of the approaching event several grand public works, which will add greatly to the beauty of the city, have already been begun. A noble avenue is to be opened from the Champs Elysees to the Hotel des Invalides, crossing the Seine by the great bridge of Alexander III., the cornerstone of which was laid by the tsar during his visit to Paris last year.

At the upper end of this avenue two beautiful art palaces, which are to be permanent additions to the public museums of the city, as well as features of the exhibition, are being built. And finally, the Seine in the neighborhood of the exhibition grounds is to be transformed into a sort of Venetian canal lined with palaces, terraces and Italian gardens, and furnished with broad embankments for use as promenades.

All of these undertakings are now fairly begun, and upon the most magnificent scale. The avenue Alexander III. will be nearly 200 feet in width, and its single arch crowned by monuments of heroic size will occupy three years in the building.

The exhibition itself is planned upon lines of equal grandeur, and there is every reason to expect that it will prove the most extensive and varied display of the products of civilization, useful and beautiful, which the world has ever seen.

Our own country has not yet officially accepted the invitation to take part, but will soon do so. It is to be hoped that the American nation will be represented by a display in all respects worthy of itself and of the occasion, and that Americans who visit the great fair will have no reason to blush at seeing the republic outdone in the friendly rivalry.—Youth's Companion.

THE LOT OF A GOLD SEEKER.

He Is Lured On by Visions of Untold Wealth.

Yet in spite of these privations and hardships there is no more fascinating pursuit than the occupation of the goldseeker; for the stimulating elixir of hope puts strength into his flagging limbs and courage into his sinking heart. It is this magnificent stimulus to fresh endeavor that causes the prospector to laugh at cold, hunger and fatigue, and, rolled up in his tattered blanket at night, to fall into a slumber from which the storm above does not waken him and the dreamy, delicious ness of which no pampered dweller of the city ever knows. The hazy summer days of the west, where the sunshine is so golden and the distant hills so blue, where the waters of the running streams leap clear and cold from the boor—it is [illegible] and the still night air is laden with the aromatic fragrance of the pine and sagebrush, make a month of prospecting better than a trip to Europe.

But let the man beware who would dally with this pleasure with the idea that it can be put aside at will. The chains that bind the opium eater to the slavery of the drug are as ropes of sand compared to the life of servitude that claims the gold seeker when once the hot fever of the chase for gold has taken possession of him. The successful man, no matter how successful, always sees some one else whose wealth annoys him and whose success he would surpass, and when fortune lays the gold of Ormus at his feet he begins to covet the wealth of Ind. The luckless goldseeker never gives up the battle until his life pays the penalty.—Sam Davis, in Chautauquan.

Of the Returned Klondiker.

"Yes, George," she said, as she fondly gazed upon the bearded face of the wanderer, "we have been very poor since you went away."

"We'll change all that now, little woman," said the smiling miner. "But here, I'm as hungry as a wolf. Where is the dinner?"

"Alas, George," she answered, "I have no money to buy the necessary ingredients."

"No money?" he echoed. "Here, where are your scissors?"

With steady fingers he rapidly snipped off his luxuriant beard.

"My darling," he said, as he handed her the whiskers, "run with these to the nearest bank. Properly washed they ought to clear up a cool $500 in the yellow dust. And—wait, my darling—this afternoon I will take a bath, and if the debris doesn't yield a couple o' thousand I'm a howling kyote."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

No Chance for Tunnels.

A Scotchman who had been employed nearly all his life in the building of railways in the Highlands of Scotland went to the United States in his later years and settled in a new section on the plains of the far west, says an exchange. Soon after his arrival a project came up in his new home for the construction of a railway through the district, and the Scotchman was applied to as a man of experience in such matters.

"Hoot, mon!" said he, to the spokesman of the scheme; "ye canna build a railway across this country."

"Why not, Mr. Ferguson?"

"Why not?" he repeated, with an air of effectually settling the whole matter. "Why not? And dinna ye see the country's as flat as a floor, and ye hae naw place whatever to run your tunnels through?"—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

—In the famous garden of olives, at Jerusalem, there are eight flourishing olive trees that are known to be over 1,000 years old.

HANTING REPUBLICANS

Trying to Drown Out Some Notorious Facts.

Once more the administration papers are crowing lustily about the state of the treasury. They began to have this kind of hurrahs about the time their miraculous tariff bill passed the house and we may look for a fresh attack at least once a month.

When they go into one of these fits they begin by telling what a terrible time the last administration had with the gold reserve. It was continually worrying, they say, and having the utmost difficulty in keeping the coin stock up to the mark. The president and secretary of the treasury "were at their wits' end." They resorted to "every expedient" for the purpose of getting and keeping gold, and to little purpose.

But now behold! "Less than seven months after the inauguration of McKinley exactly the reverse is true and Secretary Gage is obliged almost daily to refuse offers of gold. The treasury has more gold than it knows what to do with and instead of paying freight has issued hints to assistant treasurers all over the country to discourage gold payments as far as possible. It is more than likely that the treasury will soon be actually on a gold basis and forced to pay out the yellow boys for expenses."

How distressing that would be! And how sad to think that all this embarrassment and danger is due to the unspeakable wisdom and transcendent genius of a republican administration!

Why, then, do the roosters exult? Why can they not restrain their exuberance in face of this impending calamity long enough to explain some things? Down to the time of the passage of the Dingley bill by the house all the republican sages were declaring with one voice that there was nothing the matter with the treasury but insufficient revenue. That was the only reason why gold ran away, and it would never come back until more revenue was provided.

Now, it is notorious that the shortage of revenue has been greater than ever since the passage of the Dingley bill, yet the sages and their boomblowers are boasting that the treasury is getting more gold than it wants. Wouldn't it be well for them to stop crowing long enough to mend their reputation by showing that the fact does not utterly demolish their theory?

They persist in ignoring other notorious facts and that is why the public memory should be jogged again.

They ignore the fact that the quantity of gold in the treasury is small compared with what it was during Cleveland's first administration—down to its close. The total amount of gold now in the treasury is $184,500,000, round figures, of which $147,500,000 belongs to the government and $37,000,000 is held against certificates in the hands of the public. At the end of Cleveland's first term the total gold in the treasury was $326,500,000, of which $196,300,000 belonged to the government, while $130,200,000 was held against certificates.

Thus it appears that the government owned nearly $49,000,000 more gold and held in its vaults $142,000,000 more at the end of the first Cleveland administration than it does now. And for a year and a half before the close of Cleveland's term the holdings were about the same as at the end. Yet nobody was worrying for fear the government would "be forced to pay out the yellow boys for expenses." Nor did anybody borrow trouble because from 70 to 92 per cent. of the cash received at the New York custom house was in gold coin and gold certificates.

Nor should the public forget the fact which republican roosters try to crow out of mind that it was not until the beginning of the Harrison administration that the treasury began to lose gold and that during that administration the treasury lost very near $95,000,000 in gold owned.

Finally, the public should not permit the vociferous crowing to drive out of mind the fact that it was during the Harrison administration that the revenues of the government fell below the expenditures for the first time in 25 years or that it was during the last year of the republican McKinley tariff that the revenues fell over $72,000,000 short of the expenditures—by far the greatest deficit in time of peace in the history of the country. It now remains for the republicans to beat their own record of unparalleled badness before they get through with their thaumaturgical Dingley law. They have made a most promising beginning for that achievement of prodigality.—Chicago Chronicle.

OPINIONS AND POINTERS.

——The thicker the tariff wall is built the easier it is to see through it.—Puck.

——Whenever a republican discovers that his party has abandoned all the principles of Lincoln, Greeley, Sumner and Trumbull and is therefore compelled to leave it, have you noticed what an idiot and rascal he becomes in the estimation of the newspapers belonging to the Hanna bureau?—Columbus (O.) Press.

——As well look for oranges to grow in Siberia or snowstorms to prevail at the equator as to expect the republican administration to bring about general prosperity. Its daily business is the systematic and legalized pillage of the people. Its regular occupation is robbing Peter, the producer, to pay Paul, the plutocrat.—Kansas City Times.

——The big tariff-pampered corporations are responsible for the great bulk of the grossly ignorant and semi-barbarous immigration from southern Europe. The coal mining districts of the country are the nests of anarchism—the swarming centers of a population which has no conception of free government, has no appreciation of free institutions and are riotous enemies of native labor. Probably not one in a hundred can read the language of the country whose laws protect them and whose privileges they enjoy.—Minneapolis Times.

DINGLEY'S DEFICIT PRODUCER.

A Bond Issue Is Among the Imminent Probabilities.

Mr. Nelson Dingley very coolly informs the country through the New York World that his celebrated tariff act may reasonably be expected to produce a deficit in the government's revenue of something like $50,000,000 before it can be expected to make its benign influence felt. Between Mr. Reed's "state of mind" as a panacea for financial evils and Mr. Dingley's deficit-producing tariff act the country has some rare prospects before it.

Mr. Dingley says the deficit will be the natural result of the vast importations that took place before the bill went into effect, but we think it must be clear to all sensible persons who know the character and effect of the Wilson protection bill that the importations in anticipation of the enactment of the Dingley law paid their due proportion of revenue into the treasury—so that these importations, instead of contributing to the deficit, have actually tended to cut it down by adding to the resources of the treasury.

But what effect will the predicted deficit have on our finances? The republicans during the campaign of last year declared over and over again that the bond issues were occasioned by the treasury deficit, and they raked Mr. Cleveland fore and aft—especially aft, in the nature of things—for permitting such a dangerous thing as a deficit to make its appearance, thus compelling the government to issue bonds in time of peace. And not only Mr. Cleveland, but the democratic party, was called harshly to task for enacting a tariff law that would create such a terrible thing as a deficit.

In the face of all this, Mr. Dingley comes out boldly and says the deficit under his celebrated monopoly-feeding and trust-breeding act will amount to $50,000,000 the first year. If the republican theory of bond issues is true Mr. McKinley will have to engage in that business before he is many months older. If the failure of the treasury income to keep even with the outgo makes it necessary to issue bonds in time of peace, Mr. McKinley (in the interim of appointing negro postmasters in the south) would do well to have his bond plates prepared. The so-called deficit under Cleveland had not reached $25,000,000 before he was compelled to issue $110,000,000 of bonds. This being so, nothing short of an issue of $200,000,000 will satisfy the deficiency promised by Mr. Dingley as the result of his wonderful law.

As all sensible men know, however, there was no such thing under the Cleveland administration as an issue of bonds to cover a deficit. The violation of law by which Mr. Cleveland made greenbacks and treasury notes payable in gold instead of coin drove some $300,000,000 of our gold abroad, and Mr. Cleveland, acting as the partner of the gold grabbers, issued bonds to buy the gold back. That was all there was to the bond issues.

It is a very fortunate thing for the republican framers of the Dingley law that the cheapening of the gold dollar with respect to a number of commodities has helped business and revived hope in the minds of the people, otherwise the so-called deficit would have assumed alarming proportions—for the treasury receipts are in direct ratio with the prosperity of the people.—Atlanta Constitution.

LAW IS DEMOCRACY.

It Stands for Equal Justice and Good Order.

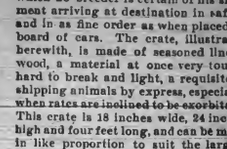
Mr. Bryan performed both a patriotic and a political duty in calling attention in a recent speech to the democratic position on the great questions which are now fretting labor and causing needless alarm in some unusually calm minds.

After pointing out that the party took strong ground in its last national platform against the too free and hasty use of the restraining power by the courts, Mr. Bryan said: "Those who have suggested the burning of property and the destruction of life as a means of settling labor disputes do not understand the genius of our institutions. The American people are law-abiding. When the laws are bad they change the laws."

In this observation the Nebraskan gave expression to the conservative force which is a guarantee of the perpetuity of American institutions. That unfortunate class of persons who see danger to these institutions in the acts of judges who may interpret the laws unjustly or in the errors of other officers who may misuse their power, display, as Mr. Bryan says, a lack of understanding of the spirit and active force of our governmental machinery.

The ballot is in the hand of every American citizen above the age of 21 years. He can use it to correct every abuse of power and every injustice imposed by the strong upon the weak.

If it be "government by injunction" to which he objects he can say so at the polls. If enough people agree that his objection is well founded, the cause of complaint will be soon removed. The party doctrine on this question was intended to emphasize the fact that this is a government of the people and that they have not only the right but also the power to apply the remedy to any wrong use made of their machine by those intrusted with its management. The declaration is only in line with the contentions and teachings of democracy from the days of Jefferson. There is no anarchy in democracy. There is nothing in its traditions or in its creed which counsels violence for the correction of public or private wrong. There is nothing but equal justice and good order in democracy, and those who interpret its character in any other way do not understand the genius of the party of Jefferson and Jackson.—St. Louis Republic.



——Mr. McKinley is in favor of the free coinage of silver if England is. That is the republican financial programme up and down.—Atlanta Constitution.

AGRICULTURAL HINTS

FOR SHIPPING HOGS.

A Crate That Will Keep the Porkers in Good Condition.

The first thing necessary in shipping hogs or pigs is a good crate, without which no breeder is certain of his shipment arriving at destination in safety and in as fine order as when placed on board of cars. The crate, illustrated herewith, is made of seasoned linden wood, a material at once very tough, hard to break and light, a requisite in shipping animals by express, especially when rates are inclined to be exorbitant. This crate is 18 inches wide, 24 inches high and four feet long, and can be made in like proportion to suit the largest hog. The material used is sawed expressly for this purpose direct from the logs. Before working into crates it is sorted and picked up, as other lumber, in a sheltered place to season;

CRATE FOR SHIPPING HOGS.

then when made into crates each one is treated to a coating or two of paint. All saw fuzz is removed by a sharp jack plane. The crate is put together with wire nails.

For the sides and tops use one-half by four inches and four feet, 11 pieces, and equally divide the space. The bottom is in one piece one inch thick, 18 inches wide and four feet long less one inch. Front end contains one piece one-half by ten by 18 inches, and two half by four by 18 inches, each. The rear or door end has two pieces one-half by 2½ by 18 inches for inside cross strips top and bottom, and two outside top and bottom strips one-half by four by 18 inches, with two upright strips one-half by 2½ by 23 inches for each side of the movable door, and to which are fastened the side strips. The door is one-half by eight by 23 inches, and is held firmly to place by a wire nail driven partially in at top end. The corner posts in front end are one by two by 23 inches, and on the inside of them is fastened a board one half by eight by 18 inches, which forms with the outside board a feed space of two inches in width in front end of crate. The board on the inside comes within an inch of the bottom, where a trough is made by tacking in a piece of board one-half by four by 18 inches, at a slant of about the same degree as shown by one side of the letter V. When ready to ship, place crate in the wagon and back up to the driveway door in the hog house, which is on a level with the wagon bed, and you can load or crate the hogs with ease; then put feed in the box at end of crate, and it will drop down as it is eaten from the trough, thus affording plenty of food for the hog until the end of the journey. Water can be given in the trough, at intervals, by those having the animal in charge. A crate, bedded with straw, the hog should reach its destination O K.—Farm and Home.

SELECTING SEED CORN.

It Should Be Done as Soon as the Grain Is Hardened.

In many localities the hot, dry weather we had in July and the early part of August affected the quantity and yield of the corn to such an extent that it will be an item next spring to secure good seed corn. The safest and best plan is to lay in the needed supply this fall and store it away where it will keep in good condition.

The best time to select the seed corn is in the fall as soon as the grain is well hardened. In addition to making sure of a good supply, selecting in the field in the fall affords a better opportunity for making the best selection, as the stalk as well as the ear can be considered, which, of course, cannot be done after the corn is cribbed.

When the conditions of growth will admit the best seed corn is that which is selected from what is grown on the farm, provided, of course, that proper care is taken in the selection.

When the first selection is made it is always best to select rather a larger quantity than will be needed. This gives an opportunity of making a second selection. One item in selecting the ears is to choose those that are well filled both at the tip and at the butt. The grain should be sound and deep. While it is difficult to secure a very large ear without a fairly good-sized cob, yet getting ears with deep grains will make a considerable difference in the size of the cob. So far as can be done the ears should be uniform in color, shape, of grain and time of maturity.

After a sufficient quantity is secured it should be thoroughly dried, and then stored where it will keep dry and be safe from vermin. One of the most serious objections to taking seed corn from a crib in the spring is the risk that its vitality may have been injured by its being damp when thrown into the crib or while standing in the field and then being frozen. Exposure to cold does not injure the vitality when the grain is thoroughly dry, but if damp it is often seriously injured by frost.

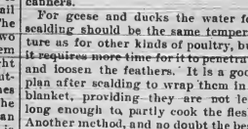
Good seed is so essential to a good growth and yield that it will be good economy to use all reasonable care to secure a full supply.—St. Louis Republic.

Surface Water in Wells.

Wells are often dug in depressions, the idea being that in such places springs of water are most apt to be found. But if so dug the well should be stoned and cemented for 12 or more feet from the surface, so that shallow springs cannot find entrance. The deeper springs will generally be free from surface impurities. Then if the well is filled around about so as to turn surface water from it there will be little danger that it will be contaminated in any way.—American Cultivator.

POULTRY FOR MARKET.

How to Dress Chickens, Turkeys, Geese and Ducks.



Keep from food 24 hours. Kill by bleeding in the mouth or opening the veins in the neck; hang by the feet until properly bled; head and feet should be left on and the intestines and crop should not be drawn. For scalding poultry, the water should be as near the boiling point as possible without actually boiling; pick the legs dry before scalding; hold by the head and legs and immerse and lift up and down three times; if the head is immersed it turns the color of the comb and gives the eyes a shrunken appearance, which leads the buyers to think the fowl has been sick. The feathers and pin feathers should be removed immediately, very cleanly and without breaking the skin, then "plump" by dipping ten seconds in water nearly or quite boiling hot, and then immediately into cold water, hang in a cool place until the animal heat is entirely out, it should be entirely cold, but not frozen before being packed. Dry picked chickens and turkeys sell best, and we advise this way of dressing, as they sell better to shippers, scalded chickens and turkeys generally are sold to the local trade. To dry pick chickens and turkeys properly the work should be done while the bird is bleeding; do not wait and let the bodies get cold, dry picking is more easily done while the bodies are warm. Be careful and do not break and tear the skin. Pack in boxes or barrels, boxes holding 100 to 200 pounds are preferable, and pack snugly; straighten out the body and legs so that they will not arrive very much bent and twisted out of shape; fill the package as full as possible to prevent shuffling about on the way. Mark kind and weight and shipping directions neatly and plainly on the cover. Barrels answer better for chickens and ducks than for turkeys or geese. When convenient avoid putting more than one kind in a package. Endeavor to market all old and heavy cocks before January 1, as after the holidays the demand is for small, round, fat hen turkeys only, old toms being sold at a discount to canners.

For geese and ducks the water for scalding should be the same temperature as for other kinds of poultry, but it requires more time for it to penetrate and loosen the feathers. It is a good plan after scalding to wrap them in a blanket, providing they are not left long enough to partly cook the flesh. Another method, and no doubt the best for loosening the feathers, is to steam them, and whenever proper facilities are at hand, we advise this process. It is poor policy to undertake to save the feathers dry by picking them alive just before the killing, as it causes the skin to become very much inflamed, and greatly injures the sale. Do not pick the feathers off the head and it is well to leave them on the neck, close to the head, for a space of two or three inches. The feet should not be skinned, nor the bodies singed for the purpose of removing any down or hair, as the heat from the flame will cause them to look oily and bad. The process of plumping and cooling is the same as with turkeys and chickens. There is no kind of poultry harder to sell at satisfactory prices than poor, slovenly dressed geese and ducks, and those who send in such must not be disappointed at low prices. No poultry of any kind sent to city market should be drawn.—Rural World.

GARDEN WHEELBARROW.

How to Make a Wheel That Bears Its Share of Burden.

In market gardening, there is much work that can be done with a wheelbarrow. While resting my aching arms one day, I concluded that the wheel of the ordinary barrow was not bearing its share of the burden, so I made one in which the axle was placed up nearer the body of the barrow, the wheel extending inside. A cap was fitted over this, inside the body, and I found that the wheeling was then much easier. The new barrow weighed 40 pounds. With 239 pounds of sand, there is a weight of 56 pounds on the handles, while with the ordinary barrow the weight is 99 pounds. The handles are five feet long, 1¼ by 1¾ inches at front and smaller toward the back. The wheel is 22 inches diameter with a two-inch tire. The barrow frame is 19 inches at front, two feet at back; the body is three feet by 13 inches, while the legs are two feet ten inches from the front. —R. Bingham, in Orange Judd Farmer.

BARROW FOR THE GARDEN.

FACTS FOR FARMERS.

Wash the harness with soap and water before oiling.

Do you waste your corn fodder? It must have money to burn.

Corn fodder may be shredded, but not perfectly, by running it through an old threshing machine.

A threshing machine boiler that is too small to do the work, is always dangerous from over-pressure.

A farmer says that he kills Canada thistles in the pasture by piling manure on them thick enough to smother them.

Put buggy beans or peas in a tight box and put a little cup of bisulphide of carbon on top, being careful that no fire is near.

Wheat, independent of interest on land, ought to be grown at six dollars an acre at most. Eight, or even ten bushels, per acre, will not pay.

Be careful to sow only the cleanest timothy seed. Weeds in timothy make bad work, worse than clover, though they are bad enough there.—Western Plowman.

MICE IN BIG DEMAND.

A New Toy That Has Caused Their Price to Rise to Ten Cents Apiece.

Not a little attention has been attracted recently by the advertisement of a Westfield (Mass.) firm offering five cents each for live mice in any quantity. So badly are the mice wanted by the concern that the offer was soon afterward raised to ten cents for each and every live mouse delivered.

Some weeks ago a shoe dealer arranged in his window an exhibition of live mice and a teeter board. A mouse running up the little board would incline it in the opposite direction, and as the lively little creatures scampered back and forth over the board it would be almost continuously teetering.

The show attracted much attention, and other inventive minds saw its possibilities as an advertising scheme and improved on it by replacing the teeter board by a inclined disk, which rotated rapidly when the mice ran over its surface. From the disk was evolved a hat or umbrella teetotum. This is the most advanced stage.

A toy company quickly saw its possibilities and arranged to put the thing on the market. An agent with the sample case of the attractions was sent to the large cities of the central and middle states, and he had but to show it to make a sale on the spot.

The company now has orders far beyond its powers to fill, the chief cause of delay being the scarcity of mice. That is why the price of the rodents is quoted at ten cents in Westfield, with the market bullish.

AFFECTS GERMAN TRADE.

Result of the Recent Tariff Legislation in This Country.

The effect of the recent tariff legislation upon German trade is set out in a report to the state department from the United States consul at Barmen. He says that while there was a decrease in the exports from that consular district to the United States during the first three-quarters of the last fiscal year, there was a marked increase in the last quarter. Shipments were so large that steamship tariffs were raised. The obvious intention was to supply the demands of the United States market before the Dingley tariff took effect. The manufacturers of cutlery were working day and night, but by the end of August all were idle, thousands of workmen had lost their employment, and it will be quite awhile before the trade recuperates. Business in silk is likewise depressed owing to the advanced tariff, but in other industries a prosperous trade with the United States is expected.

DUE TO IMPROVED MACHINERY.

Eastern Cotton Mills Cannot Compete with Those in the South.

A gentleman in Yorkville, S. C., interested in cotton goods manufacture, said a few days ago, reports the Charleston (S. C.) News and Courier, that the inability of the New England cotton mills to compete with the southern mills is not due so much to short days, high prices and freights, as it is to the fact that many of the southern mills are comparatively new and have the latest improved machines. He said that a friend who had recently examined a number of the New England mills had informed him that most of them were using antiquated machines and that only four or five were up to date, and one of these was engaged in the manufacture of machinery and used its product in its own mill.

Water Tanks for Churches.

Mr. J. C. Merryweather, a manufacturer of fire apparatus in London, suggests that church towers should be provided with tanks, kept full of water by means of a pump and hose or pipe; that a pipe be carried into the church, with hydrants and hose in convenient positions. Powerful jets could then be brought to bear immediately when an outbreak of fire was discovered. The cost would be small and valuable lives and property might be saved. Canterbury cathedral has been saved three times by its own fire apparatus.

Canadian Presbyterian Ministers.

In Canada the augmentation fund of the Presbyterian church now secures a minimum stipend of $775, with a manse, to all its ministers.

THE MARKETS.

	CINCINNATI, Oct. 11.
LIVE STOCK—Cattle, common	$ 2 25	@ $ 3 25
Select butchers	4 00	@ 4 40
CALVES—Fair to good light	5 75	@ 6 50
HOGS—Common	3 00	@ 3 70
Mixed packers	3 80	@ 3 90
Light shippers	3 75	@ 4 00
SHEEP—Choice	2 85	@ 3 40
LAMBS—Good to choice	4 65	@ 5 10
FLOUR—Winter family	3 60	@ 3 90
GRAIN—Wheat—No. 2 red		@ 93
No. 3 red		@ 90
Corn—No. 2 mixed		@ 30
Oats—No. 2		@ 21
Rye—No. 2		@ 47
HAY—Prime to choice		@ 9 50
PROVISIONS—Mess pork		@ 8 75
Lard—Prime steam		@ 4 15
BUTTER—Choice dairy	13	@ 14
Prime to choice creamery		@ 24
APPLES—Per bbl	2 50	@ 3 75
POTATOES—Per bbl	1 75	@ 2 00
NEW YORK.
FLOUR—Winter patent	3 10	@ 3 25
No. 2 red		@ 99 ⅝
CORN—No. 2 mixed		@ 34½
RYE		@ 41½
OATS—Mixed		@ 23¼
PORK—New Mess	9 70	@ 10 00
LARD—Western	4 00	@ 4 02½
CHICAGO.
FLOUR—Winter patents	3 00	@ 3 10
GRAIN—Wheat—No. 2 red		@ 94⅝
No. 2 Chicago spring		@ 89⅜
CORN—No. 2	27½	@ 27¼
OATS—No. 2		@ 19
PORK—Mess	7 70	@ 7 75
LARD—Steam	4 30	@ 4 32½
BALTIMORE.
FLOUR—Family	4 00	@ 4 85
GRAIN—Wheat—No. 2	95½	@ 97
Southern—Wheat	91	@ 97½
Corn—Mixed	33	@ 33½
Oats—No. 2 white		@ 23
Rye—No. 2 western	52	@ 52½
CATTLE—First quality	4 10	@ 4 35
HOGS—Western	4 90	@ 5 00
INDIANAPOLIS.
GRAIN—Wheat—No. 2		@ 92
Corn—No. 2 mixed		@ 27½
Oats—No. 2 mixed		@ 20
LOUISVILLE.
FLOUR—Winter patent	3 75	@ 4 00
GRAIN—Wheat—No. 2 red		@ 93
Corn—Mixed		@ 33
Oats—Mixed		@ 21½
PORK—Mess		@ 9 50
LARD—Steam		@ 4 03½

A Home-Grown Experience.

A man went into an icehouse to cool off. An abrupt and impetuous hired man closed and locked the door and went away. The next day was Sunday and the hired man did not come back. While the man who yearned to cool off waited for the return of the hired man his object was accomplished in a very thorough manner. He cooled off. The muffled door gave back but echoes to his blows, and his voice could find no place to escape and sound the alarm. When he grew tired of walking and swinging his arms to keep warm the chunks of ice that were piled around him did not offer a tempting bed. Hunger gnawed at his vitals and refused to be satiated with diet of raw air. Darkness settled down like a six months' Arctic night, and the only sound which broke the profound stillness was the man who wanted to cool off trying to swear. The hired man opened the door on Monday morning, and the man who wanted to cool off crawled out more dead than alive. When his tongue had thawed out he began to abuse the hired man. "Fool!" retorted the hired man. "Fool, you are a lucky dog and do not know it. Don't waste time in abusing me, your benefactor, but go and write a book of impressions on icehouses. There the man who wanted to cool off saw that his fortune was made.—Chicago Record.

Daily Trains to Colorado, Utah and California.

At 10 every night the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul Railway train leaves the Union Passenger Station (Canal and Adams streets, Chicago) with elegantly equipped Palace Sleeping Cars for Denver and other Colorado points, with through connections at Denver for Salt Lake City, Ogden, San Francisco, and points in Southern California. The route to Denver is via Omaha and Lincoln, Nebraska, and is first-class in every respect. All the modern facilities of travel are included in this direct route to Colorado—the Eldorado of the West. The allied lines composing the route, viz., the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul Railway—Chicago to Omaha—and the Rock Island & Pacific—Omaha to Denver and Colorado Springs—have united to make this the most popular route to all points west of the Missouri river. For further details, time tables, etc., address Geo. H. Heafford, General Passenger and Ticket Agent C., M. & St. P. Ry., 410 Old Colony Building, Chicago, Ill.

Caught in the Rain.

Bill—Were you ever caught in the rain?

Jill—Yes; that's where I was caught. I was accepted while lying in a girl home under my umbrella.—Whim Whams.

Try Grain-O! Try Grain-O!

Ask your grocer to-day to show you a package of GRAIN-O, the new food drink that takes the place of coffee. The children may drink it without injury as well as the adult. All who try it like it. GRAIN-O has that rich seal brown of Mocha or Java but it is made from pure grains, and the most delicate stomachs receive it without distress. ¼ the price of coffee. 15c and 25 cts. per package. Sold by all grocers.

The Old Man.

A son is surprised sometimes, when his father unbends a little, to find what a good fellow the old man really is.—Somerville Journal.

Left Destitute!

Not of worldly goods, but of all earthly comfort is the poor wretch tormented by malaria. To his scourge is, however, shorn of its thong in advance by Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, its only sure preventive and remedy. Dyspepsia, biliousness, constipation, rheumatism, nervousness and kidney complaints are also among the bodily afflictions which this beneficent medicine overcomes with certainty. Use it systematically.

Lady (engaging servant)—"I ought to tell you that we are all strict teetotallers here, I suppose you won't mind that?" Mary Jane—"Oh, no, mum! I've been in a reformed drunkard's family before!"—Punch.

Take the Air

To St. Louis and the West, 53 miles the shortest from Louisville, makes the quickest time, Pullman Sleepers, Parlor and Dining Cars. For complete information address J. P. Maffett, Traveling Passenger Agent, Knoxville, Tenn. R. A. Campbell, General Passenger Agent, St. Louis, Mo.

An Uneventful Life.—"Ever buy a gold brick at half price, uncle?" asked the fresh city boarder. "No," said the innocent old moralist, "I never had no chance of that kind yit."—Indianapolis Journal.

Star Plug Is Strictly High Grade.

No expense is saved—no false economy is practiced—in the manufacture of Star plug tobacco. It is strictly high-grade in every particular.

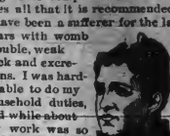
Tibbs—"She is not only a fine-looking girl, but they say she has $50,000 in her own right." Nibbs—"What would you do if you had a wife like that?" Squibbs—"Nothing." Judy.

From any cause a bruise is cured by St. Jacobs Oil. Use it promptly.

A woman who has a nice house worships it like a miser worships his gold.—Atchison Globe.

Can't cure? Try it. That means Rheumatism cured by St. Jacobs Oil.

When some people smile they seem to say: "When I smile they all love me."—Atchison Globe.



The worst? It is—sciatica's pain. But St. Jacobs Oil cures it.

Do brides put a piece of their wedding cake under their pillow to dream on?—Atchison Globe.

MRS. ELLA M'GARVY,

Writing to Mrs. Pinkham.

She says:—I have been using your Vegetable Compound and find that it does all that it is recommended to do. I have been a sufferer for the last four years with womb trouble, weak back and excretions. I was hardly able to do my household duties, and while about my work was so nervous that I was miserable. I had also given up in despair, when I was persuaded to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and to-day, I am feeling like a new woman.—Mrs. ELLA MCGARVY, Neebe Road Station, Cincinnati, O.

If you ever want to sell or exchange your Organ, remember it will be twice as valuable if the name on the front is

ESTEY

Write for Illustrated Catalogue with prices, to Estey Organ Company, Brattleboro, Vt.

WINCHESTER GUN FREE—CATALOGUE

SEND YOUR NAME ON A POSTAL CARD AND WE WILL SEND YOU OUR 136 PAGE ILLUSTRATED CATALOGUE FREE —

WINCHESTER REPEATING ARMS CO.

150 WINCHESTER AVE., NEW HAVEN, CONN.

SOUTHERN Homeseekers' Guide

Every homeseeker should address either J. F. MERRY, A. G. P. A., Manchester, Ia.; W. KELLOND, A. G. P. A., Louisville, Ky., or S. G. HATCH, D. P. A., Cincinnati, O., for a free copy of the ILLINOIS CENTRAL RAILROAD'S SOUTHERN HOMESEEKERS' GUIDE.

HARTSHORNS SELF-ACTING SHADE ROLLERS

NOTICE TAKE THE LABEL Stewart Hartshorn AND GET THE GENUINE HARTSHORN

John Wesley's Old Farm Remedy FOR TIRED FEELING, CONSTIPATION, GENERAL DEBILITY.

Absolutely cures and prevents malaria, stimulates and strengthens the brain. Samples sent FREE with Treatise of WHOLE IN THE WESLEY REMEDY COMPANY, Cincinnati, Ohio.

Weeks Scale Works, STOCK, COAL, HAY, GRAIN, AND COTTON SCALES. BUFFALO, N.Y.

DROPSY NEW DISCOVERY; gives quick relief and cures worst cases. Send for book of testimonials and 10 days' treatment Free. Dr. H. H. GREEN'S SONS, Atlanta, Ga.

A. N. K.—E 1678

WHEN WRITING TO ADVERTISERS please state that you saw the Advertisement in this paper.

$12 to $35 Can be made working for us. Parties preferred who can give their whole time to the business. Spare hours, though, may be profitably employed. Good openings for town and city work as well as country districts. J. E. GIFFORD, 11th and Main Streets, RICHMOND, Va.

GET THE GENUINE ARTICLE!

Walter Baker & Co.'s Breakfast COCOA

Trade-Mark.

Pure, Delicious, Nutritious.

Costs Less than ONE CENT a cup.

Be sure that the package bears our Trade-Mark.

Walter Baker & Co. Limited

(Established 1780.) Dorchester, Mass.

Your sink, basins, tubs, etc., never become clogged with grease, if the washing that's done in them is done with Pearline.

A small matter perhaps—but remember that Pearline (no soap) saves trouble and annoyance in a great many just such small matters. And the truth is that these little things alone ought to be enough to lead any quick-witted person to use Pearline (you will) (not soap)—even without taking into account the big things, the saving in work, and wear and tear, and time, and money.

Millions NOW USE Pearline

CANDY CATHARTIC Cascarets CURE CONSTIPATION

REGULATE THE LIVER

10¢ 25¢ 50¢ All DRUGGISTS

ABSOLUTELY GUARANTEED to cure any case of constipation. Cascarets are the ideal laxative, never gripe, and cause easy natural results. Sample and booklet free. Ad. STERLING REMEDY CO., Chicago, Montreal, Can., or New York.

YOU WILL REALIZE THAT "THEY LIVE WELL WHO LIVE CLEANLY," IF YOU USE

SAPOLIO

Mr. Gladstone has contributed an important article for the next year's volume of The Companion, to be published in the New Year's Number.

TO GIVE MORE than is promised has always been the practice of The Companion. The two hemispheres have been searched for attractive matter for the volume for 1898, and the contributors for the year include not only popular writers of fiction, but some of the most eminent Statesmen, Scientists, Educators, Explorers and Leaders of Industry.

FOR ALL THE FAMILY. The Youth's Companion 52 TIMES A YEAR.

The following partial list of contributors indicates the strength and attractiveness of next year's volume:

Distinguished Writers.

Right Hon. W. E. Gladstone
The Duke of Argyll
Hon. Henry Cabot Lodge
Hon. Justin McCarthy, M. P.
Hon. Thomas B. Reed
Hon. George F. Hoar
Lillian Nordica
Prof. N. S. Shaler

Story-Tellers.

Rudyard Kipling
Octave Thanet
I. Zangwill
Mary E. Wilkins
W. D. Howells
Frank R. Stockton
Mrs. Burton Harrison
Hayden Carruth

and more than one hundred others.

ART CALENDAR in Twelve Colors FREE TO NEW SUBSCRIBERS.

NEW SUBSCRIBERS who will cut out this slip and send it at once with $1.75 for a year's subscription to The Companion, will receive the paper free every week from the time subscription is received to January 1, 1898, and a full year to January 1, 1899.

This offer includes the THANKSGIVING, CHRISTMAS and NEW YEAR'S DOUBLE NUMBERS and THE COMPANION ART CALENDAR for 1898—in twelve colors, and embossed in gold. It will be found a superior production to any of the famous pieces of Companion color-work of previous years. It is a superb ornament for the home and a useful gift. Free to New Subscribers.

Illustrated Prospectus for the Volume for 1898 and Sample Copies of the Paper Free.

THE YOUTH'S COMPANION, 201 Columbus Ave., BOSTON, MASS.

BOONE COUNTY RECORDER.

VOL. XXIII. BURLINGTON, KENTUCKY, WEDNESDAY, OCTOBER 20, 1897. NO. 52.

He speaks [illegible]

A new [illegible] will champion [illegible] appear in Louisville.

D. A. Glenn, the Democratic nominee for Commonwealth's Attorney in Kenton county, has many friends in Boone who are glad that he won his race. Mr. Glenn has always had many friends in this county.

Col. Boone and his Black Diamond railroad are at large in Kentucky again. The great peculiarity of the Colonel's road is it touches nearly every town and village in the State. It will be a wonderful road if ever constructed.

An amendment to the constitution is to be voted on at the election next month, and so far as this county is concerned there is not one to the hundred of voters, who knows what the amendment is. The Recorder confesses its ignorance.

Tom Taggart's big majority in the Indianapolis Mayoralty race, is a stunner to his Democratic opponents, who are trying to get out the impression that the money question cut no figure in his canvass. He stood squarely on the Chicago platform at any rate.

Some newspapers are very much concerned about the amount Mr. Bryan receives for a lecture, and an inquisitive public would like to know how much some of those same papers received for going back on the Democratic party and assisting in the election of Major McKinley.

Of the political speaking at Williamstown on last Monday the Courier says: "After Judge Ward had finished, Judge John W. Green spoke two hours for pure Democracy and the way he pealed brother Ward and the 'goldbug' generally was a caution. He did not leave them a leg to stand on."

A number of leading Baptists of the South met at Nashville, on the 29th of last month and adopted a lengthy address to the Baptists of the South, in which they defend Dr. Whitsitt, President of the Southern Baptist Theological Seminary, against those who have taken issue with him in regard to his views on Baptism.

In its recent decision the Court of Appeals virtually says it was misrepresented as to what it had previously decided in regard to the local option laws—that it has not decided that all the local option laws enacted prior to the adoption of the present constitution of the State expired by reason of constitutional limitation on the twenty-eighth of last month.

Congressman Berry returned home from Hawaiian Islands on the 8th inst., where he and other members of the Congressional annexation committee had spent a few weeks. He thinks the country is heartily in favor of annexing the islands, which he believes will be done in the near future. Miss Anna Berry accompanied her father to the islands, and while there she was presented with the flag that floated over the imperial palace during Queen Lili's incumbency.

The gold Democrats are engaged in the nucleus business again, and Mr. Patterson, who is considered their ablest speaker, has been going up and down the State exhorting them to stand by Hindman, not for the sake of the office for which he is a candidate but to compose a nucleus around which to form a party. It would appear from this that the "nucleus" resulting from the Palmer and Buckner canvass last fall was so insignificant as to the number of votes, that the leaders are not willing to accept it, and propose doing a better job this fall. If Hindman is not betrayed as was Palmer and Buckner, last fall, the "nucleus" No. 2 will be considerable larger than No. 1 which now stands rejected, but between the lines of the speeches made by those who pretend they are supporting Hindman can be read the evident intention of throwing him overboard in the event it appears possible for their votes to elect Bailey, the Republican candidate. The Hindman stumpers are keeping themselves in a position to endorse the Republican State administration with their votes in case they can land Bailey a winner. Hence it behooves all Democrats to go to the polls on the second day of next month and cast their ballots for Shackelford.

CONTINEMENT AT ERLANGER.

Large Turnout to Witness Lexington-Covington Road Race.

In company with attorney Castleman we visited Erlanger, last Thursday afternoon. It was the day of the Lexington-Covington road race, and a very large block of the town's population was lined up along Pike Street to see the wheelmen as they passed. In fact the road race had overshadowed the Republican primary election which was in progress.

In glancing along the lineup we saw children that were scarcely old enough to be on the street of a bustling business town without attendants, as well as the man who has passed his four score and three years.

The densest section of the crowd was in front of R. J. Scott's drug store, where Dr. S. S. Scott caught the time of the arrivals and Henry Childress chalked it on the bulletting board. The Doctor cried out the time to the smallest fraction of a second, and someone said—but it was not generally believed in Erlanger—that when the first cycler passed, the Doctor suddenly became youthful and nimbly leaped to the top of a large goods box and shouted most lustily to the fellow: "Push hard, you yaller d—l," while Capt. Baker became reckless in the intense excitement, and from the top step at the bank door flashed a stogy, and dared any man in the crowd to put up five cents worth of "twofurs" that No. 5 would not win the race. It is not necessary to add that he bluffed the would-be backers of each of the other eleven entries.

Uncle Ed Stephens was circulating among the dense crowd wearing a very complacent smile which Capt. Baker declared was the result of his success with the book he was running on the race up to within a few minutes before the arrival of No. 5. He called our attention to W. A. Price's very nervous condition as well as to the seeming collapse of Hub Buckner, sr., and said they were victims of Uncle Ed's book, but Uncle Ed said Harry always would talk too much, and advised us not to give anything he might say too much weight.

The racers were strung out from seven to ten minutes apart and by the time the third wheelman had passed the interest in the contest was on the wane, and those who had grown dry went "around" to take a beer.

It was said that the Republicans were holding a primary election throughout Kenton county that day, but Erlanger gave no evidence of anything of the kind, the party leaders there being engaged looking after their own interests, and letting the other fellows take care of themselves.

Judge Childress who officiates in the dual capacity of dispenser of justice and collector of tolls was very busy planning for the Democratic primary, which came off on Friday, but he was not permitting departure from his long established custom of telling a good war yarn if a person had time to enjoy it. Some of the old Confeds say the Squire always forgets to tell any of his ludicrous experiences while in Dixie, which if printed would make a book as interesting as any of Mark Twain's. It goes without saying that the Squire has on hand a large stock of "cracker-jacks," selected from his three or four year's experience.

A call at Ira Aylor's showed conclusively that roadraces nor anything else can detract his attention from the immense grocery trade which he now commands because of fair dealing and reasonable prices in a business career of several years. It is said of Mr. Aylor that he attends to business for 24 hours each day. He always meets his customers with a smile that pursuades them to buy whether they intended to or not. He has made a complete business in Erlanger.

At Harry Ryle's livery stable preparations were being made for the reception of his father, who was to become a citizen of the burg next day. Having tired of a life of leasure, John concluded to go to Erlanger and become an integral of the burg bustling community, but reserved the right to cast his fortune politically, with the Democrats of Boone.

R. J. Scott, besides his drug business; is interested in a patent burner, for which he has the right of this county.

Weeks, the [illegible] relieved of the [illegible] Epworth [illegible]

For some time the decisions of the Court of Appeals have been favorable to the anti-local optionists, and some of them were so much encouraged as to open saloons while others had put up notices of application for licenses to sell whisky; but the Court has taken another view of the whisky question and in an opinion handed down by Judge Lewis, last Friday morning, in the case of Stamper vs. the Commonwealth, he explains the old opinion of Judge Hazlerigg, which, he says, did not mean that all these old local acts would stand repealed Sept. 28, but that on that day the penalties provided in all these local acts must become uniform. This uniform penalty is now in existence, he says, and consists of a fine of from $100 to $200 for each violation of any of these local acts which do not otherwise conflict with the Constitution and which are still in force. The following is the official syllabus of the law points in the case:

"The appellant was indicted and convicted for unlawfully selling spirituous liquors contrary to an act to regulate the selling, procuring or giving of spirituous, vinous or malt liquors or any intoxicating drink in the county of Carter. Approved March. 1886. Section 61 of the constitution, literally interpreted, left all the local laws like the one under consideration, wholly intact, and in full operation, but it was manifestly intended that the performance of the duty enjoined thereby the General Assembly would necessarily have and exercise power of making the required general law comprehensive of the whole subject and enforcible uniformly throughout the commonwealth.

"It is manifest that this general law has the effect to supersede all local laws on the subject and carries out the policy of uniformity in character and administration which was the leading idea of the framers of the constitution. But Section 61, of the constitution, provides: "Nothing herein shall be construed to interfere with or repeal any law in force relating to the sale or gift of such liquor," and in this case it is held that Section 61 of the constitution is reconciled with the other provisions of the consititution in accordance with which the general law of March 10, 1894, was enacted and exists, and that such law has not nullified the effect of elections held under the special law applicable to Carter County, and that such sale of liquor therein is unlawful and will remain so until another election be held with a different result and according to the provisions of the general law now in force.

The attention of the Republican candidate for the Legislature, in this county, is respectfully called to the following copied from the Capital, published by Walter Forsythe, Gov. Bradley's Assistant Adjutant General, who says he has the figures that Knock out Treasurer Long's campaign book:

If Todd in Louisville and the prison management at Frankfort are to be the issues, how can the party with such a handicap hope to win?

Well, well! So we turned out the Democrats because we wanted "a look at the books," and now must we turn out the Republicans before we can get that look? The Capital has set the people of Kentucky thinking and that is all that is necessary.

If a gullible public will let the managers of the rotton penitentiary chair factory guess how little it had on hand when it started, and will accept its absurd statement of how much it has on hand now, that the whole army of guards and officials are being assessed for election purposes—if the public will give them these advantages, the Stinking Fund commissioners can, by bluffing out the state inspector, succeed in making a pretty good job of whitewashing out of the alleged expert examination.

It was an annoying, and for Mr. Bynum an unfortunate, coincidence that while he was telling the people at Bowling Green, last week, that everybody knew in 1873 that the silver demonetizing clause was in the bill which passed Congress, that numerous persons in his audience had in their pockets copies of his speech in Congress in which he declared only two or three knew of it. Mr. Bynum's speeches in favor of silver, like those of several other retired Democratic leaders, will not down but persist in rising up to rebuke him when he denounces the cause which he advocated so earnestly only a few years since.

Democrats [illegible] know your duty on the [illegible] of November—do it.

[illegible] reading on [illegible] week.

Bryan thinks the Democrats will carry Ohio this year.—Toledo Blade.

Dingley's deficit for October will be at least ten millions. Who said anything about revenue?—Louisville Post.

A man likes to refer to himself as an idiot at times, but it makes him mad if anybody else agrees with him.—Chicago News.

The subject of David B. Hill's next lecture, it is said, will be, "Which Is Preferable, the Devil or the Deep Sea?"—Minneapolis Journal.

Now that the New York Journal claims to have rescued Evangelina Cisneros the World will have to capture Weyler or take a back seat. —From the Toledo Bee.

If every organization that has nominated Henry George is able to muster a voter or two the single taxer will make quite a showing at the polls.—Washington Post.

It is not surprising that ex-Queen Liliuokalani is suffering from pneumonia. She has encountered nothing but frosts since she arrived in Washington.—Chicago Tribune.

The trouble with some of the chaps who believe the world owes them a living is that they are disposed to regard idleness as a proper collection agency.—Washington Post.

The Durrant case was up in the Supreme Court yesterday. Mr. Durrant is a Californian who is suspected of having committed a murder several years ago.—Washington Post.

A Chicago man was murdered and robbed for the small sum of 30 cents. The competition in that town is so strong that the thugs are working at starvation prices.—N. Y. Journal.

It would be quite proper at this juncture for John Sherman to write Fom Paul Kruger a note of thanks for inventing this pleasant pastime of having fun with Lord Salisbury. —Chicago Record.

In view of their personal property returns, it would seem that the United States is to buy Cuba, a committee of New York millionaires should be selected to estimate its value.—Detroit Tribune.

[illegible] oracle of one of Mr. Cleveland's Cabinet members lobbying with his successor for a position which would enable him to enjoy a sinecure at the expense of the taxpayers is quite the reverse of edifying.—New York Journal.

Weyler has been a failure, and his removal from the office of Captain-General is the proof of it. He has made for himself a record of incompetency, savagery and shame. He has brought dishonor upon the name and arms of Spain.—N. Y. Sun.

Mr. Thurston, who went to Ohio with a flourish of his voice to assist Mr. Hanna, has been strangely silent of late. Can it be possible that some unfeeling bimetallist has confronted Mr. Thurston with that silver record again?—Omaha World-Herald.

Newspaper men they were who traced and captured the kidnappers of the little Conway lad up in Albany. Now the New York Journal has restored Senorita Cisneros from a foul Spanish prison in Havana. Great is modern journalism.—From the Providence News.

The intimation that Secretary Sherman simulates forgetfulness to better qualify himself for diplomatic duties, is not without good color. The chief business of a diplomat is to remember nothing, and know nothing now, and above all to say nothing at any time.—Enquirer.

Governor Thomas, of the Dayton Soldiers Home, has stirred up a great deal of comment by his order forbidding the formation of a Mark Hanna Club in that institution. If the Soldiers' Home is a Republican affair the Governor is wrong; if it is a nationfil institution the Governor is all right.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

One peculiarity about the speeches of the gold Democrats in the State campaign now on is that all the criticisms they make are of the regular Democrats while they never refer to the present State administration which is a source of great annoyance to Republicans. They are keeping themselves in shape to make another break for the log cabin on the day of the election if they conclude that with their assistance Bailey can defeat Shackelford.

Last Friday was a good day for the outs in the Kenton county Democratic primary election. The ins were given their walking papers.

COUNTY DIRECTORY.

County Judge—Benjamin Stephens.
County Clerk—B. W. Adams.
County Attorney—J. M. Lassing.
Sheriff—C. C. Roberts.
Jailer—C. L. Crisler.
Assessor—R. A. Brady.
Coroner—A. A. Murat.
Superintendent Schools—L. H. Voshell.
Surveyor—W. E. Vest.
Fiscal Court meets Tuesday after first Monday in January, April, July and October.

RAILROAD COMMISSION:
John C. Wood, Chairman; J. F. Dempsey, H. S. Irwin. Secretary—Samuel Brown.

CIRCUIT COURT.
Judge—John W. Green.
Clerk—J. W. Duncan.
Commonwealth's Attorney—M. D. Gray.
Master Commissioner—J. B. Berkshire.

JUSTICES OF THE PEACE.
Courts are held in the months of March, June, September and December, as follows:
District No 1.—O. W. Gaines, fourth Saturday; J. B. Crigler, Constable.
District No. 2.—M. B. Green, first Saturday; Jake Cook, Constable.
District No. 3.—R. L. Roberts, wednesday after third Monday; T. M. Rich, Constable.
District No. 4.—H. Bannister, Thursday after second Monday; Add Ridoell, Constable.
District No. 5.—T. E. Roberts, fourth Monday; J. H. Watson, Constable.
District No. 6.—Joseph Wagstaff, third Saturday; Simeon Tanner, Constable.

STATE DIRECTORY.

Governor—W. O. Bradley.
Lieutenant Governor—W. J. Worthington.
Secretary of State—Charles Finley.
Assistant Secretary of State—E. D. Guffy.
Attorney General—W. S. Taylor.
Auditor—Samuel H. Stone.
Assistant Auditor—Frank Johnson.
Treasurer—George W. Long.
Sup't of Public Instruction—Geo. M. Davidson.
Register Land Office—Charles O. Reynolds.
Deputies—Stanley D. Brown, Sam S. Shepherd.
Insurance Commissioner—D M Comingore.
Adjutant General—R. Collier.
Assistant—Walter Forrester.
Supt. Arsenal—Capt. David O'Connell.
State Inspector—T. W. Lester
Commissioner Agriculture—Lucas Moore.

COURT OF APPEALS.
Chief Justice—Joseph Lewis. Judges—Geo. Du[illegible]; J. R. Grace, T. H. Payster, H. L. D. Guffy, J. H. Hazelrigg, J. H. Lewis.
Reporter—E. W. Hines. Clerk—A. Adams.
Sergeant—W. S. B. Hill. Tipstaff—C. C. Turner.
Librarian—Mrs. Mary Brown Day.
Inspector of Mines—C. J. Norwood.

STATE PRISON OFFICIALS:
Frankfort Prison—Warden, Henry George; Deputy Warden, M. A. Rooney.
Eddyville Prison—Warden, L. C. Curry; Deputy Warden, Ward Leon.

JOHN C. TANNER
SPECIAL AGENT,
ERLANGER, KY.
Representing Reliable Companies Manufacturing
Musical Instruments, Sewing Machines, Bicycles, Buggies, Farming Implements
—ALSO—
Coal and Lumber, Granite & Marble Work, Life & Fire Insurance.
☞Prompt Attention and Satisfaction Guaranteed.
Aug 25 3m.

B. F. BUCHANAN,
DRUGGIST,
Rising Sun, - Indiana.
Thanks his Kentucky friends for their renewed patronage and invites them to continue to call at the Corner Drug Store.

INSURE AT HOME
The Farmers' Mutual Fire
INSURANCE COMPANY,
OF BOONE COUNTY,
Is now completely organized and receiving applications for insurance.
Its Rates are Lower
Than those of any other Company and gives the farmers of Boone County
HITHERTO UNKNOWN ADVANTAGE
In keeping their property insured.
EVERY FARMER IN THE COUNTY should take a policy at once.
E. H. Blankenbecker, - President, Florence, Ky.
D. E. Lawell, - Vice-President.
Oscar Gaines, Secretary, Burlington,
J. E. Duncan, Treasurer.
Executive Board—Legrand Gaines, J. W. Conner, John Stephens.
J. E. Smith, Assessor, - Burlington, Ky.
W. M. Rogers, Agt. - Walton, Ky.

FOR SALE--This Fall.
STRAWBERRY PLANTS.
Bubach No. 5. P. Greenville P.
Parker Earl, Haverlan,
And other Varieties.
LIGHT BRAHMA FOWLS.
Blackberry & Raspberry Sprouts.
For further information write to
WM. C. ROUSE, Limaburg, Ky.

D. E. CASTLEMAN,
ATTORNEY - AT - LAW,
BURLINGTON, KY.
Will practice in the Courts of Boone Kenton, Grant and Gallatin. Collections pushed energetically.

G. G. HUGHES,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
Burlington, Ky.
Will practice in all the courts. Prompt attention given to all business entrusted to me.

P. E. CASON,
ATTORNEY - AT - LAW,
BURLINGTON, KY,
Practice in all Courts. Promptness guaranteed.

J. G. TOMLIN,
ATTORNEY - AT - LAW,
WALTON, KENTUCKY.
Will practice in the Courts of Boone, Kenton Grant and Gallatin. Promot attention given t Collections entrusted to him. mch22-03.

W. E. VEST,
County Surveyor,
BURLINGTON, KY.
Is prepared to do all kinds of Surveying. All orders by maill promptly attended to.

J. M. LASSING. N. E. RIDDELL
LASSING & RIDDELL,
ATTORNEYS AT LAW.
BURLINGTON, KY.
Prompt Attention Given to Collections

S. GAINES,
ATTORNEY-AT-LAW.
BURLINGTON, KY.
Will practice in all the courts, and prompt attention given collections. Office—In residence near post-office.

DR. A. B. HARRYMAN,
DENTIST.
Will be in Lawrenceburg, Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday.
At Aurora, Thursday, Friday and Saturday. Practiced for 30 years.
No Poisonous Gasses Used.

S. W. ADAMS,
ATTORNEY - AT - LAW,
ERLANGER, KENTUCKY.
Will practice in the courts of Boone and Kenton counties. Collections and general law practice.

W. E. Vest. B. L. Rice.
VEST & RICE,
Real Estate Agents.
Farms Bought, Sold or Exchanged, Money to Loan on Real Estate, Notes bought, sold & Negotiated.
☞All communications addressed to W. E. Vest, Burlington, Ky.

BOONE CO. DEPOSIT BANK.
(Incorporated 1885.)
CAPITAL, ... $30,000
Surplus and undivided profits, 19,000
Our facilities enable us to receive on favorable terms accounts of individuals and corporations. Collections promptly remitted for at lowest rates

ERLANGER DEPOSIT BANK.
(INCORPORATED 1893.)
ERLANGER, - - KENTUCKY
CAPITAL PAID IN..... $50,000
SURPLUS,..... $ 8,000
Careful attention given collections and remittances promptly made. Deposit accounts solicited.

Dr. J. L. Adams,
DENTIST,
Walton, Kentucky.
All work executed according to the latest methods of the profession.
Satisfaction - Guaranteed.

W. N. Hind & Co.
213 W. Fifth St.
Cincinnati, O

JOHN L. VEST,
SURVEYOR
WALTON, KY.
Is prepared to do all kinds of work south of Burlington, Ky. Prompt attention given to all mail orders.

CRIMSON WAVE

Of Dissipation Sweeps More People to an Early Grave

Than the Raging Billows of the Briny Deep and Land and Sea Are Strewn With Wrecks Caused By Indulgence in Fiery Stimulants -Talmage's Sermon.

Dr. Talmage's text Sunday was Acts xxviii. 15: "They came to meet us as far as Appii Forum and the Three Taverns."

Seventeen miles south of Rome, Italy, there was a village of unfortunate name. A tavern is a place of entertainment, and, in our time, part of the entertainment is a provision of intoxicants. One such place you would think would have been enough for that Italian village. No! There were three of them, with doors open for entertainment and obfuscation. The world has never lacked stimulating drinks. You remember the condition of Noah on one occasion, and of Abigail's husband, Nabal, and the story of Belshazzar's feast, and Benhadad, and the new wine in old bottles, and whole paragraphs on prohibition enactment thousands of years before Neal Dow was born; and no doubt there were whole shelves of inflammatory liquid in those hotels which gave the name to the village where Paul's friends came to meet him, namely, the Three Taverns. In vain I search ancient geography for some satisfying account of that village. Two roads came from the sea coast to that place; the one from Actium, and the other from Puteoli, the last road being the one which Paul traveled. There were, no doubt, in that village, houses of merchandise and mechanics' shops, and professional offices, but nothing is known of them. All we know of that village is that it had a profusion of inns—the three taverns. Paul did not choose any one of these taverns as the place to meet his friends. He certainly was very abstemious, but they made the selection. He had enlarged about keeping the body under, though once he prescribed for a young theological student a stimulating cordial for a stomachic disorder, but he told him to take only a small dose—"a little wine for thy stomach's sake."

One of the worst things about these three taverns was that they had especial temptations for those who had just come ashore. People who had just landed at Actium or Puteoli were soon tempted by these three hotels which were only a little way up from the beach. Those who are disordered of the sea (for it is a physical disorganizer), instead of waiting for the gradual return of physical equipose, are apt to take artificial means to brace up. Of the 1,000,000 sailors now on the sea how few of them coming ashore will escape the three taverns! After surviving hurricanes, cyclones, icebergs, collisions, many of them are wrecked in harbor. I warrant that if a calculation were made of the comparative number of sailors lost at sea, and lost ashore, those drowned by the crimson wave of dissipation would far outnumber those drowned by the salt water.

Alas! that the large majority of those who go down to the sea in ships should have twice to pass the three taverns, namely: Before they go out and after they come in. That fact was what aroused Father Taylor, the great sailors' preacher, at the Sailors' Bethel, Boston, and at a public meeting in Charleston he said: "All the machinery of the drunkard-making, soul-destroying business is in perfect running order, from the low grog holes on the docks kept open to ruin my poor sailor boys, to the great establishments in Stiff House square, and when we ask men what is to be done about it they say 'you can't help it,' and yet there is Bunker Hill, and you say you can't stop it, and up there are Lexington and Concord. We might answer Father Taylor's remark by saying 'the trouble is not that we can't stop it, but that we won't stop it.' We must have more generations slain before the world will fully wake up to the evil. That which tempted the travelers of old who came up from the seaports of Actium and Puteoli is now the ruin of seafaring men as they come up from the coasts of all the continents, namely, the three taverns. In the autumn, about this time, in the year 1837, the steamship Home went out from New York for Charleston. There were about one hundred passengers, some of them widely known. Some of them had been summering at the northern watering places and they were on their way south, all expectant of hearty greeting by their friends on the wharves of Charleston.

But a little more than two days out the ship struck the rocks. A life boat was launched, but sank with all its passengers. A mother was seen standing on the deck of the steamer with her child in her arms. A wave wrenched the child from the mother's arms and rolled it into the sea, and the mother leaped after it. The sailors rushed to the bar of the boat and drank themselves drunk. Ninety-five human beings went down never to rise, or to be floated upon the beach amid the fragments of the wreck. What was the cause of the disaster? A drunken sea captain. But not until the judgment day when the sea shall give up its dead and the story of earthly disasters shall be fully told will it be known how many yachts, steamers, brigantines, men-of-war and ocean greyhounds have been lost through captain and crew made incompetent by alcoholic dethronement. Admiral Farragut had proper appreciation of what the fiery stimulus was to a man in the navy. An officer of the warship said to him, "Admiral, won't you consent to give Jack a glass of grog in the morning? Not enough to make him drunk but enough to make him fight cheerfully." The Admiral answered, "I have been to sea considerably, and have seen a battle or two, but I never found that I needed rum to enable me to do my duty. I will order two cups of coffee to each man at two o'clock in the morning, and at eight o'clock I will pipe all hands to breakfast in Mobile Bay." The Three Taverns of my text were too near the Mediterranean shipping.

But notice the multiplicity. What could that Italian village, so small that history makes but one mention of it, want with more than one tavern? There were not enough travelers coming through that insignificant town to support more than one house of lodgement. That would have furnished enough pillows and enough breakfasts. No; the world's appetite is diseased, and the subsequent draughts must be taken to slack the thirst created by the preceding draughts. Strong drink kindles the fires of thirst faster than it puts them out. There were three taverns. That which cursed that Italian village curses all Christendom to-day—too many taverns. There are streets in some of our cities where there are three or four taverns on every block; aye, where every other house is a tavern. You can take the Arabic numeral of my text, the three, and put on the right hand side of it one cipher, and two ciphers, and four ciphers, and that reinforcement of numerals will not express the statistics of American runneries. Even if it were a good healthy business, supplying necessity, an article superbly nutritious, it is a business mightily overdone, and there are three taverns where there out to be only one.

The fact is, there are in another sense three taverns now; the georgeous tavern for the affluent, the medium tavern for the working classes, and the tavern of the slums, and they stand in line, and many people beginning with the first come down through the second and come out at the third. At the first of the three taverns the wines are of celebrated vintage, and the whiskies are said to be pure, and they are quaffed from cut glass at marble side tables under pictures approaching masterpieces. The patrons pull off their kid gloves and hand their silk hats to the waiter and push back their hair with a hand on one finger of which is a cameo. But these patrons are apt to stop visiting that place. It is not the money that a man pays for drinks, for what are a few hundred or a few thousand dollars to a man of large income—but their brain gets touched, and that unbalances their judgment and they can see fortunes in enterprises surcharged with disaster. In longer or shorter time they change taverns, and they go down to tavern the second, where the pictures are not quite so scrupulous of suggestion and the small table is rougher and the castor standing on it is of German silver and the ale has been ... from the night before, and that which they sip from the pewter mug has a larger percentage of benzine, ambergris, creosote, henbane, strichnine, prussic acid, oculis indicus, plaster of paris, copperas and night shade. The patron may be seen almost every day and perhaps many times the same day at this tavern the second, but he is preparing to graduate. Brain, liver, heart, nerves are rapidly giving away. That tavern the second has its dismal echo in his business destroyed and his family scattered, and woes that choke one's vocabulary. Time passes on and he enters tavern the third, a red light outside; a hiccoughing and besotted group inside. He will be dragged out of doors about two o'clock in the morning and left on the sidewalk, because the bartender wants to shut up. The poor victim has taken the regular course in the college of degradation. He has his diploma written on his swollen, bruised and blotched physiognomy. He is a regular graduate of the three taverns. As the police take him up and put him in the ambulance the wheels seem to rumble with two rolls of thunder, one of which says, "Look not upon the wine when it is red, when it moveth itself aright in the cup, for at last it biteth like a serpent and stingeth like an adder." The other thunder roll says, "All drunkards shall have their place in the lake that burneth fire and with brimstone."

I am glad to find in this scene of the text that there is such a thing as declining successfully great Tavernian temptations. I can see from what Paul said and did after he had traveled the following seventeen miles of his journey that he had received no damage at the Three Taverns. How much he was tempted I know not. Do not suppose he was superior to temptation. That particular temptation has destroyed many of the grandest, mightiest, noblest statesmen, philosophers, heroes, clergymen, apostles of law and medicine and government and religion. Paul was not physically well under any circumstances; it was not in mock deprecation that he said he was "in bodily presence weak." It seems that his eyesight was so poor that he did his writing through an amanuensis, for he mentions it as something remarkable that his shortest Epistle, the one to Philemon, was in his own penmanship, saying, "I, Paul, have written it with my own hand." He had been thrown from his horse, he had been stoned, he had been endungeoned, he had had his nerves pulled on by preaching at Athens to the most scholarly audience of all the earth, and at Corinth to the most brilliantly profligate assemblage, and been howled upon by the Ephesian worshipers of Diana, tried for his life before Felix, charged by Festus with being insane, had crawled up on the beach, drenched in the shipwreck, and much of the time had an iron handcuff on his wrist, and if any man needed stimulus Paul needed it, but with all his physical exhaustion he got past the Three Taverns undamaged and stepped into Rome all ready for the tremendous ordeal to which he was subjected. Oh! how many mighty men, feeling that they must brace up after extraordinary service and prepare themselves for other service, have called on the spirit of wine for inspiration, and in a few years have been sacrificed on the altar of a Moloch, who sits on a throne of human carcasses. It would not be wise or kind or Christian to call their names in public, but you call them out of your own memory. Oh! how many splendid men could not get past the Three Taverns.

Notice that a profound mystery is attached to these Italian hostelries. No hotel register tells the names of those who stopped at those taverns; there is no old account book as to how many drank there; there is no broken chalice or jug to suggest what was the style of liquid which these customers consumed. So an awful mystery hangs about the bar rooms of the modern taverns. Oh! if they would only keep a book upon the counter or a scroll that could be unrolled from the wall, telling how many homesteads they have desolated and how many immortal souls they have blasted. You say that would spoil their business. Well, I suppose it would, but a business that can not plainly tell its effect upon its customers is a business that ought to be spoiled. Ah! you mysterious barrooms, speak out and tell how many suicides went out from you to halter, or pistol, or knife, or deadly leap from fourth-story window; how many young men, started well in life, were halted by you and turned on the wrong road, dragging after them bleeding parental hearts; how many people who promised at the marriage altar fidelity until death did them part were brought by you to early and ghastly separation; how many madhouses have you filled with maniacs; how many graves have you dug and filled at the cemeteries; how many ragged and hungry children have you beggared through the fathers whom you have destroyed. If the skeletons of all those whom you have slain were piled up on top of each other, how high would the mountain be? If the tears of all the orphanage and widowhood that you have pressed out were gathered together how wide would be the lake, or how long the river? Ah! they make no answer. On this subject the modern taverns are as silent as the Oriental Three Taverns, but there are millions of hearts that throb with most vehement condemnation, and many of them would go as far as the mother in Oxford, Mass., whose son had been long absent from home and was returning, and at the tavern on the way he was persuaded to drink, and that one drink aroused a former habit, and again and again he drank, and he was found the next morning dead in the barn of the tavern. The owner of the tavern, who gave him the rum, helped carry his body home, and his broken-hearted mother, afterward telling about it, said: "It was wrong, but I cursed him; I did it. Heaven forgive him and me."

One of the most advantageous ... ments in the right direction is taking this whole subject into the education of the young. On the same school desk with the grammar, the geography, the arithmetic are books telling the lads and lasses of 10 and 12 and 15 years of age what are the physiological effects of strong drink, what it does with the tissues of the liver and the ventricles of the brain, and whereas other generations did not realize the evil until their own bodies were blasted, we are ... generation taught what the viper is before it stings them, what the hyena is before it rends them, how deep is the abyss before it swallows them. Oh! boards of education, teachers in schools, professors in colleges, legislatures and congresses widen and augment that work, and yet hasten the complete overthrow of this evil. It will go down. I have the word of Almighty God for that in the assured extirpation of all sin. But shall we have a share in the universal victory? The liquor saloons will drop from the hundreds of thousands into the scores of thousands, and then from the thousands into the hundred, and then from the hundreds into the tens, and from the tens to Three. The first of these last Three Taverns will be where the educated and philosophic and the high-up will take their dram, but that class, aware of the power of the example they have been setting, will turn their backs upon the evil custom and be satisfied with the two natural beverages that God intended for the stimulus of the race—the Java coffee plantations furnishing the best of the one, and the Chinese tea fields the best of the other. And some day the barroom will be crowded with people at the vendue and the auctioneer's mallet will pound at the sale of all the appurtenances.

The second of these last three taverns will take down its flaming sign and extinguish its red light and close its doors, for the working classes will have concluded to buy their own horses and furnish their own beautiful homes, and replenish finely the wardrobe of their own wives and daughters, instead of furnishing the distillers, the brewers and liquor sellers with wardrobes and mirrors and carriages. And the next time that second tavern is opened it is will be a drugstore or a bakery or a dry goods establishment or a school. Then there will be only one of the three dissipating taverns left. I don't know in what country or city or neighborhood it will be, but look at it, for it is the very last. The last inebriate will have staggered up to its counter and put down his pennies for a dram. Its last horrible adulteration will be mixed and quaffed to eat ont the vitals and inflame the brain. The last drunkard will have stumbled down its steps. The last spasm of delirium tremens caused by it will be struggled through. The old rookery will be torn down, and with its demolition will close the long and awful reign of the mightiest of earth's abomination. The last of the dissipating Three Taverns of all the world will be as thoroughly blotted out as were the Three Taverns of my text.

A FRENCH general has inaugurated a plan of permitting soldiers to sing when on the march, a privilege which has been strictly denied until recently. It has also been arranged that any soldier who can play on any of the smaller musical instruments shall be provided with such instrument at the expense of the state.

SOME Boston women have organized an anti-kissing crusade.

REPUBLICAN ... FRAUDS FOILED.

The Cred... of the Dingley Law Saved.

Perhaps it would be nearer the mark to attribute the ... of McKinley's mugwump secretary of the treasury making the ... bill retroactive to ignorance rather than to dishonesty. The bill was signed by the president at 4:06 o'clock on the afternoon of Saturday, July 24, 1897. At that hour the custom houses of the Atlantic ports and about three-fourths of all the other custom houses of the country had been closed. Secretary Gage held that the government could not recognize fractions of a day, and that the bill must take effect and become a law from the very earliest hour of the day on which it was signed. He accordingly ruled that all entries and withdrawals liquidated at the old rates on July 24 under the Wilson duties must be reliquidated at the higher Dingley duties.

Mr. Gage's ruling made a difference to importers who had received goods through the custom houses on that day prior to the signing of the bill of nearly half a million dollars. Many of them served notice of contest and an agreed case was presented to Henderson Summerville, general appraiser, for an opinion. His written decision, after reviewing the case carefully, concludes thus:

"Our conclusion is that the compact of July 24, 1897, did not become operative as a law until six minutes after four o'clock p. m. of said day, when it was approved by the president; that it was not operative by relation of any previous hour of the day, but that the tariff act of August 28, 1894, remained unrepealed and in force until the precise moment when said act of July 24, 1897, was approved, and that goods imported and entered for consumption in the forenoon of said July 24, 1897, or at any hour prior to the time of approval of said act), would be governed as to classification and rates of duty by the tariff act of 1894 and not by said act of 1897."

This decision accords exactly with the position taken by the Times when Mr. Gage first made his absurd and unjust ruling. Appraiser Summerville's finding is in harmony with common honesty, common sense and common law. The retroactive idea is entirely republican, and therefore dishonest. It fixes an obligation before the conditions constituting it have been consummated. Tom Reed's republican house inserted this legal parasite in the Dingley monstrosity before it went to the senate. As lawyers, its sponsors and framers knew that it would not hold water, but they were guilty of the political dishonesty of trying to make capital with their employing trusts by running a bluff on the importers. Gage's void ruling displays his mental caliber and indicates the tendency of the republican administration to extract by hook or by crook, and whenever the occasion offers, every drop of blood and pound of flesh it can from the taxpayers.—Kansas City Times.

NOTHING BUT PROMISES.

How the Ohio Republicans Do the People.

"Senator Hanna in his campaigning speeches to the Buckeyes promises them that the republican party will settle the money question, if it shall be given a chance, upon a basis that will take the question out of politics and prevent future business reverses. This news is honey sweet. Mr. Hanna does not go into particulars; there is nothing in the past history of republican financiering to justify hope. The republicans have tinkered and tinkered, and made one dangerous experiment after another; and they are still tinkering, and are afraid to rectify their most obvious errors."—Philadelphia Record.

"There is reason to believe that the republicans have done all they propose to do in the line of redeeming pledges. They have satisfied the demands of the contributors to republican corruption funds by enacting a law that enables those contributors to recover the full amount of their contributions with heavy interest from the people, and this no doubt fully meets the republican idea of what is needed in the way of remedial legislation. The party leaders have concluded apparently to rest their case on the Dingley law and to trust to the full restoration of prosperity for further political capital. The republicans met a great crisis in a partisan spirit and essayed to satisfy the demands of a suffering people by imposing upon them additional heavy burdens.

"Mr. Hanna's promise that the republican party will settle the money question amounts to nothing, because it is clear that the leaders of the party are satisfied with the present condition of the currency, and even if it shall seem to them to be advisable to make some change at the instance of the great moneyed interests, their settlement of the question will not be what the public asks and expects. The treatment the people received at the hands of the republican tariff-makers is in evidence as showing that the interests of the masses will not be consulted by the republican party.—Binghamton (N. Y.) Leader.

—The number of failures in the United States for 1897 will amount to 15,000 and over at the rate already reported for the first nine months. In the year 1871—26 years ago—the total failures for the whole year was 2,915. As late as 1882 to 1888, the number of failures reported in some of these years for six months was less than those reported for the third quarter of this year—which the goldites declare have been months of prosperity. Thirty years ago the number of failures reported for the entire year was 567. If business failures are an evidence of goldite prosperity the country is being furnished with ample evidence.—Illinois State Register.

—We shall see whether the McHanna administration, having impudently claimed credit for the early wheat crop, will go on ... strain while the ... bad, ... stock suffering from ... farmers' hopes of ... mering. It is a ... work both ways.—Chicago Times-Herald.

HANNA'S VOTE FRAUDS.

Working the Pension Department to Corrupt Ohio Voters.

The insolence and ... republicanism as a result of ... are illustrated in the conduct of the administration in establishing an agency of the pension bureau in Cleveland at the critical juncture in the political career of Mark Hanna. A force of 24 clerks has been specially detailed to expedite pension cases for voters in the pivotal state.

"A pension for a vote" is the principle upon which the Hanna managers will proceed from this time forth in their quest for support from men who were brave enough and patriotic enough to risk their lives in defense of the union and whose names are not now on the overburdened pension rolls at Washington. The movement is, of course, an insult to the high-minded and manly old soldiers, who resent all efforts to coin their valor into dollars, but it is of a piece with the entire political career of Hanna. He has underestimated the intelligence of the American people from the moment of his entrance to politics. What he has accomplished has been due to the use of boodle and the mistakes of rival political managers.

But in thus attempting to attach the pension bureau to his train he will discover that he has committed a blunder from which he cannot recover in time to save himself. The nation will never be willing to believe that the voters of Ohio will at the polls indorse so despicable a use of funds which, in theory, at least, were set aside by the American people as a token of national gratitude to the men who fought for the preservation, unimpaired, of a government representing the highest aspirations of a free and intelligent race.

No surprise can be felt by those who have watched Commissioner Evans' administration of the pension bureau that he should unprotestingly lend his aid to the furtherance of Hanna's scheme in this way. With brazen effrontery, astounding in its assertion and shocking to national pride, this man Evans has boasted of the number of "the boys" he has "cared for" since he was placed in charge of the pension bureau. Though in full knowledge of the fact that national revenues are at a lower ebb than they have reached in a decade, and that a treasury deficit necessitating the issue of gold bonds is inevitable, he has swollen the pension rolls beyond all precedent and coolly announces that he will require at least $8,000,000 more than was appropriated by congress for pension purposes. When it is remembered that this appropriation is $141,000,000 for the current year, a fairly adequate idea may be had of the enormity of Evans' insolence. To be sure he is only the instrument in the perpetration of this outrage, but the reflection that he missed only by a very narrow margin the nomination for vice president on the ticket with McKinley shows to what depths of degradation the party which once elected Abraham Lincoln president has been dragged by Hannaism and syndicate politics.—St. Louis Republic.

M'KINLEY PRICES.

Extravagant Claims of Republican Rasters.

Out in Ohio the republicans have been compelled to resort to the claim that the McKinley administration is responsible for the recent rise in wheat. This has been done, not directly, but indirectly. Mr. Hanna began it by announcing in the beginning of the campaign that he had received information to the effect that Providence was on the side of the republicans.

On the heels of this it was a comparatively easy matter to inform the voters that, to Mr. McKinley, under Providence, should be given the credit for dollar wheat. The great man had no sooner been elected than he set about arranging for a famine in India. The short wheat crops all over the world except in these United States, of which he and Hanna are the chief managers, and of whose liberties they are the bull-whackers, as it were.

All this has been given out in Ohio with a good deal of solemnity. Hanna, in the free-and-easy flow of his gush, has held these things before the attention of his audiences until the whole campaign seems to depend on the promulgation of the belief that the McKinley administration has really been powerful enough to create famine conditions elsewhere in order to induce the voters to indorse Hanna.

But now there seems to be trouble ahead, and the Cincinnati Enquirer calls attention to it. We no longer have dollar wheat. In fact, wheat has fallen ten cents a bushel since Mr. Hanna began to knead his political dough in public, and the Enquirer wants to know why Mr. McKinley should thus strike at the interests of the farmers by permitting this slump. As Mr. McKinley was powerful enough to raise wheat to a dollar, why does he not hold it there? Why does he sit idly by and permit the poor farmers to be robbed of $100 on every thousand bushels of wheat they sell, when he could so easily prevent it?

It is a very interesting situation.—Atlanta Constitution.

—What is to be said of a party that deliberately refrains from the attempt to correct the evils in the currency system, because by leaving them uncorrected many voters may be scared into voting the republican ticket in national, state and municipal elections? Is that the kind of statesmanship we are getting from ... in politics? The country is to ... jeopardy of a debased currency, to promote the well-being of ... What elevated ... Observer.

—Hanna ... Ohio ... Ohio ... Ohio

ROAD NEAR SWIFTWATER, N. H.

(A District Sadly in Need of a Good Road Supervisor.)

but the farmer who has to move his produce to market or place of shipment, or in the daily prosecution of his work needs to use the road, gains or loses in this direction in accordance with their good or bad condition.

Good roads in such cases mean the saving of time, the greater durability of vehicles and the wear of teams.

Now the farmer, to say nothing of the others, can afford to pay a fair or liberal road tax provided he is assured that it will be so expended as to result in a corresponding improved condition of the roads.

Nothing will go so far toward reconciling farmers or others to the paying of what they might term a large highway tax, as to find that it is being faithfully expended, and above all that a certain amount is devoted to improvements of a permanent character each year. This is evidence that cannot be shrieked or refuted, but is an ever present fact, a monument to the skill and faithfulness of the intelligent road-maker. We want just all of this kind of work that can practically be devoted to the purpose.

Here in Vermont one-fifth of the tax for roads is to be put into improvements of a permanent character. This is largely used in cutting down and lengthening the grade of hills, or in the building of stone or macadamized roads. What little of this kind of work that has been done since the ..bad law went into effect has proven so satisfactory that it makes us wish that the good work could have been commenced many years ago, then we should now have something worth while to show for the expenditure of so much money.

Here where stone is plenty and not too far away it costs from four to five dollars a rod to build a good road, something that should last many years, only requiring a little attention in keeping the ditches open and the covering in order.

Taking the worst pieces of road first it will soon be found that commendable progress is being made, as these places were always requiring attention and never long in a satisfactory condition.

Good drainage for roads should be sought for, as this is of the first importance. The ditches should be placed well back from the roadbed, so as to prevent undermining or gullying.

Hills should be carefully looked after and the grade made as easy as possible. The surface of the road should be somewhat rounded, so that the water may readily pass off at the sides, rather than run along on the wheel tracks, washing away the dirt and forming holes and gullies. The surface should also be kept clear of small stones that are always so troublesome. Passing over the roads once a month for this purpose should be more generally practiced.

Small repairs should always be attended to in season, as in this way large expense can often be saved.

If will pay to go two miles, if it cannot be obtained nearer, to get gravel with which to fill bad places in roads.

In parts of the country where stone is scarce and gravel can be had, good roads can be made by using this material pleutifully on the surface. Of course this means that the roadbed is first put in good condition for the gravel. This method is used to some extent at the west, and even here in the east where stone abounds, gravel, where it can be conveniently obtained, is much prized.

It is possible that in the future portable stone-crushing machines will be largely used in road making in the country, by means of which this plentiful material can be put to some useful purposes.

Above all things, it should be the purpose to get the best men possible for the work of road supervision, and having obtained them keep them until others equally good or better can be found to take their places.

In this way, going slowly it may be but surely forward in the right direction, the time will not be far distant when a great improvement in our highways will be apparent all over our land. —E. R. Towle, in Farm, Field and Fireside.

The United States has not many over 50 sheep for every 100 of population, while Australia has 3,000 to every 100 of population.

...ING KICKING COWS.

...of Kindness Is Worth a ...and of Pounding.

...the trouble caused by kick... is caused by bad management ...part of the milker. In our expe... cows is not one cow in a dozen ...ersion, if kindly treated, will soon ...with the habit of kicking with... severe measures being necessary. ...ers to be gentle and quiet in hand... the cows, and to let them know that ...are their friend and will not harm ...them. They will soon learn to respect ...you if you will treat them kindly. It is all well enough for a cow to know and understand that the one who does the milking is the "business manager," but ...kick for the good reason that the milking process hurts them, says a writer in the National Stockman. There are also occasionally cows that kick from pure meanness. However, these make excellent beef.

The gentle Jerseys are fast taking the place of other breeds on the farm, and the ones we have are real pets, as gentle, quiet and well behaved as need be. We never have any trouble in milking them, but often milk them for the first time in the yard, without even fastening them, though we are well aware that the Jersey has plenty of mettle, any amount of it, when conditions are favorable for its development. Let the dog chase the cows to and from the pasture, and this mettle will soon be apparent, as will be the decrease in the yield of milk.

There is another item in regard to breaking cows to lead. A cow that is kindly treated can usually be caught in the pasture by placing your arm about her neck. If caught in this way they will seldom make any effort to get away. Place a five-ring halter on this cow, as this does not hurt like a rope around the horns or the neck, and most cows will lead easily with a five-ring halter. A good motto for dairymen to put in their hats is this: An ounce of kindness is worth a pound of pounding.

HANDY BAG HOLDER.

The Cut Explains How It Is Made and Put Together.

A correspondent of the Canadian Farmers' Advocate furnishes the following description of a handy bag-holder. The illustration will enable anyone to understand it:

"Take a piece 27 inches long, and from the middle of it cut a piece 15 inches long and one inch deep. Then take a piece of bend iron 33 inches long and bend it as shown at B, making C three inches long, D six inches, and E 15 inches long. Make a couple of holes at C and F so that loop may be fastened to A by means of screw nails. This loop projects out in front of A. The back leg is a slat three feet long and three inches wide, and is fastened to A by means of a hinge. The other two legs are each about 3 1-3 feet long and are attached to the headpiece (A) at an angle of about 45 degrees. This will make it stand firm. In the cut in A, and about two inches from each end, screw a couple of screw nails (G and H), leaving about half an inch protruding. To fasten on the bag, double one side over the iron loop and hook the other side on the screw nails, then move back the slat until the bottom of the bag rests on the floor."

DEVICE FOR HOLDING BAGS.

GOOD GARDEN SOIL.

It Is One in Which the Atmosphere Can Circulate Freely.

What is or what is not a good garden soil is often a great question. The customer often complains to the nurserymen that, though he planted his trees in the very best soil, yet he had little success. Very few people seem to understand that good soil is one in which the atmosphere can freely circulate. The earth must not allow the air to circulate to such an extent as to lose its moisture, but it must have an abundance of small spaces which will contain small quantities of air before plants will thrive. We sometimes speak of "air plants," but, in truth, all plants are air plants, no matter whether growing on rocks or trees or whether growing in the earth. Air is of far more consequence to the roots than to the leaves. When, therefore, we have a stiff clay earth to deal with, we make a good soil by applying sand, or vegetable matter which when if rots will leave small spaces in which air may be collected. It is for the same reason that we crush hard clods, for a hard clod has no air spaces. When broken to pieces pulverizing is the technical term—we simply give the chance for atmospheric air to spread throughout the whole mass. For the same reason, what is known as a wet soil is a bad soil, because water drives out the air. There is no air in earth which is water-tight. It has been noted that the use of a hole in the bottom of a flower pot is not so much to allow the escape of water as it is to permit fresher air to flow in the spaces of earth when the water leaves it. In the language of gardening, a good soil is one which is perfectly "aerated."—Meehan's Monthly.

All through the season the apples should be frequently examined so as to remove any that are ...

When the leaves ... grape or currant ... made from the ...

A TOUCHING STORY

From the Lips of Those Who Have Years of Suffering.

Cured by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Little Fannie Adams, of Umatilla, Cured of a Dreadful Malady—A Cure of Unusual Interest—A Reporter Investigates.

From the Lake Region, Umatilla, Fla.

For some time past the Lake Region has been receiving reports from Umatilla, Fla., of an almost miraculous cure that had been effected in the case of Fannie Adams, a daughter of A. J. Adams, of that place, and last Saturday a representative of this paper made a trip to Umatilla for the purpose of determining the authenticity of the same.

The family live a short distance from the village, where it was found that the people were cognizant of the cure which had been effected, and were rejoicing with the family in their new found happiness. The father, A. J. Adams, is a hard-working honest farmer from east Tennessee, and the family came to Florida four years ago in the hope that a change of climate would be of benefit to their afflicted child. Much of their earnings have gone for doctors' bills, whose services proved unavailing. The representative was greeted by Mrs. Adams, from whom he gained the story of her great trial.

Fannie, the youngest child, was born in east Tennessee, and was seven years old on the third day of February, 1897. When ten months old she was stricken with paralysis, which affected the entire left side. This stroke of paralysis was followed by convulsions, and from the time little Fannie was ten months old until February, 1897, there was not a single day or a night that she did not have spasms of the most distressing nature. Not a single convulsion, but always three or four, and sometimes as high as ten in one day.

The family was all broken down with care, and Mrs. Adams states that for one year she did not get into her kitchen to superintend her household work. All the fingers of the right hand of the little girl are enlarged and misshapen, caused by her biting them during the fearful suffering. The case baffled the skill of the best physicians and they were frank to say that they could not determine the cause, or prescribe a remedy to aid the afflicted child.

But what a change now in that household; for little Fannie has recently been released from her six years of agony, which brings the light of happiness to the faces of the parents.

In January, this year, Mrs. Adams, who had purchased some of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People for her fourteen year old daughter, determined to try their effect upon little Fannie. After three or four doses, she noted an improvement and she then told the father what she had done. He at once went to the village and bought another box, and up to this time six boxes have been used. The first pills, Mrs. Adams states, were given in January, the latter part, and certainly not earlier than the fifteenth or twentieth, and the child had her last convulsion on February 3d, nearly three months ago. Her general condition has improved in every way, and it was not a month after the first pills were taken when she began to walk without assistance.

The pills were bought at the drug store of Dr. Shelton, in Umatilla. In answer to the question, did he, to his personal knowledge, believe that the remedy had benefited Fannie Adams, as was stated by her parents, the doctor said that he was a regular practicing physician, and as such was loth to recommend any proprietary medicine, but still he was ready to do justice to all men, and he did know that Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People had benefited Fannie Adams, and also volunteered the information that he knew of other children in the village who had been benefited by their use.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People contain, in a condensed form, all the elements necessary to give new life and richness to the blood and restore shattered nerves. They are also a specific for troubles peculiar to females, such as suppressions, irregularities and all forms of weakness. They build up the blood, and restore the glow of health to pale and sallow cheeks. In men they effect a radical cure in all cases arising from mental worry, overwork or excesses of whatever nature. Pink Pills are sold in boxes (never in loose bulk) at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50, and may be had of all druggists, or direct by mail by addressing Dr. Williams' Medicine Company, Schenectady, N. Y.

HER SCOLDING LOCKS.

She Tried to Oblige a Friend But She Got Angry About It.

Some people are absolutely devoid of tact. One of these is a youthful matron who, wishing to make her very dearest friend, another young matron—a birthday present, decided on the purchase of a handsome pair of shell side-combs.

Nothing could have been more appropriate for the blonde tresses of her friend, and the giver felt much pleased with her selection when the owner came to call on her and give her the pretty ornaments.

"I thought you would like them," she said, when her friend had admired them and thanked her impulsively, "you will find them so handy to fasten up your scolding locks."

"What do you mean?" asked her friend, in a surprised tone.

"Did you never hear of scolding locks? They are the short ends of your hair that are always flying loose. They bother one so much, but side combs keep them in order, besides being very becoming ornaments."

"So you think I have scolding locks—then I must be a scold. Thanks, awfully, dear, but I don't believe I need any combs. Keep them for your own scolding outfit," and the face of the "dearest friend" clouded with anger.

"Very well, just as you like. Good-by dear," and the donor of the combs snatched them up and carried them home, where she had a fit of hysterics. And all because she needed a little tact.—Chicago Times-Herald.

How to Make Tea.

More than half the Tea consumed in the United States and Canada is of Japanese growth, yet, the majority of Americans apparently do not understand how to prepare it so as to develop the delicious qualities which it contains in such perfection. The government has appropriated a large fund to aid the Japanese Tea growers and Tea merchants in promoting this educational work, and it is hoped that American ladies will be apt students. The main Bureau of the Japanese Tea Guild has issued an official recipe for making Japanese Tea, the translation of which is as follows:

First.—Use a small, dry and thoroughly clean porcelain teapot.

Second.—Put in one teaspoonful of tea leaves for each cup of tea desired.

Third.—When using Japanese teas, pour on the required quantity of fresh boiled water, and let stand with closed lid from 2 to 3 minutes. Never boil the leaves. In order to retain the natural flavor, Japanese tea leaves should be kept in tight can or jar, free from moisture.

Note.—To thoroughly enjoy the natural, delicate and sweet flavor of Japanese Teas, neither sugar nor cream should be used.

Trying to Defraud Her.

Horton—How is it that you always put on such a long face and talk so discouragingly when your wife happens to be present? And at other times you are the most enthusiastic prosperity boomer I know of?

Henley—Promised her away back last spring that I'd get her a new sealskin sacque this fall, if business picked up.—Cleveland Leader.

Excursion Tickets ... American Fast ... Poultry and Dairy ... Boston, Mass., ... 2-12. ... Western ... time, will be sold ... each ... sday and Thurs... show, ... ited to Monday ... of sale. Apply to agents ... La Wash. Ry.

Every Saturday — Sleeping Car Route to California.

Every Saturday night Midland Route tourist cars en route to Colorado, Utah and California will leave the Chicago Union Passenger Station of the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul Railway at 10 o'clock, running over the Chicago and Omaha Short Line to Omaha, thence via Lincoln, Neb., Colorado Springs and Leadville, Colo., Salt Lake City and Ogden, Utah, Reno, Nevada, and Sacramento, Cal., arriving at San Francisco at 8:45 p. m. Wednesday.

These popular every Saturday California excursions for both first and second-class passengers (not foreign emigrants) are "personally conducted" by intelligent, competent and courteous "couriers" who will attend to the wants of all passengers en route. This is an entirely new feature of tourist car service and will be greatly appreciated by families or parties of friends traveling together, or by ladies traveling alone. Particular attention is paid to the care of children who usually get weary on a long journey.

Remember that the Midland Route Tourist Cars are sleeping cars and are supplied with all the accessories necessary to make the journey comfortable and pleasant, and the sleeping berth rate is but $6.00 (for two persons) from Chicago to California.

Ask the nearest ticket agent for a tourist car "folder," giving complete information about the Midland Route, or address "Eastern Manager Midland Route," No. 95 Adams street, Chicago, Ill., or Geo. H. Heafford, General Passenger Agent, 410 Old Colony Building, Chicago.

A Matter of Fashion.

Doctor—Madam, your husband has paralysis.

Wife—Oh, doctor, I'm delighted! I thought it was nervous prostration, and that's so common, you know.—Boston Traveler.

There Is a Class of People.

Who are injured by the use of coffee. Recently there has been placed in all the grocery stores a new preparation called GRAIN-O, made of pure grains, that takes the place of coffee. The most delicate stom ach receives it without distress, and but few can tell it from coffee. It does not cost over ¼ as much. Children may drink it with great benefit. 15 cts. and 25 cts. per package. Try it. Ask for GRAIN-O.

Not Surprising.

Forrester—How time does fly.

Lancaster—I don't blame it. Think how many people there are trying to kill it.—Harlem Life.

Shake Into Your Shoes.

Allen's Foot-Ease, a powder for the feet. It cures painful, swollen, smarting feet and instantly takes the sting out of corns and bunions. It's the greatest comfort discovery of the age. Allen's Foot-Ease makes tight or new shoes feel easy. It is a certain cure for sweating, callous, hot, tired, aching feet. Try it to-day. Sold by all druggists and shoe stores, 25c. Trial package FREE. Write to Allen S. Olmsted, LeRoy, N. Y.

Self Evident.

Miss Courtright—What do you think of a man who will marry a woman for money?

Mr. Spooner—All I can say is that such a fellow must be hard up.—Cleveland Leader.

Wake Up.

Yes, wake up to the danger which threatens you if your kidneys or bladder are inactive or weak. Don't you know that if you fail to impel the ... Bright's disease or diabetes awaits you? Use Hostetter's Stomach Bitters without delay. It has a most beneficial effect upon the kidneys when sluggish, and upon the bowels, liver, stomach and nervous system.

In Darkest Africa.

The Missionary — Here! Here! I'm shocked! What are you two fighting about?

The Combatants—Jonah an' de whale.—Puck.

Take the Air Line

To St. Louis and the West, 53 miles the shortest from Louisville, makes the quickest time, Pullman ... and Elegant Dining Cars. For complete information address C. P. Moffett, Traveling Passenger Agent, Knoxville, Tenn. R. A. Campbell, General Passenger Agent, St. Louis, Mo.

Grocers and women are very unfortunate people—they are compelled to please through the stomach. The eye is pleased a dozen times where the stomach is pleased once.—Atchison Globe.

None So Good as Star Tobacco.

The consumption of Star plug tobacco is the largest in the world. No other tobacco is so good as Star plug in all respects.'

The people who really know what love is are afraid to tell, for fear their knowledge will give away an unpleasant experience.—Atchison Globe.

Fits stopped free and permanently cured. No fits after first day's use of Dr. Kline's Great Nerve Restorer. Send for free $2 trial bottle & treatise. Dr. Kline, 933 Arch st., Phila., Pa.

No odds how little a man does he likes to tell how he used to work.—Washington Democrat.

Certainly it does. Truly, surely. St. Jacobs Oil cures rheumatism. Thousands know it.

No man is too shiftless to feel a little bit romantic about his marriage.—Washington Democrat.

Sore all over and stiff. Cured all Over by St. Jacobs Oil, and supple.

THE MARKETS.

CINCINNATI, Oct. 18.

LIVE STOCK—Cattle common	$ 2 25	@ 3 25
Select butchers	4 00	@ 4 40
CALVES—Fair to good light	5 75	@ 6 50
HOGS—Common	3 40	@ 3 45
Mixed packers	3 50	@ 4 15
Light shippers	3 75	@ 4 10
SHEEP—Choice	3 00	@ 3 60
LAMBS—Good to choice	5 00	@ 5 35
FLOUR—Winter family	3 50	@ 3 90
GRAIN—Wheat—No. 2 red		@ 92
No. 3 red		@ 90
Corn—No 2 mixed		@ 20½
Oats—No. 2		@ 21
Rye—No. 2		@ 50½
HAY—Prime to choice		@ 9 50
PROVISIONS—Mess pork		@ 8 75
Lard—Prime steam		@ 4 20
BUTTER—Choice dairy	13	@ 14
Prime to choice creamery		@ 24
APPLES—Per bbl	1 75	@ 2 50
POTATOES—Per bbl	1 50	@ 1 90

NEW YORK.

FLOUR—Winter patent	5 00	@ 5 25
No 2 red		@ 1 00
CORN—No. 2 mixed		@ 31½
RYE		@ 41½
OATS—Mixed	22½	@ 25
PORK—New mess	9 00	@ 9 75
LARD—Western		@ 4 05

CHICAGO

FLOUR—Winter patents	5 00	@ 5 10
GRAIN—Wheat—No. 2 red		@ 94¾
No. 2 Chicago spring	87	@ 87½
CORN—No. 2	25½	@ 25¾
OATS—No. 2		@ 18½
PORK—Mess	7 75	@ 8 15
LARD—Steam	4 25	@ 4 27½

BALTIMORE.

FLOUR—Family	4 00	@ 4 85
GRAIN—Wheat—No. 2	93½	@ 93¾
Southern—Wheat	92	@ 96
Corn—Mixed	31	@ 31½
Oats—No. 2 white	20½	@ 20¾
Rye—No. 2 western	52	@ 52½
CATTLE—First quality	3 90	@ 4 15
HOGS—Western		@ 4 75

INDIANAPOLIS.

GRAIN—Wheat—No. 2		@ 92
Corn—No. 2 mixed		@ 27½
Oats—No. 2 mixed		@ 20½

LOUISVILLE.

FLOUR—Winter patent	3 75	@ 4 00
GRAIN—Wheat—No. 2 red		@ 93
Corn—Mixed		@ 30
Oats—Mixed		@ 21½
PORK—Mess		@ 8 50
LARD—Steam		@ 4 07½

TAKING CARE OF HIMSELF.

Jack Was Making Money in Ways of His Own Choosing.

"Why don't you give that son of yours a chance?" asked one business veteran of another. "He must inherit some of your superior business qualities and the time will come when you must have some one to look after your affairs. He can't manage them without the necessary training."

"Don't you suppose that I have canvassed the whole situation? I have let that boy handle a small fortune, and the results have been so unsatisfactory that I have given him formal notice to look out for himself."

"But he seems to have plenty of money."

"That's another thing I don't like. I have cut off his allowance, yet he lives well and never enters a complaint. Last spring I thought I would have to put up the office funds for want of ready cash. My collaterals were not available and creditors were pushing me. The boy walked into the office one afternoon when I was in the throes of despair, said: 'Things look in blue, governor' laid down a certified check for $20,000 and walked out. I owe him that yet, but am holding it back till I can see that he needs it. When I gave him money to buy wheat and told him how the market was liable to go, he ignored my advice and bought millions of eggs, right in the midst of hot weather, mind you. On learning where they were stored I notified the health department and requested some of those in the vicinity to bring proceedings when the nuisance asserted itself. I learned incidentally afterward that he had a patent process for preserving eggs and cleared up a big pot of money. What hadn't gone the way I predicted, but it was his business to do as I told him. Recently he made $15,000 at some shooting game. I don't know just what it was, but one of his friends said that Jack had taken a long shot at a horse and won. I hope the rascal had to pay for the horse."—Detroit Free Press.

To Cure a Cold in One Day

Take Laxative Bromo Quinine Tablets. All druggists refund money if it fails to cure. 25c.

"Mamma, what is a farce?" "A farce? Why, it is the way your father went around and watered all my dried-up plants the morning after I got home."—Detroit Free Press.

Piso's Cure is the medicine to break up children's Coughs and Colds.—Mrs. M. G. Blunt, Sprague, Wash., March 8, '94.

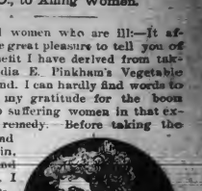
A girl wearing an organdie dress thinks she looks good enough to eat.—Washington Democrat.

Fortify Feeble Lungs Against Winter with Hale's Honey of Horehound and Tar. Pike's Toothache Drops Cure in one minute.

The Important Point.—Doctor—"You'll be on your feet in a week or so." Patient—"Oh my feet don't bother me. But how soon will I be on my wheel?"—Puck.

Some things are easily cured—the Worst pains by St. Jacobs Oil.

When money talks we never pause to criticise its grammar.—Chicago News.



What is it? Lame back. Use St. Jacobs Oil. What is it now? Cured. Right.

Dissatisfied people are, as a rule, loafers.—Atchison Globe.

AN OPEN LETTER

From Miss Sachger, of Columbus, O., to Ailing Women.

To all women who are ill:—It affords me great pleasure to tell you of the benefit I have derived from taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I can hardly find words to express my gratitude for the boon given to suffering women in that excellent remedy. Before taking the Compound

I was thin, sallow and nervous. I was troubled with leucorrhœa, and my menstrual periods were very irregular. I tried three physicians and gradually grew worse. About a year ago I was advised by a friend to try Mrs. Pinkham's Sanative Wash and Vegetable Compound, which I did. After using three bottles of the Vegetable Compound and one package of Sanative Wash, I am now enjoying better health than I ever did, and attribute the same to your wonderful remedies. I cannot find words to express what a Godsend they have been to me.

Whenever I begin to feel nervous and ill, I know I have a never-failing physician at hand. It would afford me pleasure to know that my words had directed some suffering sister to health and strength through those most excellent remedies.—Miss MAY SACHGER, 848½ E. Rich St., Columbus, O.

He Raised the Wind.

The ship had lain becalmed in a tropical sea for three days. Not a breath of air stirred the mirror like surface of the sea, or the limp sails that hung from the yards like drapery carved in stone. The captain resolved to wait no longer. He piped up all hands on deck, and requested the passengers to also come forward. "I must ask all of you," he said, "to give me every match you have." Wonderingly the passengers and crew obeyed. The captain carefully arranged the matches in his hand as each man handed him his store, until all had been collected. Then he threw them all overboard but one, drew a cigar from his pocket, and, striking the solitary match on the mainmast, endeavored to light it. In an instant a furious gale swept over the deck, extinguished the match, and filled the sails, and the good ship Mary Ann sped through the waves on her course.—Philadelphia Inquirer.

What a nice companion a fly makes after you have had an experience with a mosquito! —Atchison Globe.

Ayer's

pills stand without a rival as a reliable family medicine. They cure sick headache, biliousness, constipation, and keep the body in perfect health. In many homes no medicine is used except Dr. J. C. Ayer's Pills.

$1.00 A YEAR FOR .... DEMOREST'S FAMILY MAGAZINE.

The subscription price of DEMOREST'S is reduced to $1.00 a Year.

Demorest's Family Magazine is more than a Fashion Magazine, although it gives the very latest home and forum fashions each month; this is only one of its many valuable features. It has something for each member of the family, for every department of the household, and its varied contents are of the highest grade, making it, present beauty. The Family Magazine of the World. It furnishes the best thoughts of the most interesting and most progressive writers of the day, and is abreast of the times in everything—Art, Literature, Science, Society Affairs, Fiction, Household Matters, Sports, etc.—a single number frequently containing from 100 to 200 fine engravings, making it the MOST COMPLETE AND MONTHLY PROFUSELY ILLUSTRATED of the GREAT MONTHLIES.

Demorest's Magazine Fashion Department is in every way far ahead of all competitors in this line of publication.

Subscribers are entitled each month to patterns of the latest fashions in woman's attire, at no cost to them other than that necessary for postage and wrapping.

NO BETTER CHRISTMAS GIFT

Than a year's subscription to Demorest's Magazine can be made. By subscribing AT ONCE you can get the magazine at the reduced price, and will also receive the Holiday Demorest Xmas Number with its beautiful panel picture supplement. Remit $1.00 by money order, registered letter or check to the

DEMOREST PUBLISHING CO., 110 Fifth Ave., New York City.

Great Special Clubbing Offer for Prompt Subscriptions.

If you will send us your subscription before December 25th, 1897, you can have your choice of any of the offers below, in some cases, you will note, we furnish the two publications at the regular price of the first named one alone. The offer includes, of course, each publication for a full year.

	Publishers' price	Our price to you	You save
Harper's Magazine	$4.00	and Demorest's Magazine, $1.00	$4.00
The Christian Herald, New York	1.50	" "	1.50
Women's Home Companion	.50	" "	.50
Kechure's Magazine	1.00	" "	1.00
Cosmopolitan Magazine	1.00	" "	1.00
Munsey's Magazine	1.00	" "	1.00
Housewife	.50	" "	.50
Ladies' Home Journal	1.00	" "	1.00

Address DEMOREST PUBLISHING COMPANY, 110 Fifth Avenue, New York.

DO YOU KNOW THAT THERE IS SCIENCE IN NEATNESS? BE WISE AND USE

SAPOLIO

PISO'S CURE FOR CURES WHERE ALL ELSE FAILS. Best Cough Syrup. Tastes Good. Use in time. Sold by druggists. CONSUMPTION

DROPSY NEW DISCOVERY; gives quick relief and cures worst cases. Send for book of testimonials and 10 days' treatment Free. Dr. H. H. GREEN'S SONS, Atlanta, Ga.

A. N. K.—E 1897

WHEN WRITING TO ADVERTISERS please state that you saw the Advertisement in this paper.

BOONE CO., RECORDER.

Wednesday, October 20, 1897.

Advertising Rates:
One inch, one time.....$1.00
Each additional time.....25
Obituaries, Tributes of Respects or notices of a like nature, per inch .50

W. L. RIDDELL, - - Publisher.

Neighborhood News.

Bullittsville.

Wilson Gaines has gone to Missouri.

Temp Graves has returned from a visit to Missouri.

The Grange at this place will hold an open session on the 5th Saturday in this month. All are invited.

Elder Curry preached last Sunday, at Mt. Pleasant, filling his regular appointment. This is probably his last sermon for sometime, as he contemplates a visit to Mexico, after which he will go to Europe. It has been rumored that Elder Carnell, of Tennessee, will fill the pulpit thus vacated.

Verona.

On the beautiful day, Wednesday, October the 6th inst., at the residence of Mr. John M. Powers, Mr. Arthur Clarence Roberts and Miss Lulu Belle Powers were joined by the holy bonds of matrimony. The little parlor in which the ceremony was performed was tastefully decorated with golden rod for the occasion. Long before the appointed hour a large crowd had assembled to witness the nuptial ceremony, which was performed by Rev. Lafe Johnson in a most beautiful manner. Prof. Cook, one among the best of musicians, presided at the piano. The bride was attired in a beautiful costume of changeable brown silk, trimmed in white lace. She carried a bouquet of cream roses. The groom wore the usual costume of black. After the ceremony the happy couple repaired to Walton, where they took a train for the Queen City, from which place they will visit Lexington, and then return to go to housekeeping in Verona. The bride and groom received many presents that were useful as well as ornamental. Mr. and Mrs. Roberts go forth to meet a bright future, carrying with them the best wishes of many friends. —[The above was received too late for last week. The RECORDER tenders Mr. Roberts and hiswife its congratulations. —ED.]

Rabbit Hash.

Hubert Ryle has rented E. L. Clement's farm in East Bend.

Rev. T. L. Utz was not with his choir at the hall last Saturday.

Mrs. Bell, of Lick Creek, fell and hurt herself badly last Thursday.

Miss Alta Kelly lost her watch chain on her road home from the dance last Monday night.

We had quite a nice shower last week. It was welcomed by all who were out of water.

Quite an interesting meeting is being carried on at the East Bend Baptist church by Rev. Utz. Brother Hoover will assist this week. It is hoped they are not laboring in vain.

The farmers are about done sowing wheat and digging potatoes. It is said precious articles are always put up in small packages, so it is with the potatoes this year, they can be stored away in the egg goard.

Mr. Frank Scott entertained his many friends, both young and old, last Monday night, with a dance, which was a success in every way. Quite a number from a distance were there, viz. Mr. and Mrs. Harris and Bert Scott, from East Bend, Herman McNeal, of Gallatin county, Mr. Cage Stephens and Claud Ryle, of Hathaway, Mr. Tom Stephens, of Peru, and Bud Hammonds, of Alaska.

Bellevue.

Small grain all sown.

Mrs. John B. Davis has returned to her home in Louisville.

John Rolin has sown 70 acres of wheat on S. D. Rice's farm.

Jas. Snyder and wife were the guests of Michael Clore on Sunday last.

We have another M. D. in the person of Dr. Elliott, of Lawrenceburg, Ind.

Uncle Mike Clore is talking of gathering corn, of which he has an abundance.

Jessie Kelly is laying the foundation of a new house on the land belonging to his wife.

James Jarrell and wife, of Petersburg, were the guests of Jasper Sullivan and wife, on the 16th.

Lewis Brittenback and family, of Brooksburg, Ind., have been guests of friends in this place for the last week.

Bellevue has several nuisances in the form of very offensive pig pens. Will the Board of Health please take notice?

Mrs. Lenora Satchwell has rented and moved into the old Zimmerman property, recently vacated by Shelby Wright.

Mrs. A. Corbin, her daughter, Miss Permelia, and A. B. Corbin and wife, were guests of J. K. Corbin, of Aurora, on the 14th inst.

John Presser has completed the new ferry boat at McVille, and she is pronounced a good one. She made her trial trip last week by crossing an engine and clover huller, weighing six tons.

Gunpowder.

The young people met at Mrs. W. H. Garnett's Oct., 11, for the purpose of organizing a young people's Christian Endeavor Society. The meeting was called to order by Mr. E. K Tanner, who stated the object of the meeting and Mr. B. Crigler was made chairman. The following officers were then elected: President, D. Irvin Tanner; vice president, H. C. Beemon; secty., Harry L. Tanner; corresponding secty., T. J. Brown, treasurer, Miss Linnie Tanner; chorister, Prof. E. K. Tanner, and organist, Mrs. W. N. Surface. They then adjourned to meet at 7:30 p. m. Saturday evening Oct. 23, at the Hopeful Lutheran church.

Mr. William Henry Harrison Garnett celebrated his 44th birthday anniversary by giving the young people a party. Mr. Garnett received many presents, among which were four large sized boxes of shoe blacking. All that is needed now is a brush and some one to use it. Parlor games, singing and other amusements were in order. Some of the boys procured a good rail and took Mr. Garnett a birthday ride. Of course the rail had to break and so he got two rides instead of one. About 10 o'clock a sumptuous repast was served.

When I read the Richwood correspondent's report about six weeks ago, I concluded I would not write any more, until I had time to study composition, but after thinking for sometime about the matter, I concluded it was not any worse for me to write, being ignorant of the laws of rhetoric than it was for him to be so ignorant about bribery. However, there is an old saying that I desire to reiterate. It is this: "A tree is known by its fruit," and a school teacher by his pupils, and having had the opportunity to study composition under Bro. Richwood for some short time, shows he was not a very efficient teacher, and, by his phraseology we soon find that some more study on his part would not damage him, but prepare him to speak on "The Teacher as a Social factor in Politics."

Union.

Ask Pete Adams what gold fish are worth in Boston.

Mrs. Harriet Taliaferio was the guest of Mrs. Tobe Howlett this week.

James Utz is improving his 'pike by hauling and spreading gravel on it.

Mrs. Mary Hedges and daughter, Miss Mary, are visiting in Carrollton.

Robert Newman has rented and will move to the Gatson farm November 1.

The continued drought forces people to dig for water in every available place.

Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Rachal returned from Nashville and are keeping house on Main street.

Quantities of gravel and sand are being hauled from the creeks to repair roads and walks.

Esq. Bannister was visiting in Ohio, this week. He reports crops good and times improving over there.

Mrs. John Corbin, Mrs. Sallie Anderson and Miss Annie Riley, were calling in this neighborhood, Friday.

Tanner Bros.—Ezra, Ell and Lute—have completed Webb Newman's residence, and it shows up in good style.

J. L. Fraizer, O. R. Norman and Sam Lunsford, were trying to catch all the fish in Carpenter's pond, Friday—fish, nit!

James A. Huey is taking the dirt out of his cellar, and terracing the front yard in order to level up and have flowers.

Messrs. John Rouse and Noah Tanner were spending a pleasant hour with the boys on the corner, Sunday evening.

Mr. Becker, our village shoemaker, has all the work he can do. His prices are very reasonable, and his work first-class.

Geo. Smith purchased a short horn calf from Alfred Wingate, recently, 5 months old that weighs 500 pounds or more.

Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Gaines and Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Gaines, of Bullittsville, were the guests of Dr. Crouch and wife Sunday.

Charlie Whitson believes that the sun shines brighter and that the air is purer over near Richwood, than any other spot on earth.

Ezra Blankenbecker was at the Cincinnati stockyards, last week, trying to buy feeding cattle, but found the supply short and the prices high.

Miss Hattie Gatson lost a vest chain and locket between her home and the Presbyterian church. The finder will please return to her and receive reward.

Wm. Sutherland was visiting in Woodford county, recently, and reports crops poor, and dry weather prevailing to a greater degree than it is in this county.

Messrs. C. T. Rice and Wm. Adams are strong believers that the world will soon come to an end. They base their opinions on the sigus of the times, le—wars and rumors of wars, and the prevalence of all kinds of immorality and crime.

Mike Kanalley is the proudest man around here at present. He steps around with the air of a man who has a joyous future before him, and it all comes of his estimable wife presenting him with a pair of bouncing girl babies last Saturday. The mother and babies are doing well.

Jeff Rouse & Co., proprietors of the Union saw and grist mill, are unable to transact any business on account of a lack of water. The "Elm hole," a famous watering place, is almost dry. Jeff is thinking seriously of digging a large cistern in order to have water in abundance. They will be prepared to crack feed and grind meal when it rains again.

The Truthtellers' reform club held a meeting at the corner of Main and High streets, one evening recently, and the following specials were offered: A Mexican pony in Nebraska that threw a Cow Boy so quick that his boots were left hanging in the stirrups. Another pony in Colorado that bucked so hard and fast that its shoes knocked fire out of the boulders, setting fire to the prarie grass, burning itself and rider up. After these two were offered one of the members got a mouse up his pants' leg and made so much noise that the club adjourned.

Beaver.

Esq. W. C. Johnson is attending the F. and A. M. Grand Lodge at Louisville, this week.

Miss Sallie Dudgeon was knocked off of her horse by a reckless rider as she was going to South Fork church a few nights since. She was unconscious for some time.

Died, on the 16th inst., Mrs. Sallie Manning, aged 65 years and 2 months. After services by Rev. Rolan, the interment took place in the Methodist cemetery.

Miss Rose Wilson has dismissed her school at Big Bone Springs on accout of diptheria. Dr. Byle reports four cases at James Brigg's.

The I. O. O. F. of Big Bone Springs had a nice supper last Saturday night. Several brothers from McVille were present.

An emigraut wagon passed through town the other day, traveling toward the northwest—propably headed for the Klondike gold fields.

As we go to press Tuesday afternoon, it looks very much like rain.

Foot ball accidents are being reported.

Alas, and even the spider web sign failed to bring rain.

Hauling water is the principal business of the local teamsters.

J. S. Clutterbuck will open a meat store in connection with his general store.

Quittman & Co., will be in Burlington again next county court day to buy horses.

J. W. Craig has been nominated for reelection as clerk of the Gallatin Circuit Court.

The smoke that has been hanging around for several days, gave an Indian summer appearance.

When W. J. Rice drives his breaking cart through town, it sounds like a train of empties passing.

The County Court appointed F. A. Utz, T. B. Aylor and W. E. Vest commissioners to divide E. W. Rouse's land.

Our neighborhood correspondents, no doubt, are busy hauling water for stock and domestic purposes, hence an unusual scarcity of neighborhood news this week.

Jack Sandford, Clem Kendall, Chas. Wilson and Clint Weaver cut a very rich bee tree out on the Hughes farm, last Saturday. They secured 80 pounds of nice honey and numerous stings.

Miss Olga Kirkpatrick has been appointed to supersede Mr. Dudley Rouse as postmaster at Burlington. Mr. Rouse has been postmaster for 28 years, and one of the best the county ever had.

With this issue the RECORDER closes out its 22d year. It does not look like it has been that long since we were endeavoring to pursuade the people that it was possible for it to live three months.

Dixon's store at Crescent, was entered last Saturday night and about $15 worth of goods was stoleu. There is no cleu to the thief, but suspicion points to a stranger who got off of a southbound train there that evening.

Madeline Esther Reaum aged 6, and Dora May Reen, aged 7 years will entertain at Erianger town hall, Friday evening, October 29, for the benefit of the Baptist church at that place. Admission, (adult's ticket) 25 cents.

After arriving at home J. M. Lassing read in the paper of an attempt at Lagrange, Oldham county, to wreck the train on which he and his wife returned from Nashville. He knew there was something wrong at Lagrange, but did not learn what it was at the time.

W. T. Aylor, of the Hebron neighborhood, was in town yesterday. He is one farmer who congratulates himself on having an abundance of water for both stock and domestic purposes, and it is all furnished by one well, which he says was never known to fail.

Democrats, one week from next Tuesday you will be called upon to vote for a Clerk of the Court of Appeals, and a full ticket of county offi—. Boone county do her duty and roll up her usual Democratic majority. Every Democrat should go to the polls and vote and induce his neighbor to do likewise.

Bro. Wallace, of the Warsaw Independent, wants to know what he has done that the Independent has not received the RECORDER for a month. We thought the Independent was on our mailing list all that time, and now hasten to place it there. It was omitted in the shifting of offices. We want the Independent to come to our exchange table as long as we publish a paper.

The interest in the protracted meeting at the Beaver Baptist church continues to grow, and up to and inciuding last Sunday night there had been 44 additions. Rev. E. N. Dicken went home last Friday, up to which time 23 had united with the church. The house will not begin to accommodate the immense crowd that assembles from far and near to hear the powerful sermons Dr. Adams is delivering.

The Kenton county Democrats nominated the following ticket for county offices at their primary election, last Friday: For Circuit Judge, James P. Tarvin; Circuit Clerk, Ed Miller; Commonwealth's Attorney, D. A. Glenn; County Judge, M. T. Shine; County Clerk, Alex. Davezac; Sheriff, John Beeke; Jailer, John Maurer; Assessor, Gus W. Menninger; Coroner, W. W. Tarvin; Judge Covington Police Court, Cecil Pence. Each nomiuee received a majority so large that they and their friends were surprised at its magnitude.

F. A. Utz, of Florence, was in town Saturday morning. He represented his —Venus Lodge I. O. O. F.—at the recent session of the Grand Lodge, and, with his vote, assisted in reducing the degree fees in subordinate lodges from $25 to $15. The proposition to reduce the degree fees received exactly two-thirds of the vote cast, that being the lowest number by which it could be carried. He says the committee on Widows' and Orphans' Home reported it had raised only $15,000, and in a few minutes after the report $6,500 more was raised on the floor of the Grand Lodge.

There is less tobacco on the market now than there was one year ago, and the trade indicates a continuation of a condition most favorable to the producers, the advance of the price for all grades continuing, and the position of the market is said, by those who have been constantly engaged in the business to be as strong as at any time for ten years. The growers have ever reason to believe that they will receive very much better prices than they anticipated when they were pitching the 1897 crop. While the crop is a short one it is curing up nicely and much good tobacco will be marketed, but the crop is short at least one-half, and it will take at least another year, with conditions favorable, to supply the deficit in the crop of tobacco.

Go to John Schmidt, the Shoemaker, to have your harness repaired. Boots and Shoes made to order. Repairing a specialty. All work guaranteed.

The high price tobacco is bringing hastens the stripping in order to have it ready for market on short notice.

Rev. Hoover went to East Bend, Monday, to assist Rev. T. L. Utz with the protracted meeting there.

The indications for a rain began to become more pronounced yesterday.

The turnip crop was completely knocked out by the dry weather in this part of the county.

Felix Gaines, of Utzinger was in town yesterday.

Notice to Trespassers.

We, the undersigned, hereby give notice that we have posted our farms, according to law, against trespass of all kinds, and will enforce the law against those who trespass thereon by hunting or otherwise.

John Stephens	Robt McGlasson
M T Graves	Wm Graves
John J Rucker	J W Watts
Jas L Riley	Temp Gaines
Wm Riley	Allie Corn
Henry McGlasson	Hubert Cropper
Geo McGlasson	Joe Graves

NOTICE.

Notice is hereby given that I am sole owner of the personal property on my farm near J. W. Kite's store, this county, and no one is authorized to sell same or any part of it.

LENNORA SATCHWILL.
Sept. 10th, 1897.

Public Sale!

I will sell at Public Auction, at my residence near Union, Boone County, Ky., on

Thursday, Nov. 4th, 1897,

My Farm Containing

123 ACRES OF GOOD LAND,

Lying on the Union & Beaver Turnpike, 3 miles from Richwood Sta., on the C. N. & T. P. R. R.

Said farm has a good

Frame Dwelling of Seven Rooms,

Hall, Vestibule, Pantry, three Porches, Good Cellar, Large Barn and other Out Buildings, two Cisterns

And Never Failing Springs,

Orchard of Various kinds of Fruit Trees.

Terms Made Known on Day of Sale.

HENRY TUCKER.
W. H. CHAMBERS, Auct'r.

Sale to begin at 2 o'clock p. m.

For Sale.

Good frame house of six rooms, and good barn and lot, at Big Bone, Ky. For further particulars apply to

M. C. CARROLL,
Big Bone, Ky.

For Sale or Rent.

Good Stock Farm of 170 acres. Money rent in cash, if rented.

Wm. C. HENSLEY.

Administrator's Notice.

I have this day been appointed administrator of the estate of James A. Botts, deceased, and all persons indebted to said estate must pay same at once and all persons having claims against said estate must present them to me or my attorney S. W. Tolin, at Burlington, Ky., proven as by law required.

EDWIN BOTTS, Adm'r.
Sept. 20th, 1897.

Farm for Sale!

—(o)—

In Boone county, Ky., on the North Bend Road, 14 miles from Burlington, 1 mile from Hebron and 5 miles from Anderson's Ferry, and contains seventy-eight acres, good cottage of 5 rooms and good barn, orchard of 200 trees select fruit. The farm is all under good state of cultivation. For terms apply to

LASSING & RIDDELL,
Burlington, Ky.

FOURTH YEAR.

OF WALTON ACADEMY,

—opens—

MONDAY, SEPTEMBER 6th, 1897
AT WALTON, KY.

Three Courses of Study to choose from:
English, Scientific or Classical,
Tuition per month,...$2.50 and $3.00
Vocal and Instrumental Music at moderate rates.

We have a fine, new building with rooms for pupils, connected.—Board only $2.50 per week, or $2.00 for 5 days.

Thorough, Substantial Work
Guaranteed.

Teachers { Mrs. S. H. MYERS. CHAS. F. PRIOR. Rev. S. H. MYERS.

Further information gladly given by mail or interview.

BOOTS & SHOES
MADE TO ORDER.

Work Strictly First-Class.
Prices to Suit the Times.

Harness, Boots and Shoes Neatly Repaired. Give me a trial.

CHRISTIAN BECKER,
Union, Ky.

29sp12m

Subscribe for the Recorder.

GO TO
HANKINS, DAVIS & CO., General Merchants,
HEBRON AND [illegible]
A Good Supply of Feed always on Hand.

GARDEN AND FIELD SEEDS.

Undertaking is given special attention. Funerals under the personal supervision of J. C. HANKINS.

A good supply of Coal on hand at Constance at all times.

Hebron. HANKINS, DAVIS & CO. Constance

S. L. EDWARDS. A. M. EDWARDS.

EDWARDS BROTHERS,

DEALERS IN

HARDWARE
—AND—
Agricultural Implements,

Furniture,
Stoves,
Tinware,
Saddlery,
Oils and Paints,
Wall Paper.

UNDERTAKING & EMBALMING A SPECIALTY.

We have added a first-class Tin Shop and are prepared to do Tin, Iron and Paper Roofing and guarantee all work done by us.

EDWARDS BROS., - - Walton, Ky.

JOHN ALLISON,

UNDER-  EMBALMER,

—Corner Pike & Russell Streets,—
COVINGTON, KENTUCKY.
INDEPENDENT OF UNDERTAKERS' UNION.

THEY : MUST : GO.

Desiring to quit that branch of the business I am Closing OUT MY ENTIRE STOCK OF

MEN'S & BOYS' Ready-Made CLOTHING

At the greatest bargains ever offered in Covington.

MY TAILORING DEPARTMENT
Will be continued, and I have on hand the Finest Line of Suitings in the three cities. Give me a call.

H. F. BLASE, 540 Madison Avenue, COVINGTON, KY.

jany 1-98

WHY WORRY ABOUT Where to go to Buy Your Men's, Boys' and Children's Clothing,

Come in and inspect our FALL LINE, and you will find it complete in every respect. Quality, Style, Workmanship and Prices guaranteed. You can see where ours excel at a glance. Many years experience in the Clothing business enables us to buy very close; our expenses are low, and we are always satisfied with Small Profits, this is positive proof that our prices are ROCK BOTTOM.

ROLFES & WACHS, RELIABLE CLOTHIERS

S. W. Cor. Pike & Madison Ave. Covington, Ky.

QUEEN & CRESCENT.

During the Tennessee Centennial and International Exposition at Nashville, Tenn., a low rate special tarift has been established for the sale of tickets from Cincinnati and other terminal points on the Queen & Crescent Route.

Tickets are on sale daily until further notice to Chattanooga at $6.75 one way or $7.20 round trip from Cincinnati; the round trip tickets being good seven days to return; other tickets, with longer return limit, at $9.90 and $13.50 for the round trip.

These rates enable the public to visit Nashville and other Southern points at rates never before offered. Vestibuled trains of the finest class are at the disposal of the passenger, affording a most pleasant trip, and enabling one to visit the very interesting scenery and important battle-grounds in and about Chicdamauga, Lookout Mountain and Chickamauga National Millitary Park. Tickets to Nashville to visit the Centennial can be repurchased at Chattanooga for $3.40 round trip. Ask your ticket agent for tickets via Cincinnati and the Q. & C. Route South or write to

W. C. RINEARSON, G. P. Agt., Cincinnati, O.

Subscribe for the Recorder.

Local News.

A great many leaves on the streets now.

The squirrel hunters stay close about the hickory trees.

Good water barrels have been real luxuries for several weeks.

A prolonged wet spell is what this country needs and needs badly.

The wheat that was sowen previous to the rain is coming up.

Best line of flannels, jeans, yarns and blankets at Niebaum's, Aurora.

The town Nimrods have been getting their share of the squirrels this fall.

The walnuts are furnishing entertainment for many of the small boys.

The condition of many cisterns has been very much improved in the last few weeks.

E. H. Niebaum's is the best place to get good muslins, shirtings and calicoes at close prices.

It was a land slide over in Kenton in favor of the winners in the primary election, last Friday

Atty. G. G. Hughes did the farming act last Thursday—he gathered and cribbed his "crap" of corn.

Headquarters for children's ladies' and men's underwear, cloaks, capes, hosiery, gloves, &c., at E. H. Niebaum's Aurora.

It is a very unusual thing for the mercury to register 90 in this latitude in October, but that is what it did last Thursday.

Thomas J. Adams and several of his neighbors down on Gunpowder have sold their tobacco for $10 all around, to Hiram Long.

TO CURE A COLD IN ONE DAY.
Take Laxative Bromo Quinine Tablets. All druggists refund the money if it fails to cure. 25c

Don't shoot qualis until after November 15th, and it would be a good idea if none of those birds were shot for a year or two after that date.

Bro. Cobb of the Independent, has a twenty year-old filly which he proposes to match in a trotting race against any or all trotters in or around Aurora.

McNight, who was defeated for sheriff in the Republican primary election in Kenton county, last Thursday, was loud in his charges of fraud against him.

D. M. Snyder, of Bellevue, will have potato onions on sale in Burlington on next County Court day—price, $1 per bushel, with instructions how to grow them.

Frank Maxwell is holding his tobacco for a better price than his neigbors got, which was $10. When the price reaches 12 cents he will begin thinking about selling.

Clinton Gaines and Owen Watts, of Bullittsville, passed through town, late Saturday afternoon, following a drove of nice young cattle, which they bought in the Rabbit Hash neighborhood.

Don't forget the sale of the personal estate of the late James A. Botts. It will be a large sale. For a partial list of property and terms of sale, see advertisement else where in this paper.

Those candidates who were defeated in the primary election over in Kenton county, last Friday, ought to have known better than to go into a primary held on Friday, and at that particular phaze of the moon.

At the next term of the county Court, Morse and Goins, of Constance, will apply for a license to sell whisky at that places. It looks now very much like the county is soon to have a full crop of saloons doing business again.

F. P. Walton is having the resident portion of his property here repaired; Everett Hall is putting the finishing touches on his tonsorial parlor; the work of remodeling the Boone House has increased its pace, and other improvements are going on.

Dr. Zumstine and Miss Mattie Papet, Adam Vesenmeirer and Miss Grace McCool, of Petersburg, had a narrow escape from a watery grave as they returned home from Aurora, one evening last week. They were cutting up in the skiff, which capsized and sank. They were rescued by Mr. Helms, who chanced to be near at hand in his skiff.

Colored bird's eye view of Chattanooga, Mission Ridge, Waldon's Ridge and portions of the Chickamauga field as seen from the summit of the Lookout Mountain. Highest style of lithographer's art. On fine paper, plate 10x24. Mailed for 10 cents in stamps. W. C. RINEARSON, Gen'l Pass'r Agt. Q. & C. Route, Cincinnati, O.

Legrand Gaines, the overseer in the road district in which this end of the Petersburg 'pike lies, is having considerable stone hauled on that part of the road in the town limits. The 'pike stops at the corporation line near A. O. Hall's residence, and from there on to the center of town, the county has jurisdiction over the thoroughfare.

H. W. Harrison, dentist, of Rising Sun, Ind., will be in Burlington on the first and third Monday in each month, to do work for those who wish anything in his line. He will be here two days each visit. He is a son of the late R. F. Harrison, of Carrollton, and a graduate of the Pennsylvania College of Dentistry at Philadelphia. He is highly recommended in his profession.

How dear to our heart is the old yellow pumpkin, when orchards are barren of stuffing for pies; when peaches and apples have both been a failure and berries of all kinds have greeted the eyes; how fondly we turn to the fruit of the cornfield, the fruit that our children are taught to despise, the old, yellow pumpkin, the old, muddy pumpkin, the big bellied pumpkin that makes such good pies.

PERSONAL MENTION.

Kirb Tra[illegible] the cripples' list.

Rev. Corp [illegible] Mt. Pleasant last Sunday.

Mrs. A[illegible]ler, of Florence, was in town, Monday.

William [illegible] of East Bend, was in town last Saturday.

L. W. Wells, of Rome City, Ohio, was visiting here yesterday.

J. M. Lassing's wife returned from Nashville, Sunday morning.

R. H. Sandford, of Covington, has been in town since, Monday.

Henry Quick and Chester Davis, of Hebron, were in town Sunday.

Mrs. H. W. Ryle, of Erlanger, was visiting in Burlington, Monday.

J. J. Huey and John T. Marshall, of Bellevue, were in town Monday.

The young people enjoyed a pie party at O. J. Ryle's, last Friday night.

B. W. Buffington, from near the Aurora ferry, was in town yesterday.

William Adams, of Pleasant Hill, was a visitor to the hub yesterday.

James Hogan has gone over to R. L. Willis' to build a flock of cisterns.

T. G. Willis, the Democratic nominee for Assessor, was in town Saturday.

Henry Phipps and Mrs. A. J. Barker and daughter are visiting in Tennessee.

Wilson Gaines is doing some good work on the public road just north of town.

Lee Eddins and John Bentler were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Tony Bentler, Sunday.

A company of Grant county feather renovators are located here for the present.

Miss Ella Duncan has been visiting in the Beaver neighborhood since last Saturday.

Harry Adams, the Hamilton merchant, was in town, last Saturday a few hours.

J. S. Clutterbuck has moved into the residence from which J. H. Ryle and wife moved.

Mr. Smith, our shoemaker, has put in a new sewing machine to assist in turning off work.

Stephen Gaines, of the Petersburg neighborhood, was visiting his brother, Sidney, yesterday.

John H. Ryle and wife are now residents of Erlanger. We are sorry to lose them as citizens.

Thomas Hafer, of Hebron, was one of the several persons from a distance in town, last Saturday.

Henry Quick, of Hebron, is at work on the Boone House, as is also John Baldwin, of Piattsburg.

Mrs. Hal Presser, of Hathaway, was visiting at O. J. Ryle's, a few days the latter part of last week.

T. W. Finch made a business trip to the Verona neighborhood, Sunday, returning home on Monday.

Harry Blyth is busy building a new coal house, and is giving politics but little attention for the present.

F. P. Walton, of Uttzinger, was in town a day or two, last week, superintending the repairs on his house.

Geo. R. Berkshire and James. M. Thompson, of Petersburg, were guests at the Boone House Monday night.

Tommie Hogan came over from Riverside, Ohio, last Sunday to visit his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Hogan.

Miss Lottie Garrison is the most recent accession to the ranks of the Burlington cyclists, receiving her wheel last Saturday.

Mrs. Agness Duigiud, who was visiting W. F. Grant's the latter part of last week, is visiting at Jas. T. Grant's, at Bullittsville.

John Baker and wife, and Ezra Blankenbecker and wife, of the Union neighborhood, were guests at W. I. Rouse's, last Sunday.

Sheriff Roberts and Master Commissioner Berkshire were in the Verona neighborhood, on official business, the latter part of last week.

Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Tanner, of Richwood, were in town last Thursday. Mr. Tanner called in and renewed his allegiance to the Recorder.

Joseph Birkle, of Bellevue, called on us, last Friday morning. He is an enthusiastic member of the new lodge of Odd-Fellows at that place.

Mrs. O. J. Ryle returned home last Thursday from a week's very pleasant visit with her relatives and friends in the Hathaway neighborhood.

Miss Lottie Garrison is busy selling baking powder to pay for a bicycle. Buy a package from her, it will keep, and is said to be a good article.

Addison Riddell, of the Beaver neighborhood, expects to move to the northern part of the county, shortly, to cultivate one of C. W. Riley's farms.

Senator Conner was in town Saturday morning. His arm that was injured when he was thrown by a horse not long since, is about well again.

Richard Stephens, Democratic committeeman in the Rabbit Hash precinct, accompanied by his neighbor, Al Wilson, was in town, last Saturday.

O. W. Gaines and C. W. Riley, of Bullittsville, were in town last Saturday afternoon, on their way to McVille, to visit the Masonic lodge at that place.

D. B. Morse the Constance druggist, was in town, last Friday, and posted a notice of application for a saloon license, the saloon to be kept by him and a Mr. Goins.

W. J. Rice was bringing Mr. W. E. Townsley, from Anderson's ferry out to his house with his long ranged cart and young nag, last Sunday, and at Jacob Tanner's the animal took a kicking spree, and made things very lively for a while.

Hon. John S. Gaunt, of Carrollton, was elected Grand Master by the Grand Lodge of Odd-Fellows in session at Owensboro, last week, and the Courier-Journal of the day following his election, contained a picture purporting to be of Mr. Gaunt, but it looked as much like Grover Cleveland as it did the Grand Master.

W. M. RACHAL & CO.,

A REGULAR KLONDIKE.

No use going to Alaska when you can find a regular Klondike in the way of VALUES at OUR STORE. Notwithstanding the advance in nearly all lines, we shall continue to give customers the benefit of our advantage of having bought largely before the advance.

PROOF:

Ladies Fine Shoes, per pair 75c,—worth double the money.

UNION, KENTUCKY.

We know perfectly well that you will buy your goods where you can

Get the Most for Your Money

and where the most will also be good. Knowing this we wouldn't be foolish enough to tell you we keep good goods at the

Lowest Prices

if it wasn't so. Bring in your produce and we will take it same as cash.

HEADLIGHT OIL, per gallon. 7½c.

UNION, - - - - KENTUCKY.

PUBLIC SALE!

As Administrator of James A. Botts, deceased, I will sell at his late residence, in Boone County, Kentucky, on Saturday, October 23, 1897,

The Following Property, to-wit:

10 Work Horses and Colts of the celebrated Almont Stock and others; 16 fat Hogs, 1 fine Brood Sow, 1 Cow and Calf, about 100 barrels of Corn in field, lot of Tobacco on sticks in the barn, lot of tobacco sticks, lot of Millet in the barn, Cutting Box, Corn Sheller, Farm Wagon, Buggy, Sleigh, 2-horse Sled, Buggy Pole, Yoke and Set of Double Buggy Harness, and Plow Harness, Farming Implements, Sewing Machine, Ward Robe,

Household and Kitchen Furniture,

Of all kinds, about 100 Chickens and 80 Turkeys, Farm Bell, Tobacco Screw and Frame, and other articles too numerous to mention.

TERMS OF SALE.

Sums of $5 and under, cash; on sume over that amount a credit of 6 months will be given, purchaser to give note with good security, negotiable and payable at the Boone County Deposit Bank. Terms of sale to be complied with before property is removed.

EDWIN BOTTS,
Administrator

Sale to begin at 9 o'clock a. m.

W. E. CHAMBERLAIN,
DEALER IN UP TO DATE
FURNITURE,
HOUSEHOLD FURNISHINGS, ETC.,
HIGH STREET,
Lawrenceburg, - Indiana.
—HAUCK BUILDING.—
☞Stylish and Durable Oak BED ROOM SUITS,
☞All-Oak SIDE BOARDS, As Handsome as the Finest.
☞INGRAIN CARPETS,
☞BRUSSELS CARPETS.

W. E. CHAMBERLAIN,
LAWRENCEBURG, INDIANA.

Knippenberg & Fike,
Carriage and Wagon Makers,
Repairing, Painting & Trimming.
ALL WORK GUARANTEED.
Foot of Walnut Street,
Lawrenceburg, - - - Indiana

[Enquirer Oct. 14.]

Yesterday, after a year of almost constant suffering, Dr. J. J. Dulaney, one of Covington's best-known physicians, passed to the beyond. For more than a month he has been bed-ridden at his home on West Fourth street, and his death has been expected almost hourly.

Dr. Dulaney was a man of vigorous physique and careful habits. A year since he was in excellent health and seemed promised a hale and hearty old age. Almost exactly a year ago, however, he was badly injured in a runaway accident at Crescent Springs, and he never recovered from the effects of the accident. Lately a general physical breaking down, due to his long suffering, has completely disabled him. His death occurred yesterday afternoon.

Dr. Dulaney was one of the most successful and popular physicians in Kenton county. His practice was a very profitable one and his investment of the proceeds in farming land of Kenton and Boone made him the owner of a large amount of valuable property. Dr. Dulaney was 65 years of age and was born and raised in Boone county. He was a graduate of the Ohio Medical College and was for 22 years a practitioner in Covington. Early in his professional career he married Miss Blackburn, sister of Mr. James Blackburn, of Covington, and cousin of Hon. J. C. S. Blackburn. The death of Mrs. Dulaney, which occurred several years since, was a sad shock to the doctor, as he was a most devoted and generous husband. Dr. Dulaney leaves a son, William, and daughter, Mrs. Ellen D. Hall, with whom he has lived since the death of his wife, Dr. B. A. Dulaney, of Florence, and Robert Dulaney, of Erlanger, are brothers of the dead man.

Dr. Dulaney was a member of the Masonic order and his funeral will be under the direction of the order. Services will be held at the residence, 30 West Fourth street, at 10 a. m. Friday.

F. H. Russell, Republican candidate for county representative, spoke at the court house, last Saturday night, and if the Democrats had not turned out to hear him, his audience would have been limited to eight true and loyal Republicans. Mr Russell made a good average Republican speech, it was composed principally of statistics compiled for campaign purposes. If Boone was to take a notion to elect a Republican to the legislature, there is no member of that, party that is more worthy of the honor than Mr. Russell.

The following is the programme of the exercises of the Epworth League meeting next Friday night:—Chorus; The Dolls' Hospital, by the little folks; Solo, Miss Duncan; Duett, Mrs. M. L. Riddell and Mrs. C. C. Hughes; Recitation, Miss Lotta Hall; Chorus; Quartette; Select Reading, Mrs. Hughes; Duet, Mrs. M. L. Riddell and Miss Ella Duncan; Organ Solo, Herbert McKim; Recitation, Lottie Garrison; Solo, Mrs. Berkshire; Recitation, Katie Runyan; Sewing Society; Chorus.

Queen and Crescent Low Rates.—W. C. U. Convention, Toronto, Ont. (Canadian) October 20-22, (World's) October 23-26, 1897.

Public Health Association, (American); Philadelphia, Pa., October 25-29, 1897. W. C. T. U. Convention, National; Buffalo, New York, October 27-November 6, 1897.

Congregational Methodist Church, General Conference; Calvert, Texas, November 8-13, 1897.

Some who threw salt in their wells say the supply of water was increased thereafter, but in Willis Grant's well a good article of brine was the result.

Anything you want in dress goods at right prices. E. H. Niebum, Aurora.

NOTICE.

Mr. Frank Russell, the Republican candidate for representative of Boone county, will discuss the issues of the day from a business stand point before the people, to which the Democratic and Republican candidates are invited to attend and take part at the places and dates to-wit:

Petersburg, Oct. 22, at 7 p. m.
Bullittsville, Oct. 23, at 7 p. m.
Verona, Oct. 25, at 7 p. m.
Walton, Oct. 26, at 7 p. m.
Union, Oct. 27, at 7 p. m.
Florence, Oct. 28, at 7 p. m.
Constance, Oct. 29, at 7 p. m.

Tonie Bentler's team made things quite lively in the barn yard at the residence of the late Ezra Rouse, last Friday morning. The horses were left standing while James Clore's wagon was being loaded with clover hay in the barn. When Clore's wagon drove out of the barn, the noise caused by the hay rubbing against the building frightened Bentler's horses, and they commenced a circuit of the lot, and were not stopped until one of them got a hind foot tangled up with a front wheel and gave up, and how it happened that the animal's leg was not broken is a mystery to those who saw the manner in which it was fastened. The only real damage done was to the wagon; two or three feet of the end of the tongue being broken off.

To the taxpayers in the Burlington school district that have not paid their school tax for 1896, that I would like for them to pay the money forthwith. I bought the desks for the school house and paid for them, and your children are getting the benefit of them

J. F. BLYTH.

Order of Reference.

Boone Circuit Court.
Jordan Beemon's Admr. Piff.
vs
Jordan Beemon's heirs &c. Defts.

This cause is now referred to J. B. Berkshire, Master Commissioner of this court, under Section 431 Civil Code of practice, with the following instructions:

1. He will audit and settle the accounts of the administrator.

2. He will hear proof on and report the debts against the estate and how secured if at all.

3. He will hear proof, ascertain and determine what real estate decedent owned at the time of his death, where located and the probable value thereof.

4. He will give due notice of the time and place of his sittings by written or printed notices posted up at the Court House door in Burlington, Ky., five days preceeding his sittings and also publish said notices in the Boone Co., Recorder. He will report at the next term of this court.

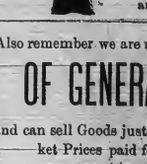
Given under my hand as clerk of said court, this October 8th, 1897.

J. W. DUNCAN, Clerk.

The undersigned hereby gives notice that he will begin his sittings on the 1st day of November, 1897, at the Circuit Clerk's office in Burlington, Ky., to hear proof in the above styled cause and will adjourn from day to day (Sunday excepted) to the 1st day of Dec., 1897. All persons having claims against Jordan Beemon's estate will present them to me properly proven as by law required.

J. B. BERKSHIRE, Master Com.

NOTICE.



All persons holding claims against Ezra W. Rouse, dec'd are hereby notified that they must present them to me at once proven as by law required, those owing same will please come forward and settle at once.

Mrs. EMMA ROUSE, Adm'rx.
Lassing & Riddell, Attys.

Buy COFFEE and TEA of the J. L. BILL COFFEE & TEA CO., a Ticket ☞given with every 25c purchase and handsome presents given away.☜

The J. L. BILL
Coffee and Tea Co.
THE BEST BRANDS OF FLOUR,
12 W. Seventh & S. E. Cor. Sixth & Bakewell,
COVINGTON, KY.
WM. F. NEAD, Salesman.

FARMERS!

Make the most of your crops, buy the best Wind-mill outfit made—The AERMOTOR—abundance of power wasting right over your heads, grasp the opportunity—Grind and Cut your own Feed and that of your neighbors—feed economically.

THE AERMOTOR

will bear close inspection and is guaranteed to work right. They are Cheap. Come and see it work and be convinced.

Also remember we are still in the ring with a complete line

OF GENERAL MERCHANDISE

and can sell Goods just as cheap as anyone. Highest market Prices paid for COUNTRY PRODUCE or anything salable. Come and see

OUR : STOCK,

It Speaks for Itself.

Don't forget that "LaBELLE" HERD

Of Chester White Hogs

Is ready to supply Choice Stock at Reasonable Prices.

T. J. HUGHES, - BEAVER LICK, KY.

TAKE YOUR OWN COUNTY PAPER.
Only $1.50 per Year.

THE RECORDER

W. L. RIDDELL, Publisher.

BURLINGTON, . . . KY.

OCTOBER—1897.

Sun.	Mon.	Tue.	Wed.	Thur.	Fri.	Sat.
....	....	....	....	....	1	2
3	4	5	6	7	8	9
10	11	12	13	14	15	16
17	18	19	20	21	22	23
24	25	26	27	28	29	30
31	....	....	....	....	....	....

Uncle Sam's fleet of five torpedo boats is called "a mosquito squadron," and if it lives up to its name the discomfort of the enemy will be all that could be desired.

British landlords are said to own 20,000,000 acres of land in this country, an area larger than that of Ireland. It is not comparatively much of a slice in our domain.

Connecticut has adopted a constitutional amendment providing that no man shall vote without proving his ability to read the constitution and state statutes in the English language.

Raising horses is likely still to be a profitable business. Good horses are now in active demand and bring good prices. This list includes both carriage teams and heavy draught horses. Poor stock is in oversupply.

A chemist comes forward to argue that adulterants are not harmful. It is true that water is not poisonous, but when secretly used to dilute milk it may be extremely harmful, especially in the case of small children who are robbed of nourishment.

Prof. Landerer, of Stuttgart, who has been experimenting for years in the treatment of tuberculosis, has treated 400 patients with a soluble salt of cinnamic acid and he believes that almost all the patients so treated have been permanently cured.

The anti-gambling amendment to the state constitution in New Jersey was not defeated, as at first reported. It received a majority of over 600. But the vote was light, and the organized friends of the gamblers came near carrying their point. Any kind of gaming hereafter in New Jersey will be punishable by imprisonment.

The son born to the duke of Marlborough will, if he lives, inherit the titles of marquis of Blandford, earl of Sunderland, earl of Marlborough, Baron Spencer of Wormleigh, Baron Churchill of Sandridge, [illegible] hereditary prince of the holy Roman empire and prince of Mindelheim in Suabia. He will be known henceforth as the marquis of Blandford and will be the tenth duke.

In case the bicycle becomes prominent in war, all the forces will want to invest in more tac-tix. It is said that "Germany is training bloodhounds to bring down the French bicycle troops in time of war." Half the money spent in sixounce tacks would do it better. A tenlinch gun loaded with tacks pointed along any highway where such a troop might come would cause loud talk.

Pittsburgh papers announce the manufacture of steel barrels as a new industry. The Standard Oil company wishes to get rid of wooden barrels, and is trying to substitute steel barrels for them. The manufacture of steel barrels has been attempted in England with success, and the Standard Oil officers have been watching the experiments with interest. People all over the world will soon be using them for airtight stoves.

The anarchists, it appears, have not been neglecting the two "youthful despots." A plot to kill the kaiser on his recent trip to Russia was discovered, and a conspiracy was unearthed to assassinate the czar on his visit to Poland a short time ago. No damage was done in either instance. These plots show, however, that presidents and premiers are not the only sort of magnates who have won the anarchists' hostility. Kaisers and czars are also in peril, but they are guarded better than the rulers of more liberal governments.

Dr. W. L. Moore, chief of the weather bureau at Washington, who is both physician and mineralogist, states that during the months of January, February and March 1,200 suicides were reported in the United States. In July, August and September there were 1,600. There were 1,700 murders and 50 persons lynched or hanged during the three cold months, and 2,500 murders and 113 hanged or lynched during the three hot months. Investigations are being conducted in regard to the connection between crime and atmospheric conditions.

The Arkansas valley has been selected as the site of the first colonization project of the Salvation Army in the United States, and hundreds of families from the large cities are to be located on farms of their own with sufficient start to speedily become self-supporting, this being the aim and object of the colonization idea. There is a field in this country for teaching the very poor in the great cities that health, happiness and financial independence are within their reach if they will relinquish urban surroundings and become tillers of the soil. The Salvation Army is doing a good work.

LUMP JAW.

Has Appeared Among Cattle in Manitoba—Importation of Cattle Into the United States Will Be Stopped.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 14.—The department of state has been informed by the United States consul, M. M. Duffie, at Winnipeg that there has appeared among cattle in that section a disease known as "actinomycocis" commonly called, "lump jaw" which has been placed on the list of infectious or contagious diseases by the department of agriculture of Manitoba. He farther states that a large number of poor, cheap cattle are being shipped to the United States for grazing purposes and advises cattlemen, on the frontier, to look out for the disease and that the importation of cattle be immediately stopped.

The international court of arbitration, which is to pass on the British-Venezuela boundary, has been completed by the selection of M. Maertens, a distinguished Russian jurist, as umpire, and arrangements are being made for the assembling of the court at Paris during the late summer or fall of next year. In the meantime the briefs of great Britain and of Venezuela are being prepared, but none of the papers have yet been submitted. M. Maertens will act not only as umpire, but also as president of the court.

The announcement that a European umpire had been chosen was made in these dispatches some time since, but the name had been withheld until the sanction of the czar could be secured for M. Maertens' service as arbitrator. Great Britain and Venezuela each submitted a list of distinguished jurists who would be acceptable to it as umpire. These embraced the most noted men of Europe, but it is a tribute to M. Maertens that his was the only one on the lists of both countries.

M. Maerten's reputation as an authority on international law is worldwide and has led to his frequent selection as arbitrator and umpire in international differences. He is an official of the Russian foreign office, professor of international law at the University of St. Petersburg and author of Maerten's Treaties, the standard book of reference on all the treaties of the world. Little doubt is felt as to his acceptance.

Prof. Maertens was one of the delegates named by the Russian government to represent it at the approaching conference to be held in this city to consider the conditions of seal life in the North Pacific. It is understood that his selection as the fifth arbitrator and head of the commission makes it impossible for him to participate in the Washington conference, so that the Russian interests in the meeting probably will remain in the care of Mr. Botkine and the two delegates who will sit with him.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 14.—The ninth statistical report of the interstate commerce commission for the year ended June 30, 1896, gives interesting information concerning the mileage, equipment, number of employes, capitalization and valuation, accidents and earnings and expenses of railways in the United States for the year named. One hundred and fifty-one roads, representing 30,675 miles of operated mileage, were in the hands of receivers on June 30, 1896, a decrease of 18 from the previous year. The capital stock represented by the railways controlled by receivers was $742,597,698 and the funded debt was $999,733,765. The total railway mileage on June 30, 1896, was 183,776, an increase of 2,119 for the year, Georgia showing the largest increase, viz. 338 miles. The number of locomotives in service was 35,956 and of cars of all classes 1,297,649, an increase of 251 locomotives and 27 088 cars. Of the total cars and locomotives 448,854 were fitted with train brakes and 545,583 with automatic couplers. The number of freight locomotives fitted with automatic couplers was 3,373, out of a total of 20,351, and the cars in freight service fitted with train brakes was 379,058, out of a total of 1,221,887. An interesting feature of the report is a summary showing the amount of compensation paid to the railway employes of the United States, who aggregated 826,620. Their aggregate compensation amounted to over 60 per cent. of the total operating expenses of all railways, a slight decrease from the preceding year. Much data on the capitalization and valuation of railway property is contained in the report. The amount of railway capital was $10,566,865,771, which was assigned on a mileage basis, shows a capital of $59,619 per mile of line, and if current liabilities be included as part of the capital, $68,068 per mile of line. The amount of capital stock was $5,226,527,269, of which $969,956,092 was preferred. A fraction of over 70 per cent. of the capital stock paid no dividends. The total dividends amounted to $87,608,371. Passengers carried during the year numbered 511,772,737, an increase of over 4,000,000 compared with the previous year, which, however, showed a decrease of 33,266,837, as compared with 1894.

Miners Return to Work.

BELLAIRE, O., Oct. 14.—The 50 coal miners at the Laughlin mines, five miles north of here, who were discharged about two weeks ago on account of the company purchasing coal from West Virginia, will return to work Thursday under the old agreement of last year, which was ironclad. The scale of wages will be different than the scale paid miners in Ohio.

Death of S. W. Venable.

RICHMOND, Va., Oct. 14.—S. W. Venable, of the S. W. Venable Tobacco Co., of Petersburg, died in that city Wednesday night in the 78rd year of his age. He was a native of Prince Edward's county, was prominent in the democratic politics of the state, and his name was before the democratic convention in 1889 for the gubernatorial nomination.

Senator Tillman Better.

COLUMBIA, S. C., Oct. 14.—Senator Tillman's condition is more favorable. He is still quite sick, but there is no immediate danger of serious results.

DECLINE

[illegible] of New Yellow Fever [illegible] at New Orleans.

Four Deaths From the Disease and Forty-Nine New Cases Reported Thursday—The Existing Conditions Are Not in Favor of Checking the Plague.

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 15.—It was the same old story here Thursday. The yellow fever situation showed no decline in the number of cases reported. The death column was about normal. What was said in this report Wednesday night was borne out by Thursday's figures. There has been no increase in the malignancy of the disease. Wednesday's record of nine deaths was exceptional. It was 7 o'clock Thursday night before a third as many deaths were reported as had been in the previous 24 hours. The existing conditions are not favorable for quick stamping out of the disease. The weather is warm and sultry, and unusual for the season, and if it keeps up there will be little improvement for the time being.

Prof. Metz said Thursday evening that up to dark there has been 719 cases altogether of yellow fever here and 423 foci of infection. Since the beginning of the sickness, 163 foci have been absolutely wiped out, and there remained Thursday evening but 260, with approximately 815 cases under treatment. The figures, the doctor said, were gratifying, owing to the fact that they showed that good work had been done through sanitary methods in removing places that if left alone might have helped to breed an epidemic.

As reported in previous dispatches, residents of the vicinity have protested against the reception by Touro infirmary of patients suffering from yellow fever. Rabbi Leucht and Dr. Loeber, however, contend that there is no danger in receiving the patients in the hospital and that they will continue to do so. During a month 29 cases have been treated in the hospital. Five have died, four have been discharged and 20 are still being cared for. Yet not a single case of the fever has originated in the institution, and the system of isolation and disinfection is so perfect that the disease has been confined to a single quarter of the buildings devoted for the time being to handling cases of yellow jack. Sixteen of the cases have been treated by the hospital free of any charge.

The board of health officially reports: Cases of yellow fever Thursday, 41; deaths Thursday, 4; total cases of yellow fever to date, 736; total deaths from yellow fever to date, 81; total cases absolutely recovered, 381; total cases under treatment, 314.

BLOODY TRAGEDY.

Three Men Killed on Spaniel Creek, Near Muskogee, I. T.

MUSKOGEE, I. T., Oct. 15.—A bloody tragedy in which three men lost their lives occurred on Spaniel creek, 12 miles southeast of here about four o'clock Thursday morning.

J. B. Jourdan, a well known farmer, was returning home after having spent the night sitting up with a sick friend a few miles away. He noticed two rough-looking strangers lying by the roadside. His suspicions were aroused and he went to his brother for assistance. The Jourdans returned to where the men were lying and asked them who they were. The desperadoes replied with a shot and Jourdan fell back dead, shot through the heart. John Jourdan then opened fire on the desperadoes and killed them both. United States depnty marshals were notified of the tragedy, and on arrival at the scene identified one of the dead men as Moses Miller, whose brother John recently killed Mr. Madden, a merchant of Braggs, I. T. The other was identified as a Cherokee fugitive named Watson.

Arkansas Negro Lynched.

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., Oct. 15.—As the result of the racial trouble which began in Cleveland county on August 28, when a riot occurred at a Negro picnic near Kendall, in which several white men were killed and cut, Tom Parker was lynched near Kendall. This makes the third Negro to meet a violent death as the result of the picnic riot. It is not known who composed the mob.

Ex-Collector Welburn Acquitted.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 15.—C. M. Welburn, ex-collector of internal revenues in this district, the northern district of California, who has been on trial in the United States district court, Judge De Haven presiding, on an indictment covering 42 distinct charges of embezzlement, was acquitted Thursday night by the verdict of the jury.

Beat His Own Record.

NEW YORK, Oct. 15.—Emil L. Boas, agent of the Hamburg-American line, received a cablegram Thursday stating that the twin screw express steamer Austa Victoria, had arrived at Plymouth, beating her own best record eastward by over an hour. The time of her passage was 5 days, 15 hours and 32 minutes.

Alliance Between Turkey and Bulgaria.

LONDON, Oct. 15.—The correspondent of the Standard at Constantinople says: All the preliminaries have been agreed upon for an alliance, offensive and defensive, between Bulgaria and Turkey, under which the governor generalship of Roumelia becomes hereditary in the family of Prince Ferdinand.

One Fireman Killed, Another Injured.

DENVER, Col., Oct. 15.—While driving down a deep grade on the way to a fire Thursday, Lee Bottom driver of a steamer of the city fire department was thrown from his seat. The engine passed over his stomach instantly killing him. W. E. Morley, a fireman was also thrown from the engine and sustained injuries that are likely to prove fatal.

To Be Lighted by Electricity.

BELLE CENTER, O., [illegible] council has granted the [illegible] Electric Co. a franchise [illegible] the town.

MANY CRIMES

Committed by Spanish Soldiers in Santa Clara Province—Women Tortured, Babes Barbecued and Invalids Massacred.

HAVANA, Oct. 16.—The correspondent of the New York Sun in Santa Clara province, now in the field with the Cuban division commanded by Brigadier I. Gonzales, sends the following account of crimes committed by the Spanish army in that part of the island.

On September 15 a Spanish column among the hills El Mamey, near Jatibanico, found seven families of pacificoes who had there escaped the evils of concentration. They were all driven to the town of Arroyo Blanco, on the way the women were robbed and assaulted by the soldiers. After marching for more than ten Spanish leagues, barefooted, they arrived in the utmost state of exhaustion. One of the women demanded her child and was tortured to make her keep silent. A detachment of Cubans followed the column to rescue the victims, but without success, although several volleys were exchanged with the column.

The Cuban lieutenant, Angel Hernandez, reconnoitering among the hills of El Mamey, where the families were made prisoners, found near a tree the missing child of the hapless woman. The child was dying, wounded in the chest by the thrust of a Spanish bayonet. He was treated by a Cuban doctor, but died in two hours. He was only 4 years old.

In the department of Palmarito the poor countryman, Susano Garcia, was living in a hut with his wife, his mother-in-law, 87 years old and an invalid, and three children. The Spaniards raided the hut on September 17, shot the old woman, and carried Garcia, his wife and the children prisoners to the town of Yaguajay. On arriving at Yaganjay Garcia's wife died suddenly of heart failure, produced by her sufferings.

On September 12, near Puerto Escondido, another pacifico, Bartolo Ramos, was found by the Spaniards gathering some vegetables for his family. He was murdered. The Cubans buried him. Several bayonet wounds were in his chest.

On September 18 an old Cuban woman named Ana Bofil was found by a Spanish guerrilla near the same place. She was trying to escape to a near town, with $30, which was all her fortune. She was robbed and assassinated.

The same guerrilla, on the same day, arrested the pacifico Rafael Jimenez and carried him fettered to the town of Buenavista, where his wife was dying from starvation. Jiminez went ont of the town to seek some food for her. The following day he was murdered and mutilated in the streets of the town.

The most thrilling of all these crimes is the one committed on September 20, on the sugar estate of Petronila Santos and her husband, Ventura Santos, lived in a hut with their children, among the mountains of Cambao. There a Spanish column discovered them that day, and they were brought to the estate Dolores. The wife of Santos, on arriving at the estate, gave birth to a child. The Spanish soldiers put her on a box of ammunition and with their machetes and bayonets cut her [illegible]. The unfortunate Santos tried to defend his wife and fought for her with his bare hands, but was quickly overpowered and shot.

A detachment of the same Spanish force shot that evening Manuel Fuentes, a prisoner of war. All those barbarous instances of Spanish cruelty have been corroborated by witnesses who joined the patriotic forces of Brig. Gonzales. A sworn affidavitt of all the facts was made, and Brig. Gonzales signed it himself.

In several small engagements which the Sun correspondent witnessed in September the forces of Brigadier Gonzales were victorious. The Spaniards never pressed the fighting, and always retired before it became more than a skirmish. They never venture out of their fortified towns less than 4,000 strong.

The situation of the Spanish troops in the city of Remedios is desperate. About 5,000 soldiers are sick in the hospitals and the scarcity of food is causing terrible suffering.

Colored Man to Hang in Texas.

DALLAS, Tex., Oct. 16.—Effie Jones, a Negro, has been convicted of the murder of Riley W. Stewart, a prominent and influential democrat of East Texas and the death penalty assessed. Stewart was murdered on the night of the 18th of May last. Effie Jones confessed that he had killed Stewart with a club, and that he had been hired to commit the crime by William Jones, of Longview, because Stewart carried $10,000 life insurance in which Jones was interested.

Smallpox in Atlanta, Ga.

ATLANTA, Ga., Oct. 16.—Several cases of smallpox have developed in this city within the past two weeks and as a result, the board of health held a meeting Friday morning, at which it was decided to begin compulsory vaccination throughout the city, beginning Saturday. It is not thought here that the disease will assume epidemic form, but to guard against its spread, the board of health deemed it wise to take this course.

Will Give a Series of Concerts.

NEW YORK, Oct. 16.—Josef Hoffman, the pianist, has been engaged by the Theodore Thomas orchestra of Chicago to give a series of concerts in the United States, beginning in March next.

Miss Cisneros Adopts This Country as Her Home.

NEW YORK, Oct. 16.—Evangelina Cosnió y Cisneros has adopted this country as her home. She signed her declaration of intention to become a citizen of the United States Friday afternoon. Under the terms of her oath she has renounced all allegiance to Spain.

Received by the Emperor and Empress.

POTSDAM, Oct. 16.—Emperor William and the empress received the leprosy [illegible] Friday and both conversed [illegible] the foreign delegates, [illegible] making with each when presented.

CANADA

Will Be Represented at the Conference Notwithstanding the Protest Against Entering Into Negotiations With Russia and Japan—A Mass of Evidence on the Subject of Seal Life Prepared by Commissioner McCulla.

BUFFALO, N. Y., Oct. 16.—A special dispatch to the Express from Ottawa says:

The Canadian authorities have for some time been preparing for the eventuality of a conference of seal experts at Washington, notwithstanding the success of their protest to Great Britain entering into negotiations with Russia and Japan as parties thereto. Commissioner MacCun who, with Prof. Thompson, the British expert, spent the last two seasons on the Pribyloff islands, is preparing a mass of evidence on the subject of seal life. It is said here with confidence that the Canadian contention is easily supportable by this evidence. There is claimed to have been abundant proof collected on both the rookeries of St. Paul and St. George that pelagic sealers are not dependent for their August catch upon the nursing females which venture beyond the 60 mile zone in search of food for their young, and still more important, if true, is the report that the experts have ascertained other causes than starvation to account for the heavy mortality among the seal pups on the islands.

It is not generally known that there were reasons other than those advanced in the diplomatic note of the general office for Great Britain's refusal to entertain the proposal of a conference including Russia and Japan. But the fact is that having only omitted the the principle of an interest in the question by those nations, Canada could not back out of a general review of the entire methods of pelagic sealing, apart from the necessary revision under the Paris award, the fact being that the branding scheme has quite deposed the theory that the Behring sea and Asiatic seal herds are distinct, seals branded on the Pribyloff Islands having been taken at sea off the Asiatic coast.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 18.—The state department confirms the report given out by the foreign office in London that Great Britain assents to a meeting of experts in Washington on the seal question, and Mr. Hay cables that Prof. Thompson, the British expert, was to sail Saturday.

It is expected that the conference of the delegates of Russia, Japan and the United States will hold its first meeting the last of next week, and the meeting of American and British experts will probably take place a week later.

STEAMER TRITON

Wrecked Near Havana, and a Large Number of People Drowned.

HAVANA, Oct. 18.—The gunboat Maria Christina, which left this port Saturday for the scene of the wreck of the coasting steamer Triton, bound from Havana to Bahia Honda, Pinar del Rio, which sank Saturday morning between Dominica and Mariel, has returned, accompanied by the tug boat Snsie, which went with her. The two vessels arrived here Sunday afternoon, the gunboat having on board 19, and the tug boat 23 of the members of the lost ship's company, of whom 13 are civilians and soldiers. The whereabouts of the others of the company are unknown.

The Triton struck the rock during a heavy rainstorm. Her cargo shifted and 15 minutes later she sank in 120 fathoms of water. A scene of terrible confusion and panic ensued as soon as the passengers realized the meaning of the crash—in a wild struggle they rushed for the boats. The first boat that was lowered capsized immediately and all of its occupants were drowned in the whirling waters. The next was struck by an enormous wave and turned over, drowning 20, but the frail craft righted again. 32 had been thrown out regained.

Some were good swimmers and kept themselves afloat for hours, others floated about for 24 hours on planks. Four soldiers on planks, whom the strong currents carried east of Havana, opposite Morro castle, were saved Sunday morning by a pilot boat going toward Cardenas.

They declare that Saturday evening there were many others near them on planks, but when morning came all these had disappeared. Some of these probably became food for sharks.

Suspended Payment.

CHARLESTON, S. C., Oct. 18.—C. C. Pinckney, jr., manager and holder of controlling interests in the Farmers' Mining Co., the Wappoo mills, the Horse Shoe mills and Magnolia Mining Co., suspended payments on Saturday. According to best information obtainable the liabilities are in the neighborhood of $200,000. Mr. Pinckney has, as yet, made no statement of assets. He has considerable property.

Opera House Victims Dead.

CINCINNATI, Oct. 18.—Mrs. Louise K. White, injured by the falling of the dome in Robinson's Opera house Friday evening, died from her wounds at the hospital Sunday morning. Mrs. A. L. Scudder died at midnight making four dead as follows: Mrs. Kleeman, Isaac Neighbors, Mrs. White and Mrs. Scudder. Two other victims are in a dangerous condition.

The Famous Steamer Dauntless.

SAVANNAH, Ga., Oct. 18.—The famous filibustering steamer Dauntless steamed away from Tybee in a southerly direction Saturday and has not returned. It is supposed that she is on another filibustering expedition and will meet a vessel at sea, which will transfer to her a cargo of munitions of war for the Cuban insurgents.

The Loyals Acquitted.

HODGENVILLE, Ky., Oct. 18.—The jury in the case of Jesse Loyal and wife, charged with murdering Mrs. Loyal's mother, brought in a verdict of acquittal.

Beware of Ointment for Catarrh that Contain Mercury.

As mercury will surely destroy the sense of smell and completely derange the wholesystem when entering it through the mucous surfaces. Such articles should never be used except on prescriptions from reputable physicians, as the damage they will do is ten fold to the good you can possibly derive from them. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, O., contains no mercury, and is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. In buying Hall's Catarrh Cure be sure you get the genuine. It is taken internally, and made in Toledo, Ohio, by F. J. Cheney & Co. Testimonials free.

Sold by Druggists, price 75c. per bottle. Hall's Family Pills are the best.

Of Course Not.

Mr. Huggins—Isn't Miss Roxy a peach? Miss Kittish—Yes, but she is not the only fruit in the orchard.—Detroit Free Press.

Do You Play Whist, Euchre or Other Games?

The F. F. V. playing card is better than any 50 cent card on the market. Send 15 cents for one deck or 25 cents for two decks (stamps or currency) to C. B. Ryan, Asst. Gen'l Pass'r Agt. C. & O. Ry., Cincinnati, O.

How accommodating some men are to their wives when asked to do something they are dying to do anyway.—Washington Democrat.

Sudden cold—soreness, stiffness. Promptly Use St. Jacobs Oil. Sudden cure. Sure.

A lawyer doesn't know everything, but he thinks you think he does.—Chicago News.

Vexed? Yes, the nerves, by Neuralgia. St. Jacobs Oil soothes, cures it.

Never strike a man when he's down—especially for a loan.—Chicago News.

Scrofula Cured

Face and Head Covered with Sores, but Hood's Has Cured Them.

"My face and head were a mass of sores, but since taking Hood's Sarsaparilla these sores have all disappeared. I believe Hood's Sarsaparilla has no equal for scrofula." IDA A. WEAVER, Palermo, Ill.

Hood's Sarsaparilla

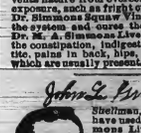
Is the best—in fact the One True Blood Purifier.

Hood's Pills cure liver ills easy to take. easy to operate. 25 cents.

ALABAMA LADIES

Brave as Lions.

Mrs. Mattie Davenport.



Jenifer, Ala., writes: My husband was cured of Biliousness by Dr. M. A. Simmons Liver Medicine, which I have used 10 years. Have tried with Zeilin's and "Black Draught," and I think the M. A. Simmons Medicine so far Superior that one Package of it is worth three or four of either the other kinds.

Insufficient Menstruation

Is sometimes caused by non-development of the parts, sometimes by obstructions in mouth of vagina, and sometimes by constipated bowels, but usually results from a debilitated condition of the system, which prevents nature from overcoming any unusual exposure, such as fright or getting feet wet. Dr. Simmons Liver Wine builds up the system and cures the disorder, while Dr. M. A. Simmons Liver Medicine cures the constipation, indigestion, loss of appetite, pains in back, hips, head and limbs, which are usually present.

John L. Burr

Shellman, Ga., writes: I have used Dr. M. A. Simmons Liver Medicine 15 years. It cured me of Torpid Liver, Indigestion, Nervousness and Sleeplessness. It cured my wife of Female Complaint. My two Aunts have been greatly benefited by it in their old age. Have used "Black Draught" but think Dr. M. A. S. L. M. far superior to it.

Skin and Eyes Yellow.

This disorder finds its direct cause in some derangement in the liver and its associated allied glands. The bile, instead of passing out through the bowels, has been obstructed, and finding some outlet through its usual channels, has accumulated and been taken up by the absorbents and distributed over the system, poisoning the blood and disturbing all the functions of the body. In the treatment of this disease, Dr. M. A. Simmons Liver Medicine should be taken night and morning until the complexion becomes clear.

Spurn Frauds that court you for your money. The imitations that try to take the place of the Original Dr. M. A. Simmons Liver Medicine, while by intent deceivers sold as "the same," are advertised as "not the same," and you may be courted and deceived for your money at the expense of your health. Beware!

Go to your grocer to-day and get a 15c. package of Grain-O

It takes the place of coffee at ¼ the cost.

Made from pure grains it is nourishing and healthful.

Insist that your grocer gives you GRAIN-O, accept no imitation.

WINCHESTER GUN CATALOGUE FREE

SEND YOUR NAME ON A POSTAL CARD AND WE WILL SEND YOU OUR 136 PAGE ILLUSTRATED CATALOGUE FREE.

WINCHESTER REPEATING ARMS CO. 100 WINCHESTER AVE., NEW HAVEN, CONN.

SOUTHERN Homeseekers' Guide

Every homeseeker should address either J. F. MERRY, A. G. P. A., Manchester, Ia.; W. A. KELLOND, A. G. P. A., Louisville, Ky., or G. H. HATCH, D. P. A., Cincinnati, O., for a free copy of the ILLINOIS CENTRAL RAILROAD'S SOUTHERN HOMESEEKERS' GUIDE.

FIELD'S RESIGNATION

Accepted By President McKinley With Kindly Expressions of Regard.

Justice Field Resigns Because of the Duties of His Office Becoming too Arduous for His Strength—His Judicial Career Covers Many Years of Service.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 15.—The following letter was given out Thursday afternoon:

SUPREME COURT OF THE UNITED STATES, WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 13, 1897.

Dear Mr. Chief Justice and Brethren:—Near the close of my term, feeling that the duties of my office had become too arduous for my strength, I transmitted my resignation to the president, to take effect on the first day of December next, and this he has accepted, with kindly expressions of regard, as will be seen from a copy of his letter, which is as follows:

"EXECUTIVE MANSION,
"WASHINGTON, Oct. 19, 1897.

"HON. STEVEN J. FIELD, Associate Justice of the Supreme Court of the United States, Washington, D. C.—MY DEAR SIR:—In April last Chief Justice Fuller, accompanied by Mr. Justice Brewer, handed me your resignation as associate justice of the supreme court of the United States, to take effect December 1, 1897.

"In hereby accepting your resignation, I wish to express my deep regret that you feel compelled by advancing years to sever your active connection with the court of which you have so long been a distinguished member.

"Entering upon your great office in May, 1863, you will, on the first of next December, have served upon the bench for a period of 34 years and seven months—a longer term than that of any member of the court since its creation, and throughout a period of special importance in the history of the country, occupied with as grave public questions as have ever confronted that tribunal for decision.

"I congratulate you therefore most heartily upon a service of such exceptional duration fidelity and distinction. Nor can I overlook the fact that you received your commission from Abraham Lincoln, and graciously spared by a kind Providence, have survived all the members of the court of his appointment.

"Upon your retirement both the bench and the country will sustain a great loss, but the high character and great ability of your work will live and long be remembered, not only by your colleagues, but by your grateful fellow-countrymen.

"With personal esteem and sincere best wishes for your continued happiness during the period of rest which you have so well earned, I am, dear sir,

"Very truly yours,
"WILLIAM MCKINLEY."

My judicial career covers many years of service.

Having been elected a member of the supreme court of California. I assumed that office October 13, 1857. I served on it for five years, seven months and five days, the latter part of the time being chief justice.

On the tenth day of March, 1863, I was commissioned by President Lincoln a justice of the supreme court of the United States, taking the oath of office on the twentieth day of the following May.

When my resignation takes effect my period of service on this bench will have exceeded that of any of my predecessors, while my entire judicial life will have embraced more than 40 years. I may be pardoned for saying that during all this period, long in comparison with the brevity of human life, though in the retrospect it has gone with the swiftness of a tale that is told, I have not shunned to decide every case coming before me for decision the conclusions which my deliberate convictions compelled me to arrive at, by the conscientious exercise of such abilities and requirements as I possessed.

It is a pleasant thing in my memory that my appointment came from President Lincoln, of whose appointees I am the last survivor. Up to that time there had been no representative here of the Pacific coast. A new empire had risen in the west whose laws were those of another country. The land titles were from Spanish and Mexican grants, many of which were often overlaid by the claims of the first settlers. To bring order out of this confusion, congress passed an act providing for ... other such cases on this bench, with the intention that it should be filled by some one familiar with these conflicting titles and with the mining laws of the coast, and as it so happened that I had framed the principal of those laws and was, moreover, chief justice of California, it was the wish of the senators and representatives of that state, as well as those from Oregon, that I should succeed to the new position. At their request Mr. Lincoln sent my name to the senate and the nomination was unanimously confirmed.

At the head of the court, when I became one of its members, was the venerable Chief Justice Taney, and among the associate justices was Mr. Justice Wayne, who had sat with Chief Justice Marshall, thus constituting a link between the past and future, and, as it were, binding into unity nearly an entire century of the life of this court.

During my incumbency three chief justices and 12 associate justice have passed away, leaving me precious remembrances of common labors and intimate and agreeable companionship. * * *

The volumes of our reports show that I alone have written 620 opinions. If to these are added 67 opinions in the circuit court and 366 prepared while I was on the supreme court of California, it will be seen that I have voiced the decision in 1,042 cases.

These many years have indeed been years of labor and of toil, but they have brought their own reward; and we can all join in thanksgiving to the Author of our being that we have been permitted to spend so much of our live in the service of our country.

With profound respect and regard, I am, my dear brethren,

Very sincerely and always yours,
STEPHEN J. FIELD.

Following is the court's reply:

SUPREME COURT OF THE UNITED STATES, WASHINGTON, Oct. 13, 1897.

Dear Brother Field—We are profoundly moved by the letter in which you announce to us your retirement from the bench. The termination of a judicial career of such length and distinction can not fail to inspire among all your countrymen, and indeed, wherever the realm of jurisprudence extends, a keen sense of loss which to your colleagues assumes the aspect of a personal bereavement.

For the intimacy necessarily incident to the conduct of work so constant, so exacting, and of such vital importance as ours, inevitably draws us together by ties of the closest character which can not be dissolved without emotions of deep sadness and regret. We feel that our parting involves not simply the deprivation of the assistance afforded by your learning, your vast experience, and your earnestness in advocacy of your convictions, but the severance of those relations which have contributed so much to lighten the hardest labors of the read.

This is not the time or place to dwell on the reputation you have achieved as a jurist. Its record is made up and may safely be committed to the judgment of posterity.

But we can not part with you as an active member of the court without the fervent expression of the hope that you may be spared for many years to enjoy the repose you have so thoroughly earned and the commendation bestowed on good and faithful service.

The Conference Was a Failure.

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Oct. 15.—The effort to adjust the difference between the coal operators of Kanawha valley and their men has failed absolutely, and President Ratchford left Thursday night for Columbus, disheartened over his failure.

Ex-Senator Jones' Remains.

PENSACOLA, Fla., Oct. 15.—The remains of ex-United States Senator Charles W. Jones, arrived here from Detroit, Mich., Thursday morning. The funeral services were held in the afternoon at St. Michaels Catholic church, which was crowded.

THEATER FIRE

In Robinson's Opera House, Cincinnati, Falls Ou[illegible] Panic.

Three Persons Suffocated to Death and Many Wounded, Some Fatally, in the Panic That Followed—The Fire Started in the Next Week Was "Under the Dome."

CINCINNATI, Oct. 15.—At the beginning of the first act of "Dangers of a Great City" at Robinson's opera house, Friday evening, there was a sharp crack in the ceiling of the theater, and a piece of plastering a foot long and three inches wide fell into the orchestra from the east side. Many of the audience started, to their feet, but there was no further intimation of trouble.

At the end of the second act the stage hands were setting the scenes, and little Alice Opie, child specialist, was in front of the curtain doing her act as "Yellow Kid." Suddenly and without further warning, the huge dome of the theater fell with a dead crash onto the chairs, a distance of a hundred feet.

A panic ensued. Women screamed, men groaned and the most frightful scenes were enacted. The little child actress ran behind the curtain, and all lights were extinguished by the breaking of the main electric wire. In five minutes ten patrol wagons and as many fire engines and ladder companies were surrounding the opera house, and a howling mob was rushing about interfering with the work of rescue.

Capt. Conway and his salvage corps, who were first on the scene, seized half a dozen bodies, and not stopping to see whether they were dead or alive, galloped off with them to the hospital.

As fast as the patrol wagons arrived they were filled with limp bodies and rushed to the hospital.

While the excitement was at its height another crash came. It was the entire ceiling tearing away from the rafters and tumbling down upon the mass of struggling humanity below. It sounded like a whirlwind and the noise was heard for a square around. Hundreds rushed to the front of the building on the outside, but were met by the streams of people rushing from the inside and driven back across the street. Many were crushed under foot.

A man named Goldberg, living at 642 Barr street, was carried into the drug store of Al Boehmer at Eighth street and Central avenue. He had a fractured skull and was taken to the city hospital; will die.

Mrs. George Kleeman died at the hospital at 10 p. m. She was the daughter-in-law of Nick Kleeman.

Pearl Hall, of 817 Sycamore street, daughter of carriage-maker on East Ninth street, was badly hurt and taken to the hospital.

Henry Fleck, 602 Broadway, in balcony, and two children have not been heard from. They are not at the hospital.

A daughter of George Otte, of the water works department, is at the hospital, seriously injured.

Samuel Rosenblaum, agent 16, of the Working Boys' home, on Sycamore street, in the gallery. He is at the hospital in a dangerous condition.

The following are in the hospital more or less seriously injured: Della Algeier and her three children; Mrs. J. and Daisy Fairhead, S. E. Long, Mary Scudder, of Newport, Ky.; Grace Conners, C. J. Weiss, Will Morton, aged 17, Sixth and Broadway, jumped into a pit, Fred Jenks, aged 26, 1916 Richmond street; T. C. Wiley, Dayton, Ky.; W. J. McCabe, Clint Deal, Jacob Weil, Mary Hess, John White, Amelia Weil, Mary Howe, Mary Moorman, Twelfth and Clay streets.

The dead are: An unknown man, Miss Lucy Cohen and Mrs. Geo Klee man.

The show being played was "Dangers of a Great City." The show underlined for next week was "Under the Dome."

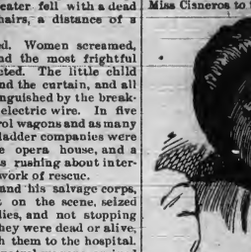
The cause of the accident Friday night seems to be easily discovered. Among the first who entered the building after the dome had fallen was President George W. Rapp, of the Cincinnati Chapter American Institute of architects.

"It was not that dome," said he, pointing to the huge heap in the center of the floor, "that caused the trouble. The fault lies with the roof trusses. The house has been built more than 25 years, and the wood has shrunk until the bolts and nails afforded the smallest possible security. One of these trusses had rotted away from its fastenings; it has parted and thrown the two sections down, and they in their descent pulled the dome with them. These wood trusses are of pine and they shrink very perceptibly in the course of years. They should be examined every five or six years. Modern structures are put up with steel trusses. The roof of this theater is liable to come down any minute."

Friday night's disaster recalls forcibly a more fearful one which took place in the same building in February, 1876. Friday night there was a real cause for the panic and loss of life; then there was no cause whatever except the wickedly foolish cry of fire started when a little sputtering hiss came from the calcium light in the upper gallery. The house was packed mostly with women and children to witness an allegory of America given by hundreds of school children.

Revolutionary Talk in Canada.

MONTREAL, Oct. 16.—An organization, known as the Canadian Independence club, has issued a manifesto which was distributed throughout the city Friday, stating that the time had come for Canada to throw off its connection with England.



Wanted Greenbacks Exchanged for Gold.

NEW YORK, Oct. 16.—The Bank of the British North America imported $500,000 in gold a few days ago, and Friday they sent the gold to the sub-treasury asking for greenbacks in exchange. The treasury officials declined the proposition.

MISS CISNEROS

Steps Upon the Soil of Free America a New York—The Cuban Beauty Suffered Considerably From Sea-Sickness.

NEW YORK, Oct. 14.—Evangelina Cosio Y. Cisneros, who recently escaped from a Spanish prison in Cuba, was a passenger on the Ward line steamer Seneca, which arrived Wednesday from Havana. At quarantine Miss Cisneros asked to be excused from saying anything about her imprisonment and escape, as she has not yet recovered from sea sickness, from which she had suffered during her entire passage, and which kept her in her stateroom during the whole voyage. On the passenger list she was registered as Miss Juana Sola. She was traveling under the care of a gentleman who accompanied her from Havana. When the Seneca reached quarantine the tow boat J. Fred Lohman, with several newspaper representatives and four women, went alongside the steamer, and after the health officer's inspection was over they went on board and accompanied Miss Cisneros to this city.

EVANGELINA COSSIO-CISNEROS.

Miss Cisneros' escape and safe arrival on the Seneca was one of the most daring feats ever attempted and successfully carried out.

While she was still in prison her friends secured a passport for one Juan Sola and stateroom No. 3 on the Seneca was held in the same name. This was three days before the boat sailed. On the Saturday, when the Seneca was to leave Havana, detectives watched her gangways with extra caution. All day long they remained at their post, examing the passports which all passengers have to show before leaving Havana. Their vigilance would probably have prevented the departure of Miss Cisneros from Cuba had it not been for a little refreshment which was served on them by friends of Miss Cisneros, who were aboard the Seneca. The refreshment included wine. The chief of police of Havana came aboard while the refreshment part of the plot was in progress, and it is alleged that he, too, fell a victim to the wiles of the Cisneros faction.

A few minutes before the Seneca was ready to pull out from her dock a slim young fellow came running across the wharf. He had no baggage and was fashionably dressed. He walked quickly up the gang-plank. The detectives stopped him. "My name is Juan Sola," he said, and he showed his passport. Everything was satisfactory, so the senor was allowed to go aboard. It is said that if it had not been for the wine the strange and rather curious figure of Senor Sola might have excited the suspicions of the Spanish detectives. But the scheme worked successfully. Miss Cisneros' friends, when they saw that everything was satisfactory, disembarked and watched the ship pull slowly out under the frowning Spanish gun, carrying the fugitive to safety under the stars and stripes.

Miss Cisneros did not court danger any more than was necessary and at once went to her cabin. The next day, however, when Morro Castle was left far behind, she appeared on deck, transformed into Senorita Juana Sola, alias Cosio Y Cisneros, and dressed in a becoming red gown.

Capt. Stevens said that to the best of his knowledge the only persons who went aboard at Havana were the Lantie family, the Del Real family, eight Chinamen and a man whose name appeared upon the advance passenger list as Juan Sola and who must have had a passport, otherwise he could not have gone aboard. When it was discovered that "Juan Sola" was a girl the "Juan" was changed to "Juana," and Miss Cisneros came in under that name.

Miss Cisneros was given some articles of feminine wearing apparel by the stewardess of the Seneca.

A. C. Stewart, an Englishman who embarked at Tampico and who speaks Spanish, said that he sat opposite Miss Cisneros at the table during the voyage, and that when she saw the Cape lighters light she fell upon her knees on the deck and prayed devoutly. Mr. Stewart says he found the rescued Cuban a most pleasant companion. She had her hair pinned up in a coil, worn under a sombrero, when she embarked disguised as a ranchman.

Shot Her Lover and Herself.

CHICAGO, Oct. 14.—Wednesday night 19-year-old Florence Gleason fired a bullet into the brain of her lover, John Peters, and then turned the weapon against her temple. The bullet entered her brain, killing her instantly. Peters was removed to the Alexian Brothers' hospital, where doctors say he will die. The shooting was the outcome of a lovers' quarrel some months ago, it is said, since which Miss Gleason has been jealous of Peters' attention to other young women.

Wants American Missionaries Withdrawn.

LONDON, Oct. 14.—A dispatch to the Daily Chronicle from Constantinople says: The sultan is making strenuous efforts to o[illegible] withdrawal of American mi[illegible] from the interior of Asia Minor. The efforts should be successful [illegible] of extraordinary [illegible] ing the A[illegible] would be accomplished with [illegible] ...

California Wheat for Europe.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 14.—[illegible] ments of wheat to Europe [illegible] Over 60 grain laden vessels have [illegible] here during the last two months, and six more are ready to sail.

A MIGHTY FEAT.

Iron Bridge [illegible] of Steel in Two and [illegible] Hours.

The Span Was [illegible] Long and Weighed 2,000 Tons—Bridge Built Almost 30 Feet [illegible] Tons of Steel and Iron [illegible] Engineer of the Work.

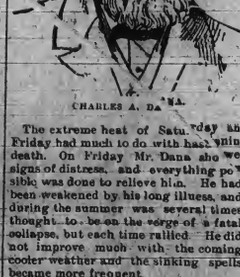
PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 16.—The feat of replacing an iron [illegible] 243 feet long, 25 feet wide [illegible] feet in depth with one of the [illegible] sections of steel was accomplished on the Reading Saturday in two minutes and 30 seconds. In this space of time [illegible] 1,700 tons of iron and steel were moved a distance of 25 feet, and there was not a slip or a hitch in the entire proceedings. This remarkable feat of engineering was accomplished at what is known as the connecting railroad bridge over the Schuylkill just above Girard avenue. It is the bridge that bears the tracks of the New York division of the Pennsylvania railroad, the busiest division of the Pennsylvania system.

The time set for the replacement was the 43 minutes intervening between the passage over the bridge of the Chestnut Hill accommodation trains leaving Broad street station at 2:47 p. m. and at 3:35 p. m.

A work train crossed the eastern end of the bridge and stopped. The gangs of trackmen began to unspike the rails of the westbound track on the old span. This done, the grapplers of the work train took hold of the ends of the rails, the engine started up and the entire length of rails, 243 feet, was sunked off in short order.

Meanwhile four stationary engines, one at each end on a level with the bridge foundations and another at each end on scows securely moored at the base of the bridge piers, were puffing and emphasizing their readiness for the task they had to do. There was said to be less than a hundred horse power represented in these four engines, yet so well was everything arranged that they moved the leviathan without any apparent overexertion.

Then the signal was given for the little stationary engines to assert themselves. It seemed as if they all started at the identical instant. There was a tightening of the cables, an almost imperceptible creak of a wheel somewhere, and the big bulk began to move northward. It was like clockwork.



As the edge of the iron span began to show beyond the bridge piers the crowds on the north side of the river set up a shout, and as the breadth of the new steel span began to disappear behind the piers the crowds on the southern colgns of vantage also joined in the cheer, and almost before the cheer had died away the mighty feat had been accomplished. In just two minutes and thirty-two seconds from the time of starting the engines the new span occupied the exact position from which the old one had been removed.

CHARLES A. DANA,

The Famous Editor of the New York Sun, Passes Away Surrounded by His Family.

NEW YORK, Oct. 18.—Charles A. Dana, editor of the New[illegible] his home in Glencove, Long Island, at 1:20 o'clock Sunday afternoon.

Mr. Dana's death had been expected for several hours, and his family and physicians were at his bedside when the end came. His condition had been such for several months that the members of his family kept themselves in constant readiness to go to his beside at any moment. On Saturday morning he had a relapse, and it was apparent that recovery was impossible; several times, however, he rallied, but toward night he began to sink. During the night there were feeble rallies, but they did not last long. Sunday morning it was seen that the end was but a few hours off, and his attendants remained almost constantly at his bedside. The end came quietly.

CHARLES A. DA[illegible]

The extreme heat of Saturday and Friday had much to do with hastening death. On Friday Mr. Dana showed signs of distress, and everything possible was done to relieve him. He had been weakened by his long illness, and during the summer was several times thought to be on the verge of a fatal collapse, but each time rallied. He did not improve much with the coming cooler weather and the sinking spells became more frequent.

On Friday Mr. Dana was able to take only the lightest nourishment and this condition continued. Paul Dana and his sisters, Mrs. Draper, Mrs. Underhill and Mrs. Brandan were at his home on Saturday morning and were warned to remain there. They were at the bedside when death came.

Heavy Snowstorm.

DENVER, Oct. 18.—A special from Crested Butte, Col., says: A snowstorm struck this locality 36 hours ago which has broken all records here for this time of the year. In addition to 36 hours of continuous downpour it is still snowing, with no indication what[illegible] of a letup.

[illegible] Breaking Down.

[illegible] 18.—Theodore A [illegible] murderer of [illegible] Blanche Lamont, [illegible] upon the action of [illegible] the United States, is reported as breaking down.

WOMAN AND HOME.

BABY INCUBATORS.

Model System of Treatment for Weak and Sickly Infants.

A model institution for treatment of weakly infants was opened for private inspection at the Victoria era exhibition. It is divided into three sections. One for the offices of the medical men and nurses in charge, one for a nursery, and in the central room are the nickel-plated and plate-glass incubators in which infants are laid on little white coverlets, placed upon wire hammocks. Before entering these, through a pipe four inches in diameter, air is moistened by passing through a sheet of antiseptic absorbent wool. It then passes through dry wool, which retains the soot and impurities of the atmosphere. The air then traverses another pipe to the center of the incubator. On this orifice is a disk for uniformly distributing the air; above all is a chimney with a revolving fan, which forces exhausted air to escape. Uniform heating is produced from an external boiler, circulation being effected by a copper pipe leading under the hammock. A thermostat on the wall is connected with a chain which suspends an aluminum cone lid over the lamp of the boiler, and its expansions and contractions automatically control the temperature to the degree to which the apparatus is set. A thermometer and hygrometer inside the glass door indicates respectively the temperature and moisture of the air within. The capacity of the handsome little incubators is less than a cubic yard.—Chicago Inter Ocean.

POSTAGE STAMP BED.

How a Kansas City Man Ornamented a Piece of Furniture.

Patience is a virtue which some people exemplify in remarkable ways. One of the most patient men in small things is W. S. Wear, janitor of the Karnes school, Kansas City. Last fall he read a story of a family with a whole bedroom set covered with postage stamps, pasted on until it looked like a patchwork quilt. And straightway Wear determined to indulge in the same pastime. He got the school children to begin collecting stamps for him, and after they had collected about 100,000 he commenced work, putting 10,000 on one bed.

BED ORNAMENTED WITH STAMPS.

Over 400 foreign stamps are pasted on the crib, and Wear says a stamp collector told him many of them were very valuable. The children in their enthusiasm begged old stamps, many of which had been used to send the love letters of their grandmothers. There are American stamps in the collection that the present generation never even heard of.

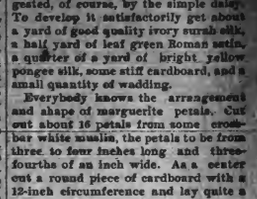
Wear has two or three bushels of stamps left, and will spend his idle moments decorating the rest of his household furniture with them.

SPOILING CHILDREN.

These Are Many Ways in Which This Task Is Accomplished.

It isn't a difficult task to spoil a child. No great art is demanded in accomplishing this result. Make all the nurses wait on him and fly at his bidding, writes Dr. Talmage. Let him learn never to go for a drink, but always have it brought to him. At ten years of age have Bridget tie his shoe strings. Let him strike auntie because she will not get him a sugar plum. He will soon learn that the house is his realm, and he is to rule it. He will come up into manhood one of those precious spirits that demand obeisance and service, and with the theory that the world is his oyster which with his knife he will proceed to open. But if the child be insensible to all such efforts to spoil him, try the plan of never saying anything encouraging to him. If he do wrong, thrash him soundly; but if he do well keep on reading the newspaper, pretending not to see him. There are excellent people who, through fear of producing childish vanity, are unresponsive to the very best endeavor. When a child earns parents' applause he ought to have it. If he get up head at school, give him a book or a apple. If he saw a bully on the playground trampling on a sickly boy, and your son took the bully by the throat so tightly that he became a little variegated in color, praise your boy, and let him know that you love to have him the champion of the weak. Perhaps you would not do right a day if you had no more prospect of reward than that which you have given him. If on commencement day he make the best speech, or read the best essay, tell him of it. Truth is always harmless, and the more you use of it the better. If your daughter at the conservatory take the palm, give her a new piece of music, ring, a kiss, or a blessing. Never withhold due meed of praise.—Housewife.

To Smooth Handkerchiefs.



Nice handkerchiefs should not be ironed. When rinsed, pass them through a wringer, after they have been folded in a fine towel. Spread on a sheet of glass (a clear marble-topped table answers) and smooth till every wrinkle is out. The linen or muslin will cling to the marble or glass, and dry with that finish that is on the fine unstarched handkerchiefs just from the shops.

DAISY PINCUSHION.

It Is Cut from Silken Fabric and Neatly Put Together.

This marguerite pincushion is suggested, of course, by the simple daisy. To develop it satisfactorily get about a yard of good quality ivory surah silk, a half yard of leaf green Roman satin, a quarter of a yard of bright yellow pongee silk, some stiff cardboard, and a small quantity of wadding.

Everybody knows the arrangement and shape of marguerite petals. Cut out about 16 petals from some crossbar white muslin, the petals to be from three to four inches long and three-fourths of an inch wide. As a center cut a round piece of cardboard with a 12-inch circumference and lay quite a two-inch depth of the wadding upon it, being careful, however, to place the padding thicker in the center, so that the rounded heart of the natural flower may be reproduced. To keep the wadding in place cover it with a piece of thin white muslin, which can be gummed to the underneath part, and then sew on the petals, arranging them so that the shorter ones may come on top of the longer.

DAISY PINCUSHION.

To decorate the center now proceed to unravel the yellow pongee silk, and when all the strands are separated cut them into two-inch lengths, and, taking eight or ten strands at a time, catch them down with a stitch in the middle to the padded cardboard until every part of the foundation is completely covered. This will be found to give the soft fluffy effect of the flower center, and all the uneven ends must be cut off, so that there remains an even surface of about an inch in depth in which the pins can be stuck. The frayed silk must be placed quite to the edge, so that the joining of the petals to the center may be completely hidden.

Over the mouth of the pincushion cut a square of cardboard a little smaller than the whole flower, and cover it with the green Roman satin, attaching it either by stitches or glue to the under part. Secure a roll of satin-covered cardboard upon this, to which the flower must be fastened; it must be deeper at the back than in the front, so that the daisy may incline forward somewhat.—Chicago Tribune.

IN THE SICK-ROOM.

It Should Be Kept Scrupulously Clean and Free from Noise.

Mrs. Burton Kingsland, writing of "When Nursing the Sick" in Ladies' Home Journal, insists that a "tranquil mind is of the utmost importance to the patient, and consequently everything must seem to be moving smoothly and easily, no matter what difficulties the nurse may have to encounter. The invalid should not be allowed to feel any responsibility whatever about his own case. The sick-room should be kept scrupulously neat, and made as cheerful and attractive as possible, that the eyes of the patient may rest with pleasure upon his surroundings. The nurse herself may contribute to the agreeable enviroment if her own dress be simple and tasteful, and above all, conspicuously neat. All soiled dishes should be removed immediately after being used, and no food kept in sight. Even the medicine bottles need not be obtrusively in evidence.

"Stillness has in itself a power to sooth, and in all illness, when the nerves are quiet nature's healing processes go on without impediment. Creaking shoes, rustling of garments, the rattling of dishes and kindred noises are often the occasion of positive suffering to an invalid. To accidentally jar the bed, to spill the medicine when administering it, to close a door noisily, to 'sleep audibly' are cases of what a small unkindness is a great offense' in the hypersensitive condition of the nerves of the patient."

Proper Use of the Piano.

Keep a space of eight or twelve inches between the piano and the wall, and much more if possible. The instrument will not only sound better, but be safer from dampness and changes of temperature. Never put books, music or bric-a-brac on the piano, as it deadens the tone, and sometimes causes unpleasant rattling. In playing, be careful in the use of the pedal. Too much is worse than none. Let your own playing; strike single notes and chords very slowly, to bring out a pure, round, ring tone without hard striking of the keys.—Housewife.

Bread Fritters.

Soak two cupfuls of fine, brown breadcrumbs in one quart of boiling milk. Beat this to a smooth paste, add the yolks of three eggs, one tablespoonful of melted butter, one teaspoonful of grated nutmeg, one saltspoonful of salt and the same quantity of soda. Lastly stir in the stiffly-beaten whites of the three eggs. Fry in boiling lard and sprinkle with fine sugar.—N. Y. Ledger.

Its Falsity Proved.

Smythe—I wonder what idiot originated the phrase: "There's no accounting for taste."

Tompkins—Why?

Smythe—Because I'd like to get at him! I've just been accounting to the milliner and modiste for my wife's taste!—Brooklyn Life.

A Desperate Case.

"Mary," said the shrewd mother, "don't you think if you helped John a little he would propose?"

"Help him! Why, mother, what more can I say? Didn't I tell him that you approved of him as a son-in-law?"—Philadelphia Item.

BOONE COUNTY RECORDER

Wednesday Oct. 20. 1897.

Rates of Subscription:

One year..... $1 50.
Six months..... 75.
Three months..... 40.

Payable invariably in advance.

THE RECORDER

SOLICITS YOUR

Job Work.

NOTE HEADS,
LETTER HEADS,
ENVELOPES,
CARDS,
BILL HEADS,
STATEMENTS,
SALE BILLS,
AND HOSE BILLS,

Printed at the Lowest Prices consistent with neat work.

Send your order by mail and it will be attended promptly.

STATE NEWS.

The chestnut crop is abundant.

Owensboro is to have a bicycle factory.

There is a frog at Bardstown that is believed to be 100 years old.

The drouth was beginning to kill all the oak trees in Grayson county.

In a drunken fight at Lancaster Ed Kennedy's hand was shot off by a negro.

Mrs. Kate Bishop, of Shepherdsville, confessed to having drowned her 5-week-old babe.

The court of Appeals is three years behind with the docket, and business is rapidly accumulating.

William T. Pate was killed near Elizabethtown by a wheat drill being overturned on him by a runaway horse.

Mrs. Frank Schuster, of Louisville, fought off a negro assailant with a ball bat, knocking him senseless. He was caught.

Miss Bettie Hunt, of Mt. Sterling, was about to elope with Jas. Hunt, when her brother had her arrested on a lunacy warrant.

The Woodford Sun says: "The Thomas Jesse farm of 218 acres was purchased by John T. Gay, Sr., for $18.649,90, or $85 55 per acre.

Jerry Morris was shot in the neck by Fountain Hewitt at Hickory-nut Precinct, near Somerset. They had quarreled over the election.

In the Circuit Court at Harrodsburg Silas Giles was given one year in the penitentiary and fined $500 and costs for operating a gambling house.

A thief entered the Presbyterian church at Mayfield and stole the contents of two small jugs, the contribution of the Christian Endeavor Society.

Owing to the scarcity of water and the impurity of it, there are a great many cases of typhoid fever in Burgin, as is the case in almost all localities.

W. D. Hill, formerly of Louisville, who lost a fortune several years ago on Wallstreet, New York, has recently made $500,000 in wheat speculation.

A "gold" mine has been found in Livingston county. The location is about a mile from Cumberland river, and about two miles northeast of Pinckneyville.

On Sunday night, September 26, seven head of cattle were taken from the farm of Mr. Frank Pyles, who resides near Sardis, and no trace of them has since been discovered.—Maysville Bulletin.

In cleaning out a cistern at Carlisle, the workman found fifty pocket knives, sixty pairs of scissors and a lot of augers, bit, spoons, bullet moulds, gun locks, watches, etc. It is thought thieves had dumped the stuff into the place.

Old river men say there are more snags in the lower Ohio river this fall than ever before. The floods of last spring are held to be responsible for this, says the Paducah News. Be the cause what it may, the fact remains that the government boats now at work in this harbor are finding plenty to do. A number of dangerous looking logs, stumps and sawyers have been pulled from the Ohio, and the Tennessee in the immediate vicinity of the port of Paducah.

An organized band of robbers seems to be operating with success in Allen and adjoining counties. In Simpson county last Wednesday Elder Rather, a minister, was robbed of $60 while asleep in a neighbor's room. Two masked men entered Berry Reeves' home, covered him with weapons, and robbed him of $70. Prof. Strickland was [illegible] night and Halifax county, and relieved by [illegible] of a gold watch a [illegible] and about $17 in money.—Hodgenville News.

WASHINGTON LETTER.

(From Our Regular Correspondent.)

Washington, October 16th, 1897.

"What have you got to do with Cuba, anyhow?" That is the plain English of the courteously worded reply of the new Spanish ministry to Mr. McKinley's Quixotic mediation proposition, which was used to prevent Congress taking action at the last session that would have brought peace to Cuba long before now. Having had one cheek diplomatically slapped by Spain, it now remains to be seen whether Mr. McKinley will turn the other cheek for another slap, or will rise to the occasion by promptly recognizing the independence of Cuba, or even the belligerency of the Cubans. Present talk in administration circles indicates that the other cheek will be turned to the Spaniards. The opinion is growing that Congress will have to compel Mr. McKinley to do the right thing by Cuba.

As though the President has not troubles enough of his own, the two factions of Virginia Republicans have swooped down upon him with the damand that he umpire their dispute.

After a series of false alarms covering a period of more than ten years, during which he has been eligible for retirement, it seems that Justice Field, of the United States Supreme Court, is going to retire sure enough this time. Attorney General McKenna is slated to succeed him, and a Cabinet shakeup is expected at the same time, which it is said may land "Teddy" Roosevelt in the Cabinet as Secretary of the Navy, and bring about other changes of more or less importance.

Attorney General Terrell, of Ga., who is in Washington on business before the U. S. Supreme Court is somewhat indignant at the misrepresentations which have been made of the shooting of the negro postmaster at Hogansville. He said: "A great injustice has been done to one of the best and most substantial towns in our State. The report of the Post Office inspectors will bear out my declaration that there was absolutely no evidence of any deep-seated plot on the part of the citizens of Hogansville to remove Loftin. There isn't a spark of evidence to show whether he was shot by a white man or a negro. At any rate, there was no conspiracy among the prominent citizens of the town, as some of the papers put it, and all such reports are unfounded aspersions on a good people. I know the citizens there, and there isn't a better community in any state in the Union. A crime should not be made to suffer for the deed of one miscreant. The State officers are as anxious as the Federal authorities to bring the guilty party to punishment, and every means of detection is being used to that end."

Mr. McKinley is almost in a state of panic on account of his private advices from Ohio. Boss Hanna with all his egotism has become alarmed at the indifference of so many men who have heretofore been the most enthusiastic workers in every Republican campaign; he fears the indifference will last until election day and that it will keep thousands of Republicans away from the polls, and he has communicated his fears to Mr. McKinley, who is now trying to devise some scheme to arouse a little enthusiam among the Foraker Republicans of Ohio. Ex-Congressman Layton, of Ohio, who although a Democrat is not taking any active part in the campaign because of his pressing legal engagements, has been telling his Washington friends that the Ohio Democrats have an excellent chance to win, if they can only succeed in getting out a full vote. He is confident that the Republican stay-at-home vote will reach away up in the thousands, and is afraid that the same cause may largely reduce the Democratic vote. He says he never saw such apathy among rural voters in a Ohio campaign as exist at this time.

Consul General Lee was in Washington this week preparing for his return to Cuba next week. He had a conference with Mr. McKinley and several with Assistant Secretary Day, but did not meet Secretary Sherman at all. Still there are persons who object to the assertion that Mr. Sherman has nothing whatever to do with the relations of this government with Spain and Cuba calling it "preposterous," etc. It would be preposterous for a man who has been in Washington during the last six months, and kept his eye open, to claim to believe that Mr. Sherman has had anything whatever to do with either Spanish or Cuban matters. The opinion is prevalent in Washington that Mr. Sherman will be froze out of the Cabinet before the first of the year. A personal friend of General Lee is authority for the statement that he will return to Virginia in the spring and begin an active personal canvass far election to the U. S. Senate to succeed Senator Martin.

CROP OF TOBACCO STOCK.

New [illegible] are generally [illegible] 10 cents in Hopkins county.

Last week a number of planters in the Sewell neighborhood sold their tobacco crops from $10 to $13 round.

It is thought that corn will be worth two dollars per barrel before the winter is over. Much of the corn is not as good in quality as it was thought to be before it was cut.—Georgetown Times.

The Kentuckian-Citizen notes the following Bourbon sale: "Over 1,000 persons Thursday, attended the administrator's sale of the effects of the late J. L. Patterson, and good prices were realized on nearly everything. The short horn cattle sold from $52 to $115; fat cattle at 4c, 17 averaging 1,800 pounds; one cow and calf brought $115; calves $40 to $60; two-year-old heifers from $50 to $75; horses $15 to $100; sheep $6 to $7; hogs 5c and over; 13 mule colts $17 per head; 29 yearling mules $35 05; 30 two-year-old mules $61; corn $1 60 per barrel.

A Barren county correspondent of the Glasgow Times draws this blue picture of the situation in his neighborhood brought about by the drouth: "No wheat sown yet. A large per cent. of the apples are rotting and falling off the trees. Of sweet potatoes there is a light crop, and what there is of them is not a very excellent quality. The same may be said of Irish potatoes. Cabbage scarce and about eat up. Turnips are things of the past for they are almost an entire failure. Corn is burnt up. Plenty of little corn, but not enough to fatten hogs. Wheat very good, but not any too much of it. If it doesn't rain soon there will not be more than half the crop sown that would have been under more favorable circumstances.

POLITICAL.

Editor Watterson has at last turned down William Jennings Bryan from the leadership of the Democratic ranks. Bryan, no doubt, will have to step down. Watterson, it must be remembered, objected to Cleveland being the standard bearer of Democracy, but some how or other Grover held on. Bryan is not losing much sleep.—Argus.

When the Governor of a great State prostitutes the pardoning power with which he is vested, simply to further the interests of his party, he carries this prerogative beyond the limits of descency and simply perpetrates an outrage on his people.

Such was the action of Gov. Bradley, when on Monday he granted *pardons to a number of negro ex-*convicts simply that they might register the next day and vote next month. It is said that at least twenty of these pardons were produced Tuesday when the votes of these ex-convicts were challenged. Some of them had been in the penitentiary more than once, and the list embraces nearly all the crimes in the calendar, robbery, perjury, housebreaking, manslaughter, theft, ect. Among those pardoned were Amos Guest, Sandford George, Nelson Fields, Crit Gordon, Jordon Hawkins, Albert Finch, Silas Goff, Henry McKinney, Henry Young, Mose Mack, John Poindexter and others of the very worst negroes in our city. Verily the Republicans are in desperate straits when their Governor is reduced to this method of retaining supremacy.—Winchester Democrat.

FROM GALLATIN COUNTY.

Independent

The Winchester Democrat says "Thursday, a young white man who gave his name as Robert Diggs, and who said his home is in Boone county, traded for a mule which he rode to town without a saddle. He fancied that of Will Couchman and took it from the latter's horse which was hitched on Fairfax street, placed it on the mule and rode away. Deputy Sheriff Epperson was told of the theft and, although Diggs had a considerable start he soon caught him and lodged him in jail. He was indicted the following day and will be tried soon.

Parties from Ghent and vicinity have been here several days this week dragging the river above Bryant's Creek for the body o. Wm. Montgomery, who was drowned from the steamer Lizzie Bay a couple of months ago. No trace of the remains could be found.

The tobacco crop in this county is far better than the average person has an idea of. There are quite a number of large crops that were planted, cut and housed early that will compare with any year. A dozen crops could be named.

Henry Sisson and Frank Bell had some trouble at Sugar Creek, Tuesday, over some charges made by Mr. Sisson that Mr. Bell had stolen some corn, and Bell struck Sisson on the head with a foot axe making a painful gash.

The corn crop is not so [illegible] expected, the dry weather [illegible] It is expected [illegible] will open at [illegible] per cent of the supply will not be much above the necessities.

The remarkable sight of fruit trees in bloom can be seen in several places in this county. A tree on Jas. McDanell, jr's. premises in town is in bloom and is a very notable sight for the middle of October.

FROM OWEN COUNTY.

[News]

Uncle Mike Callaghan, aged and respected citizen died at his home, near Pleasant Home, Monday morning of cancer of the breast, aged 81.

While at church Sunday at Poplar Grove many of the citizens living in that vicinity were robbed of overcoats, rings, and other property. No clue to miscreants.

Jas. A. Rice presented this office last week with a limb which he cut from his favorite plum tree. The branch was in full bloom, and some few plums had begun to make their appearance. The leaves were green and in a healthy condition.

The thieves throughout the county have become simply unbearable. At every public or church meeting many farmers lose saddles, bridles, harness or robes. At Bethel church Sunday night, the thieves made a raid on the buggies and horses, stealing numerous saddles, bridles and even harness. Such petty thieves should be watched and captured, and then given a good cowhiding, with orders to leave the country. The farmers are becoming very much exasperated, and it caught there will be some whitecapping.

FROM GRANT COUNTY.

[Courier]

Circuit Court is grinding away. The criminal docket has all been disposed of and much of the common law and equity docket tried. Judge Green is moving things along rapidly. The grand jury after being in session six days reported Saturday evening. They found 38 indictments.

The political pot in Grant county that has been simmering along quietly for the last two months has at last begun to boil. On the streets County Court day everybody was talking politics and telling his neighbor just what was going to happen November 2, 1897.

Wisdom in Nuggets.

It often makes a man hot when you tell him cold facts.

The wise man dosen't wait for fortune to knock at his door; he goes out to meet it.

Some people go without what they want in order to get something they don't want.

About the only difference in a saloon and in a cafe is in the price charged for drinks.

All the money dropped in speculation is dropped by men who are trying to pick it up.

The use of mourning envelopes does not render a person liable to arrest for black-mail.

Some statesmen are self made, but the majority of the politicians are machine made.

There are unlimited opportunities for a man who is determined to make a fool of himself.

The sensible man never complains. If he breaks his leg he is always thankful that it isn't his neck.

It's a poor recommendation for her biscuit when a widow tells how fond her late husband was of them.

A base ball nine is called a team, but what the team sometimes calls the umpire wouldn't look well in print.

Farm for Sale.

Lying on the Beaver pike, Boone county, Ky., ½ mile from Richwood Station on the C. N. & T. P., railroad. Said farm contains 116 acres in a good state of cultivation, with a good frame dwelling of seven rooms and cellar, cistern and well in the yard, barn and other necessary out buildings, orchard and various kinds of fruit trees; known as the W. H. Smith farm. Those wishing to purchase call on or address.

LEWIS RICE, Richwood, Ky.

What it Will Do.

FALMOUTH, KY. July 7, 1896.

Dr. J. T. Boulton, Cincinnati, O.

Dear Sir—I was taken with a severe cough the first of May; for two weeks I could not lie on my left side nor breathe through my left lung. I also had hemorrhage and my friends said I had consumption. I began taking Boulton's Cough Remedy and began to improve with the first dose, and within three weeks was entirely well. I can not say enough in favor of Boulton's Cough Remedy. Respectfully,

MRS. R. J. MARSHALL.

For sale by all druggists. Price, 25c. and $1 per bottle.

Admiuistrator's Notice.

Those indebted to the estate of J. C. Beall, deceased, must come forward and settle at once, and those having claims against said estate must present the same at once proven according to law.

[illegible] B. BEALL, Adm'r.

[illegible] the RECORDER

The Very Fact of the Case IS

That you can buy as much or more goods of a high quality, get better satisfaction and always have more money by buying at.....

AYLOR'S

than any Little House this side of Cincinnati. We still kindly insist on you coming our way as you have in the past, as we will certainly always treat you right.

Very Truly,

IRA AYLOR, - - Erlanger, Ky.

C. W. ROBINSON,

DEALER IN

Dry Goods, Notions, Groceries, Boots and Shoes,

ALL KIND OF FEED AND FLOUR IN STOCK,

Agent for Weidler's Germ Food; Also agent for the Jones Fertilizers.

GOOD STABLE IN CONNECTION WITH STORE.

Constance, Ky.

METROPOLITAN COUPE & LIVERY COMPANY.

62 & 64 West Sixth St., Cincinnati, Ohio,

E. H. BAKER, Proprietor

Horses and Vehicles for Hire at Reasonable Rates.

Horses and Second-Hand Buggies for Sale.

Horses Sold on Commission.

Telephone 580.

CHAS. C. FRY. JACOB REIB.

FRY & REIB,

Manufacturers of and Dealers in all kinds of

Marble & Granite Monuments

HEADSTONES, CORNER POSTS, ETC.,

109 Pike Sreet, [illegible] COVINGTON, K

Near C. & O. R. R. [illegible] Designs Furnished Upon Application.

R. A. STEELE,

RISING SUN, IND.,

UNDERTAKING.

My Stock and accouterments are unsurpassed, having adult's black hearses and child's white hearse.

Independent of Undertakers' Union.

My prices are reasonable and my friends will tell you I give satisfaction.

FURNITURE

Large Stock of Latest Styles at Lowest Prices.

GIVE : ME : A : CALL.

Frankfort & Cincinnati Railway.

Ask for tickets via this line. Schedule of trains in effect March 1, 1897.

East Bound.

Lve. Frankfort..... 6:30 a. m, 3:00 p. m
Arr. Georgetown...7:20 a. m. 4:15 p. m

West Bound.

Lve. Georgetown...10:40 a m 6:30 p. m
Arr. Frankfort.....11:55 a. m 7:20 p. m

C. D. BERCAW, G. P. A.

Geo. B. Harper, Gen. Supt.

Frankfort, Ky.

H. S. STEVENSON.

Satisfaction Guaranteed.

DENTIST.

Prices Consistent with Good Services Only.

OFFICE:— Rising Sun, Indiana.

NOTICE.

Cincinnati, O., April 5, 1897.

To the Tobacco Growers of Boone County:

I am connected with the Cincinnati Leaf Tobacco Warehouse Co., which includes four houses—the Globe, Morris, Bodmann, Cincinnati Miami. Prize your tobacco and ship it to one of the four houses and receive the highest market price for same. If you have no preference ship it to the Cincinnati Miami, and I will give it my personal attention. Hogsheads and presses furnished. Address me at 110, 112 West Front St., Cincinnati, Ohio.

oct-7 O. W. ADAMS.

For Rent.

A good farm, to a good tenant—six miles from Cincinnati on Cincinnati Southern railroad and on free turnpike. Call at 30 W. 4th St. Covington, Ky. J. J. DULANEY.

Take the Recorder, $1.50 a year.

Some Plain Facts.

Grave errors, injustice, wrongs of greater or less degree, arise from lack of knowledge of the truth, and more frequently from deception.

The most infamous case on record of deception and injustice is the attempt to demonetize silver as a money of final redemption in the United States.

There is no learned judge, skilled lawyer, or court of justice that is capable of reconciling the effort with the constitutional laws that govern the issue of money in this country.

The people have been deceived, officials in power, chosen to administer justice under the laws, have ignored their sworn duty, and given aid to the scheme that has paralyzed industry, reduced property values one-half, and beggared millions.

There is no authority of law, either specific or by inference, by which gold alone is made the only money with which to discharge debts, either public or private. The effort to make it so is unconstitutional and a national calamity.

Plain and ample information, facts, and truth, concerning this almost successful scheme to corner the wealth of the people, is now being printed in the Cincinnati Enquirer, a newspaper which the combined power of money has failed to muzzle or buy.

The Weekly Enquirer is only 75c. a year. The address is Enquirer Company, Cincinnati, O.

PATENTS

Caveats, and Trade-Marks obtained and all Patent business conducted for MODERATE FEES. OUR OFFICE IS OPPOSITE U. S. PATENT OFFICE and we can secure patent in less time than those remote from Washington.

Send model, drawing or photo., with description. We advise, if patentable or not, free of charge. Our fee not due till patent is secured. A PAMPHLET, "How to Obtain Patents," with cost of same in the U.S. and foreign countries sent free. Address,

C.A.SNOW & CO.

OPP. PATENT OFFICE, WASHINGTON, D. C.

BOONE COUNTY RECORDER.

VOL. XXIII. BURLINGTON, KENTUCKY, WEDNESDAY, OCTOBER 27, 1897. NO. 1.

PUT the x under the rooster next Tuesday and you will have served your country and State well.

THE barrels are now open in the Ohio campaign, which is said to be a double barrel arrangement.

IT was the request of Charles A. Dana that his paper, the New York Sun, contain no obituary of him.

WHEN a man who claims to be a Democrat tries to excuse himself for allowing his name to go under the log cabin on an election ticket, he is displaying his imbecility.

THE joint political discussion being held throughout the State, are, according to reports, very much on the order of two snakes swallowing each other—each speaker devours his opponent.

No wonder taxes have been so high in Cincinnati when such a large proportion of the county and city officials each have been knocking down many thousands of the people's money.

HENRY WATTERSON is up in Michigan prophecying a Democratic victory in Kentucky next Tuesday. History teaches that what Watterson says to-day he may go back on to-morrow.

A WHISKY counterfeiting establishment has been captured in Chicago, and it is estimated that it has caused a loss of a half million dollars to legitimate whisky dealers. It was worse than a Kentucky moonshiner of the largest order.

THE Mayoralty campaign in Louisville is about the hottest ever waged there and the orators on each side are indulging in a great deal of abuse which at this distance appears wholly unnecessary. A flood of abuse does not constitute good politics.

SINCE the Presidential election Chicago, Cincinnati, Chattanooga, Nashville and Indianapolis have each gone Democratic by good majorities, and New York and Louisville are likely to follow suit next Tuesday, while Cincinnati repeats her recent performance

IT is remarkably strange how little interest the Republicans are taking in Bailey's campaign for Clerk. The gold bugs [illegible] have done about all the work in his interest, but they can not save his political bacon. Shackelford is sure to land a winner if his party polls a full vote next Tuesday.

THOSE papers which published an interview with Hon. C. J. Bronston, in which he said the 16 to 1 ratio between gold and silver cannot be sustained, have not published the fact that he repudiates the interview, denying most emphatically that he made any such statement or any statement that could be so construed.

SOME of the defeated candidates in the recent primary election over in Kenton county are now engaged publishing a paper for the purpose of doing their successful competitors all the injury possible. Just previous to the primary these same fellows were boasting of their staying qualities as Democrats, but it turns out that they were not acquainted with themselves.

NEXT Tuesday the voters of Kentucky will be called upon to choose a Clerk of the Court of Appeals, Judges of the Circuit Courts, Commonwealth's Attorneys and a full set of county officials. While the Republicans are doing very little in behalf of their candidate for the State office, the gold Democrats have numerous speakers on the stump advocating the defeat of the regular Democratic nominee, by an effort to pursuade the voters to cast their ballots for Hindman. They know that Hindman's election is impossible, but they hope to elect Bailey, the Republican, by weakening Shackelford. Kentucky Democrats will certainly not permit themselves deceived in that way, and should place their seal of condemnation on the work of the socalled gold-bugs by turning out in full force on the second day of November, and casting their vote for Shackelford. A vote for Hindman is a vote endorsing the present State administration, the chief executive of which would refuse to endorse, and which he has been trying to purify by the removal of several officers in charge of penitentiaries and other State institutions. The people of Kentucky will make no mistake, next Tuesday, if they give Sam Shackelford an old time Democratic majority.

WASHINGTON LETTER.

(From Our Regular Correspondent.)

Washington, October 23rd, 1897.

The administration can scarcely conceal the satisfaction it feels at the knockout blow administered to Senator Wolcott's international bimetallic commission by England, but it is sending to hide it for several good and sufficient reasons. It knows that [illegible] is already under suspicions of having given England a tip, and, [illegible] it is more important, it knows that the votes of Senator Wolcott and the other five Senators —Carter, Pritchard, Shoup, Warren and Clarke—who remained in the Republican party, when other silver Republicans led by Senator Teller abandoned it, solely because of their belief that this administration would be able to accomplish something for silver through some sort of an international agreement, will be needed when the attempt to jam an administration financial bill through the Senate is made this winter. It remains to be seen whether their votes can be had. None of these men are fools. Their attitude towards the administration financial bill will probably depend largely upon whether Senator Wolcott has been cured of his international bimetallism hallucinations by the rebuff given him by the British government, and whether he sees through the game that has been played upon him and his silver colleagues and their constituents. Not only must the administration get these votes but it must also get those of the gold democrats, Caffery, Gray, Lindsay and Smith, and then get the bill to a vote in the Senate, in order to pass it. And, as though this outlook was not a source of sufficient worry to Mr. McKinley, Czar Reed's friends are dropping mysterious hints that he may not deem it wise to allow the House to pass any financial legislation at the coming session of Congress.

* * *

With all its numerous faults England never fails to see that the interests of the humblest Englishman are protected in the most remote portion of the world. Knowing this, there is much interest felt in Washington in connection with what England will do about that correspondent of a London paper who starved to death in the streets of Havana, as a result of his having been robbed of everything he had, including his passport, and being unable to identity himself or communicate with friends at home and obtain assistance. There are portions of this story that seem incredible, but if an investigation shows its main points to be true, it is a good 10 to 1 shot that England will speedily demand and get the fullest reparation from Spain.

* * *

There is an impression among prominent Democrats that Hon. Wm. R. Morrison will enter active politics again when his term as a member of the Interstate Commerce Commission expires, and be a candidate for Congress from his old district, now represented by his oldtime political opponent, Jehu Baker. Mr. Morrison's many Democratic admirers would like to see him back in Congress, where he was once such a power.

* * *

Gamblers care nothing for men or political principles, in an election they bet their money to win, and the fact that they are gladly taking all the offers to bet against the regular Democratic candidate, and even giving odds of 3 to 1 to tempt betters, tells its own story, and the gamblers are not the only men who regard the election of Judge Van Wyck, the regular Democratic candidate for Mayor of New York city, as a certainty. One wager of even money has been made in Washington that Van Wyck will poll more votes than all the other candidates combined, which was a case of a man's backing his enthusiasm instead of his judgment. Needless to say he wasn't a professional gambler.

* * *

Secretary Gage did not deny the correctness of the statement published this week purporting to give the substance of the financial recommendations of his annual report to Congress—merely said that his report was not complete and was therefore not a subject for newspaper discussion. The three features of this statement were the issue of 2½ per cent gold bonds in sufficient quantity to refund the entire bonded debt of the country and to allow $200,000,000 to be converted into cash; to establish an issue and redemption bureau with which shall be deposited $325,000,000 in gold, to be used to redeem paper money, and to make various change in the National banking law, including a reduction of the tax on circulation to a rate just enough to pay for supervision and the allowance of banks with $25,000 capital in towns of less than 4,000 inhabitants. These recommendations may be made or they may not be made by Secretary Gage, but there isn't the slightest hesitation in saying that they will never be favorably acted upon during the life of the present Congress by that body. Every time the gold bond idea has been before Congress it has been sat upon.

Pith of the Press.

The Cincinnati theater disaster reminds us that we have altogether too much post-mortem architecture. —Washington Post.

Mr. McKinley, by sticking his fingers in the New York pie, has taken the first step in his own ruin. —Memphis Commercial-Appeal.

Undoubtedly there are people out in Ohio who believe they will vote next month on a proposition to make a change in the Cabinet.—Washington Post.

The silence of David B. Hill is by no means significant. Mr. Hill is not quietly and properly pursuing the vocation of a man who has nothing to say.—N. Y. Journal.

Col. Ike Hill, of Newark, who is known as one of the best political prophets in Ohio, says the Democrats will elect their state ticket and carry the Legislature.—Springfield (Ohio) Democrat.

The returns of the recent election in Indianapolis would seem to indicate that ex-President Harrison need not go so far from home as Greater New York to find a field for the exercise of his political influence.—Minneapolis Journal,

The piratical syndicate which has secured McKinley's consent to its purchase of the Union Pacific will not make much over $20,000,000 thereby, but that is generous interest on its contribution to the McHanna slush fund.—Kansas City Times.

The reports that Mark Hanna is a very tired man are by no means strange. Writing checks for campaign Committees and trying to furnish reasons for his election to the United States Senate will tire out any man like Hanna.—N. Y. Journal.

The party of Lincoln and Sumner and Grant, which once stood for liberty and union and justice, is now the party of sordid greed and judicial tyranny, the protector of the Moloch of gold and the refuge of such hungry demagogues as Hanna.—Boston Traveler.

President McKinley cannot escape responsibility for the Union Pacific steal by charging it up to Cleveland. No matter what Cleveland did, McKinley has the power to stop it, and if he permits it to go forward he will be as deep in the scandel as Cleveland and Mark Hanna.—Louisville Dispatch.

Mr. McKinley is now dodging the responsibility for the approaching Union Pacific sale, but the people will not be fooled by his contortions. They are beginning to realize how costly a "slush fund" President may become when he begins paying his ante-election debts.—St. Louis Republic.

The proposed constitutional amendment to be voted on at the November election should not be neglected or misunderstood. It is a measure of great importance to the material prosperity of the state, and if adopted it will make a large increase in the taxable property of the state. It proposes to authorize the legislature to grant to the towns and cities of the state the power to adopt such a system of taxation for local purposes only as may be by their citizens deemed best for their interests. It does not propose to interfere with the system of state taxation for state purposes, and therefore will not affect those who live outside of the towns and cities except that it will increase the total taxable values of the state, and in that way lighten the burden of state taxes. Under the present ad valorem system the manufacturer is taxed on his machinery, raw material and manufactured products; the merchant is taxed not on his capital, but on the amount of merchandise which may be in his hands only temporarily, and which often represent his credit as well as his capital. The effect of this in the cities and towns of Kentucky is to drive out manufacturers and wholesale merchants, by placing burdens upon their enterprise and credit which they can not carry and compete with the manufacturers and merchants in other states where these burdens are not imposed. This is true of Louisville and it will be true of every growing and enterprising town in the state, if they have not already felt it. Under the old constitution the legislature had the power which this amendment proposes to confer, and the cities and towns of the state then collected their taxes from such sources as in their judgment was best for their interests. The best system of taxation is that which brings into the taxable list the most property, and so distributes the burden as to derive the largest amount of revenue from the lowest tax rate. There are certain forms of property which may be transferred without loss from one to another, and when such property finds taxation burdensome it moves out. Men change their investments from one form to another according to their interests. Kentucky needs to invite investments in manufacturing and other kinds of business, and this is what the towns and cities of Kentucky could do if this amendment should be adopted, by changing their local systems of taxation so as to base local taxation on invoices, licenses and franchises, instead of the ad valorem system which now applies in all state and local taxation. The Dispatch believes that the proposed amendment would be of great benefit to the state and should be adopted.—Louisville Dispatch.

Health "Dont's."

Don't neglect your house drains nor the drainage about your house. The first condition of family health is a dry and sweet atmosphere. With dry walls, a dry cellar, and drains that carry off refuse without letting in foul gases, half the battle for good health is won.

Don't [illegible] springs be infected by drainage or from other causes. Pure drinking water is indispensable for health at home or anywhere.

Don't keep the sun out of your living and sleeping rooms. Sunlight is absolutely necessary for a right condition of the atmosphere that we breathe and for our bodily well-being.

Don't sleep in the same flannels that you wear during the day.

Don't wear thin socks or light-soled shoes in cold or wet weather.

Don't catch cold. Catching cold is much more preventable than is generally supposed. A person in good physical condition is not liable to colds, and will not fall victim to them unless he is grossly careless. Keep the feet warm and dry, the head cool, the bowels and chest well protected; avoid exposure with an empty stomach; take care not to cool off too rapidly when heated; keep out of draughts; wear flannels; and with the exercise of a little common sense in various emergencies, colds will be rare. If colds were a penal offense, we should soon find a way to prevent them.

Don't neglect personal cleanliness, but use the bath with moderation and in accordance with your general health. The daily cold bath is right enough with the rugged, but it is a great tax upon the vitality of persons not in the best health, and should be abandoned if the results are not found to be favorable, and tepid water used instead. Each man in these things should be a judge for himself; that which is excellent for one is often hurtful for another.

Don't have much confidence in the curative nature of drugs. The above is from the Phrenological Journal which adds: Remember that Dr. Good Habits, Dr. Diet, and Dr. Exercise are the best doctors in the world.

The atmosphere is so clear in Zululand that, it is said, objects can be seen by starlight at a distance of seven miles.

While repairing the Heldelberg castle ruins the other day, some workmen came across a window group, the style of which revealed the fact that the famous castle was not begun in 1411, as heretofore believed, but about 200 years earlier.

The heirs of William Ball, deceased, who were on the verge, as they supposed, of raking in a vast fortune, have had a damper placed on their hopes by the Treasury authorities of Washington, who have informed the attorneys for the heirs that the small sum of $3,000 is all that is in possession of Uncle Sam which belongs to the Ball heirs. They claim to have been duped by a lot of scheming attorneys, and instead of $1,000,000 a piece, the heirs are only entitled to $3 each.

COUNTY DIRECTORY.

County Judge—Benjamin Stephens.
County Clerk—R. W. Adams.
County Attorney—J. M. Lassing.
Sheriff—C. C. Roberts.
Jailer—C. L. Crisler.
Assessor—R. A. Brady.
Coroner—A. A. Murat.
Superintendent Schools—L. H. Voshell.
Surveyor—W. E. Vest.

Fiscal Court meets Tuesday after first Monday in January, April, July and October.

RAILROAD COMMISSION:

John C. Wood, Chairman; T. F. Dempsey, H. S. Irwin. Secretary—Samuel Brown.

CIRCUIT COURT.

Judge—John W. Green.
Clerk—J. W. Duncan.
Commonwealth's Attorney—M. D. Gray.
Master Commissioner—J. S. Berkshire.

JUSTICES OF THE PEACE.

Courts are held in the months of March, June, September and December, as follows:

District No. 1.—O. W. Gaines, fourth Saturday; J. B. Crigler, Constable.
District No. 2.—M. B. Green, first Saturday; Jake Cook, Constable.
District No. 3.—R. L. Roberts, wednesday after third Monday; T. M. Rich, Constable.
District No. 4.—H. Bannister, Thursday after second Monday; Add Ridsell, Constable.
District No. 5.—T. E. Roberts, fourth Monday; J. H. Watson, Constable.
District No. 6.—Joseph Wagstaff, third Saturday; Simeon Tanner, Constable.

STATE DIRECTORY.

Governor—W. O. Bradley.
Lieutenant Governor—W. J. Worthington.
Secretary of State—Charles Finley.
Assistant Secretary of State—E. D. Guffy.
Attorney General—W. S. Taylor.
Auditor—Samuel H. Stone.
Assistant Auditor—Frank Johnson.
Treasurer—George W. Long.
Sup't of Public Instruction—Geo. M. Davidson.
Register Land Office—Charles O. Reynolds.
Adjutant General—Stanley D. Brown, Sam S. Shepherd.
Insurance Commissioner—D M Comingore.
Adjutant General—D. R. Collier.
Assistant—Walter Forrester.
Supt. Arsenal—Capt. David O'Connell.
State Inspector—C. W. Lester
Commissioner Agriculture—Lucas Moore.

COURT OF APPEALS.

Chief Justice—Joseph Lewis. Judges—Geo Durrett, J. H. Grace, T. H. Paynter, B. L. D. Guffy, J. H. Hazelrigg, J. H. Lewis.
Reporter—E. W. Hines. Clerk—A. Addams.
Sergeant—W. S. B. Hill. Tipstaff—C. C. Turner.
Librarian—Mrs. Mary Brown Day.
Inspector of Mines—C. J. Norwood.

STATE PRISON OFFICIALS:

Frankfort Prison—Warden, Henry George; Deputy Warden, M. A. Rooney.
Eddyville Prison—Warden, L. C. Curry; Deputy Warden, Ward Linn.

JOHN C. TANNER
SPECIAL AGENT,
ERLANGER, - - KY.
Representing Reliable Companies Manufacturing
Musical Instruments, Sewing Machines, Bicycles, Buggies, Farming Implements
—ALSO—
Coal and Lumber, Granite & Marble Work, Life & Fire Insurance.
Prompt Attention and Satisfaction Guaranteed.
Aug 25 3m.

B. F. BUCHANAN,
—DRUGGIST,—
Rising Sun, - Indiana.
Thanks his Kentucky friends for their renewed patronage and invites them to continue to call at the Corner Drug Store.

INSURE AT HOME
The Farmers' Mutual Fire
INSURANCE COMPANY,
OF BOONE COUNTY,
Is now completely organized and receiving applications for insurance.
Its Rates are Lower
Than those of any other Company and gives the farmers of Boone County
HITHERTO UNKNOWN ADVANTAGE
In keeping their property insured.
EVERY FARMER IN THE COUNTY should take a policy at once.
E H. BLANKENBECKER, - President, Florence, Ky.
D. E. LAWELL, - Vice-President.
OSCAR GAINES, Secretary, Burlington.
J. E. DUNCAN, Treasurer.
EXECUTIVE BOARD—Legrand Gaines, J. W. Conner, John Stephens.
J. E. SMITH, Assessor, - Burlington, Ky.
W. M. ROGERS, Agt. - Walton, Ky.

FOR SALE--This Fall.
STRAWBERRY PLANTS.
Bubach No. 5 P. Greenville P.
Parker Earl, Haverlan,
And other Varieties.
LIGHT BRAHMA FOWLS.
Blackberry & Raspberry Sprouts.
For further information write to
WM. C. ROUSE, Limaburg, Ky.

D. E. CASTLEMAN,
ATTORNEY - AT - LAW,
BURLINGTON, KY.
Will practice in the Courts of Boone Kenton, Grant and Gallatin. Collections pushed energetically.

G. G. HUGHES,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
BURLINGTON, KY.
Will practice in all the courts. Prompt attention given to all business entrusted to me.

P. E. CASON,
ATTORNEY - AT - LAW,
BURLINGTON, KY,
Practice in all Courts. Promptness guaranteed.

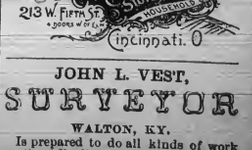
J. G. TOMLIN,
ATTORNEY - AT - LAW,
WALTON, KENTUCKY.
Will practice in the Courts of Boone, Kenton Grant and Gallatin. Prompt attention given t Collections entrusted to him. mch22-93.

W. E. VEST,
County Surveyor,
BURLINGTON, KY.
Is prepared to do all kinds of Surveying. All orders by maill promptly attended to.

J. M. LASSING. N. E. RIDDELL
LASSING & RIDDELL,
ATTORNEYS AT LAW.
BURLINGTON, KY.
Prompt Attention Given to Collections

S. GAINES,
ATTORNEY-AT-LAW.
BURLINGTON, KY.
Will practice in all the courts, and prompt attention given collections. Office—In residence near post-office.

DR. A. B. HARRYMAN,
DENTIST.
Will be in Lawrenceburg, Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday,
At Aurora, Thursday, Friday and Saturday. Practiced for 30 years.
No Poisonous Gasses Used.



S. W. ADAMS,
ATTORNEY - AT - LAW,
ERLANGER, KENTUCKY.
Will practice in the courts of Boone and Kenton counties. Collections and general law practice.

W. E. VEST. B. L. RICE.
VEST & RICE,
Real Estate Agents.
Farms Bought, Sold or Exchanged, Money to Loan on Real Estate, Notes bought, sold & Negotiated.
All communications addressed to W. E. VEST, Burlington, Ky.

BOONE CO. DEPOSIT BANK.
(Incorporated 1886.)
CAPITAL, ... $30,000
Surplus and undivided profits, 19,000
Our facilities enable us to receive on favorable terms accounts of individuals and corporations. Collections promptly remitted for at lowest rates

ERLANGER DEPOSIT BANK.
(INCORPORATED 1893.)
ERLANGER, - - KENTUCKY
CAPITAL PAID IN..... $50,000
SURPLUS,..... $ 20000
Careful attention given collections and remittances promptly made. Deposit accounts solicited.

Dr. J. L. Adams,
DENTIST,
Walton, Kentucky.
All work executed according to the latest methods of the profession.
Satisfaction - Guaranteed.

JOHN L. VEST,
SURVEYOR
WALTON, KY.
Is prepared to do all kinds of work south of Burlington, Ky. Prompt attention given to all mail orders.

THE RECORDER

W. L. RIDDELL, Publisher.

BURLINGTON, KY

CURRENT TOPICS.

ON one farm near Flint, Mich., there are 1,130,000 cabbages.

AMETHYSTS and emeralds seem to be favorite stones for gold hatpins.

AN Illinois prospector claims to have found a rich vein of silver near Paducah.

IN Norway people who are not vaccinated are not allowed to vote at an election.

A NUMBER of Harvard students were arrested the other day for playing golf on Sunday.

THE Brotherhood of Blacksmiths has decided to join the American Federation of Labor.

CORBETT, the prize fighter, is said to have bought a house for $20,000 in New York and to have paid for it.

FRAU WAGNER made a profit of $150,000 from the Bayreuth festival this year. The next will be in 1899.

IT is due to the generosity of Mrs. J. M. Fisk that the new dormitory is now being erected for Barnard college.

MRS. MCKINLEY is said to be enjoying much better health at present than at any time since she came to Washington.

A PLAY entitled "Pharaoh," written in French by Oscar Wilde, is to be produced in Paris at the Theater de l'Oeuvre during the winter.

A DROP of boiling lard, spattered from a frying pan by accident, recently removed a cataract from the eye of a woman at Punxsutawney, Pa.

ARCHBISHOP LOPEZ, of the state of Sonora, Mex., has issued an edict excommunicating all Catholics who are members of the Masonic order.

BEE trees are being found in numbers in parts of Vermont this fall. One near Nashville held a honeycomb two feet long and several inches thick.

TACOMA'S probate judge is hard put to determine whether a minister's claim against an estate for ten dollars for burial services should be allowed.

THE German military authorities have decided that in the future all bicycles for the army shall be constructed in the government establishments.

IN the jungles of Sumatra the largest spiders are found. Some of the larger specimens measure eight inches across the back, and have 17 inches of legspread.

A MOUNTAIN-CLIMBING cat has taken its station on the Dent du Midi, in Switzerland, and goes up 8,200 yards with tourists to share their lunch at the top.

A NEWSPAPER of Sherman county, Oregon, says that it does not know a farmer in that county who will not be able to discharge all his indebtedness this fall.

IN the University of Paris there are over 10,000 medical students. At Vienna there are about 1,000 more. In Paris there are 8,000 students at the School of Fine Arts.

THE flag carried by Cortez, the Spanish conqueror of Mexico, nearly 400 years ago, was until recently preserved at a little church in the capital of the state of Tlascala.

A CHECK for $245,000, paid to the London custom house for a cargo of 1,300 tons of tea, is said in London to be the largest single payment for duties ever made in the world's history.

MISS DE ROTHSCHILD, who is one of the cleverist lady horticulturists, has a collection of roses valued at $55,000. The rose is the favorite flower with all the great Rothschilds of Europe.

A GERMAN paper calls attention to the extraordinary fact that at Aachen alone 800 tons of steel wire are used up annually in the manufacture of needles —4,500,000,000 in number, valued at $1,500,000.

THE first shipment of American butter has arrived at Hamburg in excellent condition and found a ready market at prices slightly lower than the German, averaging to the American butter 24 to 26 cents a pound.

ARRANGEMENTS for the largest glucose factory in the world, to be established in Chicago, have been completed. George W. Lamb is its projector. The new factory will consume 30,000 bushels of corn daily and employ 5,000 persons.

ACETYLENE gas is used in a recently patented bicycle lamp, the stick of calcium being placed in a compartment which has small perforations to allow the liquid to filter through and generate the gas, which is stored in a receptacle for burning.

A RUNAWAY horse at Florence, S. C., jumped a six-foot gate, and, the dangling checkrein catching on a picket, the horse's head was pulled in such a manner that the animal turned a somersault, landing on its back, but it gained its feet and ran on.

A RAILROAD is to be built across the northwest of China from Peking to Hankow by order of the emperor. The work is to be under the supervision of Li Hung Chang and Chang-Chih-tung, the two viceroys, through whose provinces the projected road is to run.

HEAT holidays have been established by law in the public schools of Switzerland. Recognizing the well known fact that the brain can not work properly when the heat is excessive, the children are dismissed from their tasks whenever the thermometer goes above a certain point.

TO TAKE dust from the floor and prevent its scattering when sweeping a new device has a detachable clasp adapted to embrace the body of the broom and provided with flaps or strands of absorbent material like heavy wool cloth to be dampened before using the broom.

BADEN-BADEN, having given up its gambling tables, is offering stringent Sunday laws as an attraction to visitors. The police stopped two old gentlemen who were buying flowers on Sunday recently. One was the oberburgermeister of Frankfort, the other Prince Hohenlohe, the chancellor of the empire.

A FORECAST

Of Gen. Blanco's Campaign in the Island of Cuba—The General Can Not Fix a Date for the Termination of the War.

MADRID, Oct. 21.—A dispatch from Corunna says that Marshal Blanco, prior to embarking Tuesday for Havana to assume his new responsibilities as governor general of Cuba, made the following statement:

"I go to Cuba with full confidence in the efficacy of the new programme to insure immediate and certain success. My military and political actions I shall develop simultaneously. I have not been instructed to maintain any reserve regarding the intentions to bestow the full antonomy offered by the liberal party when I was in the opposition.

"I have not consulted the government about the divisional command but so as to have more time for political affairs, I wished to be accompanied by generals like Gen. Parrado, who as second in command will bear the brunt of the military action and Gen. Pando, who will direct the campaign at the head of the army.

"I can not fix a date for the termination of the war. One of my generals has expressed himself confident of returning victorious in seven months. Matters might take a turn to confirm this surmise, but if all ends well it will make no difference even if we do take a little longer to reach peace."

El Heraldo says that Senor Canalejar, when starting for Cuba Tuesday, declared that he would make "a true report of the situation after studying the question of Cuba and the United States."

Senor Gullon, the foreign minister, has communicated to Premier Sagasta the contents of a dispatch from Senor De Lome, the Spanish minister at Washington, relative to the recent filibustering expedition alleged to have departed from New York and Jacksonville, Fla.

It is understood in political circles that there is a sharp difference of opinions between Senor Gullon, the foreign minister, and Gen. Correa, minister of war, on the one hand; and Senor Sagasta and Senor Mora, minister of the colonies, on the other, as to the attitude the government should take toward the United States.

SOUVENIR HUNTERS.

Judge Tuthill's Court Room the Scene of Vandalism That Has No Parallel.

CHICAGO, Oct. 21.—The court room of Judge Tuthill, before whom the Luetgert case was tried, is the scene of vandalism that has no parallel in the annals of sensational trials. Certain of the spectators took advantage of the absence of the bailiffs and Clerk Tauch and [illegible] to appropriate article of stationery. Sections of the improvised desks used by newspaper reporters during the tedious ordeal were even carried off by the morbid crowd. Fearing that the relic hunters would grow desperate and demolished the fixtures a policeman was detailed inside the bar. The few ornaments which remained after the chamber had been abandoned were hastily removed across the hallway. The gavel which Judge Tuthill has wielded to keep the feminine section of the attendance seated, has disappeared. Clerk Tauch has now a rosewood mallet, with an autograph of the presiding judge on the handle, for his club, and was sorely disappointed.

So bare was Judge Tuthill's desk of court materials that, had the jury returned, he would have had to send to a neighboring drugstore for paper and writing apparatus.

During a temporary absence of the judge and clerk, the bailiffs at the door relaxed their vigilance and went to a room above the jury's quarters. While they were gone the sections of the long wooden writing benches were removed. These were cut into squares of a foot, so that they might be hidden under an overcoat without exciting suspicion should any of the wardens be encountered.

A NEW PATTI.

Wonderful Performance of Bessie O'Brien a Comparatively Unknown Songstress.

CHICAGO, Oct. 21.—"A new Patti!" was the comment heard Wednesday night at Central Music hall, the comparatively unknown songstress to whom the phrase was applied being a bright eyed, dark haired young woman with a voice of wonderful range, great power and singular purity and evenness. There was no mistaking the enthusiasm of the audience, particularly when the singer, without apparent effort, finished an "Ave Maria," the score of which touched high C.

The occasion had been but little heralded and the surprise Wednesday night was for that reason all the more unexpected. It was the first appearance in public of Miss Bessie O'Brien, a native of Springfield, Ill.

American Steel in England.

LONDON, Oct. 21.—The Pall Mall Gazette Wednesday afternoon, during the course of a long article on American competition in the iron and steel industries, says: "To-day we find the United States not only challenging our supremacy in neutral markets, but even obtaining a foothold in England. The causes which are giving the United States such a favorable position are permanent, and everything points to the United States remaining the cheapest steel producing country in the world."

Aged Couple Married.

WATERTOWN, N. Y., Oct. 21.—Wednesday afternoon there were married Benjamin F. Hunt, of Bridgeport, aged 37, and Mrs. Julia Ann Sherman, of this city, aged 90 years. Mrs. Sherman was the wife of the late John A. Sherman, a wealthy resident of this city. Mr. Hunt is a native of Rodman, this county, and had been married twice. He has three married sons, Daniel F., now of Chicago; Fred S., of Bridgeport, and Benjamin F. Hunt, jr., a multi-millionaire manufacturer, who resides in Boston, but who is now traveling in Europe.

THE LIFE SAVERS.

Number of Disasters Within the Scope of the Service During the Year 699.

Number of Vessels Totally Lost 53—There Were 3,697 Persons Saved and 42 Lost—Minister De Lome at the State Department—Mr. Day Goes Home.

Minister De Lome.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 22.—Senor Dupuy De Lome, the Spanish minister, was among Secretary Sherman's callers Thursday, that being diplomatic day, and spent almost an hour in earnest consultation with the secretary and with Assistant Secretary Adee, who was sent for by the secretary. The minister is stopping in the city only for a short time at present, owing to the fact that he is not able to obtain possession of the new quarters he has engaged for the legation until next December. He will make his home with his family in New York for the month of November, coming over to Washington once every week to transact the legation business. In December he expects to open the legation in its new home at the corner of Eighteenth street and Connecticut avenue.

So far as the officials at the state department know there is no prospect of a change in the ministry here, certainly not in the near future or perhaps at all, the expectation of Senor Dupuy De Lome, making his services in Washington extremely necessary to the Spanish government in its transition stages.

Secretary Day Goes Home.

Assistant Secretary Day goes to his home at Canton, O., Friday. The determination on the part of the president to make more consular appointments except those incident to internal changes in the service has enabled the assistant secretary to take this leave without injury to any interests.

Gen. Weyler's Denial.

Senor De Lome, the Spanish minister, Thursday night received the following cablegram from Gen. Weyler: "Please deny the report that has been published that I have refused to surrender my command and that Gen. Castellanos refuses to consider as pacified the four western provinces. In accordance with her majesty's command I will sail on the last day of this month."

The Life Saving Service.

General Superintendent Kimball, of the life saving service, reports that the number of disasters within the scope of the service during the year was 699, being considerably greater than for any preceding year. The number of vessels totally lost, however, was only 53, against 67 in 1896 and 73 in 1895.

Of the total number of disasters 394 occurred to documented vessels and 305 to small and undocumented crafts—sailboats, rowboats, etc. On board the documented vessels were 3,739 persons, of whom 3,697 were saved and 42 lost. On board the undocumented vessels there were 706 persons, of whom 695 were saved.

The estimated value of the documented vessels involved was $5,132,485, that of their cargoes $1,975,340, of which $5,108,895 was saved, and $1,998,930 lost. The estimated value of property involved in the disasters to the undocumented craft was $221,745, of which amount $182,280 was saved. In addition to the number of persons saved from vessels, 74 others were rescued from the peril of drowning under various circumstances. The life savings crew saved and assisted to save during the year 471 vessels valued with their cargoes at $3,015,040.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 22.—Evangelina Cisneros, the Cuban girl, arrived in Washington Thursday evening from New York, and is at the Arlington under the chaperonage of Mrs. J. Ellen Foster. Thursday evening Senorita Cisneros held an informal reception in the parlors of the hotel and received many callers. A public function in her honor is being arranged for Saturday.

THE CENTENNIAL

Of the Launching of the Frigate Constitution—Bad Weather Mars the Proceedings.

BOSTON, Oct. 22.—Untoward weather conditions interfered with the out of door exercises Thursday, marking the centennial of the launching of the United States frigate constitution. Rain fell throughout the forenoon, giving a bedraggled appearance to the decorations in honor of the occasion. Long before the hour assigned for the exercises to begin the historic Old South church was filled to its utmost capacity.

In the naval parade, the marines and sailors from the vessels of the North Atlantic squadron in port, comprising the Massachusetts, New York, Texas, Indiana and Brooklyn, were in line, accompanied by the Massachusetts Naval brigade, Kearsarge Naval Veteran association, and survivors of the Eighth Massachusetts volunteers.

The parade was under the direction of Brig. Gen. L. J. Kearter, inspector general of Massachusetts, chief marshal.

It started from the foot of State street at 2 o'clock. On reaching Constitution wharf a passing salute was fired. At the Charlestown navy yard Gov. Wolcott, with his staff and invited guests, boarded the famous old frigate, where a public reception was held. The war vessels and train ships in the harbor were bedecked with bunting and Thursday night the Massachusetts and New York were illuminated.

Middleboro After the Armor Plant.

MIDDLESBORO, Ky., Oct. 22.—Middlesboro will make a desperate effort to secure the big armor plate factory to be located in the south by the United States government. The committee now touring the southern states with a view of recommending a location for the factory has been extended an invitation to consider the advantages of Middlesborough, but as this city is not on its itinerary it is not probable it will visit here. A committee of representative business men will wait upon it at Knoxville Saturday and present Middlesborough's claims.

THE PLAGUE.

Ten Cases of Very Mild Type Reported at Montgomery, Ala.—Disease Widely Scattered and Not Confined to Any Class of People.

MONTGOMERY, Ala., Oct. 23.—Dr. Guiteras has been in Montgomery examining cases and conferring with doctors. He agrees with the diagnosis of local physicians and says the disease is undoubtedly yellow fever, but of a very mild type. He says he can see no cause for alarm or panic, as the season is too far gone for fever to do any harm here. Ten cases were reported Friday.

The cases are widely scattered over town, and are not confined to any class of people. There were no deaths reported Friday.

The following dispatch has just been received from Selma by the Advertiser: "The committee of public health for Dallas county consider the symptoms of H. I. Chapin as sufficiently suspicious of yellow fever to ask Dr. Sanders, state health officer, and Dr. Guiteras to come to Salem for investigation."

JACKSON, Miss., Oct. 23.—The state board of health Friday night issued the following official statement:

The board has been advised of the existence of a case of suspicious fever at Memphis, and in consequence has promulgated an order quarantining against that city. One new case is reported from Cayuga, under treatment 15.

Bay St. Louis has one new case.

Clinton has 11 cases under treatment.

At Edwards there are four new cases; total to date, 487; deaths, 36; discharged, 346; convalescent, 48; under treatment, 37; in the country: Deaths 4, all white; total cases, 55.

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 23.—The fever situation here is as fickle as a weather vane. For two or three days the new cases and deaths will run to alarming figures. On following days both cases and deaths will drop and the impression be given that high water mark has been reached, and that the disease is on the wane. Then there will be another jump. The situation Thursday was extremely encouraging.

Friday night at 7 o'clock the cases had nearly reached fifty and there had been no fewer than five deaths, of which one was that of a distinguished citizen, Rev. Dr. Purser, of the Valence Street Baptist church. Dr. Purser is from Mississippi and was a gallant soldier during the war. Five or six years ago he came to New Orleans and became the pastor of a leading uptown church. His brother is also a minister here and a second brother is a theological student.

Three cases developed Friday in the asylum for destitute orphan boys and it seems now as if every institution of this character in the city will be infected to some extent before the disease is stamped out. Eight or more have already reported cases. The list of new cases has been swelled by three in the home of State Senator Cage. Mr. Cage was taken sick a few days ago. His wife who nursed him was stricken Friday as were a relative and a servant. Several cases Friday appeared in houses that were previously infected.

MURDER AND ARSON.

Aged Couple Murdered and Cremated in Their Burning Building Near Biloxi, Miss.

BILOXI, Miss., Oct. 23.—Interest in the progress of the fever in Biloxi was swallowed up in the contemplation and excitement of a most horrible murder and arson, committed upon a most estimable couple of elderly people living out on Back Bay, about three or four miles from this city. Word was brought to this city about four o'clock Friday morning that the Parkhurst property had been burned and Mr. J. L. Parkhurst and his wife had been consumed in the flames. A man named Gibson, his wife and one Volkes, are under arrest and an inquest has been in session all day behind closed doors. The remains were brought to this city Friday morning and carried to the residence of Dr. J. A. Aldrich, a brother-in-law of Mr. Parkhurst, where hundreds have gone to view them. The autopsy held Friday showed that the aged couple were murdered and evidence was elicited that they had been killed before they retired Thursday night. Rumors and threats of lynching are rife.

Anniversary Day at Princeton.

PRINCETON, N. J., Oct. 23.—The 150st birthday of Princeton university was celebrated here Friday. More than usual interest was manifested in the commemoration on account of the presence of ex-President Grover Cleveland and Lord Aberdeen, governor general of Canada. The academic procession of Princeton trustees, faculty, alumni and undergraduates formed at Marquand chapel at 7 o'clock a. m. and marched to Alexander hall. The body was led by Mr. Cleveland, the earl of Aberdeen and President Patton. The exercises were opened by Dean Murray with a prayer. Then Grover Cleveland read his address. At the conclusion of the ex-president's speech the degree of doctor of laws was conferred upon Lord Aberdeen.

The Report Denied.

MUSKOGEE, I. T., Oct. 23.—The report sent out from Fort Smith, Ark., to the effect that the Cherokee Indians are arming themselves to resist any attempt on the part of the United States to abolish their tribal government is positively denied by the attorney for the Cherokees, Mr. W. T. Hutchings, United States Indian Agent Wisdom and United States Marshal Bennett.

Eight Hour Day Fight Practically Won.

LONDON, Oct. 23.—The executive committee of the Amalgamated Society of Engineers issued a statement Friday saying that the fight for eight hours' work per day, so far as London was concerned, is practically won, and that arbitration or a conference on that subject can not be entertained.

Distiller Kahn Dead.

PADUCAH, Ky., Oct. 23.—Moses Kahn, a wealthy distiller and wholesale whisky dealer, died here of congestion of the brain. He was born in Germany, and had been one of the city's most prominent residents for 30 years.

ANNUAL REPORT

Of Philip Hitchborn, Chief Constructor of the Navy.

Work on New Vessels Stopped on Account of Lack of Funds—Urgent Need of Improvements in Navy Plants—Better Docks Are Needed Badly.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 25.—In his annual report to the secretary of the navy Philip Hichborn, chief constructor of the navy, says that the strength of the navy on October 1 was 141 vessels all told, including the ships of both old and new navies. It is stated that during the last few months of the last fiscal year a considerable amount of work upon vessels that had been authorized by congress had to be suspended owing to lack of funds. This caused a heavy drain upon the new appropriations at the beginning of the present fiscal year, and makes the [illegible] of those appropriations before the first of next July almost an absolute fact. Chief Hichborn says this is a discouraging state of affairs, as economy means a wholesale reduction of navy yard forces and the discharge of competent and trained men. He points to the advantage and economy of having at least one vessel building at each important navy yard.

Probably the most desirable type of vessel for the purpose intended, particularly in view of the present state of the armor question, would be that of a sheathed cruiser of comparatively light draft and great endurance, with quarters for flag officers.

Attention is called to the urgent need of improving the navy yard plants in the interest of the economical execution of work, and estimates are submitted for each yard. The plants at New York, Norfolk and Mare Island require additions, alterations and repairs to keep them up to a proper state of efficiency, while the yards at Boston, Portsmouth and League Island, though not actively engaged, should be put in a condition that would enable them to work advantageously at short notice should occasion require. A plant at Puget Sound is also said to be necessary.

During the last year the government accepted finally four ships, the Massachusetts, Oregon, Ericsson and Brooklyn, while eleven vessels have been accepted preliminarily and subject to final test, viz.: Iowa, Nashville, Wilmington, Helena, Annapolis, Vicksburg, Newport, Wheeling, Marietta, Porter and Foote.

Particular attention is invited to the good results attending the construction of the Iowa. It is shown that this efficient vessel is able to carry 212 tons more than was calculated upon for her designed draft. The changes in her case cost only about two per cent of the contract price. Of the gunboats the report says that their first cost was remarkably low, aggregating about two million dollars for the nine, or not more than the cost of a first class armored cruiser. The cost of their maintenance, particularly with copper bottoms, and considerable sail power should be a minimum.

The chief constructor, who is charged with the duty of docking ships, makes an urgent plea for more and better docks, stating that the navy has been put to serious inconvenience during the past six months for lack of proper facilities for docking battleships. The bureau believes that the necessity for an additional dock is most urgent at Mare Island and on the Atlantic coast at Portsmouth and Boston, while a larger dock at Norfolk and League island would be a decided advantage. Further consideration is also urged of the merits of Algiers, La., as a dry dock site, and it is urged that all the docks should be ready in two years.

Chief Hichborn, under the head of Armor, renews his suggestion that the department should no longer make separate contracts for ships and their armor, but should permit the shipbuilder to supply the armor.

HOTEL FIRE.

Three Persons Burned to Death and Others Injured by Jumping From the Windows.

OIL CITY, Pa., Oct. 25.—Three persons were burned to death and seven more were severely injured in a fire that destroyed the Hotel Brooklyn at Kellettville, 25 miles southeast of Oil City, on Sunday morning at an early hour. The building was a three-story one, roughly built of double boards and burned like tinder. At two o'clock Sunday morning when the firemen first discovered it there were seventeen persons asleep in the hotel. At that time the fire, which had originated on the second floor of the building, shut off all retreat from the rooms on the floors above. Six men on the second floor and five on the third saved themselves by jumping from the windows to the ground below, but there was none of these who escaped without severe burns or hurts.

Will Protest Against Filibustering.

MADRID, Oct. 25.—A government note protesting against filibustering will be handed to United States Minister Woodford Monday. According to a dispatch from Havana Lieut. Gen. Weyler has ordered the abandonment of demonstrations that were being prepared there in his favor and against the government. Mrs. Woodford, the wife of the United States minister, has arrived here. Gen. Woodford has not yet taken an official residence, but will continue to occupy apartments at the Hotel De Rome.

Home Seekers in the Ashley Valley.

VERNAL, Utah, Oct. 25.—A large number of home seekers from eastern states are now encamped in the Ashley valley, waiting for the opening of the Uncompahgre reservation. They will remain on the border of the reservation until next April, the date of the opening, with a view to securing choice locations.

Millionaire Banker Dead.

POMONA, Cal., Oct. 25.—William N. Dole, president of the People's Bank of Pomona and of the San Antonio Light and Power Co., and reputed millionaire, is dead.

Do You Play Whist, Euchre or Other Games?

The F. F. V. playing card is better than any 50 cent card on the market. Send 15 cents for one deck or 25 cents for two decks (stamps or currency) to C. B. Ryan, Asst Gen'l Pass'r Agt. C. & O. Ry., Cincinnati, O.

A woman is unhappy all summer because she can't buy every pretty shirt waist she sees.—Washington Democrat.

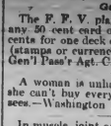
In muscle, joint or bone, anywhere Rheumatism is cured by St. Jacobs Oil.

A boy is never too trifling to learn to whistle real loud through his fingers.

It penetrates the sciatic nerve—St. Jacobs Oil, and cures the pain.

A good time to quit a bad habit is when you are out of money.

PAINFUL AFFLICTION



A Son Writes a Letter Telling How His Father Was Troubled.

WINAMOE, IND.—"My father was troubled with boils and carbuncles. After suffering for some time, he heard of a similar case cured by Hood's Sarsaparilla. He began taking this medicine and continued its use until he was cured. My mother is taking Hood's Sarsaparilla for rheumatism and it is helping her." Guy E. NEWKIRK, Box 184. Get only Hood's.

Hood's Pills cure Liver Ills; easy to take, easy to operate. 25c

Alabama Marries Mississippi

Miss Olivia Haywood

Oxford, Ala., writes: Have used Dr. M. A. Simmons Liver Medicine 25 years. I know it cures Dizziness of Head, Sour Stomach, Sick Headache, and many other diseases. I tried "Thodford's Black Draught," but did not find it to be half as good as the M. A. Simmons Medicine.

Leucorrhea—"Whites."

This is a disorder from which few women escape at some period of their lives. It is in the nature of nasal catarrh. In a healthy condition the lining membrane of the genital organs secretes sufficient mucus to moisten them, but if the mucus membrane is congested or inflamed, the secretion becomes profuse, irritating and offensive. The best results will follow the use of our Meicen a Female Remedy as an injection, and a dose twice a day for some time of that great uterine tonic, Dr. Simmons Squaw Vine Wine, will cure the complaint.

B. W. Irby

Energy, Miss., writes: M. A. Simmons Liver Medicine has been used by my girl in my Father's family for Nervousness, Sick Headache, Dyspepsia, Biliousness. My Sister was confined to bed for months from Enlargement of Liver. Our Doctor gave her up to die. She began taking M. A. S. L. M. and was soon entirely well. There has not been a just comparison between M. A. S. L. M. and Zeilin's Liver Regulator. The latter by careful test having been found not so reliable has been discarded.

Menstrual Irregularities.

Puberty is the period when menstruation is established. It is the time when the girl becomes a woman, and also the time from which many female diseases date. The menstrual flow usually continues from three to six days and comes on about every twenty-eight days. The quantity exuded varies from two to eight ounces, but the amount consistent with the health of one person may be excessive and weakening in another. The function is regarded as being regular when its effect upon the system is favorable. The departure from healthy menstruation are numerous and should be corrected by using Dr. Simmons Squaw Vine Wine.

Are You Going

South?
Then make
the trip over the famous
Queen & Crescent Route.
Historic and scenic country
en route, vestibuled trains
that have no equal
in the South, and the shortest journey possible.
You save a hundred miles of travel to the most important
southern cities via the
Queen & Crescent.
Write for information to
W. C. Rinearson, General Passenger Agent
Cincinnati, O.
Send 10 cents for fine Art colored Lithograph of Lookout Mountain and Chickamauga.

Look for the name
ESTEY
on the front of an Organ.
That is the quickest way to tell whether it is a good organ or not.
Write for Illustrated Catalogue with prices,
to Estey Organ Company, Brattleboro, Vt.

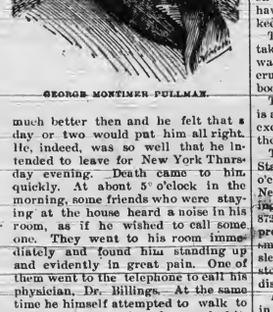
WINCHESTER GUN CATALOGUE FREE
SEND YOUR NAME ON A POSTAL CARD AND WE WILL SEND YOU OUR 156 PAGE ILLUSTRATED CATALOGUE FREE
WINCHESTER REPEATING ARMS CO.
180 WINCHESTER AVE., NEW HAVEN, CONN.

SOUTHERN Homeseekers' Guide

Every homeseeker should address either J. P. MERRY, A. G. P. A., Manchester, Ia.; W. A. KELLOND, A. G. P. A., Louisville, Ky., or S. G. HATCH, D. P. A., Cincinnati, O., for a free copy of the ILLINOIS CENTRAL RAILROAD'S SOUTHERN HOMESEEKERS' GUIDE.

Weeks Scale Works,
STOCK, COAL, HAY, GRAIN, BUFFALO, N. Y.
AND COTTON SCALES.

OPIUM and Whiskey Habit cured at home without pain. Book of particulars sent FREE. B. M. WOOLLEY, M. D., Atlanta, Ga.



DROPSY NEW DISCOVERY; gives quick relief and cures worst cases. Send for book of testimonials and 10 days treatment Free. Dr. H. H. GREEN'S SONS, Atlanta, Ga.

CAREER CLOSED.

George M. Pullman, Palace Car Magnate, Dies Suddenly in Chicago.

He Died Monday With Friends, and Early Next Morning His Heart Ceased to Beat —Horace Porter May Succeed Him as President of the Car Company.

CHICAGO, Oct. 20.—George M. Pullman died at five o'clock Tuesday morning of angina pectoris. The extreme heat of last week, together with perhaps more than his usual exertion in showing some friends about Pullman, had caused him a feeling of debility, about which he spoke to one or two friends, but which he did not regard as serious. He told one of them Monday, who suggested that he was not looking quite as well as usual, that he had been unable to sleep satisfactorily the last two nights and particularly on Sunday night; that he had some little difficulty in breathing, but that he felt much better then and he felt that a day or two would put him all right. He, indeed, was so well that he intended to leave for New York Thursday evening. Death came to him quickly. At about 5 o'clock in the morning, some friends who were staying at the house heard a noise in his room, as if he wished to call some one. They went to his room immediately and found him standing up and evidently in great pain. One of them went to the telephone to call his physician, Dr. Billings. At the same time he himself attempted to walk to the lounge, but before he reached it, required the assistance of his friend to get there. He then became unconscious. In the meantime Dr. Billings had arrived at the house and applied restoratives, but without avail, and Mr. Pullman quietly passed away without regaining consciousness.

GEORGE MORTIMER PULLMAN.

Mr. Pullman's fortune is variously estimated at from $30,000,000 to $50,000,000.

Mrs. Pullman is expected to arrive in Chicago Wednesday morning on the Pennsylvania limited. She has been spending the season at the Pullman summer residence at Elberon, N. J., but went to New York city a few days ago preparatory to [illegible] for the winter.

Mr. Pullman, while in apparently good health recently, formerly had some stomach trouble, which he attributed largely to the condition of his eyes. His belief was that about all the bodily ills were due to the eyes. The latter part of last week he gave the visiting officials of the Pennsylvania railroad a dinner at the Chicago club and was in excellent spirits.

He leaves two sons, Sanger and Geo. M., jr., and two daughters, Mrs. Carolan, of San Francisco, and Mrs. Frank O. Lowden, of Chicago.

Mrs. Pullman is being accompanied on her sad home coming by Sanger W. Pullman, the younger son. George M. Pullman, jr., is in the city, together with a daughter, Mrs. Frank O. Lowden. A second daughter, Mrs. Carolan, is in San Francisco, and was at once summoned to return to Chicago.

The death of Mr. Pullman attracted wide attention in business circles. Mr. Phil D. Armour said: "The news of the death of George M. Pullman surprised me greatly, though his physicians knew that he was troubled with heart disease. The city will feel the loss of Mr. Pullman. He was a public spirited man and a fine business man. I do not think the company of which he was the head will suffer on account of his death. It is true that he took a deep interest in the management of what might be called the smaller affairs of the corporation, but he told me not long ago that he was well supplied with good lieutenants and that in the event of his death the business would be carried on without difficulty. I think he was aware that he had trouble that might result seriously."

Mr. Pullman's death affected the Chicago stock market quite appreciably. He was said to have been a heavy holder of both Diamond Match and New York Biscuit securities, two of the most active stocks listed on the local exchange.

The death of Mr. Pullman, besides leaving a vacancy in the Pullman car directorate, also causes a similar condition of affairs in the board of directors of the Chicago Telephone Co. He was represented on the New York Biscuit and Diamond Match boards by his son-in-law, Frank Lowden.

It is believed in local stock exchange circles that Horace Porter will succeed Mr. Pullman as president of the Pullman Palace Car Co.

Fire in the Tennessee Insane Asylum.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Oct. 20.—Fire broke out in Tennessee Insane asylum at Bolivar, Tenn., at 2:15 Wednesday morning. So far as known there was no loss of life. Another dispatch says the fire was confined to the outbuildings, laundry, engine room and kitchen.

A Town Depopulated.

MOBILE, Ala., Oct. 20.—The little town of Flomation is depopulated. There were about 300 inhabitants, 30 of whom have taken some form of fever. The exodus is so complete that only the nurses and the sick remain.

TRAIN IN THE RIVER.

Twenty-Eight Lives Lost and Half That Number Injured.

High Water Injured the Retaining Wall and a Special Train Slips Into the Hudson River—Most of the Dead Lost Their Lives From Drowning.

NEW YORK, Oct. 23.—Buffalo and New York special No. 46, on the New York Central and Hudson River railroad, due to arrive in this city at 7:30 o'clock Sunday morning, was thrown from the track into the Hudson river, one and a half miles below Garrison station. Twenty-eight lives were lost. The retaining wall along the river had been undermined by high water in the river and the track caved under the weight of the train. The train consisted of the engine, a combination baggage and express car, a smoker, two ordinary coaches and four sleepers. The engine and two forward cars are submerged in 50 feet of water. Engineer Foyle and Fireman Tompkins went down with the engine. All the sleeping car passengers escaped. A man named Williams, of Buffalo, died after being rescued from the river, his arm having been torn off. Up to 5:30 o'clock ten bodies had been recovered. Seven or eight of the dead were Chinamen who were in the smoking car. A. G. McKay, private secretary to General Manager Van Ettan, is missing and is said to have been on the engine. A number of wounded have been taken to hospitals in Poughkeepsie and Peekskill.

The first man, unknown, who was taken out of the wreck by the rescuers, was breathing when found, but badly crushed. He died soon afterwards, his body being sent to Peekskill also.

The sleeping car conductor says he is able to account for all his passengers except five, and he is not certain that these are lost.

The wrecked train was known as the State express. It left Buffalo at 7 o'clock Saturday night and was due in New York at 7 o'clock Sunday morning. The train was hauled by engine 873 and consisted of one American Express car, one composite baggage and smoking car, one day coach and six sleepers. Poughkeepsie was the last stopping place of the train before the disaster at 5:10 a. m.

At this time there were in the smoker, in addition to the baggageman, Herman Acker, of Peekskill, who was in his compartment, eight Chinamen en route from the Canadian border to New York, and a middle-aged man, supposed to be Thomas Reilly, of 2960 Wisconsin avenue, St. Louis. All of these excepting the baggagemaster perished. The day coach contained 18 or 20 passengers, many of whom were women and children.

How many of these escaped is not known, but at least 12 were drowned or killed in this car. Behind the coach was the six sleepers, with about 65 passengers.

The total cargo of human freight consisted of something over 100 people.

At Fishkill the train lessened its speed, as it is its custom to run from that point to Tarrytown at the rate of about 25 miles an hour. Most of the passengers were asleep, those in the sleepers being in their berths, while the occupants of the coach and smoker were for the most part doubled up in their seats. Just how the train met its awful fate will probably never be fully known, for the men who first felt the danger, Engineer John Foyle and Fireman John Tompkins, Sunday night laid dead in the cab of their locomotive at the bottom of the Hudson river. Conductor Parish, who was in charge of the train and who was making up his report in one of the cars when the crash came, was rendered unconscious by a blow on the head.

Before 10 o'clock Sunday morning, a large number of curious spectators had gathered at the scene, coming from the nearby towns and villages by trains, wagons, bicycles and boats. The number of morbidly curious steadily increased as the day wore on, and excursion boats even came from places far up and down the river, all loaded down to the water's edge, until at mid-afternoon there were fully 10,000 about the wreck. It required the utmost exertion on the part of Chief Humphrey of the railroad police and his force of detectives, to hold these people far enough in check to allow the railroad men to proceed with their work.

Following is a list of dead as far as ascertained up to midnight: No. 1, Thomas Reilly, St. Louis; No. 2, Chinaman, unidentified; No. 3, Wong Gim, a Chinaman; No. 4, Chinaman, unidentified; No. 5, Chinaman, unidentified; No. 6, Chinaman, unidentified; No. 7, Chinaman, unidentified; No. 8, Chinaman, unidentified; No. 9, E. A. Green, of Chicago; No. 10, Chinaman, unidentified; No. 11, W. H. G. Myers, of Tremont, N. Y.; No. 12, woman, unidentified; No. 13, woman, unidentified; No. 14, Guiseppe Paduano, of New York; No. 15, W. S. Becker, Newark, N. Y.; No. 16, unknown man, died while being rescued; No. 17, A. G. McKay, private secretary to General Superintendent Van Ettan, body supposed to be in wreck; No. 18, John Foyle, engineer of East Albany, body not recovered; No. 19, John Q. Thompkins, fireman of East Albany, body not recovered.

Total number of known dead, 19; estimated number of dead, 28. Eleven persons were injured.

Storm at Atlantic City.

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Oct. 25.—A severe northeast storm prevails here and along the immediate coast. Up to a late hour Sunday night the life crew and Maritime exchange stations here had received no word of disasters or wrecks. The high tide on the meadows somewhat delayed incoming trains. The wind has kept up a 41 mile velocity since 8 o'clock.

Lincoln President of the Pullman Co.

NEW YORK, Oct. 25.—A Chicago special to the Journal says that Robert T. Lincoln has accepted the presidency of the Pullman Palace Car Co.

SPAIN'S DEMAND

That This Government Put An End to Filibustering Will Provoke a Sharp Rejoiner From Secretary of State Sherman.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 23.—If, as announced in the Madrid dispatches, the answer of Spain to Minister Woodford's communication comes in the form of a demand that the United States government put an end to filibustering expeditions to Cuba, it will provoke a sharp rejoinder from Secretary Sherman. Scarcely a more irritating reply could be made by Spain than one which attempts to put upon the United States the responsibility for the prolongation of the Cuban struggle. In the face of a clamorously expressed public sentiment, this government has refrained from any recognition of or active sympathy with the Cuban insurgents, and the power of the government has been used to prevent filibustering to an extent far beyond what congress has regarded as warranted, even if our sympathies had been with Spain.

For Spain to demand still more effective police service of this government, and to attempt to fix on the United States the responsibility for the strength and endurance of the rebellion, will be irritating, even exasperating, to the administration. Those who thoroughly understand the president's attitude in this matter know that he and his secretary of state are neither timid nor vacillating, nor are they amiable beyond the demands of propriety. If Sagasta shall make any such demand as the Madrid dispatches outline, Spanish sensibilities will be shocked in the prompt rejoinder that will be made. The suggestion that this government has been insincere in its efforts to stop filibustering, and that the administration is conniving at violations of neutrality law, will be regarded as an insult not to be passed without notice. The American people have not only been horrified by the deeds of barbarity on the island of Cuba, but have endured the insulting insinuations and hostile demonstrations of the Spanish, the imprisonment of American citizens in Cuba, and the utter disregard and even malicious injury to American interests, while American naval vessels and vessels of the revenue marine have, at great expenditure of money and energy, been performing police duty at the behest of the Spanish minister at Washington. This statement of facts will be coupled with a very clear statement that there is an end to American toleration.

ADOLPH LUETGERT

May Be Exhibited in a Dime Museum After His Release on Bail.

CHICAGO, Oct. 23.—Formal application for bail for Adolph L. Luetgert was made Friday to Judge Tuthill by Attorneys Vincent and Phalen, who defended him in the long, weary trial. George Middleton, the dime museum manager, was at the criminal court building when the application was made, prepared to go on the big sausage maker's bond in any sum should Judge Tuthill act favorably upon the application. Should [illegible] be released pending another trial he will probably sign the contract which Middleton has already prepared giving Luetgert a salary of $500 a week for his appearance in a museum for an indefinite period.

Luetgert denied himself to visitors at the jail, with the exception of two of his old-time country neighbors, who drove into town to see him.

NEW FIREARM.

The Most Powerful Revolver In This Country in Possession of a San Francisco Man.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 23.—What is, perhaps, the most powerful revolver in this country has just been received from Bavaria by Theodore Kythe, the hand writing expert. This weapon is the invention of Bridgeman, the well known Bavarian mechanic, and is called an automatic pocket pistol, because all it requires is for the marksman to set the pace by pulling the trigger once, whereupon it empties itself of six loads in two seconds, sending a 42 caliber steel bullet with such velocity that a six inch hardwood plank is pierced at the distance of 300 yards. It will do all that is claimed, for it has been conclusively demonstrated by experiments made before Chief of Police Lees and others.

Gen. Miles' Annual Report.

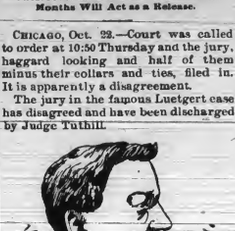
WASHINGTON, Oct. 23.—Gen. Miles, commanding general of the army, has made his annual report to the secretary of war. He commends the efficiency of the army, and speaks of the progress that has been made on both the Atlantic and Pacific coasts in the matter of fortifications. He asks that congress authorize two more regiments of artillery to garrison the new fortifications, and also five additional regiments of infantry. He devotes considerable attention to Alaska and says that the waters of Alaska should be thoroughly examined by the naval forces and that there should be at least three military posts established in the territory to support the civil authorities. He refers to the improved condition of Indians and recommends that the policy of employing army officers as Indian agents be continued. He makes recommendations in detail for the protection of coast points and says that the maximum peace footing of the army should be one enlisted man to every 1,000 population and the minimum one to every 2,000.

Petroleum Warehouse Burning.

BRUSSELS, Oct. 23.—An extensive petroleum warehouse adjoining the railway station at Namur, capital of the province of that name, 36 miles southeast of this city, at the confluence of the Sambre and Meuse, took fire Friday evening and is still burning.

The Fever at Mobile.

MOBILE, Ala., Oct. 23.—Ten new cases were reported Friday, five of whom were taken from the Italian bark Livonius. There were two deaths, Norma Forrest and Raymon Villancuva. Total cases to date, 197; deaths, 23; recoveries, 136; under treatment, 36.



MAY BE FREED.

Luetgert Jury Disagrees, Nine for Conviction, Three Against.

Luetgert's Attorneys Appeal for His Release on Bond—Should Bail Be Refused His Incarceration for Four Consecutive Months Will Act as a Release.

CHICAGO, Oct. 22.—Court was called to order at 10:50 Thursday and the jury, haggard looking and half of them minus their collars and ties, filed in. It is apparently a disagreement.

The jury in the famous Luetgert case has disagreed and have been discharged by Judge Tuthill.

ADOLPH L. LUETGERT.

The jury stood nine for conviction and three for acquittal. They have been deadlocked for 38 hours.

On being discharged by the judge, they asked permission to return to the jury room, where they passed the following resolution:

"We, the jurors in the case of the people of the state of Illinois vs. A. L. Luetgert, tender to the presiding judge, the Hon. Richard S. Tuthill, and the brilliant state's attorney, Charles A. Deneen, and his no less brilliant assistant, Mr. W. M. McEwen, as well as the attorneys for the defense, our most heartfelt thanks for the very kind treatment we have received at their hands, and we do not hesitate to state that were it not for the way they have attended to our personal comfort, as well as to our sanitary condition, the hardship would have been very great.

"As to the trial, we wish to state that while the evidence was such that we were unable to agree upon a verdict, one thing we did agree about and that is the circumstances were such that the police had ample reason to prosecute on the showing without hearing the defense, and we commend them for having done their duty in this case."

At 1 o'clock Thursday afternoon counsel for Luetgert [illegible] torney Deneen notice that they would Friday morning at 10 o'clock make formal application before Judge Tuthill for the admission of the prisoner to bail. Judge Tuthill will be asked to fix the amount of bail at $15,000, but Luetgert will enter court prepared to furnish bonds of $20,000 if necessary. State's Attorney Deneen was not prepared to say whether or not he would resist the application. "The admission of a prisoner to bail is discretionary with the court," he said. "After the application is made in court I may express my views upon the matter if the court desires to hear them."

"Yes sir, we will try him again," said States Attorney Deneen, when asked as to the probability of Luetgert being brought before the court a second time. "When we will get at it, however, is something I can not tell you now. We have had nine weeks of this and I must have a couple of weeks rest. After that we will look the ground over and get our evidence together. The case stands now with us as though there had never been a trial. The second trial has no bearing whatever on the case just closed."

If Luetgert should be refused bail the statutes provide that his incarceration for a period of four consecutive months will act as a release, and the prisoner must be discharged from custody.

Thursday night, closely following the final result of the trial which has attracted world-wide attention, Luetgert made under oath a statement concerning the fearful crime charged against him, the first sworn statement yet made by him, and the first statement of such a kind ever known in newspaper annals. The affidavit was put in writing, in due legal form, and is certified to by a notary.

The affidavit explicitly declares Luetgert's innocence. The document in full is as follows:

TO THE PUBLIC:

The result of my trial, ending Thursday, is a victory for me because of the disagreement of the jury, but I am very much disappointed and surprised that the jury did not bring in a verdict of not guilty.

I did not kill my wife and do not know where she is, but I am sure that it is only a question of time until she comes home.

I did not go upon the witness stand because my lawyer, Judge Vincent, was bitterly opposed to my doing so, and because he advised me it was not necessary.

I am grateful for the tremendous change in public sentiment in my favor, and time will demonstrate that I am not only an innocent but a very grevously wronged man.

(Signed) ADOLPH L. LUETGERT.

Subscribed and sworn to before me this 21st day of October, A. D., 1897.

(Signed) M. F. SULLIVAN, Notary Public.

Arbitrator Accepted.

CARACAS, Venezuela, Oct. 22.—The officials of the administration approve the selection of Mr. Martiens as an arbitrator in the Venezuelan dispute. Col. W. L. Scruggs, counsel for Venezuela in the arbitration matter, arrived here Thursday.

Princetan University Denounced.

GALESBURG, Ill., Oct. 22.—The Presbyterian Synod of Illinois Thursday adopted resolutions denouncing Princeton university for allowing the use of wine at banquets and scoring the faculty for permitting the sale of liquor at Princeton inn.

FOR YOUNG PEOPLE.

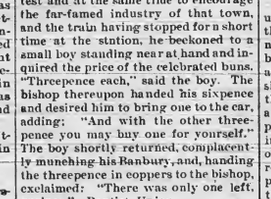
IN THE DARK.

Who's afraid in the dark? Who? Who?
Not the squirrel up in the tall home tree,
Not the swallow, no, nor the chickadee,
Not the little gray scurrying mice, not at all,
As they nibble away at the stout house wall;
Nor the kitten out in the barn asleep;
Nor the pretty white lamb nor the mother sheep.

Who's afraid in the dark? Who? Who?
Afraid of some terrible bugaboo?
Not the dog who wakes with a warning cry
At the step of a traveler passing by;
Not the rabbit at home in the woodland wide;

Not the crow, nor the little black baby crows.
Who's afraid in the dark? Who knows? Who knows?
Some one told me it was a little child.
—Mary F. Butts, in N. Y. Independent.

A SLAVE TO DUTY.



Elephant Would Not Neglect the Baby It Was Caring For.

Marie A. Millie, in St. Nicholas, tells a number of "Stories of Elephants." Mrs. Millie says:

Some time before the elephant hunt I have described, my husband was at a station in Bengal. His work kept him out nearly all day, and, being ill, I used to lie for hours in a long garden chair on the veranda, too weak to read, or enjoy any more exciting amusement than my eyes supplied to me.

We had three elephants for our tents and baggage; and one dear creature used to feed from my hands every day, and seemed as gentle as any pet dog or cat.

One of our government chaprasis was particularly devoted to her, and invariably shared his meal of fruit or flour cakes with his dumb friend. On a particularly hot day, the chaprasi, to my surprise, placed his tiny child of six months at the elephant's feet, warning her expressively that the infant was in her charge, and was to be cared for till his return. I myself was an eyewitness of her wonderful sagacity. Large banana trees and fig trees grew around, and, to my surprise, the elephant broke off one of the former's spreading leaves, held it like a fan in her trunk, and from time to time gracefully waved it over the slumbering child, whether to temper the heat of the atmosphere or to keep off flies, I am unable to say. The gentle way in which she moved her feet over the child, and across to each side, astounded me. I sent for a white loaf and some oranges, and calling her by name (she was never chained), tried in vain to tempt her to my side on the low veranda.

FANNING HIS SLUMBERING CHARGE.

Nothing would induce her to leave her charge. The warm air and monotonous wave of the swinging fan overpowered me with drowsiness, to which I yielded; and, after a sleep of some duration, I was awakened by quiet, subdued snorts beside me. To my surprise, I found that the chaprasi had just returned to his offspring, and the elephant stood near the veranda beside me, patiently waiting and gently asking for the tempting dainties so bravely withstood for over two hours.

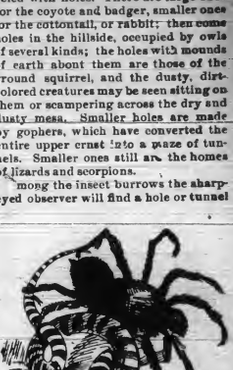
The Bishop and His Bun.

The bishop of Worchester, England, once had occasion to travel through Banbury by rail. Being desirous to rest and at the same time to encourage the far-famed industry of that town, and the train having stopped for a short time at the station, he beckoned to a small boy standing near at hand and inquired the price of the celebrated buns. "Threepence each," said the boy. The bishop thereupon handed his sixpence and desired him to bring one to the car, adding: "And with the other threepence you may buy one for yourself." The boy shortly returned, complacently munching his Banbury, and, handing the threepence in coppers to the bishop, exclaimed: "There was only one left, guv'nor."—Baptist Union.

Bossy Blowing Her Horns.

A little four-year-old was taken on a visit to grandmamma in the country. There, for the first time, he had a near view of a cow. He would stand and look on while the man milked and ask all manner of questions. In this way he learned that the long crooked branches on the cow's head were called horns. Now the little fellow knew of only one kind of horn and a few days after obtaining this information, hearing a strange kind of bellowing noise in the yard, he ran out to ascertain its cause. In a few minutes he returned, with wonder and delight depicted on his countenance, exclaiming: "Mamma, mamma! Oh, do come out here! The cow's blowing her horns!"—Chicago News.

The Indian's Explanation.



The marquis of Lorne, when governor general of Canada, was present at some sports held on the ice of the St. Lawrence. Though wrapped in furs, he felt the cold acutely, and was astonished to see an Indian meandering around bare-legged and enveloped only in a blanket. He asked the Indian how he managed to bear such a temperature. "Why you no cover your face?" asked the Indian, sharply. The marquis replied that no one ever did so, and that his face was hardy from exposure. "Good!" rejoined the Indian, briefly. "Me all face." And then he walked away majestically.

TUNNELED WITH POLES.

Where the Soil Is Punctured by Busy Insect Burrowmakers.

In the hill region of southern California, especially the low foothills of the Sierra Madre range, the careful observer will notice that the ground is many localities is punctured and tunneled with holes. There are large ones for the coyote and badger, smaller ones for the cottontail, or rabbit; then come holes in the hillside, occupied by owls of several kinds; the holes with mounds of earth about them are those of the ground squirrel, and the dusty, dirt-colored creatures may be seen sitting on them or scampering across the dry and dusty mesa. Smaller holes are made by gophers, which have converted the entire upper crust into a maze of tunnels. Smaller ones still are the homes of lizards and scorpions.

Among the insect burrows the sharp-eyed observer will find a hole or tunnel with a lid—the nest of the trapdoor spider, the door of which fits so closely that it is perfectly watertight. The nest, or well, is generally made in the earth for a distance of from six inches to nearly a foot, the excavation being carried on usually at night. As the nest progresses the sides are sometimes lined with silk, evidently to prevent caving in, and when the pit is completed it is covered its entire length with a satin finish. The door of this home so corresponds with the surrounding surface that it is difficult to find it, and it is so deftly adjusted that it is self-closing.

BATTLE BETWEEN A TARANTULA AND A SNAKE.

In the same neighborhood, often within a few feet of a trapdoor nest, will be seen the mouth of a tunnel about two inches across, covered or closed by a thick web. The burrow, or cave, is the nest of the tarantula, the largest of the spiders—a huge, hairy monster which in some instances, when placed in a saucer of average size, will almost fill it, the hairy claws or legs reaching to the edge. The burrow is about a foot deep, generally descending at an angle. In this the tarantula lives during the day, at night venturing out and wandering abroad in search of prey, usually insects of various kinds; consequently it is often found early in the morning crawling slowly along as if half benumbed by the night's outing. Crickets, spiders and mice constitute its food, and so violent is its poison that a slight puncture is sufficient to kill its victim.

The accompanying picture, taken from a photograph, shows a tarantula attacking a snake, a beautifully-marked black and white creatures about a foot in length. The latter died from the effects of the poison in about ten minutes.

Few insects have a more singular reputation than the tarantula. Its bite is considered fatal, and it certainly is to the lower animals, but it is very rarely that human beings fall a victim to it. The bite is more dangerous in the tropics than elsewhere, and then only fatal when the victim is physically susceptible to the poison.—Charles Frederick Holder, in Chicago Record.

CARRIER PIGEONS.

How They Are Trained for Use in the United States Navy.

The training of the carrier pigeons for use in the United States navy is one of the interesting sights of the Brooklyn navy yard. On July 1, 1896, 26 pairs of brooding pigeons were there introduced and domiciled in a pigeon cote, and since that time breeding and training the birds has been the work of Mr. Howard Carter. At present there are 100 pigeons under his care, 60 of which are in constant training. When one month old their education begins. They are removed from the lower to the upper part of the cote, and drilled to pass through the bob wires in its trap. When they have learned to push these thick wires aside readily, in order to enter the trap, that no valuable time may be lost in catching them to secure a message, they are ready for the next series of drills. These are intended to develop their powers of sustaining themselves in the air. A white flag attached to a long pole is fluttered among the birds, and keeps them circling around for a half hour or more. At the end of two months they are given their first "fly." They are conveyed to Governor's island in a closed basket, and are flown from there; next from Staten Island, the Narrows, Mono, N. J.; Atlantic City, and Cape May, in turn. Each time a message in an aluminium holder, weighing eight grains, is attached to each leg, and secured immediately on its arrival at the cote. The birds now in training are all of last spring's hatching. Their greatest speed is 56 miles per hour. The average speed from 30 to 50 miles. Their longest flight covered a distance of 145 miles in four hours and 58 minutes. The pigeons are to be trained to return from a ship 300 miles out at sea within eight hours.—Chicago Inter Ocean.

Teddie's Idea.

Little Teddie—Did our baby come right to us from Heaven?

His Mamma—Yes, darling; right straight down.

Little Teddie—I guess he must 'a' lit on his feet and that's what makes his so bowlegged, then.—Cleveland Leader.

BOONE CO., RECORDER

Wednesday, October 27, 1897.

Advertising Rates:
One inch, one time.....$1.00
Each additional time.....25
Obituaries, Tributes of Respects or notices of a like nature, per inch .50
W. L. RIDDELL. - - Publisher.

Neighborhood News.

Rabbit Hash.

Mrs. Alice Palmer, of Walton, was visiting her father, last week.

Mr. Mason has been threshing clover for T. C. S. Ryle for several days.

John P. Ryle's son, Solon, has been quite sick for a week with typhoid fever.

The Knights of Pythias have added a large cistern to their hall and paved a broad street.

Chas. Wilson, of Lawrenceburg, was visiting his father and mother, Saturday afternoon and Sunday.

At this writing they have had no additions in the interesting meeting that is being carried on at the Baptist church at East Bend.

Cale Ryle moved into the house with Mrs. Mary Carlton, who has become so feeble that it is necessary for some one to be with her at all times.

Walton.

L. B. Stephens is spending a few weeks at Sanders.

Mrs. Robert Ricketts, of Sulphur, returned home last Friday.

The teachers held a profitable meeting at this place Saturday.

B. L. Northcut and family will move to Dayton, Ky., Thursday.

Mrs. Fannie Johnson will return to her home at Zion this week.

O. W. Rouse and wife, of Zion, were visiting in Walton, last week.

Hon. Reuben Conner and A. S. Berry will speak at the opera house Oct., 29, Friday night.

Mrs. Ella McRae of Brunswic, Ga and her two little boys are the guests of Mrs. Irene Gross.

Mr. A. T. Northcutt and wife, of LaGrange returned to their home, after a week's visit to relatives at this place.

Judge Botts, who is having trouble with his hand, caused from using the telegraph key for so long a time, is taking a rest and visiting his parents at Bagdad, Ky.

Erlanger.

We understaud that Hack Chambers will run Independently for Marshal.

Six new shares were subscribed in the Erlanger Building Association last meeting.

Miss Mattie Hoover has returned home after a pleasant visit to Lockland, Ohio.

A number of friends tendered a serenade to Mr. Harry Nusebaum, in honor of his birthday, Saturday evening at his residence, on Elm street. Speeches were made and a general good time was had by all.

A Citizens Ticket will be voted on for the election of town officers as follows: Police Judge, Louis Morelli; Marshal, J. A. Wynn; Clerk, Mat Henerkaup, Henry Mussnian, Isadore Hagen, Harry Nusbaum and Conrad Munch.

A surprise party was tendered Mr. Jacob Ficke, of Erlanger road, to celebrate his crystal wedding and birthday. Among those present were Mr. and Mrs. John Zumbiel, Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Zumbiel, Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Schoeffel, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Myers, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Baker, Mr. and Mrs. Geo. C. Bloss, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Morelli, Miss Minnie Hilker, Mr. and Mrs. C. Taylor and a host of others. After congratulations were over dancing was indulged in till morning.

Sand Run.

The colored folks are having meeting here at night now.

Harry Kilgore was visiting his mother at New Richmond, Ohio, last Saturday and Sunday.

Omer Henry, who is attending school at Woodward, was at home last Saturday and Sunday.

Mr. and Miss Jones, of New Richmond, Ohio, have returned home after a visit with relatives here.

Miss Laura Graves, of Ludlow, is visiting her parents, Mr and Mrs. Joseph Graves, of this neighborhood.

Chas. Bryant gave a dance last Saturday night, which was greatly enjoyed by the large crowd present.

Mike Muntz has bought four acres of land of his father and will build on it very soon. Prosperity has struck us all at once.

Harry Roberts, of Burlington, and several of Bullittsville's young ladies and gentlemen attended church here Sunday night.

Mr. Morton, of Indianapolis, Ind., is building a new house for Ben Wainscott. Here is a chance for some worthy young woman, as Ben is a bustler.

Rev. Utz, of Bellevue, occupied the pulpit here, last Sunday morning and night. We understand he will begin a protracted meeting at this place about the first of November.

Richwood.

Mr. Eli Carpenter is on the sick list.

Mr. Irvin Tanner, of Gunpowder, has been selling books in this neighborhood.

Rev. W. H. Davis was in Florence last Sunday, where he has service one Sunday in the month.

Mrs. J. J. Cleek and daughter, J. J. Tanner and family and Mr. Harvey went to the baptising at Hamilton last week.

We must congratulate Bro. Gunpowder on his good composition and we are glad that he took all the argument made in a friendly spirit, our only advice was to get a brilliant rejoinder from him, but we must now criticise his guessing as he missed guessing the correspondent from this place.

A man giving his name as Jim Sher, was found wandering about this neighborhood last Saturday, and seemed to be demented. He was kindly cared for by several persons and put on the road to Big Bone, where he said he wanted to go, as he worked for Mr. Mit Baker. Sunday morning he returned and called at Mr. Aydlott's for something to eat. While Mr. Aydlott was getting it for him he left and came over to A. P. Collins' where he was given his breakfast and put on his right road again to Mr. Bakers'. When placed on the road he seemed to be perfectly able to take care of himself and it is hoped that he arrived safe at his destination.

Gunpowder.

Some frost on the low lands Tuesday morning.

A good rain is needed badly—many people are hauling water.

We think we can report a wedding before long. The groom-expectant has purchased a farm.

Wm. Craven and wife and Robert Rouse and family were visiting Ed Farrell and wife, Sunday.

E. M. Rouse and wife and sister, Mrs. Phillips, were visiting in Grant county, last Saturday and Sunday.

Dr. Sam Adams conducted quite an interesting meeting at the residence of Franklin Borders, last Sunday evening.

I. G. Vaughn and family, E. G. Vaughn and family and Wm. Steat and family were visiting Morgan Beemon's, Sunday.

Newton Long was baptized in the Forks of Gunpowder, by Rev. Sam Adams, last Sunday afternoon, in the presence of a great many friends.

The Christian Endeavor met last Saturday night with a good attendance. The enrollment is now 29. The meetings are to be held on the afternoons of the second and fourth Sundays at three o'clock.

Verona.

We are glad to see Miss Lillie Rouse again able to take charge of her school.

Mr. Grimsley and Miss Washum of our town, were married by Bro. Johnson, last Sunday.

Malty Connelly and Emma Washum were married at Bro. Johnson's last Saturday evening a week.

After an absence of four weeks, we put our thinking cap on to think up some items for the Recorder.

J. M. Powers and wife, and A. K. Johnson and family, were guests of A. C. Roberts and wife, last Sunday.

Edgar Powers is erecting a dwelling on the farm lately purchased of his father, Geo. McIntire has the contract of building.

Protracted meeting will begin at Concord next Wednesday night. Revs. McMillin and Agee, of Owenton, will do the preaching.

J. H. Marshall, who has been lingering with typhoid fever, is still very poorly. We are glad to say hopes are entertained of his recovery.

George Roberts will move into the house lately vacated by George Johnson. Come on, Mr. Roberts, we will welcome you in our town.

Misses Hamilton and Pfeiffer and pupils had the pleasure of driving to the noted springs of Big Bone last Saturday. Mr. N. B. Hamilton was chief cook and bottle washer.

Petersburg.

Little Rena Pease has a very bad case of whooping cough.

Harry, son of John Deck, has been very low with pneumonia.

The report that Peter Chapin died of yellow fever at Mobile, was false.

Philip Klopp has moved into the Snelling house near the barber shop.

Peter Snelling is fireman at the Lawrenceburg flouring mill, on the night watch.

Will Dick Alloway has returned from Chicago, where he has been at work for some time.

D. M. Hewitt and son, Ben, and John Baldon, of Woolper, were patronizing Mr. Beiden, a few days ago.

Our trustees have levied a tax of fifty cents on each patron to defray the incidental expenses of the school.

Mr. and Mrs. James Jarrell had a very pleasant trip to Jasper Sullivan's last Saturday and Sunday week.

The boys had a chicken soup at Wm. Rector's last Saturday night.

Prof. O. Snyder commenced teaching at Poplar school house, Monday week.

Uncle Abial Dean and wife, and Jas. Jarrell and wife, spent the day at Reuben Akin's, last Sunday.

Mrs. Collins has just returned from a trip to Nashville, Tenn. She was very favorably impressed with the great exposition.

Mr. J. B. Tolin and Mrs. Nannie Baker were married at Rising Sun, last Sunday. May the sun shine brightly along their pathway.

It has been reported here that Nat Cox has lost 2 of his children from rattlesnake bites at his home near Nashville, Tennessee.

The pupils of the intermediate department of the public school at this place, under the charge of Miss Gordon, celebrated Boone Day, last Friday, with appropriate exercises, and a penny collection, which amounted to 34 cents. Mrs. Walton's pupils also made a collection of 25 cents.

Died—Tuesday, Oct. 19, at 11 o'clock, p. m., Mr. Wm. Bennett, of a complication of diseases. He had been in poor health for several months, and being considerably advanced in age, medicine did him but little good. His widow returned to Indiana to live with her sister, at Hardintown. The burial took place in our cemetery after appropriate services conducted by Rev. Harris at 9 o'clock, Thursday the 21st.

Union.

Napolean Bristow has cherry trees with a second crop of fruit on them.

It looked like old times Thursday to see the boys buying cows and trading horses.

Mrs. Chas. Sleet and sister, Miss Pearl Hughes, of Beaver, were the guests of Mrs. Geo. Jack, Wednesday.

News items are as scarce as hen's teeth. Ask any person for a news item and the answer is invariably "it's dry." and so it is.

Rev. Adams filled his regular appointment at the Baptist church Sunday morning, and Rev. Davis held regular evening services at the Presbyterian church.

Mr. Gatson placed on exhibition the longest ear of corn of the season—it measures 13½ inches and is sound and firm. Guess he wanted to show the boys what he could do before leaving for Covington.

There are reasons why a man does not and will not like chrysanthemums, and one in particular is, when a young lady pins a bouquet of them on the lapel of his coat and his wife knocks him down with a skillet and takes them off.

Mrs. J. D. Gaines and Mrs. Ben Collins, of Texarcanna, were the guests of friends in Boone, last week. Mrs. Gaines visited Union Saturday and Sunday, and seemed delighted to be with old friends as were the old friends to be with her again. Time has dealt gently with her, bringing health and happiness, a lovely home, &c.

The Grangers held a very interesting meeting Saturday evening, if we judge by the number of members in attendance. Every class of people on earth are organized for mutual protection in business, and why should the farmers not be? If the farmers were as well organized as the bankers of this country, they would be a power on the throne and not a power "behind the throne," as they are to-day. They produce the oil that greases the world's machinery and yet, in a business and political sense allow the "other fellows" to do the greasing. Heard a prominent tobacconist say, if W. J. Bryan had been elected and bimetallism had been the "go" he would have to pay 20c per lb. for tobacco, and millers would have to pay $2.50 per bushel for wheat. If this be true then every farmer ought to be for Bryan and bimetallism as well as a granger.

A young man from the Richwood country, drove into Union Wednesday night about 7 o'clock; when he came to the corner of Main and High streets he was not certain as to the exact location of a house at which a very pretty young lady was stopping, that he wished very much to see. He deliberated about the matter for five minutes and finally asked one of the boys on the corner, in low and confidential tone, if he could tell him where his best girl was stopping? No, the b on the c. replied, but if you'll give me a $1 I will go and tell your best girl that you are stopping on the corner of Main and High streets in Union." After five minutes more of liberation he decided to give the b and trust to providence and [illegible]. Well, in ten minutes the boy returned and said, "I told her." What did she say? "Said you can just keep staying on the corner or else call at 723 West Corbiu Ave, and that I'm ready to go home." It was dark and he started for Corbin Ave. First stop was made at the tobacco warehouse where he beat on the front door, gave all the pass words and countersigns he could think of, finally became disgusted, threw his card through the window and left, going west until no more houses were to be seen he turned back. At this critical moment, when trusting in providence and small boys had proven a delusion, he met a prominent west end citizen with two chickens in each hand, looking for a huckster, when the following confab occured: "Say, Mr., can you tell me where a man who owns the house that Jack built?" "No." "Can you tell me where a huckster lives that deals in homeless chickens?" "No." "Well, Pard, if you really be a detective, you can take me in and I'll go right along. But say, won't you compromise, and let me find the house Jack built for you, and you let me go with the chickens?" "Yes." In ten minutes our friend from Richwood was comfortably located by a cozy fire in the house that Jack built, trying to tell the young lady why he was so late.

Limaburg.

It was never before known to be as dry here as at present.

W. C. C Rouse has been making considerable sorghum molasses.

Very little complaint of the crop of corn, a portion of which has been husked.

The saw and grist mill has been closed down for a long time on account of water.

The farmers have sowed a good acreage of wheat, and notwithstanding the dry weather it is coming up nicely.

—SS

Constance.

Ed Zimmer is happy—it's a boy.

John Hanke's father is his guest.

Four more additions at the Salvation meeting last week.

The rolling mill boys had a shooting match here Sunday.

John Myers, who was so badly cut, is able to be out again.

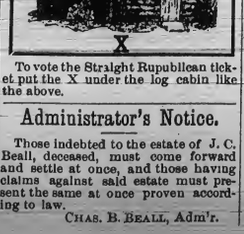
The oldest child of John Peno, jr., died of brain trouble.

Wilson Harper, of Indiana, is visiting Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Rucker.

Chas. Fox saved an unknown woman from drowning, the other day.

Mr. and Mrs. Foster, of Kenton co., were visiting friends here last week.

All of Carl Zimmer's potatoes and some of his fruit were stolen Wednesday night.



Mrs. Grace Henderson and sister, Miss Fannie H. Wakeman, of Newport, were visiting Mrs. Murat, Sunday.

Chas. Reeves, who has been sick for many years, has been about restored to sound health by the skillful treatment of Dr. Murat.

J. J. Lillard passed through town yesterday enroute for the city with four horses to put on the saw dust.

Elder George Watkins will preach at the Christian church in Florence next Sunday at 11 o'clock.

Mrs. Judge Riddell has inflammatory rheumatism.

To vote the Straight Rupublican ticket put the X under the log cabin like the above.

Administrator's Notice.

Those indebted to the estate of J. C. Beall, deceased, must come forward and settle at once, and those having claims against said estate must present the same at once proven according to law.

CHAS. B. BEALL, Adm'r.

Democratic Ticket.

November 2, 1897.

For Clerk Court of Appeals,
SAM'L J. SHACKELFORD.

For Representative,
REUBEN CONNER.

For Circuit Judge,
JOHN W. GREENE.

For Commonwealth's Attorney,
M. D. GRAY.

For Circuit Clerk,
J. W. DUNCAN.

For County Judge,
C. C. ROBERTS.

For County Attorney,
J. M. LASSING.

For County Clerk,
B. W. ADAMS.

For Sheriff,
ELMER BEALL.

For Assessor,
T. G. WILLIS.

For Jailer,
T. J. ADAMS.

For County Superintendent,
L. H. VOSHELL.

For Surveyor,
W. E. VEST.

For Coroner,
A. A. MURAT.

Notice to Trespassers.

We, the undersigned, hereby give notice that we have posted our farms according to law, against trespass of all kinds, and will enforce the law against those who trespass thereon by hunting or otherwise.

J K Roberts,	L C Roberts
H H Roberts,	James Watson
J W Cluster,	Henry Florence
Mack Watson,	Rebecca Johnson
W P Roberts,	A W Smith
G B Powers.	J T Peek
Edward Taylor	J H Rogers
Lafe Johnson

Notice to Trespassers.

We, the undersigned, hereby give notice that we have posted our farms, according to law, against trespass of all kinds, and will enforce the law against those who trespass thereon by hunting or otherwise.

John Stephens	Robt McGlasson
M T Graves	Wm Graves
John J Rucker	J W Watts
Jas L Riley	Temp Gaines
Wm Riley	Allie Corn
Henry McGlasson	Hubert Cropper
Geo McGlasson	Joe Graves
Zeke Aylor	Jameson Aylor
Ed Berkshire	T J Walton
Clide Berkshire	Bert Berkshire
J D Cloud	N D Goodridge
R Wnite	Geo Blyth
Al Rogers	Chas White
R W Neal

NOTICE.

Notice is hereby given that I am sole owner of the personal property on my farm near J. W. Kite's store, this county, and no one is authorized to sell same or any part of it.

LENNORA SATCHWILL.

Sept. 10th, 1897.

For Sale.

Good frame house of six roome, and good barn and lot, at BigBone, Ky. For further particulars apply to

M. C. CARROLL,
Big Bone, Ky.

For Sale or Rent.

Good Stock Farm of 170 acres. Money rent in cash, if rented.

Wm. C. HENSLEY.

Administrator's Notice.

I have this day been appointed administrator of the estate of James A. Botts, deceased, and all persons indebted to said estate must pay same at once and all persons having claims against said estate must present them to me or my attorney S. W. Tolin, at Burlington, Ky., proven as by law required.

EDWIN BOTTS, Adm'r.

Sept. 20th, 1897.

Farm for Sale!

—(o)—

In Boone county, Ky., on the North Bend Road, 1¼ miles from Burlington, 1 mile from Hebron and 5 miles from Anderson's Ferry, and contains seventy-eight acres, good cottage of 5 rooms and good barn, orchard of 200 trees select fruit. The farm is all under good state of cultivation. For terms apply to LASSING & RIDDELL,

Burlington, Ky.

FOURTH YEAR

OF WALTON ACADEMY,

—opens—

MONDAY, SEPTEMBER 6th, 1897

AT WALTON, KY.

Three Courses of Study to choose from:

English, Scientific or Classical,

Tuition per month,...$2.50 and $3.00

Vocal and Instrumental Music at moderate rates.

We have a fine, new building with rooms for pupils, connected.—Board only $2.50 per week, or $2.00 for 5 days.

Thorough, Substantial Work

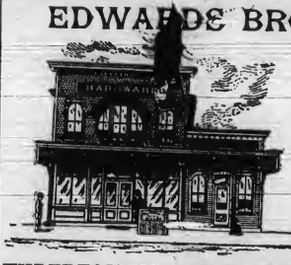
Guaranteed.

Teachers { Mrs. S. H. MYERS. / CHAS. F. PRIOR. / Rev. S. H. MYERS.

Further information gladly given by mail or interview.

GO TO
HANKINS, DAVIS & CO., General Merchants,
HEBRON AND CONSTANCE,
A Good Supply of Feed always in Stock.

GARDEN AND FIELD SEEDS.



Undertaking is given special attention. Funerals under the personal supervision of J. C. HANKINS.

A good supply of Coal on hand at Constance at all times.

Hebron. HANKINS, DAVIS & CO. Constance

S. L. EDWARDS. A. M. EDWARDS.

EDWARDS BROTHERS,

DEALERS IN HARDWARE
—AND—
Agricultural Implements,
Furniture,
Stoves,
Tinware,
Saddlery,
Oils and Paints,
Wall Paper.

UNDERTAKING & EMBALMING A SPECIALTY.

We have added a first-class Tin Shop and are prepared to do Tin, Iron and Paper Roofing and guarantee all work done by us.

EDWARDS BROS., - - Walton, Ky.

JOHN ALLISON,

UNDER-TAKER

EMBAL-MER,

—Corner Pike & Russell Streets,—

COVINGTON, - - KENTUCKY.

INDEPENDENT OF UNDERTAKERS' UNION.

THEY : MUST : GO.

Desiring to quit that branch of the business I am Closing OUT MY ENTIRE STOCK OF

MEN'S & BOYS' CLOTHING

Ready-Made

At the greatest bargains ever offered in Covington.

MY TAILORING DEPARTMENT

Will be continued, and I have on hand the Finest Line of Suitings in the three cities. Give me a call.

H. F. BLASE, 540 Madison Avenue, COVINGTON, KY.

jany 1-98

"Charms Strike the Sight But Merit Wins the Soul."

That accounts for the large increase in our business.

OUR CLOTHING

Has the charms of Style and Workmanship, and the Merits of wearing Well and Fitting. Come and inspect our line of

Men's, Boys' and Children's Clothing,

We do not advocate cheap truck, but Good, Well Made Clothing at the Lowest Prices. Satisfaction guaranteed or your money refunded.

ROLFES & WACHS, RELIABLE CLOTHIERS

S. W. Cor. Pike & Madison Ave. Covington, Ky.

Public Sale!

I will sell at Public Auction, at my residence near Union, Boone County, Ky., on

Thursday, Nov. 4th, 1897,

My Farm Containing

123 ACRES OF GOOD LAND,

Lying on the Union & Beaver Turnpike, 3 miles from Richwood Sta., on the C. N. & T. P. R. R.

Said farm has a good

Frame Dwelling of Seven Rooms,

Hall, Vestibule, Pantry, three Porches, Good Cellar, Large Barn and other Out Buildings, two Cisterns

And Never Failing Springs,

Orchard of Various kinds of Fruit Trees.

Terms Made Known on Day of Sale.

HENRY TUCKER.

W. H. CHAMBERS, Auct'r.

Sale to begin at 2 o'clock p. m.

Are You Going

South?

Then make the trip over the famous Queen & Crescent Route.

Historic and scenic country en route, vestibuled trains that have no equal in the South, and the shortest journey possible.

You save a hundred miles of travel to the most important southern cities via the Queen & Crescent.

Write for information to W. C. Rinearson, General Passenger Agent, Cincinnati, O.

Send 10 cents for fine Art colored Lithograph of Lookout Mountain and Chickamauga.

Subscribe for the Recorder.

Local News.

To vote the Straight Democratic ticket, put the X under the rooster like the above.

Next Monday is county court day.

The town was full of Covington cyclers, last Sunday.

Anything you want in dress goods at riggt prices. E. H. Niebum, A[illegible]

There is a large crop of walnuts this fall, but many of them are very small.

This would be a delightful fall were it not for the scarcity of water and grass.

J. P. Carter will make a ringing Democratic speech in Burlington next Monday.

Mrs. Hogan has purchased of W. C. Brown, his house and lot in Burlington. Price, $400

NOTICE—Mrs. McGowan has moved her Millinery Store to Mrs. W. A. Murphy's North Walton, Ky.

Every member of Vioia Lodge is earnestly requested to be present at the meeting called for next Saturday night.

Headquarters for children's ladies' and men's underwear, cloaks, capes, hosiery, gloves, &c., at E. H. Niebaum's Aurora.

TO CURE A COLD IN ONE DAY.
Take Laxative Bromo Quinine Tablets. All druggists refund the money if it fails to cure. 25c

The Sheriff reports the collecting of taxes as very slow work, and says the increase is causing great dissatisfaction among the people.

The Epworth League entertainment was attended by quite a good sized audience, last Friday night, and the exercises were enjoyed by all.

Squirrel hunters have been making frequent trips to the woods. Wonder would one of them shoot at a quail were it to fly up before them?

LOST—Pocket book, on Friday, October 22d, 1897. Finder will please return it to the owner, J. R. Clutterbuck, at Burlington, and receive reward.

If all the broken stone along the Burlington and Florence 'pike should be spread about the same time, it will have very much the appearance of a new road.

Dogs have been doing considerable damage to the sheep in the Woolper and Petersburg neighborhoods. Several sheep have been crippled and others killed.

You want to make only one mark with your stencil when it the voting booth next Tuesday, and that one mark should be inside of the square enclosing the rooster

Every Democrat in the county ought to go to the polls next Tuesday and vote for Sam Shackelford for Clerk of the Court of Appeals, and for the entire county ticket.

George, Charley White's 30 year old horse, shuffled off the mortal coil, last Wednesday night. He helped cultivate 40 acres of corn this summer, and then passed peacefully away.

Mrs. Dr. Cory, of Florence, died of quinsy, Monday morning. She had been ill several days. She was a sister of B. F. McGlasson, Mrs. John E. Walton and Mrs. R. K. Dulaney.

Several of the farmers west of town, give notice of having posted their lands, and they say they mean exactly what is understood by the posting law. They will not permit any hunting by anyone.

The protracted meeting at Beaver closed last Wednesday, because of Dr. Adams' vocal organs failing him. There were fifty additions to the church during the meeting. The attendance was large throughout.

Come out next Monday and hear Hon. John P. Carter, of Vevay, Ind., make a speech. He is one of the best Democratic orators, and is almost a Boone county man, his father being a native of this county.

It took some hustling, last Saturday, to get the officers of election notified. That was the last day for notifying them, and three or four men were sent out to do the work. The Sheriff and his deputy both being candidates they were disqualified to do the work.

A quartette of paupers—Will Green, wife, mother-in-law and sister-in-law, of the Verona neighborhood, were admitted to the Poor-house, last Saturday, but the old lady rebelled against taking up her abode there, and Green's wife would not leave her mother, and Green would not leave his wife, consequently the whole outfit torned their backs on that benevolent institution.

H. W. Harrison, deutist, of Rising Sun, Ind., will be in Burlington on the first and third Monday in each month, to do work for those who wish anything in his line. He will be here two days each visit. He is a son of the late R. F. Harrison, of Carrollton, and a graduate of the Pennsylvania College of Dentistry at Philadephia. He is highly recommended in his profession.

Mr. A. O. Hall, a few years since, planted two peach seeds off of the same tree, and gave them identically the same attention until they bore for the first time, which was this year, and the peaches on one of the trees were good sized, well matured free-stones, while those on the other were small, knotty, imperfect clings. He was very much surprised at the outcome of one of the trees fully expecting them to produce the same fruit.

PERSONAL MENTION.

G. C. Grady, of Bullittsville, was in town Monday.

H. L. Tanner, of Gunpowder, made this office a call yesterday.

Miss Mary Thompson will spend the fall and winter in Erlanger.

S. W. Carpenter and a friend, of Delhi, were in town Monday.

James McCormick and William Farrell, of Verona, were in town Sunday.

Dr. Hays, of Bullittsville, was transacting business in Burlington yesterday.

Mrs. O. F. Bange and sister, of Newport, were guests at Mrs. Cowen's last Sunday.

Mrs. Elizabeth Utz, of Erlanger, was visiting Mr. and Mrs. Carpeuter, last Sunday.

Harry Blyth and Edson Riddell are attending the K. P. Grand Lodge at Frankfort.

W. C. Rouse, of Limaburg, was among the early arrivals in town Monday morning.

John M. Palmer and wife, of Walton, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Hall, last Sunday.

J. Q. Elstun and wife, of Hathaway, were guests of H. J. Casey and wife, of Bullittsville Sunday.

Chas. B. Carver and Fred Berkshire, of Gallatin county, were guests at Mrs. Cowen's, last Friday.

Kirb Tanner has about recovered from the lameness resulting from a badly sprained ankle.

Marce Riddell and wife were visiting Ezekiel Aylor's in the Francesville neighborhood, last week.

Wm. Arnold and sister, of Bellevue, were guests of their sister, Mrs. J. R. Clutterbuck, Saturday night.

We neglected, last week, to mention a very pleasant call at this office, by Mr. J. C. Tanner, of Erlanger.

Hal Presser, of Hathaway, was in town one day last week It is said he displays considerable cycle talent.

J. O. Huey has purchased property at Erlanger, and he and his family are now citizens of that thriving town.

Rankin Revill came out from Covington Saturday, and remained until Sunday afternoon with his parents.

Our young friend, Owen Blankenbecker, was being interviewed by assessor Brady here Monday morning.

Mrs. S. P. Brady left last Monday for Philadelphia, where she will spend the winter with relatives aud friends.

Esq. James H. Walton, of the Constance precinct, was in town, last Friday, on business pertaining to his office.

Esq. N. B. Stephens, of Erlanger, and Perry Utz, of the Union neighborhood, were in town Saturday morning.

Mrs. Cora Parker, of Chicago, and Miss Dodie McGarvey, of Cincinnati, are visiting their relatives in Burlington.

J. A. Riddell and wife, and Ezekiel Aylor and wife, of the Hebron neighborhood, were guests at Judge Riddell's last Friday.

Mrs. A. J. Barker and daughter, Miss Essie, and Henry Phipps, returned Monday from a week's pleasant visit to Nashville, Tenn.

Supt. Voshell was in town Friday, preparing a list of taxpayers, with their property, for assessment in one of the Verona school districts.

Frank Rue, from down on Gunpowder, was in town, one day last week. His foot that was so badly cut several months since has not gotten well.

Henry Clore came into port early Monday morning with a load of Bellevue coal. He returned with a tow of empties (and jars) for use in the pork packing business.

Mrs. S. W. Tolin is visiting her sister and aunt, at Danville, Ills. Her sister, Miss Dora Rich, who has been visiting here several weeks, returned to Danville with her.

J. C. Revill believes that this part of the country is going to have a very cold winter, and has had a very large grate put in at the bank to meet the requirements of extreme weather.

Erastus Stephens, Union's best horse-swapper, was in town Thursday. He was thoroughly ripe for a trade, but none of the Burlington talent thought it advisable to go up against him.

Joseph Ferris, of Petersburg, was in town last Saturday. He attended the Masonic Grand Lodge at Louisville last week, and was very much pleased with the proceedings throughout.

Mrs. Hoover and Miss Statira Childress, of Erlanger, were over last Friday afternoon, selling tickets for the entertainment for the benefit of the Baptist church at that place. They sold quite a number.

Edward B. Porter, son of the late Gov. Porter, of Indiana, was visiting at A. C. Porter's, last Sunday. He is in search of data from which to write the history of the Porter family, in connection with an extended history of his father.

O. J. Ryle has been practicing cycling and expects to be the winner in the next road race between Burlington and Hathaway. It is claimed by those who have seen him get off of his wheel that his style of dismounting can never become popular.

Mrs. Bettie Aylor, Mrs. Jemima Popham, Mrs. Frances Clutterbuck and Mrs. Joe Brown, of the Limaburg neighborhood, visited their old home in the Union neighborhood, one day last week. It had been many a long day since these four sisters were together on the site of their old home.

Miss Mary Swearingen, after a delightful visit to Illinois, has returned home, having visited among others, Mrs. Howard E. Banker, (nee Moore) of Western Springs, and her cousin, Mrs. Frank Durrie, of Oak Park—two of Chicago's most beautiful suburbs. After visiting the great Sanitary Canal and other places of interest in and around the great city of the west, she visited Dr. L. B. Terrill, of Anderson, Indiana, en route home. She was very much pleased with the West, but is glad to see Kentucky once more.

W. M. RACHAL & CO.,

OUR SHORT STORY.

Some Good Talkers.

CANTON FLANNLL per yard,	5 Cents
BLEACHED COTTON per yard,	5 "
40 in. All WOOL FLANNEL SKIRTS,	75 "
Ladies Fine Shoes, per pair,	75 "

We have a full line of

WINTER GOODS

At prices of which the above are a sample.

UNION, KENTUCKY.

WE have just received a large line of Canned Goods bought before the rise. Also a full line of

GROCERIES

—Of all kinds, all go at the Lowest CASH Prices.—

FOR THIS WEEK.

20 lbs. Granulates Sugar, - - - - $1.00
Lion Coffee, per pound, - - - - - 11c

UNION, - - - - KENTUCKY.

When in Burlington Call on

J. S. CLUTTERBUCK

DEALER IN

DRY GOODS

Notions, Boots and Shoes,

HAY, CORN AND MILL FEED,

At Prices to Suit the times.

FRESH - MEATS - ALWAYS - ON - HAND.

J. S. CLUTTERBUCK, Burlington, Ky.

Grange Meeting.

On the 30th of this month Mt. Pleasant Grange will have an open session to which the public is invited The following program has been prepared for the meeting:

PROGRAM:
Opening the Grange in accord with the written Ritualistic Work.
Address of Welcome—G. C. Graddy.
Reading of the Declaration of Purposes —Dr. Hays.
Song.
Discussion by Committee—Jno. Stephens, J. T. Grant, J. E. Duncan and Wm. Riley. Subject—What is the most Profitable Mode of conducting a 200 acre farm?
Open Discussion.
Song.
Essay on the Woman in the Grange—Mrs. Noah Craven.
Song.
Essay on the Woman in her Home—Mrs. Dr. Sayre.
Closing of the Grange.

We spent a most delightful day in Petersburg, last Wednesday, to which place we accompanied Deputy Sheriff Beall, who was on a tax-collecting expedition. No indication of a business boom having struck the town was apparent, but the citizens were in their usual fine spirits. After partaking of a good dinner at the Crisler House, where we met a Mr. Hume, a most affable revenue officer, we met Messrs. R. Y. Randall, Edward Gaines, Wm. Appleton and S. G. Botts, the pioneer croquet players, who prevailed on our taking a handiat the sport, and Messrs. Randall and Gaines gave my partner, a Mr. Cave, and myself an inglorious defeat, Mr. Gaines being simply invincible on that occasion. Among those we met that day none seemed more youthful, age considered, than Mr. Abial Dean. Rese Gordon, E. T. Kruts and J. W. Berkshire, merchants, were all hopeful of better times.

Old man Casky, one of the West Covington chicken thieves, who has been in jail here for several weeks, was taken before Judge Stephens, last Thursday, and fined $25 for carrying a pistol, it being found on his person the night he was captured. Two of the old man's friends, who were present, paid the fine, and then signed a bond for $50 for his appearance at Circuit Court, to answer, any indictment that may be found against him for stealing chickens, and Casky was told to go. It is a great pity that the other chicken thief could not be gotten rid of on the same terms.

There is a growiug demand for Boone county Thin Rind hogs. As the demand for lean meat bacon increases the more popular the Thin Rind hog becomes. E. Rouse, one of our leading breeders and exhibitors of pure bred Thin Rinds, has lately shipped males to Lexington and Lagrange, Ky., Alabama, Ohio, Indiana and Illinois. The time is not long when the belted hog will be seen at all the leading fairs and markets of the United States.

When Jailer Crisler went into the jail, last Saturday morning, as was his custom he spoke to the prisoner, VonGundy, who bunks in the front cell. No response came, although it appeared that VonGundy was occupying his cot, but a closer observation revealed a dummy instead of the prisoner on the bed, while VonGundy had coucealed himself in the cell, expecting an opportunity to be afforded for him to run out by the jailer, whose eagle eye foiled the scheme.

R. S. Crisler has about one-half of a leaden bail which he took out of a plank which was sawed from what he calls a swell-butt oak tree that grew on his father's farm. The ball, was located about two feet from the outside surface of the tree, and was evidently shot into the tree years before this part of the country was subjugated by the pale faces.

A large number of the farmers in the Verona neighborhood have determined to break up hunting on their lands, and give notice this week that they have complied with the law in regard to posting. The discreet hunter will keep off of their lands.

D. E. Castleman has bought of J. M. Lassing a boundary of the Clutterbuck farm, supposed to contain six acres, frontiug 100 feet on Washington street.

Toney Geiger, of the Erlanger neighborhood, will have a sale of his live-stock on the 18th of November.

Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Rouse request your presence at the marriage of their daughter, Lula May, to Thomas P. Middleton, Wednesday evening, November third, eighteen hundred and ninety-seven, at eight o'clock. Methodist Church, Monroe City, Mo.

Miss Lula May Rouse, is one of the handsome daughters of Jacob Rouse, who was visiting here about one year ago.

Colored bird's eye view of Chattanoogs, Mission Ridge, Waldon's Ridge and portions of the Chickamaugs field as seen from the summit of the Lookout Mountain. Highest style of lithographer's art. On fine paper, plate 10x24. Mailed for 10 cents in stamps. W. C. RINEARSON, Gen'l Pass'r Agt. Q. & C. Route, Cincinnati, O.

COUNTY COURT.

J. F. Blyth was appointed a special officer to serve notices on election officers, and Jas. L. Clore and J. R. Clutterbuck were appointed to assist him.

F. H. Nead was appointed administrator of the estate of Dennis Nead.

The report that reached Petersburg in regard to the death of Nat Cox's children is a mistake.

E. H. Niebaum's is the best place to get good muslins, shirtings and calicoes at close prices.

Quittman & Co., of Cincinnati, will be here again next Monday to buy horses.

Best line of flanels, jeans, yarns and blankets at Niebaum's, Aurora.

BOOTS & SHOES

MADE TO ORDER.

Work Strictly First-Class.
Prices to Suit the Times.

Harness, Boots and Shoes Neatly Repaired. Give me a trial.

CHRISTIAN BECKER,
Union, Ky.

Order of Reference.

Boone Circuit Court.
Jordan Beemon's Admr. Plff.
vs
Jordan Beemon's heirs &c. Defts.

This cause is now referred to J. B. Berkshire, Master Commissioner of this court, under Section 431 Civil Code of practice, with the following instructions:

1. He will audit and settle the accounts of the administrator.
2. He will hear proof on and report the debts against the estate and how secured if at all.
3. He will hear proof, ascertain and determine what real estate decedent owned at the time of his death, where located and the probable value thereof.
4. He will give due notice of the time and place of his sittings by written or printed notices posted up at the Court House door in Burlington, Ky., five days preceeding his sittings and also publish said notices in the Boone Co., Recorder. He will report at the next term of this court.

Given under my hand as clerk of said court, this October 8th, 1897.

J. W. DUNCAN, Clerk.

The undersigned hereby gives notice that he will begiu his sittings on the 1st day of November, 1897, at the Circuit Clerk's office in Burlington, Ky., to hear proof in the above styled cause and will adjourn from day to day (Sunday excepted) to the 1st day of Dec., 1897. All persons having claims against Jordan Beemon's estate will present them to me properly proven as by law required.

J. B. BERKSHIRE, Master Com.

NOTICE.

All persons holding claims against Ezra W. Rouse, dec'd are hereby notified that they must present them to me at once proven as by law required, those owing same will please come forward and settle at once.

Mrs. EMMA ROUSE, Adm'rx.
Lassing & Riddell, Attys.

W. E. CHAMBERLAIN,

DEALER IN UP TO DATE

FURNITURE,

HOUSEHOLD FURNISHINGS, ETC.,

HIGH STREET,

Lawrenceburg, - Indiana.

—HAUCK BUILDING.—

Stylish and Durable Oak BED ROOM SUITS,

All-Oak SIDE BOARDS, As Handsome as the Finest.

INGRAIN CARPETS,

BRUSSELS CARPETS.

W. E. CHAMBERLAIN,

LAWRENCEBURG, INDIANA.

Knippenberg & Fike,

Carriage and Wagon Makers,

Repairing, Painting & Trimming.

ALL WORK GUARANTEED.

Foot of Walnut Street,

Lawrenceburg, - - - Indiana.

Buy COFFEE and TEA of the J. L. BILL COFFEE & TEA CO., a Ticket given with every 25c purchase and handsome presents given away.

The J. L. BILL
Coffee and Tea Co.

THE BEST BRANDS OF FLOUR.

12 W. Seventh & S. E. Cor. Sixth & Bakewell,

COVINGTON, KY.

WM. F. NEAD, Salesman.

FARMERS,

Make the most of your crops, buy the best Wind-mill outfit made—The AERMOTOR—abundance of power wasting right over your heads, grasp the opportunity—Grind and Cut your own Feed and that of your neighbors—feed economically.

THE AERMOTOR

will bear close inspection and is guaranteed to work right. They are Cheap. Come and see it work and be convinced.

Also remember we are still in the ring with a complete line

OF GENERAL MERCHANDISE

and can sell Goods just as cheap as anyone. Highest market Prices paid for COUNTRY PRODUCE or anything salable. Come and see

OUR : STOCK,

It Speaks for Itself.

Don't forget that "LaBELLE" HERD

Of Chester White Hogs

Is ready to supply Choice Stock at Reasonaole Prices.

T. J. HUGHES, - BEAVER LICK, KY.

TAKE YOUR OWN COUNTY PAPER.

Only $1.50 per Year.

WELL-MATCHED PAIR.

A Moral Drawn From the Story of Ananias and Sapphira.

The Whitest Lie Ever Told Declared to Be as Black as Perdition—Falsehoods Do Not Depend Solely on the Tongue—A Look, a Movement, a Manner, May Serve the Purpose.

Dr. Talmage's text Sunday was Acts v, 1-10: "A certain man named Ananias, with Sapphira, his wife, sold a possession, etc."

A well-matched pair, alike in ambition and in falsehood, Ananias and Sapphira. They wanted a reputation for great beneficence, and they sold all their property, pretending to put the entire proceeds in the charity fund, while they put much of it in their own pocket. There was no necessity that they gave all their property away, but they wanted the reputation of so doing. Ananias first lied about it and dropped down dead. Then Sapphira lied about it, and she dropped dead. The two fatalities a warning to all ages of sacrificing the truth.

There are thousands of ways of telling a lie. A man's whole life may be a falsehood and yet never with his lips may he falsify once. There is a way of uttering falsehood by look, by manner, as well as by lip. There are persons who are guilty of dishonesty of speech and then afterward say "may be," calling it a white lie, when no lie is that color. The whitest lie ever told was as black as perdition. There are those so given to dishonesty of speech that they do not know when they are lying. With some it is an acquired sin, and with others it is a natural infirmity. There are those whom you will recognize as born liars. Their whole life, from cradle to grave, is filled up with vice of speech. Misrepresentation and prevarication are as natural to them as the infantile diseases, and are a sort of moral croup or spiritual scarlatina.

Then there are those who in after life have opportunities of developing this evil and they go from deception to deception, and from class to class, until they are regularly graduated liars. At times the air in our cities is filled with falsehood, and lies cluster around the mechanic's hammer, blossom on the merchant's yardstick and sometimes sit in the door of churches. They are called by some fabrication and they are called by some, fiction. You might call them subterfuge, or deceit, or romance, or fable, or misrepresentation, or delusion, but as I know nothing to be gained by covering up a God-defying sin with a lexicographer's blanket, shall call them in plainest nomenclature, lies. They may be divided into agricultural, commercial, mechanical, social and ecclesiastical.

First of all I speak of agricultural falsehoods. There is something in the presence of natural objects that has a tendency to make one pure. The trees never issue false stock. The wheat fields are always honest. Rye and oats never move out in the night, not paying for the place they occupy. Corn shucks never make false assignment. Mountain brooks are always current. The gold of the wheat fields is never counterfeit. But while the tendency of agricultural life is to make one honest, honesty is not the characteristic of all who come to the city markets from the country districts. You hear the creaking of the dishonest farm wagon in almost every street of our great cities—a farm wagon in which there is not one honest spoke or one truthful rivet, from tongue to tail board. Again and again has domestic economy in our great cities foundered on the farmer's firkin. When New York and Washington sit down and weep over their sins, let Westchester county and the neighborhoods around this capital sit down and weep over theirs.

The tendency in all rural districts is to suppose that sins and transgressions cluster in our great cities; but citizens and merchants long ago learned that it is not safe to calculate from the character of the apples on the top of the farmer's barrel what is the character of the apples all the way down toward the bottom. Many of our citizens and merchants have learned that it is always safe to see the farmer measure the barrel of beets. Milk cans are not always honest. There are those who, in country life, seem to think they have a right to overreach grain dealers and merchants of all styles. They think it is more honorable to raise corn than to deal in corn. The producer sometimes practically says to the merchant: "You get your money easily, anyhow." Does he get it easily? While the farmer sleeps, and he may go to sleep conscious of the fact that his corn and rye are all the time progressing and adding to his fortune or his livelihood, the merchant tries to sleep, while conscious of the fact that at that moment the ship may be driving on the rock, or a wave sweeping over the hurricane deck spoiling his goods, or the speculators may be plotting a monetary revolution, or the burglars may be at that moment at his money safe, or the fire may have kindled on the very block where his store stands.

Easy, is it? Let those who get their living in the quiet farm and barn take the place of one of our city merchants and see whether it is so easy. It is hard enough to have the hands blistered with outdoor work, but it is harder with mental anxieties to have the brain consumed. God help the merchants! And do not let those who live in country life come to the conclusion that all the dishonesties belong to city life.

I pass on to consider commercial lies. There are those who apologize for deviations from the right and for practical deception by saying it is commercial custom. In other words, a lie by multiplication become a virtue. There are large fortunes gathered in which there is not one drop of the sweat of unrequited toil, and not one spark of bad temper flashes from the bronze bracket and there is not one drop of needlewoman's heart blood on the crimson plush; while there are other fortunes about which it may be said that on every door-knob and on every figure of the carpet and on every wall there is the mark of dishonor. What if the hand wrung by toil and blistered until the skin comes off should be placed on the exquisite wall paper, leaving its mark of blood—four fingers and a thumb? or, if in the night the man should be aroused from his slumber again and again by his own conscience, getting himself up on elbow and crying out in the darkness, "who is there?"

There are large fortunes upon which God's favor comes down, and it is just as honest and just as Christian to be affluent as it is to be poor. In many a house there is a blessing on every pictured wall and on every scroll, and on every traceried window, and the joy that dashes in the lights, and that showers in the music and that dances in the quick feet of the children pattering through the hall has in it the favor of God and the approval of man. And there are thousands and tens of thousands of merchants who, from the first day they sold a yard of cloth, or firkin of butter, have maintained their integrity. They were born honest, they will live honest and they will die honest. But you and I know that there are in commercial life those who are guilty of great dishonesties of speech. A merchant says: "I am selling these goods at less than cost." Is he getting for these goods a price inferior to that which he paid for them? Then he has spoken the truth. Is he getting more? Then he lies. A merchant says: "I paid $25 for this article." Is that the price he paid for it? All right. But suppose he paid for it $25 instead of $25? Then he lies.

But there are just as many falsehoods before the counter as there are behind the counter. A customer comes in and asks: "How much is this article?" "It is five dollars." "I can get it for four dollars somewhere else." Can he get it for four dollars somewhere else, or did he say that just for the purpose of getting it cheap by depreciating the value of the goods? If so, he lied. There are just as many falsehoods before the counter as there are behind the counter.

A man unrolls upon the counter a bale of handkerchiefs. The customer says: "Are these all silk?" "Yes." "No cotton in them?" "No cotton in them." Are those handkerchiefs all silk? Then the merchant told the truth. Is there any cotton in them? Then he lied. Moreover he defrauds himself, for this customer coming in will in a while find out that he has been defrauded, and the next time he comes to town and goes shopping he will look up at that sign and say: "No; I won't go in there; that's the place where I got those handkerchiefs." First, the merchant insulted God, and, secondly, he pocked his own pocket.

Who would take the responsibility of saying how many falsehoods were yesterday told by hardware men, and clothiers, and lumbermen, and tobacconists, and jewelers, and importers, and shippers, and dealers in furniture, and dealers in coal, and dealers in groceries? Lies about bundles, about saddles, about harness, about shoes, about hats, about coats, about shovels, about tongs, about forks, about chairs, about sofas, about horses, about lands, about everything. I arraign commercial falsehood as one of the crying sins of our time.

I pass on to speak of mechanical falsehoods. Among the artisans are those upon whom we are dependent for the houses in which we live, the garments we wear, the cars in which we ride. The vast majority of them are, so far as I know them, men who speak the truth, and they are upright, and many of them are foremost in great philanthropies and in churches; but that they all do not belong to that class every one knows. In times when there is a great demand for labor it is not so easy for such men to keep their obligations, because they may miscalculate in regard to the weather, or they may not be able to get the help they anticipated in their enterprise. I am speaking now of those who promise to do that which they know they will not be able to do. They say they will come on Monday; they do not come until Wednesday. They say they will come on Wednesday; they do not come until Saturday. They say they will have the job done in 10 days; they do not get it done before 30. And when a man becomes irritated and will not stand it any longer, then they go and work for him a day or two and keep the job along; and then some one else gets irritated and outraged, and they go and work for that man and get him pacified, and then they go somewhere else. I believe they call that "nursing the job."

Ah, my friends, how much dishonor such men would save their souls if they would promise to do only that which they know they can do. "Oh," they say, "it's of no importance; everybody expects to be deceived and disappointed." There is a voice of thunder sounding among the saws and hammers and the shears, saying: "All liars shall have their place in the lake that burns with fire and brimstone."

I pass on to speak of social lies. How much of society is insincere? You hardly know what to believe. They send their regards; you do not exactly know whether it is an expression of the heart or an external civility. They ask you to come to their house; you hardly know whether they really want you to come. We are all accustomed to take a discount off what we hear. "Not at home" very often means too lazy to dress. I was reading of a lady who said she had told her last fashionable lie. There was a knock at her door and she sent word down, "Not at home." That night her husband said to her: "Mrs. So-and-so is dead." "Is it possible!" she said. "Yes, and she died in great anguish of mind, she wanted to see you so very much, she had something very important to disclose to you in her last hour; and she sent three times to-day, but found you absent every time." Then this woman bethought herself that she had had a bargain with her neighbor that when the long-protracted sickness was about to come to an end she would appear at her bedside and take the secret that was to be disclosed. And she had said she was "Not at home."

Social life is struck through with insincerity. They apologize for the fact that the furnace is out; they have not had any fire in it all winter. They apologize for the fare on their table they never live any better. They decry their most luxuriant entertainment to win a shower of approval from you. They point at a picture on the wall as the work of one of the old masters. They say it is an heirloom in the family. It hung on the wall of a castle. A duke gave it to their grandfather! People that will lie about nothing else will lie about a picture. On small income we want the world to believe we are affluent, and society to-day is struck through with cheat and counterfeit and sham. How few people are natural! Frigidity sails around, iceberg grinding against iceberg. You must not laugh outright; that is vulgar. You must smile. You must not dash quickly across the room; that is vulgar. You must glide. Much of society is a round of bows and grins and grimaces and ohs and ahs and he, he, he's, and simperings and namby-pambyism, a whole world of which is not worth one good, honest round of laughter. From such a hollow scene the tortured guest retires at the close of the evening, assuring the host that he has enjoyed himself. Society is become so contorted and deformed in this respect that a mountain cabin, where the rustics gather at a quilting or an apple-paring, has in it more good cheer than all the frescoed refrigerators of the metropolis.

I pass on to speak of ecclesiastical lies, those which are told for the advancement or retarding of a church or sect. It is hardly worth your while to ask an extreme Calvinist what an Arminian believes. He will tell you that an Arminian believes that man can save himself. An Arminian believes no such a thing. It is hardly worth your while to ask an extreme Arminian what a Calvinist believes. He will tell you that a Calvinist believes that God made some men just to damn them. A Calvinist believes no such thing. It is hardly worth your while to ask a Pedo-Baptist what a Baptist believes. He will tell you that a Baptist believes that immersion is necessary for salvation. A Baptist does not believe any such thing. It is hardly worth your while to ask a man who very much hates Presbyterianism what a Presbyterian believes. He will tell you that a Presbyterian believes that there are infants in hell a span long, and that very phraseology has come down from generation to generation in the Christian church. There never was a Presbyterian who believed that. "Oh," you say, "I heard some Presbyterian minister 20 years ago say so." You did not. There never was a man who believed that, there never will be a man who will believe that. And yet from boyhood I have heard that particular slander against a Christian church going down through the community.

Then, how often is it that there are misrepresentations on the part of individual churches in regard to other churches—especially if a church comes to great prosperity. As long as a church is in poverty, and the singing is poor, and all the surroundings are decrepit, and the congregation are so hardly bestead in life that their pastor goes with elbows out, then there will always be Christian people in churches who say: "What a pity! what a pity!" But let the day of prosperity come to a Christian church, and let the music be triumphant, and let there be vast assemblages, and then there will be even ministers of the Gospel critical and denunciatory and full of misrepresentation and falsification, giving the impression to the outside world that they do not like the corn because it is not ground in their mill. Oh, my friends, let us in all departments of life stand back from deception.

But some one says: "The deception that I practice is so small that it don't amount to anything." Ah, my friends, it does amount to a great deal. You say: "When I deceive, it is only about a case of needles, or a box of buttons, or a row of pins." But the article may be so small you can put it in your vest pocket, but the sin is as big as the pyramids, and the echo of your dishonor will reverberate through the mountains of eternity. There is no such thing as small sin. They are all vast and stupendous, because they will all have to come under inspection in the Day of Judgment. You may boast yourself of having made a fine bargain—a sharp bargain. You may carry out what the Bible says in regard to that man who went in to make a purchase and depreciated the value of the goods, and then after he had got away boasted of the splendid bargain he had made. It is naught, it is naught, saith the buyer; but when he is gone his way, then he boasteth." It may seem to the world a sharp bargain, but the recording angel wrote down in the ponderous tomes of eternity, "Mr. So-and-so, doing business on Pennsylvania avenue, or Broadway, or Chestnut street, or State street, sold one lie."

May God extirpate from society all the ecclesiastical lies, and all the social lies, and all the mechanical lies, and all the commercial lies, and all the agricultural lies, and make every man to speak the truth of his neighbor. My friends, let us make our lives correspond to what we are. The secret will come out. We may hide it while we live, but we can not hide it when we die.

FORMER Queen Lilluokalani has been offered $2,000 to preside over a carnival at Wichita, Kan., for three days in 1898. The invitation was extended through Dr. Martin, formerly of Wichita, who was the queen's physician in Honolulu.

MICHAELMAS geese take the place of Thanksgiving turkeys in England, but the demand for the birds has been steadily decreasing for years. Either the taste for goose or the observance of gastronomic holidays is dying out.

A MENACE TO THE NATION.

National Disaster Threatens Through Republican Rottenness.

The fact of overshadowing importance connected with the Union Pacific deal is not that the government is to lose millions of dollars by the transaction and thereby line the pockets of a syndicate of capitalists who contributed heavily to the campaign fund which debauched the country that McKinley might be president, but that consummation of the bargain as agreed upon between the administration and the favored syndicate will concentrate in the hands of one man powers that will make him the absolute master of the transportation business of the United States.

This man is J. Pierpont Morgan. He is now plotting, with good prospects of success, to get control of the Baltimore & Ohio road. With the acquirement of this property and its merging into the vast railroad monopoly which he now directs, the last element of competition in the carrying business between the Mississippi Valley and the Atlantic seaboard will have been crushed out. Place in Morgan's hands the Union Pacific and his mastery of the railroad situation on the continent will be as complete as is that of the Rockefellers in the oil field. He will be the supreme dictator of the prices of all products and other property in the United States. By fixing freight rates at whatever figure he pleases, Morgan can determine the prices of all labor and the products of labor. He can build up new centers of commerce and manufacture and destroy those already in existence if it suits his purpose to do so. Thus he can control the value of land by shifting the centers of consumption. He can issue millions of watered stock and wring from the producers of wealth a tribute in the shape of dividends to keep up the fictitious prices of his securities.

No present law can reach him or curb his power, because no lawmaker had apprehended the danger of such stupendous forces being concentrated in the hands of one man. He can set at defiance and laugh to scorn the interstate commerce act. New enactments will have to be placed upon the statutes to check the evil of his sway. This will be the work of years and will usher in an era of corruption in national legislation such as has never been witnessed in the new world, for his resources for manipulating the lawmaking body will be limitless until the people awake to a full realization of the enormous forces of corruption he commands.

Better that the government should lose every dollar it has invested in the Union Pacific than that the road should pass into the hands of Morgan under the circumstances that now environ the deal. Better that the government should present its interest in the property as a free gift to some one who would guarantee to keep it as an independent line, competing fairly and openly for the transportation of the products of the farm and shop and factory, than that it should be swallowed up by Pierpont Morgan, Collis Huntington, the Vanderbilts and their English associates.

President McKinley can avert this national calamity by a simple act. He can force his attorney-general to enter an appeal from the decree of foreclosure that was obtained by questionable methods. This would give congress an opportunity to scrutinize the deal, and congress would dare not approve. It would also stimulate competition in the bidding by affording a chance for bidders to get together the purchase money and agree among themselves on terms.

To his own conscience and his sense of obligation to the honorable traditions of the exalted position he now occupies, Maj. McKinley owes this plain duty.—St. Louis Republic.

DINGLEY'S PREDICTION.

No Signs as Yet of the Increase in Revenue.

"The deficiency in revenue" under the Cleveland administration, Mr. Dingley declared in his illuminating speech of March 22, "has nearly all arisen from the falling off of revenue from duties on imports." "Our problem," he continued, "is to provide adequate revenue from duties on imports to carry on the government." The conclusion of this enlightened statesman, as recorded in the Congressional Record of March 24, was that "the pending bill enacted into law would yield an increase in revenue of about $113,000,000." It is fair, of course, to notice that he "hedged" with sufficient caution to reduce his estimated increase, on account of the failure of congress to "jam through" the Dingley bill, to fifty or sixty millions. But on this increase he positively took his stand. Well, the deficit in revenue, since the beginning of the fiscal year, has been some $29,000,000, or $4,000,000 larger than in the corresponding period a year ago. The revenue, in order to fulfill Mr. Dingley's prediction, must increase sixty to seventy millions during the next nine months. Does anyone seriously expect such remarkable results? Does the import movement suggest any increase whatever over 1896, in the present season? Does it not, rather, foreshadow that kind of future eminence for the Dingley prophets which is usually reserved for politicians who blunder in the face of warnings from their own party associates, and who make their blunders because of simple stupidity?—N. Y. Post.

——The democracy of to-day stands for the protection of the people against the usurpation of public functions by private individuals. It stands by the Jeffersonian declaration that it is as much the duty of government to protect the individual from injury by another individual as it is to protect the American citizen from insult or injury by a foreign power.—Louisville Dispatch.

——Nearly all the republican newspapers insist that Mr. Bryan is a political corpse, and yet the editorial space and cartoons they lavish on him show that he puts a heap of trouble on their minds.—St. Louis Republic.

DEBIT AND CREDIT.

A Lesson in Monetary Values for the People.

Silver is worth as much silver as it ever was worth.

Gold is worth as much gold as it ever was worth.

Silver, when law made it legal tender money, was worth its weight in gold at a ratio also made by law.

Before criminal legislation robbed silver of its legal tender quality (in 1873 in our country) it would buy just as much of wheat and corn and cotton and wool and iron and lumber; just as much of these and 20 other of the leading staple products of the land as it will to-day. It has not changed in value. Silver is honest money.

But when criminal legislation robbed this people of one-half of its coin legal tender money supply—that is, when silver was demonetized in 1873—gold was made dishonest money. That is, gold began daily to buy more of the staple products than it would before. Just as if a silver man were stabbed to death, his gold brother—these two men alone living in the land—would have twice as much as his former portion—twice as much to eat, to wear, to have.

Gold has profited by the crime—the stab, the murder—of silver. And mourning and sorrow fill the land, because of this the greatest crime the world has known. No prosperity, no confidence can be until this crime is avenged and silver is quickened and made powerful by law again.

The masses of our people know that 412.5 grains of standard silver stamped by the government as a dollar constitutes an honest dollar—a silver dollar which will buy substantially the same as it would at any time within the last quarter of a century. Therefore silver has remained at a parity, not only with itself, but with all commodities except gold.

The food and clothing and real estate values of silver have not changed. But in 1873 the parity between silver and gold was destroyed by legislation. Legislation said we must make gold appreciate; we will stab silver by not longer coining it as legal tender money, then silver will not buy so much gold, the parity will be destroyed, and the gold holders and creditor classes will profit; the uniformed masses and debtors will not know we are robbing them.

And since silver was demonetized by this cruel legislation, gold, because of its scarcity and the doubled demand thus made for it, has risen in purchasing power, and because it has not only grown out of parity not only with silver, but with labor, real estate, food, clothing and all things else, has become the most dishonest money the world has ever known. We repeat, gold is the dishonest money. "The rise of gold in the thermometer by which the degradation of mankind can be measured."—Chicago Dispatch.

POINTED PARAGRAPHS.

——Mr. Hanna's campaign in Ohio is keeping him so busy that he hasn't found time to say a word about the Indianapolis election.—Chicago Chronicle.

——It is a noticeable fact that Mark Hanna talks about republican tariff prosperity only when addressing the farmers, who are feeling well because of big crops. The workingmen of the cities are not favorably impressed by Dingleyism.—Mancheater (N. H.) Union.

——And now comes our old friend, the gold syndicate, and wants to snap up the government's interest in the Central Pacific railway for a song. We shall watch Mr. McKinley deliver the goods—contracted for before the election—with considerable interest.—Atlanta Constitution.

——Mark Hanna had not less than half a million of dollars left over from his campaign fund of last year, and Ohio advices report that he is spending it quite freely in democratic or doubtful legislative districts. Ohio has never been on the auction block to the extent it is this year.—Pittsburgh Post.

——Although Secretary Sherman declared more than once that every shred of protection ought to be removed from any article produced by a trust or combine, neither he nor any other republican senator ever offered a bill to carry that plan into effect. The truth is that the republican party dares not offend the monopolies which its own tariff laws have created.—N. Y. Post.

——If the triumphant party had not had so much to say about the deficit producing Wilson law and the bond-issuing democratic administration, it might not be kind to call attention to the deficit-creating record of the present administration. Notwithstanding there has been a decided uplift in commercial conditions, the government revenues do not manifest that recuperative power they were expected to show under republican care.—Detroit Free Press.

——It is the receipts from internal revenue that bring up the totals this year. The democratic tariff produced from customs nearly double the revenue that came from internal taxation; the republican tariff produces a little more than half as much from customs as the internal taxes furnish. Why not tell the people the truth about the new republican tariff for the trusts? It is not bringing revenue to the government; it is only fattening monopolies. This juggling with figures cannot change the facts.—Boston Press.

——The ease with which their votes have been purchased has been taken advantage of more than once by the managers of republican presidential candidates to stock nominating conventions with delegates bought and paid for with the calm assurance that characterizes the bartering of live stock. This is the principal, if not the sole, reason why the southern states have wielded such an undue influence in republican national conventions. It is largely responsible for the occupancy of the white house to-day by the affable Maj. McKinley.—St. Louis Republic.

HUMOROUS.

—"Nothing is sacred to these professional jokers." "Oh, yes. The old jokes."—Philadelphia North American.

—First Boy—"I say, Tommy, do you work for Robinson?" Second Boy—"I guess he thinks I do. T any rate he pays me every week."—Boston Transcript.

—Managed to Convey His Meaning.—"Hans, why did you take off your hat to that man?" "Dot man vas mein shveetheart mit do golden hair's fader."—Chicago Tribune.

—"Hopsmith ought to take his wife with him to the Klondike." "Any special reason?" "Yes; I've noticed she always does their snow shoveling at home."—Detroit Free Press.

—Terrible Threat.—"John, if you don't quit referring to me as 'the old woman' I'll make you sorry for it." "What will you do, dear?" "I'll be a new woman."—Indianapolis Journal.

—Losing the Faith.—"Has my boy been a little defender and been kind to dumb animals to-day?" "Yes, grandma. I let your canary out of the cage, and when my cat caught it I set Towser on her."—Harlem Life.

—"Ah," said Mrs. Buzby to her husband, who has come home with a black eye and no hat, "that's what you get for riding a bicycle." "No, my dear, it's what I get for not being able to ride one," said Buzby.—Tit-Bits.

—What He Forgot.—"Didn't you forget something, sir?" asked the waiter. "Yes," replied Gimpy, reaching for his hat. "You were so long bringing my dinner that I forgot what I had ordered."—Philadelphia North American.

—In Good Company.—Mamma—"Now, Johnny, you must remember to use your right hand. I don't want you to become left-handed." Johnny—"Why, mamma! some of the best pitchers in the league are left-handed."—Puck.

JERSEY'S INHABITANTS.

Twenty Thousand More Native-Born Women Than Men in the State.

Jersey men and Jersey women don't emigrate. Jersey men and Jersey women don't turn their backs on the farm or the homestead to found colonies in the south or southwest, as do the people of New York, New England and Pennsylvania. They are glad to be able to remain in Jersey, and under these circumstances it is perhaps just a little peculiar that there should be 20,000 more native-born women than men in New Jersey.

The male birth rate is higher than the female birth rate in New Jersey, as in other states and countries. In the state last year there were born 1,032 females to each 1,000 males, but in most states of the union, or at least in settled states of the union, this disparity is set off by two causes—the higher male death rate and the loss of population through emigration. A larger proportion of men than women emigrate, and in old established states, especially in the eastern portion of the country, and particularly in the New England states, Massachusetts, Rhode Island and Connecticut, the preponderance of female inhabitants is considerable. The average number of births in a year in New Jersey exceeds the average number of deaths by 30,000, or 10 per cent.; but though the number of births of males is larger, and has been for many years, than the number of births of females, and although there is practically little emigration from New Jersey, the fact remains that there are 20,000 more female than male inhabitants in that state, native-born.

The preponderance of women is not general. In Gloucester county, for instance, which is in South Jersey and tributary to Philadelphia, there were, by the last state census, 600 more men than women. In Ocean county, the home of fishermen, there were by the last census 9,112 male and 8,679 female inhabitants, a considerable disparity in favor of the former. In Atlantic county, in Cape May county, in Cumberland county, in Salem and in Sussex the male outnumber the female inhabitants. On the other hand, in the other counties of New Jersey the native-born female inhabitants preponderate. The reason is plain. New Jersey has enormous manufacturing interests, and perhaps the best developed of them is the manufacture of silk. A very considerable number of those engaged in silk manufacture are women and girls. In Passaic county, which includes the city of Paterson, there are 1,600 more native female than male inhabitants. In Morris county there are 1,200 more native female than male inhabitants. In Union county, which includes the city of Elizabeth, there are 2,200 more native-born women than native-born men, and in Essex county, which includes the city of Newark, with its vast and varied manufactures, there are 7,170 more native female than native male inhabitants. In addition to this disparity there are in all Jersey 10,000 more Irish-born women than Irish-born men, but the residents of other nationalities include a larger male than female population.—N. Y. Sun.

The Horrid Man.

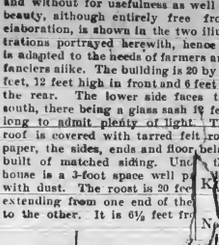
"Ah, yes," said Mrs. Middleton, with a sigh, "it is too true, alas, too true! One half the world doesn't know how the other half lives."

She had just returned from an afternoon card party, and had been talking over some of the things that she had heard there.

"I guess you're right," her husband replied, "but you bet your life it isn't the feminine half that doesn't know."—Cleveland Leader.

Couldn't Recollect Any Others.

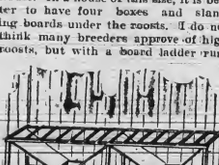
Couldn't Recollect Any Others.—Stephen—But, Uncle John, whom do you mean when you speak of the "best citizens?"



Uncle John—Well, there is myself, for instance, and—and—and—I presume there are others, but they do not come to mind just at this moment."—Boston Transcript.

AGRICULTURAL HINTS

POULTRY IN WINTER.



In the Quarters Here Described Fowls Will Thrive Nicely.

A house that is admirably suited for poultry and is constructed both within and without for usefulness as well as beauty, although entirely free from elaboration, is shown in the two illustrations portrayed herewith, hence it is adapted to the needs of farmers and fanciers alike. The building is 20 by 14 feet, 12 feet high in front and 6 feet in the rear. The lower side faces the south, there being a glass sash 10 feet long to admit plenty of light. The roof is covered with tarred felt roof paper, the sides, ends and floor being built of matched siding. Under the house is a 3-foot space well packed with dust. The roost is 20 feet long, extending from one end of the house to the other. It is 6½ feet from the ground and is 3 feet wide, being built like a ladder and placed at the north end of the building. Under this roost are placed the drop boards, being slanted sufficiently to cause the droppings to roll down into a box at the bottom. In this way there is no trouble in keeping the house free from bad odor, as the droppings each day are removed from each box and the boards resanded after doing so. I know of no simpler and better plan to adopt in a laying house. In a house of this size, it is better to have four boxes and slanting boards under the roosts. I do not think many breeders approve of high roosts, but with a board ladder running up to the top of roosts it is easy for the fowls to reach the roosts. The plan is a good one and it can only be obtained by having it this height, for a proper drop. A flock so kept will be more healthy, as improper ventilation with foul roosts is often the cause of sickness, to say nothing of the vermin that droppings very often attract to a flock while roosting. The drop boards are 6 inches wider than the roosts. Some of the birds will manage to roost on the side rail to which the roosting sticks are fastened. This house will accommodate 60 fowls, and as many as 85 fowls have been confined in it, but the smaller number is really the best. The house is lined inside with tar paper. The fowls have no runs about the building. In fair weather they have access to fields about the house; in fact, they go where they please.—J. W. Caughey, in Farm and Home.

MODEL POULTRY QUARTERS.

SANITARY ROOSTING PLAN.

LIVE STOCK POINTERS.

Feed cattle by cutting up the shocked corn. It is economical.

The hog that quietly eats and keeps on eating is the hog for profit.

Wood wisely fed will always come back doubled if fed to a good animal.

Defective eyesight is often a cause of shying, and the whip will not help that, will it?

One ounce of Scotch snuff to a pound of grease makes a good application for lice on cattle.

Shorts, corn and oats, with some oil meal, will keep the fall pig growing during the winter.

Slopping pigs through the summer is a good thing. Hogs can be brought to the fattening or finishing period on alfalfa alone.

It is hardly practical to feed an exactly balanced ration. Come as near to it as possible, under ordinary management, and let it go at that.

Lice and worms are the hog's great enemies. When changing hogs from one feed to another it should be done with some care, as well as with other animals.—Western Plowman.

Weight of Pigs at Birth.

What is the weight of a pig at birth? At the Oklahoma experiment station a litter of five pure-bred Poland-China pigs from a yearling sow averaged 2.6 pounds the day of birth. When seven days old they averaged 4.6 pounds. Five from an older grade Poland-China sow, out of a litter of seven, two having died, averaged 2.25 pounds at day of birth and 5.6 pounds when seven days old. Nine Duroc-Jersey pigs, two others having died, from a two-year-old Duroc-Jersey sow, averaged 2.44 pounds when one day old, 4.78 pounds when seven and 5.57 pounds when 15 days old, two pigs having been lost in the meantime.

Turnips Among the Corn.

There is no crop grown so easily and with so little cost as late-sown turnips in a field of well-cultivated corn. The shade of the corn will keep the turnips from growing much until the corn is cut. Possibly also their growth will be checked by the demand of the corn roots for plant food. But in the Indian summer that follows the first frost the turnips will make rapid growth, as they will then have all the land for their own use. The turnip will endure a pretty heavy frost, and grow again if warm weather follows it. But in our climate turnips cannot be left in the ground all winter as they are in England.

BETTER TIMES AHEAD.

Live Stock and Farm Produce Show an Increase in Value.

Owners of live stock have been discouraged, as a rule, during the past five years. Horses and sheep have been for immediate returns very poor property. Cattle and hogs have at times been valuable, but they too often have afforded no encouraging returns. The signs of the times are changing, and there is now outlook for at least a moderate improvement in all classes of live stock.

There is steady improvement in manufacturing business, and with the increase in such work there will be a greatly improved demand for good horses. As the income of salaried people and wage-workers is advanced, the grocers and other retail merchants will be obliged to have more of the average sized horses for use on delivery wagons. This will afford a market to many farmers for their average horses, and there will be a tendency continually among breeders, with advancing values, to produce a better grade of stock for the future. As values of all the different grades of equine stock improve there will be a much better feeling among the general farmers which will cause them to invest in much-needed new implements and machinery.

It is usually necessary on the average farm to depend upon such products as the meats, butter, eggs, wool, etc., for the current expenses and living of the family. Permanent improvements must be made, as a rule, from the returns of the occasional sale of a team or a single horse.

With the increasing value of all kinds of grain there is every reason to expect an advance in the prices offered for all grades of live stock. There has been a greatly diminished condition of the flocks of the country, so that the fleeces will not glut the near future. The disposition of so many people to economize in clothing during later years will necessarily, of course, force the masses to buy more freely in the near future. This urgent demand will advance values materially. With the masses of working people employed also, there will be a steady advance in the demand for meats and the greater variety of provisions. When families increase their expenditures for the table there will be a sure and steady call for more of the farmers' products.

It is generally claimed that the supply of hogs throughout the country is less than for some years hitherto. The markets at the yards indicate an upward tendency, so that producers of pork may take courage to give much better care to the swine than they were disposed to do of late because of low values.

It must be remembered that with improving times and values in their products the farmers themselves will be disposed to use more freely better foods for their tables and more of their best products generally, because of the fact that an increase in their incomes will permit more liberal living. In too many cases during panic times some farmers felt themselves compelled to use for their own provisions largely the products which were perishable and to some extent unsalable. A slight improvement all along the line should give courage for renewed effort. Everything produced on the farm has now enough worth to warrant the owners in giving it the best care and attention.—Farm and Fireside.

IT PRESERVES HIDES.

An Important Discovery in Which Farmers Are Interested.

In tanning hides, the sooner natural decay, which begins with the death of an animal, can be arrested the better will be the leather. A hide is heavily salted and sent to a tannery where it is immersed in water, that particles of flesh adhering to the inner side may be scraped away. It is then soaked in lime water 12 hours to remove the hair. After being scoured and depilated by a machine, it is ready for the tanning fluid. It has been necessary to allow it to lie in a bark solution for three months, being moved, drained and manipulated many times during the process. If the solution of tan bark is too strong, the hide may be destroyed. For years scientists have experimented with different substances, hoping to shorten the time necessary for the perfect preparation of hides. Recently it has been found that ennaigre, or sourdock, possesses properties which show that it is indicated by nature for preservative purposes. It is impossible to burn leather in its solution. The cells of a hide will absorb enough to tan it in 12 hours and will take no more. In a few hours, varying with the substance to be treated, the tannic acid in the canaigre will have done its work, saving those months' time and a deal of labor. The cost of planting, cultivating, irrigating and harvesting an acre of canaigre is estimated at $16.50. The yield is from 12 to 20 tons an acre on new land and rises with cultivation. The returns vary from $65 to $75 per ton, sliced. Drying shrinks the product two-thirds, but it is said that the producer can count on a clear gain of $200 per acre.—Chicago Inter Ocean.

Hogs Like Cooked Food.

Hogs do not take kindly to some kinds of coarse vegetables, especially roots, unless they are first cooked. This is particularly true if cooked enough to soften them before being fed. They are very likely to ferment if put in the swill barrel, as is the practice of too many housewives. It is better to throw the potato peelings away than to mix them with sour swill, which soon ferments into a compound that is often really poisonous, as there is more or less poison in the potato which are saved from by cooking, peeling makes a compound that no decent animal should be expected to eat.

It is best to feed cattle only long enough to get a fair profit on them and then let them go.

BONDED YOUNG MEN.

How the Security Companies Keep Tab on Those They Vouch For.

The theory of the big security companies who derive their profits from guaranteeing the honesty of young men who hold responsible positions in the mercantile world that an ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure does not only apply to those who have a penchant for betting their own and frequently their employer's cash on the races, but is a proverb that works all the year round. While the frequent prosecution of defaulters is a powerful aid in assisting others to resist temptation, yet the security companies are not satisfied with resting there.

They find it cheaper to pay detectives to be continually on the watch than to lock the door, as it were, after the horse has gone. The sleuths are St. Louis men of long residence, who know by sight the majority of their employers' clients, and the watch they keep over them is far stricter than the watched imagine. For instance, since the theatrical season began two men have been detailed to spend their evenings in frequenting the all-night restaurants that are favored by ambitious young men who want to live 24 hours of the 24.

Particularly do they direct their attention to youths who have a penchant for things theatrical. The spies, for spies they are, do not look like the ideal thief catcher; in fact, they would rather be taken for men about town who are out for a night's frolic, and "hang the expense." One of the most ornate of the corps of detectives is getting most frequently in one of the night resorts that is addicted to given over to the feminine of stageland after the [illegible] for a While with their local acquaintances their champagne until the [illegible] and their escorts are in the [illegible] and cases young fellows with [illegible] positions of responsibility. Like Nick Sleuth, sitting quietly over in the corner, is apparently paying all his attention to his ale and rarebit. But in reality he is making mental notes of how many bottles of wine his prey is opening and the general drift of the conversation, if he touches upon his business life. The next morning the security company which has vouched for the young man's honesty is in full possession of the facts.

If they are sufficiently damaging a little note is indited to the young man, and also his employer, stating that the bond made by the company is canceled. The result is generally dismissal for the employe, and he never knows that it all came from the fact that he blew himself like a good fellow for Tottie Poothights. Seriously, the security companies find that the detective service more than repays them. As the theatrical season grows apace, of course, the activity of the sleuths will increase, but already the plan has been productive of results that would astound the outsider if he only knew.—St. Louis Republic.

Fast Running.

It was in a negligence case, recently, and a good-humored Irishman was a witness.

The judge, lawyers and everybody else were trying their best to extract from the Irishman something about the speed of a train.

"Was it going fast?" asked the judge.

"Aw, yis, it were," answered the witness.

"How fast?"

"Oh, purty fasht, your honor."

"Well, how fast?"

"Aw, purty fasht."

"Was it as fast as a man can run?"

"Aw, yis," glad that the basis for an analogy was supplied. "As fasht as two min kin run."—Buffalo Enquirer.

Roof Tiles Made of Wood.

Roof tiles are made in Warsowi, Russia, of thin wood sheets, which are glued on one another so that the grain of the wood is crossed. A thin, elastic plate of wood is thus obtained, which cannot by any accident be twisted out of shape. These tiles resist the action of the weather very well, after they have received an application of pitch; they will even stand boiling in water for several hours. The weight of a roofing of these tiles is 12 pounds per square yard. They can be rendered fireproof by saturation with potassium silicate (soluble glass).—N. Y. Sun.

THE MARKETS.

CINCINNATI, Oct. 25.

LIVE STOCK—Cattle, common	$ 2 25	@	2 75
Select butchers	4 00	@	4 40
CALVES—Fair to good light	5 00	@	6 00
HOGS—Common	3 00	@	3 60
Mixed packers	3 65	@	3 80
Light shippers	3 70	@	3 90
SHEEP—Choice	3 25	@	3 75
LAMBS—Good to choice	5 25	@	5 50
FLOUR—Winter family	3 35	@	3 75
GRAIN—Wheat, No. 2 red		@	88
No. 3 red		@	91
Corn, No. 2 mixed		@	25½
Oats—No. 2 mixed		@	20½
Rye, No. 2		@	47
HAY—Prime to choice		@	9 50
PROVISIONS—Mess pork		@	9 12½
Lard—Prime steam		@	4 25½
BUTTER—Choice dairy	13	@	14
Prime to choice creamery		@	24
APPLES—Per bbl	1 75	@	2 50
POTATOES—Per bbl	1 75	@	2 00

NEW YORK.

FLOUR—Winter patent	5 00	@	5 25
No. 2 red		@	1 01⅝
CORN—No. 2 mixed		@	32
RYE		@	51½
OATS—Mixed		@	28
PORK—New mess	8 75	@	9 25
LARD—Western		@	4 75

CHICAGO.

FLOUR—Winter patents	5 00	@	5 10
GRAIN—Wheat—No. 2 red		@	86
No. 2 Chicago spring		@	86
CORN—No. 2		@	26
OATS—No. 2		@	18¼
PORK—Mess	7 85	@	7 90
LARD—Steam	4 35	@	4 37½

BALTIMORE.

FLOUR—Family	4 50	@	4 75
GRAIN—Wheat—No. 2	98	@	99¼
Southern—Wheat	93	@	99
Corn—Mixed	31½	@	31½
Oats—No. 2 white	26½	@	27
Rye—No. 2 western	52	@	52½
CATTLE—First quality	4 00	@	4 25
HOGS—Western	4 70	@	4 80

INDIANAPOLIS.

GRAIN—Wheat—No. 2		@	86
Corn—No. 2 mixed		@	24½
Oats—No. 2 mixed		@	19

LOUISVILLE.

FLOUR—Winter patent	3 75	@	4 00
GRAIN—Wheat—No. 2 red		@	92
Corn—Mixed		@	27½
Oats—Mixed		@	20½
PORK—Mess		@	9 00
LARD—Steam		@	4 25

How's This!

We offer One Hundred Dollars Reward for any case of Catarrh that can not be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure.

F. J. Cheney & Co., Props., Toledo, O.

We, the undersigned, have known F. J. Cheney for the last 15 years, and believe him perfectly honorable in all business transactions and financially able to carry out any obligations made by their firm.

West & Truax, Wholesale Druggists, Toledo, O.

Walding, Kinnan & Marvin, Wholesale Druggists, Toledo, Ohio.

Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. Price 75c. per bottle. Sold by all Druggists. Testimonials free.

Hall's Family Pills are the best.

An Upper Cut.

Mrs. Murray Hill is a very homely woman. Her husband is absent from the city and her dearest friend, Mrs. Manhattan Beach, called. Mrs. Hill said:

"The last thing my husband did before he went away was to give me a kiss."

"H'm! I should think that would be the very last thing he would want to do."

And now they don't speak for some reason.—N. Y. World.

Pictures Tell the Story

Of how everything looks in South Dakota as the result of the great crops of the last three years. The Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul Railway company has had photographs taken of actual farm scenes in South Dakota and has had them reproduced in an attractive eight-page illustrated circular, which it is distributing free of cost to all who are looking for new homes in the most fertile section of the Middle Northwest.

Send your address to H. F. Hunter, Immigration agent for South Dakota, 291 Dearborn street, Chicago, Ill., or to W. E. Powell, General Immigration agent, 410 Old Colony Building, Chicago, Ill.

An Even Exchange.

Husband (trying to write)—My dear, why don't you take up the study of [illegible]

Wife—Why, John, what do you mean?

Husband—I mean that you might [illegible] the English language a much needed [illegible].—Judge.

Grain-O! Try Grain-O!

Ask your grocer to-day to show you a package of GRAIN-O, the new food drink that takes the place of coffee. The children may drink it without injury as well as the adult. All who try it like it. GRAIN-O has a rich seal brown of Mocha or Java but it is made from pure grains, and the most delicate stomachs receive it without distress. 1-4 the price of coffee. 15c and 25 cts. per package. Sold by all grocers.

Domestic Curves.

"Pusher, is furious."

"What's the matter?"

"He was arrested on suspicion of being a scorcher."

"Well—isn't he?"

"No; that's a baby buggy stoop he wears."—Detroit Free Press.

Shake into Your Shoes.

Allen's Foot-Ease, a powder for the feet. It cures painful, swollen, smarting feet and instantly takes the sting out of corns and bunions. It's the greatest comfort discovery of the age. Allen's Foot-Ease makes tight or new shoes feel easy. It is a certain cure for sweatings, callous, hot, tired, aching feet. Try it to-day. Sold by all druggists and shoe stores, 25c. Trial package, FREE. Write to Allen S. Olmsted, LeRoy, N. Y.

Unanimous.

Medium—The spirit of your wife is here, and says she never dreamed of such happiness since you two parted.

The Man—Tell her I feel the same way.—Life.

Queen & Crescent Route Handsome Historical Lithograph.

Colored birds-eye view of Chattanooga, Missionary Ridge, Walden's Ridge, and portions of the Chickamauga field as seen from the summit of Lookout Mountain. Highest style of lithographer's art. On fine paper, size 20x30. Mailed for 10 cents in stamps. W. C. Rinearson, Gen'l Pass'r Agt., Q. & C. Route, Cincinnati, O.

Wanted Specifications.

Lady—Are you willing to do some chopping for your dinner?

Jaded Jerry—What kind of pie is it, mum?—N. Y. Journal.

Give Us Rest.

This is the prayer of the nervous who do not sleep well. Let them use Hostetter's Stomach Bitters and their prayer will be speedily answered. Insomnia is the product of indigestion and nervousness, two associate ailments, also vanquished by the Bitters, which also vanquishes malaria, constipation, liver complaint, rheumatism and kidney complaints.

At a Disadvantage.

Browne—I can't see that he's distinguished looking.

Towne—But his wife is with him now.—Truth.

Take the Air Line

To St. Louis and the West, 53 miles the shortest from Louisville, makes the quickest time, Pullman Sleepers, Parlor and Dining Cars. For complete information address J. P. Mallett, Traveling Passenger Agent, Knoxville, Tenn. R. A. Campbell, General Passenger Agent, St. Louis, Mo.

It is not safe to criticise folks too recklessly, for you can't tell whose relatives they may be.—Washington Democrat.

Excursion Tickets to American Fat Stock, Horse, Poultry and Dairy Shows, Chicago, Nov. 2-13.

Via the North-Western Line, will be sold at reduced rates, each Tuesday and Thursday during the show, limited to Monday following date of sale. Apply to agents Chicago & North-Western R'y.

"Any spicy features in the new play?" "Well," the lady answered, "John had his mouth full of cloves."—Indianapolis Journal.

Fits stopped free and permanently cured. No fits after first day's use of Dr. Kline's Great Nerve Restorer. Free $2 trial bottle & treatise. Dr Kline, 933 Arch st., Phila., Pa.

Cuiure's Coadjutor.—"What an air of well-bred repose young Newrich has." "Yes; but he was naturally lazy to begin with."—Chicago Record.

To Cure a Cold in One Day

Take Laxative Bromo Quinine Tablets. All druggists refund money if it fails to cure. 25c.

Every man thinks his credit is good.—Washington Democrat.

Hit hard, bruised and sick
Used St. Jacobs Oil; cured him quick.

There are people who know what has become of every cent they ever had.

After six years' suffering, I was cured by Piso's Cure.—Mary Thompson, 293 Ohio Ave., Allegheny, Pa., March 19, '94.

You can always tell a man who is not used to tipping his hat by the awkward way he does it.—Washington Democrat.

It is made for it. St. Jacobs Oil
Cures Neuralgia—soothes and strengthens.

The worse one feels, the more people want to talk to him.—Washington Democrat.

Crippled, on crutches, from a sprain.
Used St. Jacobs Oil. Well again.

Why Some Men Are Weary.

A good many hundreds and even thousands of long-suffering husbands can bear sorrowful testimony to the fact that this is the sort of catechism the wives of their bosoms subject them to every time they put on their hats to go out in the evening.

"Where are you going?"

"Oh, I'm going out for a few minutes."

"Where?"

"Oh, nowhere in particular."

"What for?"

"Oh, nothing."

"Why do you go, then?"

"Well, I want to go, that's why."

"Do you have to go?"

"I don't know that I do."

"Why do you go, then?"

"Because."

"Because what?"

"Well, simply because."

"Going to be gone long?"

"No."

"How long?"

"I don't know."

"Anybody going with you?"

"No."

"Well, it's strange that you can't be content to stay at home a few minutes. Don't be gone long, will you?"

"No."

"See that you don't."

This is the reason so many marriages are a dead flat fizzle and failure.—Philadelphia Times.

Star Tobacco.

If you care for pleasure, health and economy, chew Star tobacco, the leading brand of the world.

Lots of men would like to get a pension, but not nearly so many want to go to war.—Washington Democrat.

The muscles stiff; body sore, a sure Cure for it in St. Jacobs Oil.

Some folks enjoy nothing so much as going around talking suspiciously about their neighbors.—Washington Democrat.

FIBROID TUMOR

Expelled by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Interview With Mrs. B. A. Lombard.

I have reason to think that I would not be here now if it had not been for Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. It cured me of a fibroid tumor in my womb.

Doctors could do nothing for me, and they could not cure me at the hospital. I will tell you about it.

I had been in my usual health, but had worked quite hard. When my monthly period came on, I flowed very badly. The doctor gave me medicine, but it did me no good. He said the flow must be stopped if possible, and he must find the cause of my trouble.

Upon examination, he found there was a Fibroid Tumor in my womb, and gave me treatment without any benefit whatever. About that time a lady called on me, and recommended Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, said she owed her life to it. I said I would try it, and did. Soon after the flow became more natural and regular. I still continued taking the Compound for some time. Then the doctor made an examination again, and found everything all right. The tumor had passed away and that dull ache was gone.—MRS. B. A. LOMBARD, Box 71, Westdale, Mass.

Coughs

that kill are not distinguished by any mark or sign from coughs that fail to be fatal. Any cough neglected, may sap the strength and undermine the health until recovery is impossible. All coughs lead to lung trouble, if not stopped. Dr. Ayer's Cherry Pectoral Cures Coughs.

"My little daughter was taken with a distressing cough which for three years defied all the remedies I tried. At length on the urgent recommendation of a friend, I began to give her DR. AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL. After using one bottle I found to my great surprise that she was improving. Three bottles completely cured her."—J. A. GRAY, Trav. Salesman Wrought Iron Range Co., St. Louis, Mo.

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral

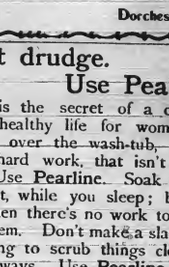
Is put up in half size bottles at half price . . 50 cents

GET THE GENUINE ARTICLE!

Walter Baker & Co.'s Breakfast COCOA

Trade-Mark.

Pure, Delicious, Nutritious.



Costs Less than ONE CENT a cup.

Be sure that the package bears our Trade-Mark.

Walter Baker & Co. Limited,

(Established 1780.) Dorchester, Mass.

Don't drudge. Use Pearline.

There is the secret of a comfortable, pleasant, healthy life for women. Don't stand up over the wash-tub, doing that grinding hard work, that isn't fit for any woman. Use Pearline. Soak the clothes over night, while you sleep; boil them a little; then there's no work to do but to rinse them. Don't make a slave of yourself trying to scrub things clean in the ordinary ways. Use Pearline, and make all such work easy and quick and more economical. 557

Millions NOW USE Pearline

CANDY CATHARTIC

Cascarets

CURE CONSTIPATION

REGULATE THE LIVER

10¢ 25¢ 50¢

ALL DRUGGISTS

ABSOLUTELY GUARANTEED to cure any case of constipation. Cascarets are the ideal Laxative, never grip or gripe, but cause easy natural results. Sample and booklet free. Ad. STERLING REMEDY CO., Chicago, Montreal, Can., or New York. 882

"TO SAVE TIME IS TO LENGTHEN LIFE." DO YOU VALUE LIFE? THEN USE

SAPOLIO

John Wesley's Old Farm Remedy

FOR TIRED FEELING, CONSTIPATION, GENERAL DEBILITY.

Absolutely cures and prevents Malaria, stimulates and strengthens the brain. Samples sent FREE every Tuesday. Ex WRITE IN TIME. WESLEY REMEDY COMPANY, Cincinnati, Ohio.

PISO'S CURE FOR CURES WHERE ALL ELSE FAILS. Best Cough Syrup. Tastes Good. Use in time. Sold by druggists. CONSUMPTION 25 CTS

HARTSHORN'S SELF-ACTING SHADE ROLLERS

NOTICE THE TRADE TRUE LABEL AND SEE THAT THE GENUINE HARTSHORN

A. N. K.—E 1680

WHEN WRITING TO ADVERTISERS please state that you saw the Advertisement in this paper.

BOONE : COUNTY : RECORDER

Wednesday Oct., 27, 1897.

Rates of Subscription:

One year..... $1 50.
Six months..... 75.
Three months..... 40.

Payable invariably in advance.

THE RECORDER

SOLICITS YOUR

Job Work,

NOTE HEADS,
LETTER HEADS,
ENVELOPES,
CARDS,
BILL HEADS,
STATEMENTS,
SALE BILLS,
AND HOSE BILLS,

Printed at the Lowest Prices consistent with neat work.

Send your order by mail and it will be attended promptly.

STATE NEWS.

The races for local offices are getting hot in a dozen or more counties.

More new bridge building is going on in Kentucky than for many years.

One hunting party caught nine coons in Knott county one night last week.

Pawpaws will be more plentiful in the Kentucky mountains than ever before.

An attempt was made to burn the city jail and court room at Eminence, Ky.

A buggy upset and threw Miss Mary Thornhill out at Elkton, fatally hurting her.

George Washington is serving a jail sentence at Georgetown for a breach of the peace.

Geo. Green, a Franklin county farmer, fell from a roof at his barn and was fatally injured.

Two Owen county boys disturbed religous worship and now they are in jail in default of bail.

The town Trustees of Munfordville decided to issue saloon license for that town, fixing the license fee at $200.

Typhoid fever is still causing much uneasiness at the Eastern Kentucky Lunatic Asylum in Lexington.

At Junction City W. S. Tuttle shot and killed John Hammer. Hammer had killed his man some time since.

In sinking an artesian well at Carlisle gas was struck at a depth of 200 feet. On being ignited it blazed up 25 feet high.

As the result of religious revival in the Frankfort penitentiary 250 conversions have been made. Over 110 convicts have been baptised.

At Hopkinsville, Parker McComb was given a verdict of $7,500 damages against the L. and N. for the loss of both his legs, which were cut off by a train.

At the recent gathering of Roger Williams' descendants in Providence, a movement was begun to raise a great monument to the founder of Rhode Island.

The Coroner's jury at Irvine, Ky., decided that John Sams came to his death by poison. Sams' wife and Ezekiel King, are accused of administering the poison.

John L. Bailey, a farmer near Biddle, Scott county, Ky., was accidentally and fatally shot by his little daughter who was playing with a revolver belonging to a visitor.

Dynamite, a pistol and a rope were found in the cell of John Miller in the jail at Pineville. Miller was indicted for murder. It is believed he contemplated blowing up the jail.

Judge Lee, of Owenton, had Prof. J. W. Lusby, principal of the public school arrested upon the charge of assault and battery for whipping his eleven year-old daughter. The jury failed to agree on the trial.

In the reunion grounds at Green Grove, Cumberland county, Sam Smith, of Kettle Creek, and a son of Will Henry Ross, of near Albany, ran their horses together, killing both animals instantly and probably fatally injuring both riders.

Beauregard Haywood, under sentence of 18 years for the murder of James Cochran; G. W. McWilliams, granted a new trial for robbery by the Court of Appeals and Alf Bailey serving a sentence for goose stealing, escaped from the Mt. Sterling jail.

While cleaning out an old spring on Shallow Ford farm, near White Hall, one day this week, says the Richmond Register, Walter Todd found buried two feet in the mud at the bottom of the spring, a Mexican dollar bearing the date, 1819. We saw the coin Tuesday, and it looks almost as bright as one coined this year.

Hon. Thomas H. Hanks, of Lawrenceburg, aged seventy-four, died of liver trouble after a long illness. He was known as the patriarch of the Kentucky Legislature. He had served under three constitutions, served six terms in the General Assembly, the first in '40, and was a member of the last constitutional convention.

The Court of Appeals affirmed the life sentence of Joseph Adkins by dismissing his appeal. Fields and Adkins were indicted for the murder of Judge Combs in Harlin County. They were tried together the first time and convicted, but for some error the Court of Appeals gave them a new trial. Adkins was tried by himself this time, and will have to go to the penitentiary for life.

Last July at Lexington Jacob Harris shot and killed Thomas Merritt, whom he caught in a park with Mrs. Harris. At the examining trial the Judge who tried the case dismissed Harris, claiming that there was an unwritten law which gives a man the right to shoot down in cold blood the invader of his home and destroyer of his connubial bliss. The case attracted attention throughout the whole country. Now to cap the climax Harris and his wife have bridged their troubles and are living together.

A tragedy occured at the home of Mitchell Parker, living on Sulphur Creek, near Buena Vista. His son and daughter had just come home from school, and, the parents being away from home, the little boy went straight to the mantel piece, and, picking up his father's revolver, pointed it at his sister and pulled the trigger, to play "killing her" with his little sister. There was a loud report, and, to the little brother's horror, his sister fell backward out of the door a corpse, the bullet having gone through her head, killing her instantly. The girls parents are almost distracted. This is the third child they have lost this summer.

CROP AND STOCK.

The demand for Kentucky mules is such that many dealers have great difficulty filling orders.

It is said that the potato crop is nearer a failure at present than at any other time since 1892.

A Flemming county farmer near Elizaville forty bushels of potatoes on an eighth of an acre of ground.

The Danville Advocate notes the sales of 104 sheep at $2.80 each, a lot of 75 lb. hogs at 3¼ cts., and a lot of mule colts at $25 to $50.

At "Uncle" Sammy Riley's sale at Wheatley last Thursday, horses sold from $36 to $60, cows from $38 to $55 and sheep from $4 05 to $6 25.—Owen Herald.

Union county is to dig the ten-miles-long Pond Fork ditch, that will drain 8,000 to 10,000 acres of fine swampy land and increase its value $20 to $25 per acre.

A radish was taken from the Dillion garden that weighed 8½ pounds, says the Livingston Colonel. A cabbage taken from the same garden weighed 23½ pounds. Capt. Dillion says that it was a larger cabbage than Will Gentry ever saw; or Henry Brannaman either.

Vegetables are being dried now like apples and other fruit. Seven pounds of potatoes weigh one pound when dried, and other vegetables shrink in weight correspondingly. Onions, carrots and potatoes are the vegetables used most now, but the industry will, it is expected, develope greatly.

Dr. Russell, who has returned from a trip to Tennessee, says the Bowling Green Times, is exhibiting on the streets an ear of "cattle corn" which he got during his trip. It has no shuck and is very much like a head of wheat except that it is as large as the usual ear of corn, and its grains are perfect.

Cliff R. Prewitt is in Virginia looking after the cattle owned by his firm. The other members are Ed and Harvey Prewitt. These young gentlemen have handled this season about 1,200 cattle, and for 500 they have been paid 4 cents per pound. Harvey Rogers bought of them 100 this week at 4 cents.—Mt. Sterling Sentinel-Democrat.

The recent light rains in this section have been a decided disadvantage to the wheat in the ground, as the moisture caused the grain to sprout and the intense hot weather is now causing it to wilt and die. A farmer said to the Clipper scribe Tuesday that unless there were copious rains at a very early date the wheat crop would be a complete failure.—Midway Clipper.

A gentleman from Cuba, Graves county, brought two queer looking fowls to town, says the Fulton Guard. He said they were a cross between a chicken and a guinea. The fowls were about the size of a turkey hen and shaped very much like a prairie chicken. Their chirp is like that of a guinea and their feathers like those of a chicken. Mace McDade bought the 2 strange fowls and put them in his saloon, where they are now on exhibition.

Over 1,000 persons attended the J. L. Patterson sale in Bourbon. The shorthorn cattle sold from $52 to $115; fat cattle at 4½c, averaging 1,800 lbs; one cow and calf brought $115; calves $40 to $60; two-yr-old heifers from $50 to $75; horses $15 to $100; sheep $6 to $7; hogs 5c and over; 13 mule colts $17 per head; 20 yearling mules $35.05; 30 two year-old mules $61; two pairs of mules $141 a pair; corn $1.60 per barrel. Total amount of sales about $10,000. —Kentuckian.

Several sales of tobacco have been made through this section during the past week or ten days, and big prices are being offered and in most instances refused. Mr. George McGray, living between here and Dixie, sold his entire crop last Saturday to a Hanson firm for $10 per hundred—leaf, lugs and trash—and all that figure has been refused by some growers. The fancy prices that have been offered for tobacco have excited the farmers and added the strip tobacco dealers search or while to a Ar- that rian c [illegible] it is not probable that much crop will be sold for some time.—Webster Co., Recorder.

Young animals cannot digest solid food until they have their grinding teeth through. It will be wise to avoid feeding young lambs any grain until they are thus far advanced, says the American Sheep Breeder. A little meal, salted, may be given, however, by the hand, to tame them, and prepare them for feeding in this way by and by. It is a good thing to have a good fresh cow on hand when the young lambs are appearing. A few drinks of the new milk may save many a lamb. Later in the season preparations should be made for a good supply of cabbage and turnips for the flock. These are for next Winter's feeding, when they will go far to keep the flock healthy. It is a wise precaution to separate the lambs from the older sheep as soon as possible, to avoid the infection of the young things by the numerous parasites carried by the old sheep. These, by their natural hardiness, do not suffer from them as the weaker lambs will. Some ewes are poor milkers, for, although the feeding may be the same, some will milk better than others. But we may be sure the milk is made from the food, and some extra good feed may help the ewe to do better. This is a point to be taken note of by the shepherd, so that the less productive ewes may be helped out with a more liberal supply of feed. Alternate pastures are a great help to the flock. Sheep love change, and naturally are wandering in their habits. A freshened pasture, therefore, will greatly help them as a change now and then.

FROM CARROLL COUNTY.

[News]

The denizens of Ghent are now fully satisfied that they are on the main line of the Black Diamond railroad.

Robert Tate sold to S. G. Williams the champion brood sow of the county. She has had eight litters of 72 pigs, and be it said to her credit she raised 68 out of the number.

The boss fish of the season was caught at W. J. Maddox's landing, at Notch Lick, on the Ohio river, Saturday night. It was caught by John Robinson on his trot line and weighed 108 pounds.

FROM GRANT COUNTY.

[Courier]

The artesian well has furnished a great amount of water during the dry spell.

Commonwealth's Attorney M. D. Gray authorizes us to say that persons who will persist in shooting game before the law expires will do well to stop the practice. If caught they will be prosecuted to the extent of the law.

The vote cast will not be as large this year as it was last, when 3441 votes were cast in the county. If the day is fair the vote will be in the neighborhood of 3000, but if rainy and bad it will be 200 votes short of that number.

In many of the large voting districts of the county and in some of the small ones the officers of the election have always been until the middle of the night counting the vote. They insist on tallying each vote separately and this method makes a long, tedious and tiresome, and sometimes not very correct job of work that could in many precincts be done in an hour if the officers understand how to make the count. Separate the ballots cast into three lots, one straight Democratic ballots, one straight Republican ballots, and count them all off for every candidate on that ticket. Place the scratched ballots in a pile to themselves. After having counted the straight ballots and giving the candidate on each ticket credit for same go over the scratched ballots and tally a vote for each of the candidates voted for. There will not be more than ten to twenty scratched ballots in each precinct, and by following this system of counting there is not a precinct in the county that cannot be counted in an hour.

FROM OWEN COUNTY.

[News]

Howard Britton, the sixteen-year old son of H. B. Britton, accidentally shot and killed his brother, Elmer, aged eighteen, near their home three miles from this place, last Sunday afternoon. The boys were out a short distance from home when they met with a colored boy who had a loaded shot-gun that he had taken from Mr. Senour's where he was living. The boys discharged the gun at some object and one of them reloaded it, of which fact it seems Howard was ignorant. He took the gun into [illegible] and pointed it at Elmer, build up nearly a step or two distant manufacture told by Elmer and in existence if that the gun was so. Thus he c[illegible]s not to have unland by shifting for he pulled the watered stock charge of shot takducers of head. Elmer was s[illegible]e father's house, where [illegible]ed until four o'clock Monday morning, although he never regained consciousness.

POLITICAL.

Jessamine county will have a colored ticket for county offices.

Notwithstanding the increase of taxation; notwithstanding the bond issue of half a million the Republican Auditor estimates the floating debt of the State at the close of the fiscal year at over one million. Not a cheerful outlook for the taxpayers. —Louisville Post.

There will be more scratching among the Republicans than among the Democrats. They have troubles of their own this time, and while some of the Democratic nominees may lose a few votes by being scratched they will more than make up the loss from Republican voters. —Williamstown Courier.

Treasurer Long urges in defense of the prison chair contract that it is $59,000 nearer sustaining the prison that under Democratic administration. But that is not the point. The Sinking Fund Commissioners rejected a contract which guaranteed the State against all loss. Why was that contract rejected?—Louisville Post.

What it Will Do.

FALMOUTH, KY. July 7, 1896.

Dr. J. T. Boulton, Cincinnati, O.

Dear Sir—I was taken with a severe cough the first of May; for two weeks I could not lie on my left side nor breathe through my left lung. I also had henorrhage and my friends said I had consumption. I began taking Boulton's Cough Remedy and began to improve with the first dose, and within three weeks was entirely well. I can not say enough in favor of Boulton's Cough Remedy. Respectfully,

MRS. R. J. MARSHALL.

For sale by all druggists. Price, 25c. and $1 per bottle.

MONTHLY SUFFERING.

Thousands of women are troubled at monthly intervals with pains in the head, back, breasts, shoulders, sides hips and limbs. But they need not suffer.

These pains are symptoms of dangerous derangements that can be corrected. The menstrual function should operate painlessly.

McELREE'S Wine of Cardui

makes menstruation painless, and regular. It puts the delicate menstrual organs in condition to do their work properly. And that stops all this pain. Why will any woman suffer month after month when Wine of Cardui will relieve her? It costs $1.00 at the drug store. Why don't you get a bottle to-day?

For advice, in cases requiring special directions, address, giving symptoms, "The Ladies' Advisory Department," The Chattanooga Medicine Co., Chattanooga, Tenn.

Mrs. ROZENA LEWIS, of Onavilla, Texas, says: "I was troubled at monthly intervals with terrible pains in my head and back, but have been entirely relieved by Wine of Cardui."

Subscribe for the RECORDER

The Very Fact of the Case IS

That you can buy as much or more goods of a high quality, get better satisfaction are always have more money by buying at

AYLOR'S

than any Little House this side of Cincinnati. We still kindly insist on you coming our way as you have in the past, as we will certainly always treat you right.

Very Truly,

IRA AYLOR, - - Erlanger, Ky.

C. W. ROBINSON,

DEALER IN—

Dry Goods, Notions, Groceries, Boots and Shoes,

ALL KIND OF FEED AND FLOUR IN STOCK,

Agent for Weidler's Germ Food; Also agent for the Jones Fertilizers.

GOOD STABLE IN CONNECTION WITH STORE.

Constance, Ky.

METROPOLITAN COUPE & LIVERY COMPANY.

62 & 64 West Sixth St., Cincinnati, Ohio,

E. H. BAKER, Proprietor

(o)

Horses and Vehicles for Hire at Reasonable Rates.

Horses and Second-Hand Buggies for Sale.

Horses Sold on Commission.

Telephone 580.

CHAS. C. FRY, JACOB REIB,

FRY & REIB,

Manufacturers of and Dealers in all kinds of

Marble & Granite Monuments,

HEADSTONES, CORNER POSTS, ETC.,

109 Pike Sreet, - - - COVINGTON, K.

Near C. & O. R. R. Crossing. } Designs Furnished Upon Application.

R. A. STEELE,

RISING SUN, IND.,

UNDERTAKING.

My Stock and accouterments are unsurpassed, having adult's black hearses and child's white hearse.

Independent of Undertakers' Union.

My prices are reasonable and my friends will tell you I give satisfaction.

FURNITURE

Large Stock of Latest Styles at Lowest Prices.

GIVE : ME : A : CALL.

Frankfort & Cincinnati Railway.

Ask for tickets via this line. Schedule of trains in effect March 1, 1897.

East Bound.

Lve. Frankfort..... 6:30 a. m, 3:00 p. m
Arr. Georgetown...7:20 a. m. 4:15 p. m

West Bound.

Lve. Georgetown..,10:40 a m 6:30 p. m
Arr. Frankfort.....11:55 a. m 7:20 p. m

C. D. BERCAW, G. P. A.
Geo. B. Harper, Gen. Supt.
Frankfort, Ky.

H. S. STEVENSON.

Satisfaction Guaranteed. DENTIST. Prices Consistent with Good Services Only.

OFFICE:— Rising Sun, Indiana.

NOTICE.

Cincinnati, O., April 6, 1897.

To the Tobacco Growers of Boone County;

I am connected with the Cincinnati Leaf Tobacco Warehouse Co., which includes four houses—the Globe, Morris, Bodmann, Cincinnati Miami. Prize your tobacco and ship it to one of the four houses and receive the highest market price for same. If you have no preference ship it to the Cincinnati Miami, and I will give it my personal attention. Hogsheads and presses furnished. Address me at 110, 112 West Front St., Cincinnati, Ohio.

oct-7 O. W. ADAMS.

For Rent.

A good farm, to a good tenant—six miles from Cincinnati on Cincinnati Southern railroad and on free turnpike. Call at 30 W. 4th St. Covington, Ky. J. J. DULANEY.

Take the Recorder, $1.50 a year.

Some Plain Facts.

Grave errors, injustice, wrongs of greater or less degree, arise from lack of knowledge of the truth, and more frequently from deception.

The most infamous case on record of deception and injustice is the attempt to demonetize silver as a money of final redemption in the United States.

There is no learned judge, skilled lawyer, or court of justice that is capable of reconciling the effort with the constitutional laws that govern the issue of money in this country.

The people have been deceived, officials in power, chosen to administer justice under the laws, have ignored their sworn duty, and given aid to the scheme that has paralyzed industry, reduced property values one-half, and beggared millions.

There is no authority of law, either specific or by inference, by which gold alone is made the only money with which to discharge debts, either public or private. The effort to make it so is unconstitutional and a national calamity.

Plain and ample information, facts, and truth, concerning this almost successful scheme to corner the wealth of the people, is now being printed in the Cincinnati Enquirer, a newspaper which the combined power of money has failed to muzzle or buy.

The Weekly Enquirer is only 75c. a year. The address is Enquirer Company, Cincinnati, O.

PATENTS

Caveats, and Trade-Marks obtained and all Patent business conducted for MODERATE FEES.

OUR OFFICE IS OPPOSITE U. S. PATENT OFFICE and we can secure patent in less time than those remote from Washington.

Send model, drawing or photo., with description. We advise, if patentable or not, free of charge. Our fee not due till patent is secured.

A PAMPHLET, "How to Obtain Patents," with cost of same in the U.S. and foreign countries sent free. Address,

C.A.SNOW & CO.

OPP. PATENT OFFICE, WASHINGTON, D. C.

BOONE COUNTY RECORDER.

VOL. XXIII. BURLINGTON, KENTUCKY, WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 3, 1897. NO. 2

THE campaign orator now finds himself without a job.

ST. LOUIS credits a half million dollar fire that occurred there last week to a cigarette.

IT may be that Butterworth's opposition to gang rule in Cincinnati will cost him his jobas Commissioner of Patents.

THOSE Democrats who are in the revenue service in this district will soon learn how much protection the civil service affords.

Bricks apparently as good as when first made were excavated in Babylon, the marks on them proving them to be 4,000 years old.

HENRY GEORGE, one of the leading candidates for Mayor of Greater New York, died suddenly of apoplexy, at his hotel last Friday morning.

THE minister who was kicked out of the church down in Kentucky, because he preached there was no devil, no doubt thought he had raised the devil.

THE National Democrats wasted considerable of their campaign fund in sending out instructions how to vote for Hindman and then vote the Democratic ticket exeept for Shackelford.

THE London Echo gives a list of large land owners in Australia. One of them has 620,000 acres, another 1,200,000 acres, a third 3,600,000 acres, while the Union Bank owns 7,800,000 acres.

THE Bromley city dads contemplate building a large gasoline tank to furnish oil for their street lamps. If the project is carried out the town will be blowed into the Ohio river some night.

THE death of Henry George upon the eve of the election in Greater New York, gave the politics of that city a sudden and terrific shakeup. He was making a strong race for the Mayoralty.

DR. HUNTER can now check his baggage for Gautemala, and the sooner he gets to that country the better, for it is evident that Kentucky is too small to contain both the Doctor and Walter Forrester.

THE Louisville ministers have concluded that they do not desire Evangelist Moody's labors in their town this winter, and have notified him to that effect, and thus have caused much dissatisfaction on the part of many of the people.

IT takes $1,100,000 to pay the pensions in Kentucky at the end of each three months. Multiply that amount by four and you discover that Uncle Sam distributes quite a handsome amount of pin money, during the year, among his wards in Kentucky.

IT will be only a few months before the Congressional campaign will begin shaping up. The indications are there will be a fight between the country and city portions of the district, the rural roosters having concluded that they have among them as good timber as can be found in the city.

IT is estimated that sixty-eight thousand people have starved to death in Cuba since the beginning of the war now in progress. That is about the way Weyler expected to defeat the Cubans, but the Cubans are determined to be free notwithstanding the opposing army and the fearful ravages of death.

ALL good Democrats are disgusted with the spectacle some Covington politicians make of themselves every time an occasion offers. They ought to know that they injure their standing as individuals as well as politicians, and stop making infamous charges against each other without testimony to sustain them.

BEET sugar culture will receive a trial on a large scale near Elwood, Ind., next spring, a fine 160-acre farm two miles from town having been secured for that purpose. If the experiment proves successful a large plant will be built, and the farmers within a radius of ten miles of that city will all go into the business.

So far the compulsory educational law has been a complete failure in this county. When the public schools began in the fall of 1896 it was soon evident that very little attention would be given it, and now it is as inoperative as if it had never been exacted. The law provides too many avenues by which to escape its provisions.

DEMOCRATIC LANDSLIDE.

Ohio Close, and Both Sides Claim the State

KENTUCKY [illegible] BACK IN LINE.

Nebraska Stays [illegible] by W. J. Bryan.

Kentucky	15,000
Nebraska	20,000
New York	80,000

Ohio close with both sides claiming the Governor and the legislature. The Commercial Gazette says the State has gone Republican by 20,000.

It now looks like all creation is climbing on to the Democratic band wagon.

Kenton county Democrats land their entire ticket.

Shake, Democrats, shake.

The Republicans got out about half their vote in this county yesterday.

Now that the election is out of the way the President may not delay adopting a policy favorable to Cuba's independence. He and Secretary of State have each been accused of sympathizing with the cause of the Insurgents, but so far they have done nothing to indicate that they feel any interest in their success.

THE Grange is being revived again in this county, and the farmers in several of the neighborhoods show a disposition to take an active part in its working. The social feature of the Grange alone recommends it to the farmers, and many good results should come from the discussion of topics in which farmers are interested.

ED SCALES, Harvey Myers and Henry Hallam, defeated candidates in the recent Kenton county Democratic primary election, have sued the county committee to compel it to refund a portion of their assessments. They charge that the committee assessed the candidates to the amount of $5,000 but used only $1,600 of that amount.

ALTHOUGH the town of Ft. Gaines, Georgia, has over two thousand inhabitants, the first marriage to occur there in the last seven years was solemnized last week, and the event was so unusual that all the business houses closed as a manifestation of their appreciation of the advances their town is making. The occasion was observed as a holiday by the entire town.

THE counting of the coin in the Treasury vaults has led to the discovery that there has been a theft of some of the gold as well as of the silver. The department officials decline to specify the amount or discuss the subject. The particular sack in which the shortage was discovered came from the New Orleans Mint and had been stored away since the first Cleveland Administration. The original seal placed upon the sack at the Mint was intact, indicating to the department that the robbery was committed before it left the Mint.

IT begins to look very much like marriage is a failure down in the "pennyrile" region of Kentucky, and the fellow who contemplates matrimony is not prepared to assume the solemn vow until he has amassed wealth sufficient to prosecute or defend a suit for the dissolution of the bonds of matrimony, and in the event he should be defendant in the suit the court, in addition to the plaintiff's costs and attorney's fee, might assess him with a considerable yearly allowance as alimony, consequently a "pennyrile" groom has to have plenty of nerve and no inconsiderable amount of "dough" to prepare him to appear before Hyman's altar, as the one hundred and twenty-five couples who are now seeking divorces in the Paducah Circuit Court are willing to testify.

WASHINGTON LETTER.

(From Our Regular Correspondent.)

Washington, October 30th, 1897.

Mr. McKinley and his administration have nobody but themselves to blame for many persons regarding their now you-see-it, now-you-don't-see-it, manipulation of the Union Pacific Railroad question as a thimble-tigging game in which the people have been buncoed. First the sale of the road was to be postponed and then it wasn't. Those who have carefully studied this matter say that the administration deserves no credit for the raise of $8,000,000 in the bid for the reorganization committee for the property; that it was a question with the reorganization committee of losing all the swag or of giving up enough of it to hush the public clamor which had compelled the announcement that the government would ask the court to postpone the sale of the road for six weeks, in order to give intending competing bidders a chance, and that Mr. McKinley was in too great a hurry to withdraw the application for a postponement of the sale. No interest could possibly have suffered by the postponement of the sale, and the creditors, other than the government, of the road might have been greatly benefitted. Members of the administration may throw bouquets at each other over this business, as they try to make the country believe that they accomplished something which deserves praise, but the country has a way of getting at the inside of things, and it will do so in this case.

The great McKinley Cuban policy, which was used at the extra session to prevent the House from taking up and adopting, as it should have done, the joint resolution which the Senate adopted, directing the recognition by this government of the belligerency of the Cubans, has, if the friends of the administration know what they are talking about, been abandoned, and Mr. McKinley will refer the whole business to Congress for solution. This seems an astounding statement to make, but it is the McKinley followers who are making it in Washington. Spain's reply to the McKinley policy, which reached Washington this week, seems to have broken the main spring of the policy, if there really ever was a definite policy, which many doubt. It is semi-officially stated that the communication from Spain will, as a result of an understanding between the two governments, be kept from both the Spanish and the American public until after it has been submitted to Congress by Mr. McKinley. Last spring Mr. McKinley said in effect to Congress: keep your hands off this question; I can handle it without your assistance, and in December he will appeal to Congress for orders as to what he shall do with it. This sort of thing would be humiliating to a sensitive man. Meanwhile everything else has been dropped and Mr. McKinley, John Sherman, Mr. Day and other prominent members of the administration have gone to Ohio to persuade the voters to keep their hands off Marcus Aurelius Hanna.

Among the strange stories which continue to come from the Klondike gold fields in Alaska, is one to the effect that an old negro, who went out there as a work hand staked out a claim and made $300,000. He now says that he is going back to his old home in Georgia, where the daughter of his former owner is still living on the plantation, but very poor, and is going to buy the plantation and have his young mistress do nothing but "live like a lady" all the rest of her life. We said it was a strange story. The strangest part about it, however, is that the old negro should have made $300,000. That he should want to use it in caring for the daughter of his master will not seem strange to anyone who knows the strong affection which usually existed between master and slave—an affection which the fortunes of war and the independence of freedom have not always weakened, but sometimes, as in this case, have seemed to make it only stronger. This is not the first case of which we have heard where an old slave has taken care of his master or some member of his family in their poverty. The instances in which the master has taken care of the slave are too numerous to mention.—Ex.

THE inhabitants of New York City are having life made a burden by countless millions of small bugs that belong in the West Indies. They were imported with a lot of produce form that country, and they annoy people all day and night.

Pit of the Press.

Grover Cleveland stands pat on three queens and one jack.—Louisville Post.

Nearly all of McKinley's big troubles up to date can be traced to the malign influence of Mark Hanna on the President.—Charleston (W. Va) Gazette.

Did Attorney-General McKenna change his mind regarding that Union Pacific sale, or did President McKinley change it for him?—Boston Globe.

Gen. Miles is investigating the bicycle in war. Experience thus far indicates that the tandem is very useful in precipitating engagements. —Chicago Times-Herald.

President McKinley is too much afraid of Hanna to stop the infamous Union Pacific Steal. He will stand by and see the Government deliberately robbed of $12,000,000. See if he doesn't.—Greenville (Ohio) Advocate.

The New York Sun in an editorial bunches some significant facts. Figures recently published show that at the present rate of expenditure the annual pension list has been consuming nine-tenths of the revenue taken in at all the custom houses in the United States, or again if the custom duties are considered as paying the general expenses of the government, the pensions have been using up not less than 96 per cent. of the total receipts from internal revenue. Thirty-two years after the end of the civil war the number of pensioners on account of that war exceeds by a quarter of a million the number of soldiers actually engaged in service in all of the armies of the government at any time between the firing upon Sumter and the surrender of Lee at Appomattox. The number of pensioners after a third of a century is between 30 and 40 per cent. larger than the fighting army at any time during the war. We have already paid in pensions since the war two billion dollars or two-thirds as much as it cost to carry on the war.—Scientific American.

The Columbia Herald says: The Missouri roads, with scarcely an exception, are a disgrace to the state. Every year thousands of dollars are expended in each county and the highways are no better at the end of the year than at the beginning. The scheme of supervision by district overseers has proved especially costly. A careful analysis of its expense shows that this system requires the expenditure of about one-fourth of the road taxes for supervision alone. This is paying entirely too dear for the amount of good accomplished. Missouri tax-payers expend too much money for roads too much for the kind of roads they get in return. Either less money should be expended or better roads secured.

Of the tobacco market and crop the last issue of the Western Tobacco Journal says;

"The tobacco trade is no doubt in a strong position at the present time, as the heavy offerings that usually weaken prices have no noticeable effect. Although bidding the past week was not quite so snappish, still no tobacco was neglected and full prices of the week previous were maintained. Offerings were very large the first three days, as many of the holders are accepting the good profits offered now rather than take further chances, and stocks are now gradually reducing. A great many private sales are being made, as many of the manufacturers are laying in large stocks for future use. One of the largest sales was 1,650 hogsheads in one lot sold to the American Tobacco Company. Several lots of 50 to 100 hogsheads are changing hands. There is some speculative feeling yet, although prices have reached the point where there is not as much desire upon the part of speculators to purchase as there was a month ago, and most of the sales are direct to the manufacturer.

"Red tobacco is the most desirable and is much higher in proportion than the best colory grades. The low grades continue firm and as long as cheap plug is in demand they will continue to be sought for, and from the general outlook all will be wanted.

"Reliable reports from the country at present are that about 50 to 60 per cent. of an ordinary crop is in the houses, with some excellent tobacco in some sections, while in others there is considerable green tobacco and badly cured crops."

THE political mud-slinging machines can be stored away again for a while.

COUNTY DIRECTORY.

County Judge—Benjamin Stephens.
County Clerk—B. W. Adams.
County Attorney—J. M. Lassing.
Sheriff—C. C. Roberts.
Jailer—C. L. Crisler.
Assessor—R. A. Brady.
Coroner—A. A. Mural.
Superintendent Schools—L. H. Voshell.
Surveyor—W. E. Vest.

Fiscal Court meets Tuesday after first Monday in January, April, July and October.

RAILROAD COMMISSION:

John C. Wond, Chairman; I. F. Dempsey, H. S. Irwin. Secretary-Samuel Brown.

CIRCUIT COURT.

Judge—John W. Green.
Clerk—J. W. Duncan.
Commonwealth's Attorney—M. D. Gray.
Master Commissioner—J. B. Berkshire.

JUSTICES OF THE PEACE.

Courts are held in the months of March, June, September and December, as follows:

District No 1.—O. W. Gaines, fourth Saturday; J. B. Crigler, Constable.
District No. 2.—M. B. Green, first Saturday; Jake Cook, Constable.
District No. 3.—R. I. Roberts, wednesday after third Monday; T. M. Rich, Constable.
District No. 4.—H. Bannister, Thursday after second Monday; Add Riddell, Constable.
District No. 5.—T. E. Roberts, fourth Monday; J. H. watson, Constable.
District No. 6.—Joseph Waggstaff, third Saturday; Simeon Tanner, Constable.

STATE DIRECTORY.

Governor—W. O. Bradley.
Lieutenant Governor—W. J. Worthington.
Secretary at State—Charles Finley.
Assistant Secretary of State—E. D. Guffy.
Attorney General—W. S. Taylor.
Auditor—Samuel H. Stone.
Assistant Auditor—Frank Johnson.
Treasurer—George W. Long.
Sup't of Public Instruction—Gen. M. Davidson.
Register Land Office—Charles O. Reynolds.
Deputies—Stanley D. Brown, Sam S. Shepherd.
Insurance Commissioner—D. M. Comingore.
Adjutant General—D. R. Collier.
Assistant—Walter Forrester.
Supt. Arsenal—Capt. David O'Connell.
State Inspector—C. W. Tozier
Commissioner Agriculture—Lucas Moore.

COURT OF APPEALS.

Chief Justice—Joseph Lewis. Judges—Gen. Duvall, J. R. Grace, T. H. Paynter, B. L. D. Guffy, J. H. Hazelrigg, J. H. Lewis.
Reporter—E. W. Hines. Clerk—A. Adams.
Sergeant—W. S. R. Hill, Tigrad—C. C. Turner.
Librarian—Mrs. Mary Brown Day.
Inspector of Mines—C. J. Norwood.

STATE PRISON OFFICIALS:

Frankfort Prison—Warden, Henry George; Deputy Warden, M. A. Rooney.
Eddyville Prison—Warden, T. C. Curry; Deputy Warden, Ward Linn.

JOHN C. TANNER
SPECIAL AGENT.
ERLANGER, - - KY.
Representing Reliable Companies Manufacturing
Musical Instruments, Sewing Machines, Bicycles, Buggies, Farming Implements
—ALSO—
Coal and Lumber, Granite & Marble Work, Life & Fire Insurance.
Prompt Attention [illegible] Guaranteed.
Aug 25 3m.

B. F. BUCHANAN,
—DRUGGIST,—
Rising Sun, - Indiana.
Thanks his Kentucky friends for their renewed patronage and invites them to continue to call at the Corner Drug Store.

INSURE AT HOME
The Farmers' Mutual Fire
INSURANCE COMPANY,
OF BOONE COUNTY,
Is now completely organized and receiving applications for insurance.
Its Rates are Lower
Than those of any other Company and gives the farmers of Boone County
HITHERTO UNKNOWN ADVANTAGE
In keeping their property insured.
EVERY FARMER IN THE COUNTY should take a policy at once.
E. H. BLANKENBECKER, - President, Florence, Ky.
D. E. LAWELL, - Vice-President.
OSCAR GAINES, Secretary, Burlington.
J. E. DUNCAN, Treasurer.
EXECUTIVE BOARD—Legrand Gaines, J. W. Conner, John Stephens.
J. E. SMITH, Assessor, - Burlington, Ky.
W. M. ROGERS, Agt. - Walton, Ky.

FOR SALE--This Fall.
STRAWBERRY PLANTS.
Bubach No. 5. P. Greenville P.
Parker Earl, Haverlan,
And other Varieties.
LIGHT BRAHMA FOWLS.
Blackberry & Raspberry Sprouts.
For further information write to
WM. C. ROUSE, Limaburg, Ky.

D. E. CASTLEMAN,
ATTORNEY - AT - LAW,
BURLINGTON, KY.
Will practice in the Courts of Boone Kenton, Grant and Gallatin. Collections pushed energetically.

G. G. HUGHES,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
BURLINGTON, KY.
Will practice in all the courts. Prompt attention given to all business entrusted to me.

P. E. CASON,
ATTORNEY - AT - LAW,
BURLINGTON, KY,
Practice in all Courts. Promptness guaranteed.

J. G. TOMLIN,
ATTORNEY - AT - LAW,
WALTON, KENTUCKY.
Will practice in the Courts of Boone, Kenton Grant and Gallatin. Prompt attention given t Collections entrusted to him. mch23-93.

W. E. VEST,
County Surveyor,
BURLINGTON, KY.
Is prepared to do all kinds of Surveying. All orders by mail promptly attended to.

J. M. LASSING. N. E. RIDDELL
LASSING & RIDDELL,
ATTORNEYS AT LAW.
BURLINGTON, KY.
Prompt Attention Given to Collections

S. GAINES,
ATTORNEY-AT-LAW,
BURLINGTON, KY.
Will practice in all the courts, and prompt attention given collections. Office—In residence near post-office.

DR. A. B. HARRYMAN,
DENTIST.
Will be in Lawrenceburg, Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday.
At Aurora, Thursday, Friday and Saturday. Practiced for 30 years.
No Poisonous Gasses Used.

S. W. ADAMS,
ATTORNEY - AT - LAW,
ERLANGER, KENTUCKY.
Will practice in the courts of Boone and Kenton counties. Collections and general law practice.

W. E. VEST B. L. RICE.
VEST & RICE,
Real Estate Agents.
Farms Bought, Sold or Exchanged, Money to Loan on Real Estate, Notes bought, sold & Negotiated.
All communications addressed to W. E. VEST, Burlington, Ky.

BOONE CO. DEPOSIT BANK.
(Incorporated 1886.)
CAPITAL, ... $30,000
Surplus and undivided profits, 19,000
Our facilities enable us to receive on favorable terms accounts of individuals and corporations. Collections promptly remitted for at lowest rates

ERLANGER DEPOSIT BANK.
(INCORPORATED 1893.)
ERLANGER, - - KENTUCKY
CAPITAL PAID IN $50,000
SURPLUS, ... $ 3,000
Careful attention given collections and remittances promptly made. Deposit accounts solicited.

Dr. J. L. Adams,
DENTIST,
Walton, Kentucky.
All work executed according to the latest methods of the profession.
Satisfaction - Guaranteed.

W. N. HIND & CO.
FURNITURE, CARPETS, STOVES
213 W. FIFTH ST.
Cincinnati, O.

JOHN L. VEST,
SURVEYOR
WALTON, KY.
Is prepared to do all kinds of work south of Burlington, Ky. Prompt attention given to all mail orders.

DR. TALMAGE'S SERMON.

Death is Ofttimes a Boon to the Afflicted.

All Worry and Temptations Are Blotted Out—To Live Might Mean an Existence of Misery, a Fall From Grace.

Dr. Talmage's text was Isa., lvii., 1; "The righteous is taken away from the evil to come."

We all spend much time in panegyric of longevity. We consider it a great thing to live to be an octogenarian. If any one dies in youth we say, "what a pity!" Dr. Muhlenbergh, in old age, said that the hymn written in early life by his own hand no more expressed his sentiment when it said: "I would not live alway." If one be pleasantly circumstanced he never wants to go. William Cullen Bryant, the great poet, at 82 years of age, standing in my house in a festival group, reading "Thanatopsis" without spectacles was just as anxious to live as when at 18 years of age he wrote that immortal threnody. Cato feared at 80 years of age that he would not live to learn Greek. Monaldesco, at 115 years, writing the history of his time, feared a collapse. Theophrastus, writing a book at 90 years of age, was anxious to live to complete it. Thurlow Weed, at about 86 years of age, found life as great a desirability as when he snuffed out his first politician. Albert Barnes, so well prepared for the next word at 70, said he would rather stay here. So it is all the way down. I suppose that the last time that Methuselah was out of doors in a storm he was afraid of getting his feet wet, lest it shorten his days. Indeed, I some time ago preached a sermon on the blessings of longevity, but I now propose to preach to you about the blessings of an abbreviated earthly existence. If I were an agnostic I would say a man is blessed in proportion to the number of years he can stay on terra firma, because after that he falls off the docks, and if he is ever picked out of the depths it is only to be set up in some morgue of the universe to see if anybody will claim him. If I thought God made man only to last forty or fifty or a hundred years, and then he was to go into annihilation, I would say his chief business ought to be to keep alive, and even in good weather to be very cautious, and to carry an umbrella and take overshoes, and life preservers, and bronze armor, and weapons of defense, lest he fall off into nothingness and obliteration.

But, my friends, you are not agnostics. You believe in immortality and the eternal residence of the righteous in Heaven, and, therefore, I first remark that an abbreviated earthly existence is to be desired, and is a blessing, because it makes one's life-work very compact.

Some men go to business at 7 o'clock in the morning and return at 7 in the evening. Others go at 8 o'clock and return at 12. Others go at 10 and return at 4. I have friends who are ten hours a day in business; others who are five hours; others who are one hour. They all do their work well; they do their entire work and then they retire. Which position do you think the most desirable? You say, other things being equal, the man who is the shortest time detained in business, and who can return home the quickest, is the most blessed.

Now, my friends, why not carry that good sense into the subject of transference from this world? If a person die in childhood, he gets through his work at 9 o'clock in the morning. If he die at 45 years of age, he gets through his work at 12 o'clock noon. If he die at 70 years of age, he gets through his work at 5 o'clock in the afternoon. If he die at 90, he has to toil all the way up to 11 o'clock at night. The sooner we get through our work the better. The harvest all in barrack or barn, the farmer does not sit down in the stubblefield, but, shouldering his scythe, and taking his pitcher from under the tree, he makes a straight line for the old homestead. All we want to be anxious about is to get our work done and well done, and the quicker the better.

Again: There is a blessing in an abbreviated earthly existence in the fact that moral disaster might come upon the man if he tarried longer. Recently a man who had been prominent in churches, and who had been admired for his generosity and kindness everywhere, for forgery was sent to state prison for 15 years. Twenty years ago there was no more probability of that man's committing a commercial dishonesty than that you will commit commercial dishonesty. The number of men who fall into ruin between 50 and 70 years of age is simply appalling. If they had died 50 years before it would have been better for their families. The shorter the voyage the less chance for a cyclone.

There is a wrong theory abroad that if one's youth be right his old age will be right. You might as well say there is nothing wanting for a ship's safety except to get it fully launched on the Atlantic Ocean. I have sometimes asked those who were schoolmates or college mates of some great defaulter, "What kind of a boy was he? What kind of a young man was he?" and they have said, "Why, he was a splendid fellow; I had no idea he would go into such an outrage." The fact is, the great temptation of life sometimes comes far on in middle or old age.

The first time I crossed the Atlantic ocean it was as smooth as a millpond, and I thought the sea captains and the voyagers had slandered the old ocean, and I wrote home an essay for a magazine on "The Smile of the Sea," but I never afterward could have written that thing, for before we got home we got a terrible shaking up. The first voyage of life may be very smooth; the last may be a curoclydon. Many who start life in great prosperity do not end it in prosperity.

The great pressure of temptation comes sometimes in this direction: At about 45 years of age a man's nervous system changes, and some one tells him he must take stimulants to keep himself up, and he takes stimulants to keep himself up until the stimulants keep him down, or a man has been going along for thirty or forty years in unsuccessful business, and here is an opening where by one dishonorable action he can lift himself and lift his family from all financial embarrassment. He attempts to leap the chasm and he falls into it.

Then it is in after life that the great temptation of success comes. If a man make a fortune before 30 years of age, he generally loses it before 40. The solid and the permanent fortunes for the most part do not come to their climax until in midlife or in old age. The most of the bank presidents have white hair. Many of those who have been largely successful have been flung of arrogance or worldliness or dissipation in old age. They may not have lost their integrity, but they have become so worldly and so selfish under the influence of large success that is evident to everybody that their success has been a temporal calamity and an eternal damage. Concerning many people it may be said it seems as if it would have been better if they could have embarked from this life at 20 or 30 years of age.

Do you know the reason why the vast majority of people die before 30? It is because they have not the moral endurance for that which is beyond 30, and a merciful God will not allow them to be put to the fearful strain.

Again: There is a blessing in an abbreviated earthly existence in the fact that one is the sooner taken off the defensive. As soon as one is old enough to take care of himself he is put on his guard. Bolts on the doors to keep out the robbers. Fireproof safes to keep off the flames. Life insurance and fire insurance against accident. Receipts lest you have to pay a debt twice. Lifeboat against shipwreck. Westinghouse air-brake against railroad collision, and hundreds of hands ready to overreach you and take all you have. Defense against cold, defense against heat, defense against sickness, defense against the world's abuse, defense all the way down to the grave, and even the tombstone sometimes is not a sufficient barricade.

If a soldier, who has been on guard, shivering and stung with the cold, pacing up and down the parapet with shouldered musket, is glad when some one comes to relieve guard and he can go inside the fortress, ought not that man to shout for joy who can put down his weapon of earthly defense and go into the king's castle? Who is the more fortunate, the soldier who has to stand guard 12 hours or the man who has to stand guard six hours? We have common sense about everything but religion, common sense about everything but transference from this world.

Again: There is a blessing in an abbreviated earthly existence in the fact that one escapes so many bereavements. The longer we live the more attachments and the more kindred, the more chords to be wounded or rasped or sundered. If a man live on to 70 or 80 years of age, how many graves are cleft at his feet! In that long reach of time father and mother go, brothers and sisters go, children go, grandchildren go, personal friends outside the family circle whom they had loved with a love like that of David and Jonathan. Besides that, some men have a natural trepidation about dissolution, and ever and anon during 40 or 50 or 60 years this horor of their dissolution shoulders through soul and body. Now, suppose the lad goes at 16 years of age? He escapes 50 funerals, 50 caskets, 50 obsequies, 50 awful wrenchings of the heart. It is hard enough for us to bear their departure, but is it not easier for us to bear their departure than for them to stay and bear 50 departures? Shall we not by the grace of God rouse ourselves into a generosity of bereavement which will practically say: "It is hard enough for me to go through this bereavement, but how glad I am that he will never have to go through it."

So I reason with myself, and so you will find it helpful to reason with yourselves. David lost his son. Though David was king he lay on the earth mourning and inconsolable for some time. At this distance of time which do you really think was the one to be congratulated, the short-lived child or the long-lived father? Had David died as early as that child died he would, in the first place, have escaped that particular bereavement, then he would have escaped the worst bereavement of Absalom, his recreant son, and the pursuit of the Philistines, and the fatigues of his military campaign, and the jealousy of Saul, and the perfidy of Ahithophel, and the curse of Shimel, and the destruction of his family at Ziklag, and, above all, he would have escaped the two great calamities of his life, the great sin of uncleanness and murder. David lived to be of vast use to the church and the world, but so far as his own happiness was concerned, does it not seem to you that it would have been better for him to have gone early?

Now, this, my friends, explains some things that to you have been inexplicable. This shows you why, when God takes little children from a household, He is very apt to take the brightest, the most genial, the most sympathetic, the most talented. Why? It is because that kind of nature suffers the most when it does suffer, and is most liable to temptation. God saw the tempest sweeping up from the Caribbean, and He put the delicate craft into the first harbor. "Taken away from the evil to come."

Again, my friends, there is a blessing in an abbreviated earthly existence, in the fact that it puts one sooner in the center of things. All astronomers, infidel as well as Christian, agree in believing that the universe swings around some great center. Any one who has studied the earth and studied the heavens know that God's favorite figure in geometry is a circle. When God put forth His hand to create the universe He did not strike that hand at right angles, but He waved it in a circle, and kept on waving in a circle until systems and constellations and galaxies and all worlds took that motion. Our planet swinging around the sun, other planets swinging around other suns, but somewhere a great hub, around which the great wheel of the universe turns. Now the center is Heaven. That is the capital of the universe. That is the great metropolis of immensity.

Does not our common sense teach us that, in matters of study, it is better for us to move out from the center toward the circumference, rather than to be on the circumference, where our world now is? We are like those who study the American continent while standing on the Atlantic beach. The way to study the continent is to cross it, or go to the heart of it. Our standpoint in this world is defective. We are at the wrong end of the telescope. The best way to study a piece of machinery is, not to stand on the doorstep and try to look in, but to go in with the engineer and take our place right amid the saws and the cylinders. We wear our eyes ont, and our brain out, from the fact that we are studying under such great disadvantages. Millions of dollars for observatories to study things about the moon, about the sun, about the rings of Saturn, about transits and occulations and eclipses, simply because our studio, our observatory, is poorly situated. We are down in the cellar trying to study the palace of the universe, while our departed Christian friends have gone upstairs amid the skylights to study. Now, when one can sooner get to the center of things, is he not to be congratulated? Who wants to be always in the freshman class? Who study God in this world by the Biblical photograph of Him; but we all know we can, in five minutes of interview with a friend, get a more accurate idea of him than we can by studying him years through pictures or words. A little child that died last night knows more of God than all Andover, and all Princeton, and all Bangor, and all Brunswick, and all Edinburgh, and all the theological institutes in Christendom. Is it not better to go up to the very headquarters of knowledge?

Does not our common sense teach us that it is better to be at the center than to be clear out on the rim of the wheel, holding nervously fast to the tire, lest we be suddenly hurled into light and eternal felicity? Through all kinds of optical instruments trying to peer in through the cracks and the keyholes of Heaven—afraid that both doors of the celestial mansion will be swung wide open before our entranced vision—reading about among the apothecary shops of the world, wondering if this is good for rheumatism, and that is good for neuralgia, and something else is good for a bad cough, lest we be suddenly ushered into a land of everlasting health, where the inhabitant never says, "I am sick."

What fools we all are to prefer the circumference to the center. What a dreadful thing it would be if we should be suddenly ushered from this wintry world into the May-time orchards of Heaven, and if our pauperism of sin and sorrow should be suddenly broken up by a presentation of an emperor's estate surrounded by parks, with springing fountains and paths up and down which angels of God walk two and two. We are all like persons standing on the cold steps of the national picture gallery in London, under umbrella in the rain, afraid to go in amid the Turners and the Titians and the Raphels. I come to them and say, "Why don't you go inside the gallery?" "Oh," they say, "we don't know whether we can get in." I say, "don't you see the door is open?" "Yes," they say, "but we have been so long on these cold steps, we are so attached to them we don't like to leave." "But," I say, "it is so much brighter and more beautiful in the gallery, you had better go in." "No," they say, "we know exactly how it is out here, but we don't know exactly how it is inside."

So we stick to this world as though we preferred cold drizzle to warm habitation, discord to cantata, sack cloth to royal purple—so though we preferred a piano with four or five of the keys out of tune to an instrument fully attuned—as though earth and heaven had exchanged apparel, and earth had taken on bridal array and heaven had gone into deep mourning, all its waters stagnant, all its harps broken, all chalices cracked at the dry wells, all the lawns sloping to the river plowed with graves, with dead angels under the furrow. Oh, I want to break up my own infatuation, and I want to break up your infatuation with this world.

If the spirit of this sermon is true, how consoled you ought to feel about members of your family that went early. "Taken from the evil to come," this book says. What a fortunate escape they had! How glad we ought to feel that they will never have to go through the struggles which we have had to go through. They had just time enough to get out of the cradle and run up on the springtime hills of this world and see how it looked, and then they started for a better stopping place. They were like ships that put in at St. Helena, staying there long enough to let passengers go up and see the barracks of Napoleon's captivity and then hoist sail for the port of their own native land. They only took this world in transit. It is hard for us, but it is blessed for them.

And if the spirit of this sermon is true, then we ought not to go around sighing and groaning when another year is going, but we ought to go down on one knee by the milestone and see the letters and thank God that we are 365 miles near home. We ought not to go around with morbid feelings about our health or about anticipated demise. He ought to be living not according to that old maxim which I used to hear in my boyhood, that you must live as though every day were the last; you must live as though you were to live forever, for you will. Do not be nervous lest you have to move out of a shanty into an Alhambra.

AT LONESOMEHURST.

An Agent Flags a Train Just to Have Some Company.

Not long ago a new station agent was appointed at one of the small suburban towns. The said town has tolerably fair street car accommodations. Hence the local trains on the railroad do not stop except upon a signal. The agent, who is not very bright, was fully instructed in his duties and given to understand that whenever he had a passenger he was to flag the train.

He attended to the duties of his office in a proper way, but he seemed to have an impression that everything was not right, inasmuch as he was doing no passenger business for the road. He had been in office three days and not a passenger showed up to gladden his weary heart.

On the evening of the third day he came to the conclusion that something must be done to make his job secure. In his opinion, it would not do to have trains whistling by and he standing all the day idle. He would break the monotony of the situation at all costs.

As a local drew near, about the hour of dusk, he took his position on the platform with a red lantern in his hand. He waved it vigorously, and the train came to a standstill. The conductor alighted and looked up and down the platform, but no passenger was in sight. There was no one but the agent, and he looked supremely happy, as the passenger train had stopped.

"Where's your passengers?" asked the conductor.

"There ain't none," said the agent.

"What did you signal for?"

"I just thought maybe you had some one to get off. Anyhow, it's so dern lonesome here that if this corporation don't stop all trains at this station regularly I'm goin' to throw up the job. It'll be sooner be in a lighthouse. That would be lively. Ye kin go on now."—Cincinnati Commercial-Tribune.

AND SHE NEVER KNEW.

A Horrid Man Wanted the Girls to Tell Her.

There had been several good speakers before Miss Susan Bloomfield pulled down her vest, ran a finger around the edge of her collar and advanced to the edge of the platform. She was a large woman, with moles upon her chin and cheeks and a complexion like a piece of breakfast bacon; but she had a convincing way of shaking the index finger of her right hand, and she was frequently applauded by her enthusiastic sisters.

After she had dwelt at length upon the injustice of depriving women of the privilege of suffrage and had held man up as an inferior animal, whose speedy extermination was all that could possibly save the world from going to destruction, she exclaimed:

"And now they want to tell us what we must wear! (Laughter.) They seek to measure our skirts for us and to dictate the style of our sleeves! (Groans.) Shall we submit tamely to this oppression? (Cries of "No, no!") Shall we permit these bipeds, who, according to one of their own number, have descended from monkeys (hilarious shouts) to foist their ideas of beauty upon us? And this brings me to the main point of my argument. What makes woman beautiful? That is the question—what makes her lovely? What—"

But at this point a meek-looking man who had been listening quietly to the roasting of his brothers arose and said:

"Girls, if any of you know, don't keep it back. Tell her. Don't let her go away from here without knowing, if you can help it."

He then grabbed his hat and ran, and the meeting broke up in wild confusion.—Cleveland Leader.

In Black and White.

Black and white combinations are immensely fashionable, and all black toilets have a distinction that makes the fact that they are smart more than ever acceptable. One that I remember as being worn one afternoon on the golf links was of black crepe de chine, the whole gown covered with broad bands of rich black guipure lace, set in both directions, leaving, in this way, but small squares of the original crepe foundation. The black lace was enhanced by wonderfully interwoven threads of silver, the underskirt being of black crepe on a soft silk foundation, so that the frock was mysteriously crinping and noiseless. The skirt trailed a bit over the grass, and the pouchy bodice was brightened by a sleader vest of heavy silver and jet embroidery on white satin, a black lisse bow flaring out under the chin, and guipure epaulets broadening the shoulders, which, with the arms, were loosely defined by the smooth sleeves of unlined black lace, silver elaboridered. A bit of black satin encircled the waist, and a hat of black satin straw was heavy with drooping black plumes.—St. Louis Republic.

Stuffed Tomatoes.

Stuffed tomatoes are excellent. Select as many large, firm, ripe tomatoes as there are persons to be served, and cut them in halves. Heat a little butter in a porcelain-line saucepan and lay the tomatoes in it with the flesh side down. Let them fry two or three minutes. Make a stuffing of one small shallot, chopped fine (a small white onion will do); one clove of garlic—no more—also minced; the yolks of two hard-boiled eggs, a tablespoonful of equal parts of chopped chives, parsley and two salt anchovies, freshened and chopped fine. Mix all these ingredients thoroughly together, stirring in a tablespoonful of butter; season with a little pepper and salt if necessary. Lay the halves of fried tomato on a buttered tin, flesh or cooked side up, and cover each one of them with one-sixth of the amount of stuffing prepared. Dredge a few fine bread crumbs and sprinkle a few drops of melted butter over each, and put them in a hot oven to bake ten or fifteen minutes. Place them on a dry, hot platter and serve.—N. Y. Tribune.

AGRICULTURAL HINTS

DOGS MADE USEFUL.

In Belgium and Holland They Are Made to Draw Milk Carts.

But now I have come over to Belgium and Holland, and I see things here that I could not see in the states. I want to tell you how a great many of the vehicles on the streets in the cities are drawn. They are drawn by dogs, and I have seen as high as five good-sized dogs hitched to one cart. Nearly all the milk carts and bread carts are drawn by dogs. The carts are made like an American handcart, with two heavy wheels, about as heavy as the front wheels of a narrow-tired American wagon. The dogs are sometimes hitched in front of the cart and sometimes under the cart. When there are but one or two, they are hitched so that they walk right under the bed and between the wheels, often the axle of the cart has an arch in it so that the dogs walk right in the arch. The dogs usually wear good leather collars, made in a harness shop, and the traces are fastened to the legs or the body of the cart.

PEDDLING MILK IN BELGIUM.

The picture is one made from a photograph taken in Brussels, Belgium. The milk is usually retailed by women. It is surprising to see some of the large loads the dogs draw. It is a common thing to see two men or women sitting upon the cart with a half-dozen cans in the back of the bed, and going along the street.

They have another very common method of doing work on their farms that we rarely see in the states—that is, with cattle. It is a common thing to see a man plow his beets or other crops with one ox or with a cow hitched to a shovel-plow. When they work an animal single they have a collar and harness, and a bridle with a bit that goes in the mouth, the same as we work a horse. Sometimes you see two animals hitched together—a cow and a bull, or two cows. To me it looks very much out of place to see two old milch cows hitched to a big load of wheat, but it is common here.

These people here know what it is to work. They cut every bit of their grain with the hand sickle. They raise magnificent crops of everything. Everything depends on manure, and nothing goes to waste. They are doing here what we in the states call intensive farming, but I don't think that there is anything in the states like this. A man can't come over here and not learn some valuable lessons. We have seen nothing like it in England or any place we have been. The tillage is better and the crops are better and I feel quite safe in saying that they are better farmers than the English farmers. But these men are very poor breeders. Their horses and cattle are bad. The Belgium cattle are very much like the Holstein cattle, but instead of being black and white, many are red and white. Some are just like the Holstein cattle. I have got some interesting lessons from the dairy industry of this country, but shall do a good bit more in the next few weeks in that line.—P. F. Pfarr, in Ohio Farmer.

FACTS ABOUT GARLIC.

Most of That Used in This Country Comes from Italy.

About three-quarters of the garlic used in this country is imported from Italy. It comes in hampers containing about 110 pounds each. Garlic is raised in this country in Connecticut, in Louisiana, in Texas and in New Mexico. All garlic, both imported and American, is put up in strings of bunches, something like the bunches in which onions were once commonly sold in this country, but much larger. American garlic is shipped in crates and barrels; some from the far southwest comes in long cylindrical baskets.

Garlic is sold by the pound or by the single bulb, which is sold for a penny. In its commercial form, whole and dry, garlic does not yield the strong smell for which it is famous. In a wholesale produce establishment, where garlic was stacked up in quantities, there was no noticeable odor from it. But if one of the several smaller bulbs of which each root is composed and which are called cloves of garlic be broken off and broken in two the powerful odor becomes perceptible.

The aggregate consumption of garlic in this country is large, and our exports of it to South American countries, which include American garlic and imported garlic reshipped, amount to enough to be reckoned in tons.—N. Y. Sun.

Solids in Pure Milk.

Many people are surprised to learn that milk which is liquid has a larger proportion of solid contents than have many articles of food. Milk averages 85 per cent. of solid matter, of which a considerable part is albumen. It is this which congulates with heat, and stiffer when rennet is used. Potatoes are 80 per cent. moisture, though when the potato is cooked the starch in it expands, making it seem much heavier food than it is. The solid of the potato is mainly starch. That of milk is divided between caseine, butter fats and sugar, the last of which is found in whey, which, even though it be soured, shows by that fact that it has had some sugar in it.

KEEP ON AGITATING.

It's the Only Way to Arouse Interest in Good Roads.

The difficulty in arousing interest in the cause of improved highways has often surprised those who were convinced of their importance, and has sometimes discouraged them. It is ten years, now, since the league instituted its active and aggressive good roads campaign. Great results have been achieved, but there is yet much to be done. There are still extensive rural districts in which the people are apathetic, in spite of the efforts of the press and of organized clubs all over the country.

In the more sparsely settled districts, and especially in many parts of the west, it is claimed that activity in railroad construction has prevented expenditure of much energy and capital in building good roads. The people and the state legislatures are interested in the railway problem; they are agitating for railroad facilities—working to secure them—and until this is accomplished the question of better wagon roads is in abeyance. In the older states, such as Massachusetts and New Jersey, where so much has been done, the growth of railroad building has nearly reached its maximum, so that with their denser population they are in a position to take hold of their common roads.

But even allowing for all this, it is proving a slow task to awaken all classes of the population to the positive values to them of better roads. In commenting on the conditions that exist in Kansas, the Topeka Capitol says that "the farmers of such states as Kansas, where the roads are as bad as they possibly can be, and where the loss is heaviest to the producers who are obliged to stay out of the market during an important part of the year because of impassable roads, apparently pay no attention to this all-important subject. It is the conservative and careful estimate of the government at Washington that the people of the United States lose every year no less than $600,000,000 by reason of impassable or defective roads, the loss being mainly borne by the farmers. It requires the entire wheat crop every year to pay the loss to farmers occasioned by bad roads. This is no fanciful estimate, but is below rather than above the facts. Students of road making who are familiar with the results of the excellent roads of old world countries estimate that bad roads cost the western farmers 25 per cent. of everything he buys. There is in reality no subject of more importance to the farmers than road improvement, and there is none in which the average farmer takes less apparent interest. No state in the union has more to gain by active road reform, beginning with the adoption of wide tires, than Kansas. It has been profitable elsewhere to remit the road tax of all farmers using wide tires, and no doubt the same policy would work to advantage in this state."

The present time is a good one to increase the agitation for highway improvement. If the matter is brought forcibly to the attention of the farmers, they may be made to realize its direct importance to them. Crops are abundant and had ready sale. With the coming wet weather and deteriorating roads will come an object lesson which should be used by the press and all good roads advocates to strengthen their arguments. The farmer can then count in dollars and cents the loss entailed on him from inability to get to market easily and cheaply. He is in a better position now than he has been for some time to undertake the work. No other investment will pay him so well.

In some sections these facts are appreciated and every effort is being made to secure road improvements. County Commissioner Clark, in Pennsylvania, says: "I have never seen in Allegheny county such enthusiasm as there is over this movement. Everybody is interested. The law is well received everywhere, and people go out of their way to get the facts before us. The office is crowded daily with delegations, and the people meet us when they know we are coming and furnish all the information they can, even, as in the case of the Windgap road, getting up plans at their own expense." Such conditions offer great encouragement to further work, and should prove a strong incentive.—Good Roads.

FEEDING THE ORCHARD.

How to Improve the Physical Quality of Poor Soils.

To provide vegetable matter and to improve the physical quality of poor soils, apply barnyard manure once in four years in fall or winter at the rate of five or ten tons per acre. To aid in the decomposition of vegetable matter and to insure a sufficiency of lime and plant food, apply lime at the rate of 25 bushels per acre once in five years. To provide, in addition, an abundance of all forms of the available plant food at the time of need for development of tree and fruit, apply annually chemical fertilizers in the following proportions: Nitrate of soda, 100 pounds; South Carolina rock superphosphate, 100 pounds; ground bone, 200 pounds; muriate of potash, 200 pounds. The amounts to be applied depend on the character of the soils, the kind of fruit and the age and vigor of the trees. By the introduction of clover we have a plant admirably adapted to cheaply supply nitrogeneous vegetable matter for orchards, and its growth is to be recommended instead of barnyard manure.—Director Voorhees, New Jersey Experiment Station.

Loading the Farm Wagon.

The custom of loading farm wagons so that the heaviest weight is upon the front wheels is all wrong and adds materially to the draft, says an exchange. The heaviest weight should be carried by the hind wheels. This has been proven by official and careful test.

The separator takes out all the fat and makes more butter.

HUMOROUS.

—"What are all those ribbons hanging on the chandelier?" "Those are not ribbons; they are neckties I've pulled off different men when I was learning to ride a wheel."—Chicago Record.

—Ferguson—"It says here that no foreigner is allowed to be 48 hours on Turkish territory without a pass." Nixon—"It must be tough on the railroads that have to issue them."—Boston Transcript.

—Mr. Dunham—"I have called, sir, to tell you that your daughter, Miss Fannie, and I love each other very dearly. I want to ask you for her." Old Millyuns—"Well, you'll have to wait awhile. There's no vacancy in the store now that I could put you into."—Cleveland Leader.

—Raggles—"Wot yer doin', Weary, wid de telescope?" Weary—"Lookin' fer work." Raggles—"Lookin' fer work? Wot fer?" Weary—"So's I kin avoid it. I wuz jest sizin' up de houses 'round here ter see ef I can't strike one dat keeps a gaserline can instid uv a wood pile."—Judge.

—"Fwat's this I hear about you sonskin' a Chinyman wid a brick?" asked Mr. Hogan. "Niver let me hear av th' like again. Always br-reak a brick in two and soak your man twice. You young Americuns are much too wasteful."—Indianapolis Journal.

—Visitor—"What! He is three months old and you haven't named him yet?" Mrs. Wheeler—"No! You see, it's this way: I want to name him after my bicycle, and John insists on naming him after his. I guess we will have to compromise and name him after the wheel mother rides."—Puck.

—"Yesterday," said Jabson, "I refused a supplicant woman a request for a small sum of money, and in consequence of my act I passed a sleepless night. The tones of her voice were ringing in my ears the whole time." "Your softness of heart does you credit," said Mabson; "who was the woman?" "My wife."—Detroit Free Press.

POPE LEO XIII.'S BIRTHDAY.

Carpineto in the Apennines, the Pecci Palace and the Pope's Bedroom.

Count Ludovico Pecci, nephew of Leo XIII., and his wife, Donna Vittoria, have given, in honor of the pope's name day, a great reception at Carpineto, the birthplace of the Pontiff, where they live. Carpineto is a mountain village with about 5,000 inhabitants, and is picturesquely situated on the top of a peak of the Lepini mountains. Being surrounded by points much higher, and snow-capped at some seasons, it is really very beautiful. It is far from railways. One has to drive five hours in the diligence in order to reach it, and it has thus kept much of its primitive character. The inhabitants are very poor, mostly shepherds. The women, starting early in the morning, sometimes go 15 miles to gather wood. When they are employed in cultivating the land they do not earn more than four or five pence a day.

The present village was, in the middle ages, a rather large city. It was, with its surroundings, a duchy, first under the Cactani, to which family belonged Boniface VIII., who had his ears boxed by a Sciarra-Colonna at Anagni, and later under the Aldobrandini, to which belonged Clement VIII. For two centuries, however, the most important family there has been that of the Pecci, although they originally came from Siena. The Pecci town is the only building which can be called a palace, and half of the environs. From their palace, which is built on the highest ground the outlook is grand toward the mountains and picturesque looking down over the roofs of the medieval town. The interior is much more sumptuous than one would expect in that half-wild district. There are vast anterooms and magnificent halls, hung with tapestry and large family portraits.

The portrait of the pope's mother represents her as handsome and dignified, and that of his father, in his uniform of colonel (he served under Napoleon I.) as a good-looking man, in whose features can be found traces resembling his celebrated son. Leo is also there. The likeness is an exceedingly good one—more than can be said of his brother, Cardinal Giuseppe Pecci, who died in 1890 at the age of 83, a rigid Jesuit, who had a rooted objection to posing in any form for his picture. Among the portraits there of persons not belonging to the family, is one of Duke Loubat, an American ennobled by Leo XIII., who has erected three or four statues of the pope in different churches.

The room occupied by the present Pontiff when he resided in Carpineto is still called "Camera di Monsignore," and has not been disturbed. It is very modestly furnished, having a little iron bed with curtains, a small writing desk near a window, a picture of the Madonna, a portrait of the Blessed Margaret Pecci, an ancestress of his, and a few chairs.—Pall Mall Gazette.

Where Mustaches Are Barred.

Time was in England when the employes of banks might not wear beards or mustaches. This restriction has in almost every instance long been removed. One exception still remains. The historic house of Coutts, where royalty keeps its private accounts, declines to alter the rule of a bygone age, and visitors to its ancient walls will note that its employes present a remarkably trim and smart appearance. The younger clerks yearning for those hirsute adornments so dear to budding adolescence have recently memorialized the partners on this subject, but, alas! without success.—Detroit Free Press.

A Good Guess.

"I'm opposed to horse racing. I think the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals should step in and put a stop to it."

"Well, old man, I'm sorry for you that's all I can say."

"Sorry for me? What do you mean?"

"Oh, of course you had your money on the wrong horse."—Cleveland Leader.

A HELPLESS FARMER.

William Stimpson Stricken with Paralysis of His Lower Limbs —Caused by Overwork.

From the New Era, Greensburg, Ind.

Many of our readers may remember an item in this paper a year ago last fall which stated that Mr. William Stimpson, a well-to-do farmer, living near Rugby, Ind., had been stricken with paralysis of the lower limbs, and his recovery was doubtful.

The case which was an unusually severe and complicated one has at last been entirely cured, to the utmost surprise and joy of Mr. Stimpson and his family.

Mr. Stimpson was pleased to relate to a reporter the particulars regarding his case, and his subsequent recovery.

"A year ago last fall," began Mr. Stimpson, "I did a large amount of work. My hired help left me in the middle of corn cutting and I myself, the fall work myself, doing an unusually large amount of work. I put up several hundred shocks of fodder, and also husked all my corn. To accomplish this I had to work early and late.

"About the 1st of December, as I was getting my fodder about done, I suffered a stroke of paralysis, which the physician said was brought on by excessive labor. My left limb was entirely helpless and my right limb was fast becoming so. My physician became uneasy, and after attending upon me for a week or so, he brought me a box of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People, saying that he believed they would do me more good than anything which he knew of, as he had used them with great success in a case very similar to mine where all other remedies had failed. The case in question was that of L. Phillips, of Petersville.

"About the time I began taking the second box of these pills a decided change was noticed, and when I had taken two more boxes we discovered that I was actually getting well. You can probably imagine what a relief and feeling of gladness this was to me, after being confined to my bed for nearly two months. Well, I kept on taking the pills according to directions, until I had consumed nine boxes of them, which completely cured me.

"I am sound and well to-day, with not a sign of the returning affliction and can affirm that Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People did me a wonderful good and probably saved me from the grave."

To allay all doubt as to the truth of his statement, Mr. Stimpson made out the following sworn affidavit:

STATE OF INDIANA, } ss.
COUNTY OF BARTHOLOMEW, }

Sworn to and subscribed before me, a Justice of the Peace, in and for said county in said State. ABNER NORMAN,
Justice of the Peace.

The New Era was also informed that Mrs. Charles Williams, of the same neighborhood, had been cured of rheumatism, and Henry Johnson, of Hartford, who was troubled with neuralgia, was also cured by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. It seems that this remedy is in great demand in that neighborhood.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People contain, in a condensed form, all the elements necessary to give new life and richness to the blood and restore shattered nerves. They are also a specific for troubles peculiar to females, such as suppressions, irregularities and all forms of weakness. They build up the blood, and restore the glow of health to pale and sallow cheeks. In men they effect a radical cure in all cases arising from mental worry, overwork or excesses of whatever nature. These pills are sold in boxes (never in loose bulk) at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50, and may be had of all druggists, or direct by mail from Dr. Williams' Medicine Company, Schenectady, N. Y.

PARROTS HAD THE LAUGH.

Instructor of Infants Meets Difficulties in the Park Zoo.

She was a prim, close-fitted looking young woman in a dark dress, and as she walked through the Lincoln park zoo with a body guard of ten mild little girls explaining matters generally, the monkeys yawned and murmured with that tired feeling:

"Kindergarten—seen 'em before."

She paused before the parrot's cage, adjusted her eyeglasses on her classic nose, and prepared to enlighten the innocent mind of youth.

"These are parrots, girls. Mamie may spell parrot."

"P-a-r-r-o-t," spelled one of the small maidens.

"Rot,' Mamie, 'rot,'" said the fair Minerva, serenely.

"Rot, Mamie, rot, rot, rot," yelled the little gray parrot that laughs, and a sympathetic chorus took up the refrain. Minerva reddened, and the maidens giggled.

"How annoying!" she went on. "These birds, girls, have the power of articulation and if carefully instructed are capable of almost perfect enunciation; but while possessing this gift of mimicry, they have no reason to guide the import of their utterances as the human consciousness has, and consequently are unable to converse intelligently, being simply echoes so far as speaking is concerned."

The big green and red parrot stood on another leg and eyed Minerva with microscopic scrutiny.

"You understand," she continued, "they have no mind and consequently no personality. When discovered in their natural state they are as other birds; but upon being associated with human beings they rapidly acquire the use of the peculiarly shaped larynx, which, as science tells us, enables them to articulate. The theory has been propounded that at the time of protoplasm—"

But Polly felt ill with baleful resentment.

"O, fate!" he broke out. "You ain't so nice."

And the gray parrot laughed in diabolical glee as the kindergarteners were hastily led where the canaries warbled.—Chicago Tribune.

AN INSPIRATION.

She Would Show Her Strawberry Mark for Identification.

"There," she said as she finally got the check properly indorsed, and handed it to the paying teller; "I'd like to have the money, please."

The young man scanned it carefully, and then looked at her.

"Is there anything wrong with it?" she inquired, apprehensively.

"No; I am sure it's all right. Only we have our rules here, and before we can let you have the money you will have to be identified."

"But the friends I am visiting took a trip into the country with my mother this morning."

"Then you will have to wait till to-morrow."

"But I need the money to do some shopping with this afternoon."

"I'm very sorry."

"It's absolutely necessary to be identified?" she asked, plaintively.

"Absolutely."

"Well, I suppose I can manage it. Will the bank be open for an hour?"

"Yes."

"Then I'll hurry home and put on my evening gown. It's a great deal of trouble, but it's the only way, and I'm glad I happened to think of it."

"I don't quite understand."

"Why, I have a strawberry mark on my right shoulder; and everybody who has read anything at all knows that there isn't any better identifying mark than a strawberry mark."—Washington Star.

As To His Photograph.

Cholly—I don't think the photographer caught me expression, do you?

She—I don't see any.—Puck.

FRENCH MENUS.

They Are a Thing of the Past, and English Is Now Used.

A gentleman who had noted the tendency upon the part of the restaurateurs of late to have their menu entirely in English, asked one of them what brought about the change from the old way, when French was the popular form for every menu in first-class establishments. He said:

"A change of time and a change of taste. There was a time when restaurants could charge very big prices. It was in good times, and people didn't care much what they paid so that the service was up to the very best. Then we put the bill of fare in French as a gentle deception. Few could read French, and when they ordered pommes de terre they were under the impression they were getting a French dish when, in fact, they were getting plain everyday murphies with the jackets on.

"I remember many funny cases. At one time I had a couple of young people at a table and at the close of the meal they ordered cafe au lait, just because it brought up the close of the menu. When they were served with coffee and cream they were surprised, and the waiter said the girl said to her beau: 'Well, I know enough French now to know that isn't raw pork is coffee. It won't take me long to learn French, Willie, if you keep coming here.'

"Another thing. In the old days the French was a gentle deception. A man who ordered pommes de terre, say, was willing to pay a quarter for them, but he would have kicked like a mule to be called upon to pay that much for potatoes. People are eating roast beef and steak now, and French dishes don't go. I guess the nation is getting more and more to have pride in America and all things that are American."—Cincinnati Commercial Telegraph.

Deafness Cannot Be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, O.

Sold by Druggists, 75c.

Hall's Family Pills are the best.

Helpless.

Mamma—Well, Henry, Laura told me this morning that Mr. Logginhalls intended to call on you to-day for the purpose of asking you for your hand. Did you see him?

Papa—Yes, he called.

"And what did you say?"

"What could I say? Isn't he one of the greatest orators in the country? You didn't expect me to commit suicide, did you?"—Cleveland Leader.

Slain by Poison.

Not the poison that the covert assassin administers in the drink, the food, or some other guise, but the poison of malaria shortens the lives of myriads. There is a safe and certain antidote, Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, which not only fortifies the system against malaria, but roots out its seeds when they have germinated. Dyspepsia, constipation, rheumatic, liver and kidney trouble are conquered by the Bitters.

A Careful Borrower.

"Do you ever run after a ferryboat only to find that it was coming in?"

"Oh, yes, and at the time I was courting my wife and thought I was winning out in a hard fight, she and all her relatives were cautioned in my effort to make my escape impossible."—Philadelphia North American.

Largest in the World.

The Star tobacco factory at St. Louis is the largest in the world. The buildings are in two rows, 2400 feet on Park and 2400 feet on Folsom avenue, with a total width of 271 feet. You will discover the reason for this marvelous growth if you give Star plug tobacco a trial.

I count life just to try the soul's strength on.—Robert Browning.

Trifle with sprains and they cripple. Use St. Jacobs Oil promptly. It cures.

The man who flirts with servant girls has domestic tastes.—Chicago News.

Bruises go when St. Jacobs Oil is used. No sign remains.

THE MARKETS.

	CINCINNATI.	Nov. 1.
LIVE STOCK—Cattle, common to	$ 2 50	@	3 25
Select butchers	3 90	@	4 40
CALVES—Fair to good light	5 75	@	6 00
HOGS—Common	3 00	@	3 35
Mixed packers	3 25	@	3 55
Light shippers	3 50	@	3 70
SHEEP—Choice	3 10	@	3 65
LAMBS—Good to choice	5 00	@	5 35
FLOUR—Winter family	3 00	@	3 80
GRAIN—Wheat—No. 2 red		@	97
No. 3 Red		@	93
Corn—No. 2 mixed		@	25½
Oats—No. 2 mixed		@	21½
Rye—No. 2		@	47
HAY—Prime to choice	8 75	@	9 00
PROVISIONS—Mess pork		@	8 75
Lard—Prime steam		@	4 10
BUTTER—Choice dairy	14	@	18
Prime to choice creamery		@	25
APPLES—Per bbl	1 75	@	2 50
POTATOES—Per bbl	1 75	@	2 00
NEW YORK.
FLOUR—Winter patent	3 00	@	3 25
No. 2 red		@	1 05½
CORN—No. 2 mixed		@	32½
RYE		@	53
OATS—Mixed		@	24½
PORK—New mess	8 50	@	9 00
LARD—Western		@	4 50
CHICAGO.
FLOUR—Winter patents	3 00	@	3 10
GRAIN—Wheat—No. 2 red		@	96¾
No. 2 Chicago spring		@	89
CORN—No. 2		@	26
OATS—No. 2		@	18¾
PORK—Mess	7 50	@	7 75
LARD—Steam		@	4 20
BALTIMORE.
FLOUR—Family	4 00	@	4 85
GRAIN—Wheat—No. 2	1 00½	@	1 01¾
Southern Wheat	95	@	1 01
Corn—Mixed	31½	@	31½
Oats—Mixed	20½	@	22
Rye—No. 2 western		@	54
CATTLE—First quality	4 10	@	4 40
HOGS—Western	4 65	@	4 75
INDIANAPOLIS.
GRAIN—Wheat—No. 2		@	93¾
Corn—No. 2 mixed		@	23½
Oats—No. 2 mixed		@	19½
LOUISVILLE.
FLOUR—Winter patent	3 75	@	4 00
GRAIN—Wheat—No. 2 red		@	93
Corn—Mixed		@	28
Oats—Mixed		@	20½
PORK—Mess		@	9 50
LARD—Steam		@	4 45

Pictures Tell the Story

Of how everything looks in South Dakota as the result of the great crops of the last three years. The Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul Railway company has had photographs taken of actual farm scenes in South Dakota and has had them reproduced in an attractive eight-page illustrated circular, which it is distributing free of cost to all who are looking for new homes in the most fertile section of the Middle Northwest.

Send your address to H. F. Hunter, Immigration agent for South Dakota, 201 Dearborn street, Chicago, Ill., or to W. E. Powell, General Immigration agent, 410 Old Colony Building, Chicago, Ill.

A Contrast.

Uncle Mose—Whad yo' doin' wif white shoes on, yo' triflin' black rascal?

Young Mose—I wuz jes' tryin' on my brack shoes. I might ez well gone barefooted fer all de way dey showed up.—Judge.

Take the Air Line

To St. Louis and the West, 53 miles the shortest from Louisville, makes the quickest time, Pullman Sleepers, Parlor and Dining Cars. For complete information address J. P. Maffett, Traveling Passenger Agent, Knoxville, Tenn. R. A. Campbell, General Passenger Agent, St. Louis, Mo.

Slow Pay.

Passenger—This is a very slow road.

Brakeman—Very.

"Do you suppose it pays?"

"Yes; pays as it goes."—Up-to-Date.

Do You Play Whist, Euchre or Other Games?

The F. F. V. playing card is better than any 50 cent card on the market. Send 15 cents for one deck or 25 cents for two decks (stamps or currency) to C. B. Ryan, Asst Gen'l Pass'r Agt. C. & O. Ry., Cincinnati, O.

The man who is always telling how particular he is about his work, is often so particular that he gets nothing done.—Washington Democrat.

To Cure a Cold in One Day

Take Laxative Bromo Quinine Tablets. All druggists refund money if it fail to cure. 25c.

Nothing is more pathetic than for a real homely girl to get the idea that she is good looking.—Washington Democrat.

Cure your cough with Hale's Honey of Horehound and Tar.

Ayer's Toothache Drops Cure in one minute.

Lots of men find out two or three things about the Bible and then they put in their time arguing.—Washington Democrat.

Can't bend. Got lumbago. Don't try. Try St. Jacobs Oil. It cures

Nearly every man at some time has let his full beard grow.—Washington Democrat.

With a rub St. Jacobs Oil
Subdues an ache and cures it.

Men are like pins—no good when they lose their heads.—Chicago News.

MRS. PETERSON'S STORY.

I have suffered with womb trouble over fifteen years. I had inflammation, enlargement and displacement of the womb.

The doctor wanted me to take treatments, but I had just begun taking Mrs. Pinkham's Compound, and my husband said I had better wait and see how much good that would do me. I was so sick when I began with her medicine, I could hardly be on my feet. I had the backache constantly, also headache, and was so dizzy. I had heart trouble, it seemed as though my heart was in my throat at times choking me. I could not walk around and I could not lie down, for then my heart would beat so fast I would feel as though I was smothering. I had to sit up in bed nights in order to breathe. I was so weak I could not do anything.

I have now taken several bottles of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and used three packages of Sanative Wash, and can say I am perfectly cured. I do not think I could have lived long if Mrs. Pinkham's medicine had not helped me.—Mrs. Joseph Peterson, 513 East St., Warren, Pa.

Dr. Ayer's

is the name to remember when buying Sarsaparilla. Dr. Ayer's Sarsaparilla has been curing people right along for nearly 50 years. That's why it is acknowledged to be the sovereign Sarsaparilla. It is the original and the standard. The record of the remedy is without a rival,—a record that is written in the blood of thousands, purified by its healing power.

"I nursed a lady who was suffering from blood poisoning and must have contracted the disease from her; for I had four large sores, or ulcers, break out on my person. I doctored for a long time, both by external application and with various blood medicines; but in spite of all that I could do, the sores would not heal. At last I purchased six bottles of Ayer's Sarsaparilla, thinking I would give it a thorough trial. Before the six bottles had been taken, the ulcers were healed, the skin sound and natural, and my health better than it had been for years. I have been well ever since. I had rather have one bottle of Dr. J. C. Ayer's Sarsaparilla than three of any other kind."—Mrs. A. F. Taylor, Englevale, N. Dak.

Get Ayer's Sarsaparilla.

$1.00 A YEAR FOR .... DEMOREST'S FAMILY MAGAZINE.

The subscription price of DEMOREST'S is reduced to $1.00 a Year.

Demorest's Family Magazine is more than a Fashion Magazine, although it gives the very latest home and foreign fashions each month; this is only one of its many valuable features—it has something for each member of the family, for every department of the household, and its varied contents are of the highest grade, making it, pre-eminently, The Family Magazine of the World. It furnishes the best thoughts of the most interesting and most progressive writers of the day, and is abreast of the times in everything—Art, Literature, Science, Society Affairs, Fiction, Household Matters, Sports, etc.—a single number frequently containing from 300 to 500 fine engravings, making it the MOST COMPLETE AND MOST PROFUSELY ILLUSTRATED of the GREAT MONTHLIES.

Demorest's Magazine Fashion Department is in every way far ahead of that contained in any other publication.

Subscribers are entitled each month to patterns of the latest fashions in women's attire, at no cost to them other than the necessary for postage and wrapping.

NO BETTER CHRISTMAS GIFT

Than a year's subscription to Demorest's Magazine can be made. By subscribing AT ONCE you can get the magazine at the reduced price, and will also receive the handsome Present Number with its beautiful New Fashion supplements. Remit $1.00 by money order, registered letter or check to the

DEMOREST PUBLISHING CO., 110 Fifth Ave., New York City.

Great Special Clubbing Offer for Prompt Subscriptions.

If you will send us your subscription before December 25th, 1897, you can have your choice of any of the offers below. In some cases, you will note, we furnish the two publications for a full year, of the first-named one alone. The offer includes, of course, each publication for a full year.

Publishers' price			Our price to you	You save
Harper's Magazine	$4 00	and Demorest's Magazine,	$2 00	$2.00
The Christian Herald, New York	1 50	" "	1 00	.50
Women's Home Companion	1 50	" "	1 25	.25
McClure's Magazine	1 00	" "	1 75	.25
Cosmopolitan Magazine	1 00	" "	1 75	.25
Munsey's Magazine	1 00	" "	1 75	.25
Housewife	.50	" "	1 25	.25
Ladies' Home Journal	1 00	" "	1 50	.50

Address DEMOREST PUBLISHING COMPANY, 110 Fifth Avenue, New York.

WHEN HAMLET EXCLAIMED "AYE, THERE'S THE RUB!" COULD HE HAVE REFERRED TO

SAPOLIO

Try Grain-O! Try Grain-O!

Ask you Grocer to-day to show you a package of GRAIN-O, the new food drink that takes the place of coffee. The children may drink it without injury as well as the adult. All who try it, like it. GRAIN-O has that rich seal brown of Mocha or Java, but it is made from pure grains, and the most delicate stomach receives it without distress. ¼ the price of coffee. 15 cents and 25 cents per package. Sold by all grocers.

Tastes like Coffee
Looks like Coffee

Insist that your grocer gives you GRAIN-O
Accept no imitation.

A PERFECT TALKING MACHINE FOR $10

WRITE FOR CATALOGUE "K"
SPEAR & CO.,
INDIANAPOLIS, IND.

FITS STOPPED FREE.

PERMANENTLY CURED
Insanity Prevented by
DR. KLINE'S GREAT
NERVE RESTORER

Positive cure for all Nervous Diseases, Fits, Epilepsy, Spasms and St. Vitus' Dance. No Fits or Nervousness after first day's use. Treatise and $2 trial bottle free to Fit patients. Only person paying express charges when received. Send to DR. KLINE, Ltd., Referee Institute of Medicine, 931 Arch Street, PHILADELPHIA, PA.

Rudyard Kipling,

the famous story-writer, is only one of many celebrated contributors engaged to write for the next volume of

The Youth's Companion

For all the Family. 52 Times a Year.

Rudyard Kipling's thrilling new story, "The Burning of the 'Sarah Sands,'" will appear exclusively in The Companion during 1898.

To show the varied strength and charm of The Companion's original features for 1898, we give the following partial list of Distinguished Contributors.

Right Hon. W. E. Gladstone	W. D. Howells
Hon. Thomas B. Reed	Mme. Lillian Nordica
Hon. Justin McCarthy	Mrs. Burton Harrison
Hon. George F. Hoar	Octave Thanet
Lieut. Peary	Mary E. Wilkins
Max O'Rell	Margaret E. Sangster
Frank R. Stockton	Harriet P. Spofford

And Fifty Two Hundred Others.

Gold Embossed Calendar Free to New Subscribers.

This Calendar is published exclusively by The Youth's Companion and could not be sold in Art Stores for less than $1.00. It consists of three folding parts, each a true reproduction of charming group pictures. ☞ See Important Offer.

FREE ...TO... Jan. 1898.

NEW SUBSCRIBERS who will cut out this slip and send it at once, with name and address, and $1.75, will receive:
FREE—The Companion every week from the time subscription is received till January 1, 1898.
FREE—Thanksgiving, Christmas and New Year's Double Numbers.
FREE—The Companion Art Calendar for 1898, a production superior to any of the famous pieces of Companion color-work of previous years. It is a beautiful ornament and a costly gift. Size 10 x 24 in. Free to New Subscribers.
And The Companion Fifty-Two Weeks, a Full Year, to January 1, 1898. It is Illustrated Prospectus of the Volume for 1898 and Sample Copies of the Paper Free.

THE YOUTH'S COMPANION, 201 Columbus Avenue, BOSTON, MASS.

BOONE CO., RECORDER.

Wednesday, November 3, 1897.

Advertising Rates:

One inch, one time.....$1.00
Each additional time.....25
Obituaries, Tributes of Respects or notices of a like nature, per inch .50

W. L. RIDDELL, - - Publisher.

Neighborhood News.

Erlanger.

Miss Linda McNichols, of Cincinnati has been the guest of Mrs. Morelli.

Captain John Daniel and family were the guests of Mrs. L. Morelli, of Home street.

A Hollow E'en surprise party was tendered to Mr. Wm Hollin, of Division street Saturday evening.

Wm Sexton had an unfortunate accident at his box factory in Cincinnati, last week, whereby he came near losing his arm.

The Baptist church entertainment given by Miss Schuster was a success. All enjoyed the program and the receipts were satisfactory.

Richwood.

Miss Effie Cleek has been on the sick list.

J. C. Hughes is learning to ride a "bike."

Marion Grubbs is building an ice house.

Jasper Booth is making a new barn out of an old one.

Mrs. Odenwald is visiting her sister, Mrs. Knally, of Union.

The Teacher' Association will meet at the Richwood church next Saturday.

We are informed there will be change of postmasters at this place. Sorry to see it taken from a good Democrat and given to a recent Republican.

The editor of the "Union Blade" informs us that the farmers furnish the grease while some one does the greasing. We are inclined to think that farmers do the greasing while someone else runs the machine if he must furnish the oil. This is too often the way with our Democracy, some demogogue wants to run the "old ship" of Democracy, when they abandon her every time she gets crippled in a storm.

Constance.

Taylor Fox has a bad case of blood poison.

Fred Gertie's child is sick with typhoid fever.

Miss Riley and sister are visiting Mr. B. Otten and wife.

Mrs. L. Ott and family were visiting Mrs. Teetes, last Sunday.

Mrs. Small will give her Sunday-School entertainment Nov. 20th.

Mrs. Chas. Hood, of Walnut Hills, Ohio, was visiting Mr. Ben Hood and wife.

Sneak thieves stole $40 worth of clothes from F. Speaker and all of Jack Ross'.

H. C. McNeal has been loosing his meat and he kept watch and caught the thief and shot him. It was a large dog.

Please correct item in last week's paper, [illegible] Zimmer is happy, it is a boy. It should have been Ed Jimmerson is happy, it is a boy.

Beaver.

The long looked for and greatly needed rain came Sunday night.

G. A. Slayback has been a sufferer from rheumatic for several days.

Robert Dunn, of Scott county, was visiting John Lockhart, last week.

Mrs. Susie Sherrick and daughter, Edna, of Cincinnati, Ohio, are visiting relatives here this week.

The members of the South Fork church are building a pike from the church to the Warsaw 'pike.

Rev. Roland began a protracted meeting at the Methodist church Sunday, assisted by Miss Tina Tucker.

J. M. Moore, Ad Riddell and others from this neighborhood, were at the pike building, Saturday, at Berkshire.

Dr. Thomas Baker, the Louisville post master, who was visiting friends here for several days, left for home Sunday evening, accompanied by Mrs. G. M. Miller and daughter, Miss Bertha.

Rev. S. M. Adams conducted an interesting meeting at the residence of Peter Dudgeon, one day last week. Edward McAlister, who has been there sick for some time, united with the church and was baptized in a hole of water near by.

Taylorsport.

Tom Clore will build in the spring.

Mrs. W. B. Grubbs is on the sick list. The wheat that was early sown looks badly.

The trustees of the public school have had a cistern dug.

Wm. Todd, of Riverside, O., was in these parts Sunday.

Farmers are husking corn and little boys are gathering walnuts.

John Dye contemplates building a new house on his wife's land.

Those having coal bars along the river have gathered considerable coal.

Jeff Brown & Son are going into the huckster business in the near future.

Mrs. Queen Breed, of Cincinnati, was visiting Mrs. W. B. Grubbs, last week.

Vinct Pickelheimer came down from Cincinnati and spent Saturday and Sunday with his parents.

Mrs. Williams and her daughter, of Indiana, spent several days with Capt. Pickelheimer and wife, last week.

Charley Coulthart, of Harrison, Ohio, is teaching the public school at this place and is getting along nicely.

Mrs. Hattie Berry, of Delhi, O., and Mr. Laith Sprague, of Columbia, Ohio, were visiting grandma Sprague, last week.

We will have a wedding as soon as the river rises so that the bride and groom can go to New Orleans to spend their honey moon.

There is quite a hustle for the Constance postoffice—two leading Republicans are in the fight for it and each have their application with a string of names. Go it boys, these are McKinley times.

Union.

T. A. Huey and family have moved to Covington.

J. W. Kennedy bought 10,000 lbs. of tobacco, one day last week.

Wallace Garrison was having logs hauled to the saw mill, last week.

By hauling water the mill ground a lot of meal Tuesday of last week.

James Aylor, jr., of Big Bone, makes a boss constable and is a hustler.

B. L. Rice was looking after business interests in this vicinity Saturday.

The Union and Beaver 'pike management have built a new barn at the toll-gate.

Supt. Voshell was making a spin of the circle, last week, and reports corn crop fine.

Lucien Dickerson is all o. k. after nursing a crippled knee, caused by being kicked by a horse some time since.

Miss Mary Lassing is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Lassing, of Nashville, Tenn., and seeing the Exposition.

Ephram Tanner, of Gunpowder, was laying floors for Uncle Frank Smith and cementing a cistern for Dr. Crouch last week.

Wm. Smith, of Covington, came out to be with relatives and friends until after the election and cast a vote for free silver.

Elmo Conner was taken suddenly ill Friday evening, having congestive chills. His condition was critical for several hours.

Many people in this section have to haul all the water they use from Gunpowder. [Guess they will he out of a job since the fine rain.—Ed.]

Long & Crouch, owners of the new steamer "City of Warsaw," are having the machinery put in at Cincinnati and will soon be in the trade.

Bro. Gardner said, "The sun do move." He might have said, "Advertising do pay," for it certainly do—a few advs. brought twenty-two applications for positions.

Assessor Brady was in this precinct, several days, making the rich feel richer and poor feel like they might have more if the law allowed it. It is nice to transact business with Mr Brady.

Mr. Henry Rouse will be first class authority on roofing in a few years, because he is trying six different kinds—galvanized iron, tin, ordinary iron, clapboards, shingles and plank. A very handsome young lady called my attention to this fact, by the way.

The city of Union will soon have water works on a small scale, if things work out right. A reservoir will be built at Tom Judge's spring and the water piped to the pike and down the pike to corner at Rachal's store where a nice fountain will be erected and troughs for stock to drink out of also. Fifteen dollars of the cash has been subscribed and more is coming—$75 will build and equip the work from end to end. "It will be grand" is the way most people speak of the matter and it would be, too. It will be grand because it will be useful; grand because it will afford all people, rich and poor, with plenty of good, pure water; grand because people living all along the line can "tap the main" and have a hydrant in front of their doors affording water all summer at a cost of probably 50 cents for 200 barrels. People living five miles from here are interested and would like to have water for their horses when passing through. It is 1950 ft. to the spring and pipe will cost about $30. If you want to get your name on the roll of honor and fame, see Matson Rachal and subscribe $5.

Petersburg.

Dr. J. M. Grant is afflicted with a severe cold.

Everett Helms has an affliction of the stomach.

Madison Sebree, of Cincinnati, came down on his bicycle, Sunday.

Ben Jarrell is feeding four hogs that gained 425 pounds in 38 days.

James Jarrell has been fixing up several graves in the cemetery, the last few days.

About a dozen of our girls are employed at the American Match Factory at Aurora.

Several of our citizens attended the Walton-Cropper wedding at Bullittsburg, last Wednesday.

Dr. Tilly has been very poorly for several weeks, but is thought to be getting along very well now.

Prof. Nelson was considerably under the weather, last Saturday, but was a great deal better on Sunday.

A "Halloween" party left their tracks over town, last Saturday night, to the great annoyance of some of our citizens. No particular damage was done.

Prof. Fisher, of Cincinnati, is to have a meeting at the Methodist church, Mouday night, Nov. 8th, to see if a singing class can be organized.

A large crowd of relatives assembled at Mr. Henry McWethy's, last Friday, Oct. 29th, to celebrate the 68th birthday of his wife, Mrs. Annie Margaret.

Rev. Harris announced, last Sunday, that he expected Rev. Clark to assist him in a meeting here, to commence on Monday night after the 4th Sunday in November.

The writer forgot to mention at the proper time, that quite a number of kinsfolk surprised Mrs. Salona A. Hynes on the 12th of Oct. with a big dinner in honor of her 33d birthday.

Messrs. T. B. Mathews, Solon Early and Dan Hoffman attended the Grand Lodge K. of P. at Frankfort, last week. Mr. Mathews was elected a representative to the Supreme Grand Lodge of the world.

Mr. James D. Cloud and wife, of the Burlington precinct, were visiting at Mr. Henry Wingate's, a day or two last week. Mr. Cloud is looking extremely well for one who has been in bad health so long.

The polls was opened here Tuesday morning on time and the voting commenced, and proceeded very slowly, the votes cast up to noon being confined principally to the town, there being an occasional voter from the country registering. Directly afternoon the arrival of voters were more frequent and the voting correspondingly livelier, and when the polls closed Shackelford had 150 votes; Bailey 52; Hindman, 4. It was decidedly a quiet election.

The Limaburg mill raised steam yesterday, the first time for many weeks. The event created quite a stir in that neighborhood, and everybody went to mill.

The Democrats did not exert themselves here yesterday. The Republicans were doing some hustling.

COUNTY COURT.

Report of the division of Woodford Carpenter's land confirmed, and B. W. Adams appointed commissioner to make deeds to heirs. Same orders were made in case of Mosby, Raum and Gorgieve vs. B. W. Buffington &c.

The action of Morgan Beemon vs. Albert D. Beemon, &c., was transferred to circuit court.

Marshall Whitson, L. J. Riley, Asa Cason, James Rogers and Wash Watts were appointed supervisors of tax for the ensuing year.

Frances M. Collins' will offered for probate, and continued until next term.

Philip G. Holms' will probated and B. H. Ryle qualified as administrator. R. T. Stephens, Dr. Cowen and Ben Wilson were appointed appraisers.

John T. Craven, a citizen of Kenton county, was released from paying tax on $4,000 worth of property erroneously assessed against him in this county.

Teachers' Meeting.

Walton, Ky., Oct. 23d, 1897.

The District Institute met and was called to order by Supt. Voshell. Prayer by Professor Myers, of the Walton Academy.

Prof. Voshell then made a few opening remarks, after which Miss Lillie Rouse took up the subject of Diacritics and handled it in such a manner as to impress upon the minds of all present the necessity of teaching Diacritics, and the discussion which followed proved that all all agreed that such teaching should be begun with the very youngest of pupils.

At 12 o'clock the Institute was adjourned until 1:30 p. m.

In the beginning of the afternoon session, Miss Hamrick took up the subject "The Relative Value of Intellectual and Practical Arithmetic."

Miss Hamrick gave some very able arguments in favor of teaching the two so called branches as one, making the subject practical in order that it may be intellectual. Prof. Voshell and others then made some very interesting and instructive remarks.

The subject of Geography was assigned to Prof. Craven, he being absent, the subject was discussed by the teachers and visitors at large.

How to Interest Parents in the Public School Work, was assigned to Miss Bedinger. Miss Bedinger being absent, Miss Rouse introduced the subject. The subject was to the effect that could the patrons be enlightened they would become more interested.

Committee on program for next district meeting at Richwood: Mr. Jack, Miss Kipp and Miss Rouse.

Calisthenics—Miss Bedinger.
School Literature—W. E. Cook.
Abuse of Trustees—Geo. T. Jack.
Language In and Out of the School Room—Miss Bristow.
Order—Miss Dolph.
Kentucky History—Miss Norman.
Physiology—Miss Weaver.

The vote as to where the next County Institute should be held resulted in seven for Walton, being a unanimous vote.

GEO T. JACK, Sect'y.

Ironical Ifs.

(Chicago News.)

If you want a thing well done tell the waiter to bring it rare.

If kissing went out of fashion no girl would care to be considered stylish.

If a man would live to a ripe old age all he has to do is to keep right on living.

If some women were to cast their bread upon the waters it would obstruct navigation.

If men were built like planos there would be more square and upright people in this wicked world.

If a man has the right stuff in him it is bound to come out. That's what makes some men's noses so red.

If a woman would always write the postscript first it would save her the trouble of writing the letter.

If you can't solve the problem of life go to your druggist. He can always give you some kind of a solution.

If you would write a successful novel select for the hero a man with a future and for the heorine a woman with a past.

Clarence Garvey, of Erlanger, and his brother, W. G. Garvey, of Chicago, who left for the Klondike, last July, have turned back and are in Seattle. They sailed for St. Michaels on one of the last steamers, and underwent great hardships. When they reached the Yukon country they were confronted with appalling conditions. Reports came from up the river of great hardships, and the food supply of the great crowd of gold seekers was already running low because of so much of the provisions being lost in landing. Becoming disheartened, they abandoned their sledging trip up the Yukon this winter and returned to Seattle. W. G. Garvey will return to his home in Chicago. Clarence will remain in Seattle, and claims that he will go over the Pass in the early spring.

Vol. 1, No. 1 of the Baptist Argus, published at Louisville, edited by J. N. Prestbridge and M. P. Hunt, is before us. It is a neat piece of typographical work, and brim full of well written matter.

The Democrats in the Burlington precinct can not point with pride to the vote they cast yesterday, and six of the candidates on the county ticket reside in the district.

Had there been two Democratic candidates for each county office to fill yesterday in this county, the Shackelford vote would have been at least as large again as it was.

Some fellows get so in the habit of begging tobacco that they will discard a fresh chew at any time in order to sample a neighbor's twist of long green.

The voters from the country were all out of town before the polls closed yesterday afternoon.

Steamboatmen are in better spirits than they have been for quite a while.

The constitutional amendment received very few votes in this county.

The Recorder is a day late this week in order to get the election news.

The Master Commissioner made two small sales of land Monday.

Notice to Taxpayers.

The taxpayers are hereby notified that the six per cent. penalty will be added December 1st. Pay up before that time and save the penalty.

C. C. ROBERTS, S. B. C.

Notice to Trespassers.

We, the undersigned, hereby give notice that we have posted our farms according to law, against trespass of all kinds, and will enforce the law against those who trespass thereon by hunting or otherwise.

J K Roberts,	L C Roberts
H H Roberts,	James Watson
J W Cluster,	Henry Florence
Mack Watson,	Rebecca Johnson
W P Roberts,	A W Smith
G B Powers,	J T Peek
Edward Taylor	J H Rogers
Lafe Johnson	S C Johnson
A J Litterell

Notice to Trespassers.

We, the undersigned, hereby give notice that we have posted our farms, according to law, against trespass of all kinds, and will enforce the law against those who trespass thereon by hunting or otherwise.

John Stephens	Roht McGlasson
M T Graves	Wm Graves
John J Rucker	J W Watts
Jas L Riley	Temp Gaines
Wm Riley	Allie Corn
Henry McGlasson	Hubert Cropper
Geo McGlasson	Joe Graves
Zeke Aylor	Jameson Aylor
Ed Berkshire	T J Walton
Clide Berkshire	Bert Berkshire
J D Cloud	T D Goodridge
R White	Geo Blyth
Al Rogers	Chas White
R W Neal	Abs Aylor

COMMISSIONER'S NOTICE.

Boone Circuit Court, Ky.

S. Baldon's Adm'r ... Plff.
vs } Equity
Parthena Baldon, &c., ... Defts.

Notice is hereby given that I will begin my sittings at the Circuit Clerk's office in Burlington, Ky., on the 6th day of Nov, 1897, to hear proof of claims under the order of reference in the above styled cause and will adjourn from day to day (Sunday excepted) to the 6th day of Dec., 1897. All persons having claims against S. Baldon's estate will present them to me proven as by law required.

J. B. BERKSHIRE, M. C. B. C. C.
S. Gaines, Attorney.

BOOTS & SHOES
MADE TO ORDER.

Work Strictly First-Class.
Prices to Suit the Times.
Harness, Boots and Shoes Neatly Repaired. Give me a trial.

CHRISTIAN BECKER,
29sptf2m Union, Ky.

Administrator's Notice.

Those indebted to the estate of J. C. Beall, deceased, must come forward and settle at once, and those having claims against said estate must present the same at once proven according to law.

CHAS. B. BEALL, Adm'r.

NOTICE.

Notice is hereby given that I am sole owner of the personal property on my farm near L. W. Lyle's store, this county, and no one is authorized to sell same or any part of it.

LENNORA SATCHWILL.
Sept. 10th, 1897.

For Sale.

Good frame house of six roome, and good barn and lot, at BigBone, Ky. For further particulars apply to

M. C. CARROLL,
Big Bone, Ky.

For Sale or Rent.

Good Stock Farm of 170 acres. Money reut in cash, if rented.

Wm. C. HENSLEY.

Administrator's Notice.

I have this day been appointed administrator of the estate of James A. Botts, deceased, and all persons indebted to said estate must pay same at once and all persons having claims against said estate must present them to me or my attorney S. W. Tolin, at Burlington, Ky., proven as by law required.

EDWIN BOTTS, Adm'r.
Sept. 20th, 1897.

Farm for Sale!

In Boone county, Ky., on the North Bend Road, 1¼ miles from Burlington, 1 mile from Hebron and 5 miles from Anderson's Ferry, and contains seventy-eight acres, good cottage of 5 rooms and good barn, orchard of 200 trees select fruit. The farm is all under good state of cultivation. For terms apply to

LASSING & RIDDELL,
Burlington, Ky.

FOURTH YEAR.
OF WALTON ACADEMY,
—opens—
MONDAY, SEPTEMBER 6th, 1897
AT WALTON, KY.

Three Courses of Study to choose from:
English, Scientific or Classical,
Tuition per month, $2.50 and $3.00
Vocal and Instrumental Music at moderate rates.

We have a fine, new building with rooms for pupils, connected.—Board only $2.50 per week, or $2.00 for 5 days.
Thorough, Substantial Work Guaranteed.

Teachers { Mrs. S. H. MYERS. / CHAS. F. PRIOR. / Rev. S. H. MYERS.

Further information gladly given by mail or interview.

GO TO
HANKINS, DAVIS & CO., General Merchants,
HEBRON AND CONSTANCE,
A Good Supply of Feed always in Stock.

GARDEN AND FIELD SEEDS.

Undertaking is given special attention. Funerals under the personal supervision of J. C. HANKINS.

A good supply of Coal on hand at Constance at all times.

Hebron. HANKINS, DAVIS & CO. Constance

S. L. EDWARDS. A. M. EDWARDS.

EDWARDS BROTHERS,

DEALERS IN HARDWARE
—AND—
Agricultural Implements,

Furniture,
Stoves,
Tinware,
Saddlery,
Oils and Paints,
Wall Paper.

UNDERTAKING & EMBALMING A SPECIALTY.

We have added a first-class Tin Shop and are prepared to do Tin, Iron and Paper Roofing and guarantee all work done by us.

EDWARDS BROS., - - Walton, Ky.

JOHN ALLISON,

UNDER-  EMBALMER,

—Corner Pike & Russell Streets,
COVINGTON, - - KENTUCKY.

INDEPENDENT OF UNDERTAKERS' UNION.

THEY : MUST : GO.

Desiring to quit that branch of the business I am Closing OUT MY ENTIRE STOCK OF

MEN'S & BOYS'
Ready-Made CLOTHING

At the greatest bargains ever offered in Covington.

MY TAILORING DEPARTMENT
Will be continued, and I have on hand the Finest Line of Suitings in the three cities. Give me a call.

H. F. BLASE, 540 Madison Avenue,
jany 1-98 COVINGTON, KY.

"Charms Strike the Sight
But Merit Wins the Soul."

That ..... accounts for the large increase in our business.

OUR CLOTHING

Has the charms of Style and Workmanship, and the Merits of wearing Well and Fitting. Come and inspect our line of Men's, Boys' and Children's Clothing.

We do not advocate cheap truck, but Good, Well Made Clothing at the Lowest Prices. Satisfaction guaranteed or your money refunded.

ROLFES & WACHS, RELIABLE CLOTHIERS
S. W. Cor. Pike & Madison Ave. Covington, Ky.

Public Sale!

I will sell at Public Auction, at my residence near Union, Boone County, Ky., on

Thursday, Nov. 4th, 1897,

My Farm Containing

123 ACRES OF GOOD LAND,

Lying on the Union & Beaver Turnpike, 3 miles from Richwood Sta., on the C. N. & T. P. R. R.

Said farm has a good

Frame Dwelling of Seven Rooms,

Hall, Vestibule, Pantry, three Porches, Good Cellar, Large Barn and other Out Buildings, two Cisterns

And Never Failing Springs,

Orchard of Various kinds of Fruit Trees.

Terms Made Known on Day of Sale.

HENRY TUCKER.
W. H. CHAMBERS, Auct'r.

Sale to begin at 2 o'clock p. m.

Are You Going

South?
Then make
the trip over the famous
Queen & Crescent Route.
Historic and scenic country
en route, vestibuled trains
that have no equal
in the South, and the shortest journey possible.
You save a hundred miles of travel to the most important
southern cities via the
Queen & Crescent.
Write for information to
W. C. Rinearson,
General Passenger Agent,
Cincinnati, O.
Send 10 cents for fine
Art colored Lithograph of Lookout Mountain and Chickamauga.

Subscribe for the Recorder.

Local News.

The barn on the land that D. T. Buffington purchased of J. T. Northcutt on the pike just above Florence, was destroyed by fire about 8 o'clock on Tuesday morning of last week. Two strange men supposed to be tramps were seen leaving the barn lot a few minutes before the fire was discovered. One of them was smoking a pipe and it is thought they had been sleeping in the barn, and before leaving the man lighted his pipe and threw the match down, and from that the fire originated. No insurance.

D. N. Comingore, the Internal Revenue Collector in this district, will take charge of his office, to-day. The rush for subordinate appointments will now begin. All the old gaugers and storekeepers desire to get back, and will be opposed by a strong force of applicants for places, who have never experienced the delicious flavor of government office. The fight is now on and it will be fast and furious.

H. W. Harrison, dentist, of Rising Sun, Ind., will be in Burlington on the first and third Monday in each month, to do work for those who wish anything in his line. He will be here two days each visit. He is a son of the late R. F. Harrison, of Carrollton, and a graduate of the Pennsylvania College of Dentistry at Philadephia. He is highly recommended in his profession.

Those of the taxpayers who had the assessed value of their property increased by the county board of Supervisors, and then ten per cent. added thereto by the State Board, do not relish a little bit the increased rate of taxation. Encountering three increases in one year is too much for them to submit to without making some remarks about it.

Uncle Alfred Cason and Asa Cason took a lot of nice porkers to the city, last Wednesday. It was a very warm day for driving hogs, but they were fortunate enough to reach Erlanger without any of their hogs dying.

D. E. Castleman expects to move into the house now occupied by Mr. J. W. Duncan, this week, and W. C. Brown and Mr. Duncan will move into the residence vacated by Mr. Castleman.

Lexington Running Races.—November 1st to 9th inclusive. One fare round trip daily, via Queen & Crescent Route. Good until Nov. 10th to return. Ask your ticket agent for particulars.

Jerry Beemou is making considerable improvements in his father's old homestead, and in a few years it will be the nicest place on the Burlington and Florence turnpike.

Wm. Pope is having good success doctoring hogs for John Clore, of Hebron. None of his hogs have died of cholera since Mr. Pope began doctoring them.

John M. Lassing is removing every other maple tree along the road in front of the old Latimer place, and trimming closely those that are allowed to remain.

Mrs. Thompson, aunt of the young fellow who was in jail, charged with housebreaking, came down from Covington, last Friday, and got him out of jail.

Ira Aylor, of Erlanger, tells the public some facts in his adv. this week. He enjoys a fine trade, which he is increasing by quick sales and small profits.

The Court of Appeals has reversed the judgment of the Boone Circuit Court in the case of the Town of Walton vs W. L. Norman.

TO CURE A COLD IN ONE DAY.

Take Laxative Bromo Quinine Tablets. All druggists refund the money if it fails to cure. 25c

It was Alfred Cason, instead of Alfred Wingate, who sold to Geo. Smith, of the Union neighborhood, the fine short-horn calf.

Headquarters for children's ladies' and men's underwear, cloaks, capes, hosiery, gloves, &c., at E. H. Niebaum's Aurora.

The drought was given a death stroke by the rain which commenced Sunday evening, and came down gently all night.

An immense crowd attended the sale of the personal estate of the late James A. Botts. Low prices were the rule.

Mrs. Virginia Corey, of Florence, died of heart disease instead of quinsy as stated in this column, last week.

Stanley Clutterbuck started his meat wagon, last Saturday morning, and solicits your patronage for the future.

Rubber shoes, rubber coats and umbrellas came out from their long hiding places Monday morning.

The wheat that was sowed in the dust will now come up and make a start for the winter.

E. H. Niebaum's is tho best place to get good muslins, shirtings and calicoes at close prices.

R. C. Gaines, of Utzinger, bought a handsome Jersey cow of Wm. Clore, last Thursday.

Dude shinny—golf—has not made its appearance in this part of the country.

Anything you want in dress goods at riggt prices. E. H. Niebum, Aurora.

There are a great many flocks of fine turkeys in this part of the county.

Mr. Oscar Gaines has the right of this county for B. P. Rice's patent gate.

Hear that another of the RECORDER's correspondents is soon to marry.

The corn shuck weather prognosticators predict a mild wintor.

The feather renovators have been doing a good business.

Circuit Court begins on the 13th day of next month.

The jail has but one inmate.

PERSONAL MENTION.

Maje Conner, of Richwood, was in town Sunday.

B. L. Rice, of Covington, attended court here Monday.

Uncle Johnnie Beall, of Hebron, was in town a short time Sunday.

Hon. Z. F. Smith was in town Thursday, on business with the legal fraternity.

Andrew Acra, who has been very low with the typhoid fever, is recovering slowly.

Several of the boys went to Cincinnati, last night to hear the result of the election.

Johnnie Duncan is home from Carthage, Ohio, where he was training horses all summer.

Attorney Tolin visited the Verona neighborhood, last Thursday, on professional business.

Master Walter Lassing, of Union, was the guest of his brother in Burlington, Sunday.

John H. Ryle came over from Erlanger, yesterday, to give Shackelford and the county ticket a lift.

O. P. Tanner was quite sick again last week. He has been unable to do any work for several months.

Bert Rouse was in town Monday and replenished his supply of meat by investing his surplus in rabbits.

G. M. Allen and wife, of Big Bone, came up Saturday, and were guests of B. W. Adams and wife until Tuesday.

O J. Ryle was in command of the Burlington & Erlanger bus, last Saturday, Capt. Eddins being on the sick list.

Miss Katie Smith returned home, last Friday, after a visit of several weeks to her brother's in the Verona neighborhood.

Harry Blyth and Elson Riddell returned from the K. P. Grand Lodge, last Thursday at noon. They report a splendid time.

J. B. Berkshire and wife attended the Walton-Cropper wedding at the Bullittsburg Baptist Church, last Wednesday afternoon.

The K. P. Grand Lodge at Frankfort, last week, elected T. B. Mathews Supreme Represeutative. Each State is entitled to one.

Mrs. Cora Parker and Miss Dodie McGarvey returned to their homes, last Friday, after a week's visit with relatives in Burlington.

Atty. Frank Greene, accompanied by Jas. Adams, were in town last Thursday. Mr. Greene is a son of Circuit Judge J. W. Greene.

Farmer Jack Sandford was in town yesterday He is afraid that the damp weather will cause his corn and other farm produce to take a second growth.

Mr. Arthur Blyth was taken very ill, suddenly, last Saturday morning, and the doctor was hastily summoned, but he soon revived and is much improved.

Hubert Walton hove in town Thursday afternoon, and appeared to be enjoying especially good health since retiring from the drygoods and grocery business.

Two of the RECORDER'S correspondents—A. C. Roberts, of Verona, and J. B. Tolin, of Utzinger, have joined the army of benedicts, this fall. Who will be the next one?

L. N. Crigler, of Covington, came out last Saturday, to look over the repairs in progress on his hotel property. It was his last visit as he goes to Florida this week, where he will make his future home.

Mrs. Anna White, of Willmington, Illinois, and Mrs. Ada Woodward, of Warden, Indiana, were guests of G. G. Hughes and family Sunday, and are now visiting other relatives in the county. It is their first visit to Kentucky.

County Attorney Lassing and Atty. Castleman were over at Union, last Friday, on business in Esq. Bannister's court. A couple of Union's citizens had indulged in a little roughness against the peace and dignity of the Commonwealth, and these legal lights went over to straighten the matter up.

J. F. Blyth visited every precinct in the county, last week, it devolving upon him by virtue of his appointment by the County Court, to see that a voting place be in readiness in each precinct. He says that that part of the county south of Burlington is suffering more as a result of the drought than the section north of Burlington, where the pastures look green as compared with the remainder of the county.

Wm. Hewitt, son of D. M. Hewitt, had a narrow escape from being seriously hurt, a few days since. He was driving down a hill with a wagon load of sugar cane, when his foot slipped off of the break, and he fell in front of the wagon, the two fore wheels passing over his ankles, bruising them badly, but fracturing no bones. He held on to the lines and was dragged a considerable distance, and there is no telling what the result would have been had the wagon not struck an old shed, which fell, catching it and stopping the horses. The young man's neck received quite an ugly gash, and he thinks that one of the check lines did it.

The Boone County Recorder records 22d anniversary of its birth. Thus W. L. Riddell has solved the riddle which no one else could have born, to make a paper live in Boone county by making it for 22 years most worthy to live. —Kentucklan-Citizen.

Boone county tobacco dealers made sales as follows on the Cincinnati market, last week: H. Long 2 hhds. average $14.37; G. W. Roberts, 17 hhds. average $13.34; T. J. Stevenson, 3 hhds. average $12.75; J. W. Kennedy, eight hhds. average $12.96; O. W. Adams, 12 hhds. average $14.10.

Election day comes at the wrong time of the year, and as a result very often it is extremely bad, and many of the voters will not go to the polls in the country districts. There is no good reason why elections should not be held six weeks or two months earlier in the year, at which time the chances for a good day are 16 to 1 at least.

W. M. RACHAL & CO.,

OUR SHORT STORY.

Some Good Talkers.

CANTON FLANNLL per yard,	5 Cents
BLEACHED COTTON per yard,	5 "
40 in. All WOOL FLANNEL SKIRTS,	75 "
Ladies Fine Shoes, per pair,	75 "

We have a full line of

WINTER GOODS

At prices of which the above are a sample.

UNION, KENTUCKY.

WE have just received a large line of Canned Goods bought before the rise. Also a full line of

GROCERIES

—Of all kinds, all go at the Lowest CASH Prices.—

FOR THIS WEEK.

25 lbs. Coffee "A" Sugar, - - - - $1.00
Lion Coffee, per pound, - - - - - 11c

UNION, - - - - KENTUCKY.

When in Burlington Call on

J. S. CLUTTERBUCK

DEALER IN

DRY GOODS

Notions, Boots and Shoes,

HAY, CORN AND MILL FEED,

At Prices to Suit the times.

FRESH - MEATS - ALWAYS - ON - HAND.

J. S. CLUTTERBUCK, Burlington, Ky.

SIMPSON--STUART.

Dr. R. F. Simpson, of Rising Sun, Indiana, and Miss Mary Stuart, of Petersburg, daughter of Thomas Stuart, who used to reside on the old Mosoy farm, and sister of Mrs. Will Berkshire, were married at the Grand Hotel in Lawrenceburg, Ind., Saturday evening, October 23d, at 3 o'clock. After spending a few days in this county and at Rising Sun, they will leave for their future home at Cleveland, Minnesota.

TOLIN--BAKER.

One of the quietest and nicest weddings that has occurred in Rising Sun for some time, was that of James B. Tolin and Nannie A. Baker, both of Petersburg, at the residence of the bride's cousins, Mr. and Mrs. Will Riggs, Sunday evening, Octobar 24th, at 2:30 o'clock, by Rev. B. F. Rawlins, in the presence of quite a number of invited guests. The bride is a handsome lady of the brunette type, while the groom is the popular and well known correspondent of the RECORDER, which wishes Mr. and Mrs. Tolin a pleasant and happy journey along the devious path of life.

WALTON--CROPPER.

Last Wednesday afternoon, at 2 p. m. the marriage of Dr. John H. Walton, of Home City, O., to Miss Mary E. Cropper, daughter of Mr. Edgar and Mrs. Fannie Cropper, was solemnized by the Rev. James A. Kirtley in the historic old church at Bullittsburg. Love had spent seven years in knitting the hearts of this young couple and hymen at last joined their hands. We congratulate our young friends and hope that the consummation of this nuptial ceremony will lead to a happy consummation of all their hopes and joys—an accord that will be sweet, perfect and all that could be wished for.

The old church, the scene of many similar events, was beautifully decorated with autumn leaves, evergreen and choice flowers; a bank of autumn leaves seven feet high extended the full length of the rostrum, thus forming a beautiful and appropriate back ground to the lovely scene that was being enacted. The oak leaf represented the sturdy and manly character of the groom, and the golden tinted leaf of the sugar maple, closely intertwined, portrayed the sweet and lovely character of the bride. The evergreen expressed the wish of friends that the love thus entwining their young hearts would never fade, but would be true, inseparable and faithful to the end. The flowers indicated the wish that in their pathway through life sweet scented flowers would spring in their footsteps to smile their praise.

Promptly at the appointed hour the doors were thrown open and two of the ushers, Messrs. Edwin Gaines and Will Cropper, entered the left door and marched in perfect time to Mendelsshon's beautiful wedding march, being rendered by Miss Ella Duncan at the organ—following at a short interval the bride and her maid of honor, Miss Zayda Gaines, the handsome and accomplished daughter of Judge Clinton Gaines, followed in regular step with the ushers. At the same time the two ushers, Messrs. Scott Chambers and Marcus Randall, followed by the groom and his best man, Mr. Hubert Walton, marched up the right isle in perfect accord. They met and formed a semicircle in front of the bank of autumn leaves, with the bride and groom in the center. The scene was beautiful and inspring. The vast audience, which filled every seat in the house, was spell-bound, and perfect silence reigned throughout the building. The venerable pastor, with a beautiful ceremony, tied the knot that bound the two young lives into one, and authorized them to go forth as man and wife. When the groom, with his young wife upon his arm, turned to face the responsibilities he had assumed, he looked a little serious, but the bright and assuring smile of his handsome bride, filled his whole being with sunshine, and 'ere he left the church, his face was illumiuated with a radient smile.

The bridal party repaired at once to the residence of the father of the groom and after partaking of refreshments, started on a short bridal tour.

Robert Clore, of the Bellevue neighborhood, has traded his nice bottom farm and modern and commodious residence, for the fertile hill farm so long owned by James H. Lawell in the Rabbit Hash precinct, and they will exchange residences in a few days. Each of the gentlemen seems well pleased with the trade.

Water is not so scarce as it was a few days ago

Best line of flanels, jeans, yarns and blankets at Niebaum's, Aurora.

The rain started the creeks and branches to runuing yesterday.

Good weather for stripping tobacco, and it will be taken advantage of by many.

The fish in the creeks will have a chance to take some exercise after a long imprisonment.

This rain may close out the good weather for this season; but no objection should be made, as there has been an over production of fine weather this fall.

There never was a nicer behaved rain than that which began falling Sunday night, and continued Tuesday. It came down so gradually that the earth took it up like a sponge.

Long Run is the largest Baptist Association in the State. It's membership is 10,186. Dover association, Virginia, is the largest in the Southern States. It's membership is 13,803.

A primary election gets up an interest in the Democratic party in Boone. A primary election day never gets too bad for the candidates and their friend to hustle out a good Democratic vote.

Gen. P. Wat Hardin and John P. Carter, the latter of Vevay, Indiana, addressed a small crowd of Democrats here last Monday. Owing to the rain there was a small crowd in town, not enough to enthuse the speakers.

All the stockholders of the Burlington branch of the Commercial Building Trust, of Louisville, who have not already done so are requested to deliver their books and certificates of stock to J. M. Lassing by the 8th inst., in order that he may fill them in the suit to settle affairs of said trust.

Colored bird's eye view of Chattanooga, Mission Ridge, Waldon's Ridge and portions of the Chickamauga field as seen from the summit of the Lookout Mountain. Highest style of lithographer's art. On fine paper, plate 10x24. Mailed for 10 cents in stamps. W. C. RINEARSON, Geu'l Pass'r Agt. Q. & C. Route, Cincinnati, O.

Order of Reference.

Boone Circuit Court.

Jordan Beemou's Admr. Plff.
vs
Jordan Beemou's heirs &c. Defts.

This cause is now referred to J. B. Berkshiro, Master Commissioner of this court, under Section 431 Civil Code of practice, with the following instructions:

1. He will audit and settle the accounts of the administrator.

2. He will hear proof on and report the debts against the estate and how secured if at all.

3. He will hear proof, ascertain and determine what real estate decedent owned at the time of his death, where located and the probable value thereof.

4. He will give due notice of the time and place of his sittings by written or printed notices posted up at the Court House door in Burlington, Ky., five days preceeding his sittings and also publish said notices in the Boone Co., Recorder. He will report at the next term of this court.

Given under my hand as clerk of said court, this October 8th, 1897.

J. W. DUNCAN, Clerk.

The undersigned hereby gives notice that he will begin his sittings on the 1st day of November, 1897, at the Circuit Clerk's office in Burlington, Ky., to hear proof in the above styled cause and will adjourn from day to day (Sunday excepted) to the 1st day of Dec., 1897. All persons having claims against Jordan Beemon's estate will present them to me properly proven as by law required.

J. B. BERKSHIRE, Master Com.

NOTICE.

All persons holding claims against Ezra W. Rouse, dec'd are hereby notified that they must present them to me at once proven as by law required, those owing same will please come forward and settle at once.

Mrs. EMMA ROUSE, Adm'rx.
Lassing & Riddell, Attys.

W. E. CHAMBERLAIN,

DEALER IN UP TO DATE

FURNITURE,

HOUSEHOLD FURNISHINGS, ETC.,

HIGH STREET,

Lawrenceburg, - Indiana.

—HAUCK BUILDING.—

Stylish and Durable Oak BED ROOM SUITS,

All-Oak SIDE BOARDS, As Handsome as the Finest.

INGRAIN CARPETS,

BRUSSELS CARPETS,

W. E. CHAMBERLAIN,

LAWRENCEBURG, INDIANA.

Knippenberg & Fike,

Carriage and Wagon Makers,

Repairing, Painting & Trimming.

ALL WORK GUARANTEED.

Foot of Walnut Street,

Lawrenceburg, Indiana.

Buy COFFEE and TEA of the J. L. BILL COFFEE & TEA CO., a Ticket given with every 25c purchase and handsome presents given away.

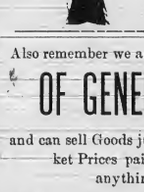
The J. L. BILL

Coffee and Tea Co.



THE BEST BRANDS OF FLOUR.

12 W. Seventh & S. E. Cor. Sixth & Bakewell,

COVINGTON, KY.

WM. F. NEAD, Salesman.

FARMERS

Make the most of your crops, buy the best Wind-mill outfit made—The AERMOTOR—abundance of power wasting right over your heads, grasp the opportunity—Grind and Cut your own Feed and that of your neighbors—feed economically.

THE AERMOTOR will bear close inspection and is guaranteed to work right. They are Cheap. Come and see it work and be convinced.

Also remember we are still in the ring with a complete line

OF GENERAL MERCHANDISE

and can sell Goods just as cheap as anyone. Highest market Prices paid for COUNTRY PRODUCE or anything salable. Come and see

OUR STOCK,

It Speaks for Itself.

Don't forget that "LaBELLE" HERD

Of Chester White Hogs

Is ready to supply Choice Stock at Reasonaole Prices.

T. J. HUGHES, - BEAVER LICK, KY.

TAKE YOUR OWN COUNTY PAPER.

Only $1.50 per Year.

THE RECORDER

W. L. RIDDELL, Publisher

BURLINGTON . . . KY

NOVEMBER—1897.

Sun.	Mon.	Tue.	Wed.	Thur.	Fri.	Sat.
....	1	2	3	4	5	6
7	8	9	10	11	12	13
14	15	16	17	18	19	20
21	22	23	24	25	26	27
28	29	30	....	....	....	....

CURRENT TOPICS.

MASSACHUSETTS has more distilleries than Kentucky.

NEW YORK has a Hebrew-American Freesmen's and Feeders' union.

QUEEN VICTORIA'S chief cook is dead. He had cooked for her for 50 years.

TWENTY-THREE Mormon missionaries, including two women, have invaded Tennessee.

MISS SUSAN B. ANTHONY is about to start on an extensive lecture tour through the west

IT is said that the potato crop is nearer a failure at present than at any other time since 1892.

THE supreme court of Tennessee has decided that a tax lien has priority over a mortgage lien.

AS A result of a trial shipment, contracts have been entered into for the sale of Alabama coal in Mexico.

THE weight of a man's brain has nothing to do with his mental power. It is a question of climate, not of intellect. The colder the climate, the greater the size of the brain.

HENRIK IBSEN is going to Berlin next spring, on invitation, for the celebration of his 71st birthday. It is expected that this occasion will be made the opportunity for an important Ibensite demonstration.

FURNACE fires can be started automatically in the morning by means of a clock mechanism, which can be set to open the dampers at any desired hour, thus having the house warm when it is time to get up.

MARK TWAIN'S trip on the glacier has been beaten by five Swiss tourists, who recently went down the Gwachthorn, in the Dammastock district, [illegible] lanche. They got to the foot of the mountain alive but considerably bruised.

THE Greenwich observatory has been put into telegraphic communication with that of the McGill college, Montreal, and the signals can be flashed between the two places, a distance of 3,300 miles, in three-quarters of a second.

THE greatest of luxuries in central Africa is salt. The long-continued use of vegetable food in that country creates so painful a longing for salt that natives deprived of it for a long period often show symptoms of insanity.

WHEN Mr. Labouchere, the English journalist, was in St. Petersburg at one time, he saw the Dutch minister dive his hand deep into a box of cigars placed for the use of visitors, and fill his pockets full of them before going.

A NEW combined spring pedal and toe clip consists of a steel plate riveted to the pedal shaft with teeth at the rear edge to grip a cleat in the shoe sole and the front portion elongated and curved over at the end to form a toe clip.

CIRCULAR saws are being used in butcher shops, a frame being attached to the block and extending over it to hold the saw in position on a spring arm, so it can be depressed as it is rapidly revolved by means of a crank and chain gear.

IN Belgium cock crowing competitions are very popular among the working classes. The cocks are penned in cases, and markers note the number of crows. In a competition recently held at Ponlsour a cock gave voice 134 times in an hour.

DAVID LANE, aged 86 years, and his wife, Catherine Lane, aged 93 years, of Westchester, Pa., have signed a mutual agreement of separation. Benjamin F. Hunt, aged 87, and Julia A. Sherman, aged 97, were recently married at Watertown, N. Y.

THE natural habit of human beings appears to be the use of the teeth on the left side of the mouth for masticating the food. During a lengthened period of observation only one person out of 13 was found who used both sides of his mouth for chewing and masticating his food.

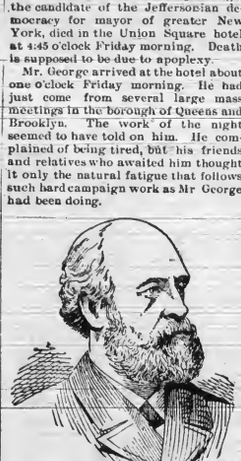
MALINDA L. HULBY, of St. Louis, can not open her eyes without sneezing. The cause of Malinda's distressing trouble is that her eyelashes grow in instead of out, and so she can not move the lids without being tickled into sneezing. An operation will be performed to remove the lashes.

MR. DANA has in recent years delivered his interesting lectures on journalism before many colleges in the country, to the delight and satisfaction of thousands of young men and women. He has predicted for the profession of newspaper making a higher dignity than it has ever occupied.

IT is said that Mm. Modjeska has made arrangements with a Warsaw publisher to undertake a complete translation of Shakspeare's dramatic works. Her translation of "As You Like It" and "Twelfth Night" have already been published.

IT seems that there is really a whistling language. It is in the Canary Islands that people whistle instead of speaking when they hold converse with each other. The language is composed of words, as it were, like any other language, and the inhabitants attain great proficiency in it, so that they can converse on all sorts of subjects.

DIED SUDDENLY.



Apoplexy Carries Off Henry George, Single Tax Advocate,

And Candidate of the Jefferson Democracy for Mayor of New York.

The Strain of the Campaign Too Much—His Demise Will Change the Whole Political Situation—George's Son Named to Take His Place.

NEW YORK, Oct. 30.—Henry George, the candidate of the Jeffersonian democracy for mayor of greater New York, died in the Union Square hotel at 4:45 o'clock Friday morning. Death is supposed to be due to apoplexy.

Mr. George arrived at the hotel about one o'clock Friday morning. He had just come from several large mass meetings in the borough of Queens and Brooklyn. The work of the night seemed to have told on him. He complained of being tired, but his friends and relatives who awaited him thought it only the natural fatigue that follows such hard campaign work as Mr George had been doing.

HENRY GEORGE.

Not long after reaching the hotel he retired. Mrs. George awaited him in Room 22 of the hotel. It was about 3:30 o'clock when Mrs. George was awakened. She found Mr. George sitting in an arm chair.

"I am not feeling quite comfortable," said Mr. George to his wife

"Won't you go back to bed?" inquired Mrs. George, anxiously.

"I will sit here awhile," was the answer.

Mrs. George at once grew anxious as to her husband's condition. Mr. George gradually grew incoherent and lapsed into semi-consciousness.

Mrs. George was now thoroughly alarmed and called her son, Henry George, jr., from an adjoining room. Frank Stevens was also called in.

Mr. George was now unconscious.

A call was sent to Dr. Kelly, of 117 East Fifty-ninth street, and he came without delay.

Mr. George was still unconscious. All efforts to revive him failed. Without sign of recognition to those around him he passed peacefully away at 4:45 o'clock.

Mrs. George was prostrated and was cared for by the friends of the family at the hotel.

Tom Johnson was immediately sent for and arrived at the hotel at 5:40 o'clock. He announced that a meeting of the George leaders would be held at the Everett house at 11 o'clock Friday morning to determine upon the course of action.

Frank Stevens, a personal friend of Mr. George and one of his campaign managers, was at the candidate's bedside after the fatal attack came. He said Friday morning:

"I came into the Union Square hotel at 1 o'clock Friday morning and found Mrs. George sitting at a table in the dining room with a few friends. Mr. George had just returned from the Central opera house, where he had delivered a speech.

"After a light meal Mr. George complained of indigestion. He soon retired after bidding us all good night. Mrs. George found him sitting in an arm chair about 3:30 o'clock. Soon after his condition became alarming and she summoned several of us. I went at once for the doctor and on my way stopped at the Waldorf and notified Mr. Johnson. He was greatly shocked and lost no time in getting down to the Union Square hotel.

"I then went to Mr. George's residence on Ninety-second street, South Brooklyn, and notified the members of the family there. His son Richard and his unmarried daughter were there at the time. With them were two nieces of Mr. George's, daughters of his brother Thomas, who resides in Philadelphia.".

C. L. Roskoph, one of the campaign managers, was at Union Square hotel early Friday morning. He said:

"The movements of the Jeffersonian democracy will go on as steadily as ever. Mr. George has said that should his election be not possible he preferred Mr. Low as next mayor. I believe the votes that would have gone to George will be thrown for Seth Low."

The election law of New York provides explicitly for the filling of vacancies whether caused by death, declination, or otherwise. It is required by law that with each list of candidates, whether nominated in convention or on petition, there shall be filed the names of one or more persons authorized to represent the convention or petitioners in such emergencies as may arise prior to the day of election., and these committees have authority to substitute a new name for that of any candidate dying or declining or being ascertained to be legally disqualified for any office for which the candidate is named. In the event of the nomination to fill a vacancy arising after the official ballots have been printed (which is probably the case now) pasters bearing the name of the new candidate are to be supplied as the regular ballots, these pasters, when placed upon the ballots, to have the same effect as though the name they bear had been printed upon the ballots.

Newspaper men who have been a part of the George campaign have felt that he was undergoing a strain which was surely and rapidly breaking him down. At times he has been incoherent. His whole temperament underwent a complete change. His speeches, delivered by half dozen each day, were often rambling, though their trend was ever faithful to the toilers whose devoted champion he has been all his life.

Mrs. George and Henry George, jr., have been solicitous regarding the effect of the terrible strain of his being bundled about from place to place each day and during the night making speeches before wildly enthusiastic gatherings of his admirers, and it has been noted again and again that his faithful wife sat beside her husband on the platform from which he spoke or watched closely from a place of vantage close by.

Mr George has not been strong for the past three years and his son, Henry George, jr., has been his companion in almost every enterprise in which he has engaged, going with him on his tours of the west as a special newspaper correspondent in the last presidential campaign, and keeping close at his side in his movements in the campaign.

Mr Low, candidate for mayor of Greater New York on the citizens' union ticket, regarding Henry George's death, said:

"The sudden death of Mr. George under the stress of the campaign is a great tragedy. No soldier on the battlefield ever gave his life for his country more evidently than Mr. George has laid down his life in behalf of the city of New York."

The George headquarters was the center of political interest Friday. The executive committee met at three o'clock Friday afternoon to decide whether a successor shall be named for Mr George's place.

The Thomas Jefferson democracy late Friday afternoon substituted the name of Henry George, jr., for the name of his father, Henry George, as candidate for mayor of Greater New York.

The body of Henry George will lie in state in the Grand Central Palace all day Sunday and Sunday evening the remains will be taken to the Brooklyn city hall, escorted by labor societies and other organizations.

Mr. George was an Episcopallan, but was not very regular in his attendance at church. His widow is a Catholic and it was often said that her husband intended to embrace Catholicism.

Gen. Tracy said Friday night: "I was greatly shocked at the news of Mr. George's death. I knew and esteemed him personally as a true, sincere and upright man and citizen. He was a man of earnest convictions and was courageous and able in upholding them. All must deplore his tragic and untimely death, and his family will have the sympathy of the whole community in their bereavement."

CHICAGO, Oct. 30.—Unless the death of Henry George causes a postponement, Henry George, jr., and Miss Marie Hitch, of Chicago, will be married on next Thanksgiving Day. Miss Hitch Friday received a telegram from Henry George, jr., notifying her of his father's death. She denied the report that Mr. George had asked for a postponement, and unless her fiance should later make such a request, the ceremony will take place in Chicago on the date originally agreed upon.

LONDON, Oct. 30.—The newspapers Friday devoted much attention to the death of Henry George, publishing long sketches of his career and philosophical and economical theories.

NEW YORK, Oct. 29.—Henry George was born at Philadelphia September 2, 1839. He received a common school education and then went into a counting room. He was also a sailor, and afterward learned the printer's trade. In 1858 he reached California, where he worked at the printer's case until 1866, when he became a reporter and afterward editor, working at different times on the San Francisco Times and Post. He returned to New York in 1880 and went to England and Ireland the following year, where he was twice arrested as a suspect, but afterwards released when his identity became established. Mr. George is best known to the world at large through his writings upon economic questions, notably his work entitled "Progress and Poverty," published in 1879. His other works are "Our Land and Land Policy," 1871; "Irish Land Question," 1881; "Social Problems," 1883; "Property in Land," a controversy with the duke of Argyle, 1884; "The Condition of Labor," an open letter to Pope Leo XIII., 1891; and a "Perplexed Philosopher" (Herbert Spencer), 1892. In 1886 Mr George was nominated by the United Labor party for mayor of New York, polling 68,000 votes, against 90,000 for Abram S. Hewitt, the democratic nominee and 60,000 for Theodore Roosevelt, now assistant secretary of the navy, republican. After his nomination for mayor by the labor party democrats a month ago, Mr. George made an extremely active canvass, speaking several times every evening and working from early to late at his headquarters.

He gave to the campaign its most sensational incidents. Its attacks on Richard Croker and Senator Platt, whom he threatened to prosecute for various crimes, such as levying blackmail upon city contractors and aspirants for office, should he be elected mayor His candidacy gave to the coming election its greatest element of uncertainty, for, according to expert politicians it was practically impossible to estimate how much of Bryan's vote of last year would go to George instead of Van Wyck.

The Gregory Will Contest.

CHICAGO, Oct. 30.—Probate Judge Kohlsaat Friday rendered his decision in the Gregory will case in favor of the plaintiff, Martha Clybourn. The contest over the million-dollar estate of Allen Gregory, "father of the stock yards," which has been in progress several days, proved a sensation. The plaintiff, Martha Clybourn, sought to establish her rights as the widow of Allen Gregory, and did so through the evidence given by Mrs. Lillia Gregory, of Kansas City, a niece of the millionaire.

Fire in a Mine.

SCRANTON, Pa., Oct. 30.—Fire broke out 1:30 o'clock Saturday morning in the main slope of the Von Storch mine. An extra force of men was at work timbering in the mine. Some are now being hoisted up the shaft. It can not be learned at this hour whether any men will be imprisoned or not. City firemen are helping to fight the flames which are burning fiercely.

CARELESS CLERK

Drops a Lighted Cigarette and Causes a Fire in St. Louis—The Wabash Building, Corner 7th and Chestnut Streets, Gutted.

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 28.—A lighted cigarette dropped by a thoughtless clerk is supposed to have caused the fire which Wednesday afternoon practically gutted the white stone building at the corner of Seventh and Chestnut streets occupied by the general offices of the Wabash railroad.

At 1:25 o'clock just after the clerks had returned from their noonday recess and were beginning work a policeman standing on the corner below noticed a small tongue of flame shoot out from a window in the fifth story of the building, which was used as a storage attic. Instantly a puff of dense black smoke followed and the officer rushed into the building shouting the alarm. Instantly there was a confused rush for every means of exit.

The attic was stored with old papers and documents and within five minutes was a roaring furnace. The whole floor seemed to suddenly burst into flame in every part. During all this excitement seven young women employed in one of the inner mailing rooms on the fourth floor had not been notified and were still working unconscious of their peril. When they did discover their situation, they found to their horror that it was impossible to reach the stairs as the stairway was burning fiercely. They appeared at the windows and a cry of horror went up from this streets.

"The fire escape," shouted the crowd, and the young women, comprehending, disappeared and a moment later climbed out on the iron platform of the escape. They hesitated, but the advancing flames gave them determination and they started on their descent, reaching the street in safety as a thunderingcheer went up.

With the first alarm the real estate agents who occupied the lower floor began removing their books and papers. Everything that could be gotten out was taken across the street to the massive new Walnwright building. Fire Chief Swingley sent in a general alarm, but owing to the narrow street and the network of wires it required 15 minutes to hoist and train the stand pipes.

By this time the two top floors of the building were doomed and it was apparent that the fire had gained such headway that the entire building must go. An order was given to cut the electric wires. Dense throngs blocked every thoroughfare. Without warning the wires were clipped and in an instant the throngs were madly falling back as flashes of blue and yellow lightning sputtered from the ends of the deadly wires that came falling to the ground. Nobody was injured, but a wire struck a fire horse, killing it in its tracks.

At 1:50 o'clock the roof fell with a crash sending burning embers into the air which fell on adjoining buildings and started fires, but prompt measures prevented farther conflagrations.

A. R. Field, a clerk, was carrying some books from the first floor when the crash came. Flying debris struck him on the head, tearing it open down to the end of the nose. He was quickly removed in an ambulance and his injuries [illegible].

Nothing was left of the two top floors but the broken walls, while the three lower floors suffered damage from water and falling debris. The fire came so suddenly that the Wabash company was prevented from saving anything. Every record in the office of the chief engineer, rights of way, real estate deeds and surveys of every description were destroyed. An officer of the company estimates their loss at $500,000. Real estate men place the valuation of the building at $400,000.

PULLMAN'S WILL.

Money Bequeathed for the Erection of a Manual Training School—About $150,000 Given to Charitable Institutions.

CHICAGO, Oct. 28.—The will of George M. Pullman was filed for probate Wednesday afternoon. To his widow he left the homestead on Prairie avenue. Sufficient funds are also set aside to provide her with an income of $50,000 yearly during her life. One million dollars each is left in trust for his two daughters, Mrs. Frank O. Lowden, of Chicago, and Mrs. Carolan, of San Francisco. An income of but $3,000 yearly is provided for his two sons, George M. jr., and Sanger W. Mrs. Lowden is also given the summer residence known as Castle Rest, on an island in the St. Lawrence river. About $150,000 in sums of $10,000 and $20,000 is left to various charitable institutions in Chicago. A sum of $300,000 is given for the erection of a manual training school in Pullman, which is also endowed with $1,200 000. Five old employes are given $5,000 each. Two sisters and two brothers of the dead millionaire are given $50,000 each, and another brother gets $25,000.

If the estate shall be more than sufficient to satisfy all the devises, trusts and legacies named, the executors are directed to divide the excess into two equal shares and add the same respectively to the two portions set aside for the daughters, Mrs. Lowden and Mrs. Carolan.

Norman R. Ream and Robt. T. Lincoln are appointed executors.

The total value of the estate is shown by the petition for letters testamentary to be $7,600,000. Of this amount $5,500,000 is personal property, and $800,000 realty. Attorney Runnels, who prepared the will, said that these figures are a conservative but fair estimate of the value of the estate.

Buried in Her Wedding Dress.

CYNTHIANA, Ky., Oct. 28.—The final scene in the tragedy that deprived poor Mary Burns of her life on her appointed wedding day was enacted Wednesday afternoon when the frail body of the beautiful girl was laid to rest in Battle Grove cemetery in the presence of a large concourse of friends, many of whom had assembled for the marriage Tuesday. She was buried in her wedding gown, and held in her hand a rose from the bridal bouquet. The aged father and mother were bowed with the weight of their sorrow, and their silent grief was pitiful

YELLOW FEVER.

Sixty-Five New Cases Reported at New Orleans Thursday.

Everything Being Done to Isolate the Cases—The Plague Spreading Among Children—Eight New Cases and Two Deaths Reported in Memphis.

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 29.—Thursday's record of new cases and deaths has not worked any material change in the yellow fever situation which, while not as bright as it might be, is not regarded by the board of health officials as alarming. In the matter of fatalities the unfavorable weather militates against the patients, though in comparison with the cases under treatment, the death rate is not considered excessive. The first reports received Thursday morning at the board of health indicated that the situation was improving somewhat, but later it appeared as though the day would be a record-breaker in the matter of new cases. There was a lull, however, and the situation remained unchanged.

Everything is being done to isolate the cases. It is noticed that the disease has been spreading among children whose ages range from 4 to 14 years. The board of health officials are having more work than they can attend to and the disinfecting corps can not fumigate premises as rapidly as is desired.

The board of health officially reports: Cases of yellow fever Thursday, 65; deaths, Thursday, 8; total cases of fever to date, 1,386; total deaths from yellow fever to date, 164; total cases of cases absolutely recovered, 683; total cases under treatment, 539.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Oct. 29.—Eight new cases and two deaths is Thursday's yellow fever record in this city.

New Cases—B. J. McLaughlin, Mrs. W. J. Bishop, — Smith, ten years old; Edward Garrard, C. H. Jordan, Jennie Parsons, Fannie Herron, R. W. Sherrer.

Deaths Thursday—E. B. Long, Mrs. Duke Cox.

THE GRAND JURY

Returns True Bills Against Sheriff Martin and His Deputies.

WILKESBARRE, Pa., Oct. 29.—The grand jury Thursday returned true bills against Sheriff Martin and his deputies for the Lattimer shooting. The true bills included 19 for murder, one for each man killed, and one for the victims considered collectively. Thirty-six true bills were found in the same way for felonious wounding against the same defendants. The fact that true bills have been found occasions no surprise as this action was expected. If the jury had ignored the bills the defendants would have been at once rearrested. The likelihood is that Sheriff Martin and his deputies will elect to be tried together. The re-entry of Garmun and McGahren, who withdrew from the case at the time of the preliminary hearing, indicates that the prosecution will be pushed with vigor.

WANTS A DIVORCE

Because Her Husband Would Not Wash His Feet.

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 29.—Julia R. Morgan seeks a decree from her husband, Frank, to whom she was married at Newton, Ill., August, 1891. She says her husband had a violent and quarrelsome disposition and adds:

"The defendant persistently refused to bathe, and when his feet and body gave off offensive odors and the plaintiff would remonstrate defendant would tauntingly say: 'Go and get some one else to live with.'"

She stood it until January 11, 1897, when she went home to her mother, and her husband left the city, from which he has since absented himself.

Grover Cleveland, Jr.

PRINCETON, N. J., Oct. 29.—A son was born to the household of Grover Cleveland, the former president of the United States at noon Thursday. It is said the newcomer resembles his parents in points of good health, but neither Mr. Cleveland nor the three family physicians will say anything in regard to the newcomer other than he is getting along nicely and is a fine boy. All afternoon Mr. Cleveland received at his home the many callers who wished to pay their respects to him in honor of the occasion.

Old Officers Re-Elected.

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Oct. 29.—At the second day's session of the 29th annual meeting of the Army of the Tennessee, the old officers were re-elected for the ensuing year, as follows: President, G. M. Dodge; corresponding secretary, Gen. A. Hickenlooper; recording secretary, Col. Cornelius Cadle; treasurer, Gen M. F. Force. The reunion closed with the usual banquet Thursday night.

Rescued by His Daughter.

UPPER SANDUSKY, O., Oct. 29.—Julius Zahn, an aged farmer of Salem Township, almost lost his life by being attacked by a bull. The animal turned on him while he was in the barn yard, and so injured him that fatal results are feared. He was rescued by his daughter, who succeeded in driving the bull away.

To Save Greater New York.

COALTON, O., Oct. 29.—"Citizen" George Francis Train took leave of Coxey and his wife here Thursday with the words, "Goodby, governor. I leave at the eleventh hour to save Greater New York."

Pullman's Will Will Not Be Contested.

CHICAGO, Oct. 29.—There is to be no contest of the Pullman will, so both sons of the dead palace car magnate declared Thursday. Said George M. Pullman: "The idea of wishing to contest my father's will never entered my head, nor my brother's head, either. No steps have been taken and none will be taken to break the will."

No Yellow Fever at Masatlan.

SAN DIEGO, Cal., Oct. 29.—A. V. Lomli, Mexican consul at this place, received a telegram from Gov. Sanglios at Ensenada, denying positively that there is any yellow fever at Mazatlan.

How to Cook.

Cooking is a fine art, which must be learned by study. Good books on the subject are necessary. Among the best now published is a little work containing four hundred recipes from the best authorities. It can be had free of cost by sending a stamp to the Cleveland Baking Powder Co., New York. ELIZA R. PARKER.

Her Mistake.

"Your wife doesn't seem to improve in health?"

"No; as fast as she gains strength, she uses it up telling people what is the matter with her."—Chicago Record.

There Is a Class of People.

Who are injured by the use of coffee. Recently there has been placed in all the grocery stores a new preparation called GRAIN-O, made of pure grains, that takes the place of coffee. The most delicate stomach receives it without distress, and but few can tell it from coffee. It does not cost over ¼ as much. Children may drink it with great benefit. 15 cts. and 25 cts. per package. Ask for GRAIN-O.

The girl in love who has a rival should keep an eye on her—and if the rival is a widow keep both eyes on her.—Chicago News.

We have not been without Piso's Cure for Consumption for 20 years.—Lizzie Ferrel, Camp St., Harrisburg, Pa., May 4, '94.

When some men have nothing else to do, they argue religion.—Washington Democrat.

Neuralgia is cured by St. Jacobs Oil. Use it. You'll see it.

The miner cannot hope to succeed unless he gets down to business.—Chicago News.

Old or new rheumatic pains Cured by St. Jacobs Oil.

A girl who thinks she is pretty, soon shows that she thinks so.—Washington Democrat.

Catarrh in the Head

Suffered with It for Five Years, but Hood's Sarsaparilla Cured.

"I had catarrh in my head and suffered with it for five years. I was also troubled with weakness. I have taken Hood's Sarsaparilla and it entirely cured the catarrh, built up my system and did me a great deal of good." W. E. MELLOWAY, Columbia, Missouri. Remember

Hood's Sarsaparilla

Is the best—in fact the One True Blood Purifier.

Hood's Pills cure sick headache. 25c

TENNESSEE'S BEAUTY

SPEAKS FOR HER SEX.

Pearl Ogden

Doyle's Station, Tenn., writes: Dr. M. A. Simmons Liver Medicine needs no commendation. It speaks for itself. It cures Liver Disorders and breaks up Biliousness and Bilious Colic. I think it is far better than "Thedford's Black Draught."

Menstrual Suppression.

This occurs in early womanhood, especially when the constitution is not strong. It may result from sudden exposure to cold, immersion of the hands and feet in cold water, sitting on the cold ground or damp grass, sedentary habits, confining occupations, continued standing on the feet, irregular hours and forcing the development of the mind at school. Rest is essential and moderate exercise in the open air most beneficial. The bowels should be opened at least once a day by small doses of Dr. M. A. Simmons Liver Medicine, and the restorative effects of Dr. Simmons Sugar Vine Wine should be secured by taking regularly a dose three times a day for several weeks.

A. V. Beets

Celina, Tenn., writes: Have used Dr. M. A. Simmons Liver Medicine 10 years for Sick Stomach, Loss of Flesh, Low Spirits. It also cures Liver Disease, Biliousness, Constipated Bowels. It does not gripe, and takes less to operate on me than either "Black Draught" or "Zeilin's," and it has a more thorough and gentle effect, and leaves my system in better condition than either "Black Draught" or "Zeilin's."

General Lassitude.

We are provided with five organs for keeping the blood pure; they are the skin, the kidneys, the liver, the lungs and the bowels. The blood becomes impure for one or both of two reasons:

First, something impure has been put into it; Second, the five excretory organs have not been sufficiently active.

Owing to its complicated formation, the blood is liable to many morbid changes. If any of the organs just mentioned are not in perfect working order, so that impurities are retained, the blood becomes disordered and even diseased. When impurities are absorbed by the tissues, causing eruptions, fevers, lassitude and langour. For relieving the suffering of a healthful condition there is no medicine so effective as Dr. M. A. Simmons Liver Medicine.

A HOT TIME

THE FIRESIDE SUPPLY CO., of Zanesville, Ohio, has decided to make AN UNPARALLED OFFER as a means of advertising and extending its business.

OUR NO. 11 OAK! AN AIR-TIGHT ..HEATING.. ...STOVE... $6.25!

Will be sold for 90 Days at the unheard-of price of $6.25! We do not use you as a "pig in a poke." Send postal for our booklet containing full information and you'll be convinced that WE MEAN BUSINESS.

FIRESIDE SUPPLY CO., ZANESVILLE, OHIO.

Write us NOW. If you don't, next time you think of it the paper containing this advertisement will have disappeared.

SEND YOUR NAME ON A POSTAL CARD AND WE WILL SEND YOU OUR 156 PAGE ILLUSTRATED CATALOGUE FREE.

WINCHESTER REPEATING ARMS CO.
160 WINCHESTER AVE., NEW HAVEN, CONN.

PISO'S CURE FOR CURES WHERE ALL ELSE FAILS. Best Cough Syrup. Tastes Good. Use in time. Sold by druggists. CONSUMPTION 25 CTS

DROPSY NEW DISCOVERY gives quick relief and cures worst cases. Send for book of testimonials and 10 days' treatment Free. Dr. H. H. GREEN'S SONS, Atlanta, Ga.

WHEN WRITING TO ADVERTISERS please state that you saw the Advertisement in this paper.

LYING IN STATE.

The Remains of Henry George Viewed by 30,000 People.

Floral Tributes Were Numerous—The Funeral Ceremonies Were Impressive, After Which the Remains Were Interred on Ocean Hill, Greenwood.

NEW YORK, Nov. 1.—The body of Henry George lay in state Sunday in the Grand Central Palace and 30,000 people reverently passed the casket and looked upon the face of the dead philosopher. From 9 o'clock in the morning till 3 in the afternoon a stream of men, women and children poured into the hall.

The immense throng was composed of representatives of all classes of all shades of life, and all religious opinion. On every face was stamped the unmistakable signs of sincere regret, while hundreds o. faces were drawn with suffering and pain. To thousands of those who passed by Henry George was personally known, and it was these who lingered for a longer moment to gaze again on the face of the man whom to know was to love.

Some of them wept. The children, of whom there were hundreds, were raised along by the guard and held up while they gazed at the features of the man who died fighting to brighten their lives.

In the early dawn the body was moved in a plain hearse from Union Square hotel to the Grand Central Palace, unattended save by the guards of honor and four policemen. Behind the hearse came a single carriage. Anna George, the youngest daughter, who insisted upon accompanying the body to the Grand Central Palace. No persuasion could sway her from her purpose.

Weeping bitterly, she stood at the head of the stairs at the hotel and begged to be permitted to go. She wished to arrange the flowers about the casket in which her father's remains reposed. Pleadings proving vain, she became importunate and refused to permit the body to be taken away unless she accompanied it. The other members of the family, their grief emphasized by the child's utter abandon of anguish, yielded, and Richard George, her brother, accompanied her to the palace. There, with loving hands, she arranged the flowers as she would have them, and permitted no one to render the slightest aid.

At 9 o'clock the doors opened and immediately several hundred persons who were in waiting without entered the hall with bowed heads. They saw at the head of the hall in an immense bower of floral tributes a plain, heavy black cloth-covered casket resting on a dais. Through the glass they saw the remains of the great man reposing calmly, his features unruffled as if in sleep. The left arm rested lightly on the breast, the other by the side. The remains were clad in black broadcloth, a turndown collar and a plain black tie.

For the first half hour the throng filing up the hall in twos passed at the rate of 1,500 an hour, but shortly the numbers swelled and grew until at one time 80 passed each minute. At this rate, 4,800 an hour, the crowd passed until the churches emptied their audiences into the vast concourse, which was winding its way down from Forty-sixth street to the Palace, and which filled Forty-sixth street and Third avenue for many blocks. For the last two hours the crowd came at the rate of 6,000 an hour. This is the highest rate obtainable under such circumstances as these. Any great celerity would have meant an undignified, irreverential rush.

August Lewis, a prominent single taxer, wept bitterly as he passed by and tenderly laid a bunch of violets on the glass. A woman who followed in the line about an hour later placed a modest buneh of pinks beside the violets.

A little before 3 o'clock the line was stopped and those who could not get in were compelled to turu back and get out from the police lines. A careful estimate of the number who could not get in is 30,000. This number is equal to the number of those who passed the casket. Then another throng came—those who wished to hear the eminent clergyman praise Henry George. During the last hour an orchestra played Copin's funeral march, Handel's "Largo" and "The Lost Chord."

At the back of the platform, on a heavy crepe back ground, was a portrait of Henry George surrounded with American flags. At the front of the platform stood a bust of the fallen leader modeled by his son Richard. At the foot of the pedestal upon which the casket rested were numerous floral tributes, including a cross, from one arm of which hung a wreath of white and pink roses from Mr. and Mrs. Tom L. Johnson; a wreath of immortelles and pink orchids from Joseph Pulitzer; roses and chrysanthemums in a wreath, from John C. Milholland. On the card was written: "This to his memory, for I hold him dear. He was honest, he was brave and he loved the people." Chief McCullagh was in personal command of the police arrangements. There were 655 policemen on duty in the neighborhood and in the Palace. By the gentlemanly conduct of every patrolman it was possible to handle the great crowd without any disagreeable circumstances.

The crowd came down the avenue five deep and was passed through the halls in twos. Those going to the right passed across a bridge into the Grand Central station. Those who went to the left proceeded down a short flight of stairs into Depew place.

Before 3 o'clock the people were permitted to occupy the seats in the hall. The front six rows in the main part of the auditorium were reserved for the family, the immediate friends of the deceased, the pall bearers and the ushers.

All the rest of the main floor was open to the crowd and it took but a short time to fill the hall.

The family and intimate friends occupied reserved seats on the right hand facing the platform. Young Henry George occupied the chair next to the aisle in the front row and his mother was beside him. Mrs. George was heavily veiled when she entered the hall, but during the speaking she raised her veil and followed the remarks of each speaker attentively. While showing plainly the strain that she has passed through, Mrs. George maintained her composure with stern fortitude.

To the right of Mrs. George were seated the other members of the family and relatives, including Richard George, a son of the philosopher, and his daughter, Miss Anna George, John V. George, a brother of the deceased, and other relatives were present.

The honorary pallbearers, some of whom sat on the platform, included Mayor William E. Strong, of New York; Mayor Frederick W. Wurster, of Brooklyn; Willis J. Abbett, Albert L. Johnson, John P. Cranford, Charles W. Dayton, George Carey Eggleston, Horace White, Edward McHugh, Bolton Hall, John Milmer, Charles O'Connor Hennessey, John Swinton, Lawson Purdy, John H. Girdner, A. Van Dusen, John R. Waters, M. R. Leverson, Frank Stephens and Robert Schalkenback.

The committee which had charge of the funeral arrangements included Reuben Walker, Hamlin Garland, James Clarence Harvey and others who also acted as pallbearers.

The exercises began at 3:25 with the singing of the hymn "Lead, Kindly Light," by the Plymouth church quartette. Rev. Dr. Heber Newton, who was Mr. George's warm personal friend as well as pastor, then read the burial service. Dr. Newtou did not wear his priestly robes, and he had no reading desk. The service was therefore, in a way, entirely informal, there being also no responses. It was however, the regular burial service of the Episcopal church. The only music rendered in connection with it was the chanting of the Lord's prayer.

At the conclusion of the burial service Rev. Dr. Lyman Abbott spoke briefly upon the character and public services of Henry George.

Rabbi Gotlieil spoke next.

After another hymn by the choir, Rev. Dr. McGlynn spoke. Prior to his address the vast assemblage had preserved a church-like quiet, but the ringing words of Dr. McGlynn soon evoked an outburst of applause which could not be repressed. Dr. McGlynn said in part:

"The place where we meet here this afternoon is not one dedicated to religion or to the service of God, but has generally been used for purposes of recreation or amusement or of art. It has never been made sacred, and we meet here upon holy ground and stand ashened in the presence of a message directed to us from the throne of God. It is no ordinary message. The messenger of death has been brought to our hearts that which has immeasurably shocked us.

"We stand upon ground that is made sacred by the memories of a man who was raised from among us by our father in Heaven to spread the messages of truth and righteousness and justice and peace to all.

"He died in a struggle for the cause of humanity, especially that of New York, but it was altogether too small for his broad mind and indomitable energy.

"He was simply a seer, a prophet a forerunner sent by God, and we can say in all reverence and in the words of the Scriptures, that there was a man sent from God whose name was John. He was sent to bear witness of the light. I believe I am not guilty of profanation of the Scriptures when I say there was a man sent from God and his name was Henry George.

"Henry George's gentle heart was ready to break because he saw that nothing came from the professors of the schools of politicaleconomy which could improve the condition of the people, because the basis of the knowledge of those economists was hardly to be considered within the bounds of science at all.

"Truly it was designed by providence to raise up such a man before the world to expose the fallacy and the injustice of their reasoning.

"Wherever word has gone that Henry George is dead, his teachings live and his voice is heard though he lies still in death. His works have been read throughout the world and in every language known in the universe George speaks to all humanity to-day."

John S. Crosby, who has been one of the most active campaigners for Henry George, was the last speaker, and the only layman who spoke.

The last address was concluded shortly after five o.clock, and the meeting was dismissed, with directions from a member of the committee as to the manner of dismissal from the hall. Nearly all of those present took advantage of the opportunity to view the face of Henry George, and the march past his coffin was continued as it had been in progress during the day.

Simple private services were held at 10 o'clock Monday morning at the family residence. Revs. George and Lattimer, of Philadelphia, friends of the deceased and both Episcopal clergymen, officiated.

The body was carried to Greenwood and interred in the family lot on Ocean Hill, looking on the Atlantic.

The Murderer Escaped.

NORRISTOWN, Pa., Nov. 1.—Joseph Carozzo, an Italian, was shot and killed late Saturday night during a quarrel at Barsham, about four miles from this city. James Wheeler, colored, of Philadelphia, charged with the crime, was located in Philadelphia Sunday. Two detectives went to a second floor room to arrest him. He knocked them down and jumped from the window to the street. Two other detectives attempted to capture Wheeler, but he broke away and escaped under fire from the detectives.

Big Fire at Ludlow, Pa.

BRADFORD, Pa., Nov. 1.—A special from Ludlow, Pa., to the Era says the large tannery of John G. Curtiss, was totally destroyed by fire Sunday afternoon. For a time the town was threatened by the fire and a call for assistance was sent to Warren. The fire department of that place responded and arrived in time to prevent the fire from spreading to the town. The loss will not be less than $150,000.

Thirty-Five New Fever Cases.

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 1.—Board of health report: Cases of yellow fever Sunday, 35; deaths Sunday, 5; total cases of yellow fever to date, 1,510; total deaths from yellow fever to date, 183; total cases absolutely recovered, 745; total cases under treatment, 582.

The influenza has reappeared in Berlin and many persons have been attacked by it.

LONG-EXPECTED

Cablegram From Minister Woodford Received—Neither Language Nor Subject Matter Likely to Be Taken as Offensive.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 28.—The event of the day at the state department was the receipt of the long-expected cablegram from United States Minister Woodford at Madrid, transmitting the answer of the Spanish government to his representatives in the interest of peace in Cuba. This message began to come in installments at two o'clock Tuesday night, and it was nearly noon Wednesday before it was all in hand at the state department. It was not the length of the message that occupied the wires all that time, but the fact that it was in all groups of figures and it was probably filed in small batches as it was turned into the complicated state department cipher in Madrid. All of this work had to be undone at the state department and the message translated from the cipher back again into good English. This occupied nearly all of the day, so that it was half past 3 before the first fair copy of the message was turned out. It was not so long, in fact, there were a little less than 1,000 words in the message, for Mr. Woodford tustead of cabling the whole of the Spanish answer to his note he summarized it with reducing the matter to a brief outline. The first copy was taken at once to the president, not being entrusted to a messenger, but being delivered by Chief Clerk Michaels in person at the white house. After due opportunity had been allowed the president to read the message, an application was made for a statement of its contents or nature. This was declined by Secretary Porter, and it was said that under no circumstances would the correspondence be made public before consideration by the cabinet.

From unofficial information that has reached certain administration officials in advance of this message by Minister Woodford's as to the nature of the Spanish reply, it is evident that the neither language nor subject matter in the communication likely to be taken as offensive by our government. It may be, it is true, regarded as insufficient to meet the issue presented by Mr. Woodford in his note, but officials of the state department say that in view of what has already been accomplished by the new Spanish cabinet in reforming abuses in Cuba, in removing Weyler and in projecting what appears to be a liberal measure of autonomy, our government will certainly rest, at least until congress assembles, and afford the new Spanish government a reasonable time to carry out its plans.

In his annual report to the adjutant general of the army, Maj. Gen. John R. Brooke, commanding the department of the Missouri, says that a large amount of traveling by rail has been done by troops during the past summer, and this has been a source of education to officers and men. As in our small army, any concentration of troops will, of necessity, be by rail, the experience is of great importance, not only to the troops but to the transportation companies as well. Gen. Brooke says there has been no trouble during the past year in the Indian country.

Many improvements are required at Forts Brady and Wayne in Michigan, now occupied by the 19th infantry, and Fort Sheridan and other posts require more buildings. Fort Sheridan, says General Brooke, has never been completed according to the original plan, and no effort should be spared to put it on a proper footing.

The Apache prisoners of war at Fort Sill are still under the care of the army and it is not believed to be advisable to make any change at present.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 28.—Gen. Flagler, chief of the bureau of ordnance, has submitted his annual report to the secretary of war. The amount expended was $4,901,108. During the year 34,564 rifles were furnished the militia of the states. A large share of the report is given to details of the business of the Rock Island, Watertown and Watervliet arsenals. From the Sandy Hook proving ground many guns, mortars and carriages have been sent to sea-coast fortifications. Satisfactory results have been obtained with smokeless powders. The report is devoted largely to the technical discussion of ordnance which has been done during the year, including the work on sea-coast defense and field guns, small arms, powders and equipments of the army.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 28.—Assistant Secretary Vanderlip Wednesday authorized the director of the bureau of engraving and printing to print and deliver to the treasurer of the United States the following silver certificates: Fives—600,000 sheets, making $12,000,000; tens—300,000 sheets, making $12,000,000; twenties—50,000 sheets, making $4,000,000; total $28,000,000.

The president and Mrs. McKinley entertained a few friends at an informal musicale at the white house Wednesday night. In addition to the members of the cabinet and their ladies the guests included Maj. and Mrs. Heiston, Maj. and Mrs. Rand and Col. and Mrs. Bingham. During the evening Horace Sims, the boy soprano singer from Racine, Wis., entertained the gathering with several selections.

Must Have Better Fire Protection.

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., Oct. 28.—The city officials of Knoxville have been notified that the city must have better fire protection or all insurance rates would be raised.

Will Not Compromise With Spain.

NEW YORK, Oct. 28.—Tomas Estrada Palma, the Cuban delegate to the United States, when asked his opinion of the Cuban reforms proposed by the Spanish ministry, said: "As the representative of the Cuban provisional government I am in a position to state most emphatically that the Cubans in arms will enter into no compromise with Spain."

Senator Morgan Improving.

SAN DIEGO, Cal., Oct. 28.—Senator Morgan is slowly improving but still confined to his bed. There was no much change Wednesday.

SEAL QUESTION.

Important Stage in the Conference Has Been Reached.

The Agreement Said to Be Acceptable to the United States and Russia—The Establishment of New Weather Stations in Important Centers.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 29.—In reliable quarters it is stated that the conference between Russia, Japan and the United States now proceeding here in reference to sealing in the Behring sea and the North Pacific, has advanced to an important stage, and that a proposition has been reduced to writing, which, if accepted, will bring about a complete change in the sealing question. The proposition is said to be acceptable to the United States. It is understood to be acceptable similarly to the Russian delegates now here, but in view of the restrictions placed upon them by their credentials, it has been thought desirable to cable to St. Petersburg for final instructions. The Japanese delegates are understood to have felt at first that the proposition would not be in their interest, but on fuller conference Mr. Fujita determined to cable the substance of the proposition to his government accompanying it with a recommendation of its acceptance. Little doubt is entertained that Russia will accept the proposition, and in view of Mr. Fujita's recommendation it is believed that Japan also will join in it. The greatest secrecy is preserved in all officials quarters as to the nature of the proposition, and it is not officially admitted that any proposition has been made. From equally reliable sources it is understood that the proposition has a far-reaching scope, and provides for the material limitation or entire suspension of pelagic sealing, or sealing on the high seas. Such a decisive step, if effected to by Russia, Japan and the United States would, it is understood, involve any concerted move to menace the claims of Great Britain and Canada to the right of pelagic sealing on the high seas but would rather be a proposition expressive of the conclusions of the three most interested powers that, in the interests of humanity and the preservation of the seal herds of their respective governments, all nations, including Great Britain and her colony, Canada, should unite with Russia, the United States and Japan in such effective prevention of pelagic sealing on the high seas as will put an end to it and thereby secure the preservation of the seals.

Chief Moore, of the United States weather bureau, in his annual report to Secretary Wilson, calls for an appropriation of $1,044,050 for the next fiscal year and says this will admit of the establishment and equipment of new stations in important centers of population. Establishment of stations in the southwestern part of the country, embracing Nevada, Utah, Arizona, New Mexico and southern California, where storms frequently originate, is urged. An investigation has been made as to the influence of climate, season and weather on sunstroke and the conclusion reached that sunstroke becomes imminent during the summer months when the mean temperature of any one day, or of several successive days, equals or nearly equals the normal maximum temperature for the period. Twenty experimental kite-flying stations are contemplated this year, and confidence in the great value of the ultimate result is expressed.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 29.—It is possible as a result of the change made in the leadership of the Marine band, the engagement of that organization to furnish music for the Chicago Horse show may fail. The contracts for this engagement, it is said, were made by Prof. Fanciulli, the retiring leader. He arranged the progamme in co-operation with the officers of the Chicago show, and this programme, which has already been published, includes several numbers of Prof. Fanciulli's own compositions. It is now said to be doubtful whether the Chicago people will be content with the change in the personnel of the band which the department's action has brought about.

In order to escape further criticism at the hands of the labor organizations the navy department has laid down the rule that hereafter the Marine band shall not be allowed to play in any city where they might be regarded as competing with civilian bands. All of the bandmen have been enlisted with an understanding that they might eke out their slender pay as enlisted marines by playing outside engagements. Most of them are men of family who could not subsist upon a marines' pay, so that this order is expected to result in the refusal of most of the bandsmen to reenlist, and in the case of the more noted musicians, in their having their discharge, so that the future of the famous old Marine band is in doubt.

Distilleries Starting Up.

PEORIA, Ill., Oct. 29.—The distilling business here is beginning to take on its winter activity. The Monarch distillery started up Thursday at a daily capacity of 4,000 bushels, and the Atlas, the big anti-trust house, increased its capacity from 3,000 to 5,000 bushels. The Great Western, whose capacity has been increased during the summer to 10,000 bushels, will open up November 15. The large stock of spirits on hand is being rapidly redueed.

Diplomatic Support Only.

MADRID, Oct. 29.—It is understood that in the replies of the European governments Spain is given to understand that only diplomatic support will be given to her in the event of a rupture of peaceful relations with the United States. Some of the continental governments, especially Germany, are understood to expressly repudiate the validity of the Monroe doctrine.

Thanksgiving Day.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 29.—President McKinley will issue his first thanksgiving proclamation Friday. It will fix Thursday, November 25, as the date.

ANNUAL REPORT

Of the Secretary of Agriculture—Recommends Increased Appropriation to Aid Animal Industry.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 30.—Secretary Wilson Friday presented his report to the president reviewing the operations of the agricultural department for the past year. The most important recommendation made by him is one that agents for the department should be stationed at each of our more important American embassies for the collection of information of interest to American farmers.

The secretary recommends an increase in the appropriations in aid of the bureau of animal industry, of the weather bureau and publication offices. He thinks the department should be enabled to place the result of important operations at agricultural colleges before the entire country, "so that the farmers of each state may get the result of the good work done in other states." He refers to the efforts of the department to aid the foreign markets for our dairy and live stock products, which he thinks can be done by making the foreigners familiar with them. Instead of seeking abroad for seeds he says the policy in the future will be "to encourage the introduction of such seeds as will enable our people to diversify their crops and keep money at home that is now sent abroad to buy what the United States should produce.

Mr. Wilson says the department will continue its pioneer work in the encouragement of the sugar beet and expresses the opinion that the country will within a few years raise all the sugar it requires. He expresses the opinion that nearly all of the $382,000,000 sent abroad last year for sugar, hides, fruits, wines, animals, rice, flax, hemp, cheese, wheat, barley, beans, eggs and silk might have been kept at home. He also thinks the United States should grow their chicory, castor beans, lavender, licorice, mustard, opium, etc.

With reference to horses the secretary says: The American farmer can grow horses as cheaply as he can grow cattle. We have a heavy and profitable export trade in cattle, and may have an export trade equally heavy and profitable in horses. The department is gathering facts regarding our horse industry at home and the requirements of purchasers abroad, so that our farmers can learn what foreign buyers demand.

The most important work in which the animal industry bureau has been engaged is that looking to the destruction of the cattle tick, for which it is believed that an agent has been found in a petroleum product known as paraffine oil, in which infected cattle are dipped.

Commissioner Forman, of the internal revenue bureau, has decided that unused case stamps for distilled spirits bottled in bond, can not be redeemed by the government. These stamps are issued to distillers for their own benefit and protection and have no relation to the collection of internal revenue tax. As the name of the distiller is printed on the stamps they are not available for use by other parties, and hence the commissioner declines to redeem them at the government's expense.

Gen. Longstreet Succeeds Gen. Hampton.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 30.—President McKinley Friday appointed Gen. James Longstreet, of Georgia, commissioner of railroads, vice Gen. Wade Hampton, resigned.

THANKSGIVING PROCLAMATION.

Thursday, November 25, Set Apart for National Thanksgiving and Prayer.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 30.—President McKinley Friday issued his first Thanksgiving day proclamation as follows:

In remembrance of God's goodness to us during the past year, which has been so abundant, "let us offer unto Him our thanksgiving and pay our vows unto the Most High." Under His watchful providence industry has prospered, the conditions of labor have been improved, the rewards of the husbandman have been increased, and the comforts of our homes multiplied. His mighty hand has preserved peace and protected the nation. Respect for law and order has been strengthened, love of our institutions cherished, and all sections of our beloved country brought into closer bonds of fraternal regard and generous co-operation.

For these great benefits it is our duty to proclaim the Lord in a spirit of humility and gratitude and to offer up to Him our most earnest supplications. That we may acknowledge our obligation as a people to him who has so graciously bestowed us the blessings of free government and material prosperity I, William McKinley, president of the United States, do hereby designate and set apart Thursday, the twenty-fifth day of November, for national thanksgiving and prayer, which all of the people are invited to observe with appropriate religious services in their respective places of worship. On this day of rejoicing and domestic reunion let our prayers ascend to the giver of every good and perfect gift for the continuance of his love and favor to us, that our hearts may be filled with charity and good will, and that we may be ever worthy of beneficient concern.

In witness whereof I have hereunto set my hand and caused the seal of the United States to be affixed.

Done at the city of Washington this twenty-ninth day of October, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and ninety-seven, and of the independence of the United States one hundred and twenty-second.

[SEAL.] WILLIAM MCKINLEY.

An Opinion in the Lake Front Case.

CHICAGO, Oct. 30.—Corporation Counsel Thornton Friday rendered an opinion holding that the Illinois Central railroad has no right to the submerged land it is filling in at the foot of Twenty-sixth and Twenty-seventh streets, covering an area of about seven acres. He holds that since the submerged lands are held in trust by the state for the people, it has no authority to permit them to be filled in except for the benefit of the whole people. The case will probably be taken into court.

Striking Miners Arrested.

PITTSBURGH, Pa., Oct. 30.—Thirty-five striking miners were arrested Friday near the Oak Hill mines, of the New York and Cleveland Gas Coal Co., charged with unlawful assemblage at Turtle creek. They were preparing to make a demonstration but the deputies intervepted them and arrested the entire party. There was no violence, and the procession, after the arrests, headed by the deputies and followed by Superintendent T. E. Dearmit, was marched to Turtle creek. The men were later brought to Pittsburgh where charges of unlawful assemblage were entered against them.

AUSTRIA'S GRAIN CROP.

American Wheat Being Imported in Quantity by Way of Hamburg.

Large Purchases Also Made Through the Vienna Produce Exchange—A Report Prepared by Frank H. Hitchcock, Chief of the Section of Markets.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 1.—Secretary Wilson, of the department of agriculture, has issued a report, prepared under his direction by Frank H. Hitchcock, chief the section of foreign markets, that gives some interesting facts relative to the present wheat shortage in Austria-Hungary and the consequent importation into that country of American grain. According to the United States consul at Reichenberg, Austria, an importation of 400 carloads of American wheat was made as early as August, coming by way of Hamburg. Other importations were reported, among them one of 36,700 bushels of red winter No. 2 and Kansas wheat, purchased through the Vienna produce exchange. After recounting these unusual importations of the present season, the bulletin presents a careful review of the grain situation in Austria-Hungary during the past ten years. The crops of the present season are remarkably small. If the official estimates quoted are fulfilled, the combined wheat production of Austria and Hungary will amount to little more than 130,000,000 bushels, or 50,000,000 bushels short of the crop harvested in 1896; which was estimated at about 190,000,000 bushels. Aside from the abnormal conditions of the present year, annual statistics of production, importation and exportation during the decade make it apparent that a marked change has occurred in the last few years as regards the grain situation in Austria-Hungary. The tendency of the various cereals has been towards a larger home consumption of the national product and consequent redenction of the surplus available for shipment to other lands. Most of the cereals are now brought into the country in larger quantities than they are exported. Barley is the only grain of which any considerable amount continues to be shipped abroad. In respect to other cereals the status of the monarchy is apparently that of transition from an exporting into an importing country. While it is hardly to be expected that these changed conditions will to any considerable extent create an enlarged demand for American cereals, the facts set forth are certainly of interest as indicating the lessened importance of Austria-Hungary among the countries with which the United States is obliged to compete in the grain marts of the world. The flour trade with Brazil is large and increasing, reaching 110,934 barrels per annum during 1891-95. This increasing hold upon the markets should be controlled exclusively by United States millers.

FIRE IN A MINE.

Five Men Lose Their Lives in the Von Storch Slope—Two Bodies Rescued.

SCRANTON, Pa., Nov. 1.—Five of the eight men who were Friday night caught in the Von Storch slope by fire in the shaft, perished during the night. The remaining three escaped from the Diamond vein by a cross heading into the gangway where the air was pure and reached the surface Saturday morning.

The dead are: Thomas Hill, foreman of the night shift, married and leaves a widow and five children, Thomas McDonald, laborer, widower, three children; John Yankowski, laborer, married; John Moran, track layer, single; John J. Farrell, pump runner, single.

When the fire broke out in the main gangway of the slope there were 36 men and boys in the mine. Ten left the mine before the fire occurred and ten of them made their way to the hoisting shaft and were brought to the surface before the fire had cut off their means of escape. When it became kaown about 1:30 Saturday morning that eight men and boys were still in the mine hundreds of citizens flocked to the mouth of the slope. Charles Ziegler, superintendent of the mine, and a number of the miners started down the slope to attempt to rescue the men. They were driven back, however, by the smoke and forced to return to the surface.

The city firemen, with a double line of hose, then went into the slope to extinguish the flames. They had a thrilling experience and narrowly escaped suffocation, one of their number being brought to the surface unconscious. The men had descended about 275 feet when suddenly the air current changed. The smoke was forced toward the mouth of the slope and the rescuers had to drop the hose and run for their lives. Councilman Patrick Gordon, who was a member of the party, when within 25 feet of the opening, sank exhausted. Several of the men volunteered to rescue him and he was found unconscious but later recovered.

About 8 o'clock the firemen had succeeded in getting the fire under control. As soon as this had been accomplished the rescuing party entered the mine and found the five men dead from suffocation.

The fire broke out about one o'clock Saturday morning at a point 300 feet from the mouth of the shaft, but the origin is not known.

Cutting Affray at Augusta.

AUGUSTA, Ky., Nov. 1.—A free-for-all fight occurred here in the saloon of Joseph and Philip Gallenstein between the proprietors and William Woodruff, the latter's son Robert and Charles Worthington. The two Gallenstein boys were badly cut. Young Philip Gallenstein received two dangerous cuts. His brother Joseph was beat about the head in a horrible manner. Marshal Sayers and posses are in hot pursuit of the would-be murderers, and further trouble is looked for, as the pursued are recognized as desperate men.

BOONE : COUNTY : RECORDER

Wednesday Nov., 3, 1897.

Rates of Subscription:

One year..... $1 50.
Six months..... 75.
Three months..... 40.

☞Payable invariably in advance.

THE RECORDER

SOLICITS YOUR

Job Work,

NOTE HEADS,
LETTER HEADS,
ENVELOPES,
CARDS,
BILL HEADS,
STATEMENTS,
SALE BILLS,
AND DODGER BILLS,

Printed at the Lowest Prices consistent with neat work.

Send your order by mail and it will be attended promptly.

STATE NEWS.

All the turnpikes in Anderson county are now free.

Scarlet fever is epidemic in many localities of the State.

Wild geese are plentiful on the lower Ohio river sloughs.

In a drunken fight at Lancaster Ed Kennedy's hand was shot off by a negro.

Madisonville business men are raising a fund for the prosecution of housebreakers.

Thomas Clark, of Danville, accidently shot and killed himself while hunting.

Houstonville people haul water a distance of five miles and sell it at twenty-five cents a barrel.

Several schools in Casey and Russell counties have closed on account of the scarcity of water.

I. S. Dunning, a Crotton farmer, while coughing, ruptured a blood vessel and died in consequence.

Allie Dejarnette, a thirteen-year old boy, was dragged to death by a runaway horse at Hardinsburg.

Johnson's distillery in Madison county was robbed of a lot of brandy and then the torch was applied.

Sanford Ramey, colored, of this city, has received $560 on back pension due him.—Georgetown Enterprise.

Hon. Z. W. Bugg, one of the most prominent lawyers in Western Kentucky, died at his home in Wickliffe.

Walter Hahn, an inmate of the Hopkinsville asylum, was killed by getting his head fastened between slats of a fence.

W. R. Abbott one of the most prominent lawyers in Louisville died from the effects of being knocked down by a bicycle.

It is reported from Pound Gap that "Bud" Robinson, a highway robber, was shot and killed by a man he attempted to hold-up.

Horsethieves are operating in the southern end of Madison county, and a number of farmers complain of having horses and mules stolen.

Bowling Green will wage a relentless fight for the location of the Odd Fellows' Orphans' Home, which, within the next year, is to be built.

The famous Bryan's Station spring, in Fayette county, where the women acted such heroic part at the siege by the Indians, has gone dry.

Gov. Bradley restored the right of suffrage to George W. Robbins, of Estill county, who served a two-year term in the penitentiary thirty-five years ago.

At Bedford, Trimble county, the jury trying the will case of Mrs. Mary Howard Preston after 25 minutes' deliberation decided against the will being hers.

At Maysville, Marion Walker, a carpenter, while working in a planing mill, had his right hand completely cut off by coming in contact with a circular saw.

Porter Swan has the "layingest" hen in all the Purchase, says the Murray Times. Our informant positively declares that said hen lays three eggs before dinner every day.

John Thompson, a fifteen-year old boy, of Anderson county, was disemboweled by the accidental discharge of a gun with which he had started hunting. He lived but a short time.

Mrs. McLaughlin, a highly esteemed woman, of Mt. Olivet, aged ninety years, has just been blessed with her second eyesight. The good woman can read without glasses and does as clearly as ever.

Mrs. Wm. Ross, of Mt. Olivet, aged sixty, and one of the county's best known women, is cutting a new set of teeth, with every prospect of the molars and bicupsids coming through successfully.

Pearl hunters are reported as operating along Fleming creek, says the Flemingsburg Democrat, catching mussels and cracking them open in search of the pearls. One man is said to have secured several near Pleasant Valley.

Ben Gillespie, a prominent farmer of Mercer county was killed while blasting stone in his spring-house. He was 50 yards away when the blast exploded, and a large stone that was blown to a great hight fell on his head, causing instant death.

A report from Mintonville states that Rev. Gillham, of the Christian Church, preached a sermon there Sunday in which he affirmed there is no devil. The congregation took offense, and when the minister attempted to speak again Sunday night he was ejected from the house and about 20 pistol shots fired after him.

Right in the midst of a drouth, when nearly all the water for miles around was dried up, on the farm of R. A. Ralston, of Garrard county, on a hill where it was the driest part of his farm there bursted up a spring of living water, which is overflowing and runs away in a stream. There has never been any spring at that place before.

An old hat, with more than fifty tags attached to it, was an object of interest Saturday at the Adams express office in Paris. It has been started around the world on a trip similar to the one taken by "Owney," the postal clerk's pet dog, says the News. The hat was sent here from Nashville, Louisville and Lexington. A tag was added here and it was sent on its journey.

A tramp passing through this county a few days since showed something novel in the line of shaving. He was a brick mason and carried his trowel with him. Striking a farm he ground the trowel sharp on an ordinary stone, and then put the shaving edge on with a whet rock. Being thus fixed he gave himself a good shave by looking in a pail of water for a glass.—Hawesville Clarion.

The marriage of a young lady well known in Paducah, in upper Kentucky a few days ago, had some very unique features, says the Paducah Sun. The bridesmaids were all of as different size, age, type and appearance as was possible to get them. The groom is a Presbyterian and the bride an Episcopalian. They were married, however, in a Methodist Church by a Baptist minister. The bride kissed all the groomsmen and the groom all the bridesmaids, and the groomsmen and bridesmaids all kissed each other.

Robbers continue to get in their work in Allen county, and they seem to be well satisfied with their operations. The robbers stopped J. P. Mayhew, of Clare, one evening last week as he was returning home from Franklin and demanded his money or his life. He had taken some fat hogs to town and the highwaymen evidently thought they had struck a rich haul, but Mr. Mayhew had deposited his money in bank before leaving Franklin, and had only some pocket change for the thieves.

In Bell county Tom Rice shot and killed Marlin Wells. Rice, who is a hard-working, unsuspecting farmer, had heard reports that Wells, was trying to get his wife to run away, but had to much confidence in Wells, who he thought was his best friend, to put any confidence in the reports. Rice had been out hunting yesterday, and upon his return late in the afternoon found Wells at his house. He says he asked Wells about the reports concerning him and his wife. Wells became indignant and called Rice some hard names. Rice asked him to leave his premises, which he did, but soon returned with a gun and asked Rice to come out to the yard fence. Rice came out with a Winchester, and when Wells started to raise his gun to his shoulder Rice fired ten times, every shot taking effect.

CROP AND STOCK.

Apple crop almost a complete failure in Central Kentucky.

At a sale in Boyle county corn in the heap sold at $2 11 to $2 21 per barrel.

Several parties in Knob Lick, Metcalf county, have recently sold new corn at $1 50 per barrel.

Jake Graves, a Fayette county farmer, is making a novel experiment in utilizing fox tail and rag weeds for cattle feed.

The demand for Kentucky mules is such that many dealers have great difficulty in filling orders, says the Lexington Argonaut.

Twenty dollarr per head for calves for feeding purposes, even if they are well bred, is a pretty good price, but this is the exact price recently paid by a Missouri feeder for 500 panhandle calves.

There has been more wheat sown in Breckinridge county this year than there has been for many years past. The farmers are hopeful that it will continue to linger around the dollar mark.—Cloverport News.

A yield of 1,802,137,000 bushels of corn is indicated by the government crop reports for the present season. This is an average of 25 bushels for every man, woman and child in the United States.

Farmers are getting uneasy about the early sown wheat, as it has sprouted and much of it seems to be in a perishing condition, while the late sown grain seems to be as dry as the day it fell from the drill. Unless it rains soon the outlook for green fields of wheat this winter is not at all promising.

There were about 2,000 cattle on the market at Mt. Sterling, says the Democrat, and it was an exceedingly good court day, especially for cattle buying, considering the dry weather. There were a good many mules on the market and good ones brought good prices. 31 head, average weight 750 pounds, at $3.05; 22 yearling steers at $15 per head.

At the Illinois State Fair last week farmers were greatly interested in the award of premiums for the largest yield for one acre of corn shown from the State of Illinois. The prize went to John Powers, of Prophetstown. Whiteside county, who presented an authenticate production of 166 bushels. The premium was a wagon scale and $100. E. S. Fursman, El Paso, came next with a yield of 160 bushels, and E. N. Bohl, of Astoria, next with a yield of 150 bushels.

According to the Assessors' and Auditor's reports we find that the 1895 tobacco crop in Kentucky was about 229,000,000 pounds, the 1896 crop was about 149,000,000 pounds and the 1897 will be about 79,000,000 pounds. There were 70,000 acres less planted in Kentucky this year than last. Count 800 pounds per acre an average good crop year and we have short of last year 56,000,000 pounds—add to this 14,000,000 lbs. for loss on average per acre for whole State and it makes 70,000,000 pounds less than last year's crop in Kentucky. Every State planted less acres this year and all losing heavily by drouth and frost and less acreage. Hence this year's crop will be an exceptionally short one and will not begin to supply the demand of the manufacturers. To illustrate: Liggett & Myers use yearly about 30,000,000 pounds. The American Tobacco Company, 40,000,000—both 70,000,000 pounds. Now if two use all this crop of Burley, will the other factories let them have it? No; they dare not do so, for it would lose them their trade and customers.—Shelby Sentinel.

Experiments have been going on for the past two years for the purpose of trying to learn something of the characteristics of the Atlantic ocean. As a result the whole Atlantic is shown to be slowly circulating round and round like an enormous pool.

Farmers and Good Roads.

A review of the farmers' meetings being held this winter, shows that the tillers of the soil are taking up the subject of improved highways in an earnest and active manner.

It can no longer be truthfully said that the farmers as a class are against the good roads improvement. A goodly majority of them are exerting a strong influence for the betterment of the public highways, and are laboring with their less informed neighbors to try and make them view the subject in the same light.

The result of the campaign of education that is being carried on this wintcr will become happily apparent in the superior amount and kind of road improvement that will be undertaken in a great many localities when spring arrives.

From the State legislature to the impromptu gatherings about the store stove at the corner grocery the subject of better roads is being dwelt upon. Luckily it is a question the discussion of which means that it will eventually be answered in the proper way.—Louisville Dispatch.

FROM CARROLL COUNTY.

[News]

Rev. Huey is conducting a revival over at Lamb, Ind.

Capt. Jack Lindenburn is piloting the Fair Play while she is under charter to the Government.

A large acreage was sown to wheat in the county this fall, but the ground has been so dry that it is not coming up well, and many claim it will be an entire failure.

Clement Hedges, the eighteen-year-old son of R. Hedges, of near Easterday, met with a painful accident, last Saturday afternoon about two o'clock, while out hunting with a colored boy by the name of Lee Sanders. Young Hedges was examining the colored boy's gun, and in letting the hammer down his thumb slipped off. There was a terrible report as the gun was discharged, and a cry of pain escaped the lips of the young man. The barrel of the gun had bursted where he held it with his left hand tearing off the thumb and forefinger.

FROM GRANT COUNTY.

[Courier]

New corn is now retailing in this county at $1.50 per barrel.

There is not much improvement up to date among those who are on the sick list in this county.

The funeral of Mrs. L. Stephens, who died December 1st, 1895, was preached at the Primitive Baptist church, last Sunday, by Rev. Ed. Stephens, of Erlanger.

Lee Conrad, one of the prominent and prosperous farmers of the Dry Ridge neighborhood, is the proud possessor of a pair of beautiful deer brought from Florida. They are both males and are beauties, and Lee is as proud of them as if they were an entirely different kind of a "dear." He is trying to get a few does and then keep a deer park.

Adam Conrad, of Dry Ridge, was in town on Saturday in a very happy frame of mind. He had just finished gathering his 1897 crop of corn. For the first time in his long and active life as a farmer he had completed gathering corn by the middle of October. In fact it is very unusual for any corn to be cribbed by the middle of this month, but the unusual drouth and hot weather have thawed and dried up the crop early in the season.

FROM JWEN COUNTY.

[News]

A. S. Lillard purchased in West Virginia three car loads of fat cattle and shipped them to the Cincinnati market, last week, which he sold at a handsome profit. He left for Virginia immediately to buy four car loads more, and will return in about three weeks.

Some time during the forenoon Monday a difficulty occurred between Orrie and his nephew, James Riley, on a farm near Wheatley, in which the uncle received a load of shot from a double-barrel shot gun. It seems that there had been a misunderstanding between them, and the dispute was renewed in the house, in which hot words ensued, James grabbing the gun and emptying the contents of one barrel into Orrie's side. The wound is said to be quite a serious one, if not fatal. James Riley is about 20 years old and a son of Jo Riley, formerly of this place.

[Herald.]

There was but little stock on the streets court day. F. H. Brown & Son report the following sales: Jewell & Patterson bought six horses at from $30 to $65; Mr. Dickerson, of Jessamine, bought a fine horse from Sam Webster for $115, and another from other parties for $90; three mules changed hands at from $35 to $45.

At the second trial of Prof. J. W. Lusby, last Friday, for whipping Roberta Lee, one of his pupils, the jury returned a verdict of not guilty. The two trials of this case emphasized the fact that no Owen Co., schoolroom is complete in its equipment without a good, hefty rod, and the teacher who plies it most vigorously is the best fitted for the position.

A tremendous crowd turned out to hear Jo Blackburn at Warsaw, last Saturday. J. G. Todd represented Owenton. He says of it: "The goldbugs may talk about free silver being dead and Jo Blackburn on the wane, but I never saw such enthusiasm in my life. They were there from everywhere, and after the immense crowd had left the courthouse and the debris was being gathered up two wooden legs and a pair of crutches were found. Their owners had actually gone away and forgotten them."

Coming from Sparta in the 'bus, last Friday, Rev. Lafayette Johnson, of Walton, who is a fine conversationalist, as well as an able preacher, entertained the other passengers in a delightful manner. He exhibited two ears of bronze corn that grew this season from seed taken from a sealed jar, which was unearthed from a mound at the depth of fifteen feet, in Missouri some two years ago, and is supposed to have been in its hiding place for at least three thousand years. The grains of this late yield are unlike any that we have ever seen, being the color of an Indian.

What it Will Do.

FALMOUTH, KY. July 7, 1896.

Dr. J. T. Boulton, Cincinnati, O.

Dear Sir—I was taken with a severe cough the first of May; for two weeks I could not lie on my left side nor breathe through my left lung. I also had hemorrhage and my friends said I had consumption. I began taking Boulton's Cough Remedy and began to improve with the first dose, and within three weeks was entirely well. I can not say enough in favor of Boulton's Cough Remedy. Respectfully,

MRS. R. J. MARSHALL.

For sale by all druggists. Price, 25c. and $1 per bottle.

Subscribe for the RECORDER

AYLOR'S AYLOR'S AYLOR'S AYLOR'S

YOU WILL FIND US

Very much alive in all that means business—and business that will be your business is what we are going to talk right along. Our business is to sell good, pure and fresh GROCERIES and PROVISIONS, and to point out to people the wisdom of patronizing our establishment.

IRA AYLOR, - - Erlanger, Ky.

AYLOR'S AYLOR'S AYLOR'S AYLOR'S

C. W. ROBINSON,
—DEALER IN—
Dry Goods, Notions, Groceries, Boots and Shoes,
ALL KIND OF FEED AND FLOUR IN STOCK,
Agent for Weidler's Germ Food; Also agent for the Jones Fertilizers.
GOOD STABLE IN CONNECTION WITH STORE.
Constance, Ky.

METROPOLITAN COUPE & LIVERY COMPANY.
62 & 64 West Sixth St., Cincinnati, Ohio,
E. H. BAKER, Proprietor
Horses and Vehicles for Hire at Reasonable Rates.
Horses and Second-Hand Buggies for Sale.
Horses Sold on Commission.
Telephone 580.

CHAS. C. FRY. JACOB REIB.
FRY & REIB,
Manufacturers of and Dealers in all kinds of
Marble & Granite Monuments
HEADSTONES, CORNER POSTS, ETC.,
109 Pike Sreet, - - - COVINGTON, K.
Near C. & O. R. R. Crossing. | Designs Furnished Upon Application.

R. A. STEELE,
RISING SUN, IND.,
UNDERTAKING.
My Stock and accouterments are unsurpassed, having adult's black hearses and child's white hearse.
Independent of Undertakers' Union.
My prices are reasonable and my friends will tell you I give satisfaction.
FURNITURE
Large Stock of Latest Styles at Lowest Prices.
GIVE : ME : A : CALL.

Frankfort & Cincinnati Railway.
Ask for tickets via this line. Schedule of trains in effect March 1, 1897.
East Bound.
Lve. Frankfort..... 6:30 a. m, 3:00 p. m
Arr. Georgetown...7:20 a. m. 4:15 p. m
West Bound.
Lve. Georgetown...10:40 a m 6:30 p. m
Arr. Frankfort.....11:55 a. m 7:20 p. m
C. D. BERCAW, G. P. A.
Geo. B. Harper, Gen. Supt.
Frankfort, Ky.

H. S. STEVENSON.
Satisfaction Guaranteed.
DENTIST.
Prices Consistent with Good Services Only.
OFFICE:— Rising Sun, Indiana.

NOTICE.

Cincinnati, O., April 5, 1897.

To the Tobacco Growers of Boone County:

I am connected with the Cincinnati Leaf Tobacco Warehouse Co., which includes four houses—the Globe, Morris, Bodmann, Cincinnati Miami. Prize your tobacco and ship it to one of the four houses and receive the highest market price for same. If you have no preference ship it to the Cincinnati Miami, and I will give it my personal attention. Hogsheads and presses furnished. Address me at 110, 112 West Front St., Cincinnati, Ohio.

oct-7 O. W. ADAMS.

For Rent.

A good farm, to a good tenant—six miles from Cincinnati on Cincinnati Southern railroad and on free turnpike. Call at 30 W. 4th St. Covington, Ky. J. J. DULANEY.

Take the Recorder, $1.50 a year.

Some Plain Facts.

Grave errors, injustice, wrongs of greater or less degree, arise from lack of knowledge of the truth, and more frequently from deception.

The most infamous case on record of deception and injustice is the attempt to demonetize silver as a money of final redemption in the United States.

There is no learned judge, skilled lawyer, or court of justice that is capable of reconciling the effort with the constitutional laws that govern the issue of money in this country.

The people have been deceived, officials in power, chosen to administer justice under the laws, have ignored their sworn duty, and given aid to the scheme that has paralyzed industry, reduced property values one-half, and beggared millions.

There is no authority of law, either specific or by inference, by which gold alone is made the only money with which to discharge debts, either public or private. The effort to make it so is unconstitutional and a national calamity.

Plain and ample information, facts, and truth, concerning this almost successful scheme to corner the wealth of the people, is now being printed in the Cincinnati Enquirer, a newspaper which the combined power of money has failed to muzzle or buy.

The Weekly Enquirer is only 75c. a year. The address is Enquirer Company, Cincinnati, O.

PATENTS

Caveats, and Trade-Marks obtained and all Patent business conducted for MODERATE FEES. OUR OFFICE IS OPPOSITE U. S. PATENT OFFICE and we can secure patent in less time than those remote from Washington.

Send model, drawing or photo., with description. We advise, if patentable or not, free of charge. Our fee not due till patent is secured.

A PAMPHLET, "How to Obtain Patents," with cost of same in the U.S. and foreign countries sent free. Address,

C.A.SNOW & CO.
OPP. PATENT OFFICE, WASHINGTON, D. C.

BOONE COUNTY RECORDER.

VOL. XXIII. BURLINGTON, KENTUCKY, WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 10, 1897. NO. 3

THE OFFICIAL VOTE OF BOONE COUNTY, NOV. 2, 1897.

VOTING PRECINCTS.	Shackelford, D	Bailey, R.	Green, D	Gray, Prohibition	Duncan, D	Lawell, R	Conner, D	Russell, R	Roberts, D	Hughes, R	Adams, D	McKim, R	Lassing, D	Tomlin, R	Beall, D	Kite, R	Adams, D	Winters, R	Voshell, D	Bondurant, R	Mark, D	Botts, R	Vest, D	Rice, R	Wills, D	Allen, R
BURLINGTON	150	52	147	7	148	49	149	49	149	49	147	49	147	49	149	49	147	49	145	49	143	49	146	50	148	50
BULLITTSVILLE	160	9	155	7	158	8	152	9	159	10	157	8	154	9	157	8	156	8	156	8	153	8	156	8	155	9
PETERSBURG	145	45	145	4	147	43	142	45	144	44	142	44	146	43	142	44	147	44	143	44	142	44	142	44	144	44
BELLEVUE	77	16	74	2	76	15	73	16	75	17	74	15	72	16	73	18	75	15	73	16	72	15	72	15	71	15
RABBIT HASH	101	11	100	1	101	11	100	11	96	12	101	12	97	11	99	11	102	11	99	12	96	11	97	12	93	15
HAMILTON	120	46	119	1	120	46	120	46	124	46	128	44	119	46	117	46	125	46	118	46	118	46	120	46	116	49
BEAVER	65	12	67	0	67	65	12	66	12	66	13	65	12	65	13	65	12	65	12	65	12	65	13	65	13	66	12
UNION	131	16	126	1	127	128	15	127	15	126	15	128	15	121	15	125	15	126	15	126	15	124	15	125	15	123	15
VERONA	127	17	119	1	115	119	15	118	15	120	14	117	15	113	16	120	16	122	14	116	14	114	16	118	14	114	14
WALTON	155	64	154	1	158	168	64	158	65	158	65	159	64	158	64	160	64	159	64	158	64	156	64	155	64	158	64
FLORENCE	143	28	140	1	135	139	22	136	28	137	25	140	23	138	23	142	21	141	21	137	22	135	22	135	23	135	24
CONSTANCE	75	71	69	0	69	71	70	68	75	70	70	68	69	68	71	74	69	69	71	69	70	68	70	69	70	69	70
Total	1449	382	1415	20	1407	1428	370	1404	386	1418	380	1424	370	1398	376	1423	373	1434	370	1405	372	1386	372	1400	374	1392	381
Majorities	1067					1058		1018		1038		1054		1022		1050		1064		1033		1014		1026		1011

Parker, the Populist candidate for Clerk of the Court of Appeals, was confined to the Petersburg precinct. where he received one vote. Hindman, the Gold Bug candidate received votes as follows: Burlington, four; Bullittsville, three; Rabbit Hash, three; Beaver, one; Verona, three; Walton, one; Florence, one; Constance, two.—total, sixteen. Wallace, Prohibition candidate, received five votes, one each in Petersburg, Union, Verona, Constance and Florence.

MR. HANNA and President McKinley are not getting any comfort out of the recent elections.

THE Courier-Journal gives up the fight and surrenders the leadership of the gold bugs in Kentucky.

IT is said $4,400,000 are drawn by the Kentucky pensioners every year. Pensioners are a considerable source of revenue to the State.

THE Courier-Journal editorial copied in another column of this issue surprises the Democrats and creates consternation among the gold bugs.

SOME of the Republican representatives-elect in Ohio are declaring that they will not vote for Hanna for Senator. Ohio may turn out another Hunter squabble.

COL. W. C. P. BRECKINRIDGE made only three speeches during the campaign, one each in Frankfort, Woodford and Fayette. They all went Democratic by increased majorities. Moral——?

THE size of Hindman's vote was a great disappointment to his supporters, who expected it to reach thirty thousand, and they now claim that the hot fight for mayor in Louisville was responsible for a heavy falling off in that city.

THE Republican members of the lower House in the next Kentucky General Assembly will be a lonesome set—only 25 of them out of 100, while the gold Democrat will be entirely extinct. "The fittest survives," is and old but true saying.

SENATOR FORAKER gives John R. McLean's popularity credit for the defeat of the Hamilton county Republican legislative ticket. He thinks McLean's candidacy for United States Senator cost the Republicans several representatives in the State.

GOV. BRADLEY issued his Thanksgiving proclamation on the 4th inst. and coming just at that time it is suspicioned that the defeat of Todd for Mayor of Louisville is one of the blessings for which the Governor would be especially pleased to have thanks rendered.

ACCORDING to the Commercial the Democrats stole everything that pertained to the election in Louisville. The Commercial is so intensely partisan that it is never willing to concede anything is done honestly that does not pan out according to its notions.

BOSS COX, of Cincinnati, issued an address on Wednesday morning after the election, declaring that he had retired from politics. The Boss had forgotten that the people retired him last spring, and only the day before they reaffirmed their work of last spring.

SHAKE, Bro. Westover, and may you, the office of County Judge, and the Courier prove congenial companions. You deserved the honor your people conferred upon you, and you will serve them honestly, faithfully and efficiently is the prediction of this prognosticator.

THE result of the recent election in this State will intensify the division of the Republican party in Kentucky, and the Democrats will keep them in the minority for a long time to come, while on the other hand, the Democrats will acquire much of the strength they lost a year ago.

GRANT COUNTY honored two of her local ministers by electing them to office. After the first of January Rev. Petty will attend to her interests in the House of Representatives at Frankfort, and Rev. Hill will push her public school interests to the highest point attainable under the present school laws.

JUDGING from the following editorial which appeared in the C.-J. on the morning of the 4th inst., it feels keenly the sting of defeat. It said:

"The Courier-Journal has little to add to what it has already said by anticipation touching the Democratic situation in Kentucky, brought into being by the vote of Tuesday last. That vote confirms the position of the convention that nominated Mr. Shackelford for Clerk of the Court of Appeals and repudiates the position of the convention which nominated Mr. Hindman. It fixes the relation of the Democratic organization in Kentucky to the National organization of the Democratic party, at least through the next State and National elections. It is so decisive in character as to leave nothing to conjecture, and the Courier-Journal has neither the wish nor the purpose to challenge it.

"The issue as it was made, and has been fought out, was clear and explicit. No effort was wanting to maintain it. Nobody could by any possibility be mistaken about it. We may regret the verdict against us, but we accept it. We shall make no further effort to direct the party course of counsels, or to share in any of the responsibilities of party leadership, having done our best, according to our conscience and belief, to divert our political associates from a policy and procedure, the end of which no man can now foresee, the results of which we very much fear, both as to the welfare of the country and the party. But we are Democrats, not Republicans, and, nailing our flag to the masthead of Honest Money, Free Trade and Home rule, we shall in the character of a private soldier in the ranks contribute whatever we are able to the ascertainment and the vindication of Truth.

"For the gentlemen who have by their victory confirmed their leadership, we entertain not the least illwill. All the honors belonging to that leadership be theirs, and, let us add, all the responsibilities. If they continue to win victories, they will approve their commission. If they lose them, they, in turn, will have to pay the penalties of defeat. Where we can not support them, we shall enter no factious opposition to them. We go to political annihilation with perfect composure—without a single resentment, or regret—having fought out to the bitter end a profound conviction in perfect fairness and good faith.

"There are many suggestions which the vote of Tuesday summons to the minds of thoughtful people; notably, the results in Maryland, Greater New York and the city of Louisville, incident to the elimination of strife and the union of party forces; and as the smoke of battle clears, wise men may perhaps find it salutary to take these into consideration. But, for the present, we shall leave the moral of the conflict now ended to impress itself in its own way upon the masses of the people. As we said in the beginning, and have said during the progress of the battle, we repeat now: from none of the consequences of the fight we have made for what we believed just politics and sound ideas, have we the least disposition to shrink. Had we the whole thing to go over we should not veer a hair's line from the course we have pursued: and, reviewing the record, we recollect no words, or acts, which we would recall. What the rest can stand, we can stand. With charity for all, with malice toward none, we shall continue to do business at the old stand precisely as if nothing whatever had happened; relieved to be rid of all responsibility in party affairs; glad to go to the rear of the columns; quite assured of our ability at all times and under all circumstances to hold our own with friends or foe, and certainly indifferent whether the case in point be a fight, or a foot-race!"

A corpulent Jersey City man who found a burglar in his room, sat down on the intruder, and held him until aid arrived.

VERY much disgusted with the caper Kentucky cut on the 2d inst. Dr. Hunter has gone to Gautemala. Gov. Bradley hopes he will stay there and eventually induce Senator Deboe to become his companion.

SENATOR LINDSAY some time since resigned as a member of the Democratic party, but he will never resign his seat as United States Senator as it is claimed he said he would in the event Shackelford was elected by a big majority; and the Kentucky Legislature should not request him to fulfill his anti-election promise, as a fake report says it will.

GOV. BRADLEY and his friends could not conceal their joy when they learned that the Hunter-Deboe combination had been overwhelmingly defeated in the State election. The Governor did not consider that an endorsement of his administration was involved, as those who had control of his party in the State were his political enemies.

DAVID B. HILL said, after the result of the elections was known last week, thatit did him good to see democracy again triumphant, and was glad to unfurl the old flag from "Woolfords Roost" again, with his own hands; but it is a fact that he did nothing to assist in bringihg about the victories of the 2d inst., but did aid, materially, in bringing about several recent defeats experienced by Democracy. David is a back number.

BOONE has, in the last few years, spent a large amount of money on her public roads, and, as a matter of fact, their condition has been improved very little if any. The system under which the roads are worked is imperfect, and does not bring the good results anticipated when it was inaugurated. The road tax amounts to about $6,000 a year—a large sum to expend year after year with such small permanent benefits arising therefrom. The road law needs a remodeling by practical men.

IT is impossible for the Courier-Journal to tell the truth in regard to anything in connection with Hon. W. J. Bryan. In its issue of last Wednesday morning in its election head lines it made the following announcement in bold,black letters: "Bryan Beaten at Home," but the report from Nebraska gave the announcement the lie, by saying the Republicans were defeated in Nebraska by 25,000. The lie was given a conspicuous place in the headlines, while the dispatch containing the truth was given a position in one corner of the page. That is in keeping with that paper's slimy tricks.

CHAUNCEY M. DEPEW, who supported the Republican candidate for Mayor of Greater New York, having taken a view of the field since the battle of the ballots on the 2d inst., and having investigated from effect back to cause, says: "The election issue in New York has no national significance, but with an alarming falling off of the Republican vote in the State, with heavy losses in New Jersey, Ohio and other States, the Republican party is confronted with the inconvertable truth that Bryanism and bimetallism are not dead." There has been a very sudden change in the minds of those, who have been proclaiming, every since last fall, that the silver issue was dead.

WHEN the Maryland Democratic State convention met, last summer, it was controlled by Senator Gorman, who dictated the financial plank in the platform, which was intended for a straddle on the money question. The party went before the people of the State on the meaningless platform, and the result of the election shows a clear majority in the next legislature of that State against Gorman, and he will be succeeded by a Republican. Senator Gorman now appreciates the fact that the Democrats will no longer submit to straddles in their State platform, and they have emphasized the fact by allowing him to be defeated. He was the only Democrat who was trying to fight clear of the Chicago platform, and is theonly one who is confronted with a humiliating defeat.

WATTERSON has them all guessing again. His expressions since the elections are very unsatisfactor to those who have been following his leadership, while the other fellows are perfectly unconcerned as to where he eventually lands. He evidently considers himself a leader without a party.

When Thomas A. Hendricks was elected Governor of Indiana, John Dietzer, of Shelbyville, that State, won a coffin from the local undertaker, as the result of a bet, and now, after all these years, Dietzer has been buried in a coffin that did not cost him a cent.

COL. BRECKINRIDGE says he will stay with the National Democrats until the proprietor of hades goes into the ice business. It is presumed by that that he has crawled from under the log cabin for keeps, and, O, how lonesome he soon will be.

SAM'L SHACKELFORD, Clerk-elect ot the Court of Appeals, will be united in marriage to-day at Duluth Minnesota, with Miss Magoffin, a daughter of ex-Governor Magoffin. Senator Goebel, of Covington, will be the groom's best man.

THE Louisville Daily Dispatch is entitled to a great share of the credit for Kentucky going Democratic on the 2d inst. It made a hard fight for party supremacy, and the Democrats should be unfaltering in their support of it.

THE stock of tobacco on hand November 1st., for the last five years has been as follows: 1893, 59,803 hogheads, 1804, 60,457, hogsheads; 1895, 48,038 hogsheads; 1896, 63,754 hogsheads; 1897, 58,846 hogsheads.

To have carried the proposed amendment to the constitution it should have received only a majority of the votes cast for and against it.

THE constitutional amendment was knocked colder'n a wedge. The country voters settled its fate.

MAYOR TODD and the other defeated Republicans in Louisville say they will contest the election.

THE vote in this county on the constitutional amendment was 111 for to 39 against.

THE Sheriff of Rockcastle county was very busy on election day. He killed three men.

THE President has been dishing out the pie pretty rapidly since the election.

THE President will have Congress on his hands again in a few weeks.

JACK FROST has about driven the yellow fever out of the South.

JEFF DAVIS' birth day will be made a holiday in Georgia.

MR. HANNA is not on easy street now.

COUNTY DIRECTORY.

County Judge—Benjamin Stephens.
County Clerk—B. W. Adams.
County Attorney—J. M. Lassing.
Sheriff—C. C. Roberts.
Jailer—C. L. Crisler.
Assessor—R. A. Brady.
Coroner—A. A. Murat.
Superintendent Schools—L. H. Voshell.
Surveyor—W. E. Vest.

Fiscal Court meets Tuesday after first Monday in January, April, July and October.

RAILROAD COMMISSION:
John C. Wood, Chairman; I. P. Dempsey, H. S. Irwin. Secretary-Samuel Brown.

CIRCUIT COURT.
Judge—John W. Green.
Clerk—J. W. Duncan.
Common wealth's Attorney—M. D. Gray.
Master Commissioner—J. S. Berkshire.

JUSTICES OF THE PEACE.
Courts are held in the months of March, June, September and December, as follows:
District No 1.—O. W. Gaines, fourth Saturday; J. B. Crigler, Constable.
District No. 2.—M. B. Green, first Saturday; Jake Cook, Constable.
District No. 3.—R. L. Roberts, wednesday after third Monday; T. M. Rich, Constable.
District No. 4.—H. Bannister, Thursday after second Monday; Add Riddell, Constable.
District No. 5.—T. E. Roberts, fourth Monday; J. H. watson, Constable.
District No. 6.—Joseph Wagstaff, third Saturday; Simeon Tanner, Constable.

STATE DIRECTORY.

Governor—W. O. Bradley.
Lieutenant Governor—W. J. Worthington.
Secretary of State—Charles Finley.
Assistant Secretary of State—E. D. Guffy.
Attorney General—W. S. Taylor.
Auditor—Samuel H. Stone.
Assistant Auditor—Frank Johnson.
Treasurer—George W. Long.
Supt of Public Instruction—Geo. M. Davidson.
Register Land Office—Charles O. Reynolds.
Deputies—Stanley D. Brown, Sam S. Shepherd.
Insurance Commissioner—D. M. Comingore.
Adjutant General—D. R. Collier.
Assistant—Walter Forrester.
Supt. Arsenal—Capt. David O'Connell.
State Inspector—C. W Lester
Commissioner Agriculture—Lucas Moore.

COURT OF APPEALS.
Chief Justice—Joseph Lewis. Judges—Geo. Du-reele, J. R. Grace, T. H. Payater, B. L. D. Guffy, J. H. Hazelrigg, J. H. Lewis.
Reporter—E. W. Hines. Clerk—A. Addams.
Sergeant—W. S. B. Hill. Tipstaff—C. C. Turner.
Librarian—Mrs. Mary Brown Day.
Inspector of Mines—C. J. Norwood.

STATE PRISON OFFICIALS:
Frankfort Prison—Warden, Henry George; Deputy Warden, M. A. Rooney
Eddyville Prison—Warden, L. C. Curry; Deputy Warden, Ward Linn.

JOHN C. TANNER
SPECIAL AGENT,
ERLANGER, - - KY.
Representing Reliable Companies Manufacturing
Musical Instruments, Sewing Machines, Bicycles, Buggies, Farming Implements
—ALSO—
Coal and Lumber, Granite & Marble Work, Life & Fire Insurance.
☞Prompt Attention and Satisfaction Guaranteed.
Aug 25 3m.

B. F. BUCHANAN,
— DRUGGIST, —
Rising Sun, - Indiana.
Thanks his Kentucky friends for their renewed patronage and invites them to continue to call at the Corner Drug Store.

INSURE AT HOME
The Farmers' Mutual Fire
INSURANCE COMPANY,
OF BOONE COUNTY,
Is now completely organized and receiving applications for insurance.
Its Rates are Lower
Than those of any other Company and gives the farmers of Boone County
HITHERTO UNKNOWN ADVANTAGE
In keeping their property insured.
EVERY FARMER IN THE COUNTY should take a policy at once.
E. H. BLANKENBECKER, - President, Florence, Ky.
D. E. LAWELL, - Vice-President.
OSCAR GAINES, Secretary, Burlington.
J. E. DUNCAN, Treasurer.
EXECUTIVE BOARD—Legrand Gaines, J. W. Conner, John Stephens.
J. E. SMITH, Assessor, - Burlington, Ky.
W. M. ROGERS, Agt. - Walton, Ky.

FOR SALE--This Fall.
STRAWBERRY PLANTS.
Bubach No. 5 P. Greeuville P.
Parker Earl, Haverlan,
And other Varieties.
LIGHT BRAHMA FOWLS.
Blackberry & Raspberry Sprouts.
For further information write to WM. C. ROUSE, Limaburg, Ky.

D. E. CASTLEMAN,
ATTORNEY - AT - LAW.
BURLINGTON, KY.
Will practice in the Courts of Boone Kenton, Grant and Gallatin. Collections pushed energetically.

G. G. HUGHES,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
BURLINGTON, KY.
Will practice in all the courts. Prompt attention given to all business entrusted to me.

P. E. CASON,
ATTORNEY - AT - LAW,
BURLINGTON, KY,
Practice in all Courts. Promptness guaranteed.

J. G. TOMLIN,
ATTORNEY - AT - LAW,
WALTON, KENTUCKY.
Will practice in the Courts of Boone, Kenton Grant and Gallatin. Prompt attention given t Collections entrusted to him. mch19-yy.

W. E. VEST,
County Surveyor,
BURLINGTON, KY.
Is prepared to do all kinds of Surveying. All orders by mail promptly attended to.

J. M. LASSING. N. E. RIDDELL
LASSING & RIDDELL,
ATTORNEYS AT LAW.
BURLINGTON, KY.
Prompt Attention Given to Collections.

S. GAINES,
ATTORNEY-AT-LAW.
BURLINGTON, KY.
Will practice in all the courts, and prompt attention given collections. Office—In residence near post-office.

DR. A. B. HARRYMAN,
DENTIST.
Will be in Lawrenceburg, Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday.
At Aurora, Thursday, Friday and Saturday. Practiced for 30 years.
No Poisonous Gasses Used.

S. W. ADAMS,
ATTORNEY-AT-LAW,
ERLANGER, KENTUCKY.
Will practice in the courts of Boone and Kenton counties. Collections and general law practice.

W. E. VEST. B. L. RICE.
VEST & RICE,
Real Estate Agents.
Farms Bought, Sold or Exchanged, Money to Loan on Real Estate, Notes bought, sold & Negotiated.
☞All communications addressed to W. E. VEST, Burlington, Ky.

BOONE CO. DEPOSIT BANK.
(Incorporated 1886.)
CAPITAL, ... $30,000
Surplus and undivided profits, 19,000
Our facilities enable us to receive on favorable terms accounts of individuals and corporations. Collections promptly remitted for at lowest rates.

ERLANGER DEPOSIT BANK.
(INCORPORATED 1893.)
ERLANGER, - - KENTUCKY
CAPITAL PAID IN $50,000
SURPLUS, ... $ 3.000
Careful attention given collections and remittances promptly made. Deposit accounts solicited.

Dr. J. L. Adams,
DENTIST,
Walton, Kentucky.
All work executed according to the latest methods of the profession.
Satisfaction - Guaranteed.

W. N. HIND & CO.
213 W. Fifth St. Cincinnati, O.

JOHN L. VEST,
SURVEYOR
WALTON, KY.
Is prepared to do all kinds of work south of Burlington, Ky. Prompt attention given to all mail orders.

THE RECORDER.

W. L. RIDDELL, Publisher.

BURLINGTON, [illegible] KY.

NOVEMBER—1897.

Sun.	Mon.	Tue.	Wed.	Thur.	Fri.	Sat.
....	1	2	3	4	5	6
7	8	9	10	11	12	13
14	15	16	17	18	19	20
21	22	23	24	25	26	27
28	29	30	....	....	....	....

CURRENT TOPICS.

It is stated that the winnings of the table or bank at Monte Carlo last year amounted to £800,000; that is to say, this was the net sum lost by those who played.

Sore backs on horses are prevented by a new harness pad which has a pneumatic section inserted under the soft leather covering to keep the pad from chafing.

Russia has the most rapidly increasing population of any country in the world. The growth during the last 100 years has been a fraction less than 1,000,000 annually.

A new electrical device connects a clock with the kitchen stove and when the hands of the clock indicate a prearranged hour the fire is started in the stove and the kettle soon begins to boil merrily.

The skin of the reindeer is so imperious to the cold that any one clothed in such a dress, with the addition of a blanket of the same material, may bear the intensest rigors of an Arctic winter's night.

Munkacsy, the painter, is in a private asylum at Bonn. His brain power appears to be absolutely gone and the doctors declare him incurable. His general health remains good and he sleeps well.

Two Mauritius postage stamps of the issue of 1858, belonging to Dr. Legrand's collection, have been sold for 48,000 francs to M. Bernhelon, of Paris. There are only 17 impressions of these stamps in existence.

In the Forth bridge there is a horizontal pull of 10,000 tons on the chief spans, and a weight of 100,000 tons on their bases. Half a dozen British ironclads might be hung upon them without causing any undue strain.

While fishing in Lake Champlain, near the mouth of the Ausable river, recently, D. Burton, of Keeseville, caught an albino catfish. It was exhibited in the window of a clothing store in Keeseville. It is a golden white all over.

A Tennessee paper is authority for the statement that Gov. Taylor finds his salary of $4,000 inadequate for his yearly expenses, and it is to aid in supporting himself and family that he goes upon the platform to lecture for money.

Herman Gunsallus, of Bradford, Pa., recently caught a large catamount in a trap at the head of Big Run. The animal measured three feet seven inches from the tip of the nose to the tip of the tail. Gunsallus has also caught four bears in traps last winter.

Mrs Murfree, of Meridian, Miss., vice president of the United Daughters of the Confederacy, is seeking the assistance of the Missouri Daughters of the Confederacy in the project to purchase the old home of Jefferson Davis at Beauvoir.

Dr. Kitasato, the great bacteriologist, thinks that the "icteroid bacillus" discovered by the Spanish savant, is not the real or sole germ of yellow fever. He is inclined to attribute this scourge to a parasitic growth in the larger intestines.

One of the most curious stones in the world is found in England. "It is a natural barometer, and actually foretells probable changes in the weather. It turns black shortly before an approaching rain, while in fine weather it is mottled with spots of white.

To safely transport animals in ordinary railroad cars a portable stall is used having four corner posts set in the movable floor and supporting an adjustable roof, with a feed trough hung on the posts at one end and padded boards extending along the sides of the stall.

Lanterns can be carried on the ends of wagon tongues, instead of on the wagon body, by means of a new holder, which consists of a cap to slide over the end of the pole and support a bracket for the lamp, and a wire guard to keep the horses from striking it.

John Philip Sousa, the famous composer, said recently: "After a continuous struggle, extending over nearly a score of years, I have finally succeeded in living down the title of 'professor,' which was bestowed on me as a mark of esteem by unthinking friends in my younger days."

The Parisians are credited with having found out how to make false eyelashes. They draw a fine needle threaded with dark hair through the skin of the eyelid, forming long loops, and after the process is over—it is said to be a painless one—a splendid dark fringe veils the wearer's eyes.

Though interested in the mineral collection and the meteorites, what most delighted the king of Siam in his visit to the South Kensington museum the other day were the remains of the giant mammals and reptiles of earlier eras of the earth's history—the mammoth, the iguanodon, the ichthyosaurus, etc.

To assist in putting inner tubes into pneumatic tires a wooden sectional hoop is provided with a groove in its outer surface in which the tube is held by a rope to prevent its slipping, as the hoop is forced around the tire, the rope being thus loosened so the loop can be withdrawn from the tube.

GEN. MAXIMO GOMEZ.

Will Not Accept Autonomy as a Basis of Settlement—The Insurgents Will Continue to Fight Until Independence Is Won.

New York, Nov. 6.—The Herald prints the following letter from Maximo Gomez, generalissimo-chief of the Cuban army of liberation, dated at his camp in Sancti Spiritus: "The enemies of Cuba have circulated in the United States the rumor that I am disposed to accept autonomy as a basis of settlement or solution of the present war. The constitution of Cuba absolutely establishes that peace is be negotiated upon the basis of absolute independence of Cuba. It is to obtain independence that we have been fighting two years and will continue to fight until victory be ours.

"All statements that have been hitherto or may be in the future published to the effect that we are willing to accept any other solution short of independence should be regarded as false.

"We will fight for absolute independence, as we stated in the manifesto issued at Monte Cristo, as also it was later set down in our constitution, and as we are daily confirming it by the shedding of our blood on the battlefields."

Salvador Cisneros, former president of the republic of Cuba, writes to the Herald:

"Independence or death has been and is our motto. We would rather see our beloved country disappear amid a heap of ashes than accept any concessions, no matter how ample, unless they carry with them the absolute independence of Cuba. To obtain this many of Cuba's best sons have given up their lives; to obtain this many more of her sons are daily shedding their blood, which, absorbed by the plants of our soil, we breathe in the air we inhale."

New York, Nov. 6.—The Herald says: It is too late to talk of autonomy. Cuba is lost to Spain. Only independence for the island will put an end to the struggle now devastating the colony and ruining Spain.

That is what eight leading Cubans—all of whom formerly favored autonomy—told Senor Jose Canalejas in the Fifth Avenue hotel. These Cubans did not represent the junta for the junta will discuss autonomy with no one, but the conference is the more remarkable in its result, because the men who talked so firmly against any proposition except independence were formerly leading autonomists, who, in view of recent developments, say that even were they to listen to such a proposal the insurgents in the field would simply scoff at it, as an evidence, not of Spain's good faith, but of her weakness and willingness to promise concessions rather than prosecute a hopeless war.

Senor Canalejas was formerly a member of the Spanish cabinet and is the proprietor of the Madrid Heraldo. He comes to sound American feeling and to inform himself by personal observation of the state of affairs in Cuba.

UNUSUAL ACTIVITY

In the Brooklyn Navy Yard—Hurrying Forward the Completion of the Two New Vessels.

New York, Nov. 6.—The Commercial Advertiser says Friday afternoon:

"The Brooklyn navy yard is active, and work on all the war vessels lying at the wharves or in the dry docks is being pushed forward as rapidly as possible, under orders from the navy department. No one seems to understand why so much haste is necessary, and inquiries are met with the invariable reply: 'It is nothing unusual. We are obeying orders issued some time ago, that is all. We always finish work at this station as rapidly as we can. Spain's naval activities have nothing to do with our industry.'

"An officer attached to the office of the commandant of the yard repeated this time worn explanation Friday, but added that he believed some sort of an order had been received to urge the completion of the two new vessels which are at the yard making preparations for their final trials, under the board of inspection. These vessels are the torpedo boat Foote and the big battleship Iowa."

PRESIDENT MORAES.

An Attempt to Assassinate Him by a Soldier—Minister of War Belancourt Killed.

London, Nov. 6.—A dispatch to the Times from Rio Janciro says:

"At one o'clock Friday afternoon a soldier of the Tenth battalion, which constitutes part of the local garrison, attempted to shoot President Moraes with a pistol. The president was just landing at the marine arsenal after visiting the steamer on which Gen. Barbosa, minister of marine, had returned from Bahia.

"The bystanders frustrated the attempt, but Col. Moraes, the president's nephew, was slightly wounded in disarming the soldier. Gen. Marcado Belancourt, minister of war, then interfered and was himself stabbed. The wound was so serious that he died soon afterwards. The attack has caused the greatest agitation throughout the city.

Closed Down Temporarily.

Ironton, O., Nov. 6.—Owing to the inability to make shipments to points in yellow fever districts of the south, the large plants of the Belfont Nail and Iron works and the Kelly Nail and Mill Co. have been compelled to close down temporarily.

Important Iron Ore Discovery.

Crystal Falls, Mich., Nov. 6.—The most important iron ore discovery on the Menominee range in several years has been made on the bank of the Michigan river, one mile south of the Mansfield mine. The vein is 77 fee deep and 40 feet wide. The ore assays 62 per cent. in iron and .051 per cent. in phosphate, thus putting it safely with in the Bessemer limit.

Will Abolish Import Duties on Cattle.

Havana, Nov. 6.—Capt. Gen. Blanco will shortly issue a decree abolishing for two months the import duties on cattle.

MANY ARRESTS.

Officials Charged With Furnishing Fraudulent Naturalization Papers.

They Were Issued to All Signers for Seventeen Dollars Apiece—Each Gave Bail in the Sum of $2,500 for a Further Hearing Tuesday.

Philadelphia, Nov. 8.—A sensation was occasioned in political and official circles Saturday by the placing in custody of several city and United States government employes of prominence, charged with conspiracy and the issuance of fraudulent naturalization papers. The men arrested are Eugene Lindsay, clerk in the city prothonotary's office; John Merrick, assistant clerk for the United States circuit, and Richard Merrick, father of the latter, who is also a clerk for the United States circuit court. It is also stated that other arrests will be made during the day. It is said that naturalization papers were furnished signers for $17 apiece, and that quite a number have been issued. Lindsay and the two Merricks were given a preliminary hearing before United States Commissioner Edmunds and each gave bail in the sum of $2,500 for a further hearing on Tuesday next. The warrant upon which the arrests were made, charges the defendants with conspiracy, in issuing false writings and the placing of the seal of the United States government on naturalization papers not granted by the court.

MAJORITY OF FIVE

On Joint Ballot in the Ohio Legislature for the Republicans.

Columbus, O., Nov. 8.—The contest for control of the Ohio legislature was considered ended Saturday when official counting in some counties will continue next week but there has been such close work that no material changes are expected. The indications are that the senate will stand 19 democrats and 17 republicans and the house 51 democrats and 53 republicans with a majority of five republicans on joint ballot. There may be several contested seats, but these can not be considered till the legislature meets the first Monday in January next. Since it seems to be settled that the republicans have a small majority on joint ballot, the rumors are revived about a combine of certain republican members with the 70 democratic members for the election of some one other than Senator Hanna on the joint ballot.

When Senator Foraker was indorsed by the republican state convention two years ago for his present position in the senate, there was no legislative caucus. It is announced now that there will be a republican senatorial caucus when the legislature convenes next January. Senator Hanna was indorsed at the last convention for the senate, but the old factional fight that formerly existed between Sherman and Foraker's following and later between the friends of McKinley and Foraker has been revived this year with more intense feeling than heretofore. It is said that there are about a dozen republican members who had some factional opposition in their counties, especially for their nominations, who do not feel kindly toward the junior Ohio senator.

There has been so much talk about combines that it is certain that republicans will hold a joint caucus for the nomination of a candidate for senator and Senator Hanna will no doubt be the caucus nominee. It is thought that as the regular nominee there will be no trouble about his election as none of the republican members would refuse under the circumstances either to enter the caucus or to support its nominee. There are some republicans who are not members of the legislature who are said to be working for an anti-Hanna combine, but none of the members are known to favor such a movement. Gov. Bushnell will have a democrat senate on which to depend for the confirmation of his appointments and no partisan legislation can be passed.

In addition to watching the official counting, the representatives of candidates are out in the counties seeing the members-elect for the support in the offices at the organization of both the branches, and the senatorial question will enter largely into the organization of both branches as well as into the case of contested seats.

Toledo, O., Nov. 8.—Judge Parker, Ninth circuit court, decided that the Wood county board of supervisors must certify returns of Center township. This elects Norris, republican candidate for representative.

Judge Parker holds that the functions of the board of elections are simply ministerial; that they must certify to the vote as they find it, without going behind the returns; that the question as to whether the provisions of the law were not complied with in having the polling booth outside the boundaries of Center township precinct, and whether, if so, it invalidates the ballot there cast, must be decided by the courts or by the legislature itself.

Hotel San Marco Destroyed by Fire.

Jacksonville, Fla., Nov. 8.—A special from St. Augustine says: The hotel San Marco, one of the finest and most commodious hotel properties in this city, was burned to the ground Sunday morning, entailing a loss of about $250,000, with less than $50,000 insurance. The fire was of incendiary origin.

The Altitude of Mount Ranier.

Seattle, Wash., Nov. 8.—The latest computation of the altitudes of Mount Ranier places Columbia, the most highest point, 14,528 feet above the level of the sea. These figures have been deduced from observations made by Prof. McClure, who lost his life while descending the mountain the night of July 27, 1897.

A Leading Attorney Dead.

Chicago, Nov. 8.—Edmund S. Holbrook, for many years a leading attorney of the west, died in this city Sunday. He was born in Grafton, Mass., in 1816.

'ENSION REPORT.

Added to the Rolls During the Year 54,072 Names—Losses by Death and Otherwise During the Same Period 41,139.

Washington, Nov. 6.—The first annual report of Commissioner of Pensions H. Clay Evans to the secretary of the interior was made public Friday. A summary follows:

There were added to the rolls during the year the names of 59,101 new pensioners, and there were restored to rolls 3,971 pensioners who had been previously dropped, a total of 54,072.

During the same period the losses to the roll were 31,960 by death, 1,074 by remarriage of widows and mothers, 1,845 by legal limitation (minors), 2,683 for failure to claim pension for three years, and 3,550 for other causes, an aggregate of 41,122.

The whole number of pensioners on the rolls June 30, 1897, was 976,014. The net gain over the previous year was 5,336. It will thus be seen that the pension roll has not yet begun to show any diminution, though it has been anticipated by my predecessors in office that such would be the fact. Seven widows of revolutionary soldiers and nine daughters of revolutionary soldiers are still on the rolls.

During the year 94,454 pension certificates were issued, of which number 50,010 were original allowances and the balance were reissues, increases, restorations, renewals, etc. Of this number 14,071 certificates of various classes were held in this bureau until July 1, 1897; and are accordingly not credited to the past fiscal year. During the same period 76,234 claims of various classes were disallowed. This number, however, does not include claims which were made for higher rates of pension.

The amount disbursed for pensions by the pension agents during the year was $139,799,242.13, and the amount disbursed by treasury settlement was $50,475,23, a total of $139,949,717.35. This exceeds the amount disbursed during the fiscal year 1896 by the sum of $3,584,480.18. If the 14,071 certificates which, as before stated, were held in this bureau until July 1, 1897, had been mailed to the pension agents during the fiscal year, they would have required first payments amounting to $2,191,694, besides the additional annual value, which would also have been a charge upon the appropriation. This amount, added to that actually disbursed, makes an aggregate of $141,-900,936. The appropriation for the payment of pensions for the fiscal year 1897 was only $140,000,000. The average annual value of each pension at the close of the year was $133.17. The average annual value of each pension under the general law was $162.04; each under the act of June 27, 1890, was $109.25. The aggregate annual value of all pensions at the close of the year was $129,799,428. This, of course, excludes the cases that were held up. There were 44 original and 7 duplicate bounty land claims admitted and 145 original claims of this character rejected. Referring to the consolidation of agencies, Commissioner Evans recommends that the executive order of July 14 last, suspending the operation of the order of February 6, 1879, the latter of which provided for the consolidation, be continued indefinitely and adds:

"I am still of the opinion that the reduction and consolidation of the pension agencies at this time is not only unnecessary but inexpedient; that the disruption of business in the agencies, the business for the interior department and the general inconvenience of the service would more than offset the anticipated saving to the government. Attention is called to a significant saving in rentals of agencies, a policy still being continued. In conclusion the report recommends the publication of a complete list of pensioners and of the passing of a law to the end that no pension be granted to the widow of any soldier that shall marry hereafter."

Washington, Nov. 6.—All members of the cabinet except Secretary Alger were present at Friday's session, which did not last long. Routine business was presented by the different cabinet officials, but much of the time was given to a discussion of the recent elections. Satisfaction was expressed on all sides, especially at the result in Ohio and Maryland. The Spanish situation was not considered, although there were some dispatches relating to the subject in the cabinet room. Previous to the meeting Assistant Secretary Day, with Consul General Lee, were at the white house and saw the president. Gen. Lee will have another interview before he leaves Washington.

Washington, Nov. 6.—The president Friday appointed the following to be consuls of the United States: Abraham B. Jones, of Alabama, at Tuxpan, Mex.; Daniel Mayer, of West Virginia, at Buenos Ayres, Argentine Republic; E. Theopilus Liefeld, of Connecticut, Freiburg, Baden.

Weyler to Be Courtmartialed.

Madrid, Nov. 6.—The Spanish government, as a result of the deliberations of the ministers over the utterances of Gen. Weyler, the former captain-general of Cuba has come to the decision to try him by courtmartial, no matter where he lands, if he confirms the accuracy of the press reports of his utterances. The commanding officers at all the ports of the Spanish kingdom have been instructed to demand of Gen. Weyler the moment he can be communicated with, the exact terms of the speech which he delivered in reply to the manifestation at Havana upon the occasion of his embarkation for Spain on Sunday.

Canadian Government Uneasy.

Ottawa, Ont., Nov. 6.—It is said at the fisheries department that the sealing counsel, Prof. Thompson, has been asked from Ottawa why it is that he has not come here, and his reply was that his instructions from the home government were to proceed to Washington. Great fears are expressed in official circles that Prof. Thompson has fallen a victim to the wiles of politicians at Washington and may have committed Great Britain to a certain line of action in connection with the recent conference with which it was understood Canada and Great Britain would have nothing to do.

THE STEAMER IDAHO

Goes to the Bottom in Lake Erie, Near Long Point, N. Y.

Nineteen Men Lost Their Lives by the Sinking of the Steamer in a Terrific Gale—The Second Mate and a Deck Hand Were Saved.

Buffalo, N. Y., Nov. 8.—The steamer Idaho sank during a gale Saturday morning above Long Point on Lake Erie. Nineteen men went to the bottom with the vessel. Two were saved, Louis Laforce, jr., second mate, and William Gill, a deck hand, living at 137 Kent street, Rochester, N. Y. It is not known at the office of the Western Transit Co., where the vessel is under portion of the dead men hail from.

William Gill, the saved deckhand, a swarthy, well built man 33 years old, has sailed the lakes since he was a youth. He is more intelligent than the average seafaring man and his story of the disaster as told early Sunday morning is a thrilling one.

"We left here Friday night bound for Chicago with a cargo of general merchandise," said he. "Everything seemed all right until we got outside the breakwater and then we were struck by the worst storm that I ever saw. When the first big breaker struck us we were tossed up in the air like a cup and a second latter a big roller came over the port bow and rolled down amidships a foot deep. The wind shrieked and howled, but we did not pay much attention to the storm. We had felt wind before. The captain consulted the mate and decided that he could weather it and he kept on his course.

"We were near Long Point at this time and the captain stasted to put in there, with the intention of beeching the ship. But the water gained so rapidly that it was too late. She was already laboring, and the two men at the wheel could do nothing with her. Two more men went to work with them and finally they brought her around and headed her toward land.

"Capt. Gillis started the pumps, ordered the men to the fire buckets and we formed a line and began to bail but it was no use. The water gained on the pumps and the buckets and soon the water put the fires out.

"When it was found that the power was gone and that the Idaho could not be moved we knew we could not live in the trough of that fearful sea and the only hope left us was to run out the anchor and bring her head up to the sea and let her ride out the gale.

"Every seaman realized that the danger of attempting to do that in face of a hurricane, and when Capt. Gills decided to do it, he ordered the lashings of the boats cut and told the men they were forced to take one last chance for their lives.

"At the word the anchor dropped from the bow and the chain began to pay out, but the sea was too heavy, and instead of the anchor catching with a grip and bringing the ship's head up to the storm with a jerk, it went too slow and simply tumbled into the trough of the seas, which broke over her in torrents.

"She was as helpless as a log, and she was tossed here and there and taking every wave aboard.

"From port to starboard the great mountains of water poured, rolling into the hold and adding to the quantity already weighting her down. The load was too much, and, after a moment, when we all felt that we were lost, the ship keeled over to the starboard and went down, stern first.

"I was near the spar and when the stern of the vessel began to go under, went for the rigging and went up as fast as I could. Another man went up with me—the second mate—and I thank the Lord that he was with me or I would have gone mad during all the long hours that I was up there hanging on and trying to keep off the frightful cold that was slowly killing us both.

"All this time the hail and sleet was coming down in cutting sheets, and we were covered with ice in a few minutes, for though the top of the spar on which we were hanging was 25 feet above the water, the big waves struck us and broke over us, and the hail cut us like shot.

"When daylight come we couldn't see a sail anywhere near us and the sea was as bad as ever. Hour after hour he waited there and then we saw the Mariposa coming. For a long time we did not know whether she would sight us.

"When she finally sighted us and we saw her head for us I tried to tell my mate, but I couldn't, and he looked at me with a happy look on his face. It was a terrible time to us before she came up to us, and then I knew we were not safe yet, for the sea was running mountain high.

"When the Mariposa got within a cable length of us a man with a strong voice yelled to us to hang on.

"'Don't give up, boys,' he yelled. 'We'll get you off soon.' Then the boat circled around us, coming as near as she could, but when she was within a few rods a big roller swept her far out and she went off to starboard, rolling heavily when she got in the trough of the sea. Then she came back again, and again she missed us, and we couldn't have taken a line had one been thrown to us. Again she went around, and we watched her and watched the men on her rail waiting to give us a life when they could. On the third trip around she ran right alongside our spar and as she went past a dozen men reached for us."

American Race Horses Going to London.

New York, Nov. 8.—The famous race horse Archduke, which is to be run in the English derby next season, was shipped for London Saturday on the American Transport liner Mobile, as was also the American bred racing horse India Chief.

Joint Protection of Seals.

Washington, Nov. 8.—A convention between the United States, Russia and Japan looking to the joint protection of the seals was signed at the state department Saturday at 12:15 p. m. It will require the ratification of the senate to become effective.

Take the Air Line

To St. Louis and the West, 53 miles the shortest from Louisville, makes the quickest time, Pullman Sleepers, Parlor and Dining Cars. For complete information address J. F. Moffett, Traveling Passenger Agent, Knoxville, Tenn. R. A. Campbell, General Passenger Agent, St. Louis, Mo.

If we had to live near a woman who is always practicing singing by herself, we doubt if life would be considered worth living.—Washington Democrat.

Takes the pennant, St. Jacobs Oil is champion in the cure of Neuralgia.

The rattlesnake never shrinks from danger. It simply recoils.—Chicago News.

There is a foe to pain; that's Sure. St. Jacobs Oil will cure.

Marrying for money is an expensive investment.—Rama's Horn.

Use St. Jacobs Oil and say to Rheumatism: "Will see you later."

We are liable to be most miserable expecting troubles that never come.

Hearing Affected

Ringing and Snapping in the Head Cured by Hood's Sarsaparilla.

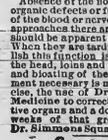
"For many years I have been troubled with catarrh, which caused me much pain and affected my hearing. I began taking Hood's Sarsaparilla and it helped me wonderfully and cured the snapping and ringing in my head." Mrs. C. A. Meeker, Cherry Valley, Illinois. Remember

Hood's Sarsaparilla

Is the best—in fact the One True Blood Purifier.

Hood's Pills cure all liver ills. 25 cents.

MISSISSIPPI GIRLS NOT AFRAID.



Martell Tabor

Crape, Miss., says: I have used Dr. M. A. Simmons Liver Medicine 18 years. It is the best of all Liver Regulators. It cures Sick Headache, and is a great deal more popular than "Black Draught" or any other liver medicine in this country.

Menstrual Non-Appearance.

Absence of the flow may arise from some organic defects or from abnormal condition of the blood or nervous system. As the time approaches there are many symptoms that should be apparent to an intelligent mother. When they are tardy, the attempt to establish this function is attended with pain in the head, loins and back, chilliness, nausea and bloating of the abdomen. The treatment necessary is moderate out-door exercise, the use of Dr. M. A. Simmons Liver Medicine to correct the action of the digestive organs and a dose twice a day for some weeks of that great uterine stimulant, Dr. Simmons Squaw Vine Wine.

W. W. Graves

Postmaster, Merchant and First Assistant Principal Huron Normal High School, Fuller, Miss., says: I am 29 years old, and my Father, who died when he was 75 years old, had been using and selling Dr. M. A. Simmons Liver Medicine ever since I could remember. It does all that is claimed for it, and is as staple as Sugar, Flour and Bacon. I consider it much Superior to "Zeilin's Medicine," which I don't use at any price.

Girls Approaching Puberty

Frequently suffer from irritability, restlessness, sometimes convulsions, palpitation of heart, [illegible] sion of spirits, nausea, constipation and sometimes fainting spells. Dr. Simmons Squaw Vine Wine, taken with the original Dr. M. A. Simmons Liver Medicine, quickly relieves these and other distressing symptoms and assists nature in performing its natural functions at the proper time.

Look Out.—Don't let the preparation called "Black Draught" come into your house on the fraudulent pretension of being "just the same" as M. A. S. L. M. It is "not" the same. If the component parts were the same there is as much difference between them as between day and night. Beware of all imitations.

A HOT TIME

THE FIRESIDE SUPPLY CO. of Zanesville, Ohio, has decided to make AN UNPARALLELED OFFER as a means of advertising and extending its business.

OUR NO. 11 OAK! AN AIR-TIGHT ...HEATING... ...STOVE... $6.25!

Will be sold for 90 Days at the unheard-of price of We do not ask you to buy a "pig in a poke." Send postal for our booklet containing full information and buy later when convinced that WE MEAN BUSINESS.

FIRESIDE SUPPLY CO., ZANESVILLE, OHIO.

Write us NOW. If you don't, next time you think of it the paper containing this advertisement will have disappeared.

What organ shall I buy?

Why not buy the one which holds the world's record for largest sales—the

ESTEY

Write for Illustrated Catalogue with prices, to Estey Organ Company, Brattleboro, Vt.

WINCHESTER GUN FREE

CATALOGUE

SEND YOUR NAME ON A POSTAL CARD AND WE WILL SEND YOU OUR 136 PAGE ILLUSTRATED CATALOGUE FREE

WINCHESTER REPEATING ARMS CO. 180 WINCHESTER AVE., NEW HAVEN, CONN.

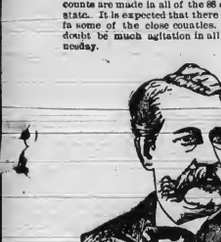
Weeks Scale Works, STOCK, COAL, HAY, GRAIN, AND COTTON SCALES. BUFFALO, N.Y.

OPIUM and Whiskey Habit cured at home without pain. Book of particulars sent FREE. B. M. WOOLLEY, M.D., Atlanta, Ga.

DROPSY NEW DISCOVERY gives quick relief and cures worst cases. Send for book of testimonials and 10 days' treatment Free. Dr. H. H. GREEN'S SONS, Atlanta, Ga.

GET RICH QUICKLY. Send for Book. "Inventions Wanted." EDGAR TATE & CO., 245 Broadway, New York.

THE ELECTION



Van Wuck Elected Mayor of New York.

Both Leading Parties Claiming the Ohio Legislature.

Gov. Bushnell Re-Elected by a Majority of About 26,000.

Shackelford is Elected Clerk of the Kentucky Court of Appeals by a Handsome Majority—Democrats Will Control the Kentucky Legislature.

COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 4.—The result of the elections in Ohio is still in doubt. With more complete returns Wednesday than were obtainable Tuesday night, it is evident that it will require the official count to satisfy the contestants. The more the respective parties figure on their returns, the smaller their pluralities seem to become while their claims increase in opposite directions. The closeness of the vote has caused intense feeling and the usual cry of fraud. When the result was in doubt in 1885 it was discovered that the tally sheets were forged. Tuesday night the republicans telegraphed to all their county committees to beware of the frauds of 1885. And when the republicans were claiming the legislature by one or two majority on joint ballot, the democrats telegraphed their county committees to prepare for all sorts of fraud, and to remember what it was by a majority of one by which the great crime of 1877 was committed that defeated Tilden. The state headquarters will be kept open all week, or until the official counts are made in all of the counties of the state. It is expected that there will be trouble in some of the close counties. There will no doubt be much agitation in all of them Wednesday.

HON. ASA S. BUSHNELL.

Re-Elected Governor of Ohio.

Meantime the managers at both the democratic and the republican state headquarters were Wednesday claiming the state. The democrats claim the election of Chapman for governor and their state ticket on such a close margin that it will require the official figures to determine finally.

Chairman McConville claims that the democrats will have a majority of seven in the legislature on joint ballot for senator. He says the republicans are claiming what they are doubtful of, and are sure that the democrats have carried by small pluralities.

The republicans claim that Bushnell, for governor, and the rest of the republican state ticket has been elected by from 5,000 to 8,000 plurality, and that the republicans will have a majority of two on joint ballot of the legislature for senator. The republicans concede that they will not have a majority in the state senate which would prevent the passage of what are known as "Rippers" or any other partisan legislation. The democrats claim that of the 36 senators with 18 conceded to be democrats and one doubtful. They claim 57 members of the house, conceding 48 to the democrats with four doubtful. If the democrats should secure all of these five doubtful members the republicans still claim a majority of two on joint ballot.

Late Wednesday afternoon the republicans conceded the election of the democratic representative in Wood county and changed their figures so that they now claim only two majority over all on the joint ballot in the legislature for senator. The Evening Dispatch, ind., on its advices from Wood county, changed its table so as to give the republicans only one majority on joint ballot as follows: Senate, 17 republicans, 19 democrats; house, 56 republicans, 53 democrats; totals, 73 republicans, 72 democrats.

CLEVELAND, O., Nov. 4.—The Plain Dealer, democratic, in an extra edition Wednesday morning, gives Bushnell a plurality of 4,853 in this, Cuyahoga county, and says he will have a plurality not to exceed 10,000 in the state. It is conceded that the entire republican legislative ticket for this district as well as the republican county ticket, is elected by small pluralities.

Wednesday afternoon the democratic state committee no longer claimed the election of their state ticket, but announced that their majority in the legislature on joint ballot will not be less than six and may possibly be nine as predicted earlier in the day by Chairman McConville. Chairman Nash Wednesday afternoon admitted that the republican plurality on the state ticket will be from 12,000 to 15,000 and that the republicans will have at least three majority on joint ballot for senator. Among the doubtful counties is Delaware, which Nash reported Wednesday afternoon the election of the republican representative by 26 plurality.

The democratic state committee Wednesday afternoon gave out the following:

"We have carried the following senatorial districts:

"Williams district, 2; Lucas, 3, Miami, 1; Butler, 1, Ottawa, 1; Seneca, 1; Marion, 1; Licking, 1; Knox, 1; Tuscarawas, 1; Hamilton, 4; Franklin, 2; total, 20.

"We have carried the following counties sure for the legislature:"

"Franklin, 3; Hamilton, 10; Lucas, 3; Licking, 2; Summit, 2; Adams and Pike, 1; Allen, Ashland, Auglaize, Brown, Butler, Clermont, Coshocton, Crawford, Darke, Defiance, Delaware, Fairfield, Hardin, Henry, Hocking, Vinton, Knox, Logan, Marion and Morrow, Mercer, Monroe, Ottawa, Paulding, Perry, Pickaway, Putnam, Sandusky, Shelby, Tuscarawas, Van Wert, Wayne, Williams, Wood, Wyandotte, 1 each, total 84.

The following counties are in doubt: Belmont, Erie, Guernsey, Madison, Morgan, Muskingum, Noble, Preble, Stark, Union, one each; Cuyahoga 9, Mahoning 2; total 21.

On these claims the democrats would have 71 on joint ballot, 73 being necessary for a choice of United States senator. Of the 21 members in doubt the democrats claim they will secure a majority.

When the democratic state committee put Cuyahoga county, the home of Senator Hanna, in the doubtful list, special efforts were made by the republicans to get data on each of the 12 members from that county. On the returns received the republicans claim that their lowest candidate for the legislature in Cuyahoga county has a plurality of 56 and that the average of the 12 members is 1,500.

COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 4.—Wednesday night the democratic state committee announced no definite claims on the legislature, and the republican state committee raised its claims to a majority of five on joint ballot as follows:

Senate, 17 republicans, 19 democrats; house, 56 republicans, 51 democrats; totals, 75 republicans, 70 democrats. Wood county had been conceded to the democrats until Wednesday night, when the complete returns caused the republicans to claim it. On the returns complete at republican state headquarters, the democrats will have a majority of two in the senate and the republicans of seven in the house. In these claims the fusionists from Cincinnati are all counted as democratic. The republicans can organize the house without fusion. There is only one of the four senators elected on the fusion ticket in Cincinnati who is a republican, and he saw

BOONE CO., RECORDER.

Wednesday, November 10, 1897.

Advertising Rates:
One inch, one time.....$1.00
Each additional time.....25
Obituaries, Tributes of Respects or notices of a like nature, per inch .50

W. L. RIDDELL, - - Publisher.

Neighborhood News.

Erlanger.

Regular meeting of the Masonic Lodge this Saturday evening.

Several applications for loans have been made to the local building association.

Town officers were elected as follows: Elsmere:—Henry Limpert, police judge; J. Wocher, marshall; George Hoag, H. Pore, N. E. Nicholson and A. Daron, trustees. Erlanger:—J. C. Tanner, police judge; W. H. Chambers, marshal; Mat Heauerkamp, Isadore Hagen, Hy Mussman, Harry Nusbaum and Conrad Munch, trustees.

Richwood.

Maggie Snow, who has been quite sick, is much better.

Miss Allie Piatt, of Walton, is the guest of Mrs. Ransom.

Mit Beemon and wife were visiting Mrs. Lou Aydlott, last Saturday and Sunday.

Miss Fannie Cleek, of Richwood, united with the Union Baptist church on the 3d inst.

F. H. Russell, of Constance, was in this neighborhood, last week, looking after his timber interest.

Senator and Mrs. Conner are contemplating a trip to California, this fall. They will visit Esq. Geo. M. Bedinger and family.

Verona.

Lafayette Myers is attending dental college in Cincinnati.

Corn is selling at one dollar and fifty cents per barrel delivered.

A nice, gentle rain fell here last Sunday, and the cry is now, "a plenty of rain."

Revs. McMillan and Agee held a very interesting revival meeting at Concord. It closed last week.

Dr. James McCormac and family have moved from J. G. Kenndey's to Mrs. Whitsons residence and is a citizen of our town.

A few days since as Scott Myers was on his way to church at Concord, his horse became frightened when crossing the railroad at the station house, and ran off, throwing Mr. Myers out. He was found in an unconscious condition some time after, by a friend, and taken home and a physician summoned, and an examination showed that his face and neck were badly bruised. He is now getting along very well. The buggy was badly wrecked. The horse was caught near Concord.

Saturday night, about ten o'clock, as J. N. Leach and C. A. Roberts, were returning from a visit to their best girls, they heard an unusual noise in the dry goods store of Fry & Whitson, and upon investigation found that the front door had been forced open. As it was very dark in the store they decided that discretion was the better part of valor, and at once hied themselves off to the residence of Mr. Whitson and gave the alarm.

Mr. Whitson after arming himself with a winchester returned with Leach and Roberts to find that the burglar had made good his escape.

Petersburg.

Andrew Buchanan's son, Thorntou, has the appendicitis.

Mr. Bryan, our cattle man, came into town Saturday night.

Mrs. Orlando Snyder has been quite sick for some time with a cold.

Will Mahan and Charley Cox reached home from Chicago, last Wendesday.

Wm Rector is having a tussle with grippe. Ask Gum Williamson if he is not pretty hard to handle.

Uncle Tim Smith is a whole team in a discussion of the local option and temperance question in general.

F. G. Lawes and family and Perat Jarrell, who is living with them, have whooping cough in a very bad form.

Two gentlemen from Owen county, Ky., the names of Pryor and Turpin, have been visiting at Wm Evans' for several days.

The distilling Co., have commenced receiving barley at Aurora. The maltsters have already gone to work. There will not be half as many places as men, when work does begin in earnest.

Our old friend, Dr. Elijah Grant, says he will be eighty-one years old Dec. eleventh '97. But what did he do last Tuesday but walk to the polls and vote his sentiments in true Democratic style.

Walton.

Dr. Jones and wife were visiting in Cynthiana, Sunday.

Mrs. Love Rouse has engaged in the millinery business at this place.

Stock water was about exhausted, and the generous rain was appreciated by all.

N. M. Northcutt still continues hauling tomatoes to the market, and reports good prices.

Miss Allie Wilson, of Bank Lick, was the pleasant guest of her sister, Mrs. Botts, last week.

Judge Botts has returned from a visit to his parents at Bag Dad, and his health is much improved.

Wm Pangle, who has been engaged here as night operator for the L. & N. will take his departure this week.

Wm. Northcutt, formerly of this place is now with Dan Cohen, the boot and shoe man of Covington, where he will be glad to meet his friends.

The following is a list of the pupils in Walton Academy, whose general average reaches 90 per cent and above: Julia Adams, Emma Ambrose, Mabel Bagby, Alice Coffman, Kate Bentz, Gertrude Curley, Blanch Dyas, Lucy Fields, Lovia Green, Ethaline Griffith, Lena Hedges, Lucile Hind, Effa Lermond, Kate Moore, Nina McKin, Edna Ransler, Mattie Rouse, Lydia Taylor, Hattie Taylor, Eleanora Walsh, Presley Adams, Sidney Ambrose, Robert Byland, Charles Chambers, Robt. Coffman, How Cleek, Watson Dyas, Ralph Edwards, Fleming Hedges, Cleveland Hedges, Leslie Jones, Leon Prior, Earl Rouse, Garfield Slater, Roy Stamler, Thos. Stevens. Several others have done excellent work, but were not quite able to reach the standard on account of some one difficult study.

Rabbit Hash.

Jim Pope, sr., is a citizen, of Rabbit Hash.

Mrs. Ella Aylor, of Lawrenceburg, is visiting her parents at this place.

The hands have been on the road again and have made quite a change.

The Burnett boys are having their house repaired and building a new room to it.

Charles Wilsou and wife, of Lawrenceburg, were visiting friends at this place last Saturday and Sunday.

Miss Maud Ryle, who is teaching school at Mud Lick, is at home with her sick brother, who is no better.

Last Sunday evening was the baptizing at Rabbit Hash and there has been several cases of sickness since.

E. L. Clements left for Cincinnati last Saturday evening to accept the position of book keeper for two hotels.

Joe Cayton lost one of his children. It was about three weeks old. It was buried at East Bend Methodist church. The family have the sympathy of the neighborhood.

Resolved, That the sympathy of East Bend Lodge, be extended to our bereaved brother and his family, and that these resolutions be spread on our minutes and a copy delivered to brother Clements.

Richard, little son of E. L. Clements, died last Friday morning of croup. He was burried at the East Bend Methodist burying ground Saturday evening at 2 o'clock. The K. of P. passed the following resolutions:

The protracted meeting at the East Bend Baptist Churchclosed last Thursday night with severaladditions as follows: Mrs. Welthy Scott, Maggie Scott, Alice Stephens, Millie Hodges, Myrta O'Neal, Hellen McKay and William Aylor.

Union.

Since abundant rains have come, breaking up the long drought, and the returns show Democratic victories all over the country, our people seem pleased with themselves and the world at large.

Mr. Ed., here's hoping 22 years more of success to the RECORDER, dating from '97 to '19, and may its Ed, always have plenty of "fat bellied" pumpkin pie to eat, and all comforts that his heart may desire.

A protracted meeting is in progress at the Baptist church, and, notwithstanding the wet weather, much interest is being shown. Rev. Wilson, of Shelby county, is assisting Rev. Adams, and his preaching is logical and effective.

Geo. Clarkson is the hero in a novel rabbit story or the hero of a rabbit story novel "as you like it." He fired point blank, twice, at a rabbit sitting in the grass and missed him and did not even make him move from his bed. When he went close enough to see, he found the rabbit rubbing the smoke and dust from its eyes very deliberately with his paws. George caught him.

Saturday night, as Mr. Geo. Jack was coming from Hughes' Chapel, he saw a crowd of horsemen near White Haven, and thought a "hanging bee" was about to occur, but later discovered that one of the boys had a fighting bee in his coat, while another boy stood ready to help him get it ont. The list of killed and wounded cannot be found in the records of the battle, hence no report to-day.

Mrs. Harriet Tallaferro is visiting in Owen county.—Mrs. R. T. Clements has lost her eyesight entirely.—Mrs. Stevice has moved to her house purchased of Mrs. Dora Bannister.—Lucien Stephens has a fine sample of '97 tobacco on exhibition, price ten cents.—J. H. Corbin bought one hundred chickens of B. L. Rice, and killed twelve moving them.—Adams Bros. killed twenty-two rabbits in one day. Wm. rushed 'em and Pete killed 'em—see.

Two weeks ago the writer said if the farmers were united upon all questions pertaining to their interest, (either as grangers or otherwise) it would be good, not only for them, but for every class of people in these U. S. A few days after writing this some person (name unknown) threw a note into our yard in which he wrote the following: "The mechanic who has to buy every thing he eats is nothing short of a — fool, if he is in favor of organization among farmers or votes for free colnage of silver, or any other measure that is likely to give the farmer advantages over other business men and make wheat $2 50 per bushel and tobacco 20c per pound." It's evident, in my feeble judgment, that the "fool killer" has not made a trip through Boone, lately, for if he had this poor, short-sighted and deluded individual would now be planted beneath the violets and daisys with his head towards Hanna and his heels toward hades.

John Crisler was on hand promptly Tuesday to vote and make a report as horticultural editor of the "Union Blade." He has propigated some fine varieties of apples and among them is one he has named "Crisler's Pet." It is a large, red apple, fine flavor, sub acid, good keeper, &c. The curious feature of the "Pet" lays in each apple having a picture of some well known Boone Co., citizen "on it." Among the sample brought along, Tuesday, was one with a picture of Atty. J. M. Lassing, as he viewed himself in that wonderful looking glass at the Nashville Exposition. Another has a picture of Jas. Barlow, after he has absorbed six pieces of pie in a Covington restaurant and asks for more. One shows John Aylor as he weighs one of his 39 lb. bronze turkeys. Another gives a character likeness of Prof. Collins, as he laughs and wonders who the Richwood correspondent is. One portrays in crayon, the likeness of a certain young man of Union, as he sits on a barn roof and trys to compromise with a savage bull dog that "Old Boss" had set upon him. Another shows Granville Rouse as the proud father of a bouncing baby boy born Nov. first. One gives a life-like picture of Daniel Dobbins, as he declares upon all that is good and better to John Cleek that he never intends to marry. One gives a picture of Mr. Crisler as he discovers the wonderful apples and tells Ben Norman, sr., how they are propagated. "The grafting must be done in a dark cellar, on a dark day in the dark of the moon, by the light of a dark lantern, and hy a man who wears dark clothes and chews dark tobacco, and has the nerve to spit the amber into the eyes of any dark colored man, who says this report is not true in every particular.

Utzinger.

The wild geese have gone South.

The Lawrenceburg ferry boat, Sherley T. is being repainted.

Miss Ida Hoffman, of near Petersburg, is making her home at Hartwell, Ohio.

Roswell Walton and wife, of Chicago, were visiting his father near here, last week.

Loyd Norris, of Madison, Ind., was visiting his sister, Mrs. B. H. Berkshire, a few days ago.

Mr. Pitcher, tobacconist, of Big Bone, was visiting Uncle Tom Whitaker, one night last week.

B. B. Grant bought six dozen chickens at the sale and that night someone stole the entire lot.

James Setters and wife, of Gunpowder, were visiting the Rice Bros, last Saturday and Sunday.

Ezra Aylor has rented the Leonard Clore farm near Waterloo, and will move there in the spring

Jack Smith and Fleet Hoffman are making half barrels for use at the distillery when it starts in January.

James W. Gaines spilled some boiling water on his foot, a few days ago, and is suffering very much from it.

A Mr. Shaffer, who lives on Jas. T. Grant's farm near here, has triplet children, all boys, 7 years old—can't tell one from the other.

Mr. Kyle and his two handsome sisters, of Manchester, Ind., were visiting Edwin Botts and Miss Pearl, last Saturday and Sunday.

Farmers on gathering their corn find that it is not near so good as they expected—loose and chaffy.

P. G. Cropper and wife came up from Louisville to attend the marriage of his sister, Miss May, to Dr. J. H. Walton. They returned that evening.

Dogs killed five sheep for Lystra Smith, three for Jas. A. Kirtley, one or two for Louis Hitzfeld, three for R. C. Gaines. The dogs were killed.

The Lawrenceburg bar is the most troublesome point on the river between Cincinnati and Louisville, and there is a steamboat stuck on it nearly all the time.

Elihu Alden, Stamp Deputy at Pete.; C. C. Hughes, Ganger; Ed McKim, Storekeeper, and J. Edwin Botts, Chinese Inspector, is the hand writing on the wall.

The whale boat is still high and dry with no immediate prospects of getting off very soon. Since they have been aground the boat has been repaluted and looks neat and nice.

A revival will begin at the Methodist church at Petersburg next Suuday night and continue three weeks. Rev. Clark, of Bracken county, will assist the pastor. Let the good work go on.

The Miami Fire Co., of Lawrenceburg, had an outing on this side of the river. They killed about 60 rabbits and had a good time generally. Capt. Jacob Rief and Jude Marshall were grand marshals of the occasion.

E. H. Niebaum at Aurora, Archie Shaw at Lawrenceburg and C. L. Wilbur at Rising Sun, are the ones that will handle the mail for Uncle Sam the next four years in those three cities.

Met the Hon. and venerable Jas. A. Wilson at Rabbit Hash the other day. He is in splendid health for one of his age, being 84, and one of the most entertaining conversationalists one can meet, being well posted on all affairs of State and Nation.

A protracted meeting commenced at the Bullittsburg church, last Sunday morning, and will continue for three weeks or longer. Meeting, morning at 10:30; evening at 7. The pastor will be assisted by Rev. Jones, who is said to be a fine pulpit orator.

If you will look any clear night about 8 o'clock, you will see a very large star flirting around the moon. They are said to whiz by one another like lightning and may collide some sweet day, in which event the collision will cause weeping and wailing and tribulations. Get on a hay stack and wait.

In beginning a new year as correspondent for the RECORDER, we will say to the readers that we expect to give the news as we hear it without regard to any favorites. If a man is as black as a blind nigger in a dark cellar with a dark lantern, looking for black cats, and dies or cuts some one in a razor fight, we will report it.

The sale of the personal property of the late Jas. A. Botts, on the 23d ult., was largely attended, people coming in from every part of the county and by 11 o'clock there was said to be 500 people present. The bidding was lively all day, and nearly all articles brought good prices. Horses sold from $61 to $30; corn in the field, 25¢ per bushel; cows from $40 to $10.50; tobacco, $9 per hundred pounds, stripped and delivered.

[The above communication came too late for last week.—ED.]

Gasburg.

Mrs. Frank Hartman visited relatives in Cincinnati, last week.

Ben Berkshire purchased 50 stock hogs on Middle creek, lately.

Chas. Shipman and Joe Fitch have each rented farms in Dearborn county, Ind., and will move on them in the spring.

Considerable coal has been hauled to this place from Bellevue, lately, the supply in Petersburg being entirely exhausted.

W. T. Stott has put a new Iron roof on his summer residence (Gray Gables) in this place, which adds greatly to its appearance.

Our free school is progressing smoothly; but the attendance is small. Not half the pupils in the district have been enrolled.

The high prices prevailing for tobacco have put many former raisers of the weed in the notion of embarking in its cultivation again.

George Bachelor raised the largest corn around here this season. It is a white variety. Specimens measure fourteen inches in length.

Jack Barnett, the high headed pioneer of Steep Gut, has the newest thing out in the way of a roof. He has covered his stable with flat rocks.

Hunters are out in full force every good day, Sundays not excepted, and the roar of shot guns is almost incessant from early morn until dark.

Arthur Terrill met with a serious misfortune last Wednesday. A horse kicked him on the leg below the knee, breaking one bone, aud otherwise injuring the leg.

Chas. Fitch, who has been going on crutches for 3 or 4 months from the effects of running a thorn in his knee, expects to go to a hospital in Cincinnati for treatment.

The droughts of late years have demonstrated the fact that the Middle creek and Gasburg countries are the best watered parts of Boone county. Peak's branch, which flows through this place, has the greatest abundance of running water at all times.

On account of the rain not more than half of the voters of this place went to the polls on election day, and but one from all of the Garrison country. This, of course, cut heavily against the Democratic ticket, as they are the strongholds of the party in the precinct.

Notice to Taxpayers.

The taxpayers are hereby notified that the six per cent. penalty will be added December 1st. Pay up before that time and save the penalty.

C. C. ROBERTS, S. B. C.

Notice to Trespassers.

We, the undersigned, hereby give notice that we have posted our farms according to law, against trespass of all kinds, and will enforce the law against those who trespass thereon by hunting or otherwise.

J K Roberts,	L C Roberts
H H Roberts,	James Watson
J W Cluster,	Henry Florence
Mack Watson,	Rebecca Johnson
W P Roberts,	A W Smith
G B Powers,	J T Peek
Edward Taylor	J H Rogers
Lafe Johnson	S C Johnson
F. Litterell

Notice to Trespassers.

We, the undersigned, hereby give notice that we have posted our farms, according to law, against trespass of all kinds, and will enforce the law against those who trespass thereon by hunting or otherwise.

John Stephens	Robt McGlasson
M T Graves	Wm Graves
John J Rucker	J W Watts
Jas L Riley	Temp Gaines
Wm Riley	Allie Corn
Henry McGlasson	Hubert Cropper
Geo McGlasson	Joe Graves

Zeke Aylor	Jameson Aylor
Ed Berkshire	T J Walton
Clide Berkshire	Bert Berkshire
J D Cloud	T D Goodridge
R White	Geo Blyth
Al Rogers	Chas White
R W Neal	Abs Aylor

Administrator's Notice.

Those indebted to the estate of J. C. Beall, deceased, must come forward and settle at once, and those having claims against said estate must present the same at once proven according to law.

CHAS. B. BEALL, Adm'r.

NOTICE.

Notice is hereby given that I am sole owner of the personal property on my farm near J. W. Klte's store, this county, and none is authorized to sell same or any part of it.

LENNORA SATCHWILL.

Sept. 10th, 1897.

For Sale.

Good frame house of six roome, and good barn and lot, at Big Bone, Ky. For further particulars apply to

M. C. CARROLL,
Big Bone, Ky.

For Sale or Rent.

Good Stock Farm of 170 acres. Money rent in cash, if rented.

Wm. C. HENSLEY.

Farm for Sale!

—(o)—

In Boone county, Ky., on the North Bend Road, 1¼ miles from Burlington, 1 mile from Hebron and 5 miles from Anderson's Ferry, and contains seventy-eight acres, good cottage of 5 rooms and good barn, orchard of 200 trees select fruit. The farm is all under good state of cultivation. For terms apply to

LASSING & RIDDELL,
Burlington, Ky.

For Sale--Farm.

—of—

123 Acres of Good Land in Boone County, Ky., on the Union & Beaver Turnpike, 2 miles from Union, three miles from Richwood Station. Good house of seven rooms, hall, vestibule, porches, good cellar; large barn, outbuildings, two cisterns, orchard and never failing water.

Henry Tucker,
UNION, Boone Co., KY.

BOOTS & SHOES

MADE TO ORDER.

Work Strictly First-Class.
Prices to Suit the Times.

Harness, Boots and Shoes Neatly Repaired. Give me a trial.

CHRISTIAN BECKER,
29spt2m Union, Ky.

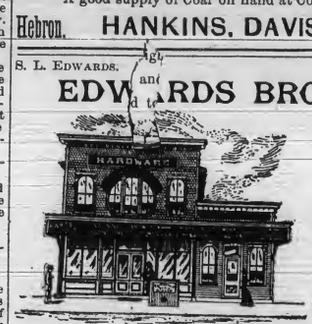
COMMISSIONER'S NOTICE.

Boone Circuit Court, Ky.
Sallie Powers, &c., Plffs.,
vs.
F. L. Gordon, &c., Defts.

The undersigned hereby gives notice that he will begin his sittings on the 24th day of Nov., 1897, at the Circuit day excepted) to the 11 day of Dec., clerk's office in Burlington, Ky., to hear proof in the aboved styled cause and will adjourn from day to day (Sunday excepted) to the 11 day of Dec., 1897. J. B. BERKSHIRE, M. C. B. C. C.

GO TO
HANKINS, DAVIS & CO., General Merchants,
HEBRON AND CONSTANCE,
A Good Supply of Feed always in Stock.

GARDEN AND FIELD SEEDS.



Undertaking is given special attention. Funerals under the personal supervision of J. C. HANKINS.

A good supply of Coal on hand at Constance at all times.

Hebron, HANKINS, DAVIS & CO. Constance

S. L. EDWARDS. A. M. EDWARDS.

EDWARDS BROTHERS,

DEALERS IN HARDWARE
—AND—
Agricultural Implements,
Furniture,
Stoves,
Tinware,
Saddlery,
Oils and Paints,
Wall Paper.

UNDERTAKING & EMBALMING A SPECIALTY.

We have added a first-class Tin Shop and are prepared to do Tin, Iron and Paper Roofing and guarantee all work done by us.

EDWARDS BROS., - - Walton, Ky.

JOHN ALLISON,

UNDER-  EMBALMER,

—Corner Pike & Russell Streets,—

COVINGTON, - - KENTUCKY.

INDEPENDENT OF UNDERTAKERS' UNION.

THEY : MUST : GO.

Desiring to quit that branch of the business I am Closing OUT MY ENTIRE STOCK OF

MEN'S & BOYS' Ready-Made CLOTHING

At the greatest bargains ever offered in Covington.

MY TAILORING DEPARTMENT

Will be continued, and I have on hand the Finest Line of Suitings in the three cities. Give me a call.

H. F. BLASE, 540 Madison Avenue, COVINGTON, KY.

jany 1-98

Many People When Buying Clothing

Never consider the WORKMANSHIP and TRIMMINGS—a matter of great Importance. We pay particular attention to same and invite your inspection. Come in and examine our

All Wool Suits at $5.00.
Our Black and Blue Kersey Overcoats at $5, $6.50, $8 and $10, can not be equaled.
Our Men's Pants for $1.00 can not be beat.

Mr. L. Rice, of Independence, would be pleased to have his friends call upon him.

ROLFES & WACHS, RELIABLE CLOTHIERS
S. W. Cor. Pike & Madison Ave. Covington, Ky.

FOURTH YEAR.
OF WALTON ACADEMY,
—opens—
MONDAY, SEPTEMBER 6th, 1897
AT WALTON, KY.

Three Courses of Study to choose from: English, Scientific or Classical,
Tuition per month,...$2.50 and $3.00
Vocal and Instrumental Music at moderate rates.

We have a fine, new buildlug with rooms for pupils, connected.—Board only $2.50 per week, or $2.00 for 5 days.

Thorough, Substantial Work Guaranteed.

Teachers { Mrs. S. H. MYERS. / CHAS. F. PRIOR. / Rev. S. H. MYERS.

Further information gladly given by mail or lutervlew.

Administrator's Notice.

I have this day been appointed administrator of the estate of Janies A. Botts, deceased, and all persons indebted to said estate must pay same at once and all persons having claims against said estate must present them to me or my attorney S. W. Tolin, at Burlington, Ky., proven as by law required.

EDWIN BOTTS, Adm'r.

Sept. 20th, 1897.

WINTER TOURIST

low round trip rates are now in effect to Florida and other winter resorts for the season of '97–'98 via the QUEEN & CRESCENT ROUTE from all points North.

The train service of the Queen & Crescent from the North via Cincinnati is the finest in the South. Vestibuled trains make fast schedules, with through sleepers to principal Southern Cities.

Write for information to
W. C. Rinearson,
General Passenger Agent,
Cincinnati, O.

Send 10 cents for fine Art colored Lithograph of Lookout Mountain and Chickamauga.

Subscribe for the Recorder.

Local News.

The wheat is doing well.

Considerable shock corn was husked, last week.

Castleman, Duncan and Brown moved last week.

The dirt roads got quite muddy soon after the rain.

Considerable rain fell last Sunday and Sunday night.

The weather Monday morning was very much like that of spring.

The farmer who delivers his tobacco now and 'is not docked, gets good weight.

Business about the offices of the court house has been very [illegible] for some time.

The Ohio river will be [illegible] of coal fleets as soon as there is enough water to float them.

Miss Lou Alden has been appointed postmaster at Petersburg, and W. H. Metcalfe at Walton.

John and Evan Acra have typhoid fever and it is feared that Lawrence Phipps is taking it.

The recently elected State and county officers take their offices the first Monday in January next.

Bev. H. N. Brown will preach at the Universalist church next Sunday morning and at night at the usual hours.

Kentucky, with a Democratic majority and a fine rain, both on the same day, was very much in it last week.

T. J. Childress was reelected Justice of the Peace in the Erlanger district, his vote being 265 to his opponent's 72.

There were several days very fine hunting weather, last week, and many took advantage of them regardless of the game law.

TO CURE A COLD IN ONE DAY.
Take Laxative Bromo Quinine Tablets. All druggists refund the money if it fails to cure. 25c

Burlington is well supplied with fresh meat now. Only three dealers administering to the demands of her people along that line.

If astronomers are not off in their calculations there will be a beautiful meteoric display shortly after midnight next Sunday. It may occur on Monday or Tuesday night following.

It is with sorrow that we record the death of Richard, the three-year old son of E. L. Clements and wife of Rabbit Hash. The bereaved parents have the sympathy of an extensive circle of relatives and friends.

All the cattle belonging to a Dearborn county, Indiana, farmer, were on a druuk a few days ago. They had been fed on malt which had been saturated with whisky when the Walsh distillery was on fire, recently.

Burlington has about as good chance to be on the line of Col. Boone's Black Diamond railroad as [illegible] the State. It is very doubtful if any Kentucky town ever hears the whistle of an engine on that road.

The County Clerk and Sheriff being candidates Judge Stephens had to summon O. W. Gaines and H. Bannister, the two nearest Justices of the Peace, to assist him in making the official count of the vote, last Friday.

R. C. Rice, carpenter and builder, is constructing a modern hen house for O. P. Conner. It is to be so comfortable and convenient that a hen can not resist the temptation to lay anywhere from one to a half dozen eggs per day.

Mr. Comingore will not bluff the applicants for the pie he has to dispose of by telling them there are only four or five appointments he can make under the civil service law. They want him to originate a scheme by which he can evade c. s.

Last Wednesday night the blind mare belonging to Henry Webb, colored, fell into the cellar W. F. McKim is having dug on the lot he purchased of Mrs. Hogan, and broke one of her fore legs. She was shot and then lifted out of the cellar by a team of horses and a rope and pulleys.

Boone county dealers sold tobacco on the Cincinnati market, last week, as follows: O. W. Adams, 5 hhds.—$10 to $15—average, $12,75; G. W. Roberts, 10 hhds.—$10.25 to $17—average, $14,92; J. G. Kennedy, 13 hhds.—$10,25 to $15,25—average—$13,04; H. Long, 2 hhds.—$10,75 to $15,25—average $14,94.

The death of Mrs. E. H. Blankenbecker, of the Florence neighborhood, casts a pall of gloom over that entire community. She was a victim of consumption and had been in ill health for some time. She was a christian lady and loved by all who was fortunate enough to enjoy her acquaintance.

Bellevue, Utzinger and Petersburg, Ky., have had representatives in Aurora shopping during the last few days.—Bulletin.

And still more would come were the Aurora merchants to patronize the advertising columns of the RECORDER as location suggests to them would be to their advantage.

Last Thursday was quarterly pension day, and quite a number of the old soldiers called on the County Clerk to have their certificates prepared that they might draw their quarterage. The old soldiers are still reaping their reward for the hardships and trials they endured on behalf of their country when it was in danger.

A new bug, called the "mountaineer" because it came down from the mountains on drift, has destroyed 25,000 head of cabbage above town. It is a black bug, with a cross on its back, nearly as large as the potato bug, and operates in about the same way. So far, no remedy is known. It disturs nothing but cabbage.—Rising Sun Recorder.

H. W. Harrison, dentist, of Rising Sun, Ind., will be in Burlington on the first and third Monday in each month, to do work for those who wish anything in his line. He will be here two days each visit. He is a son of the late R. F. Harrison, of Carrollton, and a graduate of the Pennsylvania College of Dentistry at Philadephia. He is highly recommended in his profession.

Queen & Crescent.—Sunday trains "C" and "D," between Burgin and Cincinnati, will be annulled Nov. 7th. Trains one and two will stop at all stations between Ludlow and Burgin on FLAG Sundays. Special Sunday excursion rates from Cincinnati to Georgetown and intermediate points are withdrawn. W. C. RINEARSON, G. P. A. Cincinnati, Ohio.

A very pretty wedding occurred at the residence of Mrs. Isabelle Davis, in Hebron, last Wednesday afternoon, it being the marriage of her accomplished daughter, Miss Elizabeth Lee and Mr. Charles W. Goodridge, one of the highly respected young men of that community. The parlor was handsomely decorated for the occasion, and promptly at two o'clock the bridal couple, preceded by Miss Edna Bryan, of Cincinnati, and Prof. Cecil Hafer, entered the parlor, keeping step to the wedding march. In front of a large bank of ferns and chrysanthemums they were met by Rev. George W. Watkins, who, with an impressive ceremony, pronounced them man and wife. Immediately after the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Goodridge left for a short bridal trip amid a bountiful supply of rice, flowers and good wishes.

Miss Kate Kirtley, of East Bend, a few days since, received a letter from Bellevue, Idaho, dated October 29, '97, informing her of the sudden death of her brother, Cave Johnson Kirtley. He was the youngest son of William and Nancy Kirtley, and was born in this county on the 23d day of January, 1823. Early in life he united with the East Bend Baptist Church, and afterwards married the daughter of the late George W. Brasher, a former Representative in the Kentucky Legislature. When the war of the rebellion broke out he was living in Missouri, and joined the Confederate army under Gen. Price, and served as an officer until he was compelled to resign on account of ill health. He was a faithful friend, a kind husband and affectionate brother, a dutiful and obedient son, faithfully performing his duties in all his relations in life. He leaves two sons and a daughter, and an only sister to mourn his death.

Lawrenceburg item in the Cincinnati Commercial-Tribune, Oct. 26th: The stump referred to being at the Loring place, opposite Bellevue: "Warren Danley, a traveling salesman for The Proctor & Gamble Soap Company, of Cincinnati, Ohio, while driving from this city to Rising Sun, Ind., yesterday morning, stopped the team he was driving at the stump which is all that remains of probably the largest sycamore tree in this surrounding country, to tack some of his advertisements on. Mr. Danley becoming interested in the large stump, which stands about twenty feet high and measures twelve feet through, and hollow inside, being told of the account of a very fierce and bloody battle fought many years ago between the white settlers and the Indians under this famous tree, by Floyd Miller, his driver, who had heard his grandfather relate the details of the fight, concluded to examine it, and crawled into the stump through an opening near the ground, and discovered in the lucksome a large, black valise, containing a pad saddle, two bridles, a halter, a pair of brass spurs, several candles, some matches and an old coat with a note book in it containing the name of Spinny Douglas, a road map to Dayton, Ohio, and the names of a number of wealthy farmers residing in this section of the State. The goods are taken for granted to have been the property of Marlon, alias Spinny Douglas, Charles Conway, etc., the horse-thief who is now serving a sentence of fourteen years in the Michigan City penitentiary. The goods found were taken in charge by Mr. Danley, and were left at Mr. Miller's livery stable in this city, and are being examined by a large number of people."

A Visit to the Nashville Exposition.

We took the L. & N. train at Cincinnati at 11:50 a. m., and after a rough, though pleasant ride, we found ourselves in the Capital of old Tennessee at 9:10 p. m. After being handsomely entertained for the remainder of the night at the Hotel Mitchell, we started out the next morning to see some of the city and fortunately met one of Boone county's old residents, Mr. Henry Lassing, who is in our opinion an excellent gentleman. He invited us to his office which is located on Church Street, and is a gem in the way of law offices. Many of his old friends will be pleased to learn that he has an extensive practice and is doing well. Having spent a part of the day in Nashville, Mr. Lassing was kind enough to accompany us to the residence of another of Boone's old residents, Mr. Wm. Setters, who lives one and a half miles east of town, and is Superintendent of the Work House, all of the wonders of which he takes great pleasure in showing to all comers, and which I wish I could describe to you, in as much as it differs from other institutions of the kind I have seen, in regard to management, etc. Leaving this gentleman's hospitality somewhat reluctantly, we proceeded over a road, through the hills, to the residence of Mr. L. J. Setters, who lives on the Nashville & Ashland road, here we were taken in and treated with what seemed to us Old Kentucky hospitality. It is an ideal home. By the way, I do not think our old friend works very much, having served his time. However, by his good management his children are all in business and thriving. For the benefit of some of his friends, I will say that his son-in-law, Nat Cox, is with him and is Captain of a number one sawmill which position seems well suited to him and with which he is well satisfied. Mr. Setters has under his control about 3,000 acres of land, well timbered and watered, which he says he would like to have cleared and built upon by Boone county people.

The readers, no doubt, begin to think we are a long time in arriving at the Exposition, but here we are at last, and to be brief, the Exposition was a success in every way. You had the advantage of seeing everything of importance which was exhibited at Chicago without having to pay prices that would make J. J. Astor groan. The exhibits were all first-class; the people courteous and the accommodations all that could be desired.

Mrs. M. D. Barker.

PERSONAL MENTION.

W. J. Rice and wife went to the city, Friday.

Geo. Baker, of Limaburg, was among the visitors to town Friday.

Fernando Carpenter, of the Richwood neighborhood was in town Monday.

G. O. Cleek, one of the pushing farmers, of the Beaver neighborhood, was in town last Saturday.

Wm. Respass, of Kenton county, was in town last Thursday, enroute to Hubert Brady's for a hunting dog.

Mr. George Crouch and Miss Bessie Snyder, of Florence, were married Thursday. They took their friends by surprise.

Andrew Acra, who has had such a serious time with typhoid fever, is improving. His brother, John, now has the fever.

P. T. Fall, of Union, was in town last Wednesday. He, like all other Democrats, was running his smiling apparatus to its fullest capacity.

James M. Gaines and daughter, Miss Buiah, Miss Gracie Grant and Jack Winston, joined the Bullittsburg Baptist church Sunday night.

Joseph Weaver was in town Monday, and said Gunpowder had begun running at a rapid rate, and that the noise it made was sweet music to the ear.

Sam Hind and Geo. Ransler, two prominent citizens of the gas belt, were in Burlington, Monday. They reported all things lovely in Walton and vicinity.

Geo. L. Miller, one of the leading Republicans in the Big Bone country, was in town Wednesday. He did not tarry long, as he was not feeling particularly well that day.

J. D. Snyder and Dr. C. H. Crigler, of Ludlow, were visiting W. C. Delph, last Thursday, and spent the day hunting. They returned home that evening, very tired. The result of their day's hunt was 46 rabbits.

In looking over the election news we discovered that Dr. R. H. Crisler, of Ludlow, and son of Mr. H. P. Crisler, of this county, was elected treasurer of that city on the 2d inst. The city is to be congratulated on selecting such a good official.

At the election on the 2d inst., C. W. Riddell was elected as one of the trustees of Williamstown. Here's hoping Charley will prove a success as a legislator, and continue to ascend the ladder of fame until he acquires a seat in the national legislature.

Mr. Wachs, of the firm of Rolfes & Wachs, of Covington, was the guest of Chas. Craven, last Thursday. Chas. Craven, Mr. Wachs and Bert Rouse, enjoyed themselves hunting out at W. T. Kyle's, and quite a number of rabbits were killed by them.

Mr. Henry Tucker, of the Union neighborhood, was in town Saturday. He did not sell his farm on the 4th inst., as he was not willing to sacrifice it. It is advertised for sale, and can be secured at a bargain at private sale. It is a nice farm and most favorably located.

Mr. J. E. Ransom, one of the cleverest and most successful farmers in the Verona neighborhood, was in town Saturday. He says the wheat in this part of the county is looking much better than it is in his neighborhood, where the prospects for the next crop are discouraging.

Kirb Conner, son of J. M. Conner, of Cincinnati, was in town last Thursday, on his way to visit his grandparents at Bellevue. His wife accompanied him. Kirb had not been here before for ten years, and while he knew about every person he met, not one recognized him. He has spent several years in the East, and is a much larger man than his friends here expected to meet, and reminds one very much of his father.

Colored bird's eye view of Chattanooga, Mission Ridge, Waldon's Ridge and portions of the Chickamauga field as seen from the summit of the Lookout Mountain. Highest style of lithographer's art. On fine paper, plate 10x24. Mailed for 10 cents in stamps. W. C. RINEARSON, Gen'l Pass'r Agt. Q. & C. Route, Cincinnati, O.

COMMISSIONER'S NOTICE.

Boone Circuit Court, Ky.

S. Baldon's Adm'r Plff.
vs Equity
Parthena Baldon, &c., Defts.

Notice is hereby given that I will begin my sittings at the Circuit Clerk's office in Burlington, Ky., on the 6th day of Nov, 1897, to hear proof of claims, under the order of reference in the above styled cause and will adjourn from day to day (Sunday excepted) to the 6th day of Dec., 1897. All persons having claims against S. Baldon's estate will present them to me proven as by law required.

J. B. BERKSHIRE, M. C. B. C. C.
S. Gaines, Attorney.

Teachers' Meeting.

The teachers of the Union and Beaver Lick magisterial district met at the school house in district 48, near Richwood church.

The association was called to order by Supt. Voshell at eleven o'clock. After a song by the school and prayer by Rev. W. H. Davis, Miss Harriet Bedinger introduced the subject of "Calesthenics" and was followed by Rev. W. H. Davis, Miss Nannie D. Bristow and Supt. Voshell.

"School Literature" was discussed by A. C. Collins, Miss M. F. Hamrick, Miss N. D. Bristow, Rev. W. H. Davis and Supt. Voshell.

The meeting then adjourned to partake of a bountiful feast prepared by the ladies of the district.

After dinner the association was again called to order by Supt. Voshell. After a song by the school, "The Abuse of Time" was discussed by Prof. G. T. Jack and Supt. Voshell.

Recitation by Bessie Martin.

"Language in and out of the schoolroom," Miss Nannie D. Bristow, Geo. T. Jack and Rev. W. H. Davis.

Recitation, by Lovalette Ransom.

Physiology by Miss M. F. Hamrick.

Recitation, by Lizzie Hearn.

The following resolution was adopted: Resolved, That we, the teachers assembled at Richwood, do hereby extend to the people of district No. 48 our grateful thanks for the excellent entertainment furnished us.

Program of Teachers' Association to be held at Hebron the 20th inst.:

Music in the School—T. Z. Roberts, Miss Sanie Kirtley. Physiology for the Pupils—G.S. Hann, Miss Frances Finch. Phonics and Diacritics—H. L. Harrison, Miss Bernice Duncan. Reading—Its Importance—Wm. Gaines, Miss Lacy Kirtley. Writing—E. S. Mathews, C. R. Courtland.

Order of Reference.

Boone Circuit Court.

Jordan Beemon's Admr. Plff.
vs
Jordan Beemon's heirs &c. Defts.

This cause is now referred to J. B. Berkshire, Master Commissioner of this court, under Section 431 Civil Code of practice, with the following instructions:

1. He will audit and settle the accounts of the administrator.

2. He will hear proof on and report the debts against the estate and how secured if at all.

3. He will hear proof, ascertain and determine what real estate decedent owned at the time of his death, where located and the probable value thereof.

4. He will give due notice of the time and place of his sittings by written or printed notices posted up at the Court House door in Burlington, Ky., five days preceeding his sittings and also publish said notices in the Boone Co., Recorder. He will report at the next term of this court.

Given under my hand as clerk of said court, this October 8th, 1897.

J. W. DUNCAN, Clerk.

The undersigned hereby gives notice that he will begin his sittings on the 1st day of November, 1897, at the Circuit Clerk's office in Burlington, Ky., to hear proof in the above styled cause and will adjourn from day to day (Sunday excepted) to the 1st day of Dec., 1897. All persons having claims against Jordan Beemon's estate will present them to me properly proven as by law required.

J. B. BERKSHIRE, Master Com.

W. M. RACHAL & CO.,

OUR SHORT STORY.

Some Good Talkers.

CANTON FLANNLL per yard,.....5 Cents
BLEACHED COTTON per yard,.....5 "
40 in. All WOOL FLANNEL SKIRTS,.....75 "
Ladies Fine Shoes, per pair,.....75 "

We have a full line of

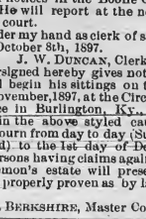
WINTER GOODS

At prices of which the above are a sample.

UNION, KENTUCKY.

WE have just received a large line of Canned Goods bought before the rise. Also a full line of

GROCERIES



Of all kinds, all go at the Lowest CASH Prices.

FOR THIS WEEK.

25 lbs. Coffee "A" Sugar, - - - - $1.00
Lion Coffee, per pound, - - - - - 11c

UNION, - - - - KENTUCKY.

For Mothers!

THE discomforts and dangers of child-birth can be almost entirely avoided. Wine of Cardui relieves expectant mothers. It gives tone to the genital organs, and puts them in condition to do their work perfectly. That makes pregnancy less painful, shortens labor and hastens recovery after child-birth. It helps a woman bear strong healthy children.

McELREE'S Wine of Cardui

has also brought happiness to thousands of homes barren for years. A few doses often brings joy to loving hearts that long for a darling baby. No woman should neglect to try it for this trouble. It cures nine cases out of ten. All druggists sell Wine of Cardui. $1.00 per bottle.

For advice in cases requiring special directions, address, giving symptoms, the "Ladies' Advisory Department," The Chattanooga Medicine Co., Chattanooga, Tenn.

Mrs. LOUISA HALE, of Jefferson, Ga., says: "When I first took Wine of Cardui we had been married three years, but could not have any children. Nine months later I had a fine girl baby."

W. E. CHAMBERLAIN,

DEALER IN UP TO DATE

FURNITURE,

HOUSEHOLD FURNISHINGS, ETC.,

HIGH STREET,

Lawrenceburg, - Indiana.

—HAUCK BUILDING.—

Stylish and Durable Oak BED ROOM SUITS,

All-Oak SIDE BOARDS, As Handsome as the Finest.

INGRAIN CARPETS,

BRUSSELS CARPETS.

W. E. CHAMBERLAIN,

LAWRENCEBURG, INDIANA.

When in Burlington Call on

J. S. CLUTTERBUCK

DEALER IN

DRY GOODS

Notions, Boots and Shoes,

HAY, CORN AND MILL FEED,

At Prices to Suit the times.

FRESH - MEATS - ALWAYS - ON - HAND.

J. S. CLUTTERBUCK, Burlington, Ky.

Buy COFFEE and TEA of the J. L. BILL COFFEE & TEA CO., a Ticket given with every 25c purchase and handsome presents given away.

The J. L. BILL
Coffee and Tea Co.

THE BEST BRANDS OF FLOUR.

12 W. Seventh & S. E. Cor. Sixth & Bakewell,

COVINGTON, KY.

WM. F. NEAD, Salesman.

FARMERS

Make the most of your crops, buy the best Wind-mill outfit made—The AERMOTOR—abundance of power wasting right over your heads, grasp the opportunity—Grind and Cut your own Feed and that of your neighbors—feed economically.

THE AERMOTOR

will bear close inspection and is guaranteed to work right. They are Cheap. Come and see it work and be convinced.

Also remember we are still in the ring with a complete line

OF GENERAL MERCHANDISE

and can sell Goods just as cheap as anyone. Highest market Prices paid for COUNTRY PRODUCE or anything salable. Come and see

OUR STOCK,

It Speaks for Itself.

Don't forget that "LaBELLE" HERD

Of Chester White Hogs

Is ready to supply Choice Stock at Reasonable Prices.

T. J. HUGHES, - - BEAVER LICK, KY.

TAKE YOUR OWN COUNTY PAPER.

THE RECORDER

W. L. RADDELL, Publisher

BUELINGTON : : : KY

I PIN MY LOVE TO AUTUMN.

Poets sing about the seasons in the slickest sort o' rhymes,
An' on the bells o' fancy ring a myriad o' chimes,
An' call upon the Muses fur to send inspirin' thoughts
To nerve the fleet Pegasus as along the course he trots.
But I don't do it in that a-way; I jest take up the pen
An' squat myself fer business sort of easy like, an' when
The thoughts come softly oozing from the fountains o' my brain,
I start 'em coursing o'er the sheet an' give 'em easy rein.

An' that's just how I'm doin' this calm September day,
When the brightness o' the summer has begun to pass away,
When the leaves are slowly changin' to the richest sort o' brown,
Putting off their summer dresses fur the sober autumn gown,
An' the Bob White pipes its music in the woods an' in the fields,
An' the ever-faithful orchard all its richest bounty yields,
Other seasons offer beauties worthy of a poet's rhyme,
But I pin my love to autumn an' her richness, every time.

Then the harvestin' is over an' the mows are stuffed with hay,
An' amid the golden tassels o' the corn the breezes play,
An' the hungry-throated thresher swallers down its golden food,
Hummin' notes o' thankful music to the Giver of All Good.
'Tis the season o' festivity, when fun an' joy an' mirth
Dodges in and takes possession o' the rural part of earth,
An' the silvery bells o' pleasure ring their gladdest, merriest chime—
So I pin my best affection to the autumn, every time.

Then the wimmin git together 'round the cherished quiltin' frame—
Laughing-eyed an' merry maiden, motherly an' sober dame—
An' they stitch an' stitch unceasin', tongues with needles keepin' time,
Chattin' socially or singin' meetin' hymns in rural rhyme;
Then when the golden sunset marks the closin' o' the day,
And the shiny supper dishes are all washed an' put away,
Then the men folks come a-troopin', dressed up in their Sunday clothes,
For the kissin' party pleasures none but country people knows.

Rosy cheeks grow still more rosy, brighter grows the laughin' eyes,
As the merry youths and maidens snatch at pleasure as she flies,
An' the peals o' joyous laughter tremble on the atmosphere,
When some awkward boy is told to kiss the maid he loves most dear;
An' bunched in groups the old folks sit an' ply the busy tongue,
Fur the play brings recollections o' the days when they were young;
An' near the merry players, in some quiet, cozy spot,
Cupid lurks within the shadders, waitin' fur to git a shot.

Poets sing about the seasons in the slickest sort o' rhymes,
An' on the bells o' fancy ring a myriad o' chimes,
An' call upon the Muses fur to send inspirin' thoughts
To nerve the fleet Pegasus as along the course he trots.
But I d[illegible]k fur inspiration when I sing
About the time that follers up the summer's takin' wing;
The glorious golden autumn, when all Nature is in rhyme,
Kin ketch the bulky end of my affections, every time.

—Capt. Jack Crawford, the "Poet Scout," in L. A. W. Bulletin.

MADELINE VANE.

By Shannon Birch.

[Copyright, 1897.]

CUSTER barracks was at the feet of willful, beautiful Madeline Vane.

When Madeline chose to ride, she usually mounted Thistle Blow, a gray pony, almost as graceful and dainty as herself. No escort ever accompanied Madeline when mounted on Thistle Blow; but when she elected to mount Tiger Chief, a coal-black charger of splendid proportions and invincible mettle, she rode along the avenue that divided the buildings of the post at an hour when the duties of the younger officers permitted them to be at leisure, followed by a saddle horse for whomsoever she might select to become her escort.

Now one, now another, was favored, and all watched with envy the happy fellow as he rode off in fine, soldierly style, with his mind on Madeline, but keeping a cautious eye withal on the antics of Tiger Chief, whose indomitable temper was the joy of his rider and the secret fear of every lieutenant responsible for the safety of Tiger Chief's mistress. The serious responsibility devolving upon the escort to Madeline, however, never deterred any member of the barracks from accepting the part, and was not likely to.

One alone was never given the opportunity, although he was thus slighted for the most gracious of reasons—namely, because he was in possession of Madeline's heart. This, however, would have been denied by Madeline, and utterly disbelieved by Jack Silvis himself.

Jack Silvis was captain of a company of Apaches, who were in the service of the government to act as emergency required in frontier operations against the hostiles. Jack's characteristics peculiarly fitted him for this command. Although well educated, with good family connections in the east, he had chosen from love of adventure to lead the life of an Indian officer, half scout, half soldier. He handled his savage braves like children, and his remarkable knowledge of Indian character made him of great value to the post.

In the performance of duty, Capt. Jack was the most reckless, in every danger the most fearless, and in every crisis the most resourceful of them all. No leader of his troop could excel him in feats of strength or endurance, and no officer among his associates was master of a more polished address. When in active service he wore a buckskin uniform, but when stationed at the post he appeared in the ordinary uniform of a captain in the regular army. He was a famous runner and wrestler, the most expert horseman on the plains, and withal but 26.

As Madeline, from time to time, chose her escorts from Jack's companions her heart would smite her for Jack, but it seemed quite out of the question to do anything so public where Jack was concerned. The public, however, did not dream that Jack was slighted because he was loved, nor did Jack himself dream of such a thing; he, poor fellow, thought it was the love he bore Madeline that kept her aloof. But when had he made it known? Never! To whom had he made it known? No nobody! Not even to Madeline!

But Madeline was continually dreaming of Jack; and the more she dreamed the more difficult it became to deliver the bridle of the led-horse to Jack, as she passed down Custer avenue, mounted on Tiger Chief.

At last it seemed to her morally impossible to offer Jack the bridle—simply impossible. She would sink, she knew.

THE MADDENED HORSE SPRANG UPON THE FIGURE BEFORE HIM.

And Jack was thinking that he would sink if she didn't. What was the matter? How did she know that he presumed to love her? He would go away where he could be by himself whilst he thought it over. Accordingly he passed, with long, soldierly strides, down the avenue, followed the beaten road that led out beyond the barracks.

Madeline, whether distraught with slighting Jack or from mere freak of feminine fancy, not long after rode down the long street, mounted on Tiger Chief; and for once she rode alone over her accustomed route into the country. The barracks was in consternation; but as this was possibly one of the circumstances counted on by Madeline, she seemed unconscious of anything unusual, and galloped rapidly on, passing Jack at a spanking pace, vouchsafing him just the slightest inclination of her head. She was soon out of sight around a bend in the road that wound through the woods, skirting a creek that flowed a few miles away into the Laramie.

Jack, though much perturbed, kept moving mechanically forward. He had an intimate acquaintance with the character of Tiger Chief—an admirable animal in the main, yet with a temper prompting him to wild vagaries at moments when they could at least be avoided and might do most harm. Jack obtained his knowledge of Tiger Chief from a supervision of his colthood and from many a royal battle for supremacy. He saw Madeline disappear at a reckless pace with deep misgivings. He hurried forward. The beat of Tiger Chief's hoofs could be heard in rythmic cadence till they passed out of hearing.

In the silence following Jack passed the bend in the road. There was another a little farther on; Madeline was out of sight. But a murmur struck his ear, and he soon distinguished the sound of mad hoof beats on the hard surface of the road ahead. Sight was not needed to interpret this sound. Tiger Chief had bolted, and was now plunging on his way back to the Barracks. Had he thrown Madeline? This question was barely formed before it was answered; for, like a whirlwind, Tiger Chief came into view round the bend, with head protruding and every muscle distended, rushing on to disaster.

Madeline was still on his back, clinging helplessly; her white face shone over the flanks of the black charger like a dove flying athwart a thunder cloud.

Nearer and nearer came the runaway, quite undaunted by the human midget he saw standing in his path. He would run him down; he would trample him under foot. With fierce leaps the maddened horse sprang upon the figure before him; it was not worth while to swerve.

But what has he hanging to his bridle bits? What wrenches at the muscles of his neck and strikes his knee joints? Is it possible that it is the man he just struck down? He will shake the incumberance off. But, no—it still clings and wrestles, and hauls his nose almost to his feet. Now that the blood is clearing from his eyes he will see. What! Here, close to his face is the king of men and horses—Jack Silvis; here, on his bridle is the hand of the man who reared him! What does it all mean, anyhow? Tiger Chief dropped his head and touched Jack's hand with his nostrils, giving a sharp whinny as expressive of sorrow and submission as it was possible to make.

Madeline had witnessed a heroic struggle, in which the life of Jack Silvis hung by a thread for more seconds than she dared to count. That she was able to maintain her seat during the fierce contest between man and beast was due to innate courage and months of practice in the rough riding of frontier life.

Then Jack, assured of Madeline's safety, asked her if she felt equal to riding back to the Barracks. He would vouch, he said, for Tiger Chief's good behavior; the madness had passed.

Madeline gathered up the reins, and by the easy response of Tiger Chief, knew that his docility had returned.

"Yes," she said, "I can ride in alone."

But as Jack's hand dropped from the bridle, Madeline leaned forward, and, impulsively, held out her hand to be kissed—then rode away.

When Madeline next rode down the avenue on Tiger Chief she rode straight to Jack Silvis and proffered him the post of escort. With a graceful assent Jack mounted and rode beside her; and every man watched them with glowing eyes as they sallied out of the barracks on the Laramie road.

Swiftly they rode forward until near the spot where Jack had cast himself on the bridle bits of the frantic horse. Madeline rode slower and slower, until the spot where she had separated was reached. Here, suddenly drawing rein, she leaned toward Jack as she had done before; but now she held up her lips.

Then, turning, she rode rapidly away, Jack following. Nothing was said until they hurriedly entered the avenue that led to the barracks.

"Madeline! Madeline! You will be my wife—Madeline?"

"Yes, yes, Jack, of course."

THE SOUL OF WIT.

The Deacon Also Thought It a Good Thing in Sermons.

Among the very many good and excellent people who reside in the quaint and delightful old town of Alexandria, Va., is a deacon, who, notwithstanding his great piety, is a man of practical common sense and believes in the expediency of things, just as some of his illustrious predecessors in Testament times did. Among those things which he considers of especial commendation is brevity in sermons, and the minister of the church at which the deacon attended was always known as a short-sermon man, and his congregation was always correspondingly long.

On one occasion it is narrated that the deacon, when the church last needed a pastor, went to a theological seminary of the proper denomination to hear some of the young men preach, if so be among them might be one who would find favor in the deacon's sight. It being some extra service of the church, there was preaching on Saturday and Sunday, and the deacon had an opportunity to hear several sermons. Sunday evening at tea the president of the seminary asked the deacon what he thought of the sermons he had heard.

"Um-er-um," hesitated the deacon, "I can't say that I am altogether satisfied, doctor."

"Why, bless my soul, deacon, what's wrong?" exclaimed the president in astonishment.

"Well, they don't seem to quite exactly strike me right," said the good deacon, hedging for charity's sake.

"That is beyond me," continued the president, half musingly, as if he were trying to work the problem out in his mind. "All of them are picked men, deacon; our rising young preachers."

"Is that so?" responded the deacon with a smile of hope showing in his honest face.

"Indeed it is," said the president.

"Then, doctor, smiled the deacon, "suppose you let me hear to-night one of your sitting down young preachers. I think that's what I'm looking for."

The president understood and the young man who preached that night became pastor of the deacon's church, though he left its pulpit ten years later for a wider field.—Washington Star.

A Lunatic's Lecture.

A very curious occurrence took place recently in Vienna, when a patient in a lunatic asylum delivered a lecture at his own request on the peculiarity of his mental state. The patient, who is a man of first-class education and exceptional mental powers, is liable to what is known as circular insanity. That is to say, he is only affected periodically, and between his fits he is as sane a man as one could wish to meet. His speech during the lecture was most brilliant, being characterized by exceptional eloquence and considerable wit. The lecture lasted an hour, and during that time he contrived to hold his audience without a break. His look and bearing, which were those of a scholar, made it well-nigh impossible for his hearers to associate him with insanity in any form.—Tit-Bits.

DANGERS IN THE CITIES.

Where Crime Flourishes and the Poor Are Suffering.

The Young Demoralized and Led Astray—Taken to Prison and Herded With Criminals, and End Themselves as the Vilest of the Vile—Dr. Talmage's Sermon.

Dr. Talmage's text Sunday was Psalm lxxx., 13: The boar out of the wood doth waste it, and the wild beast of the field doth devour it."

By this homely but expressive figure David sets forth the bad influences which in olden time broke in upon God's heritage, as with swine's foot trampling, and as with swine's snout uprooting the vineyards of prosperity. What was true then is true now. There have been enough trees of righteousness planted to overshadow the whole earth, had it not been for the axmen who hewed them down. The temple of truth would long ago have been completed had it not been for the iconoclasts who defaced the walls and battered down the pillars. The whole earth would have been an Eschol of ripened clusters had it not been that "the boar has wasted it and the wild beast of the field devoured it."

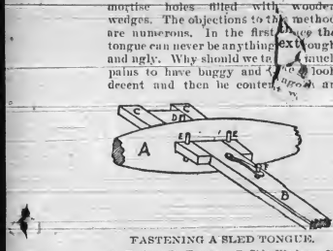
I propose to point out you those whom I consider to be the destructive classes of society. First, the public criminals. You ought not to be surprised that these people make up a large proportion of many communities. In 1869 of the 29,000 people who were incarcerated in the prisons of the country 23,000 were of foreign birth. Many of them were the very desperadoes of society, oozing into the slums of our cities, waiting for an opportunity to riot and steal in a debauch, joining the large army of American thugs and cutthroats. There are in our city people of the entire business in life is to commit crime. That is their much their business as jurisprudence or medicine or merchandise is your business. To it they bring all their energies of body, mind and soul, and they look upon the interregnums which they spend in prison as so much unfortunate loss of time, just as you look upon an attack of influenza or rheumatism which fastens you in the house for a few days. It is their lifetime business to pick pockets, and blow up safes, and shoplift, and ply the panel game, and they have as much pride of skill in their business as you have in yours when you upset the argument of an opposing counsel, or cure a gunshot fracture which other surgeons have given up, or foresee a turn in the market so you buy goods just before they go up 20 per cent. It is their business to commit crime, and I do not suppose that once in a year the thought of the immorality strikes them.

Added to these professional criminals, American and foreign, there is a large class of men who are more or less industrious in crime. Drunkenness is responsible for much of the theft, since it confuses a man's ideas of propriety, and he gets his hands on things that do not belong to him. Rum is responsible for much of the assault and battery, inspiring men to sudden bravery, which they must demoustrate, though it be on the face of the next gentleman.

You help to pay the board of every criminal, from the sneak thief, who snatches a spool of cotton, up to some man who enacts a "Black Friday." More than that, it touches your heart in the moral depression of the community. You might as well think to stand in a closely confined room where there are 50 people and yet not breathe the vitiated air as to stand in a community where there are so many of the depraved without somewhat being contaminated. What is the fire that burns your store down compared with the conflagration which consumes your morals? What is the theft of the gold and silver from your money safe compared with the theft of your children's virtue? We are all ready to arraign criminals. We shout at the top of voice, "Stop, thief!" and when the police get on the track we come out, halfpas and in our slippers, and assist in the arrest. We come around the bawling ruffian and hustle him off to justice, and when he gets in prison what do we do for him? With great gusto we put on the handcuffs and the hopples; but what preparation are we making for the day when the handcuffs and hopples come off? Society seems to say to these criminals, "Villain, go in there and rot!" when you ought to say, "You are an offender against the law, but we mean to give you an opportunity to repent; we mean to help you. Here are Bibles and tracts and Christian influences. Christ died for you. Look and live." Vast improvements have been made by introducing industry into the prison; but we want something more than hammers and shoe lasts to reclaim these people. Aye, we want more than sermons on the Sabbath day. Society must impress these men with the fact that it does not enjoy their suffering, and that it is attempting to reform and elevate them. The majority of criminals suppose that society has a grudge against them, and they in turn have a grudge against society.

They are harder in heart and more infuriate when they come out of jail than when they went in. Many of the people who go to prison go again and again and again. Some years ago, of 1,500 prisoners who during the year had been in Sing Sing, 400 had been there before. In house of correction in the country, where during a certain reach of time there had been 5,000 people, more than 3,000 had been there before. So, in one case the prison, and in the other case the house of correction, left them just as bad as they were before. The secretary of one of the benevolent societies of New York saw a lad 15 years of age who had spent three years of his life in prison, and he said to the lad: "What have they done for you to make you better?" "Well," replied the lad, "the first time I was brought up before the judge he said: 'You ought to be ashamed of yourself.' And then I committed a crime again, and I was brought up before the same judge, and he said, 'You rascal!' And after awhile I committed some other crime, and I was brought up before the same judge, and he said, 'You ought to be hanged.'" That is all they had done for him in the way of reformation and salvation. "Oh," you say, "these people are incorrigible." I suppose there are hundreds of persons this day lying in the prison hunks who would leap up at the prospect of reformation if society would only allow them a way into decency and respectability. "Oh," you say, "I have no patience with these rogues." I ask you in reply, How much better would you have been under the same circumstances? Suppose your mother had been a blasphemer and your father a sot, and you had started life with a body stuffed with evil proclivities, and you had spent much of your time in a cellar amid obscenities and cursing, and if at 10 years of age you had been compelled to go out and steal, battered and banged at night if you came in without any spoils; and suppose your early manhood and womanhood had been covered with rags and filth, and decent society had turned its back upon you and left you to consort with vagabonds and wharfrats—how much better would you have been? I have no sympathy with that executive clemency which would let crime run loose, or which would sit in the gallery of a courtroom weeping because some hardhearted wretch is brought to justice; but I do say that the safety and life of the community demand more potential influences in behalf of these offenders.

I stepped into one of the prisons of one of our great cities and the air was like that of the black hole of Calcutta. As the air swept through the wicket it almost knocked me down. No sunlight. Young men who had committed their first crime crowded in among old offenders. I saw there one woman, with a child almost blind, who had been arrested for the crime of poverty, who was waiting until the slow law could take her to the almshouse, where she rightfully belonged; but she was thrust in there with her child, amid the most abandoned wretches of the town. Many of the offenders in that prison sleeping on the floor, with nothing but a vermin-covered blanket over them. These people, crowded and wan, and wasted, and half-suffocated, and infuriated. I said to the men: "How do you stand it here?" "God knows," said one man; "we have to stand it." Oh, they will pay you when they get out! Where they burned down one house they will burn three. They will strike deeper the assassin's knife. They are this minute plotting worse burglaries. Many of the jails are the best place I know of to manufacture footpads, vagabonds and cut-throats. Yale college is not so well calculated to make scholars, nor Harvard so well calculated to make scientists, nor Princeton so well calculated to make theologians, as the American jail is calculated to make criminals. All that these men do not know of crime after they have been in that style of dungeon for some time satanic machinery can not teach them. Every hour these jails stand they challenge the Lord Almighty to smite the cities. I call upon the people to rise in their wrath and demand a reformation. I call upon the judges of our courts to expose the infamy. I demand in behalf those incarcerated prisoners, fresh air and clear sunlight, and in the name of Him who had not where to lay His head, a couch to rest on at night. In the insufferable stench and sickening surroundings of some of the prisons there is nothing but disease for the body, idocy for the mind and death for the soul. Stifled air and darkness and vermin never turned a thief into an honest man. We want men like John Howard and Sir William Blackstone, and women like Elizabeth Fry, to do for the prisons of the United States what those people did in other days for the prisons of England. I thank God for what Isaac T. Hopper and Dr. Wines and Mr. Harris and scores of others have done in the way of prison reform; but we want something more radical before upon our cities will come the blessing of ilim who said: "I was in prison and ye came unto Me."



In this class of uprooting and devouring population are untrustworthy officials. "Woe unto thee, O land, when thy king is a child, and thy princes drink in the morning!" It is a great calamity to a city when bad men get into public authority. Why was it that in New York there was such unparelleled crime between 1866 and 1871. Because the judges of police in that city for the most part, were as corrupt as the vagabonds that came before them for trial. These were the days of high carnival for election frauds, assassination and forgery. We had the "whisky ring," and the "Tammany ring," and the "Erie ring." There was one man in those years that got $128,000 in one year for serving the public. In a few years it was estimated that there were $50,000,000 of public treasure squandered. In those times the criminal had only to whisper to the judge, or his lawyer would wink for him, and the question was decided for the defendant. Of the 8,000 people arrested in that city in one year, only 3,000 were punished. These little matters were "fixed up," while the interests of society were "fixed down." You know as well as I that a criminal who escapes only opens the door of other criminalities. It is no compliment to public authority when we have in all the cities of the country, walking abroad, men and women notorious for criminality, unwhipped of justice. They are pointed out to you in the street day by day. There you find what are called the "fences," the men who stand between the thief and honest men, sheltering the thief, and at great price handing over the goods to the owner to whom they belong. There you will find those who are called the "skinners," the men who hover around Wall street and State street and Third street, with great sleight of hands in bonds and stocks. There you find the funeral thieves, the people who go and sit down and mourn with families and pick their pockets. And there you find the "confidence men," who borrow money of you because they have a dead child in the house and want to bury it, when they never had a house nor a family; or they want to go to England and get a large property there, and they want you to pay their way, and they will send the money back by the very next mail. There are the "harbor thieves," the "shoplifters," the "pickpockets," famous all over the cities. Hundreds of them with their faces in the "Rogues' gallery, yet doing nothing for the last five or ten years but defraud society and escape justice. When these people go unarrested and unpunished, it is putting a high premium upon vice and saying to the young criminals of this country: "What a safe thing it is to be a great criminal!" Let the law swoop upon them! Let it be known in this country that crime will not go unpunished in this country that crime will not go unpunished in this country that crime will not go unpunished

AGRICULTURAL HINTS

A HINT FOR WINTER.

An Effective Way of Fastening the Farm Sled Tongue.

I have experienced so much difficulty in getting a tongue that could be kept in my sled that I have given considerable attention to various methods. The usual one is to cut two mortises in the roller about a foot apart. A sapling is then secured and split or ripped back two or three feet and spread apart so that with tenons on end of each part dressed to right size it can be inserted in these mortises and held by pegs through tenons back of roller and the mortise holes filled with wooden wedges. The objections to this method are numerous. In the first place the tongue can never be anything else but rough and ugly. Why should we take so much pains to have buggy and [illegible] look decent and then be content with an ugly sled tongue that is a disgrace to the owner? Further, it is almost impossible to split the sapling to get each part the same thickness, and so it must be ripped, which is hard work. It is, further, a delicate job to get the split ends trimmed down so as to fit mortise, with the danger that the dressed end will be split in putting in the back peg. If all these things are safely met the wedges are continually working out and allowing the tongue to work and finally break or pull through.

FASTENING A SLED TONGUE.

A, Roller; B, Tongue; C, Side Wedges; D, Tongue Peg; E, Wedge Peg; F, Double Tree Bolt.

The accompanying drawing illustrates a method of overcoming this. Mortise is cut in middle of roller a scant inch wide and usually about eight inches long. A piece of sawed timber, two by four, dressed to proper proportions, can now be used, or the regulation sapling, if desired. Cut a square tenon on end, with room for a peg back of roller. Then cut two wedges from catch stuff two inches wide at narrow end and wider at other so as to fill mortise entirely when driven in tight. Put tongue in first and bore three-quarter-inch hole for peg back of roller and insert it, drawing tongue tight. Then put in the wedges, one on each side, and drive tight, and then put a half-inch peg in each wedge in front of roller. This tongue cannot work, for the wedges cannot slip back on account of pegs. If there is any shrinkage wedges may be driven in farther and peg hole much farther back. The accompanying drawing will make all clear, I think.—Homer W. Jackson, in Agricultural Epitomist.

HEALTH OF THE FLOCK.

How to Tell Wh[illegible]sthe Among the Poultry.

The experienced poultry keeper can tell at a glance whether a flock is in a healthy condition or not. The hen that is well is always alert and on the watch. She may not be fearful or shy, but she looks alive and has her head up two or three times a minute. Her comb is red and clean and her feathers are in their proper position. During moulting time of course the comb withers and the plumage becomes ragged, but the hen does not mope if she is well. When the flock is looking for feed, singing and talking among themselves they are in good health.

If you suspect roup, go into the poultry house after dark when the fowls are all settled for the night, and if you do not hear some of them wheezing there is no danger of roup.

If the droppings are solid and white at one end there is no disease in the flock.

If the movement is slow and sluggish and the comb is inclined to be purple color look out for trouble. The hens may be too fat or they may be bilious. In the one case cut down the feed and in the other see that they have light feeding and plenty of good, hard grit.

If young poultry seems to be trying to swallow something look for the large gray lice about their necks.

As soon as a single fowl begins to show symptoms of ill-health, remove it from the flock and keep it at a distance from the others until you can determine what the trouble is or it dies or gets well.—Farmers' Voice.

A GREAT DIFFERENCE.

Neatness and Attractiveness Mean Much in the Milk Trade.

I noticed two village milkmen this morning. Both deliver the milk from their dairies direct to customers. One drives a fine-looking team of horses, wearing a well-polished harness, and hitched to a bright new wagon, painted and lettered in an attractive manner. The name of the dairy displayed on the wagon is an attractive one. The driver is neat, clean, well dressed, and the whole outfit tends to inspire confidence. His milk is delivered in bottles. The other milkman drives a bony old horse, attached to a wagon which was evidently originally intended for some other purpose, and is now weather-beaten and dilapidated. His milk is carried in old tin cans rather the worse for wear, and the milkman himself is not an attractive-looking object. The milk one carries may not be any better than that of the other, but if one were to choose his milkman just from the appearance of these two rigs, it wouldn't take the most of us long to decide which it should be," says the Rural New Yorker.

There is no economy in wintering more cockerels than will be wanted for breeding. The sooner the others are marketed the better.—St. Louis Republic.

FARM IMPLEMENTS.

If Given Decent Care They Will Last a Great Many Years.

Every farmer in this country has a certain amount of his capital invested in farm implements. It is not an uncommon occurrence to meet men who say that the outlay each year for new implements eats up nearly all the profits in their business. This expenditure may be materially reduced, says Farmers' Advocate, by giving better attention to repairing and housing all the machinery as soon as convenient after the busy season is over. On many well-regulated farms it is customary to put the implements under cover throughout the summer when not in use. By this means the implements will wear much longer and do more satisfactory work. It also adds much to the appearance of a farm to have the implements inside rather than having each one used to close up a hole in the fence or perhaps for a less suitable purpose. Though it may be the rule on many farms to put away the harvesting implements for the winter at this season, it is the exception to find a farmer who goes carefully over his machine and puts it in proper condition for next season's work. The person who has used the implement during the summer knows exactly what repairs are required, and unless it is looked after at once or a note made of it the chances are that nothing will be done until the machine is taken out of the shed to begin operations next year. A good plan is to carry a notebook and keep an account of all repairing required. Then, during the fall or winter season have all the necessary repairing done. A blacksmith or machinist has more time to examine the work in winter than just before harvest, when every person is crowding him with some little job. He can do the work more satisfactorily, and the cost will not be so great. In many cases the repairing can be done by the farmer himself, when he has some leisure time, and thus avoid the trouble and cost of taking it to a repair shop. If farmers would pay close attention to repairs each year, and give the implements an occasional coat of paint, many would be surprised by the difference they would find in the working of the machinery, as well as in time their implements would wear. Then by supplying suitable sheds and a small repair shop there would be less discussion about the excessive cost of agricultural implements.

WEIGHT OF CHICKS.

Increase Is Most Rapid During the First Forty Days.

Mr. W. H. Brundige, Bridgeport, Ala., desires us to give some weights of chicks, and we do so, as it will prove interesting to many.

He writes: I would be pleased if you would publish in your next issue the weights of Brahmas, Langshans, Plymouth Rocks and Wyandottes, chicks from one to fifteen weeks old. That is, what they should weigh when you are raising for breeding stock. Also the weights from one to ten weeks old when you are forcing for broilers. Give the weights of each week.

[illegible] test weights we took ten chicks of

PURE-BRED POULTRY.
(A Typical White Wyandotte Cockerel.)

Light Brahmas and ten of Leghorns, kept them together and fed all alike. In one month from date of hatching the ten Light Brahmas weighed seven pounds and the Leghorns 6½ pounds, showing but a small difference per chick to one month old, both lots being forced in growth. When two months old (62 days) the Brahmas weighed 16 pounds and the Leghorns 13 pounds. At three months old the ten Brahmas weighed 21 pounds and the Leghorns 16½ pounds. Wyandottes, Plymouth Rocks and Longshans will lose only one ounce per chick in two months compared with Brahmas.

One hundred chicks when hatched should weigh five pounds. In ten days ten pounds, in 20 days 20 pounds, thus doubling their weight every ten days until 40 days old, when the increase is not afterward so rapid.

The forcing of chicks is now deemed unnecessary, as they thrive best when not fed too highly.—Poultry Keeper.

AMONG THE POULTRY.

Fowls allowed to roost in trees at this time are liable to croup.

Generally on the farm medium-sized breeds will give the best returns.

In mating the breeding fowls, select the hardiest, most perfect specimens.

Whitewash is better than paint on the inside of the poultry house and costs less.

Feed alternately with wheat, bran and oats. These make a good egg producing food.

Boiled potatoes mixed with scalded cornmeal makes a splendid fattening ration.

When eggs are to be kept, care should be taken to turn them half over every few days.

One of the secrets of egg-producing in winter is warm, dry quarters for the laying hens.

There is less risk of disease with ducks than with any other kind of fowls. They are easily kept healthy with plenty of range.

DRANK TO THE CZAR'S HEALTH.

What Was Done with the Money He Gave to the Poor of Paris.

It is, as is well known, the custom of royal personages, when officially visiting Paris, to hand over, at the close of their stay, a sum of money, varying according to circumstances, for distribution among the poor. Beyond the announcement of the fact in the papers there is, as a rule, little more heard of these generous donations. A story has just been made public, however, concerning the most recent donations of this character, which has caused no little comment among those who have the real welfare of the poor at heart, and who have for long been loud in their protestations against this sort of indiscriminate charity.

When the czar left Paris at the end of last year, he handed over to the authorities no less than $20,000 for distribution among the poor, and this, by order of the public assistance department, was divided among the bureaux de bienfaisance, or outdoor relief offices, in different parts of the city. The relieving officer in one district has views of his own as to the best manner in which to tender help to the really poor, and he has always been doubtful as to the ultimate destination of the money which he has distributed on similar occasions. In the present instance the czar's gift was divided into sums of two francs, and each applicant received a new two-franc piece. The official in question, however, took the trouble to mark each coin which passed through his hands, and some days after the distribution he sent one of his assistants round to a neighboring cabaret to change [illegible] there a 1,000-franc note, with the request that he might receive as much of the change as possible in two-franc pieces. A large proportion of the coins brought [illegible] were recognized as the [illegible] and marked and handed out to [illegible] died during the day [illegible], Buckle. It was evident that the [illegible] the people in his district at [illegible] had gone straight from the relief office to the public house, and had not [illegible] the whole of the greater part of the money received by them in drinking the czar's health. For some months the matter was kept an official secret, but, as I have said, it has now been made public, with the result that the whole system of outdoor relief has been subjected to a hot fire of criticism. It is pointed out that while they have been handing out money lavishly to habitual drunkards, and to those whose poverty is the direct result of their own misdoing, the deserving applicants whom a little temporary [illegible] have put upon the path of permanent employment, are left to die of starvation in their squalid cellars and attics.

One of the papers, however, has interviewed one of the actual recipients of the czar's money, who endeavors to make out that because the two-franc pieces were changed at the tavern in question, it does not follow that the whole sum was spent in drink. He avers that it is the ordinary custom of the wretched class to which he belongs to take a single glass of absinthe when ever any small sum of money comes into their possession. The poisonous stuff acts as a sort of pick me up, and pulls them together, especially when they have been long fasting. "It is no doubt true," he says, "that some of the lucky owners of the czar's two-franc pieces spent the whole of that enormous sum in further glasses of absinthe," but he asserts that the majority, including himself, after their single reviving draught, went home and spent the change out of the two francs in food, or used it to pay a portion of their rent. —Philadelphia Public Ledger.

A Remarkable Horse.

Dr. Watkins, of New Orleans, tells is story: When he was studying veterinary science it was customary for the students to wear a distinctive badge. One day, while he was out walking with some friends and wearing his badge, a horse limped toward them, and, singling him out as the only wearer of the badge in the party, stuck its nose against his breast and held up its foreleg. On examination he found a large nail imbedded in the frog of the horse's foot. The animal had previously been under treatment at the veterinary hospital

THE MARKETS.

	CINCINNATI, Nov. 8.
LIVE STOCK—Cattle, common	$ 2 25	@ 2 85
Select butchers	3 90	@ 4 40
CALVES—Fair to good light	5 25	@ 6 00
HOGS—Common	3 00	@ 3 45
Mixed packers	3 45	@ 3 65
Light shippers	3 55	@ 3 70
SHEEP—Choice	3 25	@ 3 75
LAMBS—Good to choice	5 25	@ 5 90
FLOUR—Winter family	3 00	@ 3 40
GRAIN—Wheat—No. 2 red		@ 93
No. 3 red		@ 92
Corn—No. 2 mixed		@ 26
Oats—No. 2		@ 21½
Rye—No. 1		@ 47
HAY—Prime to choice	8 75	@ 9 00
PROVISIONS—Mess pork		@ 8 75
Lard—Prime steam		@ 4 50
BUTTER—Choice dairy	14	@ 18
Prime to choice creamery		@ 25
APPLES—Per bbl	1 75	@ 2 50
POTATOES—Per bbl	1 75	@ 2 00
	NEW YORK.
FLOUR—Winter patents	4 85	@ 5 00
GRAIN—Wheat—No. 2 red		@ 94½
No. 2 Chicago spring		@ 87
CORN—No. 2 mixed		@ 32½
RYE		@ 41¼
OATS—Mixed		@ 24½
PORK—New mess	8 50	@ 9 25
LARD—Western		@ 4 57½
	CHICAGO.
FLOUR—Winter patents	4 85	@ 5 00
GRAIN—Wheat—No. 2 red		@ 94½
No. 2 Chicago spring		@ 87
CORN—No. 2		@ 30½
OATS—No. 2		@ 27½
RYE—No. 2 western		@ 53½
CATTLE—Prime quality	4 00	@ 4 40
HOGS—Western	4 30	@ 4 50
	INDIANAPOLIS.
GRAIN—Wheat—No. 2		@ 94
Corn—No. 2 mixed		@ 29½
Oats—No. 2 mixed		@ 30
	LOUISVILLE.
FLOUR—Winter patent	3 75	@ 4 00
GRAIN—Wheat—No. 2 red		@ 97
Corn—Mixed		@ 32½
Oats—Mixed		@ 21
PORK—Mess		@ 9 50
LARD—Steam		@ 4 45

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease, and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials. Address F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, O. Sold by Druggists, 75c.

Hall's Family Pills are the best.

Trouble for Both.

He—Oh, of course, dear, it is all right for you to eat onions if you like them, and I'm not the one to stop you; but, I declare, it's hard work to stand it.

She—Well, I don't blame you, Harry, for after I eat them I can hardly stay where I am myself.—Judge.

There Is a Class of People.

Who are injured by the use of coffee. Recently there has been placed in all the grocery stores a new preparation called GRAIN-O, made of pure grains, that takes the place of coffee. The most delicate stomach receives it without distress, and but few can tell it from coffee. It does not cost over ¼ as much. Children may drink it with great benefit. 15 cts. and 25 cts. per package. Try it. Ask for GRAIN-O.

At Harvard.

The Old Man—Well, how are you getting on with your work, George?

The Young Man (who is on the football team)—Out of sight! If we don't throw Yale down this year, I'm a lobster.—Up-to-Date.

Shake Into Your Shoes.

Allen's Foot-Ease, a powder for the feet. It cures painful, swollen, smarting feet and instantly takes the sting out of corns and bunions. It's the greatest comfort discovery of the age. Allen's Foot-Ease makes tight or new shoes feel easy. It is a certain cure for sweating, callous, hot, tired, aching feet. Try it to-day. Sold by all druggists and shoe stores. Trial package, FREE. Address Allen S. Olmsted, LeRoy, N. Y.

Great Expectations.

Dearest—If I marry you will you agree not to do anything to displease me?

Ten Eyck—Certainly, if I marry you I don't expect to do anything at all.—N. Y. Journal.

A Valuable Franchise Secured.

The franchise of easy digestion—one of the most valuable in the gift of medical science can be secured by any person wise enough to use Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, either to suppress growing dyspepsia or to uproot it at maturity. Bilious, rheumatic and fever and ague sufferers, persons troubled with nervousness and the constipated, should also secure the health franchise by the same means.

Well Done Up.

Wife—Did the Chinaman do up your shirt well?

Husband—Yes. Beyond recognition.—N. Y. Journal.

Do You Play Whist, Euchre or Other Games?

The F. F. V. playing card is better than any 50 cent card on the market. Send 10 cents for one deck or 25 cents for two decks (stamps or currency) to C. B. Ryan, Ass't Gen'l Pass'r Agt. C. & O. Ry., Cincinnati, O.

When a man tells you what a wonderful poker player you are, that man is planning to enjoy life at your expense. — Chicago News.

Star Plug Combines All Good Qualities.

All the desirable qualities you want in tobacco are found in Star plug to a special degree. Its constant use produces no evil effects.

It is not always wise to tell all one knows, but it is well to know all one tells. —Chicago News.

Fits stopped free and permanently cured. No fits after first day's use of Dr. Kline's Great Nerve Restorer. Free $2 trial bottle and treatise. Dr. Kline, 931 Arch st., Phila., Pa.

It is hard for a man to pass money that he sees lying on the sidewalk—especially if it is counterfeit.—Chicago News.

To Cure a Cold in One Day

Take Laxative Bromo Quinine Tablets. All druggists refund money if it fails to cure. 25c.

Nature has given to men one tongue, but two ears, that we may hear from others twice as much as we speak.—Epictetus.

I can recommend Piso's Cure for Consumption to sufferers from Asthma.—C. D. Townsend, Ft. Howard, Wis., May 4, '94.

Cupid might do more business if he would exchange his bow for a popgun.—Chicago News.

A window crack: result lameback. Use St. Jacobs Oil; result, cures attack.

Almost anybody can own a horse and buggy.—Washington Democrat.

The old storage battery—St. Jacobs Oil has power to cure Sciatica.

The silver lining to a great many clouds is nothing but moonshine.

Wake up sore, stiff. Use St. Jacobs Oil; you'll wake up cured.

The pig would rather have swill than roses.—Ram's Horn.

"MY WIFE'S LIFE."

How I was the means of saving it.

When the lungs are attacked and the symptoms of consumption appear, then begins the struggle between affection and that destroying disease which slays its thousands annually. It is a happy issue to the struggle when disease is conquered and health restored. Such an issue does not always end the struggle, but it did in the case of Mr. K. Morris, Memphis, Tenn., who saw his wife wasting and weakening and physicians helpless, and then suggested the simple remedy that wrought the cure. He tells the story thus:

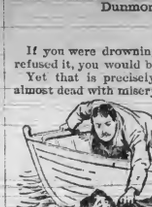
"Seven years ago, my wife had a severe attack of lung trouble which the physicians pronounced consumption. Her cough was extremely distressing, especially at night, and was frequently attended with the spitting of blood. The doctors being unable to help her, I induced her to try Dr. Ayer's Cherry Pectoral and was surprised at the great relief it gave. Before using one whole bottle she was cured, so that now she is strong and quite healthy. That this medicine saved my wife's life I have not the least doubt. I always keep Dr. Ayer's Cherry Pectoral in the house. Whenever any of my family have a cold or cough we use it, and are promptly cured."—K. Morris, Memphis, Tenn.

The question: "Is consumption curable?" is still debated, and still debatable. It is easy to say that this was not a case of consumption. Yet the physicians said it was. They should know. As a matter of fact, Dr. Ayer's Cherry Pectoral has wrought so many similar cures that it seems to argue the curableness of consumption in its earlier stages, by the use of this remedy. There is no better medicine for pulmonary troubles than Dr. Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. It gives relief in cases of Asthma and Bronchitis, where relief has been heretofore unattainable. It promptly cures Coughs and Colds, La Grippe, and all affections of the throat and lungs. Heretofore, Dr. Ayer's Cherry Pectoral has been put up in full size bottles only, at $1.00 per bottle. To meet a world-wide demand for a smaller package, the remedy is now put up in half size bottles, at half price—50 cents. Write for Dr. Ayer's Curebook (free) and learn more of the cures effected by Dr. Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. Address J. C. Ayer Co., Lowell, Mass.

Saving.

"Henceforth," she cried, her dark eyes flashing, "women are to be free!"

The sultan bowed.



"Very well," he rejoined, calmly. "I haven't any kick coming. It'll be a great saving to me, I tell you those!"—N. Y. World.

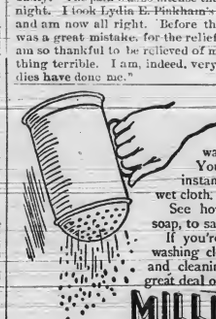
NEGLECT IS SUICIDE.

Plain Words From Mrs. Pinkham, Corroborated by Mrs. Chester Dunmore, That Ought to Bring Suffering Women to Their Senses.

If you were drowning and friendly hands shoved a plank to you, and you refused it, you would be committing suicide!

Yet that is precisely what women are doing if they go about their homes almost dead with misery, yet refuse to grasp the kindly hand held out to them.

It is suicidal to go day after day with that dull, constant pain in the region of the womb and that bloating heat and tenderness of the abdomen, which make the weight of your clothes an almost intolerable burden to you. It is not natural to suffer so in merely emptying the bladder. Does not that special form of suffering tell you that there is inflammation somewhere?



Shall I tell you what it is?

It is inflammation of the womb!

If it goes on, polypus, or tumor, or cancer will set in. Commence the use of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Thousands of women in this condition have been cured by it. Keep your bowels open with Mrs. Pinkham's Liver Pills, and if you want further advice, write to Mrs. Pinkham at Lynn, Mass., stating freely all your symptoms—she stands ready and willing to give you the very best advice. She has given the helping hand to thousands suffering just like yourself, many of whom lived miles away from a physician. Her marvelous Vegetable Compound has cured many thousands of women. It can be found at any respectable drug store.

MRS. CHARLES DUNMORE, 102 Fremont St., Winter Hill, Somerville, Mass., says: "I was in pain day and night; my doctor did not seem to help me. I could not seem to find any relief until I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I had inflammation of the womb, a bearing-down pain, and the whites very badly. The pain was so intense that I could not sleep at night. I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for eight months, and am now all right. Before that I took morphine pills for my pain; that was a great mistake, for the relief was only momentary and the effect vile. I am so thankful to be relieved of my sufferings, for the pains I had were something terrible. I am, indeed, very grateful for the good Mrs. Pinkham's remedies have done me."

A good idea.

is to keep some Pearline in a sifter, ready to use for floor-washing, dish-washing, etc.

You sprinkle a little over the floor, for instance, and then just wash it over with a wet cloth.

See how much more convenient to use than soap, to say nothing of the easier work!

If you're buying and using Pearline simply for washing clothes, and not for all kinds of washing and cleaning, you're cheating yourself out of a great deal of comfort and economy. 567

MILLIONS NOW USE PEARLINE

GET THE GENUINE ARTICLE!

Walter Baker & Co.'s Breakfast COCOA

Pure, Delicious, Nutritious.

Costs Less than ONE CENT a cup.

Be sure that the package bears our Trade-Mark.

Walter Baker & Co. Limited,

(Established 1780.) Dorchester, Mass.

Trade-Mark.

CANDY CATHARTIC

Cascarets

CURE CONSTIPATION

REGULATE THE LIVER ALL DRUGGISTS

10¢ 25¢ 50¢

ABSOLUTELY GUARANTEED to cure any case of constipation. Cascarets are the ideal Laxative, never grip or gripe, but cause easy natural results. Sample and booklet free. Ad. STERLING REMEDY CO., Chicago, Montreal, Can., or New York.

"THOUGHTLESS FOLKS HAVE THE HARDEST WORK, BUT QUICK WITTED PEOPLE USE

SAPOLIO

A PERFECT TALKING MACHINE FOR $10 ~

WRITE FOR CATALOGUE "K"

SPEAR & CO.,

INDIANAPOLIS, IND.

HARTSHORNS SELF-ACTING SHADE ROLLERS

NOTICE MAKE THIS LABEL AND SEE THE GENUINE HARTSHORN

John Wesley's Old Farm Remedy

FOR { TIRED FEELING, CONSTIPATION, GENERAL DEBILITY

Absolutely cures and prevents malaria, strengthens and strengthens the brain. Sample sent by mail every Tuesday. If WRITE IN TIME. WESLEY REMEDY COMPANY, Cincinnati, Ohio.

25 CTS PISO'S CURE FOR CURES WHERE ALL ELSE FAILS. Best Cough Syrup. Tastes Good. Use in time. Sold by druggists. CONSUMPTION

A. N. K.—B 1900

WHEN WRITING TO ADVERTISERS please state that you saw the Advertisement in this paper.

BOONE : COUNTY : RECORDER

Wednesday Nov., 10, 1897.

Rates of Subscription:

One year..... $1 50.
Six months..... 75.
Three months..... 40.

☞ Payable invariably in advance.

THE RECORDER

SOLICITS YOUR

Job Work.

NOTE HEADS,
LETTER HEADS,
ENVELOPES,
CARDS,
BILL HEADS,
STATEMENTS,
SALE BILLS,
A ND HOSE BILLS.

Printed at the Lowest Prices consistent with neat work.

Send your order by mail and it will be attended promptly.

STATE NEWS.

Three men were killed in an election day fight at Mt. Vernon.

Gov. Bradley's county joined the Democratic procession on the 2d inst.

The bones of a mammoth mastoden were unearthed recently at Blue Lick springs.

In Logan county Joel Davis, aged 70 years, married Belle Whittaker, aged 12.

James Helms was instantly killed by a falling limb while cutting a tree in Barren county.

Auditor Stone appointed his son, Will, to succeed D. N. Comingore as Insurance Commissioner.

Joseph Sweets was elected jailer of Hardin county on the 2d inst. and died the next day. He had been jailer since 1881.

Joe E. Wright and J. C. Blackerty shot each other to death at Junction City on election day. Cause—an old grudge.

Levi Buchanan, of Bath county, while riding with other persons in a wagon was jolted out and falling on the pike broke his neck.

A three-foot vein of cannel coal has been struck at Preacherville, Garrard county. The deeper they dig the thicker becomes the vein.

Miss Phoenice Jones, of near Flemingsburg, committed suicide by taking poison because of disappointment in love.—Bracken Chronicle.

Frank Mison, a prominent farmer of Bell county, went to town to get election news, and on his return he was thrown by his horse and killed.

A big stock barn of Mr. Alex McMakin, of Nelson county, was destroyed by fire together with forty mules, two horses and some provender.

While hunting, Sam Diggs, of Clark county, was perhaps fatally hurt by the bursting of his gun. His leg, arm and side were badly lacerated.

Only 60 Hindman men showed up in Hart county on election day. Gov. Buckner was one of them. The Democrats carried the county by about 200.

Archie Hicks, the sixteen-year-old son of a Christian county farmer, was crushed to death beneath the wheels of a wagon loaded with railroad ties.

Ex-Chief Justice Peters, of Mt. Sterling, celebrated his 92d birth day on the 3d inst. He was in ill health all summer but is now able to be about again.

Too much bad election whisky caused several persons to lose their lives last election day, but a State election without a few killings would be hardly regular.

James M. Cayce, a wealthy farmer of Christian county, aged 76, married his niece, Miss Ella Johnson, only 20. Cayce, who has been a widower four times, lost his last wife less than three months ago.

When he responded to a call at his door, Capt. T. B. Hoobler, of Vanceburg, skull was crushed with a beer bottle, and a second bottle containing muriatic acid was broken over his head, the acid burning his eyes out. He lived but a short time.

At Princeton Mat and Jennie Blakely were given two years each in the penitentiary for attempting to poison the family of L. L. Pollard by throwing poison in the well. The couple have a young baby and there was a pathetic scene when mother and baby were separated.

The contract for carrying the daily mail between Mt. Olivet and Brooksville, beginning Nov. 29 has been given to S. N. Rangely, of Martinsville, Va., at $265. As this hardly pays horsefeed and toll just how he expects to realize any profit is rather difficult to understand. The bids by local parties were from $500 to $706.—Bracken Chonicle.

An old man living in Butler county was killed in a peculiar way. The old horse he had raised from a colt and had driven to a plow for ten years, fell on "Uncle" Jeff Strenge, while the farmer was down under the horse mending broken harness. The old man was not strong enough to push the horse off and was smothered to death before help could reach him.

There was a great commotion on the midnight C. & O. train a few nights ago near Maysville when a passenger went to the closet and while there dropped his pocket-book off the train. He did not wait to arrange his toilet, but made a dash for the bell cord and his appearance created a stampede among the ladies. The excited passenger tried to explain, but the conductor refused to listen and ejected him from the train. He doubtless searched for his lost pocket-book the balance of the night.

A riot at the polls in Clay County resulted in the death of Bill Moore and the serious wounding of Will Sommers. The men were working at the polls. Just after the booths were closed for the counting Moore and Henry Monroe became involved in a quarrel over the manner in which the ballots should be counted. Guns were drawn and a fusillade of shots followed. It was found later on that Moore had been shot through the heart. Sommers has a hole through his left side, and may die. The friends of both men are mad, and more trouble may follow.

WASHINGTON LETTER.

(From Our Regular Correspondent.)

Washington, November 5th, 1897.

To-day's Cabinet meeting was a somewhat gloomy gathering, and Mr. McKinley was chief mourner. Secretary Sherman looked as mournful as the rest of them, but if he felt so it was probably because he feared the official count in Ohio would not meet Democratic expectations by making Boss Hanna's return to the Senate impossible, and not because of the rebuke administered to the administration by the increase in the Democratic vote and the decrease in the Republican vote in every State in which an election was held. When speaking for publication, the Republicans try to make light of the result, and to claim that such is always the case at the first off year elections held under a new administration; they do not talk that sort of rot among themselves. They know the extraordinary efforts made by their National Committee to hold together the vote given to McKinley last year, and the enormous amount of money spent in those efforts, and they see the result for just what they are—a popular rebuke to Mr. McKinley and his administration. They see, too, that it is a forerunner of the election of a Democratic House of Representatives, next year, which, in turn, will pave the way for the election of a Democratic President in 1900.

With the exception of New York, where disgust with the alleged "reforms" of the Republican municipal administration brought about the cyclone which restored Tammany by an unexpectedly large plurality, and Maryland, where the silver question was dodged and the anti-Gorman Democrats, headed by the Baltimore Sun, acted with the Republicans, the Democrats made their largest gains in those States where they pushed the free coinage of silver to the front as the leading issue of the campaign. This fact shows very plainly that those who pronounced the "silver craze" dead last year, were not well informed. It also shows that not a few Republicans, who voted to put the McKinley administration in power, resent the continuation of the Carlisle-Cleveland financial policy by the present administration.

Democrats in Washington are disposed to give Mr. Bryan a large share of the credit for the splendid showing made by the party in Ohio, and the remark has been made many times, that if the entire campaign in that State had been made along the same aggressive line as the speeches made in the closing days by Mr. Bryan, the Democrats would have elected their entire state ticket as well as have assured the defeat of Boss Hanna. Of course those who make these remarks know that it is much easier to say after a campaign is over what would have been the winning policy that it is to make the choice in the midst of a campaign, but the knowledge may be useful all the same, as it may be used to prevent similar mistakes in the future.

The only depressing feature about the election, from a Democratic point of view, was the election of a Republican majority of the Maryland legislature, which means that Senator Gorman's successor will be a Republican.

Delegations of gentlemen representing committees which would like to have that proposed government armor plate factory continue to present themselves and their able arguments before the Board of Naval Officers in charge of the investigation to ascertain the best location for such a plant, which indicates either a lack of knowledge of the attitude of the administration towards the project or a belief that Congress will act in the matter regardless of the opposition of the administration.

Hon. Hannis Taylor, who was U. S. Minister to Spain under the last administration and until the arrival of Gen. Woodford, the present minister, at Madrid, several months ago, and who is at present staying in Washington, fails to perceive how occupying a position as a diplomat should operate to deprive him of the right to have and express an opinion of his own after his return to private life, and is therefore not inclined to bother his head about the absurd talk that some of the friends of Spain and of the administration have indulged in since the publication of a very strong and truthful magazine article written by Mr. Taylor and dealing with Spain and its relations with Cuba. These critics charge that Mr. Taylor's article was published for its effect upon Congress, but, unless those who are in positions to know the sentiment of Congress are much mistaken nothing of the sort will be elected to bring about prompt action by the House on the joint resolution, already adopted by the Sate, directing the recognition of belligerency of the Cubans.

CROP AND STOCK ITEMS.

Clark county has a big sorgum crop.

A Danville man raised a gourd nearly six feet long.

Hog cholera is very destructive in Lincoln county, and many farmers have lost their entire droves.

Two hundred cattle at Cynthiana on Court day. A few good feeders and yearlings sold at 3¾ to 4 cents.

Texas raised Cuban tobacco is selling at forty-two cents a pound this season, and the quality is said to be fine.

Three-dollar corn may be realized before next spring. In Boyle county last week corn in the heap sold at $2 to $2.25.

A Barren county man raised and sold $75 worth of tomatoes from a patch 50 by 19 feet, besides having an abundant supply for family use [illegible].

A Minnesota farmer insists that corn makes a better and cheaper fuel than coal. He raised enough corn on ten acres to heat his house and feed two horses and a cow through the winter.

The combination sale of Berkshire swine held at Crawfordsville, Ind., resulted in the fifty head bringing an average of $31.55 apiece. The highest price realized for sows was $100, and for boars $100.

FROM GALLATIN COUNTY.

Independent

Last week hunters went through the farm of Peter Weldon, below town, and fired among his horses and again on Friday evening they shot a fine mare belonging to Joe Metzler, who lives on Mr. Weldon's place, a load of shot taking effect in its left hind leg, and it is doubtful if the animal will recover.

Joseph Ross, of the Hoggins precinct sold his old crops of tobacco comprising about fifteen thousand pounds, to Winn & Co., at ten cents all around, and delivered it this week at the warehouse at Warsaw. It was a nice crop and handled in an excellent manner. Drury Satchwill sold his frozen tobacco to Winn & Co., at 4 cents per pound. The crop was raised on the Benj. Molor farm near Ghent.

The tobacco crop in this county is better than expected. The corn crop is very good and sales have been noted at 30 cents, but few will sell at that price. 35 cents will be the market price before long as many of the distilleries are going to run and the home consumption will be greater than usual on account of the extra feeding that will have to be done.

Tuesday, Frank Robinson and Wm Thurman, near the Carroll line, passed through here in search of Ellis Breeden and Thos. Thurman who eloped from that place Saturday with Misses Sophia and Jennie Handley, daughters of John Handley, of the same neighborhood. Robinson and Thurman, the latter who is a relative of Thos. Thurman, stated that the two men had stolen a spring wagon, which they were in, and also a suit of clothes. The bad feature of the affair is, as they stated, the girls are mere children. Jennie Handley, being but 12 years of age and Sophia 15. Breeden, who is supposed went with Jennie, the youngest, is a married man, about 40 years of age, and leaves a wife but no children. It is the supposition that the parties have stopped in Boone county, as Breeden has acquaintances near Mud Lick.

FROM OWEN COUNTY.

[News]

Bunch Lyons says Democrats never get too old or the weather too bad in Sweet Owen precinct to vote. Last Tuesday Uncle Nat Roland aged 93, drove through the rain to the polls and voted a straight Democratic ballot.

As the result of an election wager on one of county races, Uncle Dan Thornton, a middle-of-the-muck Populist, had to under go the embarassment and chagrin of pushing Frank Green, silver Democrat, several times around the court-house square in the presence of a large crowd. It was quite amusing to see the performance, but still more amusing to think that any one should make a wager, thinking that an Independent candidate for any office would even be among the "also ran."

FROM GRANT COUNTY.

[Courier]

It is stated that the crop of apples in this county will be abundant this year.

There was a big frost in this county Tuesday night, the largest that has been seen in Grant for a long time—it was a political frost.

Those who have occasion to wander through the woodlands and fields of Grant county just for exercise, report that game is abundant. From what we can understand we are led to believe that the corn crop in Grant county will be large this year. New corn is now retailing at $1.20 per barrel—a rise of 50 over last year.

Judging from the vast amount of filth that is constantly strewn along our streets it is a wonder that disease has not played havoc in Williamstown. We venture the assertion that the thoroughfares of Williamstown are in a worse condition than they have been in ten years.

FROM CARROLL COUNTY.

[News]

Free turnpikes carried in Carroll county by about three to one.

Blocks distillery started up Monday, giving a large force of hands work.

Richard Conway is having a cistern dug, and in digging he found two skeletons supposed to be that of Indians, and a great deal of pottery, bones and other relics of Indian times.

Many persons failed to vote for or against free pikes, and also neglected the Constitutional amendment proposition. It was those who voted the straight ticket and never thought of those issues.

Miss Marie Lindsay, the beautiful daughter of Carter Lindsay, of Ghent, was quietly married at her home at the hour of midnight, Tuesday night, to Mr. Roy Bonnell, a handsome young business man of Rising Sun, Ind. The groom, accompanied by Dr. Sam Brown, of Ghent, came down Tuesday night, had Clerk Ginn to issue the license and went back to Ghent, where the ceremony was performed.

Pith of the Press.

Shackelford is elected Clerk of the Court of Appeals, and will at once issue orders that sixteen silver pens must be used to every gold one in transcribing the words of wisdom falling from the august court of last resort.—Post.

We regard Hanna's methods in politics as bad. There is altogether much of the money and the trading element in them, and they have seriously injured President McKinley's Administration.—Boston Herald.

To be obliged to wait for the official returns to see if the Administration has been vindicated is not well calculated to produce a wave of felicity in the official society of Washington.—Enquirer.

A Dingley deficit does not appear to be any more popular than a Wilson deficit.—Post.

Kangaroo tails for soup are shipped from Australia to London, where they sell for $3 per dozen.

What it Will Do.

FALMOUTH, KY. July 7, 1896.

Dr. J. T. Boulton, Cincinnati, O.

Dear Sir—I was taken with a severe cough the first of May; for two weeks I could not lie on my left side nor breathe through my left lung. I also had hemorrhage and my friends said I had consumption. I began taking Boulton's Cough Remedy and began to improve with the first dose, and within three weeks was entirely well. I can not say enough in favor of Boulton's Cough Remedy. Respectfully,

MRS. R. J. MARSHALL.

For sale by all druggists. Price, 25c. and $1 per bottle.

NOTICE.

All persons holding claims against Ezra W. Rouse, dec'd are hereby notified that they must present them to me at once proven as by law required, those owing same will please come forward and settle at once.

MRS. EMMA ROUSE, Adm'rx.
Lassing & Riddell, Attys.

AYLOR'S AYLOR'S AYLOR'S AYLOR'S

YOU WILL FIND US

Very much alive in all that means business—and business that will be your business is what we are going to talk right along. Our business is to sell good, pure and fresh GROCERIES and PROVISIONS, and to point out to people the wisdom of patronizing our establishment.

IRA AYLOR, - - Erlanger, Ky.

AYLOR'S AYLOR'S AYLOR'S AYLOR'S

C. W. ROBINSON,
DEALER IN
Dry Goods, Notions, Groceries, Boots and Shoes,
ALL KIND OF FEED AND FLOUR IN STOCK,
Agent for Weidner's Germ Food; Also agent for the Jones Fertilizers.
GOOD STABLE IN CONNECTION WITH STORE.
Constance, Ky.

METROPOLITAN COUPE & LIVERY COMPANY.
62 & 64 West Sixth St., Cincinnati, Ohio,
E. H. BAKER, Proprietor
Horses and Vehicles for Hire at Reasonable Rates.
Horses and Second-Hand Buggies for Sale.
Horses Sold on Commission.
Telephone 580.

CHAS. C. FRY. JACOB REIB.
FRY & REIB,
Manufacturers of and Dealers in all kinds of
Marble & Granite Monuments
HEADSTONES, CORNER POSTS, ETC.,
109 Pike Sreet, - - - COVINGTON, K.
Near C. & O. R. R. Crossing. { Designs Furnished Free.

R. A. STEELE,
RISING SUN, IND.,
UNDERTAKING.
My Stock and accouterments are unsurpassed, having adult's black hearses and child's white hearse.
Independent of Undertakers' Union.
My prices are reasonable and my friends will tell you I give satisfaction.
FURNITURE
Large Stock of Latest Styles at Lowest Prices.
GIVE : ME : A : CALL.

Frankfort & Cincinnati Railway.
Ask for tickets via this line. Schedule of trains in effect March 1, 1897.
East Bound.
Lve. Frankfort..... 6:30 a. m. 3:00 p. m
Arr. Georgetown...7:20 a. m. 4:15 p. m
West Bound.
Lve. Georgetown...10:40 a m 6:30 p. m
Arr. Frankfort.....11:55 a. m 7:20 p. m
C. D. BERCAW, G. P. A.
Geo. B. Harper, Gen. Supt.
Frankfort, Ky.

H. S. STEVENSON.
Satisfaction Guaranteed.
DENTIST,
Prices Consistent with Good Services Only.
OFFICE:— Rising Sun, Indiana.

NOTICE.

Cincinnati, O., April 6, 1897.

To the Tobacco Growers of Boone County:

I am connected with the Cincinnati Leaf Tobacco Warehouse Co., which includes four houses—the Globe, Morris, Bodmann, Cincinnati Miami. Prize your tobacco and ship it to one of the four houses and receive the highest market price for same. If you have no preference ship it to the Cincinnati Miami, and I will give it my personal attention. Hogsheads and presses furnished. Address me at 110, 112 West Front St., Cincinnati, Ohio.

oct-7 O. W. ADAMS.

For Rent.

A good farm, to a good tenant—six miles from Cincinnati on Cincinnati Southern railroad and on free turnpike. Call at 30 W. 4th St. Covington, Ky.

J. J. DULANEY.

Take the Recorder, $1.50 a year.

Some Plain Facts.

Grave errors, injustice, wrongs of greater or less degree, arise from lack of knowledge of the truth, and more frequently from deception.

The most infamous case on record of deception and injustice is the attempt to demonetize silver as a money of final redemption in the United States.

There is no learned judge, skilled lawyer, or court of justice that is capable of reconciling the effort with the constitutional laws that govern the issue of money in this country.

The people have been deceived, officials in power, chosen to administer justice under the laws, have ignored their sworn duty, and given aid to the scheme that has paralyzed industry, reduced property values one-half, and beggared millions.

There is no authority of law, either specific or by inference, by which gold alone is made the only money with which to discharge debts, either public or private. The effort to make it so is unconstitutional and a national calamity.

Plain and ample information, facts, and truth, concerning this almost successful scheme to corner the wealth of the people, is now being printed in the Cincinnati Enquirer, a newspaper which the combined power of money has failed to muzzle or buy.

The Weekly Enquirer is only 75c. a year. The address is Enquirer Company, Cincinnati, O.

PATENTS

Caveats, and Trade-Marks obtained and all Patent business conducted for MODERATE FEES. OUR OFFICE IS OPPOSITE U. S. PATENT OFFICE and we can secure patent in less time than those remote from Washington.

Send model, drawing or photo., with description. We advise, if patentable or not, free of charge. Our fee not due till patent is secured. A PAMPHLET, "How to Obtain Patents," with cost of same in the U. S. and foreign countries sent free. Address,

C. A. SNOW & CO.
OPP. PATENT OFFICE, WASHINGTON, D. C.

BOONE COUNTY RECORDER.

VOL. XXIII. BURLINGTON, KENTUCKY, WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 17, 1897. NO. 4

LOUISVILLE is under Democratic rule again.

ANOTHER revolution is promised in Nicaragua.

THE rooster will occupy the first place on the ticket at the next election in this State.

IF Mr. Kuntz is correctly reported, and is not shut off, he will cause Senator Hanna considerable trouble to secure a reelection.

SPAIN says she will change her treatment of the Cubans now that Weyler has been relieved of his command in the island.

THE C.-J. has quieted down, but owing to its in and out editorials following the election nobody knows "where it is at," politically.

LOUISVILLE is very much annoyed because of the defeat of the proposed amendment to the constitution. Covington did not want it.

AN International Congress is being arranged in Paris for the discussion of means of preventing fires at theaters and other places of public resort.

THE next legislature will be so overwhelmingly Democratic that its proceedings will be very tame as compared to those of the last two turbulent sessions.

SEVERAL counties elected ladies to the office of County Superintendent of Public Schools. It seems to be the only office that has any fascination for the women.

TOM PETTIT will be a candidate for Congress in the Owensboro district next fall. This statement is based on the fact of his being a candidate at every election.

GOV. BRADLEY called Populist Pettit down last week in a way that will make the Governor friends, while the public's contempt for Pettit will be enhanced.

IF Mr. Hanna is not careful how he handles his race for Senator, he will be left at the post. If Bushnell, Foraker and Kurtz conclude to take his scalp, it will have to go.

THE Log Cabin, published at Cynthiana, is Republican as its name indicates, and it has been extremly pale since the election. Last week's edition was almost illegible.

AND Senator Deboe pretends he believes that the Democrats stole Kentucky at the last election. It is not necessary to steal to defeat a party that has for its leaders such men as the Senator.

SEVERAL Democrats have announced their candidacy for offices which are to be disposed of by the next legislature A Democratic caucus nomination will be equivalent to an election next winter.

W. A. GAINES, the Republican colored politician, is having considerable trouble trying to pull down a federal plum, and many of his friends fear he will not be able to reach. He wants to be Register of the Treasury.

MAJOR CRUMBAUGH is having a hard time trying to get hold of a government teat. He and Gaines, of Covington, have been on the uneasy seat for several months, and their prospects for an office do not seem to have improved.

THE Republican party of North Carolina consists of 120,000 negroes and 30,000 whites. The whites got all the offices but three under the Republican administration and the negroes have rebelled against it. They held a meeting at Raleigh recently and passed a resolution pledging themselves not to vote for any man for office in future unless "he will give a pledge in favor of negro education and will agree to give the negroes full recognition."

SINCE the Republicans elected their President they have forgotten that their national platform endorsed the civil service law, pronouncing it a Republican production, but now that the offices could be disposed of in favor of the outs, were it not for civil service, they denounce it, and are anxious to see the heads of departments ignore it and bounce every Democrat who is being protected by it. The civil service law ought to be wiped out, but it looks very inconsistent in the Republicans to abandon their convictions in so short a time after they pronounced it such an excellent piece of legislation. It is the offices they are after now, regardless of platform.

THE ELECTION RETURNS

Dissected By Forrester, The Republican.

Sees No Future In Kentucky For The G. O. P.

Organization In The State Turned Over To The Pie-Hunters.

FRANKFORT, Ky., Nov. 6.—The result of the election just had in Kentucky settles a good many more things than the Appellate Clerkship; it settles the future of politics in this State for many years—barring a miracle, of course.

The overwhelming victory of Shackelford means that there will be but one Democratic party in Kentucky; that the picture of Thomas Jefferson and his fig leaves will never again appear on a ballot in this State; that William Goebel, P. P. Johnson or P. Wat Hardin will be the next Governor; and that Jo. Blackburn will succeed Senator Lindsay.

The miracle that might change this program is the reorganization of the Republican party upon the lines of 1895, for the gold standard against the free coinage of silver, with such a complete change of leaders as would satisfy the "sound-money" men that the Republican party in Kentucky stands for a principle and not merely for pie. And then to furnish an opportunity for such a miracle to operate in Kentucky, the McKinley administration must give up the policy of lying and deceit in party politics that Mark Hanna has made the guiding principle so far; the criminal alliance with the infamous A. P. A. organization in Kentucky, Kansas and Michigan, must be repudiated, and finally McKinley must reverse his policy of temporizing on the currency question as he did by sending that ridiculous roving commission to work a political stage illusion with a proposition to the European monetary powers for the reopening of the mints to the coinage of silver, well-knowing that they would emphatically refuse to consider it.

In Kentucky, with Bradley, Wilson, Wood and their kind set aside for such adventurers as Hunter, Todd and Deboe and the whole organization in the State turned over to pie-hunters and A. P. A. scoundrels; with the Frankfort penitentiary reeking with scandal of the chair contract job; with the decent element of old-line Republicans driven out of the organization to make room for the worst scoundrels that have sloughed off from the Democratic party, and with the Republican "leaders" ostentatiously parading the negro question and associating on terms of social equality with negroes and boldly declaring their intention of putting armed negroes in police uniforms, what chance is there to get gold-standard Democrats to vote with them again, soon? And what chance has the Republican party without the aid of a large part of the Democratic party?

The big Democratic majority in the next Legislature will begin to investigate the prison scandal and the rottenness of the last Senatorial contest, and the incompetent politicians who have been playing at politics for a few months are still buzzing and bumping their heads about the flickering candle-light of their accidental tenure of office.

Hunter and Deboe tried to make a fusion of Republicans and policy-shop Democrats in Covington to beat Senator William Goebel; and Goebel will have his inning in January. What a merciless investigation it will be, with Goebel and Bronston to conduct it! How much better it would have been for the Republicans who wanted to continue in office, to have devoted themselves to the faithful discharge of their duties, rather than to have spent their two years of supremacy in a wild effort to follow the small-headed Hunter through all the devious and disreputable windings of his sneaking political course.

The result of the election shows that the people of Kentucky prefer a Kentucky gentleman like Jo. Blackburn to an unidentified carpet-bagger like Hunter; and the rule of the negro, the A. P. A. and the Knownothing will not be tolerated. Mark Hanna will not send another "Sam Taylor of Ohio" to run a session of the Kentucky Legislature. Kentucky has formally indorsed Gov. Bradley's famous message to Hanna to mind his own business. It is out of place to say to the defeated Hunterites, "I told you so," because nobody with any political sense ever doubted the disastrous results that follow the trickery, bribery and rascality of the last Legislature.

With Honest Lieutenant-Governor Worthington presiding over the Senate, and clean, fearless Creppe Beckham in the Speaker's chair in the House, and Bill Lyons away waiting on Bill Deboe, the only drawback to a really enjoyable session of the General Assembly will be the continued presence of the late William Henry Jones, of Barren, in the Senate. But the Lord knowest best, and it may be for the best that we will have to endure [illegible] Henry for a little while longer.

However, the miserable crow that disgraced the State in two sessions of the Legislature will never be seen again. Decent Kentuckians like Bradley, Blackburn, Wilson, Goebel, Evans, Beckham, Buckner, Bronston, Hays, Holt and the like respect each other regardless of political differences, but Hunter, Deboe, Todd and their sort do not belong to the same earth with the representative men that Kentuckians have been accustomed to look to for leadership in their respective parties.

On the whole, the result of the election wasn't half bad if you look at it from an honest Kentucky standpoint, because hereafter Hunterism will not be possible.

WALTER FORRESTER.

WASHINGTON LETTER.

(From Our Regular Correspondent.)

Washington, November 12th, 1897.

Mr. McKinley has taken a hand in that Hanna muddle by personally taking Senator Foraker to task for the attitude that some of the prominent Foraker men in Ohio have taken against the election of Hanna to the Senate. Whether by so doing he hurt or helped Hanna is as yet a matter of doubt. There was no quarrel between Mr. McKinley and Senator Foraker, but there was plain talk on both sides. Mr. McKinley said he knew Foraker could stop the fight on Hanna that some of his personal followers were showing a disposition to make, if not actually making, it he desired to do so. Mr. Foraker did not deny his power to do so, but retorted by saying that Hanna had brought it on himself by his treatment of the Foraker and Bushnell Republicans, and intimating that he thought it it would serve him good and right if he failed to get elected to the Senate. Mr. McKinley did not defend Hanna's methods in dealing with Foraker's friends, but he made it very plain that the whole power of the administration would be used to secure Hanna's election, and that it would be useless for any Republican who took any part in an attempt to prevent his election to expect the slightest favor from him in the way of patronage. Notwithstanding all this the most that Mr. McKinley could get out of Foraker was a promise that he would not personally do anything against the election of Hanna. Foraker is still in Washington and Mr. McKinley has not abandoned hope of being able to bring sufficient pressure to bear upon him to get him to agree to call his followers off and to allow Hanna to be elected.

Secretary Gage now openly admits that he is in sympathy with the gold-bug, self-appointed monetary conference which assumes the right to perform the duties properly belonging to Congress in connection with financial legislation, and to emphasize that sympathy he gave a dinner this week attended only by the members of the so-called conference and Mr. H. H. Hanna, of Indianapolis, who is generally regarded as the creator of Indianapoli's convention and of this conference. At this dinner the work of the conference, as far as it has gone, and the financial recommendations in the annual report of Secretary Gage were discussed. If these men have time to waste they have as much right to waste it in this way as any other. The only good purpose that will be served either by the recommendations of Secretary Gage or of this conference, composed of his side-partners, will be the increasc in the silver sentiment of the country. Senator Chandler has not always been wise in his predictions, but he hits the nail square on the head in his latest, made public this week—"if the Republican party permanently acquiesces in the gold standard it will be defeated in the Congressional elections of 1898 and in the Presidential election of 1900."

John Wedderburn and John Wedderburn & Co., who were recently disbarred from practice before the Patent Office, were this week placed on the fraud list by the Post Office Department, and will not be allowed further use of the mails. Their paper, the National Recorder, was included in the fraud order, and any letters addressed to them will be stamped "fraudulent" and returned to writer, if address is on envelope; otherwise they will be sent to the writer through the Dead Letter Office. Newspapers which continue to carry Wedderburn & Co's. advertisement after knowing of this fraud order may find themselves in trouble with the postal authorities.

Senator Wolcott arrived in Washington this week and had a conference with Mr McKinley about the fizzle trip of himself and colleagues to Europe, in search of that latterday "Holy Grail" known as international bimetallism. The Senator used to be almost always willing to talk to the newspaper men, but he now declines all invitation to discuss the failure in which he played such a conspicious part.

Lemuel Eli Quigg, who was Boss Platt's mouthpiece in the recent New York municipal campaign and who is about the most discredited political prophet of the day, was at the White House this week. His interview with Mr. McKinley may or may not have included Cuban affairs, but, when it is remembered how he shouted for free Cuba during the last session of Congress, the following language used by him after he left the White House is considered significant: "I hope that Congress will not attempt to conduct our foreign relations. They are much better left to the administration. There was a time, perhaps, when a resolution conferring belligerent rights upon the Cubans might have been passed without bringing on a war with Spain, but that time has gone. If the Spanish people have a spark of manhood left there could be but one result of any Congressional declaration favoring Cuba. Our people do not want a war with any one. There is no possible compensation for it. We are not in a proper condition of defense, and it is absurd to invite a war until we are ready for one." That is about as complete a flipflop as any man in public life has taken on the Cuban question, and it indicates that the do-nothing policy is to be continued by Mr. McKinley.

Pith of the Press.

Four weeks from next Monday Mr. T. B. Reed will officially assemble in Washington.—Atlanta Constitution.

The smallness of the Republican majority in the Ohio Legislature is a full vindication of Major Dick's check book.—Omaha World-Herald.

If good wishes will aid Mr. Kurtz in making his plans succeed he can draw on a large majority of the people of the United States.—Denver Post.

Would-be Senator Hunter, of Kentucky, has received, as a sort of consolation prize, the post of Minister Plenipotentiary to Guatemala and Honduras.—Boston Globe.

The Hanna-McKinley duet was quite a featurn of the Ohio campaign, but the Foraker-Bushnell-Kurtz trio seems to have the closing number on the programme.—St. Louis Republican.

Hon. Tom Reed presents his assurances of highest consideration to Hon. Tom Platt and begs to remind him that he is glad he didn't respond to that invitation to come down and get a front seat in the debris.—New York Journal.

Gov. Bradley, of Kentucky, has issued his proclamation, announcing the day set for the usual Thanksgiving ceremonies, and it should be adopted as a model by the Governors, present and future of all other States. It just announces the day and the fact that it will be observed, and then very properly quits.—St. Paul Dispatch.

At least twenty National Democrats are claiming to be one of the four whose votes were recorded for Hindman at the Engine-house precinct. Fifteen or twenty Prohibitionists who claim to have voted at the Engine-house for Wallace for Clerk of the Court of Appeals also got lost in the count.—Georgetown Times.

COUNTY DIRECTORY.

County Judge—Benjamin Stephens.
County Clerk—S. W. Adams.
County Attorney—J. M. Lassing.
Sheriff—C. C. Roberts.
Jailer—C. L. Crisler.
Assessor—R. A. Brady.
Coroner—A. A. Aylor.
Superintendent Schools—L. H. Voshell.
Surveyor—W. E. Vest.
Fiscal Court meets Tuesday after first Monday in January, April, July and October.

RAILROAD COMMISSION:
John C. Wood, Chairman; I. F. Dempsey. H. S. Irwin. Secretary—Samuel Brown.

CIRCUIT COURT.
Judge—John W. Green.
Clerk—J. W. Duncan.
Commonwealth's Attorney—M. D. Gray.
Master Commissioner—J. S. Berkshire.

JUSTICES OF THE PEACE.
Courts are held in the months of March, June, September and December, as follows:
District No 1.—O. W. Gaines, fourth Saturday; J. B. Crigler, Constable.
District No. 2.—M. B. Green, first Saturday; Jake Cook, Constable.
District No. 3.—R. L. Roberts, wednesday after third Monday; T. M. Rich, Constable.
District No. 4.—H. Bannister, Thursday after second Monday; Add Riddell, Constable.
District No. 5.—F. E. Roberts, fourth Monday; J. H. Watson, Constable.
District No. 6.—Joseph Wagstaff, third Saturday; Simeon Tanner, Constable.

STATE DIRECTORY.

Governor—W. O. Bradley.
Lieutenant Governor—W. J. Worthington.
Secretary of State—Charles Finley.
Assistant Secretary of State—E. D. Guffy.
Attorney General—W. S. Taylor.
Auditor—Samuel H. Stone.
Assistant Auditor—Frank Johnson.
Treasurer—George W. Long.
Supt of Public Instruction—Geo. M. Davidson.
Register Land Office—Charles C. Reynolds.
Deputies—Stanley D. Brown, Sam S. Shepherd.
Insurance Commissioner—D. N. Comingore.
Adjutant General—D. R. Collier.
Assistant—Walter Forrester.
Supt. Arsenal—Capt. David O'Connell.
State Inspector—C. W. Lester.
Commissioner Agriculture—Lucas Moore.

COURT OF APPEALS.
Chief Justice—Joseph Lewis. Judges—Geo. Du-relle, J. R. Grace, T. H. Paynter, B. L. D. Guffy, J. H. Hazelrigg, J. H. Lewis.
Reporter—E. W. Hines. Clerk—A. Addams.
Sergeant—W. S. B. Hill. Tipstaff—C. C. Turner.
Librarian—Mrs. Mary Brown Day.
Inspector of Mines—C. J. Norwood.

STATE PRISON OFFICIALS:
Frankfort Prison—Warden, Henry George; Deputy Warden, M. A. Rooney
Eddyville Prison—Warden, L. C. Curry; Deputy Warden, Ward Linn.

JOHN C. TANNER
SPECIAL AGENT,
ERLANGER. - - KY.
Representing Reliable Companies Manufacturing
Musical Instruments,
Sewing Machines,
Bicycles,
Buggies,
Farming Implements
—ALSO—
Coal and Lumber.
Granite & Marble Work
Life & Fire Insurance.
☞Prompt Attention and Satisfaction Guaranteed.
Aug 25 3m.

B. F. BUCHANAN,
—DRUGGIST,—
Rising Sun, - Indiana.
Thanks his Kentucky friends for their renewed patronage and invites them to continue to call at the Corner Drug Store.

INSURE AT HOME
The Farmers' Mutual Fire
INSURANCE COMPANY,
OF BOONE COUNTY,
Is now completely organized and receiving applications for Insurance.
Its Rates are Lower
Than those of any other Company and gives the farmers of Boone County
HITHERTO UNKNOWN ADVANTAGE
In keeping their property insured.
EVERY FARMER IN THE COUNTY should take a policy at once.
E. H. BLANKENBECKER, - President, Florence, Ky.
D. E. LAWELL, - Vice-President.
OSCAR GAINES, Secretary, Burlington.
J. E. DUNCAN, Treasurer.
EXECUTIVE BOARD—Legrand Gaines, J. W. Conner, John Stephens.
J. E. SMITH, Assessor, - Burlington, Ky.
W. M. ROGERS, Agt. - Walton, Ky.

FOR SALE--This Fall.
—OF—
STRAWBERRY PLANTS.
Bubach No. 5. P. Greenville P.
Parker Earl, Haverlan,
And other Varieties.
LIGHT BRAHMA FOWLS.
Blackberry & Raspberry Sprouts.
For further information write to
WM. C. MOUSE, Limaberg, Ky.

D. E. CASTLEMAN,
ATTORNEY - AT - LAW,
BURLINGTON, KY.
Will practice in the Courts of Boone Kenton, Grant and Gallatin. Collections pushed energetically.

G. G. HUGHES,
ATTORNEY AT LAW.
BURLINGTON, KY.
Will practice in all the courts. Prompt attention given to all business entrusted to me.

P. E. CASON,
ATTORNEY - AT - LAW.
BURLINGTON, KY.
Practice in all Courts. Promptness guaranteed.

J. G. TOMLIN,
ATTORNEY - AT - LAW,
WALTON, KENTUCKY.
Will practice in the Courts of Boone, Kenton Grant and Gallatin. Prompt attention given t Collections entrusted to him. mch22-93.

W. E. VEST,
County Surveyor,
BURLINGTON, KY.
Is prepared to do all kinds of Surveying. All orders by mail promptly attended to.

J. M. LASSING. N. E. RIDDELL
LASSING & RIDDELL,
ATTORNEYS AT LAW.
BURLINGTON, KY.
Prompt Attention Given to Collections

S. GAINES,
ATTORNEY-AT-LAW.
BURLINGTON, KY.
Will practice in all the courts, and prompt attention given collections. Office—In residence near post-office.

DR. A. B. HARRYMAN,
DENTIST.
Will be in Lawrenceburg, Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday.
At Aurora, Thursday, Friday and Saturday. Practiced for 30 years.
No Poisonous Gasses Used.

S. W. ADAMS,
ATTORNEY - AT - LAW,
ERLANGER, KENTUCKY.
Will practice in the courts of Boone and Kenton counties. Collections and general law practice.
W. E. VEST. B. L. RICE.
VEST & RICE,
Real Estate Agents.
Farms Bought, Sold or Exchanged, Money to Loan on Real Estate, Notes bought, sold & Negotiated.
☞All communications addressed to W. E. VEST, Burlington, Ky.

BOONE CO. DEPOSIT BANK.
(Incorporated 1886.)
CAPITAL, ... $30,000
Surplus and undivided profits, 19,000
Our facilities enable us to receive on favorable terms accounts of individuals and corporations. Collections promptly remitted for at lowest rates

ERLANGER DEPOSIT BANK.
(INCORPORATED 1893.)
ERLANGER, - - KENTUCKY
CAPITAL PAID IN $50,000
SURPLUS, ... $ 3.000
Careful attention given collections and remittances promptly made. Deposit accounts solicited.

Dr. J. L. Adams,
DENTIST,
Walton, Kentucky.
All work executed according to the latest methods of the profession.
Satisfaction - Guaranteed.

W. N. Hind & Co.
213 W. Fifth St.
Cincinnati, O.

JOHN L. VEST,
SURVEYOR
WALTON, KY.
Is prepared to do all kinds of work south of Burlington, Ky. Prompt attention given to all mail orders.

THE RECORDER

W. L. RIDDELL, Publisher.

BURLINGTON. : : : KY

A CURE FOR THE BLUES.

There's a little window over the way,
Where the sun is shining all the day
On she yellow head of a baby at play—
Not a little one, understand!—
For this baby is just "turned two" and so
Can toddle a little, to and fro,
Can talk a little, and, don't you know?
She's the brightest in the land.

No wonder the sun smiles broadly down,
For there's never a scowl and never a frown
From the sweetest baby in the town—
She is never sulky or sad;
For it's her "daddy" always nigh,
With two strong arms to toss her high,
Till she almost reaches the sunny sky?
(I suppose he is her "dad.")

And when I am feeling sad or blue,
I go to my window, and, looking through,
I wave my hand, and she waves hers, too—
While the kisses fly on wings;
Then she shows me her ragged dolly dear,
And her woolly dog without an ear,
And all the rest of her very queer
And very precious things.

Then she sets them up in her baby style—
And her smile is so sweet that I must smile
And forget my worries for awhile;
So here is a recipe:
'Tis a very good cure for feeling blue,
And I wish with all my heart that you
Could stand at my window and try it, too,
For it has never failed with me!
—Baltimore American.

POOR OLD DIADAMIE.

By Angelia Woods.

[Copyright, 1897.]

THE early settlers in the narrow Kilbuck valley in central Ohio were well acquainted with the hardships common to pioneer life. It required not a little courage and perseverance to conquer the forests and to exterminate the reptiles and wolves; but a still more formidable foe to these lonely people was the miasma that arose from the slow, muddy creek that wound its way through the beautiful valley. If you were to walk to-day through the burying ground on the East Hill, you would read the story upon the little white slabs so thickly set in the green grass. It was a hard climate for little children.

In those days, when traveling to a new country was done by wagons, it was customary for wagons to join a train, whether strangers or not; and when one or two or three dropped out, no one thought it strange, or indeed thought of it at all. For this reason no one knew when Diadamie came or where she lived.

The people of the village knew her only as a peddler of the berries that grew amongst the hills. These berries were rich and sweet, and were keenly relished where fruit was almost unknown. The housewives had learned to expect Diadamie some time early in July, and thereafter once, twice or perhaps three times a week.

Diadamie's approach to the village was across the creek through a covered bridge, which brought her suddenly to the foot of the main and only street. She carried a large basket upon her head, and as she emerged from the bridge her clear mellow voice rang out upon the summer air: "Old Diadamie, huk-kell-berries." This call was repeated from door to door, until the last of the little shining berries were disposed of. Then Diadamie would make some small purchases at the village store, always including a stick or two of bright red and white striped candy, after which she walked out across the stretch of level road and disappeared in the shadow of the mountain.

Why she called herself "Old Diadamie" was a mystery. Her figure was straight and slim, and she walked with a quick, firm step which does not belong to age. Her eyes were blue, but of so dark a shade as to be easily mistaken for black. Her hair was deep black, with a strong tendency to curl had it not been lashed back with bands and pins in her effort to subdue it. Her mouth was large and strong, and when she laughed she showed that every tooth was of amazing whiteness and perfection. Diadamie wore a dress of indigo blue calico, with a sunbonnet of the same material. She was always scrupulously clean and neat.

Diadamie's house was little more than a hut. It was built of logs and had but one room; it was situated upon the top of the mountain, hemmed in and sheltered by the dense forest. But Diadamie did not live quite alone. No, she had Tietro—Tietro, who knew her only as Nanan. Walled in by huge drifts of snow, the winters were drear enough to this strange pair. When summer came, and Diadamie was obliged to spade and plant her garden, and later to go on long walks gathering berries, and afterwards to tramp to the village to dispose of them, the days were long and lonely for Tietro. It was then in the silence of the mountain that little Tietro's brain was full of imaginings that caused him to ask many bewildering questions of Diadamie upon her return.

Tietro sat all day long just as Diadamie had placed him in the rudely-constructed chair, which was high enough to enable him to look out of the window. There was a rest for the long, thin, useless limbs, and a cushion for the misshapen back. For hours Tietro would sit listening to the wind in the trees, and watching the patches of sunlight upon the soft green moss. Now and then a gray squirrel would run up and down the trees; but no sound from the outside would ever reach Tietro's ears. He had never seen a living being but Diadamie. Tietro's arms were long and thin like his lower limbs, but they were not so limp. He could use his hands and arms, but he had never walked a step. Diadamie always dressed him in a long loose gown, gathered in full about his slender little neck so that the folds would fall over his poor shapeless body and cover his deformity. Likewise she had let his yellow hair grow long, and trained it to fall in soft, loose curls over his shoulders, reaching far down below where he should have had a waist. Tietro's face was always white, and his eyes were as large and blue as the speedwell flower.

Diadamie had returned from her first trip to the village. She stooped down and kissed Tietro's cheek, then stepped back and with her hands behind her bade him guess what she had brought him.

"Candy," exclaimed the little boy. How well he knew.

"Yes," laughed Diadamie.

Tietro unrolled the little package with shining eyes. How beautiful it looked to the little creature—those two twisted sticks of red and white sugar.

The berries were now ripening fast, and Diadamie, anxious to increase her store as much as possible, had remained out longer than usual. It was fast approaching twilight when she climbed up the mountain side and struck the little path leading to her house. Once she thought she heard a cry like a child—but no, that could not be; yet she quickened her steps. Again it came, and this time clearer. She stopped to listen a moment, then hurried on. Within a few rods of the door she heard Tietro call: "Nanan, Nanan." Diadamie answered the call with a clear, reassuring tone: "Here, Tietro, here is Nanan;" and in a moment she had her arms around the frightened child, soothing and caressing him. "What has frightened Nanan's little boy?" Tietro's face was blanched; his eyes were staring, but he was too terrified to speak intelligibly; he only pointed to the door, then hid his face in Diadamie's dress. It was a long time before he was sufficiently quiet to talk, and then all that Diadamie could persuade him to tell her was: "She came and stood in the door." Diadamie was sure that the child had dreamed, and finding himself alone for the first time in the growing darkness he became frightened at the shadows. However, it was a long time before Diadamie could persuade Tietro to let her go to the village, but finally after promises of "candy" and extra rewards, he consented, and Diadamie set out with her usual stock of berries.

"CANDY!" EXCLAIMED THE LITTLE BOY.

She felt the load to be heavy, somehow, and the way long. The day was hot. Many in the village were ill with fever, and it was harder than it had ever been to sell her berries. When the last measure was sold and Diadamie had started home, the sun was low down in the west. It was impossible now to walk fast up the steep mountain path. The day had been hard. But how was it with Tietro? What was it to be in the long years to come? What was the end to be? What if she herself was to have the fever?

It was fast growing dark. She must hurry on. Tietro would be frightened, "poor little lamb." But Diadamie could not hurry; something clogged her weary feet and held them back. At last she reached the top, and now the way was short; but it was dark, quite dark. Yet as she approached the house, she surely saw a light. Diadamie's heart stood still, but she tried to call to Tietro that she was coming. Yes, a clear white light shone from the window. Then she ran—ran with the swiftness that love and terror lend—crying aloud: "Tietro!" She rushed breathlessly into the room, to find, to her utter bewilderment, Tietro sitting quietly in his chair, as she had left him—except that there was a strange light in his eyes, and a smile of deep content upon his little white face. Diadamie almost doubted her reason for a minute; then she said: "Tietro, tell Nanan what it is?" But she never could coax any explanation from Tietro. Only once he said: "Nanan, dear Nanan, I am not afraid now."

Autumn comes soonest in the mountains. While the village still dreams of summer, the mountain trees have changed their tints from red to gold and from gold to brown. The wind has scattered the leaves over the green moss stones and blown them over Diadamie's beaten pathway, entirely obscuring it. The rain has packed them down, and everywhere they lie sodden and dead. The snow falls early in November; then comes a rain and washes it partly away, but the wind rises from the north and slowly freezes the rain, and the icicles hang from the great broad branches of the trees, from the top sills of the windows and from the eaves of the log house.

Tietro has grown thinner. He does not seem to care so much for Diadamie's stories now. He sits for hours quietly looking at the snowy scene; yet he seems contented. He has a habit of smiling to himself—a little, slow smile that plays around his baby lips, then steals into his clear blue eyes, to fade away with serious wonderment. The cold air affects Tietro badly; he breaths in short, painful gasps, and eats but little.

All day Saturday the snow has been falling. Sunday morning Diadamie arose early, and built a fire in the fireplace which blazed and crackled cheerfully. Then she carried in more logs, swept the snow from them, and built them up close to the fireplace—enough to last all day, so that she might not have to bring in snowy wood to chill the air for the suffering child. The day dragged by. Diadamie felt a weight upon her heart from which there was no relief, for it was plain that Tietro was not so well. The stillness of that snow-entombed mountain was awful. She could not interest Tietro in any way. Before it was quite dark he wished to go to bed; Diadamie laid him down tenderly, tucked him in and kissed him many times, but he only smiled in answer to her good-night and soon fell asleep. Diadamie piled the logs on the fire and the blaze filled the room with a bright glow. Tietro slept on and breathed more easily now; and after one more look at his wasted face, she threw herself down on a rude couch at the foot of his bed and fell asleep.

When she awakened the fire was low, and she seemed to have been dreaming. She surely heard Tietro laugh. She opened her eyes slowly, and when consciousness had fully returned she was too terrified to move; for the room was filled with light—a moving, billowy, cloudy light, opaque like a mist, yet brilliant. This only for a minute—then darkness. Diadamie sprang to Tietro's bedside. Tietro lay quite still. There was a smile upon his little white face that was not born of mystery, but of fruition. Tietro was dead.

One day a traveler, tramping over the mountains, came upon a deserted log hut; and near by, under the wide spread branches of a beech tree, was a little grave. At the head was a rude wooden slab, with this inscription, evidently burned in with a hot iron:

"Tietro, aged six years."

Why She Liked Rome.

A writer reports a diplomat as saying that he has amused himself with asking members of the great army of travelers what object they have in view in their endless peregrination? Naturally the replies to this question are various. Of all reasons a Boston lady gave me the strangest. When I met her she had finished her sixth year of travel. She had made three tours round the world, and seen about everything that could be seen. I ventured to ask her which of all the cities she had visited she found most interesting. After considering the question awhile she answered Rome. I asked her why she preferred that to any other city, supposing it might be for a religious reason, but soon found that religion was not her stronghold. "I like Rome best," she said, "because they cook and serve calf's brains so nicely. In no other place in the world can one get calf's brains in the various ways they cook them in Rome."—Washington Star.

She Said It.

The difficulties which people who are unaccustomed to contact with titled persons have in using the "handles" to the names of lords and dukes are immense. An English paper tells of the way in which one young woman solved a problem of the sort. She was an unsophisticated country girl, and had been engaged as housemaid in the service of the duke of Rutland at Belvoir. When she came she was thus instructed by the housekeeper: "Whenever you meet the duke, Alice, be sure to say: 'Your grace.'" The very next day, as the maid was going down the passage, the duke chanced to meet her. Immediately the girl drew herself close to the wall, closed her eyes and, assuming a reverential attitude, said: "Lord, supply the wants of others and make us thankful. Amen!"—Youth's Companion.

Reflected Glory.

Visitor—And who are you, my little man?

Cuthbert (with conscious pride)—I'm the baby's brother.—Tit-Bits.

THE ELECTIONS.

A Glance at the Results in the Different States.

Viewed together, the result of the elections afford great encouragement to the reunited democracy. There are some disappointments, but in no case was the outcome wholly unexpected.

Greater New York has reversed the verdict of last year by choosing Robert Van Wyck as mayor and putting to rout both the gang republicans, led by Tracy, and the Pecksniffian brigade of sham reformers who mustered under the banner of Seth Low. The result is all the more acceptable because the republicans had staked the popularity of the national administration and the future of their party upon the issue. "If you do not elect Gen. Tracy," declared the president's personal representative, "we shall have no more republican presidents." And Gen. Tracy was not elected.

Kentucky, too, has been redeemed, and once more takes her place in the democratic column, and the result in the Blue Grass state is even more significant than that in New York. It was in Kentucky that the differences in the democratic party were most pronounced last fall. The election of Mr. Shackelford shows that these differences no longer exist and that the democracy of the state is once more united.

Even more emphatic in its rebuke of the McKinley regime is the president's own state of Ohio, which, while there seems to be some doubt regarding the state ticket, has defeated Mark Hanna, the chief magistrate's personal representative and greatest of the republican bosses, as a candidate for election to the United States senate, in which he is now serving a short term by appointment. This triumph over the boodle and thuggeons of the most impudent political bully of the age will be received with genuine rejoicing by democrats in every state of the union. It is an emphatic, though a tardy, rebuke to methods and pretensions that the greater mass of the people abhor, and it carries with it an impressive warning that should not be lost upon republicans who have been quick to imitate the practices of the man who now suffers the humiliation of a merited defeat.

Mr. Shaw's victory in Iowa at the same time reflects great credit upon the democracy by reason of its splendid fight. Mr. Shaw employed in his campaign the methods pursued in his private business, and is bound hand and foot to the interests of the great railway corporations. He, too, has stirred up internecine strife in his own party and may count upon the hostility of the Gear faction from this time forward.

Virginia, of course, remained true to democracy, and, equally of course, Pennsylvania indorsed Quay and the two Martins, the malodorous Dave and the murderous sheriff. In Maryland, Massachusetts and Nebraska the results had been discounted and will occasion no surprise. New Jersey resumes its honored place in democracy's column.

Therefore, as a whole, the elections augur well for democratic success in the congressional contests next fall and in the presidential battle of 1900. New York and Kentucky stand out like mountain peaks against the sky, giving assurance of a reunited party and of democratic triumph.—Chicago Chronicle.

ELECTION ECHOES.

Comments of Democratic Journals on the Result.

Mark Hanna is more than pleased when he remembers that it has to happen only once every six years.—Chicago Record (Ind.).

The Dingley deficiency tariff, with its accompaniment of decreased revenues and increased taxes, has been piled an economic absurdity and a political sham.—Pittsburgh Post.

The voters in those states where elections were held improved their first opportunity to repudiate the Dingley tariff and to rebuke the republican party for a breach of trust.—Manchester (N. H.) Union.

Even in the states where the democrats have fared the worst this year they have managed to cut the McKinley majorities of 1896 in half. No party can long stand up against that sort of pounding.—Philadelphia Record.

This triumph of Tammany in New York city means that if the democrats are in any sort of shape to make a hopeful fight for the presidency in 1900 the electoral vote of that state will be cast for the democratic candidate.—Philadelphia Times.

Mr. Hanna has won, but for several months to come he is likely to wake up in the middle of the night with that same old uncomfortable feeling that Joseph B. Foraker is under the bed upon murderous designs intent.—Chicago Chronicle.

The landslide is almost as great as that of last year, and can hardly be considered otherwise than as a stinging rebuke to the administration for its Dingleyism on the tariff and its do-nothing policy on the currency question.—Des Moines Leader.

The election results are but a prelude. Next year the opponents of Hannaism will rally under the democratic banner and drive from the house of representatives a majority owing allegiance to Hanna. In 1900 the people will come into their estate again.—St. Louis Republic.

The lesson of these elections is plain. If the republican party permits itself to be ruled by cliques in the interest of corporate profits or professional political speculators it must prepare to accept the inevitable in the more vital elections of 1898 and 1900.—Pittsburgh Dispatch.

Seldom have elections covering so many states given returns so definite as those received from those just completed. The total result is a splendid triumph for democracy, a magnificent refutation of the republican slander that the "silver sentiment is dying out."—Chicago Dispatch.

REBUKED HANNAISM.

The People Tiring of Bossism and Boodleism.

The people of ten states of the union have administered a rebuke and a warning to Hannaism. Hannaism stands for republicanism to-day.

It is extremely doubtful whether the warning will be heeded, however much the rebuke may sting. The party which was syndicated with the oppressive trusts and monopolies a year ago for the poor reward of the presidency and the spoils is too strongly bound to its partnership by the cohesive force of centralization and corruption to cut loose now and present itself to the American people as a political organization inspired with high principles of patriotism and controlled by motives that have for their aim the perpetuation unimpaired of the form of government founded by the fathers.

The poison of centralization was born in the party. It was an inheritance from its progenitor on which democracy had been waging war of extermination since Thomas Jefferson gave it the spirit of conflict. The poison worked slowly at first, and it was not until the protective tariff made possible the accumulation of vast fortunes in the hands of the few that it received an impetus that sent it coursing through the entire body of republicanism.

As a climax, a new and dangerous political boss in the person of Hanna was invested with absolute command of the organization. He has done only what his commission directed and empowered him to do. He has syndicated the whole party in accordance with the principles and tendencies of centralization.

Like all men of his stripe, the first victory he won with the new forces placed at his command blinded him to the rights and privileges of the vanquished foe, and no semi-barbaric Roman emperor ever tyrannized over his helpless victims more than Hanna has over every man who has had the hardihood to oppose his wish.

His course has strengthened the democracy's spirit of resistance. It has infused new courage into every democratic heart. Not a genuine democrat in the land but has been aroused to the fighting point by Hanna's tactics. Not an unselfish American, who believes that the only proper function of government is to afford to every one of its citizens equal opportunity, but has been turned against the republican party by its shameful liasion with the trusts and monopolies. It was these things that defeated the republicans from New York to Colorado and that gave the democrats a sweeping victory in the home town of the man who was elected president through the debauchery of hundreds of thousands of voters with the money contributed by the enemies of free government and clean administration.

The election returns are but a prelude. Next year the opponents of Hannaism will rally under the democratic banner and drive from the house of representatives a majority owing allegiance to Hanna. In 1900 the people will come into their estate again. The rejuvenated democracy stands armored and plumed for the war.—St. Louis Republic.

THE PEOPLE AND GOLD.

Defeat of the Bimetallic Commission Well Deserved.

President McKinley's bimetallic commissioners have sailed for home, discouraged, defeated, discredited.

Republican newspapers rejoice over this defeat. The vanquishing of their own commission gives them satisfaction. Why, then, were these men sent abroad at an expense of $100,000 to the people? If the gold standard is such a good thing, why was this effort made by a republican administration to get rid of it? President McKinley knows that the gold standard is not a good thing for the people. Up to 1894 he fought for bimetallism and most bitterly condemned the conduct of Cleveland in favoring gold monometallism. When he sent the commission to Europe he confessed by his act that the gold standard was bad for the United States.

But there is a distinction between what is good for the people and what is good for the money power. Anything which contracts the currency, which puts the burden of two money metals upon one, which depreciates the value of everything except gold, is good for the dealers in gold, but unutterably bad for the masses. The republican party and the newspapers which support the theories of that party represent the bondholders, money dealers and gold speculators of Wall street. They do not represent the people, and that is the reason the discouragement and defeat of the bimetallic commission is greeted with joy.

The true friends of silver will not regret the outcome of this matter. The issue is now clearly made, and the battles of 1898 and 1900 will be fought in the open, with no false issues to divide and divert the forces of bimetallism pressing on to an assured victory.—Chicago Dispatch.

——The menace of Hannaism in politics lies not so much in the fact that it represents bossism and slush funds in politics, but that menace lies in the abject surrender of a president of the United States to a dominant mind whose crafty introduction of "business methods in politics" made possible the purchase of a presidential nominntion, and in the injection into our political methods of what may be called the capitalized syndicate machine system of securing support and overcoming opposition.—Minneapolis Times.

——It is well understood that many federal appointments for Ohio were held back, pending the campaign lately closed. Some of them will no doubt soon be announced, in pursuance of promises made in the interest of Mr. Hanna's election to the senate. How many will be held back still further to assist Mr. Hanna in the difficulties he seems to be about to encounter in the legislature?—Cincinnati Enquirer.

RESULTS OF THE ELECTIONS.

As Interpreted by Ex-Gov. Stone, of Missouri.

Ex-Gov. Stone, of Missouri, member of the national democratic committee, was interviewed on the results of the recent elections. In reply to the question: "How do you interpret the results of the elections?" the ex-governor answered:

"Well, the democracy won some notable victories Tuesday. Everywhere the tide was in our favor. I believe a decided majority of the American people are democrats, or at least favor the things that democracy stands for. If the people could go to the polls untrammeled and vote their real sentiments a large majority would vote the democratic ticket. The masses are naturally opposed to centralization in any form, and especially are they opposed to the control of centralized wealth. While the power of centralized wealth is great; it seems sometimes to be almost omnipotent. In presidential elections this power is exerted to its utmost. Arrayed against the democratic party we see the democratic party is not in sympathy with its selfish policies. If the union had been held in August last year with the conditions as they existed then the democracy would have been successful, for then the natural public sentiment of the country would have found expression. But, strange as it may appear, it is nevertheless true that the money power was able to check and finally overcome the popular sentiment. How that was done is now quite well understood.

"On Tuesday the people spoke as they feel. In 1900 the power of money will assert itself to the utmost again. Wherefore it will succeed again I cannot say. Every student of our history knows how these forces have clashed in the past. Jefferson, Jackson and other great democrats were opposed to the same forces that opposed Bryan, and very much in the same way. The conflict to which I refer is one which has run through the history of many nations. It will be renewed in the future, both in America and in other countries. It is a struggle between selfishness on the one hand and humanity on the other. These are rather harsh words, but I believe they are true words.

"Tuesday's elections show that the issues of 1896 are to be retried in 1900. In New York city national issues were not at stake. The fight there was local. But in the several state elections the old national issues were on trial again. In the battles fought in Kentucky, Nebraska, Ohio and other states the issues of last year were again at stake.

"The democratic party will go forward; it will not recede; it will not temporize. It cannot compromise where principle is involved.

"I am glad of the local victory in New York. I favored Van Wyck because he was the party nominee, and I am a party man.

"I hear it is said that the result in New York shows what the democracy can do when it is united. That is true. I always rejoice when we are united. I dislike feuds.

"But still there must be no misunderstanding. We shall be united when all democrats get on the party platform and support the party candidate. There can be no minority dictation. If New York shall endeavor to change our party position on public questions it will fail. New York cannot lead in that direction. The truth is, New York democrats must recognize the fact that hereafter the great states of the west and south will control the policies of the party, and if they expect to be influential in party counsels they must get squarely in line with the democracy of states like Missouri and Illinois.

"The importance of the struggle of 1900 cannot be overstated. If the democracy is to win that battle we must get ready to begin now. Organization is the only way to success. If the party is properly organized we can win. If we go along in a slipshod fashion we shall lose. The cry from now on until the end of the century should be: 'Organize! Organize!'"

—Illinois State Register.

DINGLEY TARIFF.

Regarded by Trusts and Monopolists as a Good Thing.

The Dingley bill is the most complete and dismal failure in the history of tariff legislation. Of course the trusts and speculators who have amassed millions of dollars do not look at it in that light, but so far as the great mass of the people are concerned it is one of the most vicious measures ever placed on our statute books. The tariff revenues of the government from August 1st to the end of the second week in September for the last three years has been as follows:

1895	$38,627,474
1896	34,378,858
1897	28,439,188

And we were yet suffering from the panic in 1895. In 1896 we were in the heat of a presidential campaign, when "confidence was lost." Now we are enjoying a "boom of prosperity" and our revenues have fallen off $12,000,000.

The boy who imagined that he could eat his cake and at the same time keep it for future consumption was a wise political economist as compared with that McKinley brand of tariff inspiration which dreams of a protective tariff which will yield increased revenues. The only way to collect tariff revenues is to have goods imported into this country, and when you import goods into this country you throw the American workman out of a job. Is that too difficult to understand? Let me try it again. You cannot manufacture goods in this country for home market and collect tariff revenues on them at the New York custom house.—The New Time.

PRESS COMMENTS.

——Mark Hanna's organs are yelling "fraud" in Ohio elections. Well, they ought to know Mark Hanna.—Chicago Dispatch.

——We infer from the remarks of the gold democrats who are being divorced from their federal jobs that they think there is alimony of some sort coming to them.—Washington Post.

——In spite of the professed loyalty of the Foraker legislators Mr. Hanna will probably get out a fresh check book and take a firmer grasp on his bludgeon.—Chicago Chronicle.

——If Mr. McKinley and his advisers have any doubts about the consequences of federal interference in state elections, they have only to look at the returns from New York—and Ohio!—N. Y. World.

——Prosperity, as dispensed by the grace of McKinley and Hanna, is altogether too exclusive; it is too much in spots. The western farmer who grows corn and the southern farmer who grows cotton have been overlooked in the unfair distribution, and so has the toiler in the east. Prosperity to commend itself and win votes in the future and insure contentment should not be confined to a few successful office seekers and the growers of a single cereal.—Manchester (N. H.) Union.

AGRICULTURAL HINTS

FACTS AND FIGURES.

They Present the Economical Side of the Good Roads Question.

There are, it is estimated, 300,000 miles of highway roads in the United States, about 20 per cent. of the roads of all the world. Great Britain has 120,000 miles of roadways, and these are some of the best in the world. Germany has 275,000 miles of roads, and some of them are as poor as the roadways of a great country can be. France, which has taken an enlightened view of the good roads question for many years and has spent by governmental or local authority more than $1,000,000,000 on highways, has a road mileage of 35 more than any other country. Russia with an enormous area, has only 000 miles of roadways, while Italy, smaller country, has 55,000.

For a considerable time the attention in the United States for good roads languished for the reason, perhaps, that by the American system of subdivided local authority "what's everybody's business is nobody's business," and, controversies being frequent as to the liability of national, state or municipal authority for needful expenditures, very little was done. The National League for Good Roads was organized in 1892 "to awaken general interest in the improvement of public roads, to determine the best methods of building and maintaining them and conduct and foster such publications as may serve those purposes." At the beginning of the agitation, the good roads question did not make much headway, and it was not until the popularity of bicycling grew that the demand for improved roads became organized, and since then considerable headway has been made. A computation which finds much favor among the advocates of good roads is this: There are approximately, though the number is steadily on the decline, 14,000,000 horses in the United States (there were 15,000,000 by the census of 1890), and there are about 2,000,000 mules, principally in the south, the annual cost for fodder for these animals being $1,500,000,000. On fine stone roads one horse can haul as much as three horses can haul over the average dirt road of this country. It is estimated that it would be necessary to build about 1,000,000 miles of macadamized roads in the United States in order to have as good a system of public highways as is found in several European states. At $4,000 per mile this would involve an outlay of $4,000,000,000, a pretty large sum. But if half of the drought animals could be dispensed with by the building of such roads, there would be an annual saving of $700,000,000 in the food bill. Consequently, if road bonds were issued bearing three per cent. interest 6,000,000 miles of macadamized road could be built without increasing the annual expenses one dollar.—N. Y. Sun.

MAKING FARM BRIDGES.

Two Methods Which Have Been Tried with Gratifying Success.

On many farms there are streams and ravines that have to be crossed by bridges. The proper construction of these is a matter of considerable importance, for valuable teams are driven over them, and property is risked to their safety in other ways. The accompanying illustration, Fig. 1, shows a serviceable method of constructing such farm bridges, the cross braces as arranged being of special importance because they keep the bridge from settling to either side, as bridges unsupported very commonly do. Fig. 2 shows a more permanent and solid construction, rough stones being laid up in cement for supports, with a truss between the middle and each end, the ends of these trusses being supported by projecting rocks at the bases of the piers. Such a bridge is thoroughly supported and will well repay the extra labor in construction, provided the stream to be bridged is of any considerable width and the bridge is to be used to any great extent annually.—Orange Judd Farmer.

Fig. 1

WELL-BRACED BRIDGE.

BRIDGE ON PIERS AND SUPPORTED BY TRUSSES.

The Tree in the Fall.

In the fall the tree has completed its growth for the season. It must now ripen and prepare for winter. It can spare some of the moisture which comes with the fall rains. We may, therefore, sow some catch or cover crop. This crop will, if properly plowed under, greatly improve the mechanical condition of the soil; its roots will catch some of the leaching nitrates, of which the roots of the tree are now in little need; it will catch the rains and snows of fall and winter and hold them until they gradually percolate into the earth; it will prevent the puddling and cementing of the soil during winter; it will dry out the soil quickly in spring.—Western Plowman.

Creeping Bent is Best.

The agricultural department at Washington, after long experiments with lawn grasses, declares that creeping bent is the finest lawn grass known.

FRUIT BARK BEETLE.

A Destructive Insect and Methods for Controlling It.

This insect is a newcomer in the United States, having been known in this country less than 25 years. In Germany it has been known to seriously injure fruit trees for over 50 years. It was first discovered on American soil in 1877 in an orchard near Elmira, N. Y., and has gradually spread, especially to the south and central west. It was observed in large numbers in orchards in South Carolina in 1885-86. Two years later it was found in Indiana and is now well established throughout the central Mississippi valley.

My attention has been called to it several times this season in Maryland, and the editor of this journal has referred a query from a subscriber regarding the same pest. I have observed it lately in several orchards and some nurseries. It rarely ever does serious injury in nurseries and attacks only trees whose vitality has been reduced by being broken by plowing or injured in some other way. It does not confine its attacks to fruit trees, but is found working on shade and ornamental trees as well; usually the maple, elm and mountain ash.

FRUIT BARK BEETLE AND ITS WORK.

The beetle will attack perfectly healthy trees, but has a decided preference for weak and sickly ones. A tree infested with this insect can be easily detected by a little careful observation. The trunk and larger branches are usually peppered full of little round holes about the size of a pin-head, see cut. In many instances the gummy exudation from these punctures is very conspicuous, standing out in bead-like masses or running down the branches and trunk. I have seen many trees, especially cherry, in this condition, the present season.

The little beetle responsible for this mischief is about one-tenth of an inch in length and one-third as wide. It is nearly black in color, somewhat cylindrical in general form, and under a glass of moderate power shows a clothing of yellowish hairs on the head and wing covers. The head is vertical and the jaws are short and stout. The beetle is shown in our figure very much enlarged (after Forbes).

The adult beetle, after making a hole in the tree, deposits her eggs in little grooves made in the inner bark. The young that hatch from these eggs feed upon the inner bark and sapwood, making long channels running in all directions from the central groove, as shown in lower right corner. These young worms frequently become so numerous as to completely girdle the branch or trunk, as the case may be. The young have no feet and are white, with small brown heads of the general shape shown in the illustration. They transform in these channels, and in due time the adults eat their way out, thus making more openings similar to the ones made by the female when depositing her eggs. There are probably two broods each year. One brood deposits its eggs in September or and the insects pass the winter as larvæ or worms under the bark. These transform in the spring, and begin to emerge as adults as early as the middle of March. I have also found a full-grown larva the last of July.

The fact that the fall brood passes the winter in the larval state, the first remedy that suggests itself is the cutting down and destruction by burning of all infected trees during the winter. I would recommend this procedure only in extreme cases or where the trees are of no special value. An attempt of extermination would mean the absolute destruction of every tree showing the least attack.

Experimentation with various sprays and washes for controlling this pest has not been carried forward very rapidly. Trees sprayed with a strong solution of Bordeaux mixture and Paris green combined, at about double the strength which is generally used, have given very promising results. The first application should be made about April 1 and the second two weeks later. In order to be most effectual, the spraying should be done before any of the characteristic marks of the insect are found upon the trees, as it will be much easier to prevent the attack than to destroy the beetles after they have once entered the tree.—Prof. W. G. Johnson, in American Gardening.

An Aid to Happy Life.

The avenues that make possible pleasant communication with the mill, factory, market, railroad ferry, fair ground, school, church and neighbor, and unite town and country, are the ones that need to be always clean and fit for use.—L. A. W. Bulletin.

Good Roads Mean Progress.

Poor highways are incompatible with the public welfare.—Good Roads.

WHAT THE LAW DECIDES.

Power to impose a license tax upon nonresidents who carry on business within city limits is upheld, in Petersburg vs. Cocke (Va.), 36 L. R. A. 432, where the rule is applied to an attorney at law having an office in the city but residing outside.

A note held by a nonresident which is payable where he resides is held, in Ward vs. Boyce (N. Y.), 36 L. R. A. 549, to be in no sense property of the debtor, or within the power of the courts at the debtor's residence, for the purpose of making any decree in trustee process affecting its title or ownership.

A prisoner in a reformatory who violates his parole by going into another state is held, in Drinkall vs. Spiegel (Conn.), 36 L. R. A. 486, to be a fugitive from justice within the provision of the United States constitution for the surrender, on demand of the executive of another state, of the person fleeing from justice.

The knowledge of a creditor that his debtor is heavily in debt is held, in Feder vs. Ervin (Tenn.), 36 L. R. A. 335, insufficient to make his purchase of property of his debtor in satisfaction of his debt fraudulent as to other creditors. The multitude of cases on the right of a creditor to buy property from his debtor in satisfaction of the debt are compiled in the annotation to this case.

The treasurer of a private corporation having as such moneys of the corporation in his hands is held, in Mayo vs. Milwaukee Amusement company (Wis.), 36 L. R. A. 561, to be subject to garnishement on a judgment against the corporation. A note to this case shows the conflict in the decisions of the different states on the right to garnish an officer or agent of a corporation on a demand against the corporation.—Chicago News.

SEEN IN THE SHOPS.

Fancy muffs and collars in two contrasting furs.

Collars of silk with a gauze ruche and cravat bow.

Plaitings of shaded silk for puff effects on large hats.

Vicuna cloths in black and colors for tailored suits.

Fur coats showing a loose front and belted back.

Short, straight front corsets of various patterns.

Tailor suits of rough black goods trimmed with braid.

Curious rug and cushion covers of oriental goods.

Many small gilt frames in single and double shapes.

Glass lamp shades in translucent and enamelled effects.

Men's silk mufflers in white, black and red effects.

Girls' plaid frocks made with the blocks bias or straight.

Platings of narrow ribbon or silk for dress trimmings.

Tablecovers of gold embroidered satin and silk from India.

Divans with striped covers and cushions for room corners.

Short petticoats of crepon trimmed with lace or silk embroidery.

Suits showing sleeves, belt and yoke of velvet and blouse and skirt of cloth, moire velour or drap d'ete.—Dry Goods Economist.

FACTS FOR FARMERS.

A fruit evaporator will save much fruit that is wasted every fall. Cider vinegar is always salable, and every farmer should have a mill and press in order to utilize apples that are not suitable for market.

The value of rape is becoming better known every year. An authority states that one acre of rape for hogs is equal to about 46 bushels of grain. It is relished by sheep, and poultrymen who have large flocks are becoming interested in it, as it is an excellent source for providing green food.

A windmill is a source from which both water and power can be obtained, and they are not costly. The objection to grinding the grain would largely disappear if geared windmills were used. Once the windmill is erected the power costs nothing, and, though at times it may not be in operation, yet there are periods when much work can be done with its use.

THE MARKETS.

	CINCINNATI, Nov. 15.
LIVE STOCK—Cattle common	$ 2 25	@	$ 2 85
Select butchers	3 85	@	4 25
CALVES—Fair to good light	5 25	@	6 00
HOGS—Common	2 85	@	3 40
Mixed packers	3 30	@	3 50
Light shippers	3 40	@	3 60
SHEEP—Choice	3 85	@	4 25
LAMBS—Good to choice	5 35	@	5 55
FLOUR—Winter family	3 50	@	3 75
GRAIN—Wheat—No. 2 red		66	@ 67½
No. 3 red		66	66½
Corn—No. 2 mixed		26	@ 26½
Oats—No. 2		16	@ 17
Rye—No. 2		46	47
HAY—Prime timothy	$ 00	@	9 25
PROVISIONS—Mess pork		00	@ 8 62½
Lard—Prime steam		06	@ 4 17½
BUTTER—Choice dairy	13	@	14
Prime to choice creamery		20	@ 22
APPLES—Per bbl	2 50	@	3 25
POTATOES—Per bbl	1 85	@	2 25
	CHICAGO.
FLOUR—Winter patents	$ 00	@	$ 00
GRAIN—Wheat—No. 2 red	81½	@	90¼
No. 2 Chicago spring	87	@	90
CORN—No. 2	30½	@	30¾
OATS—No. 2	20	@	20¼
PORK—Mess	7 35	@	7 40
LARD—Steam		@	4 22½
	NEW YORK.
FLOUR—Winter patent	$ 00	@	$ 25
No. 2 red		66	30½
CORN—No. 2 mixed		29	31½
RYE		55	56½
OATS—Mixed		25	@ 26¼
PORK—New mess	$ 25	@	25¾
LARD—Western		@	4 92½
	BALTIMORE.
FLOUR—Family	$ 00	@	$ 25
GRAIN—Wheat—No. 2	97½	@	97½
Southern Wheat	92	@	98
Corn—Mixed	33	@	33½
Oats—No. 2 white	27½	@	28
Rye—No. 2 western	51½	@	54½
CATTLE—Best quality	$ 00	@	$ 00
HOGS—Western	4 30	@	4 50
	INDIANAPOLIS.
GRAIN—Wheat—No. 2		93	@ 93½
Corn—No. 2 mixed		26	@ 27½
Oats—No. 2 mixed		19	@ 20½
	LOUISVILLE.
FLOUR—Winter patent	$ 75	@	$ 00
GRAIN—Wheat—No. 2 red		93	@ 95
Corn—Mixed		28	@ 27
Oats—Mixed		20	@ 20½
PORK—Mess		00	@ 7 50
LARD—Steam		00	@ 4 50

AN AMBITIOUS GIRL.

From the New Era, Greenburg, Ind.

This paper recently received information that the ten year old daughter of Mr. M. Rybolt, of Hartsville, Ind., had been cured of a severe illness. The case seemed more than an ordinary one, and consequently a special representative was sent to investigate.

The Rybolts are well-to-do farmers living about two miles southwest of Hartsville. When the reporter called Mr. and Mrs. Rybolt and their daughter in question, Louise, were at home, also the other three children. Louise is the oldest. She had been going to school for four years, and was formerly in very good health, but for the past year or more she had been ill.

A year ago the present winter it was noticed that she was breaking down in health. For a time the cause could not be ascertained, but it was finally decided that it was from over-study. It has always been the ambition of Louise to educate herself as soon as possible. She was anxious to graduate from the common branches early, and to enter a college of music, which her parents promised she could do as soon as she should finish the common branches.

How many children by diligent study to achieve their ambitions are injuring their health. It was so in this case. The child studied hard all day and often far into the night, and had won the respect and admiration of her teacher and of all the school by her aptness, and rapid learning.

For some time Louise experienced an indisposition which she would not make known to her parents, for fear they would have her remain from school. Her headache soon became unendurable, and was noticed by her teacher. She had by this time grown pale and weak.

One day she became suddenly sick at school, and was taken home.

For several weeks she suffered from a fever, and the physicians could not rally her. A neighbor urged them to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People, which they finally did with splendid results. Louise began getting better at once, and by the time she had consumed ten boxes of the pills she was cured.

"What you have written is true," said Mrs. Rybolt. "I don't think Louise would have recovered had it not been for Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People. She is in perfect health to-day, and able to re-enter school.

"We are using these pills in our family when we need medicine, and find that they do more good than doctors' medicines, and they are not nearly so expensive. I would be glad to recommend them to any one who is sick, and can especially recommend them in any case similar to Louise's."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People contain, in a condensed form, all the elements necessary to give new life and richness to the blood and restore shattered nerves. They are an unfailing specific for such diseases as locomotor ataxia, partial paralysis, St. Vitus' dance, sciatica, neuralgia, rheumatism, nervous headache, the after effect of la grippe, palpitation of the heart, pale and sallow complexions, all forms of weakness either in male or female. These pills are sold by all dealers, or will be sent post paid on receipt of price, 50 cents a box, or six boxes for $2.50 (they are never sold in bulk or by the 100), by addressing Dr. Williams' Medicine Company, Schenectady, N. Y.

Cruel Man.

"I cried all day yesterday."

"What for?"

"It was our wedding anniversary, and Henry said: 'It seems to me that something awful occurred ten years ago to-day, but I can't remember what it was.'"—Detroit Free Press.

B. & O. Improvements Completed.

The improvements on the Main Line of the Baltimore and Ohio, west of, and between Martinsburg, W. Va., and North Mountain, have been completed November 1st. They cover a distance of nearly four miles, starting three miles west of Martinsburg, and extending some distance west of Myers Hole, which is near the North Mountain station. At Myers Hole the line was changed, taking out some very objectionable curvature, and the roadbed raised nearly fifteen feet, eliminating two grades of 42 feet per mile which came together at Myers Hole and substituting therefor an almost level track. This point on the road has always been a dangerous one, and many freight wrecks have occurred there. Apart from doing away with the dangerous feature of two sharp down grades coming together, as was the case in the instance, the saving in operation of the road by the change will be very large, as it enables the same per train to be greatly increased and reduces the liability of accident to the minimum. At Tablers the road-bed has been lowered about 13 feet, and the same at Tablis, besides taking out objectionable curvature and reducing the rate of grades at these points from 42 feet per mile to 10 feet per mile, thus increasing the cars that can be hauled per train. Though these improvements have cost quite a sum of money, the expenditure is fully justified by the great saving in operation.

What It Was.

Pete—Alice, I thought I heard a loud smack in the hall last night.

Alice—Yes, Mr. Upsley made that noise with his lips when I told him you had cleared $50,000 in a wheat deal.—Cleveland Leader.

$100 Reward $100.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

Address F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, O.

Sold by Druggists, 75c.

Hall's Family Pills are the best.

His Advantage.

Slapshard—Hello, old man; how are you?

Spunkup—You have the advantage of me, sir.

"That's so. I don't know you."—N. Y. Journal.

Shake Into Your Shoes.

Allen's Foot-Ease, a powder for the feet. It cures painful, swollen, smarting feet and instantly takes the sting out of corns and bunions. It's the greatest comfort discovery of the age. Allen's Foot-Ease makes tight or new shoes feel easy. It is a certain cure for sweating, callous, hot, tired, aching feet. Try it to-day. Sold by all druggists and shoe stores, 25c. Trial package, FREE. Write to Allen S. Olmsted, LeRoy, N. Y.

The Crushed Worm.—Mrs. Henry Peck—"Huh! I only married you because I pitied you when nobody else thought anything about you." Mr. Henry Peck (wearily)—"Ah, well, my dear, everybody pities me now."—Boston Traveler.

To Cure a Cold in One Day

Take Laxative Bromo Quinine Tablets. All druggists refund money if it fails to cure. 25c.

Nothing irks a fellow's patience more than to find all the windows locked when he tries to raise them suddenly in the morning.—Washington Democrat.

Piso stopped tree and permanently cured No fits after first day's use of Dr. Kline's Great Nerve Restorer. Free $2 trial bottle & treatise. Dr. Kline, 931 Arch st., Phila., Pa.

Society Note.

Nellie Chaffie tried very hard to get some conversation out of young Clamwhooper, but he answered in monosyllables. At last, hearing violin playing in the next room, she asked:

"Do you play the violin?"

"No; that's a fellow in the next room," he said, with a sudden outburst of loquacity.—N. Y. World.

Heavy Gale.

A Yankee, in describing a gale of wind, says: "A white dog, while attempting to weather the gale, was caught with his mouth open and turned completely inside out."—Tit-Bits.

A Big Regular Army.

The mightiest host of this sort is the army of invalids whose bowels, livers and stomachs have been regulated by Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. A regular habit of body is brought about through using the Bitters, not by violently agitating and griping the intestines, but by reinforcing their energy and causing a flow of the bile into its proper channel. Malaria, la grippe, dyspepsia, and a tendency to inactivity of the kidneys, are conquered by the Bitters.

A Bad Sign.

"I'm afraid," said the candidate, gloomily, "the other side has me beaten and they know it."

"Why do you think so?" asked his friend.

"Well, there are very few campaign lies being circulated about me."—Puck.

Take the Air Line

To St. Louis and the West, 53 miles the shortest from Louisville, makes the quickest time, Pullman Sleepers, Parlor and Dining Cars. For complete information address J. P. Maffett, Traveling Passenger Agent, Knoxville, Tenn. R. A. Campbell, General Passenger Agent, St. Louis, Mo.

She—"I hear you have just got married; is it too late to offer congratulations?" He—"Oh, yes; I was married three weeks ago." —Tit-Bits.

Why is Star Ping Tobacco the Best?

Because it is made from selected stock of the best grade of leaf that grows. The ingredients used in its manufacture are absolutely pure—nothing injurious to the system enters into it.

Flies are never as active as when you want to sleep in the morning.—Washington Democrat.

How My Throat Hurts!—Why don't you use Hale's Honey of Horehound and Tar? Pike's Toothache Drops Cure in one minute.

A person looking out for old people always makes a good impression.—Washington Democrat.

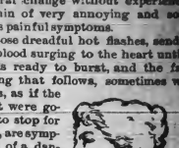
Piso's Cure for Consumption has no equal as a cough medicine.—F. M. Abbott, 383 Seneca St., Buffalo, N. Y., May 9, 1894.

We should call learning to ride a bicycle in the hot sun, work.—Washington Democrat.

The weather seems delightful when Rheumatism is cured by St. Jacobs Oil.

No wonder a typewriter gets rattled when a pretty girl is working it.—Chicago News.

Where? Have pains and aches everywhere. Cured by St. Jacobs Oil—they're nowhere.



A mother's praise of her children never interests any other woman.—Chicago News.

A quickstep. Step out when St. Jacobs Oil quickly cures your lumbago.

The office never gets left when it starts out to seek the man.—Chicago News.

THE TURN OF LIFE

Is the most important period in a woman's existence. Owing to modern methods of living, not one woman in a thousand approaches this perfectly natural change without experiencing a train of very annoying and sometimes painful symptoms.

Those dreadful hot flashes, sending the blood surging to the heart until it seems ready to burst, and the faint feeling that follows, sometimes with chills, as if the heart were going to stop for good, are symptoms of a dangerous nervous trouble. Those hot flashes are just so many calls from nature for help. The nerves are crying out for assistance. The cry should be heeded in time. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound was prepared to meet the needs of woman's system at this trying period of her life.

The Vegetable Compound is an invigorating strengthener of the female organism. It builds up the weakened nervous system and enables a woman to pass that grand change triumphantly.

It does not seem necessary for us to prove the honesty of our statements, but it is a pleasure to publish such grateful words as the following:

"I have been using Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for some time during the change of life and it has been a saviour of life unto me. I can cheerfully recommend your medicine to all women, and I know it will give permanent relief. I would be glad to relate my experience to any sufferer."—Mrs. Della Watson, 594 West 5th St., Cincinnati, Ohio.

POINTED PARAGRAPHS.

Wit and Wisdom in Short Sentences.

Where there's a will there's usually a contestant.

Snow comes down in the winter and ice goes up in the summer.

Time flies. That's one advantage it has over flying machines.

The wind has a great deal to do with making the weather—vane.

When some men feel blue they get drunk and paint things red.

The stronger the butter is in the tub the weaker it is in the market.

A doctor may spend money like water, but he doesn't get it from the well.

After a man secures a girl's hand he sometimes finds she has him under her thumb.

One word always leads on to another—no matter whether you are reading the Bible or a time card.

A man must have a lot of bravery in his make-up to enable him to listen calmly to the whistling of bullets.

One should make allowance for youthful follies. The cat, the gravest of all animals, is the most frisky when young.—Chicago News.

For Croup,

asthma, bronchitis, or whooping cough, there is no remedy so sure and safe as Dr. Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. From the first dose its healing influence is manifest. The sufferer who has been kept awake by the cough falls into a refreshing sleep, and awakes strong and refreshed. Dr. Ayer's Cherry Pectoral is acknowledged to be a specific for all pulmonary complaints. Physicians praise and prescribe it.

This standard remedy for coughs, colds, and all diseases of the throat and lungs, is now put up in half size bottles at half price, 50c.

"One of my children had croup. One night I was startled by the child's hard breathing, and on going to it found it strangling. It had nearly ceased to breath. Having a part of a bottle of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral in the house, I gave the child three doses at short intervals, and anxiously waited results. From the moment the Pectoral was given the child's breathing grew easier, and in a short time it was sleeping quietly and breathing naturally. The child is alive and well to-day, and I do not hesitate to say that Ayer's Cherry Pectoral saved its life."

C. J. Woolbridge, Wortham, Tex.

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral.

"IF AT FIRST YOU DON'T SUCCEED," TRY

SAPOLIO

A PERFECT TALKING MACHINE FOR $10

RECORDS 50c EACH $5.00 PER DOZEN

WRITE FOR CATALOGUE "K"

SPEAR & CO.,

INDIANAPOLIS, IND.

WINCHESTER GUN CATALOGUE FREE

SEND YOUR NAME ON A POSTAL CARD AND WE WILL SEND YOU OUR 136 PAGE ILLUSTRATED CATALOGUE FREE

WINCHESTER REPEATING ARMS CO.

100 WINCHESTER AVE., NEW HAVEN, CONN.

A HOT TIME

THE FIRESIDE SUPPLY CO., of Zanesville, Ohio, has decided to make AN UNPARALLELED OFFER as a means of advertising and extending its business.

OUR NO. II OAK! AN AIR-TIGHT ...HEATING... ...STOVE...

Will be sold for 90 Days at the unheard-of price of $6.25!

We do not ask you to buy a "pig in a poke." Send postal for our book, containing full information and buy later when you need that WE MEAN BUSINESS.

FIRESIDE SUPPLY CO., ZANESVILLE, OHIO.

If Write us NOW. If you don't, next time you think of it the paper containing this advertisement will have disappeared.

DROPSY NEW DISCOVERY gives quick relief and cures worst cases. Send for book of testimonials and 10 days' treatment Free. Dr. H. H. GREEN'S SONS, Atlanta, Ga.

25 CTS PISO'S CURE FOR CURES WHERE ALL ELSE FAILS. Best Cough Syrup. Tastes Good. Use in time. Sold by druggists. CONSUMPTION

WHEN WRITING TO ADVERTISERS please state that you saw the Advertisement in this paper.

BOONE CO., RECORDER.

Wednesday, November 17, 1897.

Advertising Rates:

One inch, one time.....$1.00
Each additional time.....25
Obituaries, Tributes of Respects or notices of a like nature, per inch .50

W. L. RIDDELL, - - Publisher.

Neighborhood News.

Union.

Mrs. Lida Conner is the guest of relatives in Cincinnati, this week.

Miss Quisenberry, of Virginia, was the guest of Mrs. J. A. Huey, last week.

Mrs. Elbert Wilson, of Walton, was visiting her mother, Mrs. Mary Hedges, recently.

The meeting at the Baptist Church is still going on and much interest is manifested. Charles Finuell united with the church Saturday evening.

The ladies of the Baptist Missionary Society will give a musical and literary entertainment on Thanksgiving evening. Admission, 25c, including supper.

The teachers of Boone county may as well bid Supt. Voshell farewell, as he comes around this time, for it is 2 chances to 1 they will never see him any more, as he expects to take a bear hunt in Arkansas, soon.

Constance.

John Funk has opened a barber shop here.

Harrison Clore is having new metal broken for the pike.

Rev. Ruth, the great Evangelist, from Indianapolis, will preach at the salvation hall here.

J. C. Hankins & Co., will get another barge of coal as soon as the river rises enough to let coal out.

Mr. Kemp's house, one of the finest at Anderson's Ferry, burnt to the ground, last Thursday afternoon.

Mrs. Mall's Sunday school will give an entertainment, Saturday night, at Murat's hall. Some excellent musical talent from Cincinnati will be present. All are invited. The proceeds of the entertainment will go towards building a chapel.

Richwood.

Elger Houston is still hauling tomatoes to market and is getting a good price.

The rats are very numerous and are destroying a great deal of corn in the schock.

Mr. Jerry Carpenter was entertaining a number of friends from the city, last Saturday.

We are told that Martin Slat can beat all the farmers in this neighborhood feeding hogs.

As soon as the quail season came our friend, Jasper Booth, began to make it interesting for "Bob White."

Some of the farmers are posting their farms—not against the country boys, but the town hunters, who are killing all the game.

Mr. Will Wilson has been offered a position by a firm in Covington to go to Venezuela, South America, to do carpenter work.

Hathaway.

Several from here attended the baptizing at Rabbit Hash.

Since the recent cool weather fresh pig is on the bill of fare.

T. J. Stephens has been draining the roads since the recent rains.

Several from here are attending the meetings at Union and Bellevue.

Miss Carrie Woods is home after a long visit with friends at Bromley, and I am glad to say that she seems much improved in health.

Mrs. J. L. Huey, Mrs. Ezra Blankenbecker, Mrs. Lou Utz and Mrs. E. E. Utz, were the guests of L. J. Riley and family, a few days since.

We extend our sympathy to E. L. Clements and wife in the sad bereavement, because of their little son's death, and may God be with them in their affliction and make it easy to say, "Thy will be done."

Some one stole about two bushels of potatoes out of a wagon that the Neal Bros., had loaded ready to start to market. We know that potatoes are scarce, but did not know that people were starving for them.

Erlanger.

Jacob Fickel and family have moved into the residence of Henry Myers.

Frauk Siaturick is building a fine two story residence on Commonwealth avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Ficke buried their baby at St. Mary's cemetery Sunday. They have the sympathy of this community.

Thieves stole $50 worth of groceries from Hilker's grocery, and 1,000 feet of new lumber from contractor Victor from a building he is erecting.

The Erlanger and Elsmere town elections are said to be illegal because the election officers failed to certify the vote to the county canvassing board. The old officers will hold over until 1899.

Samuel Arch & Co. sued Mrs. S. K. Rogers in Esq. Childress' court for $76 66 balance due on account. The defendant denied the claim and got judgment for her costs. The case was appealed. E. J. Green for plaintiff, and S. W. Adams for defendant.

Master Gus Mack, of Garvey ave., was trying to force a cartridge into the breech of his gun, when he struck the shell with his knife, and it exploded, the powder burning his face so badly as to probably destroy his eye sight. He was taken to a hospital at Cincinnati.

Rabbit Hash.

Mrs. Latta and Miss House, of Lockland, Ohio, are visiting George H. Wilson and wife.

Dr. Cowen shipped 24 hogs, Mit Ryle, 8 and E. L. Stephens 16 from here to Cincinnati last Tuesday evening.

Married, on the 10 inst., at the Methodist Parsonage in Rising Sun, James Pope and Miss Missouri Holmes. After the ceremony the bride and groom returned to Rabbit Hash. Brother Rollins was passing down Main st., and when opposite Gary's store, met some of his brethren and remarked that he had just performed the greatest act of his life. One asked him what it was, and he said he had just married a Pope.

Tuesday evening, Nov. 9, will long be remembered as a prominent social event by the people of this neighborhood. This was the evening of the marriage of Miss Hattie Stephens, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. L. Stephens and Mr. Robt. Aylor, son of James Aylor. The wedding took place at the home of the bride at 5 o'clock, Rev. Utz making the happy union. The bride is an accomplished young lady and has the best wishes of a host of friends. The same good wishes go out to the groom, an industrious, steady young man. The bride was dressed in tan henrietta with beautiful trimmings of tan and pink. The groom wore the usual black. Mrs Ben Stephens and Mrs. Wm. Stephens waited on the couple. After the ceremony a most bounteous supper was served. The beautiful arrangement of the tables deserves comment. Many useful and beautiful presents were received, of which we name the following: Set of Napkins, and fruit dish, Maud Aylor; bouquet holder, Jennie and Roxie Aylor; card receiver, William Aylor; lamp, Mr. and Mrs. Hubert Ryle; easter, Bluford Ryle; glass set, James and Edith Hager; pickle dish, Paul Aylor; cake plate, Mr. and Mrs Ben Stephens; set fine towels, Mr. and Mrs James Aylor; fancy needlework, Tillie Aylor; table cloth, Mr. and Mrs. James Allen; towels, Mr. Lewis Stephens; spread, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Stephens; fruit bowel, Hetha Stephens. After the supper the guest were entertained until late at night by vocal music by Rev. Utz, Wm. Aylor, Josie Allen, Tillie Aylor and the bride assisted by her sister, Mrs. Hubert Ryle. All enjoyed the evening, and it will ever be remembered most pleasantly.

Walton.

T. J. Stephens has been quite sick for the last week.

Mrs. S. H. Myers was quite sick several days, last week.

Miss Lucy Glenn, of Milldale, is visiting Miss Alice Laws.

T. R. Fleming is suffering with a severe attack of lagrippe.

L. B. Stephens is visiting the family of B. L. Northcutt at Dayton, Ky.

Mrs. Sleet and Miss Lizzie Kipp were visiting Miss Lizzie Bruce, of Ludlow, Sunday.

Mrs. Henry Diers went to Clifton, Sunday, to attend the funeral of her niece, Gertrude Shultz.

Little Gladys Wilson has been confined to her room for the past two weeks with bronchitis.

Wm. Metcalfe has been appointed postmaster at this place and will take charge of the office in the near future.

Mr. Fowler Comely and daughter have moved from High St., on to Pike St., and occupy a part of Mrs. Lora Rouse's house.

Misses Julia and Katie Flynn and Miss Anna Farley, of Dry Ridge, were the pleasant guests of N. M. Northcutt and wife, Sunday.

Wm. A. Connely died Oct. 26th, near Clay City, Ind., aged 76 years. The above notice was received by relatives of the deceased a few days since. He had many relatives in this county, who will be shocked and grieved to hear of his death.

Mrs. Matilda Gary, wife of John Gary departed this life Saturday, Nov. 13th. Mrs. Gary was loved by all who knew her, and will be greatly missed in church and Sunday School, where she was always in attendance. She has always lived near Walton, and had been married twice, her first husband being John I. Johnson. Her remains were laid to rest in the Walton Baptist cemetery Monday. The deceased was about 53 years of age.

Bellevue.

Small grain is looking well.

Clore Bros. shipped 60 head of hogs the 9th inst.

Joseph Satchwell and wife are residents of our town.

Corn is selling here at prices ranging from 20c to 30c per bushel.

Mrs. Scott Rice left on the 11th for a visit among her daughters, in Indiana.

Michael Clore has cribbed one field of 40 acres of corn, averaging 50 bushel per acre.

Albert Snyder, who has been under treatment for several months for his eyes, is still improving.

Several of our citizens saw the rainbow in the east on the morning of the 10th, between 5 and 6 o'clock.

By special request, Rev. T. L. Utz will preach on the text found in St. John, 3:5, on the next regular day for services at this place—the 28th inst.

Bro. Utzinger, it is a little late, but accept our congratulations, and may much of your future be filled with all the happiness and prosperity it is possible to obtain in this short life.

Robert Clore and James Lawell will exchange places of abode on the 16th. We regret to lose "Shorty," but our loss will be someone else's gain. We welcome Mr. and Mrs. Lawell among us.

T. H. Baker, postmaster at Louisville, was here, recently, shaking hands with his acquaintances and friends. We are sorry we were away and failed to see him; but from reports he is the same old Tom as of yore.

Michael Clore has traded to Jas. Lawell 68 acres and a fraction of the northern part of his farm lying on the B. & B. turnpike, Lawell giving three acres for one and $100 per acre for all his farm of 168 acres lacks of paying for it.

The tree to which reference was made in your last issue, taken from the Daily Tribune, is a stump, so much decayed that it is of easy access without ever stooping, there being no place to conceal anything of size. That item is about as near the truth as the average daily puts it.

Jas. Rogers, supervisor of the adjoining district, has done some good work within the last month, by macadamizing the sand road. The greater portion of the road leading from here to Woolper creek is graveled. We are inclined to think that there has been considerable improvement in the roads in this part of the county. We fear a failure to appoint men who would properly disburse the funds is the reason you see such little results on the roads in general.

Florence

The little daughter of Duke Corbin is slowly improving.

The newly married couple, Mr. and Mrs. Bessie Crouch, are soon to go boating on the waters of the Ohio.

Mrs. Ann Osborn has a well preserved pumpkin which was pulled from the vine in the fall of '96. She expects to give the writer a piece of pie from it Christmas.

Last Wednesday night Mrs. Hampton's house was totally destroyed by fire. The heroic work of the bucket-brigade kept the fire from spreading. The origin of the fire still remains a mystery. It was partly covered by insurance.

The first ice of the season put in its appearance Thursday night, but was soon broken by the news of the marriage of Miss Florence Golway to Mr. Albert Zeph, one of our prominent grocery clerks. After a luxurious repast handed out to the boys the young couple went quietly to their future home at Erlanger.

Chester Souther has returned from a trip to New York.

Dr. Sayre has a fine open-top buggy for sale. Ask him about it.

Miss Stella Myers has purchased a stylish Stanhope and handsome sorrel horse.

Mrs. W. P. Carpenter has been the guest of relatives in Covington the past month.

Charlie Souther has been confined to the house by illness since his return from Missouri, a week or two ago.

Miss Bess Crigler has been the guest of Mrs. E. Porter and Miss Hattie Corwin, of Covington, for the past two weeks.

Wednesday Mr. Noah Clore and Miss Jennie Myers were the guests of Mrs. Henry Ingram, of Robbins St., Covington. Mr. Harry Ingram accompanied them home for a few days.

Weddings and charivaris seem to be the order of the day in this part of the country. Unluckily Geo. Crouch was taken by surprise and he had to stand the noisy compliment, while Uncle John Geisner being forewarned, forearmed himself by paying the boys off before they were fairly organized. Mr. Zeph and his bride fled to Erlanger.

Petersburg.

Wm. Snyder will superintend the bottling house.

The Workum had two large down river trips last week.

Mrs. Wingate, Earl Whiting's grandmother, is quite sick.

Barney Sullivan and Miss —— Nixon are booked for marriage Dec. 22d.

Dr. R. C. Tilly is improving fast, and thinks he will be in his office soon.

Young Mr Carpeuter, a nephew of Mr. Belden, is engineer at the flouring mill.

A very pretty, popular girl, of the town, leads her pet duck to the river, daily, for a swim.

James Thompson has lately moved into the house vacated sometime ago by B. P. Rice, formerly known as the Methodist parsouage.

Messrs. Henry and Steve McWethy are among the pioneers of this part of the county. They are men of honor, with a numerous posterity.

Some of Prof. Goetz's pupils here attended his funeral in Lawrenceburg, last Friday. Catarrh of the stomach is said to have been the cause of his death.

The latest news from Mr. Ros Walton was that his wife was not expected to get well. His grandfather, R. Y. Randall, has been quite feeble for several days.

The people of the Christian church expect Rev. Keene to hold a meetiug with them in a few weeks. A notice of the time will be given whenever it is definitely known.

Owing to a slight mistake in your Utzinger news of last week, in regard to the meeting at the Methodist church it might be well to state again that Rev. Mr. Clark is expected to be here on Monday night following the fourth Sunday in November.

Died—Nov. 10th, 1897, of peritonitis, Thornton Buchanan, in the 12th year of his age. This is the second dear boy that our friends, Andrew and wife have lost in the last year; and they have the deepest sympathy of many friends. After religious services at the house, on the 11th inst, the remains were borne to their last resting place in our cemetery, followed by a large procession. Sixteen little boys, schoolmates, about his age laid flowers upon his grave.

The dirt roads are in very bad condition.

The trees appear to want to retain their leaves.

Go to Clutterbuck's for anything you want in the line of epibles.

Umbrelias and overcoats were both in demand yesterday, for the first time this fall.

The Literary Branch of the Epworth League will give an entertainment on Friday night of next week, at which the Old Maids' Convention will be presented.

Nobody about here saw the shower of meteors advertised to make their first appearance last Saturday night, and to keep up the show for three successive nights.

Queen & Crescent low gates to the following places: M. E. Church (North Alabama Conference); Florence, Ala., Nov. 17-23. Meeting of state B. Y. P. U., Versailes, Ky., Nov. 30-Dec. 2nd.

When Congress meets every Republican member will have in his pocket a bill for the repeal or amendment of the civil service law, which is now proving an obstruction in the road to the pie counter.

H. C. McNeal, of Constance, was in town Monday, and swore out a warrant for the arrest of John Anderson, who he charges with shooting into his house after dark, Sunday. The shot rattled against the house and the kitchen window, where Mr. McNeal and wife were with a lamp, and he thinks Anderson was shooting at him.

Notice.

Having attained an age, and condition of health, that I am no longer able to attend to my business, I appoint Geo. W. Roberts to take charge of it, and enforce settlement and reinvest the money to the best advantage.

NAT HIND, Verona, Ky.

Notice of a Protracted Meeting at Bullittsburg.

We closed a meeting of two weeks continuance at Bullittsburg, on Saturday the 13th inst. The meeting was one of great interest, during which Rev. C. G. Jones, pastor of the Fourth Street Baptist Church, Covington, did the preaching, and, with the pastor, conducted the meeting to the close. Nine persons were received on a profession of faith for baptism; two by relation; one by letter, as follows: Jas. T. Gaines and his two daughters, Misses Bertha and Bulah, Miss Gracie Grant, Miss Hattie Delph, Miss Nellie Duncan, Alfred Winston, Charles Hitchfield, John Laffin, Mrs. Courtney Walton, Miss Lizzie Graddy and Mrs. Jas. Brown. On next Sunday the 21st, a regular meeting at Bullittsburg, the baptism of one or more persons will probably occur.

J. A. KIRTLEY, Pastor.

Cold weather is due, and is liable to drop in on this part of the country at any time.

Notice to Taxpayers.

The taxpayers are hereby notified that the six per cent. penalty will be added December 1st. Pay up before that time and save the penalty.

C. C. ROBERTS, S. B. C.

Notice to Trespassers.

We, the undersigned, hereby give notice that we have posted our farms, according to law, against trespass of all kinds, and will enforce the law against those who trespass thereon by hunting or otherwise.

John Stephens	Robt McGlasson
M T Gray	Wm Graves
John F Decker	J W Watts
Jas L Riley	Temp Galues
Wm Riley	Allie Corn
Henry McGlasson	Hubert Cropper
Geo McGlasson	Joe Graves
Zeke Aylor	Jameson Aylor
Ed Berkshire	T J Walton
Clide Berkshire	Bert Berkshire
J D Cloud	T D Goodridge
R White	Geo Blyth
Al Rogers	Chas White
R W Neal	Abs Aylor
H C. McNeal

Admiuistrator's Notice.

Those indebted to the estate of J. C. Reall, deceased, must come forward and settle at once, and those having claims against said estate must present the same at once proven according to law.

CHAS. B. BEALL, Adm'r.

NOTICE.

Notice is hereby given that I am sole owner of the personal property on my farm near J. W. Kite's store, this county, and no one is authorized to sell same or any part of it.

LENNORA SATCHWILL.

Sept. 10th, 1897.

FARM FOR SALE.

65 acres of nice land in Boone county, Ky., on the road from Florence to the Ohio river, about 2½ miles southwest of Erlanger, Ky., known as the Harriet Wayland farm. This is a very desirable piece of land, with frame house and barn on it, and nicely located. Terms easy. Possession will be given March 1st 1898. Address me for particulars at Ghent, Ky.

R. O. WILLIAMS,
Administrator.

dec-15

For Sale.

Good frame house of six roome, and good barn and lot, at BigBone, Ky. For further particulars apply to

M. C. CARROLL,
Big Bone, Ky.

For Sale or Rent.

Good Stock Farm of 170 acres. Money rent in cash, if rented.

Wm. C. HENSLEY.

Farm for Sale!

—(o)—

In Boone county, Ky., on the North Bend Road, 1½ miles from Burlington, 1 mile from Hebron and 5 miles from Anderson's Ferry, and contains seventy-eight acres, good cottage of 5 rooms and good barn, orchard of 200 trees select fruit. The farm is all under good state of cultivation. For terms apply to

LASSING & RIDDELL,
Burlington, Ky.

For Sale--Farm.

—or—

123 Acres of Good Land in Boone County, Ky., on the Union & Beaver Turnpike, 2 miles from Union, three miles from Richwood Station. Good house or seven rooms, hall, vestibule, porches, good cellar; large barn, outbuildings, two cisterns, orchard and never failing water.

Henry Tucker,
UNION, Boone Co., Ky.

BOOTS & SHOES

MADE TO ORDER.

Work Strictly First-Class.
Prices to Suit the Times.

Harness, Boots and Shoes Neatly Repaired. Give me a trial.

CHRISTIAN BECKER,
29apt2m Union, Ky.

COMMISSIONER'S NOTICE.

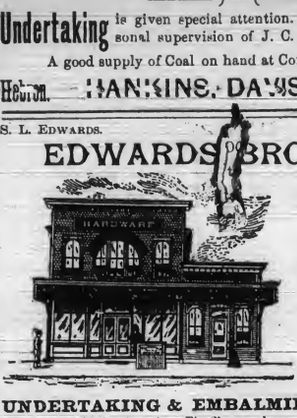
Boone Circuit Court, Ky.
Sallie Powers, &c., Plffs.,
vs.
F. L. Gordon, &c., Defts.

The undersigned hereby gives notice that he will begin his sittings on the 24th day of Nov., 1897, at the Circuit day excepted) to the 11 day of Dec., clerk's office in Burlington, Ky., to hear proof in the above styled cause and will adjourn from day to day (Sunday excepted) to the 11 day of Dec., 1897.

J. B. BERKSHIRE, M. C. B. C. C.

GO TO—
HANKINS, DAVIS & CO., General Merchants,
HEBRON AND CONSTANCE,
A Good Supply of Feed always in Stock.

GARDEN AND FIELD SEEDS.



Undertaking is given special attention. Funerals under the personal supervision of J. C. HANKINS.

A good supply of Coal on hand at Constance at all times.

Hebron. HANKINS, DAVIS & CO. Constance

S. L. EDWARDS. A. M. EDWARDS.

EDWARDS BROTHERS,

DEALERS IN HARDWARE
—AND—
Agricultural Implements,

Furniture,
Stoves,
Tinware,
Saddlery,
Oils and Paints,
Wall Paper.

UNDERTAKING & EMBALMING A SPECIALTY.

We have added a first-class Tin Shop and are prepared to do Tin, Iron and Paper Roofing and guarantee all work done by us.

EDWARDS BROS., - - Walton, Ky.

JOHN ALLISON,

UNDER-TAKER  EMBALMER,

—Corner Pike & Russell Streets,—
COVINGTON, - - KENTUCKY.

INDEPENDENT OF UNDERTAKERS' UNION.

THEY: MUST: GO.

Desiring to quit that branch of the business I am Closing
—OUT MY ENTIRE STOCK OF—
MEN'S & BOYS' Ready-Made CLOTHING

At the greatest bargains ever offered in Covington.

—MY TAILORING DEPARTMENT—
Will be continued, and I have on hand the Finest Line of Suitings in the three cities. Give me a call.

H. F. BLASE, 540 Madison Avenue, COVINGTON, KY.

jany1-93

Many People When Buying Clothing

Never consider the WORKMANSHIP and TRIMMINGS—a matter of great Importanee. We pay particular attention to same and invite your inspection. Come in and examine our

All Wool Suits at $5.00.
Our Black and Blue Kersey Overcoats at $5, $6.50, $8 and $10, can not be equaled.
Our Men's Pants for $1.00 can not be beat.

Mr. L. Rice, of Independence, would be pleased to have his friends call upon him.

ROLFES & WACHS, RELIABLE CLOTHIERS
S. W. Cor. Pike & Madison Ave. Covington, Ky.

FOURTH YEAR
OF WALTON ACADEMY,
—opens—
MONDAY, SEPTEMBER 6th, 1897
AT WALTON, KY.

Three Courses of Study to choose from: English, Scientific or Classical,
Tuition per month, $2.50 and $3.00
Vocal and Instrumental Music at moderate rates.

We have a fine, new building with rooms for pupils, connected.—Board only $2.50 per week, or $2.00 for 5 days.
Thorough, Substantial Work Guaranteed.
Teachers { Mrs. S. H. MYERS. CHAS. F. PRIOR. Rev. S. H. MYERS.

Further information gladly given by mail or interview.

Administrator's Notice.

I have this day been appointed administrator of the estate of James A. Botts, deceased, and all persons indebted to said estate must pay same at once and all persons having claims against said estate must present them to me or my attorney S. W. Tolin, at Burlington, Ky., proven as by law required.

EDWIN BOTTS, Adm'r.

Sept. 20th, 1897.

WINTER TOURIST

low round trip rates are now in effect to Florida and other winter resorts for the season of '97-'98 via the QUEEN & CRESCENT ROUTE from all points North.

The train service of the Queen & Crescent from the North via Cincinnati is the finest in the South. Vestibuled trains make fast schedules, with through sleepers to principal Southern Cities.

Write for information to W. C. Rinearson, General Passenger Agent, Cincinnati, O.

Send 10 cents for fine Art colored Lithograph of Lookout Mountain and Chickamauga.

Subscribe for the Recorder.

Local News.

Having plenty of rain now.

Thanksgiving is drawing nigh.

Plenty of water in the river now.

Thanksgiving day comes on the 25th.

You can get Vegetables of all kinds at Clutterbuck's.

The first freeze of the season came Thursday night.

You can shoot quail now without violating the law.

Business for Circuit Court is accumulating very slowly.

Tony Bentler has been increasing his barn room considerably.

Circuit Court began in Warsaw, last Monday, with a small docket.

Read the advertisement of farm for sale by R. O. Williams, adm'r.

When a girl reaches the age of 25 she dispenses with birthday parties.

Spareribs and sausage will soon be found on all well regulated tables.

Clutterbuck will have Cranberries, Celery, &c, for Thanksgiving day.

Complaints of bad roads were heard soon after the rain got the ground wet.

The young people enjoyed quite a delightful party at Mrs. Mary Keudall's a few nights since.

Several loads of tobacco purchased by Hiram Long down on Gunpowder, were delivered last week.

There was considerable shooting being done, Sunday, regardless of both the Sunday and the game law.

There have been a great many weddings this fall, and there are several more booked for 1897, it is said.

E. J. Molloy will have a sale of his personal property at his residence near town on the afternoon of the 24th inst.

Jailer-elect Adams has not, as yet, been able to secure a house to move into in Burlington when he goes into office.

The Indiana legislature jerry-mandered the State for political purposes, and is said that one too many districts were laid off.

You can get anything you want at Ira Aylor's, Erlanger, for preparing an excellent Thanksgiving dinner next Thursday.

Don't grumble about the wet weather. Don't you remember how glad you were to see the dry weather discontinued?

TO CURE A COLD IN ONE DAY.
Take Laxative Bromo Quinine Tablets. All druggists refund the money if it fails to cure. 25c

John Olsner, aged seventy-one, one of the wealthiest citizens of Florence, and Miss Frances Angler, of Erlanger, were married last Thursday evening.

Dr. H. W. Harrison requests the RECORDER to notify his friends and patrons that he will not be in Burlington again until the first Monday in next April.

They commenced rushing work on the Boone House, last week. Carpenters, tinners, painters and paper hangers were scattered all over and through the building.

Several teachers called at the Superintendent's office, last Saturday, to draw the salaries due them, but no money with which to pay them had been received.

A huge bouquet of chrysanthemums were passing through Saturday morning, and an investigation revealed O. P. Conner behind them. Owen has an eye for the beautiful.

Mr. Thomas Stephens, of Hathaway, found, in his field of corn, a stalk that contained a cluster of 30 ears where the tassel on an ordinary stalk grows. He will save some of it for seed from which to plant next year.

The bottle and cork cost $2,10. The bottle cost $2 more than the cork, what did each cost? is a problem that has given Dr. Smith insomnia. He knows the accepted answers, but says he doubts their correctness.

A. J. Johns, of Grant county, is doing a good business here with his patent process for cleaning feathers. It has given entire satisfaction to those who have had work done, and it has had a thorough trial here.

O. P. Conner has bought of J. E. Rouse, Rhidesdale, the thoroughbred, registered Guernsey bull. Rhidesdale is two-years-old, and was brought from New York, when a small calf. He is a handsome animal, of a very rich color.

J. M. Conner shipped 46 head of cattle from Lawrenceburg to Indianapolis, last Thursday. They were the export cattle of C. W. Riley and "Doll" Walton. It was the first shipment of stock from this part of the county to Indianapolis.

A residence belonging to Miss Fannie Respass in Florence was destroyed by fire, one night last week. It was not occupied, and it is supposed the fire was the work of an incendiary as there had been no fire about the house for several days.

Miss Olga Kirkpatrick now presides over the postoffice at this place, having taken possession last Monday morning. Mr Dudley Rouse, her predecessor, was postmaster here for 28 years, being appointed under the first administration of Gen. Grant.

Going to Erlanger one afternoon, last week, we came across Joe Geiger, working, as we thought, trying to get one of Robt. Rouse's culverts into a gunney sack. Upon inquiry Mr. Geiger explained that he was trying to bag a rabbit and had no designs on the culvert, whatever.

PERSONAL MENTION.

"Tucker" Aylor was in town Friday.

W. J. Rice went to the city yesterday.

B. W. Adams and wife are visiting at Beaver.

D. E. Castleman is attending court at Warsaw.

Ernest Yager, the Florence caterer was in town Saturday.

Jeff Eddins did not buy his new suit of clothes over the telephone.

C. C. Roberts and family were visiting at Walton the first of this week.

County Clerk Adams made a business trip to Rabbit Hash, one day last week.

Wm. Dixon, of Richwood, was in town Monday, on business in county court.

B. L. Rice and daughter, Miss Annie, of Covington, were in town yesterday.

J. M. Baker, of Big Bone, was among the early arrivals in town Mouday morning.

J. M. Lassing was at Frankfort and Lexington on business, the latter part of last week.

Thos. Huron canvassed the town last week, selling a housekeeper's helper—a patent scrub-brush.

O. J. Ryle was visiting the scenes of his boy hood days, two or three days the first of the week.

Mr. J. D. McNeely, of Hathaway, was in town Monday, and became one of the RECORDER'S family

B. F. Zimmer, H. C. McNeal, Coroner Murat, and J. C. Hankins, of Constance, were in town Monday.

Mrs. Geo. G. Hughes and daughter, Miss Artie, were visiting Mrs. Theodore Riggs, of Ludlow, last week.

C. W. Riley, of Bullittsville, was in town Friday. He wanted to beat out the six per cent. penalty on taxes.

Julius Utzinger, one of the thrifty young farmers, of the north end of the county, was in town, last Thursday.

Ben Terrill, one of the leading citizens of the Union neighborhood, was among the visitors to town Monday.

Pink Rice and wife, of the Utzinger neighborhood, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Vest, Saturday and Sunday.

Walter Gordon, of Hebron, has been offered $75 a month to play ball with a Waterbury, Connecticut, club, next season.

P. T. Fall, of Union, is decorating the rooms at the Boone House. He is away up in "G" when it comes to paper hanging.

W. O. Kirtley, of North Bend, was in town last Thursday. The cold wind that prevailed gave him a healthy look about the face.

Supt. Voshell is preparing to go to Arkansas on a "bar" hunt, and a visit to his brother, A. R. Voshell, whose home is at Hot Springs, that State.

Sheriff O'Donnell, of Kenton county, died at his home in Covington, last Sunday. The county judge will appoint someone to fill out the vacancy.

John Calvert, of Rabbit Hash, was in town, Monday. John is not as old as he is gray, and it is hoped that he will be a victim of the matrimonial epidemic that is prevailing in his part of the county.

Mr. Elijah Parker, of Gasburg, was in town, one day last week. He says that the vote for Parker, the Populist candidate, cast at Petersburg, was not his. There is not enough in a name to cause him to break his record as a Democrat.

Col. J. M. Moody, of the Bellevue neighborhood, came up one day last week to see the daily paper so as to post himself as to when there would be enough water in the river for the boats to resume business, as he wanted to have his light house ready for service.

Capt. J. M. Riddell and wife, of Williamstown, were visiting their daughter, Mrs. T. W. Finch, of this place, from last Friday until Monday afternoon. Mr and Mrs. Riddell are looking well. On the 16th day of next month Mr. and Mrs. Riddell will have been married fifty years. Of those who attended the wedding only eight are now living, viz: H. Clay White, of Williamstown; Milton Hamilton, of Georgetown; Mrs. Judge Roberts, of Aurora, Ind.; Mrs. M. A. Foster, of Florida; William and Charles White, J. J. Berkshire and Miss Harriet Neal, of this county. The late Robert Kirtley officiated.

A few days since Mrs. Laura Martin received a letter from Edward S. McKenzie, son of Dr. I. R. McKenzie. Edward has been away from Burlington for nearly twenty-years, a great portion of which time he has been in Chicago, where he is engaged editing two weekly newspapers, and occasionally writes a story for a New York paper as a recreation. His brothers, Bernard, is in business in San Diego, Cal.; George, is in Washington, D. C., much of his time, being an attorney for an association; Kenneth, is in Chicago. Miss Lillie, his sister, is still in Paris, France, where she went nearly three years ago to study painting. She is now first assistant in an Art School, and is likely to remain in France for some time. Edward's many friends here will be glad to hear that he is a prominent citizen of the Windy City.

J. M. Lassing went to Louisville, last week, to look after the interest of the local stockholders of the Commercial Building Trust. He reports that the affairs of the company are very much tangled, and the different classes of stock are antagonizing eachother, so that on the whole the prospects for speedy returns and fat dividends are not at all flattering. The court has rendered no opinion in the case, determining the rights of the different stockholders, and no dividends will likely be declared under twelve months, if then.

A great many quails have been killed this fall. The hunters say that they have been for many years.

The grass has been growing some the last two or three weeks, but will not be of much value to the farmers this winter.

Good weather for ducks and geese.

Go to J. S. Clutterbuck's and get your oysters for your Thanksgiving dinner.

One morning, last week, Mrs. James T. Grant, of Bullittsville, slipped on a wet place on her porch and fell, breaking one of her arms.

You can't do better than at Ira Aylor's, Erlanger, when it comes to providing delicacies for a Thanksgiving dinner. Bear this in mind.

Bro. Kennedy, of Rising Sun, will preach a sermon on Odd-Fellowship at the Bellevue Christian church at 3 o'clock p. m. on the fourth Sunday in this month.

John Sebree, of Petersburg, has about 35 acres of good grass with plenty of water, and will pasture young cattle very cheap, viz: 2 year-olds, 75 cents per head if 15 or 20 head are furnished.

A few days ago a man by the name of Baker and his son, were hunting back of Rising Sun, and Baker was walking backwards, trying to locate a squirrel up in a tree, when his heel caught on something, throwing him backward, his gun exploding, tearing the entire top of his head off.

The Court of Appeals has reversed the judgment of the Boone Circuit Court in the case of Short vs Moore. This case is known as the South Fork Church case, and was pending several terms in the lower court. Quite a number of parties were interested in the case, but not having seen the opinion we can't say who has the best of it.

Colored bird's eye view of Chattanooga, Mission Ridge, Waldon's Ridge and portions of the Chickamauga field as seen from the summit of the Lookout Mountain. Highest style of lithographer's art. On fine paper, plate 10x24. Mailed for 10 cents in stamps.
W. C. RINEARSON, Gen'l Pass'r Agt.
Q. & C. Route, Cincinnati, O.

Our friend James Hogan, is preparing a surprise for the people of Burlington as well as for his numerous friends throughout the county. He has purchased a "bike" and has constructed a track in his cellar, where he is practicing riding, and expects to come forth in the spring an accomplished wheelman. It is now thought that A. O. Hall, F. Riddell, Geo. Hughes and Cy Crisler will each buy a wheel in the spring.

Boone county dealers sold tobacco in Cincinnati, last week; J. W. Kennedy, 5 hhds—average $11,65; O. W. Adams, 6 hhds.—average $11,50; J. G. Kennedy, 13 hhds.—average $14,75; G. W. Roberts, 8 hhds.—average $13,81; H. Long, 5 hhds. new—average $12,02, and 2 hhds. old—average $11,25. The Western Tobacco Journal advises the country buyers to be conservative in their purchases until the new crop is in a condition to be examined and its quality ascertained.

The time-tried, fire-teste, middle-of-the road Republicans do not consider a fellow whose vote for McKinley, last fall, was the first one he ever landed in the Republican column, entitles him to any consideration when he applies for a federal appointment. They want him to prolong his stay with the party that they may see that his coat as now worn will maintain its present pretended color. There are enough regulars in the ranks to fill all the offices, say they, and new comers should not be too fresh.

We are in receipt of "The Cochran Family Herald," published at Nashville, Tennessee, last September. It contains the proceedings of the seventh annual session of the Cochran family reunion at the residence of J. T. Haley, in Nashville, together with good pictures of the late Wm. Cochran, Mrs. Wm. Cochran, Dr. R. W. Cochran, Mrs. Nannie Corbin, Geo. W. Brown, Mr. and Mrs. James T. Haley, besides those of other persons with whom we never met. The Herald is gotten up in handsome style, and Jas. T. Haley being its editor is a guarauty that its contents are spicy, and well-written.

Ryle-Stephens.

Claud, son of W. J. Ryle, and Miss Octavia Stephens, daughter of Thomas J. Stephens, were married at the residence of the bride's parents, near Hathaway, at 2 p. m., last Thursday, Rev. Samuel Adams, officiating.

The bride looked handsome in a tan-colored cloth costume trimmed in blue, while the groom was attired in the regulation suit of black.

The marriage occurred in the presence of the immediate relatives of the bride and groom, which constituted quite a large crowd of guests. Immediately after the ceremony and congratulations all present were invited to the dining room, where an abundant wedding feast was discussed. That evening the young people from far and near came in and the event was celebrated in a most delightful manner, and not until midnight did the many friends of the happy couple take their departure, leaving with the bride and groom their best wishes for a prosperous and useful journey through life.

The bride has been the RECORDER'S Hathaway correspondent for a long time, and it joins her many friends in their congratulations.

W. M. RACHAL & CO.,

OUR SHORT STORY.

--Some Good Talkers.--

CANTON FLANNLL per yard,.....5 Cents
BLEACHED COTTON per yard,.....5 "
40 in. All WOOL FLANNEL SKIRTS,.....75 "
Ladies Fine Shoes, per pair,.....75 "

We have a full line of

WINTER GOODS

At prices of which the above are a sample.

UNION, KENTUCKY.

WE have just received a large line of Canned Goods before the rise: Also a full line of

GROCERIES

—Of all kinds, all go at the Lowest CASH Prices.—

FOR THIS WEEK

25 lbs. Coffee "A" Sugar, - - - - $1.00
Lion Coffee, per pound, - - - - - 11c

UNION, - - - - KENTUCKY.

What it Will Do.

FALMOUTH, KY. July 7, 1896.
Dr. J. T. Boulton, Cincinnati, O.
Dear Sir—I was taken with a severe cough the first of May; for two weeks I could not lie on my left side nor breathe through my left lung. I also had hemorrhage and my friends said I had consumption. I began taking Boulton's Cough Remedy and began to improve with the first dose, and within three weeks was entirely well. I can not say enough in favor of Boulton's Cough Remedy. Respectfully,
MRS. R. J. MARSHALL.
For sale by all druggists. Price, 25c. and $1 per bottle.

NOTICE.

All persons holding claims against Ezra W. Rouse, dec'd. are hereby notified that they must present them to me, at once proven as by law required, and those owing same will please come forward and settle at once.
Mrs. EMMA ROUSE, Ex'tx.
Lassing & Riddell, Attys.

Order of Reference.

In the Circuit Court.
Jordan Beemon's Admr. Plff.
vs
Jordan Beemon's heirs &c. Defts.

This cause is now referred to J. B. Berkshire, Master Commissioner of this court, under Section 431 Civil Code of practice, with the following instructions:

1. He will audit and settle the accounts of the administrator.

2. He will hear proof on and report the debts against the estate and how secured if at all.

3. He will hear proof, ascertain and determine what real estate decedent owned at the time of his death, where located and the probable value thereof.

4. He will give due notice of the time and place of his sittings by written or printed notices posted up at the Court House door in Burlington, Ky., five days preceding his sittings and also publish said notices in the Boone Co., Recorder. He will report at the next term of this court.

Given under my hand as clerk of said court, this October 8th, 1897.
J. W. DUNCAN, Clerk.

The undersigned hereby gives notice that he will begin his sittings on the 1st day of November, 1897, at the Circuit Clerk's office in Burlington, Ky., to hear proof in the above styled cause and will adjourn from day to day (Sunday excepted) to the 1st day of Dec., 1897. All persons having claims against Jordan Beemon's estate will present them to me properly proven as by law required.
J. B. BERKSHIRE, Master Com.

COMMISSIONER'S NOTICE.

Boone Circuit Court, Ky.
S. Baldon's Adm'r Plff.
vs } Equity
Parthena Baldon, &c., Defts.

Notice is hereby given that I will begin my sittings at the Circuit Clerk's office in Burlington, Ky., on the 6th day of Nov, 1897, to hear proof of claims, under the order of refereuce in the above styled cause and will adjourn from day to day (Sunday excepted) to the 6tirday of Dec, 1897. All persons having claims against S. Baldon's estate will present them to me proven as by law required.
J. B. BERKSHIRE, M. C. B. C. C.
S. Gaines, Attorney.

Commissioner's Sale.

Boone Circuit Court, Ky.
J. R. Clutterbuck's Assignee, Plff.
vs } equity.
J. R. Clutterbuck, &c., Defts.

By virtue of a Judgment and order of Sale of the Boone Circuit Court, rendered at the April term thereof, 1897, in the above cause, I shall proceed to offer for sale at the Court-House door in Burlington, Boone County, Ky., to the highest bidder, at Public Sale on Monday the 6th day of December 1897, at one o'clock p. m., or thereabout, being County Court day, for cash, the following described property, to-wit:

Consisting of some notes, judgments and delinquent tax lists held by J. R. Clutterbuck at time of assignment, from 1885 to 1888. I will sell the tax list by districts as follows: Bellevue district, $74; Petersburg dist, $128,10; Verona dist., $230,55; Carlton district, $169,05; Hamilton dist., $283,80; Burlington dist., $24,90; Walton district, $211,20; Beaver Lick dist., $92,50; Florence dist., $255,20; Taylorsport district, $147,20; Union district, $115,20. Persons wishing to see said claims can do so by calling at Circuit Clerk's office.

Also the following judgments in favor of J. R. Clutterbuck rendered in magistrates court at Walton, Ky.,—S. L. Boyer, $15; Wm. Ingram, $7,50; Calvin Rice (col.) $11,50; John Soden, $6,25; Albertus Boyer, $15; Lewis Crutchfield, $5; T. F. Chambers, $6,75; John Poston (col.) $5; Frank Smith, $7,50; Thos. Hoard, $12,50; J. O. Stone, $15; John Maning, $10,50.

Also note on Geo, J. Clutterbuck, for $140,00, dated June 2d, 1891, payable sixty days thereafter—credit Aug. 28, 1891, $39,50.

Note on T. J. Coyle for $16,25, dated April 25th, 1891, due in four months thereafter.

J. B. BERKSHIRE,
Master Commissioner.

W. E. CHAMBERLAIN,

DEALER IN UP TO DATE

FURNITURE,

HOUSEHOLD FURNISHINGS, ETC.,

HIGH STREET,

Lawrenceburg, - Indiana.

—HAUCK BUILDING.—

☞Stylish and Durable Oak BED ROOM SUITS,

☞All-Oak SIDE BOARDS, As Handsome as the Finest.

☞INGRAIN CARPETS,

☞BRUSSELS CARPETS.

W. E. CHAMBERLAIN,

LAWRENCEBURG, INDIANA.

When in Burlington Call on

J. S. CLUTTERBUCK

●DEALER IN●

DRY GOODS

Notions, Boots and Shoes,

HAY, CORN AND MILL FEED,

☞At Prices to Suit the times.☜

FRESH - MEATS - ALWAYS - ON - HAND.

J. S. CLUTTERBUCK, Burlington, Ky.

Buy COFFEE and TEA of the J. L. BILL COFFEE & TEA CO., a Ticket ☞given with every 25c purchase and handsome presents given away.☜

The J. L. BILL

Coffee and Tea Co.

THE BEST BRANDS OF FLOUR.

12 W. Seventh & S. E. Cor. Sixth & Bakewell,

COVINGTON, KY.

WM. F. NEAD, Salesman.

FARMERS

Make the most of your crops, buy the best Wind-mill outfit made—The AERMOTOR—ahundance of power wasting right over your heads, grasp the opportunity—Grind and Cut your own Feed and that of your neighbors—feed economically.

THE AERMOTOR

will bear close inspection and is guaranteed to work right. They are Cheap. Come and see it work and he convinced.

Also remember we are still in the ring with a complete line

OF GENERAL MERCHANDISE

and can sell Goods just as cheap as anyone. Highest market Prices paid for COUNTRY PRODUCE or anything salable. Come and see

OUR : STOCK,

It Speaks for Itself.

Don't forget that "LaBELLE" HERD

Of Chester White Hogs

Is ready to supply Choice Stock at Reasonable Prices.

T. J. HUGHES, - BEAVER LICK, KY.

TAKE YOUR OWN COUNTY PAPER.

THE RECORDER

W. L. RIDDELL, Pub'r. KY.

EURLINGTON.

CURRENT TOPICS.

OUR railroads employ 827,000 men.

ALUMINUM wall paper is announced.

THE Caymans in the West Indies export nothing but turtles.

IOWA pack peddlers have organized to fight the law which fixes their license at $25.

A NATIONAL convention of stock growers has been called for Denver, Col., January 25 to 27.

THE stork has been quite regular in its visits at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Cleveland—1891, 1893, 1895, 1897.

A COMPLETE electric plowing plant has been installed on an estate in France, in the department of the Tarn.

GREAT BRITAIN has 180,000 miles of roads, which cost £90,000,000, and 6,000 miles of streets, which cost £50,000,000.

THE supreme court of Arkansas has decided that a husband is liable for the debts of a wife contracted before marriage.

THE queen of England reigns over one continent, 100 peninsulas, 500 promontories, 1,000 lakes, 2,000 rivers and 10,000 islands.

IT is said that 55,000 persons will directly and indirectly draw pay from the first city administration of Greater New York.

BICYCLES of American manufacture are found everywhere in Germany and an effort is being made to increase the tariff so as to protect the German manufacturer.

THE most remarkable knife in the world is that in the curiosity room of a firm of cutlers in Sheffield. It has 1,890 blades, and ten blades are added every ten years.

THE archbishop of Canterbury, though a zealous teetotaler, always allows his delicate guests a glass of wine. He preaches each year over 100 sermons in favor of temperance.

THERE is a tribe in Central Africa among whom speakers in public debates are required to stand on one leg while speaking, and to speak only as long as they can so stand.

THE meteorite which Lieut. Peary has brought home with him from Cape York was found in 1818 by Sir John Ross, and has been known to Arctic explorers for many years.

IT WILL surprise some people to know that during the busiest time on the Atlantic cable, between 10 and 12 o'clock in the forenoon, an average of 900 messages pass each way every day.

ANY human being who will have the presence of mind to clasp the hands behind the back and turn the face toward the zenith, may float at ease and in perfect safety in tolerably still water.

IN the good old times when oil was used in lighthouses a 6,000 candle-power lamp was considered immense. The latest electric lighthouse built in France (Ileve, at Havre) will have the power of 2,500,000 candles.

THE czar of Russia and the king of Siam are old friends. They met in Darmstadt a few days ago, where the czar has been staying on a brief visit, the king having reached the neighboring resort of Baden Baden.

MANY of the barbers of Ohio are agitating the passage of a bill at the coming session of the legislature compelling barbers to serve an apprenticeship of two years. The bill is designed to close up cheap barber shops.

THE king of Siam has an income of about $2,000,000 a year. His royal palace is populated by about 5,000 people, and is a little city in itself. The ornamental grounds comprise 25 acres, and are surrounded by a wall 12 feet high.

THE munching of peanuts is not confined to the gods of the gallery. Judge Reid, of the Atlantic City court, has recently found it necessary to issue an order prohibiting attorneys from eating the nuts while the court is in session.

THE modern automatic machine for distributing scent is absolutely identical with an apparatus used by the priests of Egypt for distributing the sacred water at the doors of the temples, and described by Hero more than 3,000 years ago.

AN anti-convict labor bill, advocated by the Chicago federation of labor, provides that convicts shall be employed only in manufacturing articles for state institutions, and is for the purpose of stopping the manufacturing of boots and shoes in the penitentiary.

CABLE termites are very destructive insects. The French cable at Tonkin, a few months after it was laid, began to show signs of decay. On examining the cavities in the old cable, Prof. Bouvier, of the Paris academy of science, discovered that they had been made by a new termite.

THE largest waves are seen off Cape Horn, rising to 40 feet in height and 765 feet long from crest to crest. Waves in the North Atlantic have been observed to rise 43 feet in height. In the German ocean their height does not exceed 13½ feet and in the Mediterranean 14½ feet.

OOM PAUL KRUGER has just received at Pretoria from England a state coach with silver spread eagles dotted all over the panels and roof, a gorgeous hammercloth, coat-of-arms emblazoned on the doors and back, and other features of a splendor commonly unknown among the Boers.

AN Indiana professor, who took out a $3,500 insurance policy in 1850, received an offer from the company 20 years ago to cash the policy for $2,500, or pay him an annuity of $410. He elected to take the annuity, and now at the age of 90, has drawn from the company more than $8,000.

THERE is a perfectly new fad, and it emanates from London. Beautifully arched eyebrows have always been considered a mark of beauty, but it is the latest fad to have the eyebrows trimmed in a pointed arch, even exaggerating the Japanese style. It is called the "Curzon eyebrow," named for a famous beauty of Great Britain.

RESCUE

Whaling Fleet in Behring Sea—The Bear Will Be Provisioned and Sent North at Once.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 11.—Secretary Long and Capt. Shoemaker had another conference with the president Wednesday concerning the ice bound whaling fleet in Behring sea. Further information from San Francisco had been received which made it expedient to send the whaling ship Thrasher to the rescue, and it has now been determined to send the Bear. Revenue marine officers have reported that the Thrasher is not as serviceable as desired, and besides would cost $400 a day and might be gone 200 days or more, incurring an expense which the department would not be willing to assume. The Bear will be immediately provisioned and sent to the nearest point that can be reached, and the provisions will be transported over the ice by reindeer or dogs as seems most feasible.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 10.—Director Curtiss, of the Iowa experimental station, has submitted to Secretary of Agriculture Wilson a comparative report on English and "American lard" hogs, embracing the results of tests to determine the best food and the prices received for each breed. The report states that the market discrimination between the breeds is very slight, only ten cents a hundred pounds in favor of the Tamworths and Berkshires, the English breeds. They sold for $3.80 per hundred, while all others brought $3.70. All the breeds of hogs tested made pork at substantially the same price for raising, feeding, etc., about two cents per pound. Secretary Wilson says while the demand abroad may be greater for the bacon hogs than for the other the demand for lard hogs is as great here as ever.

The president Wednesday made the following appointments:

Chas. W. Kindrick, of Louisiana, to be consul general of the United States at Monterey, Mex.

Archibald A. Young, surveyor of customs for the port of Indianapolis, Ind.

John H. Dawson, special examiner of drugs, medicines and chemicals, in the district of San Francisco.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 11.—The secretary of the treasury Wednesday received from the National City Bank of New York $9,600,000 in United States bonds as security for a part of the Union Pacific purchase money to be deposited with it and other New York banks with a view to preventing a contraction of the circulation by reason of the withdrawal by the re-organization committee of the amount of their bid for the Union Pacific road. The National Bank of the Republic also has deposited $800,000 in bonds for the same purpose. The transfer of the $13,645,250 in bonds in the Union Pacific sinking fund will entail upon Secretary Gage considerable labor, as he will be obliged to sign his name 9,348 times, a duty that will occupy all of his time not otherwise taken up for a week or more.

LEADING PLANTS

In the Insulated Electric Wire Trade to Combine.

NEW YORK, Nov. 11.—The Herald Thursday says: One of the biggest combinations in the country is being quietly organized and is expected to be formally announced within a few days. It is an alliance of the companies engaged in manufacturing insulated wires and cables for electric purposes.

The magnitude of the combination is realized when it is stated that more than $1,500,000,000 has gone into electric railways and perhaps two-thirds of this amount into electric lighting during the past ten years and both of these industries require the outlay of millions of dollars in insulated wires and cables.

The present arrangement is to consolidate the interests of 15 to 20 of the leading plants, establishing a single company.

Several of the prime movers in the new enterprises are the General Electric Co., New York Insulated Wire Co., American Electric works, Safety Insulation and Cable Co., Okonite Co., Kerite and Habirshaw factories.

Claimed to Be 124 Years Old.

SPRINGFIELD, Mass., Nov. 11.—Mrs. Margaret Bonghan, the oldest person in this section and probably in the state, died at her home in Chicopee Falls Tuesday. She was born in Ireland and claimed to be 124 years of age. Her husband corroborated her story and says that he discovered in the parish records of her birthplace that she was born in 1773.

A Military Commander Removed.

HAVANA, via Key West, Nov. 11.—Marshal Blanco has removed from his command the local military commander Algibara, province of Santiago de Cuba, for allowing a demonstration in honor of Lieut. Gen. Weyler, when he went on shore there a few days ago from the steamer Montserrat, which had put into Cibara, owing to a mishap in her machinery.

Priest Murdered and Robbed.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 11.—Henry J. McPake, curate of the Roman Catholic church of the Annunciation, this city, was found murdered in the rear of St. Paul's cathedral among piles of rubbish at 5 o'clock Wednesday morning. The priest's watch and pocketbook were gone. His pockets contained only 6 cents. The police decline to talk about the matter.

Free Milling Gold Ore.

DEADWOOD, S. D., Nov. 11.—At a depth of 150 feet in the new workings of the Hawk Eye mine, situated at Plum Gulch, two miles from Deadwood, a body of free milling gold ore was struck Wednesday afternoon, which showed an assay value of $1,986 in gold per ton.

Only Seven New Cases at New Orleans.

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 11.—Board of health report: Cases of yellow fever Wednesday, 7; deaths Wednesday, 4. Total cases to date, 1,771; deaths to date, 361; total recovered, 1,047; under treatment 473.

CUBAN FIELDS

Covered by the Dead Bodies of People Who Have Starved.

Cubans Take Their Own Lives While Suffering From the Want of Food—Others Drop in the Streets and Roads and Thus Perish Miserably.

NEW YORK, Nov. 12.—The Sun correspondent in Cuba writes his paper under date of November 6 that up to that time 150,000 persons had died of hunger in Cuba. This statement is based on reports received from all over the island, and he claims it is in no way exaggerated.

He gives quotations from the press describing the pitiable condition all over the island. They tell of large families decimated by famine and of people taking their own lies while suffering from the pangs of hunger. People drop in the streets and roads and perish miserably. Children have been the greatest sufferers.

In the town of Santo Domingo, Santa Clara province, an average of 50 persons are dying every day. The town originally had only a population of 4,500. Most of the dead there remain unburied, the bodies being thrown out in the open country.

The change from Weyler to Blanco has as yet brought no relief, and it probably will bring none, as Gen. Blanco, however praiseworthy his intentions, has no means of remedying the desperate condition of things that Weyler left on the island.

THEODORE DURRANT

Granted Another Stay at the Eleventh Hour by the Supreme Court of California.

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., Nov. 12.—William Hoy Theodore Durrant will not be hanged at San Quentin Friday. After all the supreme court of this state has granted him another respite from the death hour. Up to four o'clock Thursday afternoon when the news flashed over the wires to Sacramento that the attorney general's decision there had been granted a writ of pubah ense and instructed Warde, Hare not to carry out the execution of Durrant until further orders, there was apparently no further hope for the condemned murderer of Blanche Lamont and Minnie Williams, as his attorneys, Messrs. Dickinson and Boardman had made a futile effort to secure another writ of habeas corpus in the United States court and had not even been granted permission to appeal from that decision to the supreme court of the United States.

Meanwhile, however, Attorney Dunprey hastened to Sacramento and applied to the state supreme court for a writ of probable cause, for the purpose of staying the proceedings against his client upon the grounds that no official knowledge of the action of the supreme court of the United States in the matter of Durrant's appealing from the decision of the federal court had yet been received; that the superior court had acted too hastily in sentencing Durrant to be hanged Friday, as the law required that he be given at least 60 days grace; and thirdly, that the pendency of an appeal in the supreme court affecting the condemned was of itself sufficient cause for a stay of execution. The matter was partially argued in chambers and later argued before the full court and taken under advisement. Shortly afterward the court announced its decision, granting the writ applied for, in which all the justices concurred.

THORN MURDER TRIAL

May Be Discontinued for an Indefinite Period Owing to the Serious Illness of One of the Jury.

NEW YORK, Nov. 12.—The trial of Martin Thorn which has been in progress the last three days in the Queen's county court of Oyer and Terminer at Long Island City, may be discontinued for an indefinite period owing to the illness of juror Mangus Larsen. When court adjourned Wednesday until 9:30 Thursday morning, the doctors who examined the juror thought that he was only suffering from a slight stomach trouble and would be able to attend court Thursday.

Judge Smith opened court a few minutes later, and District Attorney Youngs informed him of the serious condition of the juror Larsen, and with the consent of the lawyers on both sides, Judge Smith adjourned the court until 9:30 Friday.

The jury was discharged Friday morning and a new trial ordered.

EVERY BLAST FURNACE

In Allegheny County, Pennsylvania, in Operation With an Output of 10,000 Tons Daily.

PITTSBURGH, Pa., Nov. 12.—For the first time in over three years every blast furnace in Allegheny county is in operation. In addition to this more furnaces are in operation here than ever before for the past summer saw four new plants completed and placed in active work. The starting of furnace "F," of the Carnegie Steel Co., Wednesday completed the list of active furnaces in this county and now all are in full blast. Furnace "F" was blown out about two months ago. There are 30 iron furnaces in this county now and all are running, making from two to three blasts every 24 hours. The daily output of smelted iron in this county now is approximately 10,000 tons. There have never been more than 26 furnaces in blast here before, but the Carnegies have lately built four new plants.

Ex-State Treasurer Bartley's Shortage.

LINCOLN, Neb., Nov. 12.—Otto W. Helbig, the expert who has been engaged for several months in examining the books and accounts of ex-State Treasurer Bartley Thursday submitted his report to the legislative investigating committee showing Bartley's shortage to be $870,000. The amount of the defalcation has been variously estimated at from $700,000 to $1,000,000. Bartley is now in Douglas county jail, under a 20-year sentence in the penitentiary. An appeal has been taken to the supreme court and argument on a motion for a new trial will soon be made.

SOVEREIGN OUT.

General Master Workman of the Knights of Labor Dropped, Together With Foreman McGuire and Two Executive Committeemen.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Nov. 13.—James R. Sovereign, who has been general master workman of the Knights of Labor for the past four years or more and who, before and during that time has been one of the ablest champions of the order and its doctrines, was, Friday afternoon, relieved of his office by the general assembly which has been in session in this city since Monday last. Under ordinary conditions Mr. Sovereign's term of office would not expire until the next meeting. This, however, it is said, makes no differences with the order whose general officers during a meeting are always in the hands of assembly and can be chosen and deposed at the will of the majority. Along with Mr. Sovereign there were three other officers retired because of their special election, viz.: T. B. McGuire, general worthy foreman, of Amsterdam, N. Y., and Daniel Brown, of Montana, and H. B. Martin, of Minnesota, members of the executive committee.

Henry A. Hicks, of New York District 253, New York city, was chosen to fill Mr. Sovereign's place and I. D. Chamberlain, of Pueblo, Col., was selected as general worthy foreman. Sarsfield Fitzpatrick, of Montreal, and Henry Bostock, of Assembly 300, Glass Workers, were chosen as the two members of the executive board, the third member being Andrew D. Best.

This very decided change in the corps of general officers of the Knights of Labor will cause considerable astonishment in labor circles throughout the country. Save to those who were on the "inside" so to speak for the past three months there was absolutely nothing of this known. It is said, though the change was sudden and totally unlooked for, it was done with the amicable consent of all. In some quarters it is hinted that it had been prearranged before the delegates gathered in this city for the general assembly. On good authority it is learned that it was with Mr. Sovereign's most hearty approval that he steps down and out. It is likewise with the appreciation, and in fact love, of his brethren of the order that this is done. The same holds good with the other officers who were relieved. Mr. Sovereign stated Friday night that he wished retirement. He wanted rest from the labor which the office entailed upon him.

MINISTER WOODFORD

Has a Cordial Interview With the Spanish Minister of the Colonies.

MADRID, Nov. 12.—United States Minister Woodford had a cordial interview Friday with Senior Moret, minister of the colonies, and it is believed that he assured Senior Moret that the United States government is satisfied with the measures taken thus far by Marshal Blanco.

The government has received, for the queen regent, the cabled request of the union constitutional party in Cuba that her majesty would decline to sign the decrees establishing autonomy in the island, but the request will be ignored, and the action of the party is regarded as unimportant if the government decides to carry out its programme loyally and sincerely.

A dispatch received Friday from Gen. Primo de Rivera, the governor general of the Phillipines, now in the island of Luzon, says that the native batallions are most efficient; and that it is needless to send European reinforcements.

The Floods in Spain.

MADRID, Nov. 13.—Further details regarding the floods in various parts of Spain, notably in the provinces of Saragosa, Valencia and Malaga, where railroad traffic and telegraphic communication have been seriously interfered with, show that 15 corpses have already been recovered. In the neighborhood of Valencia enormous numbers of cattle have perished, and the villages of Grao and Nazareth have been completely inundated. Many of the houses of these places have collapsed.

The Last Fever Bulletin.

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 13.—The following is the last daily official bulletin that will be issued this season by the board of health concerning the status of affairs in New Orleans as regards yellow fever: Cases of yellow fever Friday, 7; deaths Friday, 2; total cases of yellow fever to date, 1,790; total deaths from yellow fever to date, 259; cases absolutely recovered, 1,110; total cases under treatment, 421.

Shipping Water Pipes to Aukland.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 13.—One of the most important business transactions in shipping circles that has occurred recently is the chartering of the American bark Mary Hasbrouck, Capt. Lidwig, now at New York, to come to Philadelphia and load a full cargo of water pipe for Aukland, New Zealand. This is the first exportation of the kind from Philadelphia and other shipments are expected to follow.

Mayor Warwick Signs Gas Works Bill.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 13.—Mayor Warwick Friday afternoon signed the bill recently passed by councils leasing the city gas works to the United Gas Improvement Co. The terms of the lease are that the United Gas Improvement Co. is to pay a rental of $1,000,000 a year for 30 years, and to spend $5,000,000 on the improvement of the gas works. The value of the plant is estimated at $30,000,000.

Not a Competent Prosecuting Witness.

ST LOUIS, Mo., Nov. 13.—In the United States circuit court Judge B. Adams has caused some surprise by sustaining a demurrer to an indictment charging "Prof." I. C. Fay, a medium of this city, with using the mails to defraud. The evidence against Fay was conclusive, but he was discharged by Judge Adams, who held that any man who was so mentally dwarfed as to be swindled by representations such as "Prof." Fay made, should not be a competent prosecuting witness in the criminal prosecution of the man who made them.

THREE LYNCHED.

Indians Taken From the Williamsport, N. D., Jail by a Mob of Forty

And Hanged to a Reef Windlass in the Immediate Vicinity—Their Bodies Were Left Swinging in the Breeze, No One Volunteering to Cut Them Down.

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., Nov. 15.—A special to the Tribune from Bismarck, N. D., says:

Alex Coudot, Indian half-breed, Paul Holytrack and Philip Ireland, full-blooded Indians, the first of whom was sentenced to death for the murder of six members of the Spicer family last February, and had just been granted a new trial by the supreme court, and the latter two self-confessed accessories in the murder, were taken from the county jail in Emmons county Saturday night and lynched by a mob. The lynching had been apparently coolly planned and was carried out without a break in the programme. Sudden and swift retribution was meted out by the mob to the murderers. Williamsport, where the hanging took place, is about forty miles from this city and off the railroad. The news of the hanging was received here Sunday afternoon when a mounted messenger arrived, his horse in a foam from a swift ride, and announced that the three men had been lynched. The sheriff of the county, Peter Sluer, was in this city at the time the hanging occurred, and it was to him that the messenger rode in such hot haste. The men had been under the custody of Deputy Sheriff Tom Kelley and they were taken from under his control by the mob and hanged to a beef windlass several hundred yards from the jail where their bodies were still swinging to the breeze during the entire day, the coroner not having yet arrived and no one else volunteering to cut them down. There were about 40 men concerned in the lynching. They rode into Williamsport on horseback late at night and tethered their horses a short distance from the city that they might secure them again as speedily as necessary after the deed was done. The jail in which the prisoners were confined is a substantial stone structure and was in charge of Deputy Sheriff Thomas Kelley. Since the confinement of the prisoners therein no great has been the fear that they might escape in some way that one man has watched all night within the jail.

ANNUAL REPORT

Of Postmaster General James A. Gary to the President.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 15.—The first annual report of Postmaster General James A. Gary, to the president was made public Sunday night. Its feature is the strong advocacy of postal savings depositories, a scheme over which Postmaster General Gary has worked for many months in the formulation of plans to present to the president and congress. He says the time is ripe for their establishment and that the adoption of a well-organized system would confer a great boon upon a large number of people and ultimately be of inestimable benefit to the whole country. The estimates of the revenues and expenditures for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1899, are: Total postal revenue for 1897, $82,665,462.73; add five per cent., $4,133,273.14. Estimated revenue for 1898, $86,798,735.86; add seven per cent. $6,075,911.51. Total estimated revenue for 1899, $92,874,647.37; estimated expenditures for 1899, $98,922,760; deficiency for 1899 estimated at $6,048,-112.63.

"The increase of the postal deficit for 1897 is largely a reflex of the depressed business conditions which prevailed all over the United States during the first three-fourths of that period. There has been no extravagance of expenditure, save that obligated by law. Reiterating the injustice inflicted both upon the postal revenues and the people by second-class mail matter carriage regulations, the enactment by congress of some measure to remedy the wrong, similarly pointed out by past postmaster generals, is urged."

GROVER CLEVELAND

Does Not Regret Signing the Petition for a Liquor License for the Princeton Inn.

CHICAGO, Nov. 15.—The Times-Herald Saturday morning prints the following:

PRINCETON, N. J., Nov. 12.—The Editor: I do not care if all the Synods and Presbyteries in the country were to offer an adverse decision it would be no good reason why I should alter my opinion. I am very sorry that Dr. Shields has been bothered over this matter, as he is an old and very dear friend of mine. Otherwise the action of the Presbytery does not affect me in the least. When I signed the petition for the liquor license for the Princeton Inn I in no sense committed a wrong, and if the same proposition came up for my consideration again I would do the same thing. GROVER CLEVELAND.

To Suppress Rowdyism.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 15.—The National Baseball league Saturday adopted the double umpire system and also adopted a resolution presented by Mr. Brush of Cincinnati, having for its object the suppression of rowdyism on the part of players. For indecent or foul language on the field any player found guilty of this offense after a full hearing will be expelled from the game forever, and shall not be eligible to reinstatement.

Gen. Lee in Havana.

HAVANA, Nov. 15.—Consul General Fitzhugh Lee and Walter B. Barker, United States consul at Sagua La Grande, arrived Sunday afternoon on the Ward line steamer Seguranca. They were welcomed by the consular of this city and a large company of friends.

Death of Dr. Harrison Allen.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 15.—Harrison Allen, M. D., emeritus professor of comparative anatomy in the medical school of the University of Pennsylvania, died suddenly Sunday of what is believed to have been heart disease.

Reindeer in Alaska.

Dr. Sheldon Jackson, for 20 years a traveler in Alaska, says the government's experiment of importing reindeer from Siberia is a success, and that the problem of winter traveling in the interior is practically solved. Three hundred miles per day can be made over the snow with relays at reasonable intervals and best of all the reindeer will rustle his own food.

The best map of the Yukon-Klondike mining country has been printed in folder form by the Northern Pacific Ry. Send a 2-cent postage stamp to Chas. S. Fee, G. P. A., St. Paul, Minn. The folder is full of up-to-date information regarding rates and routes to Alaska.

It's Different Thea.

"I saw him with his arm around you." "Sir!"

"In the waltz, you know."

"Oh!"—Chicago Post.

Try Grain-O! Try Grain-O!

Ask your grocer to-day to show you a package of GRAIN-O, the new food drink that takes the place of coffee. The children may drink it without injury as well as the adult. All who try it like it. GRAIN-O has that rich seal brown of Mocha or Java but it is made from pure grains, and the most delicate stomachs receive it without distress. 14 the price of coffee. 15c and 25 cts. per package. Sold by all grocers.

Explaining It.—"I presume the reason why the chainless bicycle isn't as well known as the other kind," remarked Rivers, "is that it always travels in cog."—Chicago Tribune.

Surprised? Why? A very bad sprain Cured by St. Jacobs Oil. A sure result.

A large head may be as empty as a last year's bird's nest.—Ram's Horn.

Gone surely when St. Jacobs Oil cures A bruise. Leaves no sign.

What the fox lacks in legs, he has to make up in cunning.—Ram's Horn.

Like rubber are the muscles after St. Jacobs Oil cures soreness and stiffness.

A cat's heaven would have to be full of mice.—Ram's Horn.

Ringing Noises

Troubled for Years With Catarrh, but Now Entirely Cured.

"I was troubled for years with catarrh, which caused ringing noises in my ears and pains in the back of my head. I was advised to take Hood's Sarsaparilla. I did so and a few bottles entirely cured me."
HENRY MCKIRDYHER, Laporte, Iowa.

Hood's Sarsaparilla

Is the best—in fact the One True Blood Purifier

Hood's Pills cure indigestion, biliousness.

TRUTHFUL LADIES

SPEAK OUT

Mrs. Mary E. Crocker

Pocahontas, Tenn., writes: I have used Dr. M. A. Simmons Liver Medicine 15 years. It cured me of Palpitation of the Heart, Sick Headache and Female Trouble. My husband uses it for Biliousness and Malarial disorders. In this section it is as staple as Meat and Bread. We think it much Superior to L. H. Zeilin's Liver Medicine.

Mrs. M. L. Johnson

Jenifer, Ala., writes: I have used Dr. M. A. Simmons Liver Medicine 20 years. It cured J. M. Clark of Sick Headache, and M. L. Powell of Weakness and Tired Feeling. Have used "Black Draught" and Zeilin's Regulator, but find the Dr. M. A. Simmons to be the best Medicine.

Mrs. M. A. Harkins

Lono, Ark., writes: Have used Dr. M. A. Simmons Liver Medicine 20 years for Sick Headache, and cannot speak too highly of it. Have used Zeilin's Liver Regulator, also "Black Draught," but found both very inferior.

Miss P. Catter

Cobden, Ill., writes: For Liver and Female Troubles nothing except Dr. M. A. Simmons Liver Medicine did me any good. "Black Draught" did me no good.

There is a Class of People

Who are injured by the use of coffee. Recently there has been placed in all the grocery stores a new preparation called GRAIN-O, made of pure grains, that takes the place of coffee.

The most delicate stomach receives it without distress, and but few can tell it from coffee.

It does not cost over ¼ as much. Children may drink it with great benefit. 15 cents and 25 cents per package. Try it. Ask for GRAIN-O.

Try Grain-O!

Insist that your grocer gives you GRAIN-O Accept no imitation.

Why have more

ESTEY

Organs be sold than any other kind? Because, although higher in price, the Estey gives far better value than any other.

Write for Illustrated Catalogue with prices, to Estey Organ Company, Brattleboro, Vt.

THE CURSE OF MANKIND.

Some People Will Not Stop Expending Their Energy.

They Say They Will Soon Reach Their Ideal, But Very Few Ever Quit Work in Time—Dr. Talmage Uses Pomology for an Interesting Sermon.

Dr. Talmage took for his text last Sunday: Genesis i., ii.: "The fruit tree yielding fruit after his kind."

It is Wednesday morning in Paradise. The birds did not sing their opening piece, nor the fish take their first swim until the following Friday. The solar and lunar lights did not break through the thick chaotic fog of the world's manufacture until Thursday. Before that there was light, but is was electric light or phosphorescent light, not the light of sun or moon. But the botanical and pomological productions came on Wednesday—first the flowers, and then the fruits. The veil of fog is lifted, and there stand the orchards. Watch the sudden maturity of the fruit! In our time pear trees must have two years before they bear fruit, and peach trees three years and apple trees five years; but here, instantly, a complete orchard springs into life, all the branches bearing fruit. The insectile forces, which have been doing their worst to destroy the fruits for 6,000 years, had not yet begun their invasion. The curculio had not yet stung the plum, nor the caterpillar hurt the apple, nor had the phylloxera plague, which devastated the vineyards of America and France, assailed the grapes, nor the borer perforated the wood, nor the aphides ruined the cherry, nor the grub punctured the nectarine, nor the blight struck the pear. There stood the first orchard, with a perfection of rind and an exquisiteness of color, and a lusciousness of taste, and an affluence of production which it may take thousands of years more of study of the science of fruits to reproduce.

Why was the orchard created two days before the fish and birds, and three days before the cattle? Among other things, to impress the world with a lesson it is too stupid to learn—that fruit diet is healthier than meat diet, and that the former must precede the latter. The reason there are in the world so many of the imbruted and sensual is that they have not improved by the mighty, unnoticed fact that the orchards of Paradise preceded the herds, and aviaries, and fish ponds. Oh, those fruit-bearing trees on the banks of the Enphrates, and the Gihon, and the Hiddekel! I wonder not that the ancient Romans, ignorant of our God, adored Pomona, the Goddess of Fruits, and that all the Egyptian deities were said to worship her, and that groves were set apart as her temples. You have thanked God for bread a thousand times. Have you thanked him for the fruits which he made the first course of food in the menu of the world's table? The acids of those fruits to keep the world's table from being insipid, and their sweets to keep it from being too sour?

At this autumnal season how the orchards breathe and glow, the leaves removed, that the crimson, or pink, or saffron, on the yellow, or brown may be the better appear, while the aromatics fill the air with invitation and reminiscence. As you pass through the orchards on these autumnal days and look up through the arms of the trees laden with fruit you hear thumping on the ground that which is fully ripe, and, throwing your arms around the trunk, you give a shake that sends down a shower of gold and fire on all sides of you. Pile up in baskets and barrels and bins and on shelves and tables the Divine supply. Since these orchards have been under the assault of at least 60 centuries—the storm, the droughts, the winters, the insectivora. What must the first orchard have been? And yet it is the explorer's evidence that on the site of that orchard there is not an apricot, or an apple, or an olive—nothing but desert and desolation. There is not enough to forage the explorer's horse, much less to feed his own hunger. In other words, that first orchard is a lost orchard. How did the proprietor and the proprietress of all that intercolumniation of fruit-age let the rich splendor slip their possession? It was as now most of the orchards are lost; namely, by wanting more. Access they had to all the fig trees, apricots, walnuts, almonds, apples—bushels on bushels—and were forbidden the use of only one tree in the orchard. Not satisfied with all but one, they reached for that and lost the whole orchard. Go right down through the business marts of the great cities and find among the weighers and clerks and subordinates men who commanded the commercial world. They had a whole orchard of successes, but they wanted just one thing more—but they wanted just one thing more—one more house, or one more country seat, or one more store, or one more railroad, or one more million. They clutched for that and lost all they had gained. For one more tree they lost a whole orchard. There are business men all around us worried nearly to death. The doctor tells them they ought to stop. Insomnia or indigestion or aching at the base of the brain or ungovernable nerves tell them they ought to stop. They really have enough for themselves and their families. Talk with them about their overwork and urge more prudence and longer rest, and they say: "Yes, you are right; after I have accomplished one more thing that I have on my mind I will hand over my business to my sons and go to Europe and quit the kind of exhausting life I have been living for the last 30 years." Some morning you open your paper and, looking at the death column, you find he suddenly departed this life. In trying to win just one more tree he lost the whole orchard.

Yonder is a man with many styles of innocent entertainment and amusement. He walks, he rides, he plays ten-pins in private alleys, he has books on his table, pictures on his wall, and occasional outings, concerts, lectures, baseball tickets, and the innumerable delights of friendship. But he wants a key to the place of dissolute convocation. He wants association with some member of a high family as reckless as he is affluent. He wants, instead of a quiet Sabbath, one of carousal. He wants the stimulus of strong drinks. He wants the permissious of a profligate life. The one membership, the one bad habit, the one carousal robs him of all the possibilities and innocent enjoyment and noble inspirations of a lifetime. By one mouthful of forbidden fruit he loses a whole orchard of fruit unforbidden.

You see what an expensive thing sin is. It costs a thousand times more than it is worth. As some of all kinds of quadrupeds and all kinds of winged creatures passed before our progenitor that he might announce a name, from eagle to lizard, from lion to mole, so I suppose there were in paradise specimens of every kind of fruit tree. And in that enormous orchard there were not only enough of the original family of two, but enough fruit fell ripe to the ground, and was never picked up, to supply whole towns and villages, if they had existed. But the unfatnated couple turned away from all these other trees and faced this tree; and fruit of that they will have though it cost them all paradise.

The story of Eden is rejected by some as an improbability, if not an impossibility; but nothing on earth is easier for me to believe than the truth of this Edenic story, for I have seen the same thing in this year of our Lord 1897. I could call them by name, if it were politic and righteous to do so, the men who have sacrificed a paradise on earth and a paradise in Heaven for one sin. Their home went. Their library went. Their good name went. Their field of usefulness went. Their health went. Their immortal soul went. My friends, there is just one sin that will turn you out of paradise if you do not quit it. You know what it is, and God knows, and you had better drop the hand and arm lifted toward that bending bough before you pluck your own ruin. When Adam stood upon tiptoe and took in his right hand that one round peach, or apricot, or apple, Satan reached up and pulled down the round, beautiful world of our present residence. Overworked artist, overwrought merchant, ambitions politician, avaricious speculator, better take that warning from Adam's orchard and stop before you put out for that one thing more.

But I turn from Adam's orchard to Solomon's orchard. With his own hand he writes: "I made me gardens and orchards." Not depending on the natural fall of rain, he irrigated those orchards. Pieces of the aqueduct that watered those gardens I have seen, and the reservoirs are as perfect as when thousands of years ago the mason's trowel smoothed the mortar over their gray surfaces. No orchard of olden or modern time probably ever had its thirst so well slnked. The largest of these reservoirs is 582 feet long, 207 feet wide and 50 feet deep. These reservoirs Solomon refers to when he says: "I made me pools of water, to water therewith the wood that bringeth forth trees." Solomon used to ride out to that orchard before breakfast. It gave him an appetite and something to think about all the day. Josephus, the historian, represents him as going out "early in the morning from Jerusalem to the famed rocks of Etam, a fertile region, delightful with paradises and running springs. Thither the king, in robes of white, rode in his chariot, escorted by a troop of mounted archers chosen for their youth and stature, and clad in Tyrian purple, whose long hair, powdered with gold dust, sparkled in the sun." After Solomon had taken his morning ride in these luxuriant orchards he would sit down and write those wonderful things in the Bible, drawing his illustrations from the fruits he had that very morning plucked or ridden under. And wishing to praise the coming Christ he says: "As the apple tree among the trees of the wood, so is my beloved." And wishing to describe the love of the church for her Lord, he writes: "Comfort me with apples, for I am sick of love," he desiring to make reference to the white hair of the octogenarian, and just before having noticed that the blossoms of the almond tree were white, he says of the aged man: "The almond tree shall flourish." The walnuts and the pomegranates, and the mandrakes, and the figs make Solomon's writings a divinely arranged fruit basket.

What mean Solomon's orchards and Solomon's gardens? for they seem to mingle, the two into one. Flowers under foot, and pomegranates overhead. To me they suggest that religion is a luxury. All along the world has looked upon religion chiefly as a dire necessity—a lifeboat from the shipwreck, a ladder from the conflagration, a soft landing place after we have been shoved off the precipice of this planet. As a consequence so many have said: "We will await preparation for the future until the crash of the shipwreck, until the conflagration is in full blaze, until we reach the brink of the precipice."

No doubt religion is inexpressibly important for the last exigency. But what do the apples and the figs and the melons, and the pomegranates and the citrons and the olives of Solomon's orchard mean? Luxury! They mean that our religion is the luscious, the aromatic, the pungent, the aborescent, the efflorescent, the foliaged, the umbrageous. They mean what Edward Payson meant when he decided "I am happiness continues to increase. I can not support it much longer." It means what Baron Padmanji, a Hindoo convert, meant when he said: "I long for my bed, not that I may sleep—I lie awake often and long—but to hold communication with my God." It means what the old colored man said when he was accosted by the colporteur, "Uncle, how are you?" "I is very painful in my knee, but, thank my Heavenly Master, I'm caused to be thankful. My good Master just gib me auf to make me humble." "And do you enjoy religion as much now, Uncle Jack, as when you could go to church and class meetings?" "Yes, I joys him more. Den I trust to de people, to de meetings, to de sarment, and when I hear de hymn sing and de pray I feels glad. But all dis ain't like de good Lord in de heart, God's love here." It means sunrise instead of sundown. It means the Memnon statue made to sing at the stroke of the morning light. It means Christ at the wedding in Cana. It means the "time of the singing of birds is come." It means Jeremiah's "well-watered garden." It means David's "oil of gladness." It means Isaiah's "bride and bridegroom." It means Luke's bad boy come home to his father's house. Wordly joy killed Leo X, when he heard that Milan was captured. Talva died of joy when the Roman senate honored him. Diagora died of joy because his three sons were crowned at the Olympian games. Sophocles died of joy over his literary success. And religious joy has been too much for many a Christian, and his soul has sped away on the wing of hosannas.

An old and poor musician played so well one night before his king that the next morning when the musician awoke he found his table covered with golden cups and plates, and the prince, ly robe lying across the back of a chair, and richly caparisoned horses pawing at the doorway to take him through the street in imposing equipage. It was only a touch of what comes to every man who makes the Lord his portion, for he has waiting for him direct from the King robes, banquets, chariots, mansions, triumphs, and it is only a question of time when he shall wear them, ride in them, live in them and celebrate them.

You think religion is a good thing for a funeral. O, yes. But Solomon's orchard means more. Religion is a good thing now, when you are in health and prosperity and the appetite is good for citrons, and apples, and apricots, and pomegranates. Come in without wasting any time in talking about them and take the luxuries of religion. Happy yourself, then you can make others happy. Make just one person happy every day, and in 20 years you will have made 7,300 people happy. I like what Wellington said after the battle of Waterloo, and when he was in pursuit of the French with the advance guard, and Col. Harvey said to him: "General you had better not go any farther, for you may be shot at by some straggler from the bushes." And Wellington replied: "Let them fire away. The battle is won and my life is of no value." My friends, we ought never to be reckless, but if, through the pardoning and rescuing grace of Christ, you have gained the victory over sin and death and hell, you need fear nothing on the earth or under the earth. Let all the sharpshooters of perdition blaze away: you may ride on in joy triumphant. Religion for the funeral! O, yes; but religion for the wedding breakfast; religion for the brightest spring morning and autumn's most gorgeous sunset. Religion for the day when the stocks are up just as much as when stocks are down. Religion when respiration is easy, as well as for the last gasp; when the temperature is normal, as well as when it reaches 104. It may be a bold thing to say, but I risk it, that the people, without respect to belief or character, at death passed into everlasting happiness, religion for this world is such a luxury that no man or woman could afford to do without it. Why was it that in the parable of the prodigal son the finger ring was ordered put upon the returned wanderer's hand before the shoes were ordered for his tired feet? Are not shoes more important for our comfort than fingerrings? Oh, yes; but it was to impress the world with the fact that religion is a luxury as well as a necessity. "Put a ring on his hand and shoes on his feet." If in sermonic, or exhortatory, or social recommendations of religion we put the chief emphasis on the fact that for our safety we must have it when the door of the next world be opened, poor human nature will take the risk and say: "I will wait until the door begius to open." But show them the radiant truth, that the table of God's love and pardon is now laid with all the fruits which the orchards of God's love, and mercy, and helpfulness can supply, and they will come in and sit down, with all the other banqueters, terrestrial and celestial. O! fetch on the citrons and the apples, and the walnuts, and the pomegranates of Solomon's orchard.

While there is enough of the pomp of the city about Heaven for those who like the city best, I thank God there is enough in the Bible about country scenery in Heaven to please those of us who were born in the country and never got over it. Now you may have streets of gold in Heaven; give me the orchards, with 12 manner of fruits, and yielding their fruit every month; and the leaves of the trees are for "the healing of the nations, and there shall be no more curse, but the throne of God and of the Lamb shall be in it; and His servants shall serve Him, and they shall see His face, and His name shall be in their foreheads; and there shall be no night there, and they need no candle, neither light of the sun, for the Lord God giveth them light; and they shall reign for ever and ever." But just think of a place so brilliant that the noonday sun shall be removed from the mantle of the sky because it is too feeble a taper! Yet, most of all, am I impressed with the fact that I am not yet fit for that place, nor you either. By the reconstructing and sanctifying grace of Christ we need to be made all over. And let us be getting our passports ready if we want to get into that country.

By the will of Mary J. Bradford, of South Boston, which has been filed in the probate court of Suffolk county, a trust fund is created of $4,000, the income to be used for the care and support of a parrot owned by the testator.

MUCH CONCERN

Over the Visit of Premier Laurier, of Canada, to Washington.

The Canadian Dined by the President, the First of Several Notable Events in His Honor—Charles Page Bryan Successor to Minister Denby in China.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 13.—The officials of the agricultural department are somewhat concerned over the visit of Premier Lurier, of Canada, in view of the concessions which it is considered probable he will ask under the reciprocity provision of the tariff law. They are apprehensive that the premier will direct his attention particularly to securing a reduction of the tariff rates on Canada's agricultural products shipped to this country and are inclined to believe any concessions granted on these lines will be at the expense of barley. It is expected that a concession will be asked, especially on barley, but that the department officials hold that this country is capable of producing its own barley and believe that the farmers do not want a reduction on this article to (practically) the country whose competition gives them any concern. The opinion expressed at the department is that it will be well for the United States to confine its reciprocity relations with Canada largely to fish and coal, on which Canadian products it is believed there might be a reduction without especial injury to American interests.

SIR WILFRID LAURIER.

President McKinley gave a dinner at the executive mansion Thursday night to Sir Wilfrid Laurier, the Canadian premier, and Lady Laurier, Sir Louis Davies, minister of marine of Canada, and Lady Davies, and the officials who are taking part in the Behring sea negotiations. This was the first of several notable social events in honor of the visitors. Friday night, Secretary Sherman will entertain Sir Wilfrid and his associates at a dinner, and on Saturday night they will be the guests of Gen. Foster. Before the Behring sea conference opened Thursday, the officials and ladies of the party inspected the new congressional library.

The president appointed Chas. Page Bryan, of Illinois, to be envoy extraordinary and minister plenipotentiary of the United States to China.

Minister Denby, who is succeeded by this appointment, has held the position since the beginning of President Cleveland's first term. President Harrison appointed ex-Senator Blair, of New Hampshire, to succeed him, but he was objectionable to the Chinese government and Mr. Denby was left undisturbed.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 12.—Mr. J. W. Zeneley, of the interior department, who was selected by Secretary Bliss to make an investigation of the reported issue of fraudulent warrants by the government of the Creek nation, returned to Washington after spending about a month in Indian territory making the inquiry. The investigation made by Mr. Zenzley established the fact that Isparhecher, the principal chief, has no knowledge whatever of the English language and that all the warrants purporting to have been issued and signed by him were in fact issued and signed by an under secretary in his office. The investigation also developed the fact that a number of persons had combined together to defraud the Creek government out of a large sum of money.

Secretary Sherman and Sir Wilfrid Laurier, the premier of Canada, Thursday afternoon began the first of a formal series of conferences for the purpose of bringing about an agreement by which as many as possible of the questions now causing friction between the United States and dominion of Canada may be amicably adjusted by treaty or otherwise. These conferences will be independent of the Behring sea seal fisheries conference, which was the immediate occasion for the Canadian premier's present visit to Washington. Among the causes of friction between the two countries is the question of the rights of citizens of either to pursue business callings in the territory of the other, and the tariff question. The conference Thursday afternoon was brought about by a note which Secretary Sherman Thursday morning sent to Sir Wilfrid Laurier, asking him if it would be convenient to the latter to meet the secretary Thursday afternoon, the Canadian premier responding in the affirmative.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 12.—Minister De Lome called on President McKinley Thursday and presented Senor Canale jas, editor of the Madrid El Heraldo, who is visiting the United States. The visit was very brief and entirely of a social character.

Anti-Hunters' League.

MOSCOW, O., Nov. 12.—The farmers of this section are organizing what is to be known as the Anti-Hunters' League. Their object will be to prevent, as far as possible, any hunting on their farms. The farmers say game is plentiful, but danger to stock is the reason for the organization of this league.

Coxey's Expenses.

CANTON, O., Nov. 12.—Jacob S. Coxey has filed his expense account for the election. He swears it cost $2,346.15. The expenditures include $40 for George Francis Train and $2.35 for transportation of his car and outfit.

FOR RECIPROCITY

Between the United States and Dominion of Canada—Meetings Will Be Held by Representatives of the Two Countries.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 13.—Definite arrangements have been made for taking up the subject of a reciprocity treaty between the United States and Canada, and to this end meetings have been fixed between Hon. John W. Kasson, who is specially delegated by President McKinley to conduct reciprocity negotiations, and Sir Wilfrid Laurier, the Canadian premier, and Sir Louis Davies, minister of marine. This is the result of the long and friendly conference held Thursday between Secretary Sherman and Sir Wilfrid. The meeting will be held during the present visit of the Canadian officials, but no exact time for it has yet been fixed, as it will depend somewhat on the time which can be spared from the Behring sea sessions. The arrangements also contemplate taking up the questions of border immigration, North Atlantic fisheries, lake fisheries, and all other subjects affecting the two countries. The meeting with Mr. Kasson, however, will be confined to reciprocity, as he was delegated by the presidens to treat on that subject alone.

Preliminary reports to the statistician of the department of agriculture indicate an average yield of 181.9 pounds of cotton per acre. The principal states' averages are as follows:

North Carolina, 184; South Carolina, 189; Georgia, 176; Alabama, 155; Mississippi, 220; Louisiana, 245; Texas, 165; Arkansas, 215; Tennessee, 132; Oklahoma, 225; Indian Territory, 300.

In the main the crop has been picked in excellent condition, the weather having been highly favorable.

In continuing the changes in the personnel of his office Sixth Auditor Castle, for the post office department, has promoted A. Clements to be chief of the collecting division and D. W. Duncan to be chief of the book-keeping division. D. H. Fenton, whom Mr. Duncan succeeds, has been engaged to represent the government in all legal proceedings against the bondsmen of post office department officials, including postmasters.

Mr. Castle states that he has examined the replies of about 40 of the clerks whom he notified some months since of their probable reduction in grade and pay, and that he has made reductions in about 20 cases averaging about $200 each per annum. The showing made by the remaining 20 being satisfactory they will remain undisturbed. The notices were originally sent to about 80 persons, and the responses of all of them will be scrutinized carefully.

The president Friday afternoon issued a proclamation suspending the collection of discriminating duties upon the Mexican shipping upon satisfactory proof that no discrimination is practiced against American ships in Mexican ports.

Gen. Thos. C. Sullivan, commissary general of subsistence will end his active career in the army Saturday as he will have reached the age of 64, the legal age of retirement. Gen. Sullivan has had a long and active career and retires with an honorable record. He is a native of Ohio.

The Spanish minister, Senor Dupuy de Lome, gave a dinner at the Metropolitan club Friday night in honor of Senor S. Canalejas, late minister of justice of Spain.

It drew together a number of distinguished guests, including Chief Justice Fuller and Justices Harlan, Brewer, White and Peckham; French ambassador and the ministers from Mexico, Chili, Austria, the Netherlands, Portugal, Peru and Venezuela. Senator Elkins, the attorney general, Secretary Gage, Maj. Gen. Miles and Adm. Franklin.

VOIRES HANGED.

He Ate Pickles, Declared He Had Obtained Full Pardon, and Then Stuck His Head Into the Black Cap.

THURMOND, W. Va., Nov. 13.—Albert Voires was hanged at Fayetteville Friday afternoon at 2:34 o'clock for having been implicated in the murder of Charles Gibson at Montgomery a year ago last February. Clark Lewis, colored, was hanged last June and Virgie Gibson, wife of the murdered man, and Wilbur Slaughter, colored, were sent to the penitentiary for life.

Wiley Lewis was convicted and sent to the penitentiary for life mainly upon the testimony of Albert Voires, who swore at the trial that he saw Lewis kill Cochran. Voires made a sworn statement Thursday that he lied outright in his testimony, and that he never in his life knew Cochran, and knew nothing of his murder.

Voires refused to eat any dinner, except a few pickles, but when the time came to go to the scaffold he had braced up, and declared he had obtained pardon for all his crimes and was ready to go.

At the scaffold Voires declared his innocence, but said he would die like a man, and his nerve was almost marvelous. At 2:30 Sheriff McVey sprung the trap, resulting in the breaking of Voires neck, causing instantaneous death.

Hard Aground on Rocks.

AMHERSTBURG, Ont., Nov. 13.—The northwest gale on Lake Erie lowered the water in Detroit river to such an extent Friday that the steamer Victory, towing the big steel schooner Constitution, went hard aground at the lime kiln crossing. They are hard aground on the rocks.

Death Due to Natural Causes.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 13.—The coroner's jury Friday rendered a verdict in the case of Rev. Henry J. McCabe, the young priest who was found dead on Wednesday morning in an area way in the rear of St. Paul's academy, this city. The verdict of the jury is that death was due to natural causes.

New Trial for Thorn.

NEW YORK, Nov. 13.—The jury in the Thorn murder trial, owing to the serious illness of one of the members, was discharged Friday. A new jury will be selected and the trial has been set for Monday, November 22.

EXCITING NEWS

Is Expected From Consul General Fitzhugh Lee This Week.

Gen. Gomez and His Associates Are Waiting as Opportunity to Confer With the Representative of the United States—Peace Near at Hand.

NEW YORK, Nov. 15.—A dispatch to the Tribune from Washington says:

Important advices are expected from Consul General Lee, in Havana, this week. By this time it is thought some idea should be had as to whether Gen. Blanco's policy is causing improvement in the condition of the starving reconcentrados. The aspects of negotiations between the Spanish authorities and the insurgents may also be determined by the presence of Gen. Lee. The insurgent leaders have already stated unmistakably that they will not accept the autonomy. Little hope is felt in administration circles that they will change their minds.

Nevertheless an intimation has been thrown out that Gen. Gomez and his associates in the field were waiting an opportunity to communicate with the representatives of the United States. Their position is said to be that, as this country has offered its good offices to Spain to end the war, it is competent to receive a suggestion from other parties to the war. While the insurgents have not received recognition as belligerents, they want to be treated as such in making a proposition for peace.

An inkling of their purpose has been received. This is to make known through the consul general their desire to have the United States act as intermediary with Spain in arranging terms of peace, but peace on the basis of independence. This is meant as a counter movement to the proffer of autonomy. Spain has already declared that Cuba can not buy independence, but the insurgents do not care for that. While strengthening themselves in the field they intend to do some diplomatic fencing.

No special instructions were given Gen. Lee, as full confidence is felt in his discretion. A proposition from the insurgents for mediation by the United States on the basis suggested might be transmitted to Washington, but it would hardly go further. The feeling, based on pretty accurate information, is that before long both the Sagasta ministry and the insurgents will be availing themselves of the good offices of this country, though just how this will come about is uncertain. Some sanguine officials predict peace within three months.

A VICTORY WON

By the Insurgents at the Very Door of Havana—Great Excitement Over the Discovery of the Patriots' Strength.

HAVANA, via Key West, Fla., Nov. 15.—The news of the battle on the estate Regalado, a few miles from here, has caused a sensation in Havana. The Spanish official report, cabled to the United States, was intended to minimize the importance of the engagement and conceal the severity of the shock suffered by the Spaniards.

The press censorship, in spite of Gen. Blanco's alleged liberalism, is as severe now as in the times of Weyler. According to trustworthy information received here, the plan of the Spanish was to capture Gen. R. Alejandro Rodrigez after surprising him in his camp, but they failed.

The insurgents were prepared, knowing beforehand of the Spanish plan. A desperate fight ensued, and the Spanish force under command of Maj. Aveilla retreated with heavy losses. The insugents used dynamite bombs effectively. The second engagement at San Antonio de los Banos was fought by the same force of Gen. Alejandro Rodriguez, who followed the Spaniards to that place, where they received reinforcements.

The excitement in Havana is intense, because this battle shows how strong the insurgent army is in this province and gives the death blow to the reports of pacification by Gen. Weyler.

ENGLISH VIEW

Of the Negotiations Going on at Washington Between the United States and Canada.

LONDON, Nov. 13.—The Daily Chronicle, in a special article Monday morning on the meaning of the Canadian negotiations at Washington, reviews the past commercial relations between Canada, Great Britain and the United States, and says:

"Important communications have passed during the last few days between Downing street and Ottawa; and the cordial reception which the Canadian ministers are meeting at the hands of the Washington officials and the American press makes it quite possible that we are on the eve of a most happy change of attitude toward one another of the three countries."

The writer of the daily Chronicle's article concludes by inquiring:

"Is Canadian reciprocity with the United States to take the place of exclusive preference for Great Britain? It would disappoint many in this country, but the question must be viewed in the broad light of Anglo-American relations.

"No one will deny that Canada, the United States and the mother country have each far more to gain from closer intercourse than from the present policy of commercial and political exclusiveness."

Tribesmen Repulsed.

SIMLA, Nov. 13.—According to official dispatches from the front a foraging party under Maj. Dorien had an engagement with a large body of tribesmen Saturday. The latter were repulsed, but Capt. Bowman, Maj. Money and four privates were wounded.

Insurgents Derail a Train.

HAVANA, Nov. 13.—The insurgents have dynamited and derailed a train running between Nuevitas, the port of Puerto Principe and the city of Puerto Principe, capital of the province of that name. No farther details have been made public.

BOONE : COUNTY : RECORDER

Wednesday Nov., 17, 1897.

Rates of Subscription:

One year..... $1 50.
Six months..... 75.
Three months..... 40.

☞Payable invariably in advance.

THE RECORDER

SOLICITS YOUR

Job Work,

NOTE HEADS,
LETTER HEADS,
ENVELOPES,
CARDS,
BILL HEADS,
STATEMENTS,
SALE BILLS,
AND DODGE BILLS,

Printed at the Lowest Prices consistent with neat work.

Send your order by mail and it will be attended promptly.

KENTUCKY CROP REPORT.

Condition of Crops and LiVe Stock November 1st, 1897.

The report for November is made up from replies received from 116 correspondents from 82 counties. More than the usual number of counties failed to report this month and the report, for this reason, cannot claim to be as full as for former months.

WHEAT

The acreage seeded to wheat up to November 1st, as compared to acreage of 1896, is 90 per cent. Remarks of correspondents indicate that the present acreage will be increased should the season permit of fall plowing during November. Figures on the number of acres are for this reason withheld until next month.

The condition of the crop as compared with average years is 62. On November 1st, 1896, the condition was 96. It is estimated that 16 per cent. of the crop will have to be resown. Rain fell throughout the State on the night of October 31st and there is yet time to resow should it be necessary. Only a small proportion of the crop is above ground and in some cases it is coming up in spots here and there through the fields.

No complaint is made of damage from insects save in Christian county, where two correspondents report worms doing great damage.

HOGS.

The condition of hogs being fattened for market compared with average years is 87. The dry weather has been very unfavorable for feeding and the best results have not been secured. Cholera is not prevailing to any great extent, 35 correspondents report cholera while 80 correspondents report none.

CATTLE.

The condition of cattle is 86. Pastures failed in some sections as early as September 1st, and since that time the condition has steadily fallen off. Feeding has been necessary during the entire month and many farmers have put their herds on the market for what they would bring rather than contend with the many difficulties in the way of a supply of water and the long feeding season intervening between now and spring grazing. The supply of cattle is for this season very low.

HORSES AND MULES.

The condition of horses averages 87. The price of young horses and mules has been greatly affected by the increased cost of carrying through the winter and the demand that had sprung up for this class of stock as well as the improvement in price has disappeared.

SHEEP.

Sheep show a condition of 90 and have withstood the trying conditions probably better than any class of stock.

THE DROUGHT.

The drought which ended with rain on night of October 31st was, in extent of duration, one of the severest on record. Its effect on crops, however, was mitigated by the fact that it did not set in until crops were saved or advanced to a stage where serious injury was impossible.

The western section of the State was the first to feel its effects, or to be more exact, a section a short distance west of the central portion of the State comprising a strip extending from Daviess and Hancock counties south to the Tennessee line. Here the drought set in as early as June 20th, and the damage to the corn crop alone is enormous; but further west the early corn had reached a stage where a fair crop was assured before the effect of the drouth was felt. Gradually it extended east until by August 20th the entire State was in its grasp and from that date until October 31st only local showers of the slightest character occurred. Added to this, extreme heat prevailed to such an extent that streams and springs that were never known to fail before dried up and the water supply had become the most serious question that ever confronted the farmers and citizens generally of Kentucky.

The ground early became too hard to plow and wheat seeding came to a standstill, except in corn and tobacco land. Some early sown wheat found sufficient moisture to enable it to reach the surface where it was exposed to the burning sun and drying winds for a period of from four to six weeks, with what result cannot be told until recent rains have time to show what can be done in the way of reviving parched vegetation. The wheat crop has been postponed to a time when a favorable winter will be required for an average crop and although many instances may be cited where wheat sown in this State as late as November 20th has produced good yields, the outcome of the wheat crop of 1898 depends to an unusual extent upon a train of favorable circumstances.

It is now too late to expect any benefit to pastures in the way of supplying grazing, and feeding will have to be continued. In view of the continued amount of feed already expended in advance of the usual time when feeding begins it behooves us to practice more than the usual economy in feeding during the winter.

LUCAS MOORE.
Commissioner of Agriculture

STATE NEWS.

Lexington's new court house is to be fire proof.

An Owensboro man was cowhided by a female.

Mormons are trying to secure proselytes in Wolfe county.

Fred Reid, of Covington, has gone to the South Africa gold fields.

Orrin A. Reynolds has been appointed postmaster at Covington.

A Breckinridge man caught six coons and ten 'possums Friday night.

A sand bank near Henderson caved in on several workmen, killing one.

Mayor Rhinock, of Covington, is being boomed, by some of his friend for Congress.

A 75 year-old Covington bicyclist was seriously injured by colliding with a wagon.

Rabbit hunting is the latest fad of the Bourbon county hunters and their girl friends.

Andy Vaughn, of Bell county, shot and killed his wife and then mortally wounded himself.

Henry Somers, a prominent young man of Hardin county, had both legs cut off in jumping from a train.

State Supreme Court holds all interest paid in excess of 6 per cent. to building and loan associations is illegal.

The federal appointments so far made in Covington are causing much dissatisfaction among the faithful.

Miss Susie Moore Shropshire and Mr. Roddie Wilson Broaddus, both deaf and dumb, were married by a deaf and dumb preacher.

Mrs. Maggie Brandon cowhided Charles Lee, an employe of the Henderson Telephone Co. for disclosing her conversation over the wire.

Dan Curry, the slayer of John Corley, the Louisville drummer, which tragedy occurred in Curry's home, at Corbin, recently, has been adjudged insane.

A gang of counterfeiters is supposed to be in Levington. Several suspicious transactions have been reported in the working off of spurious silver dollars.

Natural gas was found in paying quantities in several small towns in and near Daviess county, and several stock companies have been formed, and the gas excitement is something great.

Investigation shows that Ben Ingles, who shot and killed James Singleton, at Hayden, killed his own sister, the bullet passing through Singleton and then entering the body of Ingles' sister.

The McCreary Guards will be mustered out December 22 at Frankfort on the expiration of their term of service. There is already a move on foot to reorganize the company with Capt. Noel Gaines as Captain.

In 1865 Levi Hallors killed Sam Shadoen, in Pulaska county. To shield his father James Hallors fled, and it was supposed he did the killing. Old man Hallors died some time after, and finally James was captured and put on trial, a few days since, when it came out in evidence that he became an outcast to shield his father.

Last Thursday afternoon, Dave T. Franks and Bob Ranton, of Grant county, went to Crittenden, started in drinking and quarreling. No notice was taken of them until 6 o'clock. Ranton was lunching in a grocery when Franks entered, armed with a shotgun. Without saying a word, Ranton opened fire upon Franks with a pistol, the latter returning the fire with the shotgun. The shooting was kept up until both guns were empty. Ranton seized Frank's shotgun, broke it to pieces and walked away. Franks seized a pistol and ran after him, shooting until he was lost in the dark. Franks only received a flesh wound in the hip. Ranton has not been found and no one knows if he was hurt. Ranton killed Tow Lawrence some years ago and has figured in several cutting scrapes since.

CROP AND STOCK.

While the turkey crop in Kentucky is shorter than it war last year, yet the Western country has a fine crop and Virginia and Maryland crop is double that of any previous year. The Eastern papers state that the immense storage refrigerators in New York and Boston have a large surplus on hand from last year, and this will have a tendency to lower prices.

The farm of the late Capt. Phil C. Kidd, situated near Yarnallton Station, on the old Frankfort and Lexington pike, three and one-half miles from Lexington, was sold at public auction. It contained [illegible] acres and was bought by Mr. E. [illegible] Drake at $74.05 an acre. The farm is well improved. Several years ago Capt. Kidd bought it for $[illegible] per acre.

A remarkable locust tree [illegible] in Mrs. Elizabeth Porter's front yard, at Glasgow, Ky. At all times, even in the driest weather, a continual shower of mist or vapor comes from its branches, and at any hour a shower bath can be had by standing under its foliage.

Messrs. Tom Smith and Orville Arnold bought of Yancey Barker, at Bardstown, forty 1,000 pounds dehorned cattle at $3 75.

It is Right

To accept or reject an invitation to a dinner within a few hours after it has been received.

To repeat in accepting an invitation the date and hour fixed for the dinner, so that there may be no possibility of a misunderstanding.

To arrive within five minutes of the time set in the invitation.

To decline nothing if the dinner be a small one of five or six courses.

If a certain dish is not agreeable, to appear at least to eat it.

To use the small bread and butter plates for olive pit, salt, salted almonds, radishes and broken bread.

To dip the spoon "from you" to take up soup.

To chat pleasantly with your neighbor in case, through inadvertence, you have not been formally introduced.

For a gentleman to pay particular attention to his partner.

For a gentleman to remain standing until all the ladies are seated.

At simple dinner for a gentleman to seat lady whom he takes into the dining-room.

To use the fork with the right hand.

To place the spoon in the saucer at the right of a cup whenever not in use.

To eat ices, iced creams and all desserts not wholly liquid with a fork.

To recollect that every guest is socially under an obligation to help make the dinner successful.

To use olive tongs where they are provided.

To eat water cresses or lettuce when served without dressing with the fingers.

To help oneself to olives or sugar with the fingers where tongs are not provided.

To serve the eldest lady at the table first, even though the guest of honor should be a woman of great celebrity. Age always commands the greatest deference.

If perplexed by the appearance of a strange dish to wait and observe what others do.

To dress neatly and prettily even for a home dinner.

To make a function of some ceremony of every dinner.

To be entertaining, bright and conversational.

THE mention of Mark Hanna's name to an Ohio Democrat is like shaking a red rag at an enraged bull.—Lawrenceburg Press.

And it also makes a great many Republicans paw the dirt pretty lively.

Mr. Forrester has adjourned the Capital, but he writes an occasional article for publication to remind Hunter & Co. that he is still on deck.

FROM CARROLL COUNTY.

[News]

Old rivermen maintain that the recent season of low water was the longest ever known on the Ohio river.

Nine hundred head of cattle from Chicago, will be fed and wintered at Block's distillery, in Prestonville.

Fine weather for stripping tobacco the first of the week, and a great many took advantage of it and tied up a lot of the weed.

The new bridge over the Little Kentucky, near Thos. Handlon's was washed out last Monday night. The false work and some of the iron fell down into the bed of the stream. It was not completed, and the loss, which is only about $400, will fall on the Ohio Bridge Co.

FROM OWEN COUNTY.

[News]

Owenton has sufficient population to make her a fifth-class town.

The fox-hunters are having some nice running since the late rains as the dogs were all in good trim.

J. B. Gibson was out last week buying tobacco. He purchased about 100,000 pounds.

Vernon Swope came near loosing one of his eyes last week. He picked up a bottle in the court-house yard, threw it up and struck it with a stick. A piece of the shattered glass flew in one of his eyes, cutting the ball severely.

[Herald,]

The Methodist church at Gestville, the parsonage and several other houses were blown down by the strong wind Monday night.

Town Marshal Ed Stephens, who killed Jason Miller at Midway last week, was indicted for murder by the grand jury at Versailles, and was released upon a bond of $2,000.

FROM GRANT COUNTY.

[Courier]

There was not a bushel of coal for sale in Williamstown last Saturday.

Dr. R. H. O'Hara and wife left on Tuesday morning for Mountain Valley Springs, Arkansas, where they will remain until Christmas hoping that the Doctor will recuperate his failing health.

Monday afternoon a serious cutting affray took place in front of the saloon of William Stroud. William Workman, of Cross Roads, stabbed Peter Wolf of the same neighborhood dangerously wounding him. He stabbed Wolf in several places and literally cut his clothing to pieces.

There is one happy Republican in Grant county. The hoary-headed follower of Republican doctrines for many years—John A. McPherson—has at last been rewarded for his labors in the interest of his party. He knocked a $4,000 plum off of President McKinley's tree in the form of the Williamstown postoffice.

Sam Wilson a carpenter, while working on Mrs. O. P. Hogan's house Wednesday lost his footing and fell to the ground a distance of 15 feet, breaking his leg.

FROM GALLATIN COUNTY.

Independent

Ryle has a daily mail now.

Sol Long and George Crouch have taken their gasoline boat to Cincinnati to have a fifteen horse power gasoline engine put in to propel the boat.

Circuit Court convenes next Monday. There is comparatively no business on the docket. County Court convenes Monday and there is no business on that docket, generally speaking.

Warsaw has sustained another severe loss in the death of one of her good christian women. Mrs. Harriet Craig, beloved wife of Wm. Craig, departed this life Monday afternoon, at 1:30 o'clock, surrounded by all her family.

Dr. John J. C. Ross, an old Gallatin county boy, and a son of Squire Milton Ross, of the Hoggins district, who has been a resident of Nashville, Brown county, Ind., for thirteen years, has been nominated for County Auditor of that county by the Democratic party.

The sad news reached here Tuesday morning by telegraph from Phoenix, Arizona, of the death of William P. Hall, at that place, Monday night, November 8th. Mr. Hall left Chicago last Tuesday. Nov. 2nd, for San Diego, California, where he was en route to try the health-giving atmosphere of that climate in an attempt to recuperate his health. He had been a victim of pulmonary trouble.

Notice to Trespassers.

We, the undersigned, hereby give notice that we have posted our farms according to law, against trespass of all kinds, and will enforce the law against those who trespass thereon by hunting or otherwise.

J K Roberts,	L C Roberts
H H Roberts,	James Watson
J W Cluster,	Henry Florence
Mack Watson,	Rebecca Johnson
W P Roberts,	A W Smith
G B Powers,	J T Peek
Edward Taylor	J H Rogers
Lafe Johnson	S C Johnson
A J Litterell

AYLOR'S AYLOR'S AYLOR'S AYLOR'S

YOU WILL FIND US

Very much alive in all that means business—and business that will be your business is what we are going to talk right along. Our business is to sell good, pure and fresh GROCERIES and PROVISIONS, and to point out to people the wisdom of patronizing our establishment.

IRA AYLOR, - - Erlanger, Ky.

AYLOR'S AYLOR'S AYLOR'S AYLOR'S

C. W. ROBINSON,
DEALER IN
Dry Goods, Notions, Groceries, Boots and Shoes,
ALL KIND OF FEED AND FLOUR IN STOCK,
Agent for Weidler's Germ Food; Also agent for the Jones Fertilizers.
GOOD STABLE IN CONNECTION WITH STORE.
Constance, Ky.

METROPOLITAN COUPE & LIVERY COMPANY.
62 & 64 West Sixth St., Cincinnati, Ohio,
E. H. BAKER, Proprietor
Horses and Vehicles for Hire at Reasonable Rates.
Horses and Second-Hand Buggies for Sale.
Horses Sold on Commission.
Telephone 580.

CHAS. C. FRY. JACOB REIB.
FRY & REIB,
Manufacturers of and Dealers in all kinds of
Marble & Granite Monuments,
HEADSTONES, CORNER POSTS, ETC.,
109 Pike Sreet, - - - COVINGTON, K.
Near C. & O. R. R. Crossing. | Designs Furnished Upon Application.

R. A. STEELE,
RISING SUN, IND.,
UNDERTAKING.
My Stock and accouterments are unsurpassed, having adult's black hearses and child's white hearse.
Independent of Undertakers' Union.
My prices are reasonable and my friends will tell you I give satisfaction.
FURNITURE
Large Stock of Latest Styles at Lowest Prices.
GIVE ME A CALL.

Frankfort & Cincinnati Railway.
Ask for tickets via this line. Schedule of trains in effect March 1, 1897.
East Bound.
Lve. Frankfort..... 6:30 a. m. 3:00 p. m
Arr. Georgetown...7:20 a. m. 4:15 p. m
West Bound.
Lve. Georgetown...10:40 a m 6:30 p. m
Arr. Frankfort.....11:55 a. m 7:20 p. m
C. D. BERCAW, G. P. A.
Geo. B. Harper, Gen. Supt. Frankfort, Ky.

H. S. STEVENSON.
Satisfaction Guaranteed.
DENTIST.
Prices Consistent with Good Services Only.
OFFICE:— Rising Sun, Indiana.

NOTICE.

Cincinnati, O., April 5, 1897.

To the Tobacco Growers of Boone County:

I am connected with the Cincinnati Leaf Tobacco Warehouse Co., which includes four houses—the Globe, Morris, Bodmann, Cincinnati Miami. Prize your tobacco and ship it to one of the four houses and receive the highest market price for same. If you have no preference ship it to the Cincinnati Miami, and I will give it my personal attention. Hogsheads and presses furnished. Address me at 110, 112 West Front St., Cincinnati, Ohio.

oct-7 O. W. ADAMS.

For Rent.

A good farm, to a good tenant—six miles from Cincinnati on Cincinnati Southern railroad and on free turnpike. Call at 30 W. 4th St. Covington, Ky. J. J. DULANEY.

Take the Recorder, $1.50 a year.

Some Plain Facts.

Grave errors, injustice, wrongs of greater or less degree, arise from lack of knowledge of the truth, and more frequently from deception.

The most infamous case on record of deception and injustice is the attempt to demonetize silver as a money of final redemption in the United States.

There is no learned judge, skilled lawyer, or court of justice that is capable of reconciling the effort with the constitutional laws that govern the issue of money in this country.

The people have been deceived, officials in power, chosen to administer justice under the laws, have ignored their sworn duty, and given aid to the scheme that has paralyzed industry, reduced property values one-half, and beggared millions.

There is no authority of law, either specific or by inference, by which gold alone is made the only money with which to discharge debts, either public or private. The effort to make it so is unconstitutional and a national calamity.

Plain and ample information, facts, and truth, concerning this almost successful scheme to corner the wealth of the people, is now being printed in the Cincinnati Enquirer, a newspaper which the combined power of money has failed to muzzle or buy.

The Weekly Enquirer is only 75c. a year. The address is Enquirer Company, Cincinnati, O.

PATENTS

Caveats, and Trade-Marks obtained and all Patent business conducted for MODERATE FEES.
OUR OFFICE IS OPPOSITE U.S. PATENT OFFICE and we can secure patent in less time than those remote from Washington.
Send model, drawing or photo., with description. We advise, if patentable or not, free of charge. Our fee not due till patent is secured.
A PAMPHLET, "How to Obtain Patents," with cost of same in the U.S. and foreign countries sent free. Address,
C. A. SNOW & CO.
OPP. PATENT OFFICE, WASHINGTON, D. C.

BOONE COUNTY RECORDER.

VOL. XXIII. BURLINGTON, KENTUCKY, WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 24, 1897. NO. 5

GOV. BRADLEY and his wing of the Republican party have been knocked clear out of the water in this State, and the other fellows have entire control.

SAGASTA is waiting for the President to announce his policy towards Spain. If the President has any policy towards Spain nobody on this side of the pond is aware of it.

If the approaching Legislature undertakes to investigate every office, to change the election laws and redistrict the State in whole or in part, it will make much ammunition for its foes.

NONE of the other Louisville city dailies appear disposed to accept the offer of the Daily Dispatch to give $500 to the one showing a larger daily circulation than it has. They are afraid of a show down.

SHOWERS of blood—bona fide genuine blood, or, at any rate, having the same properites—are by no means uncommon on the Mediterrancan coast, and in some parts of Italy. This rain has been analyzed of the mineral constituents of human blood.

HON. CECIL PENCE, of Covington, is in the habit of making about three fights before he gets the office for which he starts, but, so far, has been a winner in every instance, and is not likely to lose the office of City Judge of Covington on a pure technicality.

THE Jailer elect in Jefferson county is in trouble with the labor people who stood by him in the recent election. He has insulted them by giving the first installment of public work at his disposal to a scab printing office, and they are making life a burden to him.

ALDERMAN BACKER, of Brooklyn, is a philanthropist—also a real estate dealer. He has offered to the first family that is blessed with twins in his district, a house, rent free, as long as they want to occupy it. To the first family that registers triplets he offers to give a house and lot.

LAST week the towns for many miles around quarantined against Middlesboro on account of the small pox. It would have been a good thing for many people's bank accounts had the surrounding country quarantined against Middlesboro on account of its boom a few years ago.

THE School Record is the name of a neat, four page (two columns to the page) sheet, published by the Verona public school, of which J. H. Craven is principal. It is a credit to the school as well as an evidence of its progress. The first issue contains a splended picture of Mr. R. O. Powers, chairman of the board of trustees.

IF Congressman Berry permits his daughter, Miss Anna, to write a few letters in opposition to the annexation of Hawaii, she may do considerable injury to the annexation cause which he is advocating very earnestly. Miss Anna and her distinguished father saw things from different political standpoints when visiting Hawaii, recently.

IT is going to require some very excellent political generalship on the part of Mayor Weaver, of Louisville, to keep in line the discordant elements of Democracy that united and placed him at the head of the city government. He will have to prove himself an excellent business man as well as an accomplished politician or hereafter his name is "Dennis."

MR. MORTON, who was Secretary of Agriculture under President Cleveland, was a candidate for Supreme Judge on the gold-bug ticket in Nebraska. Before the election he claimed his party would poll 25,000 votes in the State, which would have been a large increase over the Palmer and Buckner vote, but the official canvass disclosed the fact the National Democrats polled less than half the number of votes cast for their ticket one year ago.

LAST winter Messrs. McKinley and Hanna sent a missionary to Frankfort to assist the Kentucky Republicans in electing Dr. Hunter Senator. Many Republicans considered the presence of the Ohio man at Frankfort as an unwarranted interference on the part of the President and his boss, and were outspoken in condemning them, and now some of the Kentucky Republicans propose returning good for evil by doing what they can to bring about the defeat of Hanna for United States Senator.

IT is not surprising that McKinley should be worried about what to say in his annual message to Congress about the Dingley tariff, which was, according to its supporters, to raise such a revenue producing schedule the receipts of the government were to speedily exceed its expenditures. The facts are unsatisfactory enough to worry him and every other supporter of the Dingley law. Since the first of July the Treasury deficit has been more than $43,000,000. The right thing for Mr. McKinley to do would be to provide a sufficient revenue, and to ask Congress to provide other means of raising revenue, either by amending the tarift law or by imposing additional taxation, but he will hardly dare to do that, as it would be an acknowledgement of error upon the country. It is probable that he will wind up by sticking to the original Dingley tariff, that the tariff will, in time, produce revenue sufficient to meet the public expenditures, and let it go at that, trusting to time, circumstance and luck to furnish some way of getting himself and party out of the tariff hole.

THE incoming Mayor of Greater New York has the following juicy plums to dispose of:

One chamberlain, salary $12,000.

One counsel, $15,000.

Four police commissioners, each $5,000; $20,000.

Three park commissioners, each $5,000; $15,000.

One fire commissioner, $7,500.

Two commissioners of accounts, each $5,000; $10,000.

One commissioner of water supply, $7,500.

A commissioner of highways, $7,500.

A commissioner of street cleaning, $7,500.

A commissioner of bridges, $7,500.

Five fire tax commissioners; a president at $8,000; four at $6,000 each; $32,000.

Three charities commissioners, two at $7,500 each, and one at $2,500; $17,500.

A commissioner of correction, $7,500.

Three building commissioners, two at $7,000 each, and one at $3,000; $17,000.

Three health commissioners, one at $7,000 and two at $5,000 each; $16,000.

President board of public improvements, $8,000.

Seven peace justices, two at $6,000 each and five at $5,000 each; $37,000.

Twenty-four magistrates, nineteen at $6,000 each and five at $5,000 each; $139,000.

Ten special justices at $5,000 each; $50,000.

One chief of statistics, $3,500.

Twenty-one school commissioners, none.

Sixty-three marshals, fees.

Six art commissioners, no salary.

The head of the departments in their turn have the appointment of numberless assistants at salaries ranging all the way from $1,000 to $5,000 a year. At present there are mighty few Democrats in office in Greater New York.

Pith of the Press.

Hanna is fortunate in one thing—he is not compelled to file a statement of campaign expenses.—Mansfield (Ohio) Shield.

Gov. Bradley's telegram of congratulation to W. Godfrey Hunter appears to have struck a grounded wire.—Washington Post.

With Hunter in Guatemala and the rest of the Republicans in the soup, Kentucky is ready to receive congratulations.—Greenville Banner.

President McKinley continues to be pleased with the result of the elections. It is surprising how easily pleased some people are.—Salt Lake Herald.

Senator Foraker appears to be of the opinion that the crop of political liars in Ohio this year is a trifle heavier than the wheat crop.—Philadelphia Press.

If Mr. Mudd, of Maryland, reaches the United States Senate he will have no difficulty in arranging a pair with Mr. Clay, of Georgia.—New York Journal.

It looks as if Mr. William D. Bynum might have some trouble in getting himself signed for next season's work of national honor preserving.—Washington Post.

The report of a break between President McKinley and Boss Platt is too good to be true. The President is a great stickler for harmony in the party.—Boston Herald.

Haven't we trouble enough in this country that McKinley should seem bent on annexing more? Haven't we enough rotten boroughs without Hawaii?—N. Y. World.

News from Spain is that Weyler on return to his country will be disgraced if missing maps are not returned. The general impression in this country has been all along that Spain would be highly pleased on Weyler's retirement if the island of Cuba itself was not missing.—Louisville Commercial.

Mark Hanna evidently knows the nature of the Ohio Republicans. Asked to "do something handsome" toward making up a deficit of $11,000 in the Treasury of the State Committee he "came down flat-footed with a refusal." He declined to put out another dollar until he has been elected to the Senate. That's "business"—c. o. d. Pay only when the goods are delivered.—N. Y. World.

Our kind hearted President is said to be hard at work on his message. What, with his unwillingness to turn the cold shoulder to office-seekers or others, and the serious difficulties in dealing with vital questions in his message, surely he needs the strength of a giant. Heavy enough would be his burden if it consisted only of one side of each question. But when a poor man is to be loaded down with water on both sholders on all questions, the strain is indeed tremendous. He has his Wolcott and his Edmunds, both of whom he highly esteems, and with either of whom he would cheerfully agree at proper times. But how can he be expected to mix in one message the assurance of Senator Wolcott that the glorious boon of international bimetallism will some day be ours, and the equally energetic assurance of Mr. Edmunds that bimetallism is the one curse from which we must pray to be delivered. How can he glorify the Cubans for their struggle for liberty, in response to the promise of the St. Louis platform, and at the same time assure the New York stock market that the soft cooings of Minister Woodford at the Court of Madrid will bring from the proud Castilian no threat of chastisement to our nation to the detriment of stocks.—Enquirer.

CROP AND STOCK.

A great many hogs have died of cholera in Bath county.

R. B. Allen sold his old crop of tobacco about 5,000 pounds, to Overby, of Paris, for 13c all round.—Georgetown Times.

Farris & Whitley, of Boyle county, weighed to Weihl ninety-six export cattle, averaging 1,403 pounds which they sold at 4½ cents.

J. W. Bales, agent for Schwartzchild & Co., shipped from Madison county, 305 head of export cattle, bought of various parties at from 4¼ to 4¾ cents.

Now is the time to bear in mind that potatoes should be kept from the light, and as near the freezing point as possible when stored away, says an exchange.

J. E. Carson, of Crab Orchard, sold to G. W. Sisson, of Pottsdam, N. Y., 9 cows and 6 calves; two yearling heifers and one bull calf, all Jerseys, for $1,000.

The large training stable of Jack Chinn's Leonatus Stock Farm burned. The loss on building and provender will be between $4,000 and $5,000. No stock was burned.

The stock barn of State Senator W. H. Jones burned at Freedon. Seven horses were burned. Warner Wilburn was badly burned while trying to save the stock. No insurance.

Jonas Weil shipped 500 head of cattle to the seacoast from Bourbon county. Among the number were 300 head of 1400 lb, cattle purchased of J. E. Clay. Price paid 4¼ to 4½ cents or $20,000.

It is estimated that 32 acres of land are necessary to sustain one man on fresh meat. The same space of land if devoted to wheat culture would feed 42 people; if to oats 88; potatoes, Indian corn and rice, 166, and if to the plaintain or bread fruit tree, over 6,000 people.

England imports eggs and poultry to the value of $23,000,000 while France exports $70,000,000 of the same. France has a number of poultry schools, where pupils are regularly trained in rearing fowls, managing incubators, curing diseases, etc., 30,000 chickens being hatched each season at the Gambels school. The pupils pay for their instructions, and work from 6 a. m. to 8 p. m., three of the hours being devoted to study. Scholarships are founded for the benefit of those unable to afford the tuition fee.

POLITICAL.

The vote in Kentucky was lighter than it was last year. The stay-at-home voters of this year can control futurc elections.—Adair Spectator.

Collector Yandell challenges the admiration of every honest man in refusing to be a party to the disgraceful deal of which he is the victim. Mr. Yandell ought to be a Democrat.—Russellville Ledger.

There are only about leven thousand applicants for the pie at the disposal of Judge Cook. It will be almost as troublesome to fix these appointments right as it was to get the Judge elected.—Cadiz Telephone.

The editor of the Morehead Advance, who was defeated for Representative, says: If we ever go to Frankfort it seems now that the Sheriff will have us in charge—but when it comes to representing Bath and Rowan, we're not in it.

There is going to be a complete new deal in the makeup in the list of State officers in Kentucky. New men from Governor to Register of Lands will go on the ticket. None of the old set will be seriously considered.—Owensboro Messenger.

The election shows what the Democracy can do when united, and the past is what it can do when filled with dissension. There is a conservative line where all Democrats can unite if organization and party fealty are adhered to, as of old.—Argus.

Tom Pettit stuck to the middle of the road and got defeated for County Judge in Daviess county. Tom Gardner stuck to Bryan and free silver, went into the Democratic primary and was elected Judge of Carlisle county. See?—C l i n t o n Democrat.

When the Republicans in Kentucky damned Gov. Bradley's administration, in their State convention, with faint praise, they dug the political grave of their candidate for Clerk of the Court of Appeals, and also for many of their candidates for the legislature.—Corbin News.

Little Tom Pettit's attempt to counteract Gov. Bradley's caustic excoriation is the lamest effort we have ever read. The knock-out blows of the Governor seems to have addled T. Pettit's little brain and he floundered around in a column or two without saying anything.—Stanford Interior Journal.

In a private letter to a Woodford county Republican, Congressman Geo. M. Davidson, of the Eighth Kentucky district, says he thinks Congress will modify if not abolish civil service at the coming session. Mr. Davidson thinks action will be taken not later than December 10, but does not specify what changes he thinks will be made in the existing law. The Pantagraph sincerely hopes our Congressman is correct in his belief.—Richmond Pantagraph.

The politicians hardly get through with one race before they take another, and now they are speculating about the next gubernatorial election. Hardin, Goebel, Ellis, Stone and others are "mentioned" in every caucus, but a Danville Democrat has put a new man's name in the list of possible candidates. Said he to an Advocate representative: "I consider J. T. O'Neal the Louisville lawyer, not only one of the very best, but absolutely the most available, man for the Democratic nomination for Governor.—Danville Advocate.

Collector Roberts, of the Lexington District, has returned from Washington thoroughly convinced that there is no opening through which Democrats can be kicked out of the service and Republicans let in. The Administration is pledged to uphold the civil service, and seems inclined to do so, so there is nothing for the hungry hord to do but swallow their disappointment and look around for another job. However it was the Republican party which started this civil service business consequently it is proper that its followers should be the first to feel the full effects of the protection it affords.—Danville Advocate.

THE National Fox Hunters' Association had an interesting meeting at Cynthiana, last week, and several fine chases were enjoyed.

COUNTY DIRECTORY.

County Judge—Benjamin Stephens.
County Clerk—H. W. Attwood.
County Attorney—J. M. Lassing.
Sheriff—C. C. Roberts.
Jailer—C. L. Crisler.
Assessor—R. A. Brady.
Coroner—A. A. Murat.
Superintendent Schools—J. H. Voshell.
Surveyor—W. E. Vest.

Fiscal Court meets Tuesday after first Monday in January, April, July and October.

RAILROAD COMMISSION:

John C. Wood, Chairman; I. F. Dempsey, H. S. Irwin. Secretary—Samuel Brown.

CIRCUIT COURT.

Judge—John W. Green.
Clerk—J. W. Duncan.
Commonwealth's Attorney—M. D. Gray.
Master Commissioner—J. B. Berkshire.

JUSTICES OF THE PEACE.

Courts are held in the months of March, June, September and December, as follows:

District No 1.—O. W. Gaines, fourth Saturday; J. B. Crigler, Constable.
District No. 2.—M. B. Green, first Saturday; Jake Cook, Constable.
District No. 3.—R. L. Roberts, wednesday after third Monday; T. M. Rich, Constable.
District No. 4.—H. Bannister, Thursday after second Monday; Add Riddell, Constable.
District No. 5.—T. E. Roberts, fourth Monday; J. H. Watson, Constable.
District No. 6.—Joseph Wagstaff, third Saturday; Simeon Tanner, Constable.

STATE DIRECTORY.

Governor—W. O. Bradley.
Lieutenant Governor—W. J. Worthington.
Secretary of State—Charles Finley.
Assistant Secretary of State—E. D. Gully.
Attorney General—W. S. Taylor.
Auditor—Samuel H. Stone.
Assistant Auditor—Frank Johnson.
Treasurer—George W. Long.
Sup't of Public Instruction—Geo. M. Davidson.
Register Land Office—Charles O. Reynolds.
Deputies—Stanley D. Brown, Sam S. Shepherd.
Insurance Commissioner—D. M. Comingore.
Adjutant General—D. R. Collier.
Assistant—Walter Forrester.
Supt. Arsenal—Capt. David O'Connell.
State Inspector—C. W. Lester.
Commissioner Agriculture—Lucas Moore.

COURT OF APPEALS.

Chief Justice—Joseph Lewis. Judges—Geo. Durelle, J. R. Grace, T. H. Payater, B. L. D. Guffy, J. H. Hazelrigg, J. H. Lewis.
Reporter—E. W. Hines. Clerk—A. Addams.
Sergeant—W. S. B. Hill. Tipstaff—C. C. Turner.
Librarian—Mrs. Mary Brown Day.
Inspector of Mines—C. J. Norwood.

STATE PRISON OFFICIALS:

Frankfort Prison—Warden, Henry Gedrge; Deputy Warden, M. A. Romney.
Eddyville Prison—Warden, L. C. Curry; Deputy Warden, Ward Linn.

JOHN C. TANNER
SPECIAL AGENT,
ERLANGER, - - KY.
Representing Reliable Companies Manufacturing
Musical Instruments, Sewing Machines, Bicycles, Buggies, Farming Implements
—ALSO—
Coal and Lumber, Granite & Marble Work, Life & Fire Insurance.
☞ Prompt Attention and Satisfaction Guaranteed.
Aug 25 3m.

B. F. BUCHANAN,
— DRUGGIST, —
Rising Sun, - Indiana.
Thanks his Kentucky friends for their renewed patronage and invites them to continue to call at the Corner Drug Store.

INSURE AT HOME
The Farmers' Mutual Fire
INSURANCE COMPANY,
OF BOONE COUNTY,
Is now completely organized and receiving applications for insurance.
Its Rates are Lower
Than those of any other Company and gives the farmers of Boone County
HITHERTO UNKNOWN ADVANTAGE
In keeping their property insured.
EVERY FARMER IN THE COUNTY should take a policy at once.
E. H. BLANKENBECKER, - President, Florence, Ky.
D. E. LAWELL, - Vice-President.
OSCAR GAINES, Secretary, Burlington.
J. E. DUNCAN, Treasurer.
EXECUTIVE BOARD—Legrand Gaines, J. W. Conner, John Stephens.
J. E. SMITH, Assessor, - Burlington, Ky.
W. M. ROGERS, Agt. - Walton, Ky.

FOR SALE--This Fall.
STRAWBERRY PLANTS.
Bubach No. 5. P. Greenville P.
Parker Earl, Haverlan,
And other Varieties.
LIGHT BRAHMA FOWLS.
Blackberry & Raspberry Sprouts.
For further information write to
WM. C. ROUSE, Limaburg, Ky.

D. E. CASTLEMAN,
ATTORNEY - AT - LAW,
BURLINGTON, KY.
Will practice in the Courts of Boone Kenton, Grant and Gallatin. Collections pushed energetically.

G. G. HUGHES,
ATTORNEY AT LAW.
BURLINGTON, KY.
Will practice in all the courts. Prompt attention given to all business entrusted to me.

P. E. CASON,
ATTORNEY - AT - LAW,
BURLINGTON, KY,
Practice in all Courts. Promptness guaranteed.

J. G. TOMLIN,
ATTORNEY - AT - LAW,
WALTON, KENTUCKY.
Will practice in the Courts of Boone, Kenton Grant and Gallatin. Prompt attention given t Collections entrusted to him. mchas-yr.

W. E. VEST,
County Surveyor,
BURLINGTON, KY.
Is prepared to do all kinds of Surveying. All orders by maill promptly attended to.

J. M. LASSING. N. E. RIDDELL
LASSING & RIDDELL,
ATTORNEYS AT LAW.
BURLINGTON, KY.
Prompt Attention Given to Collections

S. GAINES,
ATTORNEY-AT-LAW.
BURLINGTON, KY.
Will practice in all the courts, and prompt attention given collections. Office—In residence near post-office.

DR. A. B. HARRYMAN,
DENTIST.
Will be in Lawrenceburg, Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday.
At Aurora, Thursday, Friday and Saturday. Practiced for 30 years.
No Poisonous Gasses Used.

S. W. ADAMS,
ATTORNEY - AT - LAW,
ERLANGER, KENTUCKY.
Will practice in the courts of Boone and Kenton counties. Collections and general law practice.

W. E. VEST. B. L. RICE.
VEST & RICE,
Real Estate Agents.
Farms Bought, Sold or Exchanged, Money to Loan on Real Estate, Notes bought, sold & Negotiated.
☞ All communications addressed to W. E. VEST, Burlington, Ky.

BOONE CO. DEPOSIT BANK.
(Incorporated 1856.)
CAPITAL, ... $30,000
Surplus and undivided profits, 19,000
Our facilities enable us to receive on favorable terms accounts of individuals and corporations. Collections promptly remitted for at lowest rates.

ERLANGER DEPOSIT BANK.
(INCORPORATED 1893.)
ERLANGER, - - KENTUCKY
CAPITAL PAID IN $50,000
SURPLUS, ... $ 3,000
Careful attention given collections and remittances promptly made. Deposit accounts solicited.

Dr. J. L. Adams,
DENTIST,
Walton, Kentucky.
All work executed according to the latest methods of the profession.
Satisfaction - Guaranteed.

W. N. HIND & CO.
FURNITURE STORE
213 W. Fifth St.
Cincinnati, O

JOHN L. VEST,
SURVEYOR
WALTON, KY.
Is prepared to do all kinds of work south of Burlington, Ky. Prompt attention given to all mail orders.

THE RECORDER.

W. L. RIDDELL, Publisher.

BURLINGTON, : : : KY.

CURRENT TOPICS

THE king of Siam has 500 brothers and sisters.

THE Norwegian government asks for bids for railway supplies to the extent of $1,000,000.

A MOVEMENT has been inaugurated to establish a zoological garden at Chattanooga, Tenn.

PEARLS are seen in every color imaginable, and the milk-white pearl is nowadays a lonesome gem.

CONTRARY to all expectation, the American tourist season in Europe has been the worst in many years.

TWENTY-FIVE farmers in Texas have banded themselves together into a Watermelon Growers' association.

THE governor of Arizona, in his annual message, strongly recommends that the territory be admitted to statehood.

THIEVES at Port Chester, N. Y., stole a flight of stairs. It would be interesting to known if these were their first steps in crime.

THE Georgia House has adopted a resolution creating a commission to mark the graves of Confederate soldiers in northern states.

MR. GLADSTONE contemplates the preparation of a biographical work, to include the lives of most of the famous modern divines.

THERE is apparently no limit to the mimicking propensities of the monkey. The little Darwinian ancestors now have the plague in India.

IN building a new riding school at Sandringham the Prince of Wales has taken care to have a covered bicycle track constructed around it.

THE ratification of the treaty for the annexation of Hawaii will be one of the interesting questions before the United States senate shortly.

TREES which grow on the northern side of a hill are much more durable when converted into furniture than those which grow on the southern side.

THE tallest of trees are to be found in the state forest of Victoria, Australia. They belong to the eucalyptus family, and range from 300 to 500 feet in height.

THE fact that several large insurance companies propose to base future estimates upon 3½ per cent. rate of interest instead of 4 means that the rate of interest is falling.

THE faculty of Boston University theological school have asked for the resignation of Rev. Mr. Reeder, who married a couple in a lion's cage at the Zoological garden.

THE first beet sugar company organized in the east is at Richmond, Va. It has a capital of $500,000 and will be supplied with machinery of the most approved pattern.

SINCE Queen Victoria has found it necessary to lean on a cane in walking she has used a stout oak stick originally presented to Charles II. by a loyal citizen of Worcester.

MEADOW LAWN farm, near Mattoon, Ill., has been purchased by Chief Arthur and will be converted into a round-house for disabled engineers and their dependents.

CECIL RHODES is said to be steadily pursuing a scheme for the defeat of Paul Kruger for re-election as president of the Transvaal at the election two months hence.

ON Prince Bismarck's eightieth birthday a sum of 2,000,000 marks was collected for a statue of the "Founder of the German Unity," to be set up in front of the new Reichstag building.

THE profits of Monte Carlo's gambling tables for the year ending October 31 were a million dollars below those of the previous year. The suicides during the year numbered 35.

THE Milwaukee Sentinel publishes statistics showing that Wisconsin stands third among the states in the manufacture of paper and pulp, being outclassed only by Maine and New York.

OF the 976,014 pensioners on the government rolls only 3,650 receive as much as $50 a month. Altogether this number draw about $30,000,000 a year, against a total pension expenditure of nearly $140,000,000.

IT is said that letters dropped in the post office of Paris are delivered in Berlin in an hour and a half, and sometimes within 35 minutes. The distance between the cities is 750 miles, and letters are sent by means of pneumatic tubes.

It has been calculated that in the case of a man six feet high it takes one-twentieth of a second for a message to travel along his nerves from the brain to the feet, so the theory arises that the sorter a man is the sharper he should be.

LADY HENRY SOMERSET has given the town of Reigate, Eng., sufficient land for the erection of ten almshouses. This gift, is in connection with the scheme for the erection of almshouses at Reigate in commemoration of the diamond jubilee.

THE possibilities of electricity seem almost endless. Experiments at the Massachusetts experiment station show that the growth and maturity of vegetables, fruits and flowers can be greatly stimulated by it and the percentage of sugar in sugar beets increased fully 25 per cent.

A RECENT fad of Herr Krupp, the German ironmaster, is said to have been the use of iron as a material for his visiting cards. The plate was rolled as thin as the most dainty cardboard.

THE tree that grew from a walnut planted by Mr. and Mrs. Jarrett Haynes, pioneers of Paducah, Ky., has been cut down and sawed into boards, with which coffins for the old couple are to be made.

DR. FELIX GARCIA, 2928 Gravers, St. Louis, is attending a most extraordinary patient. The man, whose name is Samuel Coulter, is slowly ossifying. Coulter is 48 years old and unmarried, and was born near Santa Fe, N. M.

STEAMER BURNS.

The Bluff City Totally Destroyed by Fire at Chester, Ill.

One Thousand Tons of Miscellaneous Freight on Board Was Also Lost. The Passengers Escaped—The Loss Will Aggregate About $100,000.

ST. LOUIS, Nov. 19.—The magnificent new Anchor Line steamer Bluff City, one of the finest and newest boats on the lower Mississippi, which left here on Wednesday, bound for New Orleans with 40 passengers and 1,000 tons of miscellaneous freight on board, was burned to the water's edge at Chester, Ill., 75 miles below here, at 9 a. m., Thursday.

All the passengers and crew escaped to land without injury, but nothing on board was saved. The loss which is total, will aggregate $100,000. A number of race horses, that were being taken to New Orleans for the races there, were burned up on board the boat.

Flames were discovered shortly before 9 o'clock in the engine room and spread rapidly, soon enveloping the whole boat. The passengers and crew got to shore safely, not one of them being injured in the least. They were unable to save any baggage, however. Capt. Conners and Clerk Gates did all they could to get the passengers out of harm's way, and though there was a rush for the gang plank a panic was averted. Most of the passengers were yellow fever refugees who were returning to their homes in the south from St. Louis.

When the flames reached the powder magazine there was a tremendous explosion, which shattered the boat and caused it to sink to the bottom of the river. Numerous window panes in buildings on shore were broken and the town of Chester was badly shaken.

DUKE CROXON

Found Guilty of Assaulting Mrs. Gleason and Goes to the Penitentiary for Twenty Years.

NEWPORT, Ky., Nov. 19.—At 11:30 o'clock Thursday the jury in the Croxon case returned a verdict of guilty of criminally assaulting Mrs. Gleason, and fixed the penalty at 20 years in the penitentiary. That the verdict was more than acceptable to the accused and his attorneys there can be no doubt.

The state presented a very strong case against Croxon and the defense had practically no testimony to offer. For this reason the verdict was a very great surprise. Many thought that the extreme penalty should have been meted out to Croxon and Greer at least, but the jury, which was above the average in intelligence, thought differently.

After the verdict had been read Croxon heaved a sigh of relief and fairly leaned upon his attorneys. After a short consultation with Judge Hill he was led back to jail, where he broke the good news of his escape from the scaffold to his fellow prisoners.

A BATTLE

At Mogote, in Which the Insurgents Are Reported to Have Been Put to Flight.

HAVANA, Nov. 19.—It is officially reported that the combined forces under Col. Esteban recently had an engagement with an insurgent force under the leadership of Varano at Mogote, in the province of Pinar del Rio, with the result that the insurgents were put to flight, leaving 21 of their number dead on the field. Among the slain were the leader Torriente and the insurgent prefect of Calafre Montes de Oca. The Spanish force captured a quantity of arms and ammunition and also destroyed the insurgents' camp.

The infanta battalion, according to the official report, attacked a force of insurgents at Sierra Yagles, province of Pinar del Rio, and the Spanish guide and seven soldiers were wounded. The troops captured the mother of the insurgent leader Nunez and her two sons. Forty-one rifles were seized and the insurgent camp and 52 huts were destroyed.

The Germany-China Trouble.

LONDON, Nov. 19.—According to a special dispatch from Shanghai, Adm. Von Diederich, commander of the German cruiser division, before landing marines at Kiao-Chau on Monday morning notified the British, French and Russian admirals of his intention; and it is said that the Russian admiral expressed approval. The Chinese do not appear to be much distressed over the matter, declaring that Russia, Germany and France are preparing to attack Japan, and will use Kiao-Chau bay as a naval base.

Anti-Football Bill Passes the Senate.

ATLANTA, Ga., Nov. 19.—Representative Coles football bill, providing for the prohibition of the playing of match or exhibition games where admission fee is charged, passed the senate Thursday. The bill has already passed the lower branch of the legislature and now awaits the approval of the governor. There is no doubt but that he will sign it.

Arson and Suicide.

ST. PAUL, Minn., Nov. 19.—The body of Henry W. Heine, of the commission firm of Heine & Cummings, was examined by the coroner Thursday. Instead of having been burned to death in fighting a fire on his premises, it was discovered that Mr. Heine had shot himself through the head after setting the building on fire. The cause of his suicide is not known.

Philippine Islands Pacified.

LONDON, Nov. 19.—A special dispatch from Madrid published here Thursday evening, says all the important insurgent chiefs of the Philippine Islands have surrendered to the Spanish authorities, and Capt. Gen. Primo De Rivera announced the complete pacification of that colony.

John M. Clayton's Murderer.

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., Nov. 19.—A man in Georgia has written a letter to Gov. Jones, of Arkansas, saying that he can locate the man who murdered the Hon. John M. Clayton at Plummersville, Ark., in 1889.

CONTRIBUTIONS

From Experts on the Methods of Cultivating Tobacco in Kentucky and Tennessee and the African Article.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 20.—The secretary of agriculture purposes issuing a series of farmer's bulletins on tobacco and has issued a circular soliciting contributions from experts on the method of cultivation, on the export tobaccos of Kentucky and Tennessee and on the marketing of tobacco. He promises to reward those whose contributions are accepted at the rate of $15 per 1,000 words, but suggested that no one essay should contain more than 10,000 words. The papers are to be submitted to the secretary not later than March 31, 1898.

The circular issued gives the following directions for proceeding with the work:

(1) Methods of Cultivation—This should treat of practical work as done in the different districts as follows: Selecting the seed; the seed bed and how prepared in the different tobacco districts; the time and manner of sowing the seed; the time and manner of setting out the plants, the cultivation, fertilization, topping and cutting, protection from insects and diseases.

(2) Export tobaccos of Kentucky and Tennessee—This should treat particularly of the types and characteristics of tobaccos adapted to each of the different foreign markets; the methods of curing, sorting, fermenting and packing, with recommendations for such changes in these methods as will insure an increased price for the products.

(3) The marketing of tobacco—This should be treated from the commercial side. Cigar leaf—Is manufacturing, smoking, plug, cigarettes. Export—This should include particularly the grading and packing of the different types, with suggestions as to improvements in existing methods.

"The price offered is a third more than is usually paid by the department, it is hoped that the increased rate will stimulate practical men to take up the work.

Secretary Alger has received a telegram from a Los Angeles newspaper offering to publish the advertisements of the war department calling for proposals for the building of the breakwater at San Pedro, Cal., and take their chances of obtaining money in payment from congress next session.

Public Printer Palmer has appointed Lewis C. Ferrell, of Illinois, to the position of superintendent of public documents in the government printing office to succeed F. A. Crandall, reduced. The appointee has for a number of years been the private secretary of Senator Cullom, of Illinois.

The people of Idaho have been deeply stirred by the recommendation made by Gen. Merriam, commanding the department of the Columbia, that the United States military post at Boise barracks be abandoned. They have made some strong representations to the war department on the subject with the result that it is now formally announced that the secretary of war does not contemplate the abandonment of the post.

HOME RULE

For Cuba is Approved by President McKinley—He Will Express the Hope That Cuba Will Not Prolong the War.

NEW YORK, Nov. 20.—The World Friday morning makes the following statement:

"The World is able to say on very high authority that President McKinley will tacitly approve the programme for autonomy, or home rule for Cuba, which Spain now promises.

"Second, that the president will express the hope that Cubans will not prolong their war for complete independence, but will accept instead a form of autonomy.

"Third, that if the Cubans do not heed his advice Spain will be given more time without interference from the United States.

"Fourth, the president says that he ardently desires peace both at home and abroad. War scares and belligerency resolutions disturb business, retards prosperity and do no good. A new congress is to be chosen next fall and everything depends on 'good times.' A season of peace from Cuban sensations is therefore now almost certain.

"Fifth, Spain has been informed of McKinley's hopes and plans, and as the first evidence of her own fond intentions and good will, she pardoned and released Thursday the American crew of the filibustering schooner Competitor, caught under arms off the coast of Cuba on April 15, 1896."

Maj. Britton Dead.

NEW YORK, Nov. 20.—John Britton, late major of the Eighteenth Pennsylvania calvary, died here Thursday, aged 60 years, from a complication of diseases, primary cause being a wound inflicted on his head by a sabre at Hagerstown, Md., in 1863. The same wound caused Maj. Britton to lose the entire use of his eyes during the last nine years of his life. He was engaged in 49 battles, and was one of the 5,000 picked men who participated in Kilpatrick's raid on Richmond, Va.

Germany Explains.

LONDON, Nov. 20.—Count Von Wildenburg Hatzfeldt, the German ambassador here, is in receipt of important dispatches from Berlin and has explained to the marquis of Salisbury the occupation of Kiao Cheu bay, province of Shan Tun, China, by the German squadron in Chinese waters, and promised further explanations, which he added, had been mailed from Berlin.

A Lineman Executed.

CHARLESTON, S. C., Nov. 20.—Henry Heyward, colored, a lineman in the employ of the Charleston Electric Light Co., was electrocuted while at work Friday afternoon on Shell street. Heyward was seated astride a pole, when he took hold of a live wire. He was killed instantly, but the body remained in a natural position on the bar.

Butterworth Out of Danger.

CLEVELAND, O., Nov. 20.—Hon. Ben Butterworth, commissioner of patents, is rapidly improving and is now out of danger.

THE GREAT BULK

Of Losses to the London Fire Will Fall on the American Companies.

Only Two Firemen Were Slightly Hurt During the Work of Extinguishing the Flames—All Historical Treasures of Cripple Gate Church Were Saved.

LONDON, Nov. 22.—A number of fire engines are still playing upon the smoldering ruins which mark the scene of the great conflagration near the general post office Friday. Walls are falling every now and then.

It is impossible to accurately estimate the damage done, but the direct loss will probably be below $10,000,000.

Consols and India three-per-cents have fallen heavily on the belief that the losses will necessitate heavy sales by insurance companies and most of the insurance companies' shares have dropped 10 to 30 shillings.

The Evening Standard, in its financial article, Saturday afternoon says it is believed that the bulk of the fire losses will fall upon American insurance companies.

The last flames disappeared by 11 o'clock Saturday morning, but as this message is forwarded water is still being poured upon the red-hot masses of ruins. The burned district is surrounded by enormous crowds of people and the railroads are running excursions from the country.

In spite of the magnitude of the disaster, only two firemen were slightly injured during the work of extinguishing the flames.

About three hundred firms are seeking for new offices. The estimates of the amount of damage done range from $10,000,000 to $50,000,000, but according to the best opinion the loss is about $10,000,000.

The official report says the cause of the fire is unknown.

A large number of warehouses from five to six stories high have been burned and have partly fallen, the whole covering an area of 200 by 150 yards, bounded by Nicholl square, Edmunds place, Jewin crescent, Austrailan avenue, Paul's alley and Red Cross street.

The insurance agents take an optimistic view of the losses, their estimates ranging from $500,000 to $4,000,000. It is a fact that dozens of burned out firms were not insured, in some cases because they were considered to be undesirable customers and in others because the locality has long been considered dangerous by the insurance companies. The latter assert that the sensational reports regarding the losses have been promoted on the stock exchange in order to influence stocks.

All the historic treasures of Cripple Gate church were removed, including the records of Oliver Cromwell's marriage, Milton's burial and the deaths from the plague in 1665.

GEN. ORDWAY.

A Veteran of the Late War, Dies in New York City.

NEW YORK, Nov. 22.—Gen. Albert Ordway, of Washington, died at the Hoffman house at 7:15 o'clock Sunday night.

Brevet-Brig. Gen. Albert Ordway, who was born in 1843, served with credit and gallantry throughout the civil war, the greater portion of the time with his regiment, the Twenty-fourth Massachusetts infantry. An act of personal gallantry at New Berne, N. C., was followed by his appointment as adjutant of the regiment. He remained in in North Carolina until January, 1863, later served in the army of the Potomac, then in Florida and through the campaign of 1864-65 in the army of the James. After the occupation of Richmond he was appointed provert marshal of Virginia where, through a portion of the trouble of reconstruction times, he directed the delicate duties of his position with much skill and tact. For gallantry at various times and because of his ability he had been successively promoted until when slightly over 22 years of age he was, mustered brevet brigadier general, being the youngest officer in the service to receive that grade. His regiment and himself were retained in the service until February, 1866, and were the last volunteer troops mustered out in the state. After being mustered out Gen. Ordway went into business at Richmond, and about ten years later removed to Washington, where, as commanding officer of the National guard for a number of years, he brought that organization up to a high standard.

New Fast Mail Service.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Nov. 22.—The new fast mail train service on the Santa Fe was inaugurated Sunday morning. The train will start from Kansas City daily at 2:30 in the morning and will lay local and eastern mails down in western Kansas towns nearly 12 hours earlier than heretofore and improve greatly on connections for the far west. The train will make 42 miles an hour between here and Newton, Kas., and is said to be the fastest mail train in the country.

Burned to a Crisp.

BETHANY, Mo., Nov. 22.—James Barker and Elmer Fruit, young men of prominent local families, were burned to a crisp in a fire that destroyed Blackburn Brothers' livery barn early Sunday morning. Two comrades tried to rescue them and were nearly suffocated. It is said the fire started from a lantern by which the victims were playing cards.

Millions of Shingles Lost.

PORTLAND, Ore., Nov. 22.—News has reached here that a boom containing 4,000,000 feet of logs and 1,500 cords of shingle bolts broke loose at the mouth of the Cowlitz river Thursday during the high water. Two steamers were sent after the scattered logs, but a large portion of them have floated into the Columbia river and will be lost. The logs were owned by J. U. Hartley and Charles England.

Prof. Colderwood Dead.

LONDON, Nov. 22.—Henry Calderwood, professor of moral philosophy in the University of Edinburg, is dead.

It Makes Cold Feet Warm.

Shake into your under shoes Allen's Foot-Ease, a powder for the feet. It gives rest and comfort, prevents that smarting sensation and sore, tender feet. Allen's Foot-Ease makes cold feet warm. After your feet perspire they usually feel cold at this season. Ask your druggist or shoe dealer to-day for a 25c box of Allen's Foot-Ease and use it at once. Sample sent Free. Address Allen S. Olmsted, Le Roy, N. Y.

An Up-to-Date Twist.

She—What is love?

He—Two saddles with but a single frame: two sprockets that turn as one.—Judge.

Take the Air Line

To St. Louis and the West, 53 miles the shortest from Louisville, makes the quickest time, Pullman Sleepers, Parlor and Dining Cars. For complete information address J. E. Mallett, Traveling Passenger Agent, Knoxville, Tenn. R. A. Campbell, General Passenger Agent, St. Louis, Mo.

Just Alike.

Walker—Male cyclers are just like female gossips.

Talker—How so?

"They're always running somebody down."—Up-to-Date.

Disfigured from a bruise? No; not. When St. Jacobs Oil cures it. No chance.

Wearing glasses seems to go in families, like consumption and red hair.—Washington Democrat.

A treasure laid up is St. Jacobs Oil. It cures the worst Neuralgia.

Very few nice girls have fool mothers.—Atchison Globe.

Disability is made ability to work from The cure of Lumbago by St. Jacobs Oil.

The sweetest smile is always bestowed on somebody else.—Atchison Globe.

A PERFECT TALKING MACHINE FOR $10

RECORDS 50c EACH $5.00 PER DOZEN

WRITE FOR CATALOGUE "K"

SPEAR & CO., INDIANAPOLIS, IND.

WINCHESTER GUN CATALOGUE FREE

SEND YOUR NAME ON A POSTAL CARD AND WE WILL SEND YOU OUR 156 PAGE ILLUSTRATED CATALOGUE FREE

WINCHESTER REPEATING ARMS CO. 180 WINCHESTER AVE., NEW HAVEN, CONN.

HARTSHORNS SELF-ACTING SHADE ROLLERS

NOTICE NAME THIS LABEL AND GET THE GENUINE HARTSHORN

Stewart Hartshorn

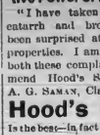
DROPSY NEW DISCOVERY; gives quick relief and cures worst cases. Send for book of testimonials and 10 days' treatment Free. Dr. H. H. GREEN'S SONS, Atlanta, Ga.

WANTED—Men and women agents to sell Mackintoshes direct from factory. Big money to live people. Address WESTERN M'F'G CO., 56 5th Ave., Chicago.

Free from Catarrh

Surprised at the Wonderful Curative Power of Hood's Sarsaparilla.

"I have taken Hood's Sarsaparilla for catarrh and bronchial trouble and have been surprised at its wonderful curative properties. I am now entirely free from both these complaints, and heartily recommend Hood's Sarsaparilla for catarrh." A. G. SAMAN, Clark Mills, Wisconsin.



Hood's Sarsaparilla

Is the best—in fact the One True Blood Purifier.

Hood's Pills act easily, effectively. 25c.

GEORGIA LADIES HATE SHAMS.

Mrs. R. A. Shore

Whiteville, Ga., writes: Have used Dr. M. A. Simmons Liver Medicine 15 years for Sick Headache, Costiveness, and no woman passing through the change of Life should be without it. It acts on no more mildly and thoroughly than the "Liver Regulator" made by Zeilin or the "Black Draught" made by Chattanooga Medicine Company.

Nervous Depression of Women.

A woman will often without knowing it commit slow suicide for her family. She will think, toil and worry for her children. Too often they do not appreciate it. Her tired nerves and weary body at last reach a stage when she is almost powerless for any kind of mental or physical work, and she is depressed and worried over the consciousness that she is unable to perform her accustomed duties. Her organs of digestion are disordered and although there is a constant disposition to rest, wakefulness and loss of power to sleep are serious indications of nervous depression. What she needs is a course of Dr. Simmons Squaw Vine Wine to restore a healthy functional activity and give tone and vitality to her nervous system. At the same time the stomach, liver and kidneys should be stimulated with Dr. M. A. Simmons Liver Medicine.

Jas. A. Cantrell

Bell Ground, Ga., writes: I have known Dr. M. A. Simmons Liver Medicine 20 years, and that it cures La Grippe, Headache and other complaints. I think it is stronger than "Zeilin's Regulator" and "Black Draught," and that it gives better satisfaction.

Pains in Lower Back.

After reaching maturity, and especially after passing through the experience of maternity, most women find their health seriously damaged, if not entirely impaired. The painful and weary dragging and bearing down sensation in the back almost every woman has at times experienced. Sometimes these are from uterine displacement, but often they are simply from weakness. Women who have to bear heavy burdens, to undergo severe fatigue or to endure crushing disappointments, are subject to this and many other diseases. We cannot too strongly recommend the use of Dr. Simmons Squaw Vine Wine, the great female tonic and regulator.

A HOT TIME

THE FIRESIDE SUPPLY CO., of Zanesville, Ohio, has decided to make AN UNPARALLELED OFFER as a means of advertising and extending its business.

OUR NO. 11 OAK! AN AIR-TIGHT HEATING STOVE

Will be sold for 90 Days at the unheard-of price of $6.25!

We do not ask you to buy a "pig in a poke." Send postal for our booklet containing full information and buy later when convinced that WE MEAN BUSINESS.

FIRESIDE SUPPLY CO., ZANESVILLE, OHIO.

Write us NOW. If you don't, next time you think of it the paper containing this advertisement will have disappeared.

GET THE GENUINE ARTICLE!

Walter Baker & Co.'s Breakfast COCOA

Trade-Mark

Pure, Delicious, Nutritious.

Costs Less than ONE CENT a cup.

Be sure that the package bears our Trade-Mark.

Walter Baker & Co. Limited,

(Established 1780.) Dorchester, Mass.

(with a little soap) used to be the thing to clean house with. Now-a-days it's Pearline. Pearline is easier and quicker and better than elbow-grease. One reason why millions of women prefer Pearline, rather than anything else, in cleaning house, is that it saves the paint and woodwork. But the principal reason, of course, is that it saves so much work. 548

Beware Peddlers and some unscrupulous grocers will tell you, "this is as good as" or "the same as Pearline." IT'S FALSE—Pearline is never peddled; if your grocer sends you an imitation, be honest—send it back. JAMES PYLE, New York.

CANDY CATHARTIC Cascarets CURE CONSTIPATION

REGULATE THE LIVER

10c 25c 50c ALL DRUGGISTS

"BREVITY IS THE SOUL OF WIT." GOOD WIFE, YOU NEED SAPOLIO

TOO MUCH THEOLOGY.

In Sermons Religion Partakes of Technical Word Tangles

Which Do Not Satisfy the General Public—In the Future a Man Will Arise and Cast Aside the Isms for the Living Gospel.

Dr. Talmage's text Sunday was Luke ix. 60: "Go thou and preach the Kingdom of God."

The Gospel is to be regnant over all hearts, all circles, all governments and all lands. The Kingdom of God spoken of in the text is to be a universal kingdom, and just as wide as that will be realm sermonic. "Go thou and preach the Kingdom of God." We hear a great deal in these days about the coming man, and the coming woman, and the coming time. Some one ought to tell us of the coming sermon. It is a simple fact that everybody knows that most of the sermons of to-day do not reach the world. The vast majority of the people of our great cities never enter church.

The sermon of to-day carries along with it the deadwood of all ages. Hundreds of years ago it was decided what a sermon ought to be, and it is the attempt of many theological seminaries and doctors of divinity to hew the modern pulpit utterances into the same old style proportions. Booksellers will tell you they dispose of a hundred histories, a hundred novels, a hundred poems to one book of sermons. What is the matter? Some say the age is the worst of all ages. It is better. Some say religion is wearing out, when it is wearing in. Some say there are so many who despise the Christian religion. I answer, there never was an age when there was so many Christians or so many friends of Christianity as this age has—our age—as to others a hundred to one. What is the matter, then? It is simply because our sermon of to-day is not suited to the age. It is the canal boat in an age of locomotive and electric telegraph. The sermon will have to be shaken out of the old grooves, or it will not be heard and it will not be read.

Before the world is converted, the sermon will have to be converted. You might as well go into a modern Sedan or Gettysburg with bows and arrows instead of rifles and bombshells and parks of artillery as to expect to conquer this world for God by the old styles of sermonology. Jonathan Edwards preached the sermons best adapted to the age in which he lived, but if those sermons were preached now they would divide an audience into two classes: those sound asleep and those wanting to go home.

But there is a coming sermon—who will preach it I have no idea; in what part of the earth it will be born I have no idea; in which denominatiou of Christinns it will be delivered, I can not guess. That coming sermon may be born in the country meeting house on the banks of the St. Lawrence, or the Oregon, or the Ohio, or the Tombigbee, or the Alabama. The man who shall deliver it may this moment lie in a cradle under the shadow of the Sierra Nevadas, or in a New England farmhouse, or amid the rice fields of southern savannas. Or this moment there may be some young man in some of our theological seminaries, in the junior, or middle, or senior class, shaping that weapon of power. Or there may be coming some new baptism of the Holy Ghost on the churches, so that some of us who now stand in the watch towers of Zion, waiting to the realization of our present inefficiency, may preach it ourselves. That coming sermon may not be 20 years off. And let us pray God that its arrival may be hastened, while I announce to you what I think will be the chief characteristics of that sermon when it does arrive; and I want to make the remarks appropriate and suggestive to all classes of Christian workers.

First of all, I remark that that coming sermon will be full of a living Christ, in contradistinction to didactic technicalities. A sermon may be full of Christ though hardly mentioning His name, and a sermon may be empty of Christ while every sentence is repetitions of His titles. The world wants a living Christ, not a Christ standing at the head of a formal system of theology, but a Christ who means pardon and sympathy and condolence and brotherhood and life and Heaven. A poor man's Christ. An overworked man's Christ. An invalid's Christ. A farmer's Christ. A merchant's Christ. An artisan's Christ. An every man's Christ.

A symmetrical and finely-worded system of theology is well enough for theological classes, but it has no more business in a pulpit than have the technical phrases of an anatomist, or a physician, in the sick room of a patient. The world wants help, immediate and world-uplifting, and it will come through a sermon in which Christ shall walk right down into the immortal soul and take everlasting possession of it, filling it as full of light as is the noonday firmament. That sermon of the future will not deal with men in the threadbear illustrations of Jesus Christ. In that coming sermon there will be instances of vicarious sacrifice taken right out of every day life, for there is not a day somebody is not dying for others. As the physician, saving his diphtheric patient by sacrificing his own life; as the ship captain going down with his vessel, while he is getting his passengers into the lifeboat; as the fireman, consuming in the burning building while he is taking a child out of a fourth-story window; as last summer the strong swimmer at Long Branch, or Cape May, or Lake George himself perished in trying to rescue the drowning; as the newspaper boy not long ago, supporting his mother for some years, was an invalid, when offered by a gentleman 50 cents to get some especial paper, and he got it and rushed up in his anxiety to deliver it and was crushed under the wheels of the train, and laid on the grass with only strength enough to say: "Oh, what will become of my poor, sick mother now?"

Vicarious suffering? The world is full of it. An engineer said to me on a locomotive in Dakota: "We men seem to be coming to better appreciation than we used to. Did you see that account the other day of an engineer, who, to save his passengers, stuck to his place, and when he was found dead in the locomotive, which was found upside down, he was found still smiling, his hand on the airbrake?" And as the engineer said it to me he put his hand on the airbrake to illustrate his meaning, and I looked at him and thought, "you would be just as much of a hero in the same crisis."

Oh, my! that coming sermon of the Christ church there will be living illustrations taken from every-day life of victims suffering—illustrations that will bring to mind the ghastlier sacrifice of Him Who, in the high places of the field and on the cross fought our battle and wept our griefs and endured out struggles and died our death.

A German sculptor made an image of Christ, and he asked his little child, two years old, who it was, and the child said: "That must be some very great man." The sculptor was displeased with the critielsm, so he got another block of marble and chiseled away on it two or three years, and when he brought in his little child, four or five years of age, and he said to her: "What do you think that is?" She said: "That must be the One who took little children in His arms and blessed them." Then the sculptor was satisfied. O my friends, what the world wants is not a cold Christ, not an intellectual Christ, not a severely magisterial Christ, but a loving Christ, spreading out His arms of sympathy to press the whole world to His loving heart.

But I remark again, that the coming sermon of the Christian church will be a short sermon. Condensation is demanded by the age in which we live. No more need of long introductions and long applications and so many divisions of a discourse that it may be said to be hydra-headed. In other days men got all their information from the pulpit. There were few books and there were no newspapers, and there was little travel from place to place, and the people would sit and listen two and a half hours to a religious discourse, and "seven-teenthly" would find them fresh and chipper. In those times there was enough room for a man to take an hour to warm himself up to the subject and an hour to cool off. But what was a necessity is a superfluity now. Congregations are full of knowledge from books, from newspapers, from rapid and continuous intercommunication; and long disquisitions of what they know will not be abided. If a religious teacher can not compress what he wishes to say to the people in the space of 45 minutes, better adjourn to some other day.

The trouble is we preach audiences into a Christian frame of mind and then we preach them out of it. We forget that every auditor has so much capacity for attention, and when that is exhausted he is restless. That accident on the Long Island railroad came from the fact that the brakes were out of order, and when they wanted to stop the trnin they could not stop; hence the casualty was terrific. In all religious discourses we want locomotive power and propulsion; we want at the same time stout brakes to let down at the right instaut. It is a dismal thing, after a hearer has comprehended the whole subject, to hear a man say: "Now, to recapitulate," and "a few words by way of application," and "once more," and "finally," and "now to conclude."

Paul preached until midnight, and Eutychus got sound asleep, and fell out of a window and broke his neck. Some would say, "Good for him." I would rather be sympathetic like Paul, and resuseltate him. That accident is often quoted now in religious circles as a warning against somnolence in church. It is just as much a warning to ministers against prolixity. Eutychus was wrong in his somnolence, but Paul made a mistake when he kept on until midnight. He ought to have stopped at 11 o'clock, and there would have been no accident. If Paul might have gone on to too great length, let all those of us who are now preaching the Gospel remember that there is a limit to religious discourse, or ought to be, and that in our time we have no apostolic power or miracles. Napoleon, in an address of seven minutes, thrilled his army and thrilled Europe. Christ's sermon on the mount—the model sermon—was less than 18 minutes long at ordinary mode of delivery. It is not electricity scattered all over the sky that strikes, but electricity gathered into a thunderbolt and hurled; and it is not religious truth scattered over, spread out over a vast area of time, but religious truth projected in compact form that flashes light upon the soul and rives its indifference.

When the coming sermon arrives in this and in the Christian church—the sermon which is to arouse the world and startle the nations and usher in the kingdom—it will be a brief sermon. Hear it, all theological students, all ye just entering upon religious work, all ye men and women who in Sabbath schools and other departments are toiling for Christ and the salvation of immortals. Brevity! Brevity!

But I remark, also, that the coming sermon of which I speak will be a popular sermon. There are those in these times who speak of a popular sermon as though there must be something wrong about it. As these critics are dull themselves, the world gets the impression that a sermon is good in proportion as it is stupid. Christ was the most popular preacher the world ever saw, and, considering the number of the world's population, had the largest audiences ever gathered. He never preached anywhere without making a great sensation. People rushed out in the wilderness to hear Him, reckless of their physical necessities. So great was their anxiety to hear Christ that, taking no food with them, they would have fainted and starved had not Christ performed a miracle and fed them. Why did so many people take the truth at Christ's hands? Because they all understood it. He illustrated his subject by a hen and her chickens, by a bushel measure, by a handful of salt, by a bird's flight and by a lily's aroma. All the people knew what He meant, and they flocked to Him. And when the coming sermon of the Christian church appears it will not be Princetonian, not Rochesterian, not Andoverian, not Middletonian, but Olivetic—plain, practical, unique, earnest, comprehensive of all the woes, wants, sins, sorrows and necessities of an auditory.

But when that sermon does come, there will be a thousand gleaming seimmtars to charge on it. There are in so many theological seminaries professors telling young men how to preach, themselves not knowing how; and I am told if a young man in some of our theological seminaries says anything quaint, or thrilling, or unique, faculty and students fly at him, and set him right, and straighten him out, and smooth him down, and chop him off until he says everything just as everybody else says it. Oh, when the coming sermon of the Christian church arrives, all the churches of Christ in our great cities will be thronged. The world wants spiritual help. All who have buried their dead want comfort. All know themselves to be mortal and to be immortal, and they want to hear about the great future. I tell you, my friends, if the people of these great cities who have had trouble only thought they could get practical and sympathetic help in the Christian church, there would not be a street in Washington or New York or Boston which would be passable on the Sabbath day, if where a church on it; for all the people would press to that asylum of mercy, that great house of comfort and consolation.

A mother with a dead babe in her arms came to the god Veda, and asked to have her child restored to life. The god Veda said to her: "You go and get a handful of mustard seed from a house in which there has been no sorrow and in which there has been no death, and I will restore your child to life." So the mother went out, and she went from house to house, and from home to home, looking for a place where there had been no sorrow and where there had been no death, but she found none. She went back to the god Veda and said: "My mission is a failure; you see I haven't brought the mustard seed; I can't find a place where there has been no sorrow and no death." "Oh," says the god Veda, "understand, your sorrows are no worse than the sorrows of others; we all have our griefs and all have our heartbrenks."

Laugh, and the world laughs with you,
Weep and you weep alone;
For the sad old earth must borrow its mirth,
But has troubles enough of its own.

We hear a great deal of discussion now all over the land about why people do not go to church. Some say it is because Christianity is dying out, and because people do not believe in the truth of God's word, and all that they are false reasons.

The reason is because our sermons are not interesting and practical, and sympathetic and helpful. Some one might as well tell the whole truth on this subject, and so I will tell it. The sermon of the future—the Gospel sermon to come forth and shake the nations and lift people out of darkness—will be a popular sermon just for the simple reason that it will meet the woes and the wants and the anxieties of the people. There are in all our denominations ecclesiastical mummies sitting around to frown upon the fresh young pulpits of America, to try to awe them down, to cry out, "tut, tut, tut! sensational!" They stand to-day prenching in churches that hold a thousand people, and there are a hundred persons present, and if they can not have the world saved in their way it seems as if they do not want it saved at all. I do not know but the old way of making ministers of the Gospel is better. A collegiate education and an apprenticeship under the care and home attention of some earnest, aged Christian minister, the young man getting the patriarch's spirit and assisting him in his religious services. Young lawyers study with old lawyers, young physicians study with old physicians, and I believe it would be a great help if every young man studying for the Gospel ministry could put himself in the home and heart and sympathy and under the benediction and perpetual presence of a Christian minister.

But, I remark again, the sermon of the future will be an awakening sermon. From altar rail to the front door step, under that sermon an audience will get up and start for Heaven. There will be in it many a staccato passage. It will not be a lullaby; it will be a battle charge. Men will drop their sins, for they will feel the hot breath of pursuing retribution on the back of their necks. It will be a sermon sympathetic with all the physicnl distresses, as well as the spiritual distresses, of the world. Christ not only preached, but he healed paralysis, and he healed epilepsy, and he healed the dumb and the blind and the ten lepers.

That sermon of the future will be an everyday sermon, going right down into every man's life, and it will teach him how to vote, how to bargain, how to plow, how to do any work he is called to, how to wield trowel and pen and pencil and yardstick and plane. And it will teach women how to preside over their households, and how to educate their children, and how to huitate Miriam and Esther and Vashti, and Eunice, the mother of Timothy, and Mary, the mother of Christ, and those women who, on northern and southern battlefields, were mistaken by the wounded for angels of mercy from the throne of God.

THE yellow fever scare has drawn attention to the dangers arising from noxious gases. Few people seem to realize that, under ordinary circumstances, the best deodorizer and disinfectant is cold water.

INTERIOR DEPARTMENT.

Estimated Appropriations for the Fiscal Year 1899, $156,532,419.

Total Indian Population of the United States, Exclusive of New York and the Five Civilized Tribes, 177,178—The Work of the Dawes Commission.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 19.—Secretary of the Interior Bliss, in his annual report, made public Thursday night, submits estimates aggregating $156,532,419 for appropriations by congress for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1899. Discussing pensions, he says 200,000 pension claims are awaiting adjudication, and it is estimated that 40 or 50 per cent of these will be finally admitted. If they are rapidly adjudicated they will swell the pension roll from $5,000,000 to $7,000,000. When, however, these claims are adjudicated and the first payment made thereon the amount of the pension roll will decrease very rapidly, possibly to $125,000,000 or $130,000,000 the first year.

The total Indian population of the United States, exclusive of the New York Indians and the five civilized tribes, approximates 177,178, located on 177 reservations, which contain approximately 33,404,837 acres. Of these 4,345 have accepted allotments of land which aggregate about 644,147 acres.

Secretary Bliss says while the opening of the Wichita reservation in Oklahoma to white settlement would greatly promote the development of that country, yet in view of the unsettled condition of the questions affecting their rights until there is further legislation, he does not see how it can be done without causing great injury and distress. To guard against this, recommendation is made that the Dawes commission be authorized to investigate questions as to their rights and claims and report recommendations for speedy and just settlement.

Referring to the work of the Dawes commission, it is announced that the investigation of the rights of applicants for citizenship in the five nations has been practically completed; the commission has been preparing the rolls of citizenship of the several tribes and has negotiated three agreements. That with both the Choctaws and Chickasaws of April 23, 1897, is before congress and has been ratified by those tribes. That made with the Creeks September 27 last, was rejected almost unanimously by the Creek council and there is little prospect of any further agreement with them. The Cherokees have refused to make agreement and negotiations with them have been abandoned for the time being. Such agreements as have been concluded vary so in their provisions that in view of the fact that eventually a uniform system of government must be provided for the Indian Territory, it is questionable, says the report, whether any of the agreements should be definitely ratified by congress until the desired and necessary uniformity can be secured. The secretary says the five tribes have undoubtedly violated in many ways the spirit of their agreements with the United States under which the territory is now held and governed, and while he does not recommend any harsh government, the secretary calls the attention of the president and congress to the chaotic condition of the affairs of the territory growing out of the several tribes' method of administration. Leading Indians have absorbed great tracts to the exclusion of the common people, and government by an Indian aristocracy has been practically established to the detriment of the people. From 200,000 to 250,000 whites by permission of the Indian government have settled in the territory but are merely tenants sufferance.

Concerning Alaska, Secretary Bliss says existing conditions demand a radical change in the laws relating thereto and he recommends that the public land laws be extended to that district, that additional land offices be created and appropriations made to carry them into effect; that the granting of rights of way for railroads, telegraph and telephone lines and the construction of roads and rails be specifically authorized; that provision be made for the incorporation of municipalities, providing for the holding of elections, defining qualifications for voting, and giving such powers as are used and exercised by municipalities elsewhere; that the legal and political status of the native population which is in doubt be defined; that citizenship be extended to the Metlakahtla Indians who emigrated from British Columbia, and, under authority of an act of congress approved March 3, 1891, now occupy Annette island; that a complete territorial government be authorized and established; and that representation in congress be granted.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 19.—The secretary of the treasury has issued a circular to employes to the effect that clerks receiving a stated salary who neglect to pay their debts contracted for the necessary support of themselves and their families, without presenting satisfactory reasons therefor will not be retained in office.

An Unknown Man's Death.

LIMA, O., Nov. 19.—Wednesday night an unknown man was hit by a passenger train on the Pennsylvania road near Elida. He was sitting on the end of a tie and was knocked about fifty feet.

Savings Bank Goes Into Liquidation.

ROCHESTER, N. Y., Nov. 19.—The directors of the Rochester Savings bank have voted to place that institution in liquidation. The officials say that the bank's business has been gradually falling off, until the deposits amount to less than $200,000

Pittsburgh Coal Coming.

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 19.—After a spell of "low stage" the river is beginning to rise. Navigation is now open from Pittsburgh to New Orleans. Over 50 tow boats with 10,000,000 bushels of coal left Pittsburgh with tows of coal for the south.

LONDON FIRE.

One Hundred and Fifty Warehouses With Their Contents Destroyed—The Burned Territory Covers an Area of 100,000 Yards—The Loss is Over $25,000,000.

LONDON, Nov. 20.—One of the most disastrous fires in London's history since the great fire of 1666, broke out in a large block of buildings lying eastward of Aldersgate street and between that thoroughfare and Red Cross street, just after 1 o'clock Friday afternoon. The flames were fanned by a strong wind and were fed by highly inflammable stocks of Christmas fancy goods and flimsy dress materials of all description, that filled every floor of the six buildings in the old street. Consequently the conflagration gained headway with surprising rapidity and was soon beyond the possibility of being checked by the few engines which were early on the spot. For four and a half hours the flames had their own way and it was after more than a hundred engines had worked an hour that the chief of the fire brigade sent out the signal that the fire was under control.

At 11 o'clock Friday night the fire was still the scene of greatest excitement. Fifty engines were playing upon the ruins, wagons were hurrying up coal and tons of water were pouring into the fiery debris.

The scene must occupy the fire brigade for several days, especially in view of the grave danger of the collapse of the shells of buildings which fall now and again with a loud report. The latest accounts indicate that nearly a hundred warehouses have been destroyed, while the loss will probably exceed £5,000,000 ($25,000,000). The historic church of St. Giles has been much damaged, the principal damage being to the roof, the old windows, the baptismal font and Milton's statue.

At 4 o'clock Saturday morning a very large force of firemau and about twenty engines have been working at a high pressure all night. The district ravaged by the fire is bounded by Aldersgate street, Red Cross, Maiden Head court and Bradford avenue, and intermediate streets of Jewin, Hamsell, Wells and Edmund and Jewin Cresent, and part of Australian avenue, Paul's alley, Cripple Gate churchyard, Wood Street square, Monkwell street, Nichol square and Tore street.

It is officially reported that 150 warehouses have been gutted. A later estimate of the damage done places the amount at nearly £5,000,000 sterling ($25,000,000).

Nearly all of the British fire insurance companies are involved and fire insurance shares were practically unsaleable on the stock exchange Friday afternoon after the fire was well under way.

Nearly 300 telephone wires have been cut, thus interrupting communication with many of the big provincial towns. The fire will cause an enormous advance in the price of ostrich feathers, which rose 30 per cent. Friday evening. Two feather firms alone have lost £15,000 sterling ($75,000)

The damage done by the fire is enormous. Most of the buildings destroyed were six stories high and filled with merchandise.

The area of the fire is at least 100,000 square yards. Sixty warehouses have already been destroyed and the fire has extended from Wood street square to Aldersgate street.

The fire originated in the store of an umbrella manufacturer on Hamsell street at 1 o'clock Friday afternoon, and the great loss of property seems to be due to the delay in summoning the fire department. The published report says that the police officer who first detected the flames blew his whistle loudly for assistance, but several minutes elapsed before the alnrm was heard by any of his comrades. As soon as assistance reached him the officer was dispatched to call for the fire brigade.

But here again this was an unaccountable delay of 20 minutes before the first engine appeared. Then the fearful dimensions of the fire were apparent, and it was decided to circulate a call throughout the whole metropolitan district.

The church of St. Giles was built in 1545. It is approached by an archway in Red Cross street, also within the scene of the conflagration, and contains among other things the tomb of John Milton, who died in 1674; the tomb of Fox, the martyrologist; Frobisher, the voyager, who died in 1594, and Speed, the typographer, who died in 1625.

Oliver Cromwell was married in the church of St. Giles, August 22, 1620, and the parish register contains an entry of the burial of Daniel Defoe, the author of "Robinson Crusoe," who died in 1731.

Milton is commemorated in the church of St. Giles by a bust, by Bacon, and the late George W. Childs, of Philadelphia, erected a stained glass window in this church to the poet's memory.

In the church yard is an old bastion of the London wall and close by in London wall is a small part of the church yard of St. Alphage, containing another large fragment of the old wnll built by the Romans.

Alders Gate and Cripple Gate are named after two of the gates in Roman London.

Ryan's Slayer Acquitted.

LEXINGTON, Ky., Nov. 20.—J. Merritt Martin, who killed John J. Ryan in the latter's saloon Monday night, was acquitted of murder Friday. The testimony proved that Martin had acted in self-defense. The trinl consumed only 45 minutes.

Torpedo Boats Leave Charleston.

CHARLESTON, S. C., Nov. 20.—The torpedo boats Porter, Dupont, Ericsson and Cushing left Charleston Friday morning for Port Royal, continuing their cruise along the coast. The Porter and Dupout went to sea and the Ericsson and Cushing took the inside passage.

Artillery Wagon Explodes.

MEXICO CITY, Mex., Nov. 20.—An artillery wagon loaded with powder and gun cotton exploded here Friday killing four men and wounding eight soldiers and citizens fatally and shaking the ground for many blocks.

SECRETARY ALGER

Suggests That Two Regiments Be Added to the Artillery Branch.

A Military Force Should Be Sent to Alaska—An Increase in the Number of Cadets at the Military Academy Recommended—Status to Grant.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 22.—In his first annual report, Secretary Alger makes many recommendations for the betterment of the administration of the war department, based upon the conclusions of his subordinate officers. He asks favorable consideration for the proposition to add two regiments to the artillery branch, pointing to the valuable fortifications now being erected, which he says should not be manned by a corporals guard. He says of Alaska that as many as 100,000 people will be gathered there next year, and a military force should be sent to that territory and large emergency powers should be granted to the president to snppress lawlessness. Probably the creation of additional military reservations, like that of St. Michael's, may be the best means to meet the problem. A boat for the patrol of the Yukon is also asked for, as well as increased pay for the enlisted men serving in Alaska.

Secretary Alger recommends the revival of the grade of lieutenant general, saying that all the great nations give their officers much higher ranks than does the United States.

He indorses the recommendation of the superintendent of the military academy that the number of students at West Point be increased by allowing each senator to nominate a cadet. As an alternative he suggests that the president be authorized to appoint ten cadets at large each year.

Favorable comment is made upon the work of the military colleges of the country, but it is suggested that the law be amended so as to authorize details of army officers only to such colleges as have at least 150 pupils actually present.

Attention is called to the need of a proper system of criminal jurisdiction over military reservations and of a hall of records for the storage of official papers. The estimate for army transportation is increased by $100,000 to provide means for moving heavy ordnances. To provide for the new posts needed on the sea coasts an estimate of $9,000,000 is submitted.

Until recently the hospital at Hot Springs was open only to soldiers of the regular army, but Secretary Alger has issued the regulations so as to authorize the admission of suitable cases among the veterans of the late war.

In the opinion of the secretary an increase in the engineer corps in officers and enlisted men is indispensable. He points to the immense value and extent of the work now in the hands of this corps, and contends that it could be better supervised and improved in quantity and quality by the assignment of more officers, which is now impossible.

Secretary Alger transmits without reduction the estimate of the chief of engineers for the next fiscal year, amounting to $48,728,160, more than double the appointments for the current year. He says these are largely in excess of what they should be at a time when the demands upon the treasury are as great as now, therefore he recommends a large reduction. In justice to the chief engineer, Secretary Alger says that these estimates were made by his own direction, that the facts might be placed before congress, showing what the expenditures would be were all the requirements of the river and harbor laws completed with, and he cites the fact that the outstanding continuous contracts for river and harbor work will require an expenditure of over $17,000,000 for the next fiscal yenr. The secretary indorses the project for the construction of the ship canal connecting Lakes Huron and Washington with Puget sound, but states that active operations can not be commenced for some time, as the right of way has not yet been acquired.

Secretary Alger especially comments for patriotism, generosity and zeal, Col. Buffington and Capt. Crozier, the inventors of the disappearing gun carriage, who generously donated the invention to the government.

The report closes with the recommendation that provision be made for the erection in Washington of a statue to Gen. Grant.

The estimates for the next fiscal year aggregate $90,238,445, as against $62,852,417, the amount of the appropriations for the current year. The principal items of increase are in rivers and harbors, where the estimate is $48,728,160, as against the appropriation of $23,278,028; fortifications and sea coast defenses, $13,378,571, as against $9,517,141, and military posts, parks and cemeteries, $2,558,639, against $889,867.

No News From Andree.

TROMSOE, Tromsoe Island, Norway, Nov. 22.—The steamer Victoria, which was fitted out by the governor of Tromsoe under instructions from King Oscar, to search for Prof. Andree, the missing aeronaut and his party, and which left here on November 5, has returned from Spitzbergen. She brings no news as to the whereabouts or movements of Prof. Andree, although exploring parties landed ten times at various points in Danmands Isles.

Civil Service Examination at Paducah.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 22.—A civil service examination will be held in Paducah, Ky., January 8, 1898 for the purpose of establishing an eligible list to fill a vacancy in the position of janitor for the federal building in that city. The place pays $600 per annum.

Sugar-Beet raising in South Dakota.

BROOKINGS, S. D., Nov. 22.—Out of 400 tests of sugar beets made at the South Dakota experiment station here many give over 20 per cent. sugar. Some farms gave as high as 22 and 23.5 per cent. These are believed to be the most remarkable beet tests ever made.

BOONE CO., RECORDER.

Wednesday, November 24. 1897.

Advertising Rates:
One inch, one time.....$1.00
Each additional time.....25
Obituaries, Tributes of Respects or notices of a like nature, per inch .50

W. L. RIDDELL. - - Publisher.

Neighborhood News.

Richwood.

J. B. Thornton was delivering fruit trees here and at Union, last week.—J. O. Griffith rides a "bike."—Rev. Davis was in the city, Saturday.—Hunters accidently shot and crippled a mule for J. H. Hughes.—Mr. B. Long entertained some friends, Sunday.—C. B. Rice was on the sick list last week.—Will have three weddings to report in a few weeks.—Mrs. Booth went to the city, Saturday to purchase au organ for her granddaughter, little Gladys May Carpenter.

Erlanger.

Mr. Len Childress has returned from Madison, Ind.

Mr. David Riggs has gone to Indiana to visit relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Hummell have the sympathy of the public in the loss of their baby who died Thursday at 7 a. m.

Mr. J. Smith and Lottie Marks will be married on Wendesday Nov. 24 at 3 o'clock at the Baptist church, by Rev. Hoover.

Messrs. Abernathy, Konnerding and Victor were appointed as the equalization board for the town of Erlanger to meet Dec. 1st '97.

Limaburg.

Miss Grace Russell has 24 scholars in her school.

Claud Rouse has moved to his father's at Kidville.

John Conrad has a new 10 pound boy at his home.

Miss Feltman, of Cincinnati, is visiting Mrs. Ezra Rouse.

W. C. Rouse sold a dozen white brahma chickens, a few days, for $9.

Legraud Utz and son had 10 six month-old hogs that weighed 180 lbs.

Miss Orie Rouse and Harvey Tanner have gone to Columbus, Ohio, to spend the winter.

Hathaway.

Miss Carrie Woods is quite poorly again.

T. J. Stephens was the first to kill hogs around here.

People are fixing for thanksgiving, and preparing for a big time.

The boys here are catching more rabbits with snares than they are killing with guns.

Milton Weldon bought a farm of Ras Stephens, near Gunpowder, last week for the sum of $800.

The cry of the people a few weeks ago was for rain, but now it is "if it would only quit raining." We are never satisfied.

O. J. Ryle honored us with a nice visit a few days since. His lively disposition always makes him welcome wherever he goes.

Bellevue.

E. L. Grant's hogs are dying with cholera.

Chas. Burns has been repairing au old house for Ben Kelly, Jr.

James Rogers has harvested 50 acres of corn, averaging 60 bushels per acre.

L. H. Voshell was among the schools of this part of the county the past week.

Two of our pork-packers have begun operations, and the third will begin this week.

The first Thanksgiving service in America was held May 10, 1610, at Jamestown.

Robert Rice sold to Al Rogers 400 bushels of corn at 25 cents per bushel. Rogers doing the hauling.

Chas. Acra and wife have a picture of their son, three quarter life size, with which they are well pleased.

On the 17th inst Mrs. Orlando Snyder was the guest of her mother, Mrs A. Corbin, who is now confined to her bed.

Evan Acra, of McVille, who has typhoid fever is not doing well. His brother, John, is very low with the same disease.

Verona.

G. W. Roberts has moved to town, recently.

Harry Roberts, who has been very sick with fever, is some better.

Our Endeavor Society is progressing nicely and increasing in number.

Scott Myers is able to be ont again. Mr. Myers thinks he had a close call.

The public school will give an entertainment on Wednesday, Nov. 24th at 10 a. m.

Homer Marshall was removed to Glencoe, one day last week, that he might recover his health.

There will be a Thanksgiving service at the Methodist church here Thursday beginning, at 10:30 a. m.

Mrs. B. K. Menefee, President of our Endeavor Society, is able to meet with us again after a siege with fever.

The cards are out announcing the wedding of A. B. Myers and Miss Ida B. Craven, November 24th, at 3 p. m.

We hear that two of our boys, Kirby Leach and Chas. Roberts, have broken the record, killing 97 rabbits in one day.

Miss ——— McCoy, of Alabama, arrived here, one day last week. She will be one of the assistant teachers in the League Institute.

Petersburg.

Woody Hoffman's eyes don't improve any.

Lulie Akin has been in bad health for some time.

Frank Klopp and wife, went out to see J. B. Tolin, wife and mother, Sunday.

Mrs. Susan Jarrell has been under medical treatment for more than a week.

Mr. Levi Lemmons, engineer on the Workum, is dangerously afflicted with heart disease

Mrs. Orlando Snyder is better, and the report comes that Mrs. Roa Walton is improving.

Miss Mary Bradley has been assisting Miss Lou Alden in learning the postoffice business.

Mrs. Wm Bennett had her effects moved from this place to Hardintown, Ind., last Wednesday.

Lizzie Weindel, Lou Barnett, Florence McWethy and Earl Buchanan are employed in the bottling house.

The wrath of many of Boone county's farmers is becoming deeply stirred by the increasing boldness of hunters.

There never was a finer prospect for a crop of wheat at this time of year, than there is at present in these parts.

Ben Jarrell says that 'Squire Early is one of the finest companions for a trip he ever saw. He certainly is a whole-soul sort of a fellow.

A large crowd of our boys are contracting the habit of playing shinny on Sunday. Of course, by a little sober thought, they will see the error and quit the business.

Florence

Mrs. Bob Pearson was the guest of friends here, last Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Fisk are living with Mrs. Price, this winter.

The pleasant weather, Sunday, brought out a host of cyclers.

Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Tanner were visiting Mr. and Mrs. Henry Tanner Sunday.

Mrs. Geo. Crouch and Miss Bess Crigler were guests of friends at Erlanger, Saturday afternoon.

Little Maud Blankenbecker, who has been ill for several weeks, is now able to sit up a few hours at a time.

Mr. and Mrs. Jno. G. Lewis, of Erlanger, and Mr. and A. B. Ingram, of Covington, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Noah Clore, Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Carpenter, assisted by Miss Lillie Carpenter, entertained a number of little folks, last Friday evening, from eight to ten, in honor of Master Springer's twelth birthday.

The little son of Dr. Dulaney is quite sick

The McKinley tin bill is being largely spread on the Grant hotel.

Our City Clerk, James Nead, and family, have moved to Covington.

Uncle Milton Hamilton, a former and wealthy citizen of Florence, is visiting his sister, Mrs Ashley.

Willie Barton and wife, of Cincinnati, paid his sister, Mrs. Ella Yager, a short visit Saturday evening.

Jeff Eddins, one of Uncle Sam's officials, was in town early Sunday morning. He says that he forgot—that the alarm clock did it.

Tom Castleman, of Glencoe, was in our midst last week. Tom says he will engage in the drug business as soon as he can raise enough ginsaug and snake root. Tom calls it farming.

Gunpowder.

We have been informed that J. C. Clarkson has purchased B. C. Tanner's property at "Sugar Tit"; also that Ezra K. Tanner has purchased the land belonging to Harvey and Spencer Tanner near this place.——We were very sorry to hear of the death of Mrs. Amanda Crisler.—G. W. Delph was seen in our neighborhood, last Saturday. He shoots rabbits, knocks them in the creek and they drown.——Ben Long, of Pendleton county, is visiting in this vicinity. He intends to move here before long.——Frank Bowars is very sick at this time.——G. W. Utz is planting an orchard.——D. Irvin Tanner and Miss Hattie Tanner were the guests of Miss Una Utz, last Sunday ——Any one desiring painting done, call or address Tanner Co., Gunpowder, Ky.——L. H. Busby has bought a new pipe. He's getting old now.——T. J Brown and Miss Linnie Tanner attended church at Hebron, last Sunday.

Union.

The meeting at the Baptist Church closed Monday night with several additions.

A protracted meeting is going on at the Presbyterian Church, conducted by Rev. Clark, of Augusta.

Mrs. Sleevys is improving her new home by adding a barn and other outbuildings, and expects to add more rooms to dwelling next spring.

The ladies of the Baptist Church will give a musical and literary entertainment on Thanksgiving evening. The doors will open at 7:30 sun time. Miss Schuester, of Covington, will take part in the exercises. Admission, 25 cents, including supper.

The editor of the "Union Blade" is thankful Thanksgiving day is near; thankful he has no turkey to kill (don't like to kill aturkey); thankful he don't know a man, woman or child who expects to give him a turkey; thankful he don't know a turkey that wants to be given away to be killed.

The Ladies Aid Society of the Presbyterian Church were entertained by Mr and Mrs. W M Rachal, last Saturday evening. Mrs. Davis, of Richwood, conducted a very interesting bible reading. After the meeting a tempting lunch was served and Mr. and Mrs. Rachal dispensed the hospitality of their home with the ease and grace of veteran house-keepers.

James Gatson and family moved to their new home, near Covington, Saturday.——Mr. Gatson has bought a new milk wagon and other utensils needed to run a dairy, and will satisfy himself whether farming in Boone is more profitable than dairy business in Kenton. Here's hoping the goddess of fortune may smile upon him, and throw great big bouquets of success into the pathway of himself and family.

R. T. Clements is a public spirited man, and has never refused to put his shoulder to the wheel when anything was to be done to improve Union, so when the water-works proposition was talked of he promptly decided to take a hand, and to-day thinks it a good thing. He believes that a pressure of 30 feet will bring water into every house in the town, and so does a prominent waters work engineer of Covington, whose opinion was asked about it The recent dry summer has made many converts to the doctrine of "More water for Union" either with a large cistern or the water pipe from the spring. Tom Judge is willing and says he would be glad to see the work begin May 1st, 1898.

Most people are willing to say that John Crisler, Esq., is the boss apple grower in Boone and could have no competition, but Mr. Henry Quick, of Hebron, has shied his cap into the ring, and challenges Mr. Crisler to a showdown on apples, especially. He claims to have grown apples on his farm that require two trees to hold up one apple, and in each apple is a 30 dozen chicken incubator in good working order, turning out 400 larged sized, healthy chickens a week; and on the wings of each chicken is a full report of the poultry market for each day from Oct. 1850 to Oct., 1897. I had doubts as to the matter until he brought Messrs. Kirb Tanner, John Baldon and John Berkshire as witnesses. Even a shadow of doubt was left, until Whit Reed and Mr. Garnett told me these men never use any "rubber" in dealing with facts, except when trading horses, so I set Bro. Crisler down as a busted community on apple raising, and Mr. Quick down as a man who ought to emigrate to Fort Smith, Ark., with the M. C. of B. C. or bust.

Messrs. Rice, Menninger, Francis and Phister, of Covington, were the guests of J. W. Conner, Sunday night, and went hunting Monday. The gentlemen were prepared to kill every thing in sight, judging from the number of guns, dogs and ammunition. They told your "cor." confidentially, that Messrs. Ed Scales, Chas. Goodwin, Chas. Faut, Wm. Clark, Dr. Terrill and other gentlemen, of Covington, had opened a book on the hunt, and offered to bet 15 to 1 that B. L. Rice could not hit a barn 20 yards, off-hand; 10 to 5 that Gus Menninger could not kill a rabbit with a gatling gun if he had him corralled in a chicken coop; 13 to 4 that Mr. Francis would not know a quail from one of Supt. Voshell's turkeys, and if he saw a rabbit he would throw his gun down and set "James Corbett" after him with a tin can tied to his tail; 25 to 20 that Mr. Phister was the only real hunter in the party, and would come home with the scalps of 4 geese, 2 ducks and 3 yearling steers, gaily dangling in his belt, and be willing to stand pat on the proposition that no man known to the results of a hunting expedition unless he goes.

Talk about hunting, and it brings to mind the hunt a certain citizen of Union took in company with a gentleman from another county. They camped one night in a very rough and hilly country, and as they were smoking and talking around the camp fire after supper, the subject of "bars and bar" meat was talked of. Bed time came, and the blankets were spread on the grass under the wagon and a two bushel sack of shelled corn for a pillow At 12 o'clock when the moon was peeping through the trees and the owl was getting a bead with his left eye on a poor, motherless bird in a leafless tree near by the sack of corn was suddenly jerked from under the heads of the sleeping huntsmen. At that instant both jumped up and would have stood on their feet if their heads had not come in contact with the wagon bed and knocked them flat. As it was both crawled at lightning speed out to clear land yelling, "Its a bear, its a bear," and climbed a tree in time to see a great, big "hazel splitter" hog making down the hill with the sack of corn.

6,000,000 bushels coal coming down the Ohio river.

Monday was a gloomy day—something on the order of a London fog.

Don't forget the matinee at Hebron Town Hall, at 2 p. m., December 4th.

Tony Bentler and wife entertained quite a number of friends, last Sunday.

A great many person's called at the Sheriff's office, Monday, and paid their taxes.

Thos. Garrison got his face badly cut Monday while placing a sawlog on the wagon.

The Old Maids' Convention proposes to give four laughs to the second at the Court House Friday night.

E. S. West, of the southern part of the county, was in town Monday and ordered his paper sent to Verona.

Licenses were issued, Monday, for the marriage of Vincent Pickelheimer and Miss Joe Grubbs, at the residence of bride's mother, to-day, at Taylorsport The bride is a daughter of the late Dr. W. B. Grubbs.

Go to John Schmidt, the Shoemaker, to have your harness repaired. Boots and Shoes made to order. Repairing a specialty. All work guaranteed.

About eleven months ago Wm. Sebree was adjudged of unsound mind and sent to the asylum, where he remain but a short time, and, last Monday, upon the filing of the proper affidavit, a jury was empaneled, and with Judge Stephens presiding, he was found to be of sound mind, and was so adjudged, and all his effects heretofore placed in the hands of a committee were restored to him.

Entertainment—Minstrel and Dramati, to be given at Hebron Hall, Dec. 4th, 1897. Two performances—matinee at 2 p. m.; evening performance at 7:30 pm. First part—Overture; Interlocutor—Dr. H. H. Hays; Comedians, tambos—E. L. Riley, Louis Crisler; bones—Courtney Walton, Garnett Riley, jr.; Vocalists—Misses Jo Grubbs, Zayda Gaines, Beulah Gaines, Grace Grant, Annabel Riley, Mrs. Frank Sayer, Mrs. E L Riley and Mr. Pericles Grubbs; Music under the direction of Miss Zayda Gaines; Recitation—"Marble Dream,"—Miss Bessie Cropper.

Second part—Drama—"My Turn Next." Characters:
Taraxicum Twitters—Elbert L. Riley.
Tim Bolus—Courtney Walton.
Tom Trap—Garnett C Riley.
Farmer Wheatear—Louis Crisler.
Lydia (Twitter's wife)—Miss Beruice Duncan.
Cicely (her niece)—Miss Bertha Gaines.
Peggy (servant)—Mrs. E. L. Riley.

Admission, Adults, 25cts; Children under 12 years, 15cts. Will commence promptly at time advertised.

FARMERS NEETING.

Mr. A D. McNair, of Dansville, N. Y., will give a free lecture to farmers on the "Fertilization of the Soil," at the Court House in Burlington, at 2 p. m., Friday, November 26, 1897.

Commissioner's Sale.

Boone Circuit Court, Ky.

Christopher Barlow's Exr. Pltf.
vs
Matilda J. Barlow, &c., Defts.

By virtue of a Judgment and order of sale of the Boone Circuit Court, rendered at the Aug., term thereof, 1897, in the above cause, I shall proceed to offer for sale at the Court-house door in Burlington, Boone county, Ky., to the highest bidder at Public Sale on Monday, the 6th day of December, 1897, at 1 o'clock p. m., or thereabout, being County Court day, upon a credit of 6 and 12 months, the following described property, to-wit:

Several tracts or parcels of land lying and being in Boone county, Ky., and bounded thus: Beginning at a Black Ash and Sugar tree neither of which is standing, corner to William Watts; thence with his line s 46 e to Sand Run creek; thence down the same with the meanders thereof to the west side of said creek to be so understood as to include the mill dam and and water power; thence continuing down said creek running on the west bank with the meanders to another line with said Waits; thence with said line s 28 w to the beginning, containing 62 acres more or less.

Also the following lots on Garrison creek, the first of which is bounded thus: Beginning at a stone in John Barnard's line, a corner of lot No. 2 in the division of the lands of Joshua Barlow, dec'd.; thence s 57 w 60 poles 15 links to a stone a corner of lot No. 2 in the north line of the dower outlet; thence with said line s 42¼ e 20¼ poles to a stone, corner of lot No. 4 in Barnard's line; thence with said line n 32¼ w 27 poles 10 links to the beginning, containing 7¼ acres and being lot No. 3 in the division of the lands of said Joshua Barlow, dec'd.

Second tract beginning at a stone in John Barnard's line, a corner with lot No. 3; thence s 57 w 57 poles to a stone a corner with lot No. 3 in the north line of the dower outlet; thence with said line s 42¼ e 28⅔ poles to a stone, a corner of lot No. 5 in John Barnard's line; thence with said line n 32¼ w 23 poles 7½ links to the beginning, containing 5 acres and being lot No. 4 in the division of said lands.

Third parcel being said Christopher Barlow's, Lavina Arnett's, Catharine Berges' and Nancy Smith's undivided interest in and to the dower lands of Rachel Barlow, widow of Christopher Barlow (now Rachel Collins,) also the life interest of said Rachel Collins in said dower.

For description of said property by metes and bounds, see Boone County Court Records, book 1, division of dower lands, page 249. I will first sell the lands on Garrison, I will then sell the lot on Sand Run Creek.

Or sufficient thereof to produce the sums of money so ordered to be made. For the purchase price of said land the purchaser, with approved security or securities, must execute bond, bearing legal interest from the day of sale until paid, and having the force and effect of a judgment, with a lien retained thereon until all the purchase money is paid. Bidders will be be prepared to comply promptly with these terms.

Amount to be raised by sale, $705 26.

J. B. BERKSHIRE, M. C. B C.

Notice to Trespassers.

We, the undersigned, hereby give notice that we have posted our farms, according to law, against trespass of all kinds, and will enforce the law against those who trespass thereon by hunting or otherwise.

John Stephens	Robt McGlasson
M T Graves	Wm Graves
John J Rucker	J W Watts
Jas L Riley	Temp Gaines
Wm Riley	Allie Corn
Henry McGlasson	Hubert Cropper
Geo McGlasson	Joe Graves
Zeke Aylor	Jameson Aylor
Ed Berkshire	T J Walton
Clide Berkshire	Bert Berkshire
J D Cloud	T D Goodridge
R White	Geo Biyth
Al Rogers	Chas White
R W Neal	Abs Aylor
H C. McNeal

FARM FOR SALE.

65 acres of nice land in Boone county, Ky., on the road from Florence to the Ohio river, about 2½ miles southwest of Erlanger, Ky., known as the Harriet Wayland farm. This is a very desirable piece of land, with frame house and barn on it, and nicely located. Terms easy. Possession will be given March 1st 1898. Address me for particulars at Ghent, Ky.

R. O. WILLIAMS,
dec-15 Administrator.

Farm for Sale!

—(o)—

In Boone county, Ky., on the North Bend Road, 1½ miles from Burlington, 1 mile from Hebron and 5 miles from Anderson's Ferry, and contains seventy-eight acres, good cottage of 8 rooms and good barn, orchard of 200 trees select fruit. The farm is all under good state of cultivation. For terms apply to

LASSING & RIDDELL,
Burlington, Ky.

For Sale--Farm.

—of—

123 Acres of Good Land in Boone County, Ky., on the Union & Beaver Turnpike, 2 miles from Union, three miles from Richwood Station. Good house of seven rooms, hall, vestibule, porches, good cellar; large barn, outbuildings, two cisterns, orchard and never failing water.

Henry Tucker,
UNION, Boone Co., Ky.

COMMISSIONER'S NOTICE.

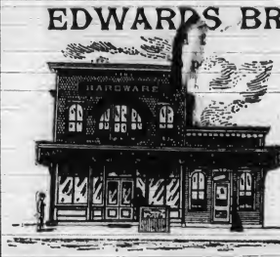
Boone Circuit Court, Ky.

Sallie Powers, &c., Pltfs.,
vs
F. L. Gordon, &c., Defts.

The undersigned hereby gives notice that he will begin his sittings on the 24th day of Nov., 1897, at the Circuit clerk's office in Burlington, Ky., to hear proof in the aboved styled cause and will sit from day to day (Sunday excepted) to the 11 day of Dec., 1897. J. B. BERKSHIRE, M. C B. C. C.

GO TO
HANKINS, DAVIS & CO., General Merchants,
HEBRON AND CONSTANCE,
A Good Supply of Feed always in Stock.

GARDEN AND FIELD SEEDS.



Undertaking is given special attention. Funerals under the personal supervision of J. C. HANKINS.

A good supply of Coal on hand at Constance at all times.

Hebron. HANKINS, DAVIS & CO. Constance

S. L. EDWARDS. A. M. EDWARDS.

EDWARDS BROTHERS,

DEALERS IN HARDWARE
—AND—
Agricultural Implements,
Furniture,
Stoves,
Tinware,
Saddlery,
Oils and Paints,
Wall Paper.

UNDERTAKING & EMBALMING A SPECIALTY.

We have added a first class Tin Shop and are prepared to do Tin, Iron and Paper Roofing and guarantee all work done by us.

EDWARDS BROS., - - Walton, Ky.

JOHN ALLISON,

UNDER-  EMBALMER,

—Corner Pike & Russell Streets,
COVINGTON, - - KENTUCKY.

INDEPENDENT OF UNDERTAKERS' UNION.

THEY : MUST : GO.

Desiring to quit that branch of the business I am Closing
—OUT MY ENTIRE STOCK OF—
MEN'S & BOYS' Ready-Made CLOTHING
At the greatest bargains ever offered in Covington.

MY TAILORING DEPARTMENT
Will be continued, and I have on hand the Finest Line of Suitings in the three cities. Give me a call.

H. F. BLASE, 540 Madison Avenue, COVINGTON, KY.
jany 1-98

Many People When Buying Clothing

Never consider the WORKMANSHIP and TRIMMINGS—a matter of great Importance. We pay particular attention to same and invite your inspection. Come in and examine our

All Wool Suits at $5.00.
Our Black and Blue Kersey Overcoats at $5, $6.50, $8 and $10, can not be equaled.
Our Men's Pants for $1.00 can not be beat.

Mr. L. Rice, of Independence, would be pleased to have his friends call upon him.

ROLFES & WACHS, RELIABLE CLOTHIERS
S. W. Cor. Pike & Madison Ave. Covington, Ky.

FOURTH YEAR
OF WALTON ACADEMY,
opens
MONDAY, SEPTEMBER 6th, 1897
AT WALTON, KY.

Three Courses of Study to choose from:
English, Scientific or Classical,
Tuition per month,...$2.50 and $3.00
Vocal and Instrumental Music at moderate rates.

We have a fine, new building with rooms for pupils, connected.—Board only $2.50 per week, or $2 00 for 5 days.

Thorough, Substantial Work
Teachers { Guaranteed. Mrs. S. H. MYERS. CHAS. F. PRIOR. Rev. S. H. MYERS.

Further information gladly given by mail or intervlew.

Administrator's Notice.

I have this day been appointed administrator of the estate of James A. Botts, deceased, and all persons indebted to said estate must pay same at once and all persons having claims against said estate must present them to me or my attorney S. W. Tolin, at Burlington, Ky., proven as by law required.

EDWIN BOTTS, Adm'r.
Sept. 20th, 1897.

ELECTRIC HEADLIGHTS

are but one of the many modern appliances for the safe, rapid and comfortable transit of the traveler which the limited trains of the QUEEN & CRESCENT ROUTE afford.

Fast vestibuled trains to Lexington, Harriman, Chattanooga, Atlanta, Knoxville, Asheville, Columbia, Savannah, Jacksonville, Meridian, Birmingham, New Orleans, daily from Cincinnati, are provided with safety vestibules, heated by steam, lighted with gas, and have all modern improvements.

Write for information to
W. C. Rinearson,
General Passenger Agent,
Cincinnati, O.

Send 10 cents for fine Art colored Lithograph of Lookout Mountain and Chickamauga.

Subscribe for the Recorder.

Local News.

Harry Blyth has had some repairs done on the front of his residence.

Ed Hawes has given the blinds on the Court House windows a new coat of varnish.

Life insurance agents have been giving Burlington close attention for the past month.

If you want oysters, celery or cranberries for Thanksgiving, call on J. S. Clutterbuck.

Fine weather for hunting last week, and some of the local nimrods took advantage of it.

The king of liars among newspaper correspondents has been sojourning in Lawrenceburg for several weeks.

TO CURE A COLD IN ONE DAY.
Take Laxative Bromo Quinine Tablets. All druggists refund the money if it fails to cure. 25c

The foxhunters have not commenced the seasons in earnest yet. Several of the boys claim that they have extra fast dogs for this winter.

It is feared that the wheat sowed this fall will not acquire sufficient root to sustain life during the winter, if the weather should prove severe.

A recent issue of the Rising Sun Local contained a lengthy biography of Judge Downey, the distinguished jurist, and a resident of its town.

Charlotte Sanders has sued the town of Florence and Ellen Cleek, to compel them to remove from her lot in the Florence cemetery, the body of a colored person buried thereon.

Postponed dates Lexington Running Races, Nov. 15 to 30. Half rates from all Kentucky points and from Cincinnati via the Queen & Crescent Route. Ask agents for particulars.

We desire to thus publicly thank our friends for the many kindnesses shown us during the recent illness of Mrs. Amanda Crisler.
SMITH CRISLER AND CHILDREN.

Queen & Crescent low gates to the following places: M. E. Church (North Alabama Conference); Florence, Ala., Nov. 17-23. Meeting of State B. Y. P. U., Versailles, Ky., Nov. 30-Dec. 2nd.

If all our subscribers were like Peter Hartman, whose paper goes to Lawrenceburg, and Joseph Graves, of Covington, the RECORDER would be flying. They have paid up to January, 1899.

E. J. Molloy has traded off his farm (the Baker farm) west of town on the Bellevue 'pike. That farm has changed owners rapidly since Judge Baker disposed of it, and each owner has made a good thing of it, no doubt.

The entertainment Friday night by the Epworth League will be quite interesting. The Old Maids' Convention is very amusing, and the hoop drill by the ladies will be beautiful. Admission—adults 15 cents; children 10 cents.

In several neighborhoods in this county the children and some of the older people have been attacked by a throat trouble that resembles very much the diptheria upon its first appearance. The patient is generally quite sick for two or three days.

Dr. Jacob Tanner, of Hebron, came into town, one day last week, driving at a high rate of speed. He pulled up in front of Mr. Rouse's store, and requested him to bring out, in a hurry, the Tanner mad-stone of which Mr. Rouse has been custodian for many years. As soon as the hydrophobia preventer was received, Dr. Tanner left town in as huriedly a manner as he came, leaving no information other than he had been bitten by a vicious dog, the calf of one of his legs being considerably mutilated. The mad-stone refused to adhere to the wound when applied, and the Doctor's mental equalibrium was restored.

Mrs. Amanda Crisler, wife of Mr. Smith Crisler, who resides near Gunpowder Church, died on the 18th inst., aged 70 years and 7 months. Mrs. Crisler had been in feeble health for many years, being afflicted with a stomach trouble. Mrs. Crisler was born in Culpepper county, Virginia, April 4th, 1818, and while yet a young girl, she came to Kentucky with her father and mother, Ephraim and Ann Clore, who settled near the forks of Gunpowder. In 1838, she and Smith Crisler, neither of whom had reached their majority, were married. To them were born six children, all of whom except the oldest, are living: John, Benjamin, R. S., Lucy Ann and Mrs. W. F. Grant. Mrs. Crisler was not a member of the Church, but she was an Old Baptist in belief. The funeral took place from the residence, last Friday, in the presence of a large number of relatives and friends, a short service being conducted at the grave by Martin L. Aylor, after which the remains were laid to rest in the family burying ground.

Mrs. Elizabeth Smith, aged 65 years, relict of Charles B Smith, of Big Bone, died on the 15th inst., at the residence of her son, Dr. W. W. Smith, in Louisville. Mrs. Smith was the daughter of the late P. P. Adams, and a sister of B. W. Adams, of this place; Rev. Sam M. Adams, of Walton, and Mrs. Geo. Ossman, of Beaver. Dr. W. W. Smith, of Louisville, was her only child. She had been a member of the Baptist Church 45 years, being the first member of the family to make a profession of religion, and she lived to see her mother, brothers and sisters, and her son each unite with the Baptist Church. She was an ardent student of the Bible and had committed to memory a great portion of the sacred writings, and died praising the Lord, the last words she spoke being, "Bless the Lord, O, my soul." The remains were brought back to this county, and, last Thursday, after a short funeral service at Big Bone Baptist Church, conducted by her brother, Rev. Samuel Adams, they were placed in the vault there, from which they will finally be interred. A very large crowd of this good woman's old friends from childhood were present at the funeral to take a final look at one whom they had always loved and respected.

Teachers' Meeting.

Boone County Teachers' Association met at the Hebron school building, Saturday, Nov. 20th, and held its fourth meeting.

The meeting was called to order by Supt. Voshell at 10:30 a. m., after which a song was sung by the pupils of the district, and prayer offered by J. B. Crigler.

The first subject on the program was "Music in the School" by Prof. T. Z. Roberts and Miss Sadie Kirtley, neither being present the subject, "Physiology" was introduced by G. S. Hann. After a short discussion on his method of teaching the subject by the outline system, the subject was turned over to the teachers of the association for further remarks.

Miss Neva Hafer then favored the audience with a recitation entitled, "Because She was a Woman," followed by a song by the little children of the school. Miss Edith Rouse favored the audience with a fine piece of instrumental music on the organ.

Supt. Voshell then dismissed the association for dinner. A bountiful repast had been prepared by the patrons of the district and was spread on large tables arranged for the occasion. After thanks being offered by Prof. D. M. Snyder, all partook heartily of almost any luxury for which their taste called as none were found missing.

During the noon recess Mr. F. Wilson, the photographer of Newport, took several groups—one of T. Hafers' family; one of P. L. Aylor's family; one of the entire group and another of the trustees of the school, Supt. Voshell, Prof. Snyder and the teachers present that had taught in the said school building.

At 1:15 p. m., Supt. Voshell called the meeting to order. Prayer was offered by Rev. Lentz. The assembly which by this time filled the house was entertained by another song by the pupils. The association becoming aware of the fact that a secretary had not been elected, G. S. Hann was chosen to take the minutes of the meeting.

The subject, "Phonics and Diacritics" was then discussed by Prof. Harrison. After his interesting talk Miss Roberts, Mr Snyder and several others offered splendid suggestions.

The second subject was "Reading" by Prof. Gaines and Miss Lacy Kirtley. Miss Kirtley being absent, Prof. Gaines handled the subject alone, offering several good arguments in favor of continuing the subject along with the higher branches. Several other short talks were made by other members of the association. Miss Lucy Claytou then closed the subject by a splendid select reading, rendered in such a manner as to do justice to the subject that had just been discussed.

Miss Clara Rossman then favored the audience with one of her beautiful instrumental selections.

The last subject was "Writing" by Profs. Coulthard, of Harrison, O., and Mathews, of Indiana, both gentlemen being present the subject was well discussed.

The program that had been so kindly furnished by the pupils of the school was then continued, consisting of a recitation by Miss Bessie Crigler; a composition by Edgar Graves and a recitation by Master Thomas Clayton, all reudering them in such a manner as to convince the audience of their high natural abilities. Supt. Voshell then called for the resolutions adopted by the committee. Prof. Mathews, chairman of the committee read as follows:

First—Resolved, That we extend our most hearty and sincere thanks for the hospitality, sociability, and, especially for the bountiful repast prepared by the generous people of Hebron and vicinity.

Second—We also desire to thank our brother teacher, Mr. G. S. Hann and pupils for their entertainment so freely given us, and tender them a vote of encouragement for further progress.

Third—We, the teachers feel that we have been greatly benefitted by said meeting and further suggest that our fellow teachers attend and take a deeper interest in their vocation.

E. S. MATHEWS, Chairman.
C. R. COULTHARD,
D. M. SNYDER.

The said resolutions were adopted by the association with out a change.

The meeting closed with our national song, "My Country 'tis of Thee," by the audience, to meet again Dec. 4th, 1897, at Florence, Ky. Program for that day consisting of Welcome Address, Rev. H. Max Lentz.

Language—Miss Olive N. Orem and C. C. Richmond.
Physiology—G. S. Haun.
Discussion—"How much Physiology shall be taught?"
"How to secure Cooperation of Trustees and Patrons"—L. H. Voshell.
Recitation, "Teacher's Dream"—Miss Marietta Riley.
History, "Topic Method"—A. C. Collins and Allie Weaver.
Discussion—"Other Methods."
Teachers' Association, "Their Value"—J. H. Craven.
Arithmetic, primary—Miss Russell.
Arithmetic, advanced—T. W. Baisly.
Committee { MISS LIZZIE ROBERTS. PROF. WALTER KELLY. PROF. WM. GAINES.
G. S. HANN, Secretary.

PERSONAL MENTION.

Mrs. S. W. Tolin returned from her visit to Indiana, last week.

Chas. Baisly, a prominent Bullittsville merchant, was in town Thursday.

Mr. A. J. Utz and son, Edward, were among the visitors to the hub, Monday.

Atty. John O'Neal, of Covington, was in town on professional business, one day last week.

Joseph Graves, of Covington, was in town Friday, payiug taxes and greasing the RECORDER.

Benjamin Tanner, the genial tollgatherer near Crpsceut, was a visitor to town a few days ago.

Miss Julia Dinsmore and her neice, Mrs. Selms, will butcher 600 hogs this fall and winter, we hear.

James A. Smith, of the Union neighborhood, came in just in advance of the rain Monday morniug.

Mrs. D. M. Snyder, of Bellevue, was a guest of relatives iu the Limaburg neighborhood, last Saturday.

Henry Afterkirk and brothers, and sister, Mrs. Sleevys, of Union, were in town, Wednesday on business.

Quite a number of lady friends dined with Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Hughes, at their country home, last Thursday.

Mr. Richard Clements, one of the oldest and cleverest citizens of the Hathaway neighborhood, was in town Saturday.

Capt. Hartman, of the Lawrenceburg ferry, was in town Friday. He reported the ferry business as rather dull at preseut.

Addison Riddell and wife, are now residents of the Bullittsville neighborhood, to which place they moved from Beaver, last week.

Samuel Taylor, of Richwood, was in town Friday. He is an up-to-date farmer, but said he was not done sowing wheat, but would finish in a few days.

Legrand Gaines and wife, of Boone county, have been here a few days on a visit to his brother, Logan Gaines of Rev. O. M. Huey and Mrs. J. E. Gullion.—Carrollton Democrat.

Ex-Sheriff David Beall, spent a day or two in town, last week. He is no apprehensive of being again assigned to duty in the revenue service, since the new Collector has been installed.

Chas. E. Stephens, who regales himself on the pure sparkling waters, and feasts his vision on the wild and romantic scenery, of the Middle creek hills and valleys, was in town Monday.

J. J. Huey, of Bellevue, was in town Sunday. He says Rev. Kennedy will not be able to preach the sermon on Odd-Fellowship on the fourth Sunday afternoon in this mouth as was announced last week.

P. T. Fall, after a sojourn of ten days in Burlington, returned to his home in Union, last Saturday. Philip made a pair of dude eye-glasses to wear while at the Capital, and they gave him a decidedly literary appearauce.

Miss Anna Rice, the accomplished vocalist, and daughter of B. L. Rice was in town one day last week, trying to organize a class in vocal music. The probability is she will succeed and will commence teaching at an early date. It is conceded by all that Burlington is a good field in which to teach vocal music as it has been sadly neglected. Miss Anna ought to have a large class here.

Kentucky Court of Appeals, Nov. 11, 1897.—Chas. W. Short, pltf., vs George Moore, &c., defts Appeal from the Boone Circuit Court. Opinion of the court delivered by Judge White:

This action was originally begun in the Boone Circuit Court by appellant Short against James F. Sanders on a note, in which there was an attachment sued out and appellees Moore and others, as the building committee of the South Fork Christian Church were summoned as garnishees to answer the amount, if any, of their indebtedness to said Sanders.

At the August term, 1894, the appearance term, there was filed a paper purporting to be the answer of appellees as garnishee, stating that they would, on the completion of the building, owe the said Sanders $1,300 less certain payments of about $660, leaving about $640 due Sanders, and the court thereupon made an order directing appellees to pay $500 iuto court to be applied to the payment of appellants debt. Subsequent to this the appellees by affidavits denied the filiug of the said answer as garnishee by their authority or of either of them, or that it was a fact that they would owe Sanders auything and the court upon their motion and over the objection of appellant struck said answer from the files and permitted these appellees to file an answer denying the indebtedness to said Sanders in any sum and pleading a counter claim for damages in the construction of said building, and made said answer and counter claim a cross petition over against said Sauders. On this answer and counter claim for damages, the appellant Short and Sauders made issue, by pleading the contract of building said church and denying any breach or damages in the building.

The issue thus formed was tried before a jury which resulted in a verdict and judgment for appellant for $60.85 and from that judgment this appeal is prosecuted. Appellant filed reasons for new trial and one of the grounds contained therein is, that the verdict and judgment is contrary to the evidence.

From a careful reading of the evidence we are of the opinion that the verdict is not sustained by the evidence, and that the damages allowed appellees on their counter claim was excessive. The proof shows that the building is in use by the church congregation and the only defects shown, that are serious, is that the walls had spread some 2 or 3 inches on each side, and that cracked the plasteriug in the corners, but that this damage had been remedied by an expenditure of $7 50, though the walls had uot been straightened, by some iron rods. The proof tends strongly to show that a roof as called for in the contract and specifications cannot be built without the walls spreading some.

It is shown that the material used in the buildiug was up to a good quality and was hauled by appellees and used without objection from them.

On the trial the Court gave to the jury instructions numbers one, two and three but in the conclusion we reach we deem it necessary to notice No. 3, only, which is as follows:

"The Court instructs the jury that although they may believe from the evidence herein that defendants Sanders agreed to build the South Fork Christian Church according to the contract and specifications filed in this suit and that he did not build said house according to said contract and specifications, yet they must allow him for building said house the value of the material put into same, and the value of the labor to build same, to be credited by the sum of $548 and by any other amounts defendants may have paid Sanders or to any person for labor and material which was necessary to complete said house according to contract, not exceeding $294.15, and they will also find for defendant Grimsley and others against defendant Sanders any amount in the way of damages which they have sustained, if any, by the failure of defendant Sanders to build said house according to the contract and specifications, and the measure of damages is the cost of taking out all the work and material which was not done according to the contract, if any, and saving it done over, according to the contract and specifications not exceed $1,000, and they will strike the balance and find for the party as herein directed in whose favor the balance is."

Appellant objected and excepted to the giving of this instruction No. 3, and the ruling of the court below in behalf of questioned on this appeal. We are of opinion that in giving this instruction the court erred, as the measure of damages there fixed by the court is the cost to remove all defective work and rebuild same.

This is not the true rule, as the building is in use and can be used with safety and the principal defect shown was in the walls spreading and that a large degree had been remedied by the iron rods at a cost of only $7.50, at least the use of the rods had prevented any further damage and had rendered the building safe. It cannot be said that the contractor Sanders could be charged with the expeuse necessary to tear out such of the building as might be necessary to straighten these walls. In the opinion of some of the witnesses this could not be done without taking off the roof and probably other work, which might and probably would cost as much as the entire building cost as contracted by Sauders. Yet by the instruction given the jury were told that they should estimate the damages by this rule.

In our opinion the correct rule of damages on the counter claim is embraced in instruction "B" asked for appellant and refused by the Court.

Said Instruction is as follows: "The Court instructs the jury that although they may believe from the evidence that the work was defective, yet they must find for the plaintiff the value of the building in its present condition, credited as provided in instruction "A," less the difference in value of the building in its present condition and the contract price, to-wit, $1,300."

There are other errors suggested, but as they are not likely to occur on another trial they will not be noticed.

For the errors indicated the judgment of the lower court is reversed and cause remanded with directions to award a new trial and for proceedings consistent herewith.

C. C. Cram, J. G. Tomlin for appellant; Gaunt & Dowus, R. B. Brown for appellee.

For anything needed for a Thanksgiving dinner, call on J. S. Clutterbuck.

Notice to Taxpayers.

The taxpayers are hereby notified that the six per cent. penalty will be added December 1st. Pay up before that time and save the penalty.

C. C. ROBERTS, S. B. C.

Commissioner's Sale.

Boone Circuit Court, Ky.

J. R. Clutterbuck's Assignee, Pltf.
vs } equity.
J. R. Clutterbuck, &c., Defts.

By virtue of a Judgment and order of Sale of the Boone Circuit Court, rendered at the April term thereof, 1897, in the above cause, I shall proceed to offer for sale at the Court-House door in Burlington, Boone County, Ky., to the highest bidder, at Public Sale on Monday the 6th day of December 1897, at one o'clock p. m. of thereabout, being County Court day, for cash, the following described property, to-wit:

Consisting of some notes, judgments and delinquent tax lists held by J. R. Clutterbuck at time of assignment, from 1885 to 1888. I will sell the tax list by districts as follows: Believue district, $74; Petersburg dist, $126,10; Verona dist., $230,25; Carlton district, $169.05; Hamilton dist., $283,80; Burlington dist., $24,90; Walton district, $211,20; Beaver Lick dist., $92,50; Florence dist., $255,20; Taylorsport district, $147,20; Union district, $111,20. Persons wishing to see said claims can do so by calling at Circuit Clerk's office.

Also the following judgments in favor of J. R. Clutterbuck rendered in magistrates court at Waltou, Ky.,—S. L. Boyer, $15; Wm. Ingram, $7,50; Calvin Rice (col.) $11,50; John Soden, $6,25; Albertus Boyer, $15; Lewis Crutchfield, $5; T. F. Chambers, $6,75; John Poston (col.) $5; Frank Smith, $7,50; Thos. Hoard, $12,50; J. O. Stone, $15; John Maning, $10,50.

Also note on Geo. J. Clutterbuck, for $140,00, dated June 2d, 1891, payable sixty days thereafter—credit Aug. 28, 1891, $39,50.

Note on T. J. Coyle for $16,25, dated April 25th, 1891, due in four months thereafter.

J. D. [illegible]SHIRE,
Master Commissioner.

W. M. RACHAL & CO.,

MODERN METHODS.

It pays to pay promptly. I have a few CHILDREN'S SCHOOL SHOES, REGULAR $1 25 KIND, to close at per Pair.....85 cents. We have an immense line of Comforts, Blankets, Flannels, Woolen Hose, &c. &c., to sell at the lowest CASH prices.

UNION, KENTUCKY.

Spot Cash neither Halts nor Hesitates.

NEW STOCK OF GROCERIES,

Including CITRON, CURRANTS, RAISINS, &c., for the Holidays.

Lion Coffee, per pound, - - - - - 11c
Arbuckle Coffee per pound - - - - 13½c

UNION, - - - - KENTUCKY.

W. E. CHAMBERLAIN,

DEALER IN UP TO DATE

FURNITURE,

HOUSEHOLD FURNISHINGS, ETC.,

HIGH STREET,

Lawrenceburg, - Indiana.

—HAUCK BUILDING.—

☞Stylish and Durable Oak BED ROOM SUITS,

☞All-Oak SIDE BOARDS, As Handsome as the Finest.

☞INGRAIN CARPETS,

☞BRUSSELS CARPETS.

W. E. CHAMBERLAIN,

LAWRENCEBURG, INDIANA.

When in Burlington Call on

J. S. CLUTTERBUCK

●DEALER IN●

DRY GOODS

Notions, Boots and Shoes,

HAY, CORN AND MILL FEED,

☞At Prices to Suit the times.☜

FRESH - MEATS - ALWAYS - ON - HAND.

J. S. CLUTTERBUCK, Burlington, Ky.

Buy COFFEE and TEA of the J. L. BILL COFFEE & TEA CO., a Ticket ☞given with every 25c purchase and handsome presents given away.☜

The J. L. BILL

Coffee and Tea Co.

THE BEST BRANDS OF FLOUR,

12 W. Seventh & S. E. Cor. Sixth & Bakewell,

COVINGTON, KY.

WM. F. NEAD, Salesman.

FARMERS

Make the most of your crops, buy the best Wind-mill outfit made—The AERMOTOR—abundance of power wasting right over your heads, grasp the opportunity—Grind and Cut your own Feed and that of your neighbors—feed economically.

THE AERMOTOR

will bear close inspection and is guaranteed to work right. They are Cheap. Come and see it work and be convinced.

Also remember we are still in the ring with a complete line

OF GENERAL MERCHANDISE

and can sell Goods just as cheap as anyone. Highest market Prices paid for COUNTRY PRODUCE or anything salable. Come and see

OUR : STOCK,

It Speaks for Itself.

Don't forget that "LaBELLE" HERD

Of Chester White Hogs

Is ready to supply Choice Stock at Reasonaole Prices.

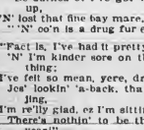
T. J. HUGHES, - BEAVER LICK, KY.

TAKE YOUR OWN COUNTY PAPER.

Farmer Jimpson's Thanksgiving

AIN'T no use talkin', you couldn't make
Ol' Jimpson look at the bright side o' things;
'Twan't in the man; his head 'u'd shake
F'm side to side an' he 'd have his flings:
"Me skimpin' an' savin' and what do I git?
'Spring me ef we ain't in the po' house yit!"

He 'us always sneerin' an' snarlin' like,
Be blest ef I knowed what ailed the man;
Ef wunst in awhile he'd make a strike
He'd growl at even his payin'est plan:
"Tain't me that's gittin' a dreadful lot—
Lord knows I swealed fur what I got."



One year w'en the craps was pow'ful big,
An' the cribs wuz crackin' with piled up co'n,
I met 'im drivin' his shacklin' rig
A-lookin 'es if 'is sand wuz gone—
"Fine Thanksgivin' weather," I sez; sez he:
"Won't be no thankin' this year by me!"

"They won't?" sez I—an' the way he growled!
"You bet they won't!" an, he cracked his whup,
An' up the road he sorter scowled:
"Be durned ef I've got w'at I ain't dug up,
'N' lost that fine bay mare," sez 'e,
"'N' co'n is a drug fur ez I kin see.

"Fact is, I've had it pretty hard all roun',
'N' I'm kinder sore on the whole blame thing;
I've felt so mean, yere, drivin' to town
Joe' lookin' 'a-back, that y' know, by jing,
I'm re'lly glad, ez I'm sittin here,
There's nothin' to be thankful fur this year!"

—Chicago Record.

Sue's Thanksgiving

FOR DAYS the Deanes had been making ready for the corn-roast. The boys had chosen the tallest, slightest saplings, and trimmed and cut them until they were like exaggerated fishing rods, with sharply-pointed ends. All the brush and small logs had been gathered and drawn on the stone drag to the high pasture, and piled on the summit of its grassy swell, where the hills and valleys could be seen sinking and rising far and wide, the endless ridges of the Green mountains sweeping away to the east and the blue Adirondacks closing the western view. It was the finest farm in northern Vermont, old Mr. Deane had always declared; and the high pasture had been for generations a favorite place for roasting parties and corn-roasts. It was more popular than ever now, since Sue Deane was the handsomest girl in the county, and counted her swains by the dozen.

"I don't know how Sue's ever goin' to settle down," said her mother, plaintively; "for there's no one man will humor her the way they all do now. And then, Sue's so masterful; she's as sweet-tempered as you please, but she always has her own way in the end."

"Sue's obedient enough, as far as I see," replied Mr. Deane.

"Well, father, she is to you, and always has been; but, dear me! with everybody else she does what she pleases. I will say she's generally right; but that's just it—she's got as much sense, and more, than most of her beaux, and she ain't likely to find a husband she can't rule. And that's poison to a woman like Sue; she needs to be managed herself. There's just one I'd choose for her, and that's Tom Kellogg. But then, my land! he's not the kind to stand bein' played with, and Sue's not the kind to give up her ways for anybody, so there ain't much hope of it."

"Tom's a good fellow," said Mr. Deane. "'Tain't every boy could work through college 'nd law school, 'nd get into practice in a city, as he has in Burlington. And Sue and he, knowin' each other from children, of they don't understand each other by now they never will. I think it'll likely be a match."

Mrs. Deane shook her head. Accustomed to be ruled by her daughter's will, she had little faith in any man's combating its caprices successfully. In the main she was right. That very day Sue was planning in her coquettish mind how to tease Tom Kellogg at the coming corn-roast. Sue treated other admirers as she chose; but she felt Tom was different, and liked him all the better for not being sure whether she could trifle with him or not. On this occasion, being especially tender to him in her thoughts, she was prepared to be especially baffling in behavior; for, deep in her woman's heart, she knew that all the delaying, all the coquetting in the world were not going to keep her lover from speaking before his short vacation was over and he went back to the city; and meanwhile there was the sweetness of an understanding no less strong because it was yet unspoken.

Soft and clear the September evenlug dre:eon! The whole neighborhood was invited to the roast. They came in buggies, in ox-sleds, in hay wagons; and, one group after another, they climbed the dewy steeps of the hill pasture. But Tom Kellogg did not come; and Sue's brown eyes sparkled with impatience and a touch of anger at so unexpected a turn of the tables. Finally, when the big bonfire had been lighted, and everyone was gathering about it, Tom's buggy drove up to the foot of the hill, and he helped out of it a very young and very pretty girl—Miss Eleanor Cabell, the city boarder at his aunt's. Poor Tom! it was not his fault, and Sue might have known it; but the amantis irae is proverbially unreasonable. The facts were that Miss Cabell was young, charming, ignorantly enthusiastic, had never seen a corn-roast, and thought she was conferring a great favor upon Tom by accompanying him, not dreaming that his aunt had begged him to invite her. Entirely ignorant of his affair with Sue, she claimed him, sweetly and unconsciously, for her own.

"Oh, how beautiful!" she cried, as they climbed the slope, and saw the great bonfire flaming up on the summit. "Do take me close to it, Mr. Kellogg!" and she chattered away to him, with little shrieks of admiration, as the wide streaks of flame shot high into the air and flared upon the summer wind. The one huge pine tree, stretching its wide branches upon the summit, was so near the blazing pile of logs and brush that one big limb caught a waft of the flame, and the needles snapped with crackling explosions. "Oh, will it be quite safe?" cried Eleanor, and clung for an instant to her escort's arm. Sue, passing near, felt a swift desire to strangle her on the spot.

But that was only the beginning, for Miss Cabell was either appealing to Tom or ordering him around for the next two hours. First, she must have a choice ear of corn selected for her out of the big basket, heaped up to overflowing with the green, tasseled sheaths. Then, with her own white hands, he must show her how to impale it upon the sharpened end of the long, lithe sapling, and she would insist upon fixing one for him, too. Then the right place must be chosen, where she could lower the corn, at the end of the swaying rod, into the heart of the glowing fire, now sunken to an irregular circle of white-hot embers. This necessitated getting so near to the bonfire that the heat reddened her pretty cheeks, and Tom's big handkerchief had to be called into play. Holding it before her face with one hand, and peeping round the edge of it, with many appeals as to whether she was holding the corn right, and was it done, and was he sure the sapling wouldn't catch fire and burn her up, Miss Eleanor Cabell was certainly a bewitching spectacle—one of those charming, helpless, winsome little women whom all men enjoy. How was Sue to know that Tom wasn't enjoying it? When he managed to cross to her side for a moment, he found her absolutely stony to him and flirting desperately with Will Adams; and he was soon almost as angry as she was.

"I AM GOING AWAY DAY AFTER TO-MORROW, SUE."

The merriment grew and heightened as the evening went on. The smoking, blackened, sizzling ears of corn were withdrawn from the fire, sprinkled with salt, and, hot and tender beyond description, were eaten, amid a general chatter and fun. More and yet more were stripped from their silken sheaths, toasted and consumed; and, in the dying embers, apples were eozily roasted as a dessert. The great ring of fire died into a dim glow, and then into a mere twinkle of light here and there among the ashes; the stars came out over the hills, and the wind ceased, leaving a balmy clearness in the far spaces of the night. It was time for going home, so the revelers joined hands, and ended the corn-roast by dancing in a ring about the fire, and trampling out the last embers, keeping time to their flying feet by an old-fashioned chorus as they swung round and round. Miss Cabell was charmed with this; she danced like a fairy, and laughed like a child as she tripped in the swaying circle. Everyone admired her, and thought Tom Kellogg in luck. Sue heard the comment everywhere; she was irritated beyond feminine endurance; and when, as the ring broke, and the groups scattered again, to wend their way down the hill in the starlit softness of the night, Tom at last found his opportunity to speak with her, she was in her most exasperating mood.

"I am going away day after to-morrow, Sue. Can I see you to-morrow?"

"Will Adams is going to drive me over to Fair Haven to-morrow. I shall stop at Aunt Sylvia's, and I won't be back again until Monday," she said, stiffly.

"Sue," said Tom, shortly, all his innate masterfulness coming to the surface; "if you don't see me before I go, you'll not probably see me again!"

This was dangerous. Sue knew he was right, and that she ought to give him a chance to explain; but she was not the stuff of which patient Grizels are made. And just at this critical moment, a sweet voice said, out of the darkness at his elbow:

"Oh, Mr. Kellogg, isn't it a pity it's all over, and we have to go home! Miss Deane, it has been so delightful: we have enjoyed it so much!"

It was Miss Cabell, radiant and unsuspecting. Her "we" was the finishing touch. Sue's face hardened into determination.

"You must get Mr. Kellogg to show you other things of interest in our country life," she said, sweetly; "he has a little while before he goes back, and will be at your service, I am sure. Good-by, Mr. Kellogg; I hope you will have a pleasant winter in the city."

"Good-by," said Tom, holding out his hand. Sue turned away, ignoring it, and began talking and laughing with Will Adams, who was hanging about, waiting to take her down the hill, and whom she knew Tom particularly disliked. And that was the end of the corn-roast.

It was Thanksgiving day. The family gathering had taken place at the Wilcox homestead this year, for Mrs. Deane and Mrs. Wilcox were sisters, and alternated the festival. Mr. Deane, this time, however, was ill in bed, and his wife stayed to nurse him. Sue came over with the Alcotts, who were cousins and lived a mile or so beyond the Deane farm. The day had been eminently successful; the dinner was a triumph of Mrs. Wilcox's skill; the pies were flaky, the turkey tory, the cranberry a chef d'oeuvre of jellied richness, the cake bewildering in variety and lightness. Outside, a whirling snowstorm had raged all day, but with a dozen merry guests, and the hearty Wilcoxes to boot there had been no lack of gayety and fun in the old homestead. It stood just outside the village, and now and then during the afternoon, a neighbor went by in his sleigh, and waved his hand to the windows. Tom Kellogg passed, in the cutter, with the colt; he was only at home for a day or two, and Sue saw him with a great throb of her heart, and a realization, for the hundredth time since their quarrel, of how much she loved him and how foolish she had been. Sue was a just, clear-headed little woman, in spite of her coquetry; she recognized that Tom was in the right, and that he was taking the only dignified stand possible. He had gone back to the city without making any effort to see her, and she knew, as well as if he had told her, that he would not change his attitude until she made some sign. Yet she knew, also, that he loved her as much as ever, and was no more liable to change, in that steadfast affection, than in the quiet determination that controlled it. Tom had turned the tables on her and gained the mastery. She vowed she would not yield; but she felt her day of coquetry was over, whether she chose or not.

Through all Thanksgiving day each had been thinking of the other. At church, during the long and weighty discourse, which sent the younger members to sleep even upon the hard seats of the high-backed pews, Tom was contemplating the side view of his sweetheart's pretty head, with a mingled desire to shake her and kiss her, as one might a naughty but bewitching child. When he drove the cutter in the afternoon, it was not chance that took him by the Wilcox place. He longed to be within those hospitable walls, to join in the games that he knew were going on, with the chance, perhaps, for a moment to hold that nymph-like figure in his arms, or get one good look into those willful, dancing eyes. It would have been easy enough to go in; but Tom was a Spartan, and crushed down such weak desires. And Sue looked out, and hoped against hope that he would come in, and was gayer than ever in all the games, and sang as lightly as a bird in the songs that were started when Cousin Abby Alcott sat down to the melodeon, and was very wretched underneath—and, altogether, it was anything but a thankful Thanksgiving to both of them.

Fate, however, often mocks us genially before offering us a favor. Cousin Reuben Alcott, an elderly man, and cautious as to his chronic enemy, the rheumatism, began to worry over the continued storm. Finally he disappeared, and held a long consultation with Mr. Wilcox; and as Tom Kellogg came by for the second time on his road home the two hailed him, and brought him in, covered with snowflakes, his eyes bright and his cheeks flushed with the cold. Sue felt her cheeks flush, too, with irrepressible joy; but she assumed entire carelessness.

"I was jest a-sayin' thet 'twas too stormy fer me'n Abby to drive home to-night, Sue; so we'll stay over till tomorrer," announced Cousin Reuben. "Tom Kellogg, here, 'll take you home, fer it's on his road, 'nd I guess you won't mind swappin' us old folks fer a young beau."

Cousin Reuben cackled at his own joke, and the rest joined in. Sue and Tom laughed, too, but hardly with effusion. There is nothing more serious than a love affair to those concerned. It seemed to both of them that the next hour or so would never be over. The games were all done by this time, but singing was still in order, and the unlimited consumption of nuts, apples and cider, before the gathering finally broke up. The storm gradually ceased howling and sank away to a calm, so that when the good-bys had all been said, and the various teams were being harnessed, the sky was almost clear, and only a few drifting clouds obscured the stars.

Tom was so afraid that Cousin Reuben might reconsider that he brought the colt and cutter up before the rest of the teams were ready. The colt was prancing and eager; Sue, well wrapped in shawls and hood, was tucked in hurriedly; Tom jumped in, and they were off. Sue gave a little sigh of relief in the depths of her hood, for she had been afraid of Cousin Reuben, too. And now, now that she was safely beside her lover, her old tormenting spirit rose within her, and she resolved she would not make a sign, after all.

The colt forged ahead through the feathery, piled-up snow. On each side the world stretched glittering and cold under the frosty stars. The keen air brought the blood to the cheeks, and stirred every pulse of life to the rhythm of the dancing bells on the harness. Tom sat upright as a statue, looking neither to the right nor the left. Sue waited two minutes for him to speak—five—ten. They would be at home in half an hour. He expected her to begin, and she never could—and she must—and it was very unkind of him—and he was right—and oh, she couldn't! Having arrived at this point, two big tears rolled down her cheeks, and she said, in a very trembling voice:

"Tom!"

Tom, who had felt his resolution slipping away from him momently, and whose heart was one ache of tenderness toward the willful little bundle of shawls at his side, turned rapturously, with a jerk. The colt felt the rein slacken, seized his opportunity, shied wildly at a fallen branch whose twisted blackness stood threateniugly out upon the fresh snow—and, in his swaying rush, turned the cutter over, and threw both of the occupants into the nearest snowdrift. Then he trotted peaceably down the road toward home.

To be shot headforemost into a snowbank is confusing. Exactly what happened, Sue never knew; but the first thing she found herself doing, when she came to her clear senses, was holding on very tight to Tom, and asking him, tenderly and incoherently, if he was hurt. And Tom was laughing. "I'd be willing to have every bone in my body broken, Sue, to know that you care so much!" he whispered, and caught her so close in his strong arms that she was quite reassured as to his safety.

Above them the last cloud had drifted out of the sky. The broad, stainless azure arched over their heads with a friendly clearness and calm. Faintly, yet drawing nearer, came the chiming bells of another sleigh, far down the road. And, sitting in the snowdrift, the lovers kissed each other, and never even knew that it was cold.—Priscilla Leonard, in N. Y. Independent.

PROPHETIC.

"Coming events cast their shadows before."—Chicago Inter Ocean.

Reasons for Thanksgiving.

Thanksgiving for the day that brings
Our harvest home of blessing;
Thanksgiving for the love that flings
O'er us its fond caressing.

Thanksgiving that a loving glance
Still reats upon us kindly:
Thar kgiving that, with looks askance,
Some joys have passed us blindly.

Thanksgiving that our harvest food
Has justly been divided;
Thanksgiving that the turkey good
By custom is provided.

Thanksgiving that life's jangled chime
With happier notes is blending:
Thanksgiving that in course of time
All troubles have an ending.

—Chicago Press.

Fate of Scotch Kings.

Of 73 historic kings of Scotland 61 are said to have died in battle or to have been murdered.

"RAPIDLY RECOVERING."

How the Republicans Are Helping the Country.

It is gratifying to learn from Washington that "certain information has reached the treasury department showing that the United States are rapidly recovering from their period of financial depression and that before the end of the year this country will surely be 'out of the woods' not only as regards commercial enterprises, but also in the operations of the treasury."

This is a circuitous method of saying that before the end of the year the treasury income will be equal to the treasury outgo. It is an indirect mode of saying what the great Dingley said directly at the Boston bean banquet, that his bill would produce too much revenue by and by.

One item of the "certain information" which has been received by the treasury department is that during the first half of the present month the treasury outgo exceeded the income by $3,763,320. Another item is that the excess of outgo during the first 4½ months of the fiscal year was $43,772,331.

Upon these two items of certain information is based the statement that "congress will be brought face to face with a deficit of $45,000,000 in five months." Seeing that the deficit for the first half of the present month is about $900,000 greater than the average semimonthly deficit since the beginning of the fiscal year, it would seem to be nearer the mark to estimate the deficit for five months at $48,000,000.

There doesn't seem to be much in these facts to support the opinion that the deficit is to be turned into a surplus at an early day. During all the months of depression following the panic there was no such deficit as there has been during the last 4½ months, and there is every indication that it will be as great this month as it was last. Thus far it has been at the rate of more than $115,000,000 a year, against $69,000,000 the worst year after the panic.

No doubt imports will increase to some extent after the stocks of anticipatory importations are exhausted. But it takes a financial Mark Tapley to come out strong on the basis of such figures as those of the present year to date.

The Chronicle would invite the attention of the republican brethren once more to the theory which they so stoutly maintained for some four years that by no possibility could the country ever become prosperous again until the treasury receipts should be made to exceed the treasury disbursements. They adhered stoutly to that theory to the end of the last democratic administration.

But now they seem to have lost it. They improve every opportunity to say not that prosperity is about to return, but that it has already returned. And while they repeat this endlessly they are forced to admit that the disbursements not only exceed the receipts, but exceed them more than at any time since the great war expenditures ceased.

It behooves them to reconcile what they claim to be the undeniable facts with the theory which they used as an excuse for not coming to the relief of the treasury three years ago. If they fail to do this they need not be surprised if the people reject some other theories of theirs. — Chicago Chronicle.

THE NATURE OF COIN BONDS.

Bond Sharks Are Growing Very Solicitous.

The secretary of the treasury thinks that by issuing "gold bonds" he could remove "ambiguity from our contract obligations." This is a disingenious beggiag of the question, for the secretary knows that all "ambiguity" as to coin bonds was removed through a decision given by the attorney-general of the United States in 1877, and subsequently through the adoption of the Stanley Matthews' resolution by congress. In 1877 John Sherman asked if the word "coin" did not mean gold, and was informed that it meant just what it said, namely, "coin," and coin means gold and silver.

Au exchange relates the facts concerning the decision in the following paragraph:

"The attorney-general explained that in 1870 the law provided for the coinage of both gold and silver; that the coin bonds were issued that year, and that coin then meant gold and silver, and by their terms they were and are yet payable in gold and silver."

Since the republican administration went into power the bondholders have become very solicitous about the meaning of the word "coin." If they can, through the aid of the head of the government succeed in having their coin bonds made payable in gold, they will have the satisfaction of breaking an honest contract and committing the people in a manner never contemplated.

The goldites are very solicitous about the sacredness of a contract, and one of their chief arguments against bimetallism is that its adoption will affect "contracts made on a gold basis." But when it comes to the dishonest juggling of a contract made on a bimetallic basis, they have no conscientious scruples whatever. The whole gold propaganda is a conspiracy on the part of the money power to rob the masses.—Illinois State Register.

——As the president's mental condition seems unequal to the consideration of great public questions pressing for settlement until he sees the way clear for Hanna in Ohio, maybe it would pay for us all to pitch in for Hanna and then hire a committee to watch him after he gets back to the senate.—St. Louis Republic.

——In the opinion of Mr. Hanna no man ever has such an opportunity to [illegible] broad as exemplify [illegible] one which now confronts Mr. Foraker, but the latter continues to skate about the suburbs of the situation.—Minneapolis Commercial-Appeal.

VICTORIES FOR DEMOCRATS.

McKinley's Majority Being Rapidly Wiped Out.

The republican organs that are now crying out that the elections in the east are no indication of the feelings of the voters on national issues like to believe what they say, but as they do not believe their own statements they are not likely to convince anyone of the correctness of their claims. Local elections do not always group the voters on the lines that divide the national parties, but when the same party is found to be the gainer in almost every state and community in which the votes were cast it is absurd to say that the fact has no meaning. Throughout the states that held an election the democrats were uniformly successful. In the republican states they cut down the republican majorities. Kentucky is brought back to the democracy, although the republicans had strong allies in the gold democrats of that commonwealth. Virginia showed such an increase of democratic strength that the republicans did not even put a ticket in the field. And in New York, where the forces of the gold democrats and republicans last year rolled up a 268,000 plurality for McKinley, the state democracy has a plurality of nearly 60,000. The only check to the democratic advance is found in Maryland, which remains in the republican column.

If anyone doubts the significance of the returns, we commend them to the words of Henry Watterson, who has made the fight of the gold democracy in Kentucky with skill and courage. He abandons the cause of an anti-democratic democracy in the following words:

"The issue, as it was made and has been fought out, was clear and explicit. No effort was wanting to maintain it. Nobody could by any possibility be mistaken about it. We may regret the verdict, but we accept it. We shall make no further effort to direct the party course or counsels, or to share in any of the responsibilities of party leadership, having done our best, according to our conscience and belief, to divert our political associates from a policy and procedure the end of which no man can now foresee and the result of which we very much fear, both as to the welfare of the country and of the party. But we are democrats, not republicans, and nailing our flag to the masthead of honest money, free trade and home rule, we shall, in the character of a private soldier in the ranks, contribute whatever we are able to the ascertainment and vindication of the truth."

It is democracy that has won. The party is united once more, and united it is victorious. The figures of the votes will make the republicans and their gold allies thankful that it is but a number of by-elections instead of the national contest that has just been decided. The great majority that swept McKinley into the presidency has already been wiped out, and a vote tomorrow on the issues of last year would put the democratic candidate in the white house.—San Francisco Examiner.

AGRICULTURAL LOSS.

The Only Remedy for American Farmers.

The supplementary report, signed by ten out of the fourteen commissioners whose names are appended to the final report of the royal commission on agricultural depression, is certainly not the least interesting nor the least ably written portion of the blue book lately issued.

In their main report the 14 commissioners state that the grave situation which they described is due to a long-continued fall in prices. They make a number of recommendations dealing with various aspects of the question, but they do not pretend that had all these suggestions been adopted and been in force during the years of depression they would have been found real remedies for agricultural distress, because they do not deal with its real cause, viz.: the fall in prices.

The commissioners who signed the supplementary report are naturally of opinion that some attempt should be made to deal with the admitted cause of the trouble, and to suggest a remedy which should go to the root of the matter, or which, in other words, should check the fall, and bring about, if possible, some recovery of prices. Now, there are only two ways in which this can be attempted—the first way is protection. But protection does not appear to them to be a way which is within the pale of practical politics.

Moreover, it is a remedy which has been fairly tried in other countries, where agricultural depression has prevailed, notably in France and Germany; and from the inquiries made and the evidence adduced, it has manifestly failed to prove itself an effectual cure. The other method is a return to the bimetallic system which prevailed until some 25 years ago, and the abandonment of which immediately preceded the commencement of the fall of prices and the consequent depression of agriculture.—Chicago Dispatch.

OPINIONS AND POINTERS.

——It is now said that Mr. Hanna is to be the victim of a combine. Just think! the great advocate of combines to be downed by a political combine!—Atlanta Constitution.

——Dingley thinks that the New York election turned on local issues entirely. Was it worth Dingley's while to pass a tariff bill that isn't worth vindicating at the polls?—Utica Observer.

——The republicans will have a majority on joint ballot in the Ohio legislature, but it won't be safe for Mr. Hanna to put his checkbook away for some time yet.—Minneapolis Times.

——The beauties of the Dingley tariff monstrosity continues to advertise themselves to the delight of the manufacturers and the distress of the men and women who work for wages. All but one of the cotton manufacturing associations of Fall River, Mass., have agreed to abide by the action of their special committee on the condition of their trade; the recommendation of the committee is a shutdown or a decided reduction in wages. It is the old story of raising tariffs and falling wages.—Louisville Times.

CANADIAN CUSTOMS OFFICERS COLLECTING DUTY AT LAKE TAGISH.

The rich gold mines of the Klondyke are in Canada. Duties averaging 25 per cent. of the cost of every outfit bought anywhere in the United States must be paid by every person going to these mines upon entering Canadian territory.

The customs post established at the foot of Lake Tagish is at the junction of the Skagway and Dyea trails over which the goldseekers travel on their way to the Klondyke. It is guarded by an armed force of twenty-five men.

The miners who bought their supplies at Seattle and other places in the United States were an angry crowd when they arrived at the Tagish lake customs post. Those who had cash had to pay 25 per cent. of the cost of their outfits, and those who did not have money had either to give up one-quarter of their year's provisions or remain at the post for a few weeks sawing wood and helping to erect the government barracks. The men who had bought their outfits in Victoria, which is in Canada, upon showing their papers passed on without delay and without payment. Some of them were lucky enough to find rich mines at Klondyke before those detained at Lake Tagish, sawing wood for duties, were able to reach the diggings.

The railway fares are the same to Victoria as Seattle and miners' supplies are as cheap. Miners for the Klondyke who buy their outfits at Victoria, from which steamers for the mines are leaving almost daily, will save one-quarter of the cost of their outfits by purchasing at that city which is the capital and commercial center of British Columbia.

Those intending to go to the Klondyke in the spring should write to the Secretary of the Board of Trade, Victoria, B. C., who will freely supply all information asked for.

NANSEN NOT ONLY EXPLORES.

He Is an Author of Works on Anatomy That Are Authorities.

Dr. Nansen's success as an arctic explorer has made his fame so great in that direction that people are apt to forget that aside from his explorations he has done work which has made him favorably known to the entire scientific world. He has written several works on anatomy and physiology, and his "Treatise on the Nerves" is an acknowledged authority. He has in hand now a book in which he is taking up in the most careful manner the scientific results of his expedition.

As to whether he may make another try at the northern country Dr. Nansen does not say definitely. Probably he has not decided. If he was to go again, aided by the experience which he has now had and with the careful plans which he would make, there is every reason to think that his success would be even greater than on his last trip.

The construction of the Fram, egg-shaped, so as to resist the pressure of the ice, has been often described, but many of the details which were carefully carried out and which greatly assisted the success of the expedition and the comfort of the men, are not thought of. One feature which was of immense benefit was the electric light plant which the ship carried. Arctic explorers have suffered great inconvenience for want of light in their long, dark nights there. The Fram was no sooner anchored than Dr. Nansen set up the windmills which he carried with him, and from the power thus easily and regularly generated, he manufactured a plentiful supply of good light.

FOR SYSTEM OF PLAYGROUNDS.

New York's Committee Recommends a Plan for Adoption.

The report of the committee on small parks which Mayor Strong, of New York, appointed last June was laid before the mayor. Accompanying the report was a map showing the density of population and the death rate in the respective wards.

"In the original plan of the city of New York," says the committee, "the children seem to have been forgotten. Doubtless this oversight was due to the extensive area of unoccupied land which was available for the games and sports in which the youth of that day were wont to indulge. But as the city has grown in population, and especially within the last 30 years, this unoccupied space has been covered by improvements which has left the children no other opportunity for play but such as can be found in streets."

The report goes on to say:

"Your committee is convinced from the careful examination which it has been enabled to make, and especially by the marvelous improvement in the neighborhood of the new small parks which have recently been brought into use, that the failure to provide for the reasonable recreation of the people, and especially for playgrounds for the rising generation, has been the most efficient cause of the growth of crime and pauperism in our midst."

Attention is drawn to the fact that it is only within the last year that the primary and superior right of childhood to air and sunshine has been recognized by throwing open all the green space of Central park to the use and enjoyment of the children. It is recommended that playgrounds be established at 14 different places. A rough estimate of the cost of carrying out all these recommendations puts the cost at $3,580,000. The committee particularly urges that playgrounds be put in all the new and in the existing parks.

CAMPAIGN ENDS IN MARRIAGE.

Romantic Wedding Occurs at Tekamah, Neb.—Rival Candidates.

Miss Allee Thomason and Prof. C. S. Laughlin were married at Tekamah, Neb., the other day. The affair grew out of the recent election. Prof. Laughlin has been principal of the local high school for some time, and Miss Thomason has been his assistant. He was a [illegible] and she pretty helper professed to the populist faith. This fall Prof. Laughlin became a candidate for superintendent of public instruction in Burt county. The populists induced Miss Thomason to accept their nomination. The campaign became quite animated. Miss Thomason made speeches in opposition to Laughlin, and the fight was spirited. On the eve of the election, when it was too late for the populists to select a new candidate, Miss Thomason withdrew from the race. As Mr. Laughlin had practically no opposition, he was elected. The next day cards announcing their approaching marriage were sent out. Both now admit that they intended to be married all the time, but thought all was fair in politics, and took this method of being sure of the position they coveted.

LATEST SEA SERPENT.

Capt. Gould Reports Sighting a Monster in Southern Seas.

Capt. Gould, of the American clipper sloop Challenger, which has just arrived at New York from San Francisco, says he saw an immense sea serpent when 80 days out from San Francisco.

A long, irregular shape floated on the surface some 30 feet off the starboard beam, and gradually it resolved itself into an enormous serpent with a head the size of a ship's bucket and a body two feet in diameter at the largest part. It was fully 50 feet long, and was lying motionless and apparently asleep. The monster looked decidedly lumpy in the region of the belly, and the skipper concluded that the creature had dined well and was taking his after-dinner siesta.

How many finny denizens of the sea had been sacrificed to make this meal was a problem Capt. Gould could not consider, but he admitted that a good dinner had unquestionably induced the monster's somnolence.

WHARF CANNOT BE RESIDENCE.

Baltimore Men Who Live on Piers and Boats Not Allowed to Vote.

Judge Ritchie the other day at Baltimore decided that wharves and piers cannot be constituted a legal residence from which to register as voters. As a result many names will be stricken from the books in the steamboat district. The men were registered from the piers as residing on steamboats on which they were employed.

The case was unique so far as Maryland was concerned, and but one of the sort could be found in the law books of the country. That was the case of George W. Collins, the owner of a lighter employed in New York harbor. He lived on the lighter and was allowed to register and vote from the lighter attached to a certain pier.

Township of But One House.

Undoubtedly the most extraordinary township in England is that of Skiddaw, in Cumberland. It contains but one house, the occupier of which is unable to exercise the Briton's privilege of voting, because there is no one-seer to prepare a voters' list and no church or other place of worship or assembly in which to publish one. The most remote village in England is that of Farley-cum-Pitton. This rural spot is 30½ miles from the nearest railway station. As a contrast to this may be mentioned the hamlet of Ystard, about ten miles from Cardiff. This tiny settlement possesses two important main roads, two railroads and two large rivers.

Whirling Mice of Japan.

There are certain breeds of mice in Japan very sensitive and susceptible to impressions. Under proper conditions these little creatures will whirl like dervishes for hours at a time. They have been taken up by naturalists when in this condition and held stationary for several minutes, but will instantly resume the "whirling" when released.

Electric Bread Cutter.

A machine has been devised which goes by electricity and which can cut [illegible] loaves of bread [illegible] The butter is spread very thin by a cylindrical brush—so thin that a large serving of butter is guaranteed.

A SURE SIGN.

Spilling Salt Foretells the Coming of a Quarrel.

"You [illegible]," said Mrs. Turlingham, "are always making fools of yourselves over your superstitions. Here you are, worrying just because you happened to spill a little salt. Why, it's ridiculous! Perfectly ridiculous!"

"Oh, yes," Mrs. Turlingham replied, "I suppose it is. But I've never known it to happen yet, without making me quarrel with somebody. I've noticed it a thousand times."

"A thousand times, your grandmother! What's the use of exaggerating things like that. I'll bet you never spilled salt 20 times in your life, and if you quarreled after doing it, it just happened so, that's all."

"Perhaps it just happened, but that's the very thing that worries me. I don't want it to happen. And as far as being superstitious is concerned, I guess you're just about as bad as the next one. Didn't you have to spit over your right arm and hop three times around an imaginary circle when you saw the new moon over your left shoulder the other night?"

"I did, because you made such a blamed fuss about it."

"Oh, yes; it's well enough to try to blame it all on me, but I guess you wouldn't have done it if you hadn't been afraid yourself."

"Well, that's what a fellow gets for making a fool of himself to please his wife."

"It seems to me you are sometimes very willing to make a fool of yourself to please me; but you are never willing to do anything else to please me."

"Oh, of course not! Why, I'm the most horrible wretch that a woman ever promised to love, cherish and obey!"

"Henry Turlingham. I want you to understand that I didn't promise to obey."

"You did!"

"No, I didn't. When the preacher said that I didn't repeat it."

"It's all the same. It's part of the marriage service."

"I don't care. There is no reason why a wife should have to obey when the husband isn't compelled to do so."

"There isn't, eh? Why, most women are fools. They've—"

"Yes, I know that. They prove it by getting married."

"Oh, well, go on! Of course you've got to have the last word. A man might as well try to reason with a donkey as to try to get a woman to take a sensible view of anything. Confound it, I sometimes wish I could throw down everything and get out of this forever."

Then he grabbed up his hat and hurried away without kissing the sweet little woman good-by, after which Mrs. Turlingham threw herself upon the lounge, buried her face in the pillows, and sobbed:

"I kn-knew the moment I sp-pilled the salt that I would quarrel with somebo-body! It ne-never f-f-fails! B-o-o-o-o-o!"—Cleveland Leader.

ONE OF THE SMART KIND.

A Young Bridegroom Who Makes an Expensive Guy of Himself.

A lot of traveling salesmen, spending Sunday in Washington, were doing what drummers at rest always do, when one, who was very fresh and aggressively knowing, got up and left the hotel office.

"I never liked that fellow," said one of the two remaining, "and I don't like his kind. It is that sort that gave traveling men the reputation they have, and I'd like to see the last one of them fired out of their positions and decent men put in."

"Which reminds me," said the other, "of the very freshest chap of all I ever saw. He had a little money of his own and he lived in a country town in Indiana, and traveled around the state for the only wholesale store in the place. He kept his job because he had money in the concern and because he did have some ability as a salesman, though he was insufferably conceited. I used to be thrown with him occasionally and I never went to a hotel with him that he didn't always ask for the best room in the house. Well, after awhile he got married, a couple of years ago that was, and he made his first trip to New York accompanied by his bride, who was nearly as big a fool as he was. The Waldorf was the only place in New York good enough for them, and do you know what the yap did when they got there?"

"I can guess," smiled the listener.

"That's just what he did. He lined up alongside the counter of that elegant place as if it were the Hotel de Hoss in Squedunk, and with a wave of his hand—that same old wave I remember so well: 'By Jinks,' he said to the clerk; 'gimme the best room you got in the house.' And the cleric did, but after letting the young fellow spread himself on it for a minute or two he told him the best would cost him $300 a day, and for once in his life Freshy had to acknowledge that he had bit off more than he could chew."—Washington Star.

Chinchilla in Vogue.

There is no doubt that chinchilla will again form one of the very popular furs of the winter. It is stylish, refined in effect, and very expensive. Silk velvet Russian blouses, capes and jackets will be very much trimmed with this fur. On cloth costumes of dahlia, Russian green, dark blue or plum color, small pieces for various portions of the bodice look soft and dainty against a clear complexion, be it fair or dark.—N. Y. Sun.

Fruit Pudding.

Three cupfuls of sifted flour, one heaping tablespoonful of butter, one-half of a teaspoonful of salt, two tablespoonfuls of sugar, one heaping teaspoonful of baking powder and sufficient milk to make a thick drop batter. Add one cupful of any small fruit, fill small cups well greased two-thirds full, place in a steamer and steam for 25 minutes. Serve with a soft sauce.—N. Y. Ledger.

How's This!

We offer One Hundred Dollars Reward for any case of Catarrh that can not be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure.

F. J. Cheney & Co., Props., Toledo, O.

We, the undersigned, have known F. J. Cheney for the last 15 years, and believe him perfectly honorable in all business transactions and financially able to carry out any obligations made by their firm.

West & Truax, Wholesale Druggists, Toledo, O.

Walding, Kinnan & Marvin, Wholesale Druggists, Toledo, Ohio.

Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. Price 75c. per bottle. Sold by all Druggists. Testimonials free.

Hall's Family Pills are the best.

A Mean White Man.

Rev. Amindab Bledso, of the St. Louis Black Tight-tabernacle, met Jim Turlington a few days ago near the Grand Union depot and asked him how he was off for firewood.

"I reckon I has got erbout five cords laid up for de winter."

"Dat onghter las' yer er long while," said Parson Bledso, who was figuring to borrow some of Jim's fuel.

"Hit ain't gwine ter las' so werry long," replied Jim, "bekase de white man in whose yard 'at wood is burns it up jess as if it didn't cost him er cent."—N. Y. World.

Misery by the Wholesale,

Is what chronic inactivity of the liver gives rise to. Bile gets into the blood and imparts a yellow tint, the tongue foils, and so does the breath, sick headaches, pain beneath the right ribs and shoulder blades are felt, the bowels become constipated and the stomach disordered. The proven remedy for this catalogue of evils is Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, a medicine long and professionally recommended, and sovereign also for chills and fever, nervousness and rheumatism.

Considerate.

The Sheriff—The boys was all in favor of makin' that reward for you "dead or alive," but I talked 'em out of it.

Prisoner—Jake, that was mighty kind of—[illegible]

Secretary of [illegible] was any petticker serious quarrel, see, Bill, if you was Constitution[illegible]tt, and ain't git to charge clares that [illegible] your board, and difference o[illegible]N. Coming From Thirtor of Int[illegible] distributoogge of the Grain-Oi[illegible]000 amor government[illegible] show you a [illegible]as an occasion to [illegible] new food drink that take[illegible] The children say drink but Hon. E. [illegible]as well as the [illegible]t. All wi[illegible]y under t[illegible] it. GRAIN-O [illegible]as that rich [illegible]ed Mocha or Java bin[illegible]t it is made fromvegeta grains, and the most delicate stomachs [illegible]ceive it without distress. 14 the price ofcoffee. 15c and 25 cts. per package. Sold by all grocers.

Devil's Due

"You condemns us tramps, said Meander McWalk, "but dere's one thing we must git credit for."

"What's that?"

"You don't hear of us indulgin' in labor riots."—Philadelphia North American.

Star Plug Is Strictly High Grade.

No expense is saved—no false economy is practiced—in the manufacture of Star plug tobacco. It is strictly high-grade in every particular.

Aspirations without faith are powerful only for destruction. They can kindle a revolution, but they cannot mold a new order.—Westcott.

To Cure a Cold in One Day

Take Laxative Bromo Quinine Tablets. All druggists refund money if it fails to cure. 25c.

When a woman sees a pretty girl, she says she wouldn't be bad looking if she didn't know of her beauty so well.—Washington Democrat.

Fits stopped free and permanently cured. No fits after first day's use of Dr. Kline's Great Nerve Restorer. Free $2 trial bottle & treatise. Dr. Kline, 933 Arch st., Phila., Pa.

In almost every case of marriage one of the parties in time looks the rabbit to the other's wolf.—Atchison Globe.

Piso's Cure for Consumption is an A No. 1 Asthma medicine.—W. R. Williams, Antioch, Ill., April 11, 1894.

Some men who are really lions have been abused so much that they act like rabbits.—Atchison Globe.

When did you arrive—not to know St. Jacobs Oil will cure a sprain right off.

Many actresses seem to favor long engagements and short marriages.—Chicago News.

A big investment for a workingman is St. Jacobs Oil. It cures rheumatism.

Some men are so henpecked that they ride a woman's bicycle.—Washington Democrat.

It is a knock-out when St. Jacobs Oil cures Sciatica promptly.

Spinster—A woman who wouldn't marry if she could and couldn't if she would.—Chicago News.

Auctioneer—A man who cries because he has to make an honest living.—Chicago News.

THE MARKETS.

	CINCINNATI, Nov. 22
LIVE STOCK—Cattle, common	$ 2 00	@	2 75
Select butchers	3 85	@	4 35
CALVES—Fair to good light	5 25	@	5 75
HOGS—Common	2 85	@	3 30
Mixed packers	3 35	@	3 45
Light shippers	3 30	@	3 45
SHEEP—Choice	3 90	@	4 10
LAMBS—Good to choice	4 75	@	5 10
FLOUR—Winter family	3 50	@	3 75
GRAIN—Wheat—No. 2 red		@	94
No. 3 red		@	90
Corn—No. 2 mixed		@	28
Oats—No. 2		@	24
Rye—No. 2		@	46½
HAY—Prime to choice	9 00	@	9 25
PROVISIONS—Mess pork		@	8 37½
Lard—Prime steam		@	4 10
BUTTER—Choice dairy	13	@	14
Prime to choice creamery		@	24½
APPLES—Per bbl	2 50	@	3 25
POTATOES—Per bbl	1 85	@	2 25

	CHICAGO.
FLOUR—Winter patents	4 80	@	5 00
GRAIN—Wheat—No. 2 red	95½	@	97½
No. 2 Chicago spring	88½	@	89½
CORN—No. 2		@	30½
OATS—No. 2		@	22
PORK—Mess	7 30	@	7 35
LARD—Steam		@	4 17½

	NEW YORK.
FLOUR—Winter patent	5 00	@	5 25
No. 2 red		@	99½
CORN—No. 2 mixed		@	38½
RYE	50	@	50½
OATS—Mixed		@	28
PORK—New mess	8 25	@	9 00
LARD—Western		@	4 80

	BALTIMORE.
FLOUR—Family	4 50	@	4 75
GRAIN—Wheat—No. 2	96½	@	96¾
Southern Wheat	96	@	97½
Corn—Mixed	32½	@	32¾
Oats—No. 2 white	28½	@	29
Rye—No. 2 western		@	54
CATTLE—Best quality	4 10	@	4 50
HOGS—Western	4 15	@	4 20

	INDIANAPOLIS.
GRAIN—Wheat—No. 2		@	93½
Corn—No. 2 mixed		@	24½
Oats—No. 2 mixed		@	20½

	LOUISVILLE.
FLOUR—Winter patent	3 75	@	4 10
GRAIN—Wheat—No. 2 red		@	95
Corn—Mixed		@	27
Oats—Mixed		@	22
PORK—Mess		@	9 00
LARD—Steam		@	4 [illegible]

WOMEN DO NOT TELL THE WHOLE TRUTH.

Modest Women Evade Certain Questions When Asked by a Male Physician, but Write Freely to Mrs. Pinkham.

An eminent physician says that "Women are not truthful, they will lie to their physicians." This statement should be qualified; women do tell the truth, but not the whole truth, to a male physician, but this is only in regard to those painful and troublesome disorders peculiar to their sex.

There can be no more terrible ordeal to a delicate, sensitive, refined woman than to be obliged to answer certain questions when those questions are asked, even by her family physician. This is especially the case with unmarried women.

This is the reason why thousands and thousands of women are now corresponding with Mrs. Pinkham. To this good woman they can and do give every symptom, so that she really knows more about the true condition of her patients through her correspondence than the physician who personally questions them. Perfect confidence and candor are at once established between Mrs. Pinkham and her patients.

Years ago women had no such recourse. Nowadays a modest woman asks help of a woman who understands women. If you suffer from any form of trouble peculiar to women, write at once to Mrs. Pinkham, Lynn, Mass., and she will advise you free of charge.

And the fact that this great boon which is extended freely to women by Mrs. Pinkham, is appreciated, the thousands of letters which are received by her prove. Many such grateful letters as the following are constantly pouring in:

"I was a sufferer from female weakness for about a year and a half. I have tried doctors and patent medicines, but nothing helped me. I underwent the horrors of local treatment, but received no benefit. My ailment was pronounced ulceration of the womb. I suffered from intense pains in the womb and ovaries, and the backache was dreadful. I had leucorrhœa in its worst form. Finally I grew so weak I had to keep my bed. The pains were so hard as to almost cause spasms. When I could endure the pain no longer I was given morphine. My memory grew short, and I gave up all hope of ever getting well. Thus I dragged along. At last I wrote to Mrs. Pinkham for advice. Her answer came promptly. I read carefully her letter, and concluded to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. After taking two bottles I felt much better; but after using six bottles I was cured. My friends think my cure almost miraculous. Her noble work is surely a blessing to broken-down women."—GRACE B. STANSBURY, Pratt, Kansas.

MAN WHO WORE A DAISY.

Girls Laughed Because It Was of Cloth, But They Repented.

They were giddy girls of the kittenish age, and, being out on a lark without chaperons, they spoke their thoughts aloud and made game of everyone and everything they saw, on the principle that all was fish that came to their nets.

One passenger on the elevated railroad particularly amused them, from the fact that although it was the month of bleak November he wore a white daisy in his buttonhole, a fine specimen of the ragged edge variety. It was conspicuous from its size, and the girls regarded it as a legitimate object of sport. Not being deaf nor blind, the man who wore the modest flower with the yellow heart grew embarrassed over the attention he received. At last one of the girls made a discovery.

"It isn't genuine," she suggested to the others, in a loud whisper.

"What?" they trilled in chorus.

"It's a base counterfeit."

"No! Never!"

"Yes, it's a cloth daisy."

By this time the man upon whom all eyes were focused was ready to leave the car. Before he went he touched his hat to his tormentors.

"Yes," he said, pleasantly, "this is a cloth daisy. My little daughter, who is an invalid, made it and pinned it on. She asked me to wear it, and I had not the heart to refuse her. I hope I have your permission?"

A group of shamefaced girls sneaked out of the car at the next station.—Chicago Times-Herald.

An Anglophobe.

He—My friend is opposed to everything English.

She—Yes, I noticed that in his conversation.—Yonkers Statesman.

Do the right, and your ideal of it grows and perfects itself. Do the wrong, and your ideal of it breaks up and vanishes.—James Martineau.

When a man can find no other business he can still become a notary public.—Washington Democrat.

We notice that girls with steadies never have fascinating girls come to visit them.—Atchison Globe.

HE CONQUERED IT.

Awful Struggle with a Monster That Finally Yielded.

All was silence for a moment.

Then a loud, shrill shriek rent the startled air. There was the sound of a heavy body falling, a crashing of timbers, a noise as of sinful spirits wailing in despair. A chain cracked dismally and then parted with a dead, metallic snap. Staggering backward, he fell against the washstand. The bowl and pitcher fell in a confused mass of broken crockery upon the floor, while the water flooded the room.

Again he advanced to the attack, and the black-browed monster bent slightly forward and cast him full length upon the floor. Blood gushed from his wounds, but he leaped again to the attack. With loud curses he grappled with the demon. His garments were torn in a hundred places. One eye was black and blue! The other was blue and black! But still he kept up the fearful combat. At length, when nearly exhausted, with his life blood slowly oozing from a thousand wounds and his breath coming in short, painful gasps, he won! The dread monster lay wide open before him.

"There!" he said, as he wiped the drops of perspiration from his brow. "There! It's a cold day when I can't open a folding bed!"—N. Y. World.

Another Iliad.

The following story proves what a mere proving that a man may handle books without being a scholar. It wasn't in the book stall of a department store; it was in a real bookstore; a bookstore, moreover, where you would expect to find salesmen who know books. A friend of mine went in the other day and asked for Pope's "Iliad." The salesman went away to look for it. Presently he returned with a book in his hand. "We haven't Pope's 'Iliad,'" he said, "but we have an 'Iliad.' It's by Homer, though."—Washington Post.

Plenty of Exercise. — Walker — "The trouble with bicycling is that it does not develop the arms in proportion to the legs." Wheeler—"Yes, it does, if you will only use one of those little two-ounce hand-pumps to inflate your tires."—Indianapolis Journal.

The little that is done seems nothing when we look forward and see how much we have yet to do.—Goethe.

A GREAT REMEDY.

Greatly Tested.

Greatly Recommended.

The loss of the hair is one of the most serious losses a woman can undergo. Beautiful hair gives many a woman a claim to beauty which would be utterly wanting if the locks were short and scanty. It is almost as serious a loss when the natural hue of the hair begins to fade, and the shining tresses of chestnut and auburn are changed to gray or to a faded shadow of their former brightness. Such a loss is no longer a necessity. There is one remedy which may well be called a great remedy by reason of its great success in stopping the falling of the hair, cleansing the scalp of dandruff, and restoring the lost color to gray or faded tresses. Dr. Ayer's Hair Vigor is a standard and reliable preparation, in use in thousands of homes, and recommended by everyone who has tested it and experienced the remarkable results that follow its use. It makes hair grow. It restores the original color to hair that has turned gray or faded out. It stops hair from falling, cleanses the scalp of dandruff, and gives the hair a thickness and gloss that no other preparation can produce.

Mrs. Herrmann, of 356 East 68th St., New York City, writes:

"A little more than a year ago, my hair began turning gray and falling out, and although I tried ever so many things to prevent a continuance of these conditions, I obtained no satisfaction until I tried Dr. Ayer's Hair Vigor. After using one bottle my hair was restored to its natural color, and ceased falling out."—Mrs. HERRMANN, 356 East 68th St., New York City.

"I have sold Dr. Ayer's Hair Vigor for fifteen years, and I do not know of a case where it did not give entire satisfaction. It have been, and am now using it myself for dandruff and gray hair, and am thoroughly convinced that it is the best on the market. Nothing that I ever tried can touch it. It affords me great pleasure to recommend it to the public."—FRANK M. GROVE, Fauns-dale, Ga.

There's more on this subject in Dr. Ayer's Curebook. A story of cures told by the cured. This book of 100 pages is sent free, on request, by the J. C. Ayer Co., Lowell Mass.

In three points—tone, action, and durability—no organ approaches the ESTEY

Write for Illustrated Catalogue with prices, to Estey Organ Company, Brattleboro, Vt.

Weeks Scale Works
STOCK, COAL, HAY, GRAIN AND COTTON SCALES. BUFFALO, N. Y.

OPIUM and Whiskey Habits cured at home without pain. Book of particulars sent FREE. B. M. WOOLLEY, M.D., Atlanta, Ga.

25 CTS. PISO'S CURE FOR CURES WHERE ALL ELSE FAILS. Best Cough Syrup. Tastes Good. Use in time. Sold by Druggists. CONSUMPTION

A. N. K.—E 1693

WHEN WRITING TO ADVERTISERS please state that you saw the advertisement in this paper.

BOONE : COUNTY : RECORDER

Wednesday Nov. 24 1897.

Rates of Subscription:

One year..... $1 50.
Six months..... 75.
Three months..... 40.

☞Payable invariably in advance.

THE RECORDER

SOLICITS YOUR

Job Work,

NOTE HEADS,
LETTER HEADS,
ENVELOPES,
CARDS,
BILL HEADS,
STATEMENTS,
SALE BILLS,
AND BOOK BILLS,

Printed at the Lowest Prices consistent with neat work.

Send your order by mail and it will be atteuded promptly.

STATE NEWS.

Typhoid fever is epidemic at Versailles.

Toll-gate lawlessness has again broken out in Bath county.

Lincoln county voted almost unanimously for free turnpikes.

Methodist Church at Fairview struck by lightning and burned.

W. J. Ramsey, a Covington feed-merchant, has made an assignment.

Zinc and lead are found on the Searcy farm, west of Lawrenceburg.

Judge James H. Hazelrigg is mentioned as a candidate for Governor.

A strong flow of gas was struck by well diggers near Oxford, Scott county.

Mrs. Mary McGilloway, of Lexington, died of grief over death of relatives.

Clarence Newhall, a Louisville youth, has been made insane by the use of cigarettes.

J. Baker's dog at Lexington bit H. Etherington, who has been awarded $50 damages.

A new county may be made out of portions of Hancock, Breckinridge, Ohio and Daviess counties.

With all the returns in at last, Mr. Shackelford's plurality for Clerk of the Court of Appeals is 17,326.

Near Providence, J. A. Justice's barn burned, consuming 38 fine work mules and a large lot of feed.

Policeman Oscar Duncan, in self defense, shot and killed ex-Policeman Willis B. Campbell, at Shelbyville.

"Breck" Combs committed suicide by shooting himself through the head. Cause for the rash act not known.

In the eastern part of Clinton county, Robert Ferguson, a prosperous man, was shot and killed by Wm. Taylor.

One afternoon last week the Hardin circuit court convicted nine men of as many felonies. That was rushing business.

Hon. Jos. A. Parker, Populist, will sue the Owensboro Messenger for $10,000 and the Paducah News for $25,000 for libel.

Klondike clubs are being organized at several places in the State, and expect to start for the Alaska gold fields early in the spring.

Mrs. William Wilson, of Lexington, told her husband a tramp tried to assault her in order to make him stay at home at night. Ruse worked.

The toll gate raiders resumed business immediately after the election, and several gates have been demolished in the last ten days.

At Henderson, John Brewer startled a coroner's jury sitting on his body by coming to life and wanting to know what "all this meant?"

The Campbell county grand jury, Newport, made up a purse for a boy who had been driven to crime by hunger, instead of returning an indictment.

The total valuation of railroad property this year is $43,500,000, being $5,000,000 less than last year. Last year 31 miles of new road was built in the State.

The Governor has offered $200 reward for arrest of Jack Lavitt, murderer of Lincoln Wilson, who was found dead in the woods near Williamsburg, last Sunday.

Chas. Brown, of Nicholasville, is organizing a company to go to the Klondike. He has been in Alaska and the Klondike region before and is familiar with life there.

The Court of Appeals affirmed the twenty-one-year sentence of John Dugan, who killed John Colson, a brother of Congressman David Colson, in Middlesboro last April.

A tree that grew from a walnut planted by Mr. and Mrs. Jarrett Haynes, pioneers of Paducah, has been cut down and sawed into boards with which coffins for the old couple are to be made.

Charles Martin and Dave Justice were arrested last week charged with the murder of Lace Vinson, of Louisa, who was found dead under the C. and O. railroad bridge that crosses Sandy river, about 2 years ago. Detectives have been working on the case for some time.

There will be fewer old faces in the coming Legislature than have been in any session during the past quarter of a century. There will be five or six old Representatives returned in the House. Heretofore there have been from fifteen to twenty old members returned in the lower branch.

On the top of a cliff overhanging the road above the city is the print of a man's foot, huge in size, deeply imbedded in solid rock, and near it are the tracks of a bear. In a scramble they must have fallen over the cliff, as there are no signs to show which way they went.—Hawesville Plaindealer.

Two little tots were about to be put to bed and were kneeling at their mother's knee saying the Lord's prayer. The oldest repeated it after his mother and when he reached the passage where it reads "Give us this day our daily bread" what was the mother's surprise when the other tot exclaimed, "hit Him for pie, Johnnie; hit Him for pie."—Ex.

In digging the cellar for Mr. Sam Hardin's new dwelling, says the Monticello News, the workmen uncovered the skeleton of a man who was buried during the war. The skeleton was complete. Portions of his belt and a number of military buttons were also found. It is probable that it was a confederate soldier that was wounded at the Mill Springs battle and died here.

"Doc" Davis, a farmer, living three miles from Nicholasville, was loading an old-fashioned muzzle-loading gun when it was accidentally discharged, perhaps fatally wounding him. The load tore off three fingers and then penetrated his face and head. The stock of the gun rested on the ground, and it seems that Davis' dog, which sat by scratching himself, struck the hammer with his foot and caused the explosion.

In our last issue Elder Joseph Ballon offered $25 reward for the thief who stole his sow, if a negro, and $50 if a white man. We asked him why he made the difference. "Because," he answered, "there is less necessity for a white man to steal than a negro, and it is, therefore, much meaner for him to do it. By the way, I will give $25 for the arrest and conviction of any man who steals a hog from anybody in this county, and keep it a standing offer."—Stanford Interior Journal.

Saturday our town was under considerable excitement because of the trial of Prof. Hargett for whipping one of the large boys. A warrant was sworn out and he was placed under arrest. A jury was demanded, who after hearing the statements of the Professor and several witnesses, returned a verdict of not guilty in less than five minutes. The Professor made the jury a nice little talk urging them to not break down the school by giving a lot of headlong pupils full control. His talk had the right ring.—Germantown News in Augusta Chronicle.

Truth truly is stranger than fiction. The hands employed in Myers' gravel pit getting out gravel for the street, discovered, this week, some pieces of coal so far under ground that it has put some people to thinking and taught them something. Away down 30 feet from the top of the bank, the men found a bed of pure gravel with here and there a number of lumps of coal. The coal is biscuit shaped, having been worn smooth evidently by the action of the water and the gravel. But when, is the question. Not within a hundred years, not within a thousand. The place is far above the river, and the land above the coal has doubtless been there for ages upon ages. A fire was kindled and the coal burned nicely. Besides the coal, large pieces of a peculiar white rock were found, the same being unlike any other stone around here. The facts we have stated are but further evidence that in times past the old rivers have both changed their beds and contracted themselves within smaller limits. All the valleys were in comparatively recent times, geologicaly speaking, under water, while the highest hills were at a period still further back, a part of some great ocean's bottom.—Carrollton Democrat.

FROM CARROLL COUNTY.

[News]

There is a scramble for city offices under the incoming administration.

W. R. Jones bought about 30,000 pounds of tobacco in the Mill creek country Tuesday, the prevailing price being 10 and 3 cents.

Geo. Romans, who shot Sheriff Bare, of Trimble county, some fifteen months ago, seriously wounding him, was captured in Indianapolis last week. He was taken to the jail at New Castle for safe keeping.

J. A. Dunaway Sheriff of Carroll county, made his settlement with the State Auditor last week in full of taxes due the State, and got his quietus, the number of which was 5, which shows that only four other sheriffs in the State, out of 119, made their settlements before him.

FROM GRANT COUNTY.

[Courier]

The receipts at the Grant County Building, Loan and Saving Association on last Monday night were $8.677,80.

Sam Wilson who was seriously injured by falling from a building on which he was at work last week is slowly inproving.

W. L. Allphin, Circuit Court Clerk elect, has come to town and will work in the office of Col. Conrad, the present Clerk, until the [illegible] beyond the Deane ary when he will be eminently sue[illegible] the Clerkship. [illegible]mer was a triumph of Court [illegible]skill; the pies were flaky, [illegible]ew, the cranberry a chef [illegible] Pheasant [illegible]ellied richness, the cake [illegible] variety and lightness. Monday [illegible]ling snowstorm [illegible]nimrods [illegible]t with a degrees to [illegible] hills with [illegible]arty Will[illegible] bent on enjoying [illegible]t of out door sports. [illegible]lls of Grant county are almost alive with Quails this year and the sport promises to be the best for many seasons past.

FROM GALLATIN COUNTY.

Independent

Mrs. Jacob Furnish died at her home near Vera Cruz, Monday, after a lingering illness from consumption, in the 65th year of her age.

Judge Ben S. Lindsay was appointed County School Supt., Monday to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Dr. Charles Burkhardt.

Commenwealth vs Lewis Springs colored. An indictment for false swearing. Adjudged guilty by a jury and given one year in the penitentiary.

Rev. Oscar Hufford, of Egypt Bottom, Ind., who was a minister of the M. E. Church, united with the Christian Church last Sunday night. At the close of Elder D. T. Buck's sermon Rev. Hufford arose and announced his intention of uniting with the church and gave seven reasons why he left the other church, and united with the Christian church.

Squire Milton C. Ross, a clever old gentleman of the Hoggins district, and the standard bearer of the "Sound Money" Democratic party in that district, was visiting friends here Thursday. Squire Ross has been allowed a pension of $12 per month, with back pay, amounting to $672.00, on account of his son, James Ross, who died in the army during the late war.

FROM OWEN COUNTY.

[News]

Owenton may soon have an electric plant.

There will be an extra session of the Owen Circuit Court, beginning Nov. 25, in order to clear the docket of some old suits.

The tobacco barn of Jas. Hiccason near Holbrook, was burned to the ground Sunday night. It contained about 20,000 lbs. of tobacco, a large amount of corn and a good many farming implements. No insurance.

Kelly Lee is buying quite a considerable quantity of tobacco in the upper end. Last week he bought the crops of Lewis True, 8,000 lbs, at 10c; Dowen Smith, 20,000 lbs, at 9c; J. H. Woolums, 6,000 lbs. at 3½ cents and several other crops at about the same figures.

[Herald,]

A new 1,000-pound bell will shortly be purchased for the Baptist Church.

There is considerable complaint of cholera among the hogs in the county.

Some of the farmers are turning over the bluegrass sod preparatory to an early crop next spring.

Wheat failed to come up after the rains, as was expected; it took the dry rot previous to the rain.

Mr. O. B. Riley, who was shot by his nephew, Jas. Riley, some weeks since, is improving. His brother, Dr. Fletcher Riley, of Chicago, attended him. Dr. Riley says he is a member of a company that will leave Chicago in the spring for Klondike. He goes free as a physician.

FRANKFORT is turning out a large crop of candidates for the offices that will be disposed of by the next Legislature.

Commissioner's Sale.

Boone Circuit Court, Ky.

L. Dwyer's Adm'r., &c. Plffs.
vs
L. Dwyer s creditors, &c., Defts.

By virtue of a Judgment and order of Sale of the Boone Circuit Court, rendered at the August term thereof, 1897, in the above cause, I shall proceed to offer for sale at the Court House door in Burlington, Boone County. Ky., to the highest bidder, at Public Sale on Monday the 6th day of Dec., 1897, at one o'clock p. m. or there about, being County Court day, ou a credit of 6 and 12 months, the following described property to wit:

A tract of land lying and being in Boone county, Ky., consisting of two tracts and bounded thus:

First tract—Beginning at two Sassafras trees corner to C. B. McPherson; thence with his line s 64½ e 104 4-5 poles to a stone near two white oak trees a corner with Rebecca Florence; thence with her line n 29½ e 89½ poles to a sugar tree and leaning white oak a corner with Thos. Young; thence with his line n 43 w 108 poles to a white oak tree and poplar stump; thence s 65½ w 30½ poles to Thos. Dwyer's corner, on the south side of a large branch; thence s 64 w 191 poles to a stone on the southwest side of a large branch, another corner of Thos. Dwyer; thence with Jackson Bass' line up said branch s 58 e 27½ poles to an elm tree; thence s 87 e 15½ poles to two white oak trees and rose elder; thence s 58 e 29 3-5 to a white oak tree; thence n 84½ e 13½ poles to a falleu hickory stump; thence s 36 e 4 1-5 poles to a stone near said branch Bass' upper corner in C. B. McPherson's line; thence with said line n 33½ e 48 poles to the beginning containing 137 acres.

Tract two—Beginning at a double sugar tree and white oak on the south side of little South Fork creek near the mouth of Wolf Pen branch a corner with Elijah Northcutt; thence with his line s 19½ e 84½ poles to a red oak tree; thence s 1 w 20 poles to a stone and dogwood on Wolf Pen branch; thence s 19 e 10½ poles to a stone on the west side of said branch in Northcutt's line, a corner between a mulberry and dogwood; thence n 10½ e 181 poles to a stone, the southwest side of a large branch of little South Fork creek; thence down the meanders of said branch and said creek, leaving them out to water mark, n 51 w 30 poles, n 42 w 31 poles, s 87 w 63 poles, n 45 w 34 poles, n 87 w 10 poles, s 62½ w 71½ to the beginning containing 100½ acres.

There is excepted from and reserved out of this description, lands conveyed to Patrick McCormick which contains about 102 acres. There is also excepted out of all the lands of decedent at the time of his death the following tract of land which was set apart to the widow as her homestead:

Beginning at a stone, Wm. Farrell's corner at the south corner of a grave yard; thence with said Farrell's line n 65 w 14 65 chs to a stone; thence s 79½ w 2.25 chs to a stone; thence running with the lines of the remaining tract belonging to Larry Dwyer, n 9½ e 4.56 chs to a stone; thence n 56½ w 2 87 chs to a stone; thence n 53½ w 16.76 chs to a stone; thence n 66½ e 6.33 chs to a stoue; thence 3½ e 6.25 chs to a stone on the south side of little South Fork creek; theuce up said creek leaving it out, s 63½ e 3.33 chs, n 89½ e 3.81 chs, s 86½ e 6.16 chs to a stone near the mouth of a branch; thence up said branch leaving it out, s 2½ e 1.1 chs, s 40½ e 1.05 chs, s 66½ e 1.12 chs, s 24½ e 1.91, s 45½ e 5.17 chs, s 45½ e 5.6 chs, s 45 e 8.97 chs to Wm. Farrell's coruer; thence with his line 99½ w 16.17 chs to the beginning, containing 44a, 3r, 8p. There is reserved for this lot a passway 20 feet wide passing over Dwyer's remaining tract along the present passway to the county road.

I will first offer all the remaining lands except the homestead, in case it does not bring enough money to pay the debt, interest and cost of the Walton Perpetual Building and Loan Association which is $1,918 46, I will then offer the homestead.

Or sufficient thereof to produce the sums of mouey so ordered to be made for said Building and Loan Association. For the purchase price the purchaser, with approved security or securities, must execute bond, bearing legal interest from the day of sale until paid, and having the force aud effect of a Judgment, with a lien retained therein until all the purchase money is paid. Bidders will be prepared to comply promptly with these terms

J. B. BERKSHIRE, M. C. B. C.

Order of Reference.

Boone Circuit Court.

Jordan Beemon's Admr. Plff.
vs
Jordan Beemon's heirs &c. Defts.

This cause is now referred to J. B. Berkshire, Master Commissioner of this court, under Section 431 Civil Code of practice, with the following instructions:

1. He will audit and settle the accounts of the administrator.

2. He will hear proof on and report the debts against the estate and how secured if at all.

3. He will hear proof, ascertain and determine what real estate decedent owned at the time of his death, where located and the probable value thereof.

4. He will give due notice of the time and place of his sittings by written or printed notices posted up at the Court House door in Burlington, Ky., five days preceeding his sittings and also publish said notices in the Boone Co., Recorder. He will report at the next term of this court.

Given under my hand as clerk of said court, this October 8th, 1897.

J. W. DUNCAN, Clerk.

The undersigned hereby gives notice that he will begin his sittings on the 1st day of November, 1897, at the Circuit Clerk's office in Burlington, Ky., to hear proof in the above styled cause and will adjourn from day to day (Sunday excepted) to the 1st day of Dec., 1897. All persons having claims against Jordan Beemon's estate will present them to me properly proven as by law required.

J. B. BERKSHIRE, Master Com.

Notice.

Having attained an age, and condition of health, that I am no longer able to attend to my business, I appoint Geo. W. Roberts to take charge of it, and enforce settlement and reinvest the money to the best advantage.

NAT HIND, Verona, Ky.

AYLOR'S AYLOR'S AYLOR'S AYLOR'S

YOU WILL FIND US

Very much alive in all that means business—and business that will be your business is what we are going to talk right along. Our business is to sell good, pure and fresh GROCERIES and PROVISIONS, and point out to people the wisdom of patronizing our establishment.

IRA AYLOR, - - Erlanger, Ky.

AYLOR'S AYLOR'S AYLOR'S AYLOR'S

C. W. ROBINSON,
—DEALER IN—
Dry Goods, Notions, Groceries, Boots and Shoes,
ALL KIND OF FEED AND FLOUR IN STOCK,
Agent for Weidler's Germ Food; Also agent for the Jones Fertilizers.
GOOD STABLE IN CONNECTION WITH STORE.
Constance, Ky.

METROPOLITAN COUPE & LIVERY COMPANY.
62 & 64 West Sixth St., Cincinnati, Ohio,
E. H. BAKER, Proprietor
Horses and Vehicles for Hire at Reasonable Rates.
Horses and Second-Hand Buggies for Sale.
Horses Sold on Commission.
Telephone 580.

CHAS. C. FRY. JACOB REIB.
FRY & REIB,
Manufacturers of and Dealers in all kinds of
Marble & Granite Monuments,
HEADSTONES, CORNER POSTS, ETC.,
109 Pike Sreet, - - - COVINGTON, K.
Near C. & O. R. R. Crossing. Designs Furnished Upon Application.

MONTHLY SUFFERING.

Thousands of women are troubled at monthly intervals with pains in the head, back, breasts, shoulders, sides hips and limbs. But they need not suffer.

These pains are symptoms of dangerous derangements that can be corrected. The menstrual function should operate painlessly.

McELREE'S Wine of Cardui

makes menstruation painless, and regular. It puts the delicate menstrual organs in condition to do their work properly. And that stops all this pain. Why will any woman suffer month after month when Wine of Cardui will relieve her? It costs $1.00 at the drug store. Why don't you get a bottle to-day?

For advice, in cases requiring special directions, address, giving symptoms, "The Ladies' Advisory Department," The Chattanooga Medicine Co., Chattanooga, Tenn.

Mrs. ROZENA LEWIS, of Denaville, Texas, says: "I was troubled at monthly intervals with terrible pains in my head and back, but have been entirely relieved by Wine of Cardui."

What it Will Do.

FALMOUTH, KY. July 7, 1896.

Dr. J. T. Boulton, Cincinnati, O.

Dear Sir—I was taken with a severe cough the first of May; for two weeks I could not lie on my left side nor breathe through my left lung. I also had hemorrhage and my friends said I had consumption. I began taking Boulton's Cough Remedy and began to improve with the first dose, and within three weeks was entirely well. I can not say enough in favor of Boulton's Cough Remedy. Respectfully,

Mrs. R. J. MARSHALL.

For sale by all druggists. Price, 25c. and $1 per bottle.

For Sale or Rent.

Good Stock Farm of 170 acres. Money rent in cash, if rented.

Wm. C. HENSLEY.

Take the Recorder, $1.50 a year.

Frankfort & Cincinnati Railway.

Ask for tickets via this line. Schedule of trains in effect March 1, 1897.

East Bound.
Lve. Frankfort..... 6:30 a. m, 3:00 p.m
Arr. Georgetown...7:20 a. m. 4:15 p. m
West Bound.
Lve. Georgetown...10:40 a m 6:30 p. m
Arr. Frankfort.....11:55 a. m 7:20 p. m
O. D. BERCAW, G. P. A.
Geo. B. Harper, Gen. Supt.
Frankfort, Ky.

H. S. STEVENSON.
Satisfaction Guaranteed.
DENTIST.
Prices Consistent with Good Services Only.
OFFICE:— Rising Sun, Indiana.

R. A. STEELE,
RISING SUN, IND.,
UNDERTAKING.
My Stock and accouterments are unsurpassed, having adult's black hearses and child's white hearse.
Independent of Undertakers' Union.
My prices are reasonable and my friends will tell you I give satisfaction.

FURNITURE
Large Stock of Latest Styles at Lowest Prices.
GIVE : ME : A : CALL.

BOOTS & SHOES
MADE TO ORDER.
Work Strictly First-Class.
Prices to Suit the Times.
Harness, Boots and Shoes Neatly Repaired. Give me a trial.
CHRISTIAN BECKER,
29apt2m Union, Ky.

PATENTS
Caveats, and Trade-Marks obtained and all Patent business conducted for MODERATE FEES.
OUR OFFICE IS OPPOSITE U.S. PATENT OFFICE and we can secure patent in less time than those remote from Washington.
Send model, drawing or photo., with description. We advise, if patentable or not, free of charge. Our fee not due till patent is secured.
A PAMPHLET, "How to Obtain Patents," with cost of same in the U.S. and foreign countries sent free. Address,
C.A.SNOW & CO.
OPP. PATENT OFFICE, WASHINGTON, D. C.

BOONE COUNTY RECORDER.

VOL. XXIII. BURLINGTON, KENTUCKY, WEDNESDAY, DECEMBER 1, 1897. NO. 6.

THE new paper money now being printed by the government will be in several colors. It will soon be in circulation.

THE rank and file of the Republican party is praying to be saved from the follies of the party's own legislation—civil service.

THERE are thirty Democratic candidates for the gubernatorial nomination in Missouri. Kentucky will have about half that number.

THE Louisville Commercial is now edited by an Ohio man, Col. Kelley, under whom the Commercial has been a success, having retired.

How to get rid of the civil service law without doing too great violence to their national platform, is causing leading Republicans great concern.

SENATOR FORAKER, of Ohio, has built an elegant residence in Washington. Evidently the Senator expects to remain in office more than one term.

GOLD mines as rich as those in Alaska are said to have been discovered in Wyoming, and thousands of prospectors are hastening to the fields.

THE members of Congress agree that an effort at currency reform will be made this winter, but it is further agreed that no currency reform bill can pass the Senate.

THE friends of W. A. Gaines, Covington's colored politician, are in the dumps because the President has not named him as Register of the Treasury. Gaines will not reach.

THE National Democratic vote cast in the recent election in Ohio was so small it did not entitle the candidates to the position of "also ran," it being only 1,800 in a total vote of 800,000.

THE Democrats need not be taking so much interest in Mr. Hanna's apparent contest for election to the U. S. Senate, as they will be benefitted by its outcome let it be victory or otherwise.

SENATOR LINDSAY says he does not think there will be any modification of the civil service law at the coming session of Congress, as the President will recommend that civil service be adhered to.

MR. BYNUM has issued an address analyzing the returns of the recent election. The people analyzed Mr. Bynum and his party before the election, and he is welcome to any consolation an analysis may afford him.

MAYOR WEAVER, of Louisville, can hold the Democratic party together in that city by conducting a clean, business-like administration. But if he ties to the hoodlum element in politics he will go out of office as unpopular as did his successor.

SPEAKER REED arrived in Washington, last week, and forthwith an interview was sent out, wherein the Speaker was represented as saying he is no part of the administration, and in nowise responsible for any of the many mistakes it has already made.

A PENALTY of six per cent has been added to all the taxes that remained unpaid at twelve o'clock last night. To avoid this penalty considerable activity was displayed by taxpayers last week, but a great many there be who have allowed the penalty to overtake them.

GEORGIA comes to the front with a gold mine which it is claimed assays $6,000 to the ton, making the Klondike only a second-class mining region as compared with the Georgia field which is located in a much more favorable climate for out door exercise. Klondike will have to take a back seat.

THERE would be as much propriety in the legislature asking Gov. Bradley to resign as there would be in its asking Senator Lindsay to step down and out. Flushed with victory politicians often do things that render them ridiculous, and asking Senator Lindsay to resign would be political folly of the most pronounced type.

ON motion of the County Prosecutor, the Hamilton county, Ohio, grand jury, was discharged for a failure to perform its duty. It refused to investigate some very serious charges which it was believed could be sustained against some persons who had held high and responsible political positions in Hamilton county.

THERE are $350,000,000 in greenbacks in circulation, and the policy to issue interest bearing bonds to retire these non-interest bearing notes does not bear the ear-marks of good business. Besides contracting the currency of the country to the extent of $350,000,000, the grip of the debt in bonds will be increased to that extent.

THE free turnpike question is not liable to disturb the people of this county for many years to come. The pikes, as they are now located, would create a very unequal burden were they made free and sustained by taxation, and the people of the county will not advocate a measure that would be so manifestly unjust to the taxpayers in many parts of the county, and until many more miles of pike are built and the system becomes more general, free turnpikes are out of the question so far as Boone county is concerned. But the public road system needs a close study, and some plan devised whereby better results will be obtained from the $6,000 that is spent on the dirt roads annually. The taxpayers get less benefit from the roadtax they pay than from any other levied against them, when in fact they should get more.

SENATOR JONES, of Arkansas, gives the following five reasons in opposition to the annexation of the Hawaiian Islands:

"First, because I am unalterably opposed to extending our territorial limits beyond this continent.

"Second, because the Hawaiian Islands are so remote from our coast line their defense in the event of war would be enormously expensive and troublesome.

"Third, because they do not comprise sufficient area to make a State and their maintenance as a Territory would violate the intent of the Constitution.

"Fourth, because it would be almost impossible for Congress to devise a government for them that would not result in confusion and failure.

"Fifth, because of the unfit and undesirable character of the population. No matter how favorable surroundings for improvements might be made, the large percentage of the population would remain unfit for citizenship."

THE Middle-of-the-Road Populists held a meeting in St. Louis, last week, and adopted the following platform:

1. Paper money, based upon every commodity and resources of the Nation, a full legal tender and receivable for all dues to the United States.

2. Free coinage of gold and silver at the present legal ratio, the coin debts of the United States payable in either, at the option of the Government.

3. All money to be issued by the Government and paid out to the people for services rendered, or to be loaned to them at a low rate of interest on safe security and without the intervention of private banks, provided that the volume of the currency shall not exceed $50 per capita,

4. Government ownership and operation of railroads, telegraphs and telephone lines.

5. Opposition to alien ownership and holding of land for speculative purposes.

6. Opposition to court-made law.

7. We especially recommend the initiative and referendum and the imperative mandate.

[Lawrenceburg Register.]

